Search for Eastern Tourists Slows Dead Count in Flood Area

By ALAN McELWAIN
LOS ANGELES, March 8 (UP)—The search for eastern tourists lost in last week's flood became a problem for relief agencies today. Authorities feared that the toll among the visitors might not be known for months; that bodies of some may have been washed into the ocean.

There were hundreds of inquiries from anxious relatives of persons who had come to California on vacation. Some of these persons were safe; some were en route to their homes, and some were missing.

Most of the permanent residents had been accounted for, and there were only a few unidentified bodies among the 141 known dead.

The destruction of two tourist camps in West Riverside, when a cloudburst sent the Santa Ana river on a rampage and deluged the camps under 40 feet of water, and the fact that many tourists were camping on the roadsides in their auto trailers, made the task of accounting for them more difficult. Registration records of the two camps were lost, and after the waters receded, mud was piled almost to the tops of standing automobiles.

Few Tourists' Bodies Found.
A few tourists' bodies were being found. That of a woman of Holland, Pipestone county, Minn., was recovered near West Riverside. Coroner B. F. White was checking a register at the second Wisconsin man may have perished with him. Martin Hytlan, also of Holland, was returning east in the same car with Eversen, according to a message from David Anderson of Ruitton, Minn. They were believed to have been drowned while trying to escape from the car when the torrent broke through.

Names of the four Illinois tourists were placed on the missing list by the same means. Louis Bielesmith of Pittsburg, Ill., reported that his brothers, A. R. Steelmith, with a wife and two children, had started out to drive home to Illinois just before the flood. They were seen in the flood. Their route led through West Riverside, and they have not been heard from since.

Found Few Bodies
Sheriff Carl Rayburn has found few bodies along the stream banks below, but he has found many more in the debris, so he will search further. He feared that many motorists were swept off the road.

Hundreds of customers were in mountain resorts, which are still (Continued on Page 2, Column 3)

LEVINE PRESSES KIDNAP CONTACT

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 8 (UP)—Murray Levine pressed today for a chance to re-establish contact with the kidnapers of his 21-year-old son, "Ben," who vanished 11 days ago while on his way home from school.

"There is nothing new," Levine told representatives of the press in the first of the three-day telephone conferences today. When the press sought to get an advance copy of the words and broke off the conversation.

The press representative, well acquainted with Levine personally, said the "grounded son" today. This contrasted with previous insistence of the kidnapers that Levine should be kept in the advanced state of agitation. A possible explanation was that the attorney had referred himself with step.

The father, who has $20,000 ransom money, asserted the kidnapers again yesterday that they could not negotiate without fear of police interference.

CITY TO TIGHTEN HANDBILL RULING

Striking at the promiscuous distribution of handbills, doggers, samples and other leaf material within the city of Twin Falls, local police officers today have instructed by Police Commissioner C. E. Hittely to "strictly enforce" the ordinance governing such practices.

On the matter was taken at the regular meeting of the city council last night after Mayor Lem A. Hittely announced that the ordinance had been received by him concerning violation of the ordinance as it is carried on the law books of the city.

All Gambling in Butte Closed on "Mystery" Order

BUTTE, Mont., March 8 (UP)—All gambling in Butte, co-holder of the nation's "mystery" order yesterday when sheriff's men told operators to close up. Mystery was justified when Sheriff Larry West stated under oath that he had seen a man under orders from West. West, however, insisted "I don't know what you're talking about," and handed the reports "false."

All equipment, furniture, was removed and stored away for use when the man was seen again. Operators indicated they would be open in "two weeks or so."

Four hundred men were dark, and hundreds of women were turned to spending the day over the boards were turned away with no comment.

MOTHER LAUGHS AFTER SLAYING OF 2 CHILDREN

RIVERSIDE, N. Y., March 8 (UP)—HARRIET THOMAS, a woman of 25 with an immobile face, who smothered her two babies because her husband didn't take her to the movies, joked with the matron who sat outside her cell today, and giggled over her own jokes.

"You shouldn't carry on so," said Joe Jack Brown, the matron. "I am thinking of them and I'm glad I did it. They're in heaven now."

Mrs. Dreyer had sat outside Mrs. Thomson's cell all night lest she kill herself, but she will be withdrawn today because it seemed obvious that Mrs. Thomson planned to live. She looked forward with apparent eagerness to spending the rest of her life in prison. She was in prison once, she said, and it was the happiest period of her life.

Live in Two-Room House
Mrs. Thomson, her husband, Harry, and their two children, Kathleen and Victor, lived in a two-room house near Babylon, a rural section of Long Island. Yesterday morning Mrs. Thomson smothered first Kathleen, then the baby, with her left hand and the quilt of her bed. She had to use her left hand because her right hand was paralyzed since Harry was born. When she was through, she telephoned police.

"Send two policemen," she said. "Remember, two policemen because there are two dead children."

Mrs. Thomson said she had planned to hang herself, but didn't because she didn't know how to tie a slip knot.

Mental Case
When Mrs. Thomson was 19, police said, she sat in an automobile with a male companion held up a storekeeper. For that, she served time in the New Bedford reformatory for 18 months. She said that they understood that when she was 12 she was treated in a state institution for mental cases.

Mrs. Thomson's husband is a laborer, she said. He denied that he had mistreated his wife. He said he had to take her to the movies occasionally, but he pointed out that she take her as often as she wanted to. The Thomases are very poor.

THREE ADMIT PART IN KILLING MAXIM GORKY

MOSCOW, March 8 (UP)—Two leading physicians and the former head of the secret police, for years the most dreaded single man in the Soviet Union, swore today that they had killed Maxim Gorky, the foremost of Bolshevik writers, as part of a plot against the government.

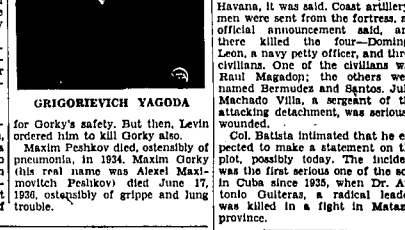

Prof. Lev G. Levin, until recently head of the Kremlin hospital; Dr. Iganti N. Kazakov, inventor of a famous cure-all extract, and Henry Grigorievich Yagoda, supreme chief of secret police, were the witnesses. They are among the 21 defendants in a dramatic mass trial of oppositionists.

The physicians accused Yagoda of ordering the murder of Gorky, Minschewitz, Menzhinsky, Yagoda's predecessor as secret police chief; Valerian V. Kulibashin, chief of the state planning commission, and Maxim Peshkov, Gorky's son.

Threatened Them
They swore that Yagoda threatened them with his unlimited might if they did not obey him.

Yagoda, denying that he ordered the killing of Menzhinsky and Peshkov, admitted, however, that he did order the "liquidation" of Gorky and Minschewitz.

Ordered Son Killed
Levin said that Yagoda first ordered him to kill Peshkov, Gorky's son, on the ground that Peshkov was a "worthless son who drinks too much" and was a bad influence on the father. Yagoda justified this order, Levin said, by pointing out that he was responsible as police chief for Gorky's safety. But then, Levin ordered him to kill Gorky also.

Maxim Peshkov died, ostensibly of pneumonia, in 1934. Maxim Gorky (his real name was Alexei Maximovich Peshkov) died June 17, 1936, of a combination of grippe and lung trouble.

Suspension of Famed Brokerage Firm Hits Wall Street Traders

NEW YORK, March 8 (UP)—The firm of Richard Whitney & Co., long regarded as one of the most influential brokerage houses in Wall street, was suspended from the New York Stock Exchange today for insolvency.

The exchange simultaneously announced that it was investigating evidence that the firm had engaged in "conduct apparently contrary to just and equitable principles of trade."

The New York state attorney general's office at once began a separate investigation.

Richard Whitney, the partner from which the firm took its name, was president of the New York stock exchange for five years and bore much of the work of guiding it through the crisis that followed the market crash of October, 1929.

Handled Morgan Account
The Whitney firm was known at times in the past to have handled brokerage transactions for J. P. Morgan and company. Whether it had acted for Morgan in recent years was not known.

News of the insolvency shocked the financial community, particularly because of the firm's long reputation as one of the most influential in Wall street. The trend of the market was not affected, however.

The New York club exchange shortly afterward also announced suspension of the firm.

The hearing March 11
The stock exchange set March 17 for a hearing on its charges regarding the firm's conduct. It upset a long-standing precedent by announcing the charges prior to holding of the hearing.

The federal securities and exchange commission also began a "private" investigation to determine whether federal laws were involved in the situation.

Jean Hersholt Celebrates 25 Years as Star of Movies; Started in at $15 Weekly Salary

By FREDERICK C. OTTMAN
HOLLYWOOD, March 8 (UP)—With a bow to the Copernican tailor whose skill started him in show business, Jean Hersholt, 29, began his 25th uninterrupted year as a movie star.

The general actor in this turbulent town can claim any comparable record. Only Charlie Chaplin, Harold Lloyd, and Al Jolson, of the incredible Hollywood of 1933, still survive. They all were subjected to long layoffs and hectic ups and downs.

Hersholt alone of the galaxy of A-brackets, B-levels, C-levels, D-levels and the others whose names meant headlines two decades ago, worked steadily on, through boom and depression and was not just to make a total of 400 pictures.

Honored at Luncheon
In commemoration of his 25th year before the camera, Jean Hersholt was honored at a luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria, county district court.

It was alleged the club's officers violated the state law.

He cracked a joke about the pea soup with the message in it and predicted that the next course would be him. When it turned out to be squash, he was delighted.

At his light was his wife of 24 years, their married years may

Amendment Sent Down to Defeat By 85-48 Count

Solon Asks Resignation of All Three TVA Directors

WASHINGTON, March 8 (UP)—The house today refused to restore salary provisions to the tax bill which President Roosevelt specifically endorsed. The vote was 85 to 48 and was the first of a series of major issues presented in the administration's tax revision bill.

The vote rejected an amendment proposed by Rep. Gerald Boleau, P., Wis., which would have re-inserted in the tax bill a clause providing for disclosure of salaries in excess of $10,000 a year. The clause for such publication was eliminated in committee. President Roosevelt had said in a press conference last week that the publicity feature should be retained as a matter of public "morals."

The Tennessee Valley authority controversy before the house over the billion dollar naval expansion measure were the other chief subjects of congressional activities. A committee of congressmen were in action, preparing new proposals for the congress.

Directors Resigned Asked
Rep. Donald McLean, R., N. J., introduced a concurrent resolution to remove all three directors of the TVA. Proposals to investigate the three directors, Chairman Arthur E. Morgan, David E. Lilienthal, and Dr. Harcourt Morgan, were pending in both houses. Sen. George W. Norris, L. Neb., father of the TVA, arose in the senate and asserted that Chairman Arthur E. Morgan was "moved by the green-eyed monster of jealousy" when he attacked another director.

Chairman Earl Vinson, D., Minn., of the house naval affairs committee, revealed to the senate subcommittee that the estimated cost of the expansion of the Panama canal, the Keystone of America.

Concluded White Salaries
Preceding the vote on the publicity law amendment Boleau argued for re-insertion of the provision. "I submit," he said, "that the public has a right to know the salaries of the directors of the TVA. That it is to be continued to give publicity to big corporation salaries will be able to white wash the salaries of the directors who have nothing to do with it."

A teller's vote on the proposal showed it defeated by 118 to 60. The senate will vote on the measure Monday. Open hearings on the measure will be held in the first struggle over the 20 per cent surtax on closely-held corporations. Speaker William B. Bankhead predicted that the measure would be passed by a 70-20 vote.

ICC Allows 10 Per Cent Rate Gain

WASHINGTON, March 8 (UP)—The Interstate Commerce commission today authorized the nation's railroads to increase freight rates 10 per cent, adding millions to their annual revenue.

The 10 per cent, designed to bolster the carriers' sagging revenues, represented a third hike of the increase demanded by the roads.

Exempted from the increase were products of agriculture other than tropical fruits, bituminous coal, lignite, coke and iron ore.

The ICC granted an increase of 10 cents per ton on anthracite coal and lumber, shingles and lathes and cottonseed oil and vegetable oil.

The commission ruled the increased rates may become effective on or less than 10 days notice to the commission and to the general public.

The lockers are of the most modern sloping-top type, and are placed on a wooden base built by C. O. Taylor, superintendent of buildings, and several assistants.

Total number of the new lockers will be 1,010. Combination lockers will be used. The lockers are completely assembled. Cost of the lockers, on what the board termed a highly advantageous basis, was $20 each, exclusive of the combination locks.

Get at the Cause of Constipation!
You know that constipation often gives you that dopey, sunken, bogged down feeling. Why not get at the cause and cure it?

If you eat what most people do that few understand, you eat potatoes—the chances are all that's the matter with you is you don't get enough fiber. "Bulk" doesn't mean what you may think. It's a kind of food that feeds the muscles of the bowels, and leaves a soft, juicy mass in the intestines that eliminates waste.

If this is your trouble, what you need is a dish of crisp, crunchy Kalligon All-Bran breakfast cereal every day. It contains the "bulk" you need, plus Nature's intestinal tonic vitamins B₁ and iron.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and see if the old world doesn't look a little brighter! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Mich. Sold by every grocer.

The topic was discussed by several speakers from varying viewpoints.

Mayor Lem A. Chapin, first speaker, discussed "The Setup of City Government" and gave a brief history of the city and its different forms of government which have been used here. Money and how to get it were named the city's present problems.

Mrs. John E. Hayes, first vice president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, discussed "Needs of Our Town," which she gave as a new library, a greater degree of safety for mothers and babies and a recreational center which she said would be possible if spirit and willingness were aroused. The money would follow these.

Miss Jessie Fraser's talk was "Good Citizenship" in which she described desirable and undesirable traits in citizens. "What's Wrong with the Woman as a Citizen" was the title of a clever talk by Mrs. Genevieve Dwight. A skit staged by Mrs. M. J. McCallister, Mrs. Belle Green, Miss Marie Blitzenberg, Miss Bertha Tice, Miss Merle Newton and Miss Inez Wheeler.

The address of welcome was given by Mrs. Crystal Van Ausdell, president, and Rev. H. G. McCallister, Methodist pastor, gave the invocation. Miss B. Marie Ackerman was toastmaster.

Covers were laid at tables attractive with tapers and flowers and a green and gold color scheme. The programs were in the shape of the state of Idaho with Twin Falls marked by the gold emblem of the group.

JAPANESE SPEAKS HERE WEDNESDAY

Kaju Nakamura, former member of the Imperial Japanese Diet, making body for Japan, will be heard here Wednesday night at a public meeting which will be held at the J.O.O.F. hall at 7 p. m. Nakamura's speaking tour of the United States is being made on behalf of the Oriental Summer Cultural college of Tokyo.

His lecture here is being sponsored by the Nikkel Citizens association, an organization of the Japanese young people whose aim is to better themselves as American citizens. Following the lecture the Japanese statesman will answer questions from the floor.

Nakamura expressed the belief that Japan is a much misunderstood nation. He makes no excuse for Japan's action and position in the present emergency with China, declaring it is not the nature of the Japanese to justify themselves with arguments.

He points out that the Americans and Chinese have somewhat similar mental attitudes whereas the Japanese mind runs more in conservative channels. This psychological difference, he points out, has resulted in Americans understanding news coming from China more favorably than news from Japan.

The public is invited to attend the lecture, Nikkel officers said.

During the meeting the new co-sponsor, Gerald Wallace, spoke and Charles Larsen told of the conference at Pocatello on plans for the Older Boys conference to be here April 29 and 30 and May 1.

All business was conducted under the direction of Frank Carpenter, president.

PITTMAN WARNS BIG NAVY BUILDING PLAN ESSENTIAL

SOLO BELIEVES SHIPS NEEDED TO PROTECT CANAL

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
WASHINGTON, March 8 (UP)—Chairman Key Pittman, D., Nev., of the senate foreign relations committee, warned today that the administration's billion-dollar naval program is essential to defense of the Panama canal in event of war.

Pittman took issue with the charge of Sen. William E. Borah, R., Ida., dean of the foreign relations committee, that the expenditures were the beginning of a world armaments race and possibly another world war.

Pittman said that:

1. The problem of national defense is so vast that the proposed Nicaraguan canal costing probably $400,000,000 should be built to supplement the inadequate war-time facilities of the Panama canal.
2. The theory that advances in aerial bombardment have made battleships obsolete is without foundation and comparable to arguing that improved artillery on land makes infantry obsolete.

No Logic

3. There is no "logic in the view that an invincible navy" must be used for aggression and the strongest argument to the contrary is that both "our people and our government" are determined to keep out of foreign wars.

Pittman's attack was made as dissenting members of the house naval affairs committee charged in a minority report that the 20 per cent naval expansion bill was "diplomatic" rather than "naval." They said that President Roosevelt's support of the proposed program was based on a desire "to implement the quarantine policy and the policy of intervention in Asia."

The minority report was signed by Reps. Ralph O. Brewster, R., Me., Ralph E. Church, R., Ill., and W. Sterling Cole, R., N. Y. They contended that the bill:

- 1. Authorizes three new $750,000-000 battleships when the navy has not asked funds to begin three already authorized.
- 2. Limits naval aircraft when its importance is increasing with revolutionary rapidity and other nations are spending 10 times what the United States is for experimentation and development.

3. "Authorizes the navy to be used in the practically unlimited discretion of the President 'for world peace and security' and to follow American commerce and travelers even though they may wander at their own sweet will into the heart of a war zone."

4. "Should give congressional expression to the almost universal desire for a disarmament conference."

Long Coastlines

To these charges and those of Borah, that the administration's naval program implies an aggressive attitude, the answer is:

"The United States has two very long coastlines to defend.

"It may be necessary sometime to divide the fleet. Such a case would occur if our country were attacked simultaneously by two powers, one in the Atlantic and one in the Pacific. It must also be remembered that the necessities of defense require us to keep ample forces in both the Atlantic and Pacific because our only route of connection is through the Panama canal.

"That tenuous channel, with its mechanical locks, could easily be put out of use if bombing planes of an enemy could reach it. Such planes would be carried within range of the canal by airplane carriers supported by naval vessels.

"In view of the great flying radius of planes, the navy must be prepared to go long distances from the coast for the purpose of intercepting plane carriers at as great a distance as possible."

MYSTERY GUNNER SOUGHT IN UTAH

NEPHI, Utah, March 8 (UP)—A mysterious gunman, whose bullet narrowly missed a passing motorist, was sought by authorities today in a case that recalled the unsolved slaying of Fred Hill, 22, on Jan. 12.

Loren Garrett, Nephi automobile salesman and one of five men who saw Hill get into a black coupe a half hour before his bullet riddled body was found in front of his home here, was the near victim of the gunman's night attack.

En route home from Provo, Garrett said a bullet pierced the windshield of his automobile at the bottom of Steamboat hill, just south of the Utah-Juab county line.

Garrett said an automobile was approaching from the opposite direction and another machine was on the highway in front of him when the shot was fired.

"I was so startled I just stopped the car and shuddered and didn't think to get the license number of the other machine," he told authorities here.

World Prayer Day Observed at Buhl

BUHL, March 8 (Special)—Delegates from four Buhl churches, the Methodist, Presbyterian, Christian, and Baptist observed the World day of prayer Friday at the Methodist church.

Special music was furnished by the Misses Mavis Pond, Avis Dennis and Vivian Swiger, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. L. J. Johnson, and Mrs. Frank Merriman, and Mrs. Lloyd Harvey sang a duet.

"Union Christian Colleges" that have been established by the various churches in the Orient, was the subject of a talk by Mrs. Enoch Wall. Mrs. Harry Barry talked on "Christian Work among the Indians" and "Migrant Work" was the subject of a talk by Mrs. Dunlap and Mrs. C. E. Ryan concluded the program of the afternoon with a talk on "Christian Literature."

Heyburn Art Display Sets High Standard

By JEAN SPRAGUE

More than one hundred paintings may be seen at Heyburn for the next two weeks forming an exhibit of outstanding merit, one with remarkably few canvases which do not measure up to the general high artistic standard of the display as a whole.

Only the sixth such exhibit arranged by the Heyburn schools, it is one which compares with professional displays and leaves little more to be asked, its growth and improvement over former displays is especially commendable, making Heyburn school a true art center with its permanent collection which is enlarged each year by selections from the displays and one to which great credit is due for a remarkable undertaking.

Most Are Landscapes

The majority of the pictures are landscapes with subjects ranging from the east coast including Virginia and Philadelphia to the Pacific seacoast. Many are of the Idaho and Utah desert, wastes and the Rocky mountains.

Portrait studies are in the minority but there are several excellent character studies of western types, two true portraits and other figure studies. There is only one copy of an old master, Frans Hals' "La Bohemienne."

Still life paintings are also very few in number but on the whole are pleasing.

Style of the landscapes shows decided variation in technique. Only a few are in water color, and the range in style from the earliest impressionism to a powerful modernistic study in deep blues and greens by Dale Nichols, Dayton, O., and adaptations of the style of Grant Wood.

Great charm was found in so many of the landscapes that it is hard to single out one or two. There was the majestic view of the Tetons slightly veiled with mist, painted by Olaf Moller whose numerous contributions were—particularly outstanding. Another was "Winter in the Rockies" by Cornelius Saltzberg, Utah, and there was also the view of the old inn at Williamsburg, Va., full of old world charm, by Roger M. Pittman of Washington, D. C.

The large view of the Tetons by Moller, is one which commands immediate attention with its excellent treatment of perspective in the far distances, the mid-distance and its masterly painting in the foreground. "Birchrunville, Pa.," an autumn scene near Philadelphia, is noted for its fall coloring, its richness of color which is poetic in its interpretation rather than overpowering, and its fine feeling of distance.

Sea-Coast Studies

As always, water subjects are well represented with many sea-coast studies of boats or merely coast lines, or of mountain lakes and streams.

"The Oregon Coast" by Percy Munser of Hood River, Ore. is one of the excellent interpretations of the first group and "Snowy Pied Stream" by Rose Howard Salikbury, Utah, is a poetic revelation of spring in the high mountains with remarkable treatment of the water which dominates the canvas.

Another memorable landscape is the "Sand Dunes" by Edgar M. Jen-

HOUSING SURVEY CONTINUES HERE

Survey of inadequate housing in Twin Falls, sponsored by the American Citizens' Protective association, is underway again and to date pictures of 450 inadequate dwellings have been taken, it was announced this afternoon by Thomas McDougall, Idaho low cost housing administrator.

Estimates of such buildings in Twin Falls run up to 800 and the report is expected to show that, at the time of the survey, approximately one-quarter of the residents in such homes were ill.

A similar survey was completed today at Hansen showing 68 inadequate dwellings housing 114 adults and 63 children under 15 years of age.

A housing unit will be organized in that community Wednesday night, McDougall said. Cost of the survey there was carried by the village council.

AIRPORT MANAGER KILLED IN CRASH

LEWISTON, Idaho, March 8 (UP)—Twenty-eight-year-old James Leachman, manager of the Walla Walla (Wash.) airport, died here last night of injuries suffered when his small plane crashed at the Lewiston airport.

Airport attendants extricated Leachman's body from the wreckage. The plane crashed from a height of 50 feet while the young birdman was making a landing.

Leachman still was alive when taken from the wreck but died soon afterwards in a hospital. He sustained a fractured skull, compound fractures of his arms and legs and internal injuries.

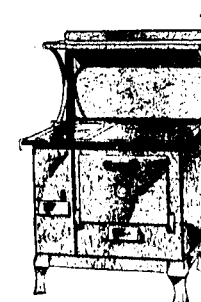

Leachman's father, a California doctor, arrived by plane today to take charge of his son's body. It will be sent to Walla Walla for burial.

Hazelton Takes on Albion, Glens Ferry Tangles with Shoshone Quintet

Nine south central Idaho Class B high school basketball teams were pointed today for the opening games of the district championship tournament, set for Shoshone Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The tournament will officially open at 2 p. m. with Wendell and Hazelton clashing. After that will come five more games, three to be played in the evening. Morning games will be played on Friday and Saturday, with a total of seven contests scheduled for the second day. No afternoon tilts are set for the final day.

Referees selected for the tournament are W. V. Olds and Earl Williams, veteran officials from Jerome, R. Hester, Shoshone, Lewis, B. J. official timer, and Supt. John A. Darnall, Dietrich, is official scorer.

Opening Games Will Pit Coach Cleo Shorthouse's Wendell Trojans, Entering as champions of the King Hill district, against the Hazelton Vikings, coached by Bill Briggs, and with the record of having lost only one game this season—the best performance of any team in Class B in south central Idaho. Despite the fine average, the Wendell organization is favored to win the game.

Second Game

Second game of the opening day brings Heyburn against Fairfield—both clubs that entered the tournament during the season. Both teams went through their tournament without a defeat. The Heyburn club, coached by Bill Briggs, is a 6-0 outfit, but is expected to meet its match in Coach C. D. Merrill's Hazelton, who are selected from a list of the district's smallest schools in this section of Idaho.

Hazelton, surprise champion of the South Side sub-district, will take the lead in the second game of the Mini-Cassia tourney in the two club's opening encounter. Despite the position of the two clubs in the tournament, the Hazelton quintet is considered the edge.

Mobratten and Clark Added To Long List

By JOE GALLAGHER
SUN VALLEY, March 8 (Special)—Names representing the Canadian National Ski association in the Sun Valley International this coming week-end were announced today by J. W. Schaefer, secretary of the Sun Valley Ski club and Acting "Iron Man" Clark of the Norland Ski club of Ottawa and Tom Mobratten of Vancouver, British Columbia.

These two skiers have for the past several seasons been the best snow-bumpers to score the best of the maple leaf domination. Clark holds the title of Dominion Combined champion for 1932, as a result of the standard of the Canadian championship, meet held last week. Tom Mobratten, 1932 Western Canadian combined champion, has a reputation for a good all-around skier, and a jumper of the first water. Last year he took first in the four event combined tangle, first in the slalom, and second in the downhill. Jumping year being with a score of 528.87 points. In the jumping event he placed third with the Air Engen first and the Kollerud second, his jumping score being but one-tenth of a point behind that of the skiers who were named among the world's best jumpers.

Also from Canada will come two entrants for the women's events in the second round of the tournament, Patricia and Phoinise, well known in skiing circles of eastern Canada.

Another feminine entrant for the ladies slalom is Virginia Bowden of the Washington Ski club of Seattle. Virginia Bowden has spent several weeks this season skiing on Sun Valley slopes, and has exhibited consistently good form.

Preparations are rapidly being completed for handling the large crowd expected to attend the races March 12 and 13. The downhill race will be held on Saturday on Durance mountain, while the slalom and jumping events will be held Sunday on Round mountain in full view of Grandstand at the base of that mountain.

Flowers are open at the time of day or night when the insect they wish to attract are abroad. Some blossoms depend on bees, butterflies and other day-flying insects to carry their pollen, while other plants close their petals during the day and open them only at night, when moths are flying.
