Victorious China Army Seeks to Turn Japanese Rout to Disaster

Invaders Abandon Motorized Operations in Hasty Retreat

By ROBERT BELLAIRE

SHANGHAI, April 9 (UP)—Chinese troops on the central front have inflicted a serious defeat on the Japanese and their morale high, are seeking to turn the defeat into a disaster, reports from the battle lines said today.

A United Press staff correspondent with the Chinese army confirmed that the Chinese had retaken Taiher-chwang, northeast of Hushow and that the Japanese were abandoning their motorized equipment.

In the rear of the Japanese, as they retreated, Chinese irregulars were ripping up the telephone and communications line and cutting off supplies. Chinese asserted that a mixed army of guerrillas and the urban bands of the suburbs of Tientsin, an important city on the Tientsin-Nanking railroad, and a Japanese force over the entire northeastern front.

Storn Tientsin Suburb
It was asserted officially at Hankow late today that Chinese troops had stormed and taken the eastern suburbs of Tientsin and were attacking the southern suburbs.

Further, the Chinese asserted that they had smashed with heavy losses a sudden Japanese offensive on the Lake Tai-Hangchow front west and southwest of Shanghai, and that the Japanese effort to divert attention from the central front.

It was reported that 10,000 Japanese reinforcements had arrived at Shanghai from the homeland.

All reports from the Chinese side indicated that the Chinese had won a great victory and it was stated they hoped to make of it not only their greatest victory of the war but the greatest in the long, troubled history of their nation.

Chinese on Offensive
The Yellow river, for centuries called "China's sorrow" had become a symbol for the rebirth of a nation of 400 million people. On the Yellow river front, Chinese monthly advances had been made were definitely on the offensive.

A formidable army of regulars, well equipped and well trained, and a motorized equipment, formed the heart of the Chinese forces. A new air fleet flew overhead, changing the Japanese air fleet, taking the Japanese lines with bombs and machine gun bullets. The regulars were backed by guerrillas, numbering thousands, who were harassing the Japanese at many points, massacring small detached units, attacking supply lines, and making it difficult for the Japanese to attack strongly held towns.

Claims Disputed
Japanese stoutly disputed the claims of the Chinese to successes of any moment.

Had he been wrong, the city would have been buried. He was right, and the city saved $320,000.

REBEL TROOPERS PUT PINNACLES ON LOYALIST ARMY

By JOE ALEX MORRIS

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
The Nazi-Fascist supported Spanish insurgents squeezed the pinners on the loyalist government to-day.

Three nationalist thrusts appeared to be progressing slowly but steadily. One was to the north in an effort to cut off loyalist refugees from flight through the Pyrenees to France. A second was through the Lerida-Tremp area toward Barcelona and the third was on the southern front toward the Mediterranean at Torosa and Vinaros.

The government forces, particularly in the south, gave ground slowly. They still held Tortosa but the nationalists were reported close to the sea in the Vinaros sector.

It came after friends of the President had charged that defeat of the measure was a victory for lobbyists and propagandists.

SPRING BLIZZARD CLAIMS 48 LIVES

(By United Press)
Terrific gales swept across a path of desolation in the south and midwest today, driving the worst April snow in the country's history toward the Atlantic seaboard. Forty-eight persons were dead, victims of floods, tornadoes and raging blizzards.

Sixty others were missing in six states hit by the storm center as it swept from Texas, Indiana, Tennessee, to the east of Maryland back again. It roared from the northwest Wednesday, laid a particularly heavy snow on the Rocky mountains to the Ohio valley then turned east, swinging a great semi-circle, moved into the south.

Texas Has Blizzards
The Texas panhandle was struck by the blizzard, tornadoes and political significance to the rejection last year of his plan to reorganize the supreme court.

It was accomplished by a United States Republican coalition. Sen. James F. Byrnes, D., author of the bill, declined to discuss the bill's action for the possibility of a Senate attempt to enact the house-approved Warren bill—providing for creation of a new cabinet department and a political completion of the house may be charged.

SHEEP SHEARERS CALL FOR STRIKE

CROCKETT, Calif., April 9 (UP)—The Sheep Shearers' Union of North America, affiliate of the American Federation of Labor, today called a nationwide strike of its members to begin on Friday at 9 a. m. (MST).

John Crawford, president of the shearers, said the union demands:

1. A minimum 12 1/2 cents per head shearing rate.
2. Labor recognition.
3. Labeling of each bag of wool with the union tag.

He also said the union would insist on a boycott of lamb and mutton. A boycott of that type already is underway in California, where shearers have been on strike for the past three weeks.

Chief effect of the nationwide walkout would be felt in the large sheep areas of the west, where shearing is ready to commence. These include California, Nevada, Montana, Oregon, Utah and Washington.

Since the state-wide strike was called, shearing has been carried on in a limited way. Shearers were sent to the hospital, 50 others received minor injuries.

Should Be Banned Businessman and father of large family: "Anything obscene and licentious, something to startle the public, that is all the picture magazines are after. No person was ever denied the necessary information by a doctor."

Housewife: "Information disseminated by the pictures is entirely proper in its place but a publication distributed in this manner is not the place for such private information. There is too much danger of the magazine falling into the hands of the wrong kind of people."

See Nothing Obscene in it G. K. Hunsicker, owner of Diamond Hardware company and one of the city's leading business men: "I don't see anything wrong with the pictures. They are pictures of life. As far as I am concerned, they should not be classed as obscene."

Dr. H. S. Grew, physician and surgeon, former county coroner: "I am a physician and I am not a censor. I am not in connection with the pictures. Many persons do not understand childbirth and for this reason a more detailed explanation is in order."

"Certainly Frank" C. O. Thompson, secretary of the Office of Commerce, which created the pictures: "The pictures are certainly frank and deal with a delicate subject. It taken in the proper spirit they will have the effect of giving the public a more realistic view of the birth process."

HOOVER SAYS REORGANIZING DEFEAT IS 'HEARTENING NEWS'

EXECUTIVE BILL LOSS IS CHEERED BY EX-PRESIDENT

SAN FRANCISCO, April 9 (Special) — Former President Herbert Hoover today expressed his hearty approval of a nation-wide radio audience last night that the action of the house of representatives in recommitting President Hoover's governmental reorganization bill was "heartening news."

Departing from his prepared speech to comment on the house revolt against the administration, Hoover said that "those men that voted today are owed a debt of gratitude."

The former President had been talking about Mr. Roosevelt's system of "planned economy." He had said that the United States was following a course "which in the end creates the demoralization from which Fascism invariably springs."

Extemporaneously, he added: "No more heartening news has come in many days than that the house of representatives today voted to halt the methods (planned economy)."

Hoover's speech before citizens of his native state in his second public statement since he returned from Europe. Before coming west he spoke in New York.

He said that the nations which had refused to adopt courses of "planned economy" were the most prosperous nations in the world. Their prosperity is existent, he said, despite the dangers under which they were laboring.

Referring to planned economy, he said: "One other great democracy, France, has adopted this. They are today as deep in trouble."

He asserted that the "primary objective" of the American system was to eliminate poverty and the fear of it.

Recalling 1938 slogan "Men cannot be made till the minds of men are free from insecurity and want," he said: "But security and plenty can be built only upon a release of the productive energies of men."

Recalling the 1932 campaign slogan of "let the not be worse," which was used against Hoover, he quoted "some one" as saying "that was about forty billion dollars ago."

South Idaho's Wonders Get New Mention

Twin Falls, Sun Valley, Halley and other Idaho points including the famous Shoshone ice caves, today had gained wide recognition throughout the western United States as the result of a special article which appears in this month's issue of "Sunset—the Pacific Monthly," published in San Francisco.

The article in the magazine, which is sold at local news stands and is also available at the library, is titled "The 4-States Highway" and takes the reader on a "trip" from Mexico to Canada, explaining points of interest which they see en route.

Concerning Idaho and this section the article says in part:

"We're in Idaho, state of tall, snowy mountains, turbulent rivers, thundering waterfalls, flowered mountain meadows, ghost towns and great ranches."

"Twin Falls is worth a twin pause. Besides the city itself you'll want to see its famous Gaskill botanical garden, famous for its pools and water plants. Then out to see the real wonder—area of Twin Falls; the magnificent, overwhelming Snake river gorge; historic Twin falls, for which the city was named; the impressive Twin Falls-Jerome bridge, 478 feet above the river; the Shoshone falls, about 128 feet higher than the so-famous Niagara—higher and often more impressive. From about mid-April till May will probably be the best time to see Shoshone falls, and be sure to see them after the less impressive Twin falls."

PARDON GRANTED TO ADA CONVICT

BOISE, Ida., April 9 (Special) — The state board of pardons has granted a 3-to-10 year term to Fred Ford, 68, serving a 10-year term for murder in second degree during 1929 in Ada county.

Ford had served slightly more than four years of the term. He was convicted on circumstantial evidence of the slaying of a restaurant cook in a shack on the outskirts of Boise.

The slaying allegedly followed a drinking party. Willis Moffatt, Ada county prosecutor, wrote a letter to the board expressing his doubt about justice of the conviction.

The board refused to parole Hugh Watson, former state employe serving a 3-to-10 year term on a conviction of embezzling state funds.

Appeals denied by the board included: Walter Sutton, Twin Falls county forger; Margery Beas, Twin Falls, robbery; James Stone, Canyon, 1st degree burglary; Ray Thomas, Canyon, forger.

FAME

When "Seen Today" of the Evening Times announced that Sheriff E. F. Frater's Boston bulldog, Snubba, had fallen off the courthouse roof for the fourth time, the sheriff thought the fame was just in Idaho.

Then Salt Lake City papers picked up the yarn, and the fame spread. And today the nine-year-old Snubba had become a national figure.

Members of the local fire department held a banquet Monday evening in the Club cafe in honor of Lawrence Dunn, former secretary of the department, who left this week to accept a position in a Hamilton bank.

"I do, indeed," Constance told him. "The rest of my public seemed to think I was doing a grand job."

"The trouble," George Thordahl went on with a faintly embarrassed air, "is that this is too much like taking candy from a baby. It's been a lot of fun for a while; but I haven't the heart to let you go on with it..."

"You mean you've known it all along?" Constance asked between mirth and chagrin. George Thordahl sobered at once.

"Sorry," he said. "No, just lately—after I got to remembering a few things... And I did hear the nurse talking one day when they thought I was asleep."

"Did I now?" There was a flicker of sardonic amusement in his eyes when he spoke.

SPEAKING of COVERAGE

YOU GET IT!

when you advertise in your daily newspapers

There used to be a time when a merchant was satisfied to advertise to a small group. Transportation was not easy... a closely confined group was all he could hope to visit his store. Almost every one who came in he knew by name.

But modern times have changed that picture. Every merchant is gauged to "bigger business"—he wants to reach out... into the vast trading territory which surrounds every western town.

In short he wants advertising COVERAGE... and he must have a medium which can give him this coverage. He wants to invite those potential customers who live a hundred miles away... as well as his next door neighbor. Motor cars, fast transportation... these things have made those people a possible market for him.

Your daily newspapers have kept pace with that demand... they have offered a news medium which commands attention in those far-away homes. No other medium does this. Into the homes of Magic Valley, for instance, go your two daily newspapers... well accepted... widely read... carrying the news of the day and the advertising messages of wide-awake merchants. They give the coverage which present day merchandising demands.

of all the homes in the City of Twin Falls is given through the News and the Times. Both of these papers go into Twin Falls homes because they are wanted... each paper is bought and paid for.

95% COVERAGE

of all the homes in the County of Twin Falls is offered only through the Times and the News. No other respected medium can give such blanket coverage.

85% COVERAGE

of all the homes in Magic Valley... those homes which are located in the eight irrigated counties of south-central Idaho... homes which hold over 75,000 potential customers for you.

In the area of Magic Valley there are only two daily newspapers with a wide circulation. The Idaho Evening Times and the Twin Falls News are the only widely read daily newspapers.

STAGE SET FOR 'BISCUIT-ADMIRAL CLASSIC'

Two Leading U. S. Horses to Race For $100,000 Purse

NEW YORK, April 9 (U.P.)—Unless plans are changed, War Admiral and Seabiscuit, champion race horses of 1937, will meet in a $100,000 match race—winner take all—at Belmont park in September.

The "race of the century" was virtually clinched for the New York track when Samuel D. Riddle, owner of War Admiral, agreed to it yesterday. C. S. Howard, Seabiscuit's owner, had agreed tentatively by long distance telephone from California.

Riddle's preference for Belmont as the scene of the match race for the millennium match, Arlington's offer of $100,000 was matched by the Westchester Racing association and the New York track did not reserve the right to include the Kentucky Derby winner as the Arlington-Jockey club bid.

Needling signatures to a contract to make it a certainty, this race will outshine any other in American thoroughbred racing. That including the historical Zev-Pearson, Man of War-Sir Barton, Hurler-Cesar Khanayn and several other lesser bred horses named for $100,000 before.

War Admiral, winner of the "triple crown" and three-year-old champion, was the favorite. The little brown son of Man of War is undefeated in his last two starts. Howard's Seabiscuit, last year's handicapper, won his last start at Agua Caliente March 27, but was nose out in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap by Stagehand.

Need Fast Track In his conference with Herbert Howard, chairman of the New York racing commission who put over the long-awaited match race for Belmont, Riddle had only a few minutes to make his case. He said that the race should be run on a "fast track," which should be to Seabiscuit's liking; that a barrier instead of a rail should be used, and that Seabiscuit should have the choice of positions.

North Carolina will get a basketball player next fall who is married and the father of two sons. His name is Thomas H. Hagan, and he graduated from high school in June. What to do? Paul Hagan, Iowa line coach, is disappointed. The guard, who he describes his candidate for spring grid drill.

Had Harry Thompson defeated Joe Louis in Chicago, the other night the Minnesota heavyweight would have had to meet the heavyweight champion in a return match within a month. Ordered by the referee, this was accepted as the height of precaution. But that kind of precaution has been made before—and often before.

And speaking of Dempsey, you are reminded that the old Manassas Mauler is back in the ring. He writes New York items for hundreds of NAA papers over the world, including the New York Times. There are those who say about the former Salt Lake City pugilist: "As thousands of the city's travelers will tell you, Jack Dempsey bows to no peer as a sportsman in New York. He has been in the business several years now and he has not shirked the job."

"Hero worshippers may be sure of his bluff attitude and his vigorous handshake. The Manassas Mauler has mastered the personal touch. He has mastered the crowd in a manner, and he has perfected the technique of convincing the customer that he is an invited guest."

Hardisty looked the class of the card in disposing of Bell, winning by down with the count at seven when Bell, in a rather tame bout, few solid blows were landed. The battle was the first of his career for Christopher.

Hoag Slated To Replace Top Holdout

(By NEA Service) DALLAS, April 9.—Joe McCarthy insists that the New York Yankees will be all right even though Joe Di Maggio fails to accept terms.

"We've started two seasons without Di Maggio, and won pennants both years," asserts McCarthy, now leading the Ruppert riffs north and apparently well-satisfied with what has transpired in the Cragcroft league. "I guess we can do it again if we have the rest of the club."

Hoagie in Center "There never was anybody who couldn't be replaced. That goes for kings and presidents and any one else."

"It goes for Di Maggio, and until he shows up, little Hoagie is going to play centerfield," Little Hoagie, of course, is Myril Hoag, who McCarthy was telling him the other day that he didn't miss doing one wrong thing while the club was at its St. Petersburg training camp.

Likes Hoag "You threw to the wrong bases, and you got picked off first, second and third," said the manager.

"I didn't get picked off third," Hoagie objected.

"Never answered Joe," the training season is not yet finished. Still, McCarthy likes Hoag, because the little right-hander with the No. 3 shirt has done so well. All the wrong things of which he has been guilty haven't stopped the Sacramento lad from trying.
