HITLER DEMANDS GERMAN POLICIES

Filibuster Ends In Victory for Lynch Bill Foes Measure Shelved Indefinitely In Favor of New Relief Act

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (UP)—A six weeks filibuster against the anti-lynching bill ended in triumph today when the senate shelved the controversial measure to make way for the $250,000,000 deficiency relief bill.

As the senate plunged into a conflict over proposals—unlikely to succeed—to boost the relief measure to $400,000,000, leaders of the southern filibuster bloc claimed that anti-lynching legislation has been hurried for a long time to come.

In other congressional quarters activity was slow. The senate judiciary committee proposed final action on legislation of Robert H. Jackson to be solicitor general. Sen. Guy M. Gillette, D. Ia., urged a house judiciary subcommittee to recommend a proposed amendment to the Clayton anti-trust act forbidding a corporation to acquire a competing corporation.

Certain to Fail
Southern filibusters pointed out that when debate started January 6 it was believed the obstructionists were certain to fail because they were starting the filibuster at the beginning of a session. Success in preventing a vote was halted by Sen. Tom Connally, D. Tex., leader of the opposition, as proof that the nation was not in favor of the measure.

Proponents of the measure introduced by Sen. Robert F. Wagner, D. N. Y., and Sen. Frederick Van Nuys, D. Ind., said they intended to keep up the fight, "under any circumstances," said Wagner, "the fight will go on."

Asserting that no vote would be had for the measure if it had ever come to a vote, they indicated that further attempts would be made to get action whenever possible, but admitted they had slight hope of success this session.

"Cannot be Defeated"
The vote to lay aside the lynching measure was 50-40. The bill came after brief debate in which Wagner deplored failure of the senate to come to a vote on the measure.

GOODING BUILDING GUTTED BY BLAZE
GOODING, Feb. 21 (Special)—Fire this morning gutted the Gooding building on Main street here, doing an unestimated amount of damage and leaving only the walls of the structure standing. The building itself was covered by insurance, but the contents were not.

Several new cars were in the building when the alarm sounded, but these were safely removed, as were three school buses. The latter were taken out by Wain, Italy, a regular bus driver, who kept the bus present when the fire started. A United Oil truck was also removed to safety, but three weeks and cars were left inside. They were not completely destroyed.

Announcement has already been made that the front portion of the building, operated by Bob Campbell of the United Oil company, will be immediately rebuilt, the rest to be constructed at a later date.

Name of the third man was not obtained in the British army, and the latter of which he boasted as a Boer war trooper. Morgue attendants, using a tape measure, found him

PROBE OF STATE AFFAIRS SOUGHT BY UTAH MAYOR

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 21 (UP)—Mayor J. Bracken Lee of Price to-day asked Attorney General Joseph C. Chey and State Auditor John W. Guy to take before the Salt Lake county grand jury to convene April 4, evidence of irregularities in state government and "whitewash nobody."

The price mayor prepared for a "showdown" with the two officials at a scheduled meeting this afternoon.

To File Complaint
If he cannot obtain assurance of the attorney general and auditor that they will take alleged governmental irregularities before the county grand jury, he will file complaints himself against certain "state officials in high quarters," Lee said.

The grand jury has been called primarily to investigate an alleged "pay-off system" by which underpaid activities in Salt Lake City received police protection.

Bees People Shocked
"I think the people will be shocked when this thing is aired," Lee said, following individual conferences with Guy and Chey. "Things are going to be worse than I even dreamed they'd be."

Referring to an audit of the land released last fall by Auditor Guy, alleging certain irregularities in practices of the board, Lee said, "I'm sure that every member of the land board who had anything to do with handling funds or property in deals questioned by the auditor should either be arrested immediately or held as material witnesses, under bond."

REBELS ADVANCE IN TERUEL FIGHT
HENDAYK, Franco-Spanish Front, Feb. 21 (UP)—Gen. Francisco Franco's nationalist troops were reported today to have driven a sub-unit of the Italian army from the ancient city of Teruel, key point on the Aragon front.

Teruel, captured by the loyalists last December, has since been held by the nationalist forces. It has a powerful nationalist attack that had its beginning three days ago and is expected to be completed by the 1,200 loyalists fought to the death.

The nationalist claims were given substantiation by a loyalist announcement in Barcelona that the defense of Teruel has become difficult because nearby positions have been captured by the enemy. Loyalists insisted that their final defense lines inside the city remained intact.

Break Looms in Sharp Division Of Two Nations

By FREDERICK C. OCHSNER
BERLIN, Feb. 21 (UP)—Germans who yesterday heard their leader Adolf Hitler expound his domestic and foreign policy awaited today a confidently anticipated approach from Great Britain that would break the increasingly sharp division between the totalitarian and the democratic nations of Europe.

The further's speech had invited Europe's attention again to the fact that here in its heart were 66,000,000 people, strong and proud, who would be second to none.

EUROPE At A Glance

By United Press
LONDON—The government of Premier Neville Chamberlain, adopting "realistic" diplomacy, which caused the resignation of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, moved swiftly for a more friendly alignment with the Rome-Berlin axis by consulting with Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador. Eden awaited a final meeting in the house of commons where he will explain why he prescribes the most serious British crisis in recent years.

VIENNA—Jubant Austrian reaction to Fuchser Adolf Hitler's promised demands of Germany beyond the borders of the Reich caused an open clash between students at the University of Vienna. A cry for "deport Hitler" was heard.

BERLIN—With a strengthened confidence inspired by Fuchser Adolf Hitler's re-ignition speech, Germany awaited a more friendly reception by Great Britain of German problems, particularly as the result of the resignation of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden which was warmly received.

ROME—Interpreted as a silent endorsement of Adolf Hitler's Sunday speech, Italian officials disclosed today that they had resigned Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, of Great Britain.

In the latter case, however, political quarters expressed delight and surprise at Chamberlain's "realistic" policy, "praising the recognition by Britain of the conquest of Ethiopia."

PARIS—The French government was dismayed to find itself virtually diplomatically isolated in western Europe by the resignation of Anthony Eden, and Foreign Secretary. The French press forecast that the entire foreign policy of the last two years may be shaken to its foundation.

There was no official comment on Eden's resignation—a private British minister declared in political quarters that he was considered an opponent of the authoritarian regime, and of Germany particularly. He was felt to be one of the most rigid defenders of collective security and the legalistic methods of the league of nations, which Hitler had discarded as an obstacle to peace.

The most important task of Eden's successor was seen as that of bringing about a rapprochement between democratic and authoritarian countries—and not least in isolating Soviet Russia.

It was felt also that any friendship between Germany and Great Britain would not endanger the "British empire" and its relations between Italy and Germany.

Austria and Czechoslovakia were the countries referred to when Hitler spoke of the defense of the political freedom of race conscious Germans living beyond the frontiers of the Reich.

It was said here that Hitler referred only to the 5,600,000 people of Austria and the 3,800,000 Germans in the post-war republic of Czechoslovakia.

Eden implied that he feels Italy and Germany are violating international agreements.

We are in the presence of the progressive deterioration of respect for international obligations," he declared.

Talks to Grandi
Before the house met, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, who split with Eden, talked with Ambassador Dino Grandi of Italy and was understood to have arranged for a modicum of conversations between the two countries, in which Britain would make concessions of Spain and recognize the Italian conquest of Ethiopia.

ADOLF HITLER TERMED DOMINANT RULER OF EUROPE

NAZIFICATION OF GERMAN ARMY CALLED BIG STEP

Editor's note: Webb Miller, European news manager of the United Press, begins today a series of dispatches clarifying in detail and correcting misstatements in middle Europe. In today's dispatch, he traces the steps by which Hitler has emerged as the dominant figure of the continent.

By WEBB MILLER
(Copyright 1938, United Press)
BERLIN, Feb. 21 (U.P.)—Adolf Hitler is the dominant ruler in Europe today and never before in the five years the Nazis regime has been more firmly entrenched at home.

Studying him in the Reich opera house yesterday one gets the impression that here was the man, above all others in Europe, who, by diplomacy and gestures of force had lifted himself into the saddle of middle Europe.

Events confirmed that impression when in London, Foreign Minister Anthony Eden had resigned because of a British cabinet split over policy toward Germany; in Rome, Mussolini, Hitler's ally, was silent, and his silence apparently gave content to what the fucher had said; the people in the streets of Vienna had responded to the Nazi "hells"; and millions of ears were close to radios in the Balkans.

"An Leader"
His black hair, tumbling across his forehead, his arms waving, Hitler, who was born outside the boundaries of Germany, had shouted: "In five years I will have built up the German army. Nobody doubts that I am leader of the reich."
In a nation of 66,000,000 persons, his prestige has been immensely enhanced by his first successful steps in Nazifying the German army and diplomatic corps.

He has taken a long stride toward fulfillment of his ambition to create a "greater Germany" by signing a virtual political annexation of Austria.

He has brought about a "bloodless purge" of the army and navy without shaking Nazi influence among the men who fight the battles—the common soldiers.

There still are gaps in Hitler's policy to be explained because of the extraordinary secrecy that surrounds anything concerning the army and because of the Nazi's drastic and effective control of the usual sources of news.

It is difficult to understand the recent army purge unless it is kept in mind that under Nazi ideology the army is the backbone and thus any disaffection toward the party constitutes disaffection toward the state. It is well known that many of the high-placed German army officers always held themselves aloof from the Nazi regime. Hitler knew that many of these officers regarded the Nazis as upstarts; that they thoroughly disagreed with such important phases of Nazi policy as the attitude toward the church and toward political education within the army.

TELLS IDEALS AND AIMS OF CAMP FIRE
REHABILITATION OF HUMAN BEINGS

Editor, Evening Times:
I am a Camp Fire girl working for my national honor in Written Thought. One of the requirements for this honor is to have published an article on the purpose and value of Camp Fire. I hope you will find this worthy of publication.

To the people of Twin Falls: We hold in the Camp Fire watchword meaning work, health and love. The seven points of the Camp Fire law are: Seek knowledge, give service, pursue knowledge, be trustworthy, hold on to health, glorify work, and be happy.

Camp Fire life is not all camping and hiking. We work for every bead and honor that we receive. For example, growing and canning one dozen jars of produce carries one bead; making a dress, one bead; raising and exhibiting a domestic animal earns one bead; there are hundreds of ways to earn beads. We learn the value of good health and keep our health charts; by keeping our health charts we learn the value of good health.

Every summer we have a glorious week of camping in the mountains, where we have a competent nurse, nature counselors, camp craft counselors, handcraft counselors and best cooks in the county.

SYPHILIS FACTS CITED FOR CLUB

SHOSHONE, Feb. 21 (Special)—At the regular session of the Shoshone Rotary club, syphilis and trench mouth disease came under discussion through the interesting address made by Dr. F. H. Howard, who cited that through press and magazine informative assistance great strides had been made in control of the malady.

He brought out that two years ago, Surgeon General Parrin essayed a radio course on the subject of syphilis and was eliminated as soon as it was divulged what his subject would be. Since that time cooperative work by the press has been remarkably effective.

The two diseases can be effectively controlled through the same treatment, cited the doctor, though in the main syphilis, sometimes the origin of trench mouth, proved the major topic of the talk. The disease has been noted for ages, and was reported to have been found in the islands by Columbus in 1492. Evidence was cited prior to that time.

During the first 20 years of the present century, poor curative strides were made in a discovery of Salvarsan, the treatment being numbered and named as the 606th experiment. It proved as part of the system, connected with the Wesserman blood tests, as part of the present syphilis cure.

Dr. Howard emphasized the value of publicity in general control of the disease, for while no identification is implied in a case under consideration at the present time, the broad phases of information brought to light can curb any situation if not too long standing.

The meeting of Rotary Wednesday will be an inter-town session of the club, with guests from Jerome and Shoshone, to be held in the high school gymnasium at 7:30 p. m. Reilly Adams, of Boise, former district governor, will be the speaker.

Pre-Natal Care Called Vital in Syphilis Battle

Importance of pre-natal care was stressed here this afternoon by Dr. Robert Stump, director of the district health unit at the district syphilis in this territory continued to gain momentum with more and more persons submitting to voluntary blood tests.

Pointing to records of the United States public health service, Dr. Stump said there is "not the same resentment" at the suggestion that the state require a clean bill of health from prospective life partners as there has been in the past.

Should Be Barred

"By all laws of health, syphilis in a communicable stage should be a barrier to marriage, menacing the health of the marital partners and of the children of the marriage," Dr. Stump said. "It is, too, a threat to the happiness of the marriage, for almost as bad as the disease itself is the emotional disturbance caused by the knowledge that it exists."

About half the states of the union have written into their laws a provision making syphilis an impediment to marriage. While some of these laws are not very effective, they show a trend toward real legislation regarding a grave situation," Dr. Stump said.

The United States health service, he points out, urges all expectant mothers to have a blood test if in pregnancy. Officials say that if this procedure were followed by treatment of the mothers found infected, more than 80 per cent of the 60,000 infants which are being born with congenital syphilis in the United States each year could be saved from the disease.

Urges Advance Care

The national service further stresses that one month of pre-natal care of syphilis is worth a year of treatment after birth. Records show that more than 500,000 new syphilis infections are brought to the attention of clinics and physicians throughout the United States each year. Of these, one in five is found among boys and girls under 20 years of age. Among workmen it is estimated that the economic loss in wages alone is

"Boy King" of Kennelworld

With the dignity becoming a newly crowned king, Champion Daro of Maridor poses for his picture. Though only 11 months old, this orange-colored English setter has just won the title of best dog in any class at the county's outstanding canine competition—the Westlaster Kennel club show in New York. It was the first time since 1925 that this coveted award has been given to an American dog, and an almost unheard-of feat for a dog not yet emerged from puppyhood. He was bred by Dwight Ellis, Jr., of East Longmeadow, Mass.

SHOSHONE COURT SET FOR FEB. 28TH

SHOSHONE, Feb. 21 (Special)—The adjourned session of district court, set for Feb. 21, has been postponed until Monday, Feb. 28, at which time the jury is called.

The extension was made necessary through the necessity of District Judge Doran Gutphen being at the bedside of his brother, Percy Sutphen of Gooding, who collapsed some days ago and is in very serious condition.

Other matters at court chambers required the postponement. In the meantime several other cases appear to be developing on appeal, among them being the Goldizer case, which involved the death of the Doxterer girl some months ago, Jerome, and which case was returned by the supreme body to district court for rehearing. Several traffic misdemeanors, on appeal, are likewise included in the early part of the docket.

Burley Students to Present Operetta

BURLEY, Feb. 21 (Special)—The high school girls' chorus, under the direction of Reed T. Hyde, is rehearsing an operetta to be given March 4. The operetta, "Land of Heart's Desire," was composed by Ethelbert Nevin and arranged by Deems Taylor, music commentator for CBS. The opera will be sung by a chorus of 40 voices, and George Catmill of Rupert will sing bass solo.

In connection with the operetta, the ballet will be given by four high school dancers. Miss Kate Smith, high school physical education teacher, is teaching the routine to the dancers.

$168,000,000 each year because of this disease.

Health authorities believe that not more than one out of every 10 cases of syphilis which exists is under the care of a responsible licensed physician.

Records at the local unit, from among blood tests given this year, show that approximately seven out of every 100 persons taking a blood test are showing a positive reaction to the presence of syphilis. This number is slightly below the estimated national average of 10 out of every 100.

GOODING ACCEPTS BUDGET FOR 1938

GOODING, Feb. 21 (Special)—Budget totaling $85,887 for 1938 was adopted without objection at a meeting of the county commissioners last week. Only change suggested by the taxpayers was in a request by the taxpayers to have the budget reduced for the year 1938. The budget total includes $10,000 for weed eradication, an amount which may be recovered from the government; salaries, $24,500; other expenses including current expense, elections, indigent and pension, road and bridge and weeds and other items, totals $50,557, the maximum which can be spent.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

THE TITAN BEETLE OF BRAZIL GROWS AS LARGE AS A HUMAN HAND. SPECIMENS HAVE NEVER BEEN CAPTURED ALIVE.

BLUEBERRIES AND HUCKLEBERRIES BELONG TO DIFFERENT PLANT FAMILIES. YET IN MANY PARTS OF THE UNITED STATES, AN ORDER FOR BLUEBERRY PIE IS APT TO BRING HUCKLEBERRY, OR THE OTHER WAY AROUND.

CROCODILES AND GEESE LAY SIMILAR-SIZED EGGS.

In the New England states the distinction between huckleberries and blueberries is finely drawn, but in the south and middle west the names are more or less confused by the layman.

U. S. Foreign Policy Unchanged by Spectacular European Events

EX-AMBASSADOR SEES HUGE NEW 'ROMAN EMPIRE'

By LYLE C. WILSON
 WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—United States foreign policy, based primarily on low-tariff economies and "good neighbor" relationships but dominated just now by a big navy defense program, stands unchanged today by spectacular European political events. Officials do not care to comment beyond that on the big diplomatic week-end.

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler's re-statement of Nazi expansion aims should not, however, have surprised the state department in view of reports understood to have been submitted by Wilhelm F. Driffole before he resigned as United States ambassador to Germany.

Dodd's Report, possibly discounted by the state department because of his anti-Nazi sympathies, are believed to have fixed the limits of Hitler's European ambitions considerably beyond the scope of Reichsfuehrer's address yesterday to the Reichstag in Berlin.

Dodd's appraisal of German aims became public today through a member of the house foreign affairs committee before which the former ambassador to Germany recently appeared in secret session. The member, who requested that his name not be revealed, told the United Press that Dodd had described a plan by which Germany, Italy and Japan plan to carve out a new "Holy Roman Empire" on the continent and in North Africa.

Dodd is quoted as having said that he saw maps in Berlin outlining the territories involved and purportedly including the Netherlands, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia and the Polish corridor for Germany in addition to Austria, which Nazi influence now is being exerted with unprecedented success. Italy is described as seeking a "backdoor" in Egypt, Palestine, Spain and Spanish Morocco, which "has come from Great Britain's Gibraltar."

He is quoted as saying that German "school children" are being taught that it is Germany's destiny to conquer the central European nations by right of blood, tradition and heritage.

Italy, Gibraltar
 With renewed fortifications in southern Spain and Spanish Morocco, Dodd pointed out, Italy could especially modify Britain's position in Gibraltar. He said, however, that Mussolini will not be satisfied with this and will move towards domination of Egypt and Palestine. If this vision were successful, Dodd testified, Italy then will have accomplished her long-cherished ambition to control of the Mediterranean and be in a position to sever the "lifeline" of the British empire in event of war.

Daughters Dance and Dine While Dads Debate

The beauty tradition of the American girl was ably upheld as the Daughters of the Senate, club organized by the U. S. senators' daughters, held its annual dinner-dance in Washington. These pictures, snapped at the height of the evening's brightly lit show, left to right, Miss Catherine Harrison, daughter of Pat Harrison of Mississippi; Miss Marjorie Nye, the club's president, daughter of Gerald F. Nye of North Dakota; Mrs. Ralph Chase, sister of Rush D. Holt of West Virginia; and Miss Patricia McCarran, daughter of Pat McCarran of Nevada.

Filer Rancher Invents New Planter for Onion Growers

The answer to an onion grower's prayer was on a Filer ranch today—all ready to revolutionize the matter of onion planting.

That's the way friends of H. G. Nice, veteran Filer rancher, regard his new onion planter, which he invented and then assembled from odd parts of other equipment.

Nice himself was modest about his new device, but did state emphatically three points of high importance to onion farmers:

Saves Irrigating
 The machine "should enable onion growers to get their crop up without irrigating until the latter part of June or the first of July."

Plants an inch deep, no more and no less.

Line of the British empire in event of war.

Dodd assertedly told the committee that Germany and Italy probably would not resort to arms except as a last means of gaining their objectives. He said that Japan is a most important consideration in activities of the Rome-Berlin axis and he predicted that the island empire would come to the aid of the two European Fascist powers immediately in event of a major war.

Dodd also testified that war between Germany and Italy is entirely conceivable because of jealousy resulting from one nation obtaining more than the other.

FREEDOM GIVEN TO UTAH KILLER

SALT LAKE CITY, Feb. 21 (AP)—Robert H. McCoy, slayer and bank robber, will be released from the Utah state prison on March 14, despite a protest to the state board of pardons by friends and relatives of his victims.

Standing by its original decision to grant McCoy a parole, the board Saturday denied a petition to re-open the case. McCoy will have served exactly 13 years.

Seeking the re-hearing was V. A. Brantley, who was riding in the automobile with A. Roy Heath when McCoy, fleeing from a bank robbery in 1924, mistook them for a posse and opened fire, killing Heath.

Fred J. Heath, brother of the victim, protested the release of a "desperate, plotting criminal."

Speaking in McCoy's defense was Mrs. John Brothwin, mother of his former wife, who described the inmate as a faithful husband and father and blamed a Conda, Idaho, mine accident for temporary derangement at the time he robbed the beautiful bank and shot Heath.

McCoy, on parole, will be responsible to Dr. Ellis Knackley, Soda Springs, Idaho, physician, who has worked many years for the slayer's release.

Over protests of relatives of her victim, the board voted to parole on May 1 Mrs. Elizabeth Droubay, slayer of her husband, Fire Captain C. Edson Droubay, in 1933.

A Liberal Education—Local Street Chatter

One city block—31 minutes just listening—and a liberal education. Thus an Evening Times reporter learned Saturday night in Twin Falls the "wise" doctors in the city can't eat them all; you can cash a check where nobody knows you if you have a bold front; there are at least two "nice" doctors in the city; if you take one more drink you can't walk; a man can drive better than a woman at night; when a woman goes shopping you might just as well forget the time.

All in 31 Minutes
 All this the reporter learned in 31 minutes Saturday night. From 7:05 p. m. to 8:26 p. m. and from the Idaho Department store and Penny corner to the Bank and Trust corner. At least these opinions were expressed by various talkative persons. They didn't know anyone was "eavesdropping." They were talking in their own respective groups.

Starting out the walk the reporter first listened to the music of the Salvation Army band at the department store corner.

It was 7:55 p. m. and 28 persons were listening. Next to the reporter stood an old lady, a person who must have seen better days, judging from her clothing. She was speaking to a friend and the reporter overheard:

"Religious music is sweet for the soul. I could stand here for hours and listen but it is too cold and the weather makes my feet hurt."

Bill of Haggling
 The reporter moved on and so did the time. It was 8:01 and three farm boys were talking.

"But I paid $1.50 for it last week. It sure must be worth $1 now," one said as he held out a pocket watch.

"Not to me," said one of the other two.

"But gee," countered the one holding the watch, "I just got to have that dollar. I brought that girl into town and I've got to take her to the show. And it ain't possible to do it without money."

Not waiting to find the results of the street sale the reporter moved on—and the time was 8:06.

Two men, evidently farmers, were talking.

Said one: "If the bean prices don't go up I guess I'll just have to pull up stakes and get out."

Said the other: "Well you'll never starve, anyway."

Said the first: "Beans are fine but you can't eat as many as I've got in the warehouse."

A few more steps and the clock said 8:14.

A Bold Front
 "What's the difference if they don't know you?" said one enterprising young man to another with a check in his hand. "They'll cash it for you even if they don't know you. That is, if you put on a bold front."

And the youth with the check went into a drug store.

The reporter moved on. The time was now 8:17.

A woman was talking to three men:

"She didn't have any money so she didn't know how to get her nose fixed up," said the woman. "I told her to see Dr. — and she did it. I saw her the other day and she can't see through it (the nose) now. She said that Dr. — got together with Dr. — and they fixed it up. Said she could pay when she got the money, too. Gee they must be nice doctors."

But now it was 8:19 and the time was staggering, or at least it was to one gentleman assisted by a lady companion. They just passed by but the reporter heard the woman say:

She's Disgusted
 "One more drink and you won't be able to stand up. You make me..."

"Then came 8:21 and four women were talking in front of a parked auto:

"I go all to pieces and throw up the wheel when I drive at night," said one.

"I do the same thing," said another, "but I'd never admit it in public. I guess men are better drivers, at least at night, but I'd never tell him I can't drive at night. I just tell him I'm tired and want to rest. He never gets on either."

Then the four women laughed and the reporter moved a few more steps up the street. The end of the block had been reached. Two men were leaning against the bank building, one looking down the block.

Ho Hum!

"Might as well forget the time when a woman goes shopping," said the man doing the looking. "I've been waiting here a month and she isn't back yet."

And to make matters worse the other man said: "Well, you asked for it when you married her, didn't you?"

"There was no answer. Only an icy stare," and the reporter moved on. Thirty-one minutes had passed and it really isn't nice, this listening behind people's backs.

"ARE CAMELS REALLY DIFFERENT FROM OTHER CIGARETTES?" ... a question of interest to every smoker

"I've never been very fussy about cigarettes myself. Do you think that Camels are really as different as some people say, Bill?"

"You bet they are different, John! A fellow in any work as hard as selling has to figure a lot of angles on his smoking, such as how it agrees with him. And just notice how many salesmen smoke Camels. I changed to Camels—smoked 'em steadily—and I found a distinct difference in the way I enjoyed all-day smoking. Camels agree with me!"

... When H. W. DALY, 34, rayon salesman, says "Yes, Camels are really different," millions of other smokers stand ready to back him up. And that explains why Camels are preferred by the largest body of smokers ever known.
