NAZI APPOINTMENT TO HEAL AUSTRO-GERMAN BREACH

CABINET MEMBER TO BE NAMED TO PLEASE DICTATOR

BY FERDINAND C. M. JAHN
VIENNA, Feb. 15 (AP)—Nazi intentions are expected to take a new grip on central Europe tonight with the appointment of Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Austrian Nazi, to the post of minister of interior in the Schuschnigg government.

Despite the reported opposition of leaders of the fatherland front, President Wilhelm Miklas was expected to name Seyss-Inquart late today, sealing the agreement reached between chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg and Adolf Hitler in Bavaria.

In return for Nazi representation in the government Hitler was reported to have agreed to issue a peremptory order to German Nazis to sever connection with Austrian Nazis who in recent days have been carrying on terrorist activities.

Mildly indignant
 President Miklas was understood to be mildly indignant that the foreign press ascribed the decision to appoint Seyss-Inquart exclusively to the chancellor, who is entitled merely to suggest candidates to the president.

A communique was expected to be issued this evening dealing with cabinet changes, and observations ascribed to the conference which the chancellor held with Hitler last Saturday across the frontier.

It was understood that the communique would deal only with the cabinet changes, including Seyss-Inquart, who while he is a member of the Nazi party is also a friend of Schuschnigg.

Broadcast Speech
 Reliable quarters said that, in token of new Austro-German friendship, the speech which Hitler is to make to the German Reichstag Sunday will be broadcast in Austria, the first time a Hitler speech has been relayed over an Austrian station.

In the conservative newspaper Neues Wiener Tagblatt which published today the article that, apparently, foreshadowed reconstruction of the cabinet. A Hitler speech is planned that the reconstruction would be purely an Austrian matter, but it was linked up with an Austrian-German settlement.

Labor Board, in the Middle, Continues Smooth Functioning

By WILSON THORNTON
(N.E.A. Service)

WASHINGTON—The national labor relations board, charged under the Wagner act with "encouraging the practice and procedure of collective bargaining" is right in the middle these days.

On the other are various labor leaders who accuse it of partiality toward one organization or another.

And right on top of it at the moment is Sen. Edward R. Burke of Nebraska, who is demanding that it be investigated as unfair, unjudicial, and an instigator of strikes.

The labor board takes all this with surprising calm. In all its 28 months of existence, it has not yet seen a day without some kind of a tureen. In a sense, tureen is its business.

Millions Affected
 With a personnel of fewer than 600 employees, making it one of the smallest of the independent agencies of the government, the board in its first 28 months has directly affected the condition of almost 5,000,000 workers.

It handled, up to Dec. 1, more than 10,500 cases. More than 7,000 of these have been closed, leaving 3,482 cases pending on Dec. 1, last. Of the cases closed, 417 were by agreement or consent elections, thus settling the status of more than a million cases without formal procedure.

It has conducted 867 industrial elections, in which 321,050 voters were cast.

It has obtained reinstatement of 7,775 workers discharged through discrimination, usually key men.

It has handled 1,211 strike cases, obtaining settlement of 918, and its actions have averted 483 threatened strikes.

Flooded With Lawsuits
 The board started operating late in 1935. The greatest influx of its cases came after the supreme court validated the Wagner act in April, 1937. The recent decision that courts may not enjoin its proceedings, though courts must be depended on to enforce its decisions, will probably further increase the board's burden of work. At one time it had to defend 84 injunction suits with which employers were trying to deny it jurisdiction.

Hidden away on two floors of a downtown office building, without impressive quarters of its own, the NLRB is less well known than many a government bureau which directly affects fewer people. Here the three board members draw their $10,000 a year—Chairman J. Warren Madden, Donald Wakefield Smith and Edwin B. Smith.

They sit at 40 hearings every working day, you can see that the board itself can't hear them all. It doesn't try. In only 17 cases has the board itself actually taken direct jurisdiction.

It has, instead, set up regional offices in 21 cities. It is to these offices that employers go with their complaints.

Don't Like Youngsters
 Such complaints are investigated first by field examiners, who may draw as low as $3,000 a year. Some of the bitterest complaints against the board have come from "big-shoe" industrialists forced to submit to an interview by young and inexperienced field examiners.

A good quarter of the complaints filed never get any farther than this, but are dismissed as trivial or irrelevant. About one in every two and half is settled out of hand to the satisfaction of both parties. Of the 7,000 cases disposed of, nearly 90 per cent never came to formal hearings. Not 400 cases have gone through to final decision.

But if facts warrant a complaint is issued by the regional board, and hearings held, with witnesses called before trial examiners, nearly all of whom are lawyers drawing an average of $4,800 a year.

The examiner may even then dismiss the case, or the parties may discuss ordering certain practices stopped, certifying a union as the proper bargaining agent for the complaining workers, or ordering reinstatement of those unlawfully discharged.

Court Decisions Favorable
 The complete record is then sent to the NLRB in Washington for review. The board itself may further oral hearings and consider additional briefs on both sides. Then it makes its final ruling.

If this is contested by the employer or affected, the board must turn to the Circuit Court of Appeals for a ruling.

THE NLRB is under fire from many and varied sources. Employers charge the board is pro-labor. Some of the unions—although not labor in general—also have criticized it, and it has been subject to attack from congressional sources. The three members of the board pictured above, are, left to right, Edwin B. Smith, Chairman, J. Warren Madden and Donald Wakefield Smith.

enforcing order, or the employer must turn to the same court for relief. In 17 cases out of 29 thus contested so far, the board has been upheld.

All this is costing about $3,000,000 a year, the exact figure for 1937-38 being in dispute. There are all those salaries as indicated. In the fiscal year 1937 it is going to cost around $25,000 to print the board's decisions, and $50,000 will be spent for transcription of records. Election procedure—printing of ballots and notices—will cost another $25,000.

Reams of Testimony
 If $50,000 in transcripts of records seems a lot, note that the inland steel case piled up 18,000 pages of testimony, and so did the Bethlehem case. There are all those transcripts, 14,000 pages, and no end in sight after the 23d week of hearings. It took a board lawyer 10 weeks just to skim the 5,213 pages of International-Land testimony, and 1,000 subpoenas were issued to clarify a single point in the inland case.

There is a definite swing in the found in the nature of complaints coming before the regional boards. At first complaints about unfair labor practices predominated, and, first, stimulated four to one. Now there is an almost four to three pro-

POT SHOTS THUMB-NAIL MYSTERIES

Harbord Tracy is having a series of conferences in an effort to get evidence that will free his son from a murder charge.

In these conferences, Tracy meets with:

Thomas Beldin, a private detective who has killed.

Myron Wharton, 21, his son's fiancée.

On this particular afternoon, these four met with Tracy in his home to map their campaign. Tracy, however, had just learned that one of the four was spying on his movements; that morning, he had learned that his private telephone wire was being tapped. He determined to catch the spy.

The four left Tracy's home at 5 p. m. An hour later, Tracy called Beldin and asked him to come to his home at 8 o'clock. Then he called each of the other three and made the same request, telling each that he had something to discuss in private, and adding that the other three would not know of the meeting.

Beldin arrived shortly after 8. A few minutes later Marian came in. Beldin arrived five minutes behind her. Wharton and Scott Perkins, who were being held for being so tardy.

After the four had assembled, Tracy knew which one had tapped his wire.

HOW DID HE KNOW? AND WHO WAS GUILTY?

A LET-DOWN!

Pot Shot:

He didn't show up at Dolly's mountain for that first public display. He didn't show up at his right all in his left ear, or his left all in his right ear?

AND SUCH A YOUNG HORSE, TOO!

Dear Pot Shot:

Read this for a dumb duck. Bill's old man said, "Take the horse down and have him shot."

"O. K., dad," said the bridle on the horse, an old nag about 20, rides him to town 10 miles away. In about five hours back walks Bill with the horse in his hands. His dad said, "Where is the horse?"

Bill said: "Well, didn't you tell me to take him to town and have him shot?"

When is a pig a hog; answer me that!

Yours for an answer.

Myron Wharton, 21, his son's fiancée.

On this particular afternoon, these four met with Tracy in his home to map their campaign. Tracy, however, had just learned that one of the four was spying on his movements; that morning, he had learned that his private telephone wire was being tapped. He determined to catch the spy.

The four left Tracy's home at 5 p. m. An hour later, Tracy called Beldin and asked him to come to his home at 8 o'clock. Then he called each of the other three and made the same request, telling each that he had something to discuss in private, and adding that the other three would not know of the meeting.

Beldin arrived shortly after 8. A few minutes later Marian came in. Beldin arrived five minutes behind her. Wharton and Scott Perkins, who were being held for being so tardy.

After the four had assembled, Tracy knew which one had tapped his wire.

AND SUCH A YOUNG HORSE, TOO!

Dear Pot Shot:

Read this for a dumb duck. Bill's old man said, "Take the horse down and have him shot."

"O. K., dad," said the bridle on the horse, an old nag about 20, rides him to town 10 miles away. In about five hours back walks Bill with the horse in his hands. His dad said, "Where is the horse?"

Bill said: "Well, didn't you tell me to take him to town and have him shot?"

For Love of Polly

By RACHEL MAX

"So how?" It was an irritated challenge.

"So like she has some claim on you," Jerry looked square at you. What's more, you bowed to her, Jerry Whitfield?

"Of course I did. Just to be polite."

"But you smiled at her?"

"Did?"

"You did?"

"Bah!"

"Now you're being rude. You save your good manners for London ladies, and you about as much as I like a Connecticut village girl."

"For a little bit," Jerry said hotly, "I'd turn you over my knee and whack you. Why do you London girls like that?"

"After the theater," Polly replied with unbecoming formality. "After the show through being in the play. You told me you'd be Drury Lane, thus and again."

"So?"

"And I suppose you'll try to tell me you didn't notice one girl from another?"

"No, I won't," Jerry related angrily. "I didn't meet any of them, but there were at least three I used to clap for. And one night I sent them bouquets, all three of 'em."

"Well, then, there you are!" cried Polly triumphantly, but not enjoying the triumph. "Did you put a card in, or a note?"

"No, I didn't wish I had. Just to give you something to carry on about."

WHILE this argument was in progress Jerry had entered the room and ascended the stairs. At her door Polly took out a large brass key from her pocket and inserted it in the lock. "Want you to see?" she asked tartly. "I'd like to hear some more of your adventures. They must be wonderful."

She threw open the door, and Jerry followed her in. The quarrel was in that exhilarating state of fermentation when neither wished to abandon it. He walked to the window and looked down the street while she closed the door.

"Hain't she come out of the shop yet?" Polly inquired, removing her hat before Jerry looked at her. "I thought her dress was right gaudy for the street. Maybe she's gone in 'to buy something more suitable."

"I don't know," Jerry said, and he drew her near and seized Polly's hands. He drew her near to him, so that their faces were close. "You're a jealous little cat,

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER

(Evening Times Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—It is now clear enough that "little business men" although sorely confused, pattern after the "big business men" in their recommendations to be made.

At the never-to-be-forgotten conference which nearly a thousand of the former group attended in Washington it became obvious that some of them arrive at similar conclusions independently and that others just parrot the headlines.

But the boys did deliver a terrific wallop to any idea Roosevelt had that he could get any strong support—or any new ideas—from small business for a return to the status quo.

Through all the cat-calls, conflict and turmoil nothing stood out more distinctly than the wistful yearning for a return to the "good old days" of Calvin Coolidge. Various delegates estimated that from 80 to 90 per cent of their group had voted for London in 1936.

EFFECT ALMOST NIL

It seems likely that the "little business men" and their recommendations, most of which implied criticism of New Deal aims and legislation, will have little if any effect.

The demonstrative solidarity of business is being used by the President's conservative advisers to influence him. But his liberal advisers are using the same aspect of the show to convince him that

STUDENTS URGED TO WIDER STUDY

BELOIT, Wis., (UP)—A bakery salesman who specialized in foreign languages in college probably will sell more pies and cookies than one who spent his college days learning the technique of pastry selling, believes Dr. Maurice Maurer, president of Beloit College.

"The idea that a college education should teach one the tricks of technique is unsound," Dr. Maurer said. "College should give the student a chance to contemplate life and acquire a knowledge of ancient languages, history and social science."

Dr. Maurer said he knew a bakery salesman who was married in Sankrit and "he has five times as many ideas for selling pies as his competitors."

The college student should be free from outside distractions, Dr. Maurer said. Instead of taking technical courses such as how to drive a car, they should specialize in the great field of knowledge.

"It is impossible to train students for life in the world," Dr. Maurer said, "because the world changes too fast. The students who devote college years to learning to drive an automobile may find in 10 years all of us are piloting airplanes. Their education will be useless."

"Whereas, if they had learned history, science and the social sciences they would have their knowledge and understanding."

Calm Atmosphere Favored

College should provide a retreat from life, Dr. Maurer said, where the student can cultivate a calm, philosophic pose.

"Too many people are learning how to do things," he explained, "without understanding what they do. We know how to run machines, sell our products and manage factories without understanding social change, industry and machinery production."

An educated person is one who, according to Dr. Maurer, can read accurately, write well and "is interested in the meaning of things."

"With the coming of a shorter work week every one will be judged by his use of leisure, Dr. Maurer said.

Rhetoric, But Not Realism

Germany and Russia spend a good deal of their time and energy these days just sitting and breathing fire and brimstone at one another. It's a dull day when Hitler fails to come out in his newspapers with a violent denunciation of the Communist menace. And Stalin is just as regular and just as scathing in his references to the menace of Fascism.

This would not be so important except that both are constantly trying to get people in foreign countries to back them up. Hitler is always trying to align people of other nations with him in his self-appointed crusade against the Communist menace. And Stalin, through his devotees in other countries, tom-toms away at the idea that the world must back him against Fascism by boycotts if not by more strenuous means. Lots of people pay attention to these gentlemen. Their vendetta is upsetting the world.

But there is a childish saying that handsome is as handsome does. And, while they fume against each other, what do these handsome gentlemen do?

Well, sir you would hardly believe it, but underneath the screen of the world barrage, they just get down to business and trade with one another to beat the band.

Year after year Russia buys more goods from Germany than from any other country. She pays for these goods with nice, fresh, new-mined Russian gold. That is mighty nice for Herr Hitler, who needs that trade balance and that gold very badly.

In short, Stalin hates Fascism (and urges that you hate it, too). But he is happy to give it the gold it needs in exchange for the machinery he needs.

And Hitler foams at the mouth at the very mention of Communism (and urges that you foam, too). But he is very happy to have the Russian gold, and doesn't hesitate to strengthen Communism by sending it his nice machinery—at a profit.

Russia needs goods. Where does she go for them? Well, sir, she goes right where the veriest economic royalist would go—where they are cheapest. The Living Age Magazine picks up this plaintive wail from Labour, British trade organ:

"The Soviet buys in the cheapest market, regardless of the conditions which make it possible for that market to be cheapest." You see, radicals have sold British labor quite a bill of anti-Hitler goods, and this wail is very heartfelt indeed.

No Bonus in Canada

Action of the Canadian Legion convention in declaring the organization opposed to anything in the nature of a war veterans' bonus will probably come as a surprise to Americans who recall the tremendous and successful battle the American Legion put up for its bonus.

The Canadian Legion did go on record as declaring the government had a responsibility toward those soldiers who had been injured or disabled by the war and who now, through that fact, were unable to secure employment.

But the Canadian organization took cognizance of the petitions being circulated throughout the country agitating for a bonus, and declared, in effect, that if a man was not now suffering ill effects of the war, there was no reason for his government to hand him a lump gratuity because he had served in the army during war time.

BERLIN (UP)—The population of the world as of 1936 totalled more than 2 billion persons, the German "Weltwirtschaft and Statistik" estimates.

Of the total, 536,000,000 live in France, 1,022,000,000 in Asia, 100,000,000 in Africa, 100,000,000 in America, and 11,000,000 in Australia.

The British Empire leads the list with 416,000,000 inhabitants. The population of China is 437,000,000, Russia 171,000,000, United States 144,000,000, France 111,000,000, Germany 69,000,000, and Italy 51,800,000.

Congressional secretaries are making a strenuous effort to get a 10-cent mileage rate for traveling between their homes and Washington between sessions and no doubt they feel justified. Their bosses get 20 cents a mile and often never leave Washington from one adjournment to the next.

But there is one clause a lot of people would like to see in that measure, if it passes.

When the congressman's secretary is his wife or his sister, his cousin or his aunt—who normally splits the cost allowance anyway, why not exempt them from the rule? That might even cut down a little on the congressman's official nepotism.

22 Teams Enter Annual Outlaw Contests

GOODING, Feb. 15 (Special)—Play opens at 8 o'clock here Thursday morning for Idaho's oldest outlaw basketball tournaments when Wendell meets King Hill on the college floor. The game will start off the biggest group of entries ever to enter a tournament in south central Idaho.

A total of 22 teams has been scheduled to take part in the annual show here, the list reaching an all-time high with the announcement that $125 in "expense" money had been offered for teams finishing in first, second and third places.

Three of the top four teams in the Burley meet have been scheduled to play in the Gooding college floor, with night games in both the college and junior high school gymnasiums.

Miniature golf basketballs will be given to new members of the championship outfit, and the same thing in silver will go to runners-up. A championship cup will be awarded the team chosen by the judges as having shown the best sportsmanship throughout the tournament.

Gooding Legion Club Wins

GOODING, Feb. 15 (Special)—Gooding Legion and Hagerman town basketball clubs were in shape for the annual Gooding Outlaw tournament today following a close battle staged on the local floor last night. The Snake Valley league club came out on top, 33, but only after a hard-fought battle.

The Legionnaires hopped into a 24-16 advantage in the first half, but the game tied at the half time, but the Hagerman club nearly caught the home quintet.

Clubs: For Hagerman: Joderia, F. Brown, Keller, F. Woody, Lyon, C. Leach, Prineas, Marlett, G. Dennis. Substitutions: Gooding—Waltie; Hagerman—Reddie and Dunn.

Adamick Concludes Training for Bout With Thomas

Adamick will be the first New York appearance for Jack (Doc) Korman's latest find. Thomas, in his only previous New York fight, was knocked by Masta Schmelling.

ZIVIC WINS

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15 (AP)—Fritzie Zivich, 144, Pittsburgh, defeated Frankie Hiller, 146, Camden, (10); Emilio Secco, 156, Pittsburgh, (10); Al Quail, 161, Germantown, (10).

CHUCK WRESTLER FINISHED

Tree Top High

Exhibiting perfect form as he soars over the tree tops, Dick Durance, Darlington college skier, practices for the national ski jumping championships which will be held at Brattleboro, Vt., Feb. 20. Durance competed at Sun Valley last year, but due to an injury was not able to take part in this year's competition with Washington.

Light Hoop Schedule Set for Tonight

The smallest court schedule for a Tuesday night since the first of the year is on tap for tonight—according to the official schedule.

Games set to be played show only three in the Class A loop and two under Class B.

Headlining encounters among the larger schools will be the Burley-Rupert clash on the Minidoka school's floor. The teams already have split a pair of engagements in this year, but, with the advantage of playing at home, plus the fact that they have shown marked improvement of late makes Coach West's outfit the favorite.

At Jerome, Coach John Norby's Tigers will attempt to get revenge for a 44-27 defeat inflicted on them earlier in the season on the Twin Falls floor. If Hohlbaum happens to be hot, the contest is expected to be anybody's, but everything else being equal, R. V. Jones' quintet is heavily favored to win.

The other game takes Coach Jimmy O'Brien's Panthers to the field where they will tangle with the big Indian outfit, with Floyd Lutz's crew favored to duplicate an early season victory.

In Class B circles, the Glenns Ferry-Wendell clash can be rated tops, with the outcome a toss-up. Kenney Barrett's warriors have shown a let-up in their speedy early-season pace and have lost their last two starts. On the other hand, the Vikings of Coach Elmer House have displayed marked improvement. Heyburn entertains Paul.

Other games, not on the official schedule, will be played in the smaller schools of the district.

Jaycees Drub Wendell Again

JEROME, Feb. 15 (Special)—The powerful Jerome Jaycees turned out the grade, but did not win, as they attempted to duplicate a scoring record earlier in the season over the Wendell team. They couldn't make the grade, but did get a 20-13 victory. The first game ended in a record-setting 114-40 score.

The invading aggregation was behind from the start, but the Jaycees went on a scoring spree that netted them 40 points in the final half. Jim Norby led the scoring with 27 points, while Jankus picked up 21. McQueen scored 18 for the losers.

Evil Eye Finkle Spoils Rochester Promoter's Fight Venture

BY HERBY MELROSE

NEW YORK, Feb. 15 (AP)—When I stepped off the train after being gone for four months it was cold and gray, and when it is cold and gray in New York nothing will cheer me but a hearing.

So I made my way to Hymie Chaplain's salon, where the hearing is held not just to hear, and to hear, but to hear, and to hear. But before it came I started talking with Lou Diamond and he made me see and with his story he made me see that not even a whole could have lifted my spirits.

Evil Eye Finkle, as everyone knows, is a professional boxer. One glance from his eyes, when he means business, and the per-

Gooding Senators Top Class A Standings

North Siders Have Record of Five Wins and No Losses

Although they have played the least number of Class A games in south central Idaho, the Gooding Senators today stood at the top of the standings, with games up to and including Saturday contests.

Coach "Al" Berg's Senators, the surprise of the loop, have a record of five games won and none lost to conference competition. "They will be the least, so they probably slip out of first place before Saturday when they play Jerome.

In second place are the Twin Falls Bruins with a record of seven wins and two lost. The two teams are ahead of the rest of the clubs in the percentage column and are cinched to finish one-two in the standings. The Jones crew has been beaten by Oakley and Rupert.

The complete standings are as follows:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Gooding	5	0	1.000
Twin Falls	7	2	.771
Oakley	4	0	.900
Buhl	4	5	.444
Rupert	3	4	.429
Burley	4	8	.366
Filer	1	7	.125

Barnard Cops High-Scoring Pin Duel

The coveted 900-mark meant nothing in last night's Commercial League bowling match as Barnard squeaked its way to a 2-1 victory over the league-leading National Laundry crew.

Clark Blagert called neatly over the 600-point to all totals, although Neal McIntyre also cleared the hurdle. Wilt had 634; Neal, 607. Best single game, however, went to Jack Ford with 244.

Evil Eye Finkle Spoils Rochester Promoter's Fight Venture

Turner is the guy he has to fight, because Turner is very tough, and has raised hell with a lot of fighters. But he comes around and puts his name on the paper when I tell him that as a special favor I will bring Evil Eye Finkle to put the hot box on "Frisch Bob."

As Diamond told it, Evil Eye was in Washington putting the heat on the promoter. Turner is a certain party at the time, but for a "C" note and expense agreed to have the fight.

Putting on the hot tap ahead, after about three blocks I told him to get out of the way. Turner to faint before he got in the ring—but he wouldn't mind.

Jack Ford took top single with 244 his last game. Six strikes in a row turned the trick. His total of 584 was his best, but his second—well, 225 isn't so bad.

Neal McIntyre, with a 607 total for his three and 223 his last game, took both the total and single honors for National Laundry.

Bill Ford got the dog-house.

Twin Falls Lumber company, who hold the bottom position in City league, took Emerick's, the leaders, for two out of three.

Bill Hater, head-off for the challenged team, hit for 578. His 207 third game was also the league's best single.

All the other lumber gents were very, very closely bunched—Rike 497; Deber 485; B. Smith 483; Kimes 471.

Four Tournaments To Be Held March 3, 4, 5

With only two more weeks of competition left before the annual sub-district basketball meets, 23 central Idaho Class B teams today were conditioning their teams for rigid play in the grueling tournaments that usually see winning teams play from four to six games in three days.

Four meets this year are scheduled to be held on March 3, 4 and 5, with the fifth set for Feb. 23-24 at Fairfield.

Three teams that in other years haven't participated in Class B competition, Kimberly, Wendell and the State School of Gooding, will take part in the meets with the other teams in the South Side, Wendell in the King Hill, and the State School temporarily placed in the Wood River district.

Double Defeat Plan Combination girls' and boys' tournaments will be held in all cases, and most of the meets will use the double-defeat plan of elimination. The Mini-Casals tourney, however, is worked on the percentage basis, with each club playing the other team twice and the team with the highest percentage being named champion. The system is used for both boys and girls' teams.

Price of a season ticket, for 14 possible 14 games, according to Mr. Hechtler, was set at $2.25 for adults, with the student fee being $1.75. Single season tickets are 50 cents for grown-ups and 25 cents for students.

2 Enter State Meet As in other years, the meet will be played on a double elimination plan. This year teams finishing in first and second place are eligible to enter the state tournament, but a district championship will be decided upon anyway. If a team goes without a loss until the final game, and then is defeated in the last tie Saturday night, a replay will be made on Monday night.

Three days of play will see three sessions on Thursday and two each on Friday and Saturday.

Thursday sessions start at 10 a. m., 2 p. m. and 8 p. m.; Friday's start at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m.; Saturday at 2 and 8.

U. S. Ice Club Plays England

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, Feb. 15 (AP)—The United States amateur hockey team, with three straight victories in the world's championship tournament, meets the powerful British sextet today in a game that will decide which will go to the final.

The English team was favored because of its 5-1 victory over Latvia yesterday. The Americans barely managed to nose out the Latvians 1-0 in their opening skirmish last night.

The U. S. squad had another narrow escape yesterday when Germany was edged by one-point margin. The U. S. team, a product of Lewiston, Me., risks, took a pass from Arlie Bogie of Detroit in the final period for the only score of the game.

Canada, a powerful favorite to reach the finals, was idle yesterday, and meets the Czechoslovakian hosts today.

College Basketball

Class A Drawings to Be Held March 5

Drawings for the annual Class A basketball tournament, set for Twin Falls March 10, 11 and 12, will be held in the Twin Falls high school on Saturday, March 5, it was decided at a meeting of the south central executive board here.

All eight teams in the loop will be entitled to play in the tourney this year, according to H. D. Hechtler, Twin Falls, president of the group. In other years, when there were more than eight clubs in the conference, the teams were determined on a percentage basis. Other members in attendance at the meeting were Harold Roberts, Jerome, secretary of the board, and R. D. Armstrong, Rupert.

It was decided that bands would be admitted free to any session at which their school team was playing. The band cannot number more than 15 players and the leader.

The referees, Bill Gross of Pocatello, who officiated last year, has already been chosen for the tournament.

3-Year-Olds Get Final Test

SANTA ANITA RACE TRACK, Arcadia, Calif., Feb. 15 (AP)—Two dozen skittish 3-year-olds will start here today in a trio of mile events which constitute their final test of fitness to compete in the $50,000 Santa Anita derby next Thursday.

The three events are the Derby trials, all handicaps, scheduled in classes "A," "B" and "C." They are the first races at a distance comparable to the mile and 1/2 route of the Washington's Birthday feature, and will be considered as a final judging remaining eligible.

In the class "B" trial, Can't Wait, winner of the 97th junior champion stakes, has been disqualified at 118 pounds. Biogehand, winner of two stakes, comes in at 112, and Harry, only 118. Other entries are Hymie, 110; Ivanhoe, 110, and King's Heel, 110.

The class "C" trial has drawn plenty of public interest, of which Biogehand is the only horse considered capable of a derby victory, and the class "C" event has attracted 10,000 fans.

Michigan's Man

Leaving his post at Princeton to take over the head football coaching job at Michigan, Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler replaces Harry Kiper, who was dismissed by the University of Michigan last year. It was understood that Crisler would also assume the position as director of athletics sometime within the next three years.

Questions, Answers On New Farms Bill

Q. What is the purpose of the new farm bill? A. It is designed to restrict production of wheat, corn, tobacco, cotton and rice by farmers to an amount that they can sell on the market at a price giving them the most profitable production, plus a reasonable profit.

Q. Why is such a crop control program necessary? A. In some years farmers have produced so much that competition in selling their products became keen enough to force prices below the cost of production.

Q. Is the program effective for the 1938 marketing year? A. Yes, for all commodities except rice. Mechanical delay in the operation for that commodity until 1939.

"Flying Fortresses" Leave on Long Jaunt

6 ARMY PLANES START TRIP FOR SOUTH AMERICA

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., Feb. 15 (AP)—Six army "flying fortresses," largest and most powerful fighting ships in the army air corps, roared into the air today on the first leg of a 6,000-mile flight to Buenos Aires.

The six ships which will make the flight to the Argentine capital for the inauguration of President Hector Roberto O'Connell, were accompanied by a seventh plane. The extra ship will accompany the formation to Miami for use in event one of the regular flights is not possible. When the giant planes head south on the major section of the flight.

A crew of four officers and four enlisted men man each of the four motored ships. The flight was due to arrive at Miami about 1:30 p. m. (11:30 a. m. MST).

Olds in Command

Off on the army's adventurous air expedition is Col. Robert Olds, in command of the flight, kept plans for the itinerary secret. It was reported, however, that the bombers will attempt a non-stop flight from Miami to Lima, Peru—about 2,500 nautical miles. The "fortresses" have flown the distance non-stop in trans-continental test flights.

It also was reported that the flight will make the final leg of their flight to Buenos Aires without stop. Such a flight would include transit of the Andes mountain range, where the maximum peak elevation is around 15,000 feet.

The most modern of the army's general headquarters fighting force, the bombers have a ceiling of about 20,000 feet. No difficulty was anticipated in their flight over the high South American peaks.

Practical Training

While the flight was planned for training purposes, the armada was expected to create something of a sensation in South America.

The aircraft, both military and commercial, is admired.

It was explained that the flight was being made under conditions that would provide a practical test of the purposes which the GHQ air force was organized—to give the army a "peep-hole" into the world at all times to defend the country and hold off an enemy until the slower ground forces could be mobilized.

The rest of the army is maintained on a "peace-time" basis, but the GHQ air force was organized to be ready for instant action at all times.

Flight to Buenos Aires

The flight to Buenos Aires was under way within a few days from the time it was proposed. None of the 10,000 or navigators have flown the route to be followed.

Rubber Life Rafts

Problems of landing places, supplies and servicing of the planes in foreign countries were approached on an emergency basis. Each plane carries a rubber life raft, and quantities of concentrated rations.

Courtesy stops will be made either on the southeast or northwest legs at Lima, Peru, and Santiago, Chile.

The GHQ air force was created March 1, 1935, as the main tactical element in the defense of the United States, consolidating under one command all of the combat forces of the army air corps in this country.

The GHQ air force is organized into three wings, and is distributed over six air bases, Langley Field, Mich. ; Barkeley Field, La. ; Hamilton Field, Calif. ; and March Field, Calif.

The "flying fortresses" are great monoplanes, resembling to some degree, commercial transport planes, but with four engines, instead of two, in their wings.

IDAHO ENGINEERS WILL MEET HERE

Engineers from over Idaho will meet here Saturday to attend sessions sponsored by the Idaho Society of Engineers. It had been announced this afternoon.

With between 40 and 75 expected to attend, chief topics of discussion will be legislative and housing problems, those in charge sessions. Seven five-minute talks are also planned.

Speakers and their topics will include Ray J. Lyman, Boise, "Incidents in the Over-Production Theory"; Raymond J. Briggs, "Facts in the Life of John Hays Hammond"; R. F. Hamilton, Pocatello, "Underground Utilities in Modern Street Construction"; Archie E. Shedd, Boise, "Evolution of the Cement Industry"; McKinstry "What Is Ahead for Roadbuilding in 1938"; C. L. Smith, Twin Falls, "The Future of Energy by Tunnel"; John H. Guthrie, Twin Falls, "Recent Developments in Water Control."

The meeting will get underway at the Park hotel at 8 p. m. with dinner served at 7 p. m. Mr. Smith and Mr. Guthrie are members of the local committee on the occasion.

Engineers were invited to inspect the new plant of the Idaho Power Company at 10:30 a. m. on Wednesday at the Carey bridge. In addition, a luncheon will be held at 4:30 p. m. at the Park hotel. According to J. W. Hamilton, secretary of the company, the meeting will close the day with a moderate speed.

CLAIMS POISON KILLING WILD LIFE

Editor, Evening Times:

Enclosed is clipping from the Times of Feb. 9, 1938. Headline says "128 Looms as Year of Grasshopper Plagues." Government Bulletin Reports, and the article says 178,000 tons of poison will be needed for control.

When all the grasshoppers are poisoned, and all the rabbits, rodents and the so called predatory animals, and all wild bird life along with every other creature, and crawling creature on the face of the earth; and the United States is covered with this horn-busting business you spoke of! It's a fine thing to drive a promising young author back to that. You have to admit he must be proud to rate a "causing out" from the editor. No?

Editor, Evening Times:

Mr. Oh, Yan the peacemaker. I hope, I hope, I've got some parents in Buhl too. The same ones, in fact, but not a girl who would have me, worse luck. Now here is the point, I think a lot of my brother in Hollywood, and I also like your one horse paper, (How is Allop getting along with Col. I think he has something there). Now don't you see if you are going to be at one another's throat, instead of me dishing from the Utah Angles' well of knowledge, I'll be worried I'll only get a sip.

Snowplane Is Latest Sport Of Local Men

All the thrills of flying without leaving the ground.

That, according to Harry Harris of Twin Falls, is found in the "Peton-Pole" which in its day was an airplane. It is now a snowplane and is operated in the vicinity of Zimmerman hill on a mile-long flat.

The "Peton-Pole" was the trademark of the ship which was originally constructed locally by Russell Mingo and Dan Pfaff, fliers. It was formerly operated from the local flying field but of late has been stored. Taken from storage, stripped of its wings and equipped with the tail section of a Waco plane which featured in a crash here last year, it now "glides" across the ground with the greatest of ease.

Only One in Idaho

Believed to be the only one-landing type in this section, or in Idaho for that matter, the contrivance is equipped with an 85 horse power airplane engine. The Kemp. The engine, according to Harris, "was popular when your mother wore hoop skirts, or almost that far back in the past."

The plane is steered by means of the rudder and the elevator gets the tail off the ground when sufficient speed has been attained. Top speed is approximately 60 miles an hour. It carries two passengers beside the pilot.

Possibility exists, Harris said, that ship wings may be attached so that it will "almost, but not quite" leave the ground.

"We are not sure of that as yet," he said.

They Take Turns

Meanwhile the five men interested in the ship, namely Harris, Pfaff and Russell, William and Roy Hango, take turns at operating the snowplane.

"And it is so much sport that we can hardly wait until our turn comes," Harris said.

Mrs. Oaks, Mothers Guests at Assembly

The all girls' assembly at the high school today featured Mrs. Lloyd E. Oaks as speaker and mothers of the girls as special guests.

Mrs. Oaks described her experiences during a six months tour of Europe and explained the necessary background needed for appreciation.

A number of articles collected by Mrs. Oaks were also exhibited.

Introduction was made by Mrs. Ralph North, dean of women, and Miss Jean Jones extended a greeting to the mothers.

Other numbers on the program included a report on the playday, at Boise attended by a number of girls, made by Margaret Gee and a piano quartet number featuring Mrs. Ralph North, Lucille Tucker, Barbara Butchell and Betty Lynes.
