House Committee Slashes Road Grants to States 50 Per Cent

FARM BILLS GET SETBACK DURING BUDGET CUTTING

WASHINGTON, April 12 (U.P.)—The house appropriations committee, cutting $72,975,684 under the current supply bill, today rigidly followed budget recommendations for highway funds and favorably reported a $799,785,524 agriculture department appropriation measure.

Revised slightly at the last minute before it was reported, the bill is $19,431,399 below budget estimates.

The house accepted the president's demand for a 50 per cent reduction in highway funds.

The major economy was effected by cutting $74,000,000 from the $187,000,000 appropriated for the 1938 fiscal year for federal highway aid to states. The reduction left the highway appropriation at $113,000,000.

Requested Last Fall

The sharp cut was approved over demands of the house roads committee for maintenance of highway allocations at their full strength.

President Roosevelt's veto of the special session last fall to approve the reduction in line with plans for general governmental economy.

With $154,524,065 in permanent funds which the appropriations committee has no power to alter, the agriculture bill totals $95,746,224. This figure includes $147,000,000 in estimated receipts from agricultural tariffs, $200,000 more than on this year, earmarked by law.

In Fight? WORKERS RETURN TO BRIGGS JOBS

DETROIT, April 12 (U.P.)—Approximately 13,800 employees of the Briggs Manufacturing company's Mack avenue body plant and of the Plymouth motor division of Chrysler corporation returned to work today after settlement of a dispute between Briggs officials and the United Automobile Workers union.

The Briggs company closed its plant and sent 100 employees yesterday in protest against an alleged "slow-down" strike by 44 UAW members in the cushion department.

Closing of the Briggs plant forced the Plymouth factory to close because of a shortage of bodies. About 5,600 workers were made idle by the Plymouth shut-down.

After a conference with union leaders Briggs officials agreed to reopen the body plant. A company spokesman said:

"The men agreed to supply the production requested by the company in the cushion department."

Emil Mazy, president of the Briggs local of the UAW, said the settlement was tentative pending the outcome of a "time study" of production to be conducted by company officials and union stewards.

47 Schools in State Speech Festival Here

Students representing 47 schools will flock into Twin Falls on Friday for the Class A and B state speech festival. Approximately 125 are being made by members of the state, the morning session was spent in bringing in nine of the checks listed among the items Taylor brought but not turned over to the state treasurer.

With Attorney General J. W. Taylor conducting introduction of evidence and examination of witnesses for the state, the morning session was spent in bringing in nine of the checks listed among the items Taylor brought but not turned over to the state treasurer.

State Outlines Case

The state's line of questioning and approach was designed to show that the checks were introduced from the sale of penitentiary produce to various establishments—had been delivered to the prison and subsequently cashed.

Attorneys for the defense cross-examined in efforts to establish whether the checks had been given personally to Ira Taylor or whether delivered to subordinate officials.

In unable to state definitely whether the checks had personally received the checks.

No Records Kept

Chief witness of the morning was E. H. Kirkpatrick, former superintendent of the Eagle Island prison farm. Kirkpatrick testified that to his knowledge no record concerning disposition of farm produce at livestock were ever kept. He said he kept some "personal" notes which were destroyed when he left the farm position.

One of the state's charges is that proceeds from the sale of livestock were delivered to the state treasurer but allegedly disappeared after being transferred to the prison.

Delivered Checks

Kirkpatrick testified that he placed checks derived from the sale of livestock on the desk of Warden Taylor "when he was there" and on the desk of either the deputy warden or the state treasurer.

Death Removes Chaliapin, World's Greatest Basso

PARIS, April 12 (U.P.)—Feodor Chaliapin, great Russian basso, died today.

He was 63. The immediate cause of death was anemia. Numerous blood transfusions were resorted to in an attempt to save or prolong his life.

While he had been ill for several weeks at his home here, his condition became critical only yesterday. Feodor Chaliapin loved to sing, but after a poverty-stricken career he saw to it that he was well-paid.

At the climax of his career he probably earned $50,000 annually and he became one of the wealthiest Russians. He disowned the Communist cause as a "dictatorship of the mediocre" and never returned to the land of his birth after 1926. The Communists confiscated his estates at Tbilisi, Kazan, Moscow and Leningrad after the revolution and he never again sought to return to his land after when critics began to acclaim him as the greatest basso of all time.

SENATE, HOUSE GROUPS RECEIVE FDR'S PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON, April 12 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt today transmitted to senate and house interstate commerce committees a proposal of Interstate Commerce Commissioner Carl Miller for incorporation of all American railroads into a single system.

Presidential secretary Stephen T. Early sent the proposal to Chairman Burton C. Wheeler, D. Mont., and Chairman Clarence F. Lea, D. Cal., of the senate and house committees, at the direction of Mr. Roosevelt.

Miller's report said such incorporation should result in a wave of cooperation in the railroads industry. It would be followed, the interstate commerce commissioner suggested, by a general program of security legislation to exchange their securities for those of the new corporation.

Submission of the Miller proposal followed a day a presidential message, placing the problem of solving the economic difficulties of the $26,000,000 rail industry directly up to congress.

In his message Mr. Roosevelt transmitted nine separate suggestions for alleviation of the carriers' economic problems, most specifically recommending that congress should make a study of the railroads.

Miller argued that consolidation under single ownership would not, as contended, necessarily be a step toward nationalization, but rather to the legality of ownership. He said that no reasonable doubt existed "on those two legal points" that the railroads could be consolidated, and that the consolidation may be accomplished under either federal or state charter powers.

ISLANDS REPORT MYSTERY FEET

MANILA, P. I., April 12 (U.P.)—Gen. Emilio R. Stevens of the Philippine army late tonight was ordered to proceed immediately to Davao to investigate the presence of 22 mysterious feet, said to resemble Japanese destroyers.

The assignment followed a flurry of messages into army headquarters expressing apprehensions among southern island residents over the presence of the footprints.

Col. Stevens, veteran American officer in districts of the Zamboanga area. His instructions were to ascertain for what purpose the feet were there. Davao, often referred to by islanders as "Davao-kuo," is colonized largely by Japanese.

Sighted Sunday

Radioed reports from Davao said the footprints were first sighted at 4 p. m. Sunday, off Cullinan Point. Davao is a military stronghold and reported it by islanders as "Davao-kuo," is colonized largely by Japanese.

GARNER AND FDR CLAIMED IN TIFF

WASHINGTON, April 12 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt and Vice President John N. Garner were reported in conflict today over the pump priming expenditures under circumstances foretelling a bitter battle to begin congress today on national control if a big fund is voted.

Garner neither confirmed nor denied the report.

The conflict appeared to be a continuation of policy dispute arising in the past-year between conservative Democrats and New Dealers.

The White House minimized reports that the President and Vice President Garner clashed over relief and pump-priming proposals yesterday.

MEXICO CONGRESS CONSIDERS LOAN

MEXICO CITY, April 12 (U.P.)—Congress, convened in special session today to intensify a program of legislation to cope with a financial and economic crisis brought about by seizure of the foreign-controlled oil industry and suspension of silver purchases by the United States.

Chief legislation was a proposed internal loan of 100,000,000 pesos ($20,000,000) to intensify a program of legislation to cope with a financial and economic crisis brought about by seizure of the foreign-controlled oil industry and suspension of silver purchases by the United States.

Other matters under consideration included proposed regulation of the national petroleum administration, modification of petroleum law, tariff revision and modification of the 1938 budget. It was believed that congress would require five weeks to complete its work.

Tonight, President Cardenas will reply to the British protest, a blunt demand for restoration of the oil rights to their owners. It differed sharply from the United States protest, which recognized Mexico's right to appropriate the holdings but asked adequate indemnification.

ILLINOIS STARTS PRIMARY VOTING

CHICAGO, April 12 (U.P.)—Illinois voters today in primaries that usher in a crucial election year in which Republicans will seek to overturn Democratic control of congress and lay the groundwork for victory in the 1940 presidential election.

Though the first of a series of state primaries, today's voting held little of national significance. The primary election was held by the voters with which two Democratic machines would control the state Democratic party.

The machine headed by Mayor Edward J. Kelly and Patrick A. Nash, national committeeman, has controlled Chicago for five years.

Today it faced the opposition of a "downstate" machine led by Gov. Henry Horner and State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney.

The Republican primary was peaceful. State Representative Richard J. Lyons, candidate for the U. S. senate, was without major opposition. He and his running mate concentrated on keeping party members out of the Democratic fight.

Although it marked the start of preliminary skirmishing for the next presidential race, no test of the voters' mood as to their policies was involved.

SERVICES HONOR ALLSHIE APPOINTED, April 12 (U.P.)—General services were held today for James F. Allshie, Jr., Boise attorney who died Sunday of natural causes.

Both agents told of purchasing a drink of whiskey at 26 cents per glass, and described physical characteristics of the Kili-Kaf club.

The race would carry 125 pounds, the distance would be one mile and a quarter.

Penniless Jackie Coogan, 22, Seeks Recovery of His Fortune

By FREDERICK O. THOMAN
HOLLYWOOD, April 12 (U.P.)—Jackie Coogan, the kid who drew up, only to be forced to win his $200 per week, used his mother and step-father in a battle for millions he earned but contended he never saw.

Jackie, once advertised as the cutest child to smile through tears for the benefit of film stars now 22 years old, ugly-haired, nearly six feet tall, the husband of a 19-year-old actress, is now a penniless man.

His bid Superior Court Judge Ernest H. Wilson that his mother and his step-father, Arthur L. Bernheim, had wronged him $200,000 he had earned as one of the highest paid child actors and that now he figured that they should give him his bank book.

Judge Wilson ordered a receiver for Jackie's assets, including his film producing company which he had founded. The receiver is to turn into a beer establishment. The judge set April 20 as the date for hearing on Coogan's plea for an accounting of his fortune.

Jackie's mother and step-father indicated through their attorney that they would have a reply ready by then.

Jackie informed the judge that his late father, Jack Coogan, Jr., set him up in a business and that he was in his teens. Then the elder Coogan died in an automobile crash three years ago, and Jackie's mother and step-father took his share.

Young Coogan said his $200 allowance continued until he was 21 years old, when he was told that this left him on the spot because he was taking Miss Grable. He couldn't make a girl friend like that to a lot of other kids.

Jackie didn't even have dime for movie, so he asked his mother for his money. He quoted her as saying:

"You haven't got a cent. There never has been one cent belonging to you. It's all mine and Arthur's."

The 21-year-old boy who has lost out since in Charlie Chaplin's picture of that name 18 years ago, said that he went to the office of Jackie Coogan's production, Inc., to look at the books, but was ordered out.

And Now—

He accused Bernheim of looting money on the ponies in $100 chunks and charging his losses to Jackie's $40,000. Furthermore, he said, Bernheim had taken his money and run without watch which an admirer had sent to Jackie.

Bernheim, Coogan said, before his father's death, had taken the family's "trusted automobile, agent and employee."

Additional details came from Jackie's mother and step-father.

"I am hurt and deeply shocked," his mother said. "He says he has nothing and that I refused to give him any part of the estate. No promises ever were made to give him anything."

"His mother," Bernheim's lawyer, Charles J. Katz, said, "was entitled to all his earnings until he became a minor, and young Coogan is suffering from hallucinations. He has received everything he is entitled to, and more."

Mrs. Bernheim insisted an accounting of the estate has never been asked by Jackie, and he is well content with the money he has.

Jackie in a statement lauded for him by his lawyers charged:

FORMER HEAD OF STOCK EXCHANGE GOES TO PRISON

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—Richard Whitney, 51, former president of the New York stock exchange, was sentenced to the work of a Negro prison and taken by train to Sing Sing prison to serve a year to one year sentence for grand larceny.

Whitney strode from the van that took him to Grand Central station Tuesday afternoon with a look that he would be dragged along the streets, a Negro, Robert Alston, who had been convicted of the murder of William Cain, an extortioner, was handcuffed to Alston's other wrist.

A crowd of more than 2,000 jammed in and about the terminal building to see the stockholder board a train for the hour's ride to the "big house." He and five other convicts in the group were taken into the station through a side door, however.

An elevator dropped to the track level where the door was only 30 feet from the first car of the O'Connell train. All of the prisoners, with the exception of Whitney and Alston, shield their faces from photographers by turning their backs to the train.

The man born and educated to every measure of affluence and luxury, apparently was making a determined effort to adjust himself to his new environment. Whitney had been best and guest at the best dinner tables of New York City.

Last night a turnkey arrived in a tin plate through the slot in his cell door. On it was heaped spaghetti covered with a meat sauce, and two slices of bread slopped on top. When the turnkey returned, the plate was empty.

GARNER AND FOR CLAIMED N. TUFF

T. Early said a considerable part of the meeting and I found no "tuff" in the conversation. Participants in yesterday's regular White House congressional conference variously denied that Garner had sharply challenged the Roosevelt program or said that reports of a "tuff" were grossly exaggerated.

The capital hummed, however, with talk of the meeting. The placed Garner in the role of an angry objector to the spending program. The vice president was described as warning that continued deficit financing of federal obligations would damage the national credit and that Roosevelt's spending policies were jeopardizing the Democratic party's future.

Scrapped Judiciary Program The vice president previously has bluntly challenged White House policies. It was he who attempted to commit the New Deal administration against all-down strikes last year. # STRUGGLE FOR POWER IN FRANCE NEARS SHOWDOWN

DALADIER SEEKS APPROVAL OF HIS 'RIGHT' CABINET

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
United Press Staff Correspondent.

A struggle for power that may bear strongly on Europe's future nears a showdown today in France. Premier Daladier goes before parliament seeking approval of his moderately conservative cabinet coincident with the great of "leftist" sit-down strikers that have made probably 150,000 men idle and threaten wider shut down.

The two factors are connected and illustrate the possibilities of a political struggle which have led to a French totalitarian movement.

Labor Troubles

1. The labor troubles, striking at the heart of the French armament industry, were spurred by the protest of powerful left-wing groups against defeat of Leon Blum's government in which Socialists predominated and Communists had a part.

2. Daladier, known as a strong man in politics, has sought support from the more conservative parliamentary blocs, has demanded dictatorial powers to deal with financial problems and has before used means against a leftist political demonstration.

A long period of political and economic troubles at home and abroad developments in foreign policy has prepared the way for the crisis and made logical a show-down today to settle France's government. Whether the goal can be obtained, is by no means certain.

Locked in Battle

Across France's frontier the Spanish Loyalist and loyalist armies remained locked in the final stages of their death struggle. Loyalists reported a new offensive started in the Morilla and Sero sectors in an effort to throw back the advance of the nationalists through Catalonia and toward the Mediterranean.

Paying dearly for every foot of ground, the nationalists crashed to the sea between Morilla and Tortos, where the loyalists have held out for almost a week against huge odds. Government reinforcements have now strengthened the defense of the mountain highways and loyalist leaders said that the new offensives had re-captured strategic points. The insurgents, however, continued to report gains on the extreme northern and extreme southern sectors of the long front.

Elsewhere

VIENNA—Officials declared an "Easter peace" on Nazi party activities after Minister of Justice ordered all Austrian lawyers and notaries to answer questions by April 28 regarding "Aryanism." Gen. Wilhelm Zechner, war minister in the last Austrian cabinet, killed himself.

GENEVA—Indications were seen that Italy might refuse to sign the League of Nations as a result of her impending pact with Great Britain and British move toward the recognition of the Fascist conquest of Ethiopia.

Buy Chinese Silver

WASHINGTON—Official reports disclosed that the United States had purchased more than $50,000,000 of Chinese silver since the start of the China war and that the credit set up here were used to purchase American "merchandise."

SHANGHAI—Following severe Japanese aerial bombardments throughout the vast China war zone, Chinese troops massed in Shanghai started in an effort to follow through on last week's crushing blow at the Japanese front. Although Japanese denied suffering reverses, other dispatches reported severe fighting at the invaders' base at Tsinan.

Suits for Your Easter Morning Glory

By MARIAN YOUNG (NEA Service)

NEW YORK—Shirts and suits slims straight... skirts pleated all around or pleated here and there. Jackets long... jackets short and snug... jackets high length... some matching skirts, some contrasting—the Easter suit picture is outstandingly diverse.

If you're pretty and can afford exquisite, feminine, even frilly blouses (preferably hand-made), the man-tailored suit is a wonderful idea. In this category are the braided variety, the double as well as single-breasted versions, in firmly woven men's-woolens.

Soft Look Importance

Don't for a moment forget the importance of the new softer look in all spring clothes, suits included. It's not smart to emulate the male. It's equally unsmart to look too prim. Neat as a pin? Yes. But neat as a pin in a feminine Dresden china kind of way. If you choose one of the new bloused suits, a cape, bolero or boxy jacket ensemble you just wear with mannish. But if you pick a strict tailleur, you are likely to unsex blouse and hat are feminine. So that they do.

If you're a little bit of a thing, a short, snugly fitted jacket with a flared or pleated all around skirt should be off your mind. Administrative curves to excellent advantage. And if you aren't little at all, in fact would rather hide your figure than flaunt them, there are straight, unfitted jigger-type jackets. Boleros, too.

For the tall and dashing, the plaid tweed jacket with the monotone skirt can't be beat. It's right for town and right for country, and it does give a girl an air. If you can find one with an extra skirt in tweed to match the jacket, so much the better.

Be conservative

In all Easter parades, as always, navy blue will be the favorite. But black, particularly black with white, will be a close second, with light or shades of blue, golden beige, plaids, checks and stripes running neck and neck, not far behind.

Colorful Burellias

This year, the more unexpected the color combination, the smarter the woman. You choose your accessories with the abandon of a Burrellias painter. You wear a stream of waving navy hat, shoes and gloves with gray suit. Instead, you'll try a chartruese blouse, a crimson skirt, a bright yellow hat, navy gloves and shoes, belt and bag in dull, rich red crocodile.

Pin a flame and olive-green striped carnation on your suit. Pin a huge cluster of purple violets at the throat of a pink, rough linen blouse. Wear dark brown and purple pants on the lapel of a beige suit. Have a blouse of the gayest striped flannel print you can find, and wear shocking gloves to match the brightest color in the print.

Often called "New York's smartest, most sophisticated women" are the realistic window-mannequins in department stores. At the invitation of fashion editors of NEA Service and Idaho Evening Times, theummies left Bonwit-Teller's windows to pose in spring suits on one of Fifth Avenue's busiest corners. Miss Dummy at the left wears a covert suit in chocolate brown, flaired skirt in beige, and a suede hat in one of the most popular Easter Egg shades—pistachio green. Gloves, bag and blouse are pale copper, and the buttonhole is blue. Her little friend, right, has on an Alis suit of home-spun tweed with a white crocheted collar. The white crocheted collar has a wrap-around collarband-like giraffe with a turquoise clip at the neckline. Her hat is navy blue with a white plume crown and a flowing veil.

Marble Tourney Sign-Up Climbs; 14 Schools in

With at least 14 schools representing eight communities entered to date, plans were moving rapidly ahead this afternoon for the first annual Magic Valley open marble championship which will be held in Twin Falls on Saturday, April 23. Elimination tournaments this year will be staged in the schools. Champions of each of the four age groups among boys and the girl champion will then come to Twin Falls for the grand championship tournament and a chance at the big awards which are now being selected.

Age Groups

Entry list is expected to swell materially as soon as instructors at the various county schools get their tournaments started. Rules and regulations were received by the instructors this morning, having been sent to them through the office of Mrs. De Bradley, county superintendent.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
 Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 12 — Last month a first-class battleship for the United States navy was estimated to cost about $100,000,000.

Today, according to confidential estimates of naval officials, the cost can be placed somewhere around $100,000,000.

The increase is due to the fact that the navy department and the administration now recommend 45,000-ton ships, having abandoned the old 30,000-ton treaty limit.

With costs rising in this and in other ways, little if anything is being done to see that the taxpayers get their money's worth from what originally was called an $800,000,000 naval expansion program, but now likely has become $1,000,000,000.

The ICG engineers told the senate munitions committee that this would cost only $23,500,000, although the figure would be a high percentage of navy yard.

The shipbuilders' lobby usually has little trouble defeating such bills.

All Is Transfusion

Not a great deal of doubt seems to remain at this stage that when the fighting in Spain is done the country will be Franco's. Just what kind of political structure will emerge then as the national government is a matter of some dispute, but it will be some form of Fascism all the best crystal-gazers seem to be sure.

How many of the crystal-gazers have heard about the Count de Covadonga's blood transfusions? The count has had so many transfusions during his stay in the United States, he says, that his blood is now completely democratic. And if "his people" want him back as king (Franco's intention might be to have a kind of "throne behind the power," like Victor Emmanuel), that will be all right with the Count de Covadonga, he says.

If the great transfusion news doesn't reach Franco there ought to be a lot of fun when, and if, the count gets installed. Now coursing through the count's veins is the blood of a cowboy, an opera singer, a taxi driver, a newspaperman, and a doctor.

It goes without saying that with a newspaperman on the throne a free press would be ensured. Have you heard the saying: A free press means a free country? And who could handle the common herd better than a cowboy? The cab driver certainly ought to be able to get his people through the worst jams that might arise.

Any time the Franco-philies get suspicious about the democratic tendencies, the count could just let that opera singer's blood boil a little and the doubting Thomas would instantly recognize the true Bourbon they had.

And no matter what kind of fate the country suffered, you've got to admit that it would be just what the doctor ordered.

Make it over the stuff isn't worth a dime—in view of the fact that you ever go fishing, Miss Schmoenka? MISS WILCOX'S cheerful voice was just, "Oh, here you are, Doctor. Said a minute, please."

Without a backward look he turned and followed the nurse into the sickroom. Constance went slowly to her own room. . . . Yet for a moment he had seemed as close to her as if he had held her in his arms.

She had promised to ride with Hilda that afternoon. She got into her riding clothes. Then she went to find Hilda—along the upper gallery and down the outside stairway that descended to the basement in three turns, with a moss-grown landing at each turn.

On the lower landing Constance halted abruptly with one foot poised, clinging to the iron railing to steady herself.

Two people were standing on the gallery below her.

Clinging to the lapels of Dr. Rogers' coat, her eyes bright with tears, but laughing, was Hilda. Her hair was blown by a happy girl can laugh, stood Hilda's throat. As Constance poised there, unable for a moment to stir, Mark came down the stairs, his arm around Hilda and kissed her gently; and Hilda said with a pulse in her lax eyelids that Constance had never heard before: "You're just a funny girl."

"I'm not good at waiting, Mark. I'm not going to wait any longer. Now that it's sure, I'm going to have Dad announce it tomorrow."

"And what about Derek?" he asked.

"Derek!" Hilda giggled in soft amusement. No one will worry about Derek. He will always know how to get what he wants out of life. What he really wants now—

BUT I CAN'T stand here listening, Constance remembered.

Perhaps she moved as they both stepped up and saw her rooted there, white and stricken.

Hilda drew herself quickly from Mark's arms and called, "Constance, come on! Something is wrong!"

Please God, not now! Constance prayed. Not with both of them here. "Oh, what a fool I've been!"

She turned to run back up the stairway. Perhaps a her eyes were black; or perhaps the clumsy riding boots tacked her—

The next thing she knew, she was huddled on something hard and cold—numb, and blindingly, sickeningly dizzy.

Somewhere near her Hilda's voice came. "Well, Mark Rogers, you complete fool—do you believe me now? Think how we must have looked to her, as if—oh, Mark, you don't suppose—"

Then floating in space above her, Mark's voice, "For God's sake, Hilda, don't you go hysterical on me. Help me to this over my head of her. Oh, you twin! I don't know which of you is the most unutterable idiot!"

Then, after a moment, Hilda did not seem to be there any more. But there was still, Constance found, that warm, rough surface under her cheek; and there were some about her—warm and close and comfortable.

MARK'S voice said, very close to her ear, "Constance, darling, this is not necessary— you must have known from the beginning that I wanted to—but it's customary, I believe. . . . Will you marry me, give your consent to be my wife for the rest of your life?"

Her head was clearing now. . . . Of course that might all be really happen. . . . "Darling," she asked shakily into his coat collar, "would you mind just—pinching me—or something? People do imagine things sometimes after they've bumped their heads, don't they?"

"I don't hold with pinching," he said.

He did not pinch her; but he did kiss her very satisfactorily—on her wet eyes, and then on her lips.

"What I don't understand," Constance said shakily, "is why you didn't do that weeks ago."

"With you doing Emilia Wynne and not at all changed, you've come every time I tried to talk sense to you—and that beautiful blond boy hovering in the background? I'm not so sure now, Constance."

"Then you're too blind to be practicing medicine, Derek? Just for weeks Derek's been just—just as good as dead."

After another few moments he said briskly, "Do you know what I'm going to do now?"

"Not tell me," Constance cut in. "I'm not expecting it. You're going to send me to bed—because I've got a difficult—"

"You've got worse than that ahead of you," he said. "You're going to marry a—now, what are you laughing about?"

"Oh, nothing," Constance told him. "I'm going to have to break my neck every time I want a few minutes alone with you."

Dah! It

That those crazy military strategists manage to work up in the way of new twists to warfare certainly beats all.

Anybody reading that news about Italy's military authorities waging war on profanity in the ranks might think it was just one of those little oddities of the war across the water, snicker a little bewilderedly, and proceed to forget all about it. The devilish ingenuity of it!

American veterans remember that tearing out a choice selection of crimson-violet oaths was a required part of the military training in camp, especially in the bayonet practice. It was that way, it has been learned since, in all the best military finishing schools, here and abroad. When a man got into the . . . as it were . . . practical application period of what he had learned, universal cursing was the thing that was expected.

Consider any future conflict that Italy might be involved in. A cold dawn. A surprise attack by the Italians. A charge of assorted Giuseppe and Arnaldo yelling: "Gracious! land sakes!" "dearie me!" then, maybe, "lilly bambino!" and "now you stop!" The chances are 100 to 1 that the enemy would do just that.

Confusion, panic, utter demoralization. Then rout.

By DR. MORRIS FISHER

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Although the League of Nations may seem to have failed in many of its other activities, the health organizations of the world are making reports that have been of great value throughout the world in disseminating information and in establishing standards.

In order to establish particularly the important criteria on the hygiene of housing, committees were set up in all of the co-operating countries to study the most scientific data to the central organization and there are now available some scientific reports which indicate the standard factors in establishing hygienic housing.

One of the main purposes of housing is to protect the human being from the various dangers of heat and cold. The human being is sensitive to sudden and serious changes in temperature. The conditions of the housing are of course obviously very different parts of the world. What is good for the northern part of the United States is not good for the southern part. Furthermore, in different parts of the world people become accustomed to different standards.

With the temperature, however, it is important to recognize the fact that air movement is essential. In the United States, very slight air movement seems to be necessary. In other parts there must not be any air movement at all in the vicinity of the human body. In England, the experts recommend air movement of 10 to 15 feet per minute, but Germany says that it ought not to exceed 30 feet per minute. The various nations also differ as to humidity.

Heating systems, cooling systems, and air conditioning have been greatly developed in recent years, and it is expected that in the next few days a year in which cooling is really necessary in most of the United States, air conditioning has not been developed in any of our general private homes. However, in theaters, restaurants, stores and trains, air conditioning has fully established its value for comfort.

A recent aspect of the hygiene of housing is attention to the question of noise. Since means have been developed for measuring noise, it has been learned much more about it. The device used for measuring noise is called a decibel. Whereas formerly noise was measured in ordinary conversation measures 60, heavy motor traffic measure 80, loud motor horns measure 100, and the loudest noise heard, the noise of a gun, is 120. When 100 decibels are heard, the noise is painful.

Modern buildings are being planned with a view to eliminating noise as a point of hygienic importance.

Moreover, there must be suitable planning for the control of the amount of noise that can be de-

Who said the powers that be haven't the interests of the common man at heart?

The Federal Trade Commission has ruled that the plots of motion pictures bearing book titles must henceforth look like the plots of the books from which the titles were taken.

Things are getting more and more wonderful all the time. Before you know it, there'll be a ruling that you can't disguise a movie version of a good book on international spy-rings by making up a title like "Six Savage Gigolos," or "Arctic Rapture." The titles would give away the nature of the movies then, of course, but if it hurt too awfully Hollywood could confine its adaptation work to the books whose titles don't mean anything anyway.

Which raises the point that the Federal Trade Commission could do some good work in the book field, too. Maybe the movies got that trick-title habit from the publishers. More than one man has bought a book with an adventurous-sounding title and then found that it was a book about an adventurous old lady.

From the publishing field the commission could proceed to the salad-naming field, and then to the perfume-naming field; and . . . Oh, it's wonderful to think of all the good work that's left for the young men now coming up!

Of vital import to Idaho ranchers is the fact that the department of agriculture, west forestry, and irrigation Monday, means a probable combined spring and winter wheat production of about 1,000,000 bushels, which would carry the total supply of wheat to the year's carryover, including last year's carryover, to more than 1,000,000,000 bushels.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace last week announced that a supply of this size would probably affect the market seriously.

BUREAU, April 12 (Special)—A survey of water content and depth of snow on the Minidoka forest, conducted last week by rangers, shows that this year's record exceeds that of last year and is slightly lower than figures for 1936. Because of the excessive amount of water saturating the soil, officials believe, however, the irrigation water situation has a favorable outlook.

WAIKIKI Wedding
A south central Idaho music festival for junior high school students will be held in Twin Falls on May 6, Harley Smith, chairman in charge of arrangements, announced today.

Bands, orchestras, solos and chorus numbers are expected to enter. Invitations have been sent to 15 schools and possibly more may be distributed. Mr. Smith said. Judging will be of the city type.

CITY WILL SHIFT FIREWORKS RULE
With the Fourth of July "just around the corner," members of the Twin Falls city council this afternoon had taken steps to correct a fault found in the ordinance governing the use of firecrackers within the city limits.

The present fire law permits sale of fireworks starting June 15, but does not permit the purchaser to fire them until June 24. Suggesting that the selling date be made to coincide with the "firing" date was made by Mayor Lem A. Chapin, and all members of the council approved.

City Attorney Harry Benoit was instructed to draw up an amendment to the existing ordinance. The change will be voted on next Monday evening.

"It might be fine to sell the 'crackers' on June 15," said Councilman W. E. Taylor, "but it'd like to see the boy or girl who is going to wait until the 24th to set them off."

The mayor and other three councilmen, as well as the city clerk, intimated that they too would like to see such "self control" on the part of the younger generation. But this year the control will not be needed because the fireworks will not go on sale until June 24.

EASTER PROGRAM FOR JUNIOR HIGH
A play and musical selections will herald the approach of Easter at the junior high school assembly to be presented on Wednesday.

"The Boy Who Discovered Easter" is the drama relating a tale of lost faith renewed which is to be presented by speech students of Mrs. Chauncey Abbott.

Characters in the play are: Norman Johnston, Dr. John Dexter; Alice Harrell, Maggie; Robert Nelson, Skelly Dies; Jane Pink, Mary Dexter; Jimmy Hayden, radio announcer; John Peterson, the Voice.

Virgil Personette, from the high school will present a tenor saxophone solo and the Junior high school girls' chorus will sing as an a cappella number, "Sanctus."

SCHOOL BUILDING PAYMENTS VOTED

Warrants for $33,022.20 from the building fund to cover expansion program had been authorized today by the district school board. The amount represents work on the new Lincoln and Bickel buildings.

In addition, the board approved routine monthly bills aggregating $13,548.48.

Chrysler Leads
The building payments included $12,250 to Koch Construction company, Salt Lake City, Bickel school contractors; $4,961 to Herb Poynter, Pocatello, bills of Lincoln school; $590 to Lestering Plumbing and Heating company, Boise, Lincoln; $1,700, also to Lestering; $1,000 to Vanc Electric company, Salt Lake City, Bickel; $1,258.85 to Seaton Electric shop, Twin Falls, Lincoln school; and to H. H. Cappel, contractor inspector.

Also connected with the building program was the appearance of W. Andrew McQuaker, declared architect, who declared that the plumbing work is entirely satisfactory. The old dispute, which has concerned the type of piping through concrete flooring, was ironed out at a conference two weeks ago, he said.

The local contractor who declared that all plumbing on the buildings must meet approval of the city, and that has been done, McQuaker said that the plumbing work is entirely satisfactory. The old dispute, which has concerned the type of piping through concrete flooring, was ironed out at a conference two weeks ago, he said.

Representative of "Being Idaho" explained plans for a special edition and was given approval of the board.

The chamber directors voted to support members of the Eagle lodge who are trying to secure the 1938 convention for Burley.

Hobo Party Honors Twins on Birthday
RUFERT, April 12 (Special)—Honoring Joe and Joetta Curtis, twins, on the occasion of their birthday, eighteen members of the local Young People's union went to the Curtis home Friday for a hobo party. On arrival about 5 p. m., out-door games were played for an hour; then by an ingenious scheme the guests found partners and each pair was furnished with tin plates, cups, forks, and spoons; and rations for two which they cooked over camp fires.

Following supper the evening was spent indoors and concluded with a short talk by W. A. Curtis, father of the honorees, on Indian relics; and the young people were shown his collection of arrow heads, spear points and other articles used by the original inhabitants of America.

During the Christmas of 1936, the British general post office handled 280,000,000 letters and 10,000,000 parcels.

Huston Featured In Preacher Role

Placed in the starring days of Lincoln, and in America's pioneer settlements of Ohio, "Of Human Heart," the human drama of a circuit-riding preacher and his family, brings Walter Huston to the screen for the first time since his triumph in "Dodsworth." The new picture, in which James Stewart and Beulah Bondi are teamed with Huston as his son and wife, comes to the Orpheum Theater Thursday for an engagement of two days.

"Of Human Heart" is based on the story, "The Preacher," by Honoré Morrow, and deals with the struggle of beliefs between father and son, and the overwhelming love of a mother who worships her boy and also blindly adores the father.

'Waikiki Wedding' Returns to Idaho
Because of the numerous requests and floods of letters pouring in, the management of the Idaho is bringing back "Waikiki Wedding" Wednesday for a two day engagement.

"Waikiki Wedding," a comedy of love and music in the South Seas, features Bing Crosby, Bob Burns, Martha Raye and Shirley Ross. Crosby plays the part of a smart publicity man who is so smart that he outsmarts himself. It is up to him to "sell" beautiful Shirley Ross on the fact that Honolulu is the most romantic spot in the world. He does, but sells himself on the idea as well.

Martha Raye plays the part of Shirley's private secretary and Bob Burns is Crosby's assistant publicist.

PETITION SEEKS CHANGE IN LAW

Presenting a petition signed by approximately 100 local residents, Robert E. Logsdon, Twin Falls, today had asked the city council to discontinue the electrical examination as required by city law.

Logsdon's plea was made during regular council session last night and council members referred the matter to the city electrical inspector for investigation. Action on the matter will be taken at the regular session scheduled for next Monday evening.

In making such suggestion, Logsdon pointed out that an examination for electricians was not necessary where a community has an electrical inspector.

He informed council members that he had taken the examination twice but had failed to pass. He added, however, that "this is no indication that I do not know the electrical trade."

New Indictment Remains Secret

ENGINEERS PLAN SURVEY OF PARK

Work will start this week on a contour survey of 20 acres of ground located adjacent to Harmon field as plans go rapidly forward for completion of the play area project sponsored by the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Members of the city council last night authorized City Engineer Fies B. Wilson and assistants to make such a survey and complete the necessary maps. Representing the junior chamber, Claude Detweiler and John E. Robertson, president, urged that such topographical surveys be completed at the earliest possible time.

The recreation area project is planned in advance and will be constructed so as to utilize all ground available.

Down payment on the 20-acre section has been made by the Junior Chamber and suit for such title is now under way. It is possible the area will be available for several years this summer.

FIRST STEP TAKEN TO GET COMMUNITY GYM

School Board Favors Bickel Brick Sale To Junior Chamber

First definite action toward a long-needed community gymnasium in Twin Falls has been taken today by the Twin Falls board of school trustees and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The board last night indicated informally that it favors the sale of the old Bickel school building, at a nominal sum, to the Junior Chamber—with materials to be used in erecting the community gym on the 20 acres next to Harmon park.

John B. Robertson, Jayce president, and Claude H. Deweller, special commissioner, present at the request to the board. Robertson explained that the chamber would demolish the old structure, which would be done this summer in any event, and would move all brick and usable materials to the Harmon area to be used in erecting the community gym and auditorium.

All in Favor The poll of board opinion, taken by Chairman Deweller, showed a unanimous approval of the idea of turning the obsolete Bickel structure into a center that would serve the community.

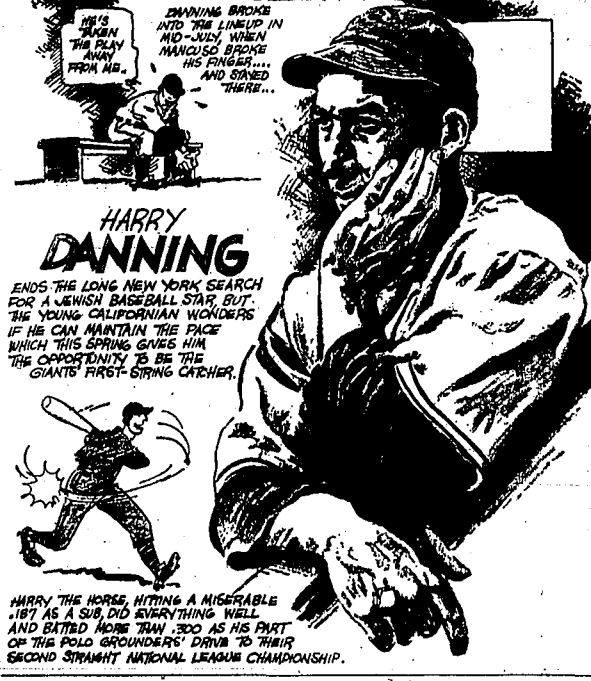

Robertson explained that the Junior Chamber has acquired the necessary funds and will turn it over to the city.

ROOSEVELT PREPARES CHAT, MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

RADIO TALK MAY GO OVER AIR ON THURSDAY NIGHT

By JOHN W. BEAL
WASHINGTON, April 12 (AP)—President Roosevelt cancelled all but major engagements today and began preliminary drafts of a special message to congress and a "fireside chat" to the nation concerning recovery and relief.

Broad outlines of his recovery program, details of which still are unofficial, indicated that he will ask for $4,000,000,000 to combat the depression—one-third for relief, one-third for loans to business.

The "fireside chat," White House Secretary Elizabeth T. Taylor said, may be delivered Thursday evening, if Mr. Roosevelt completes his relief message in time to reach congress that noon. It will be his first formal radio address since Nov. 14 when he appealed for cooperation in the unemployment census.

"Chat" Secretary
The decision to present his proposals to the nation personally came as a surprise and was interpreted here as further emphasis of the critical state of industry and unemployment.

Indicative of official opinion was the statement of Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., that "some kind of government aid" is imperative. Last fall Morgenthau was opposed to pump priming methods.

Mr. Roosevelt's plan to lay before the people the problem of the national economic crisis and his proposals for coping with it was announced by Harry Lasker yesterday after a full day of conferences with relief and spending-agency officials and congressional leaders.

Early indications that the plans are tentative and that fulfillment depends upon the ability to get the message ready by Thursday noon. "If the President is unable to do this," he said, "and from the standpoint of preparation, he may on Thursday send a message on relief and the economic situation of the country to congress. The message, if he is able to prepare it and nothing happens in the meantime, in changing his plans, would go up at noon."

"If the message goes it is possible it may go on the air Thursday evening and in particular explain the message to the country."

Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, D., Ky., after the House passed, revealed that the President's message will ask $1,200,000,000 for relief from next July 1 to Feb. 1, 1939.

Congressional sources said that this would maintain relief rolls at $1,000,000,000 and that the President had agreed to continuation of the Workmen amendment requiring that the money be spent over the 18-month period planned for.

It also was indicated that the President plans to ask for $60,000,000 to continue the Civilian Conservation Corps at present strength, $150,000,000 for the Farm Security Administration, and $400,000,000 for the national roads administration.

This appeared to make a three-fold program as follows:
1. $1,200,000,000 for relief as outlined above.
2. $1,000,000,000 for public works, previously revealed through congressional sources.
3. $400,000,000 of loans to business to speed the reconstruction program.

Seeking Torture-Murder Clues

On the theory that the murderer responsible for the torture-killing of Mrs. W. G. Frome and her 23-year-old daughter, Nancy, of Berkeley, Calif., may also be the key to the unexplained disappearance of two men and two women in the same vicinity two years ago, police officials of southwest Texas embarked on an organized search of that desert and mountain country. Meanwhile District Attorney Roy Jackson, of Colburn county, shown in top photo examining the desolate spot where the two women met death, pinned his hopes on arrest of a 30-year-old suspect. Search for the mother and daughter began when their expensive car, lower photo, was found near Belcheres, Tex., apparently abandoned by the killer.

During 1937 there was a 34 per cent increase over 1936, in the number of American cars shipped abroad for use by Americans while touring Europe.

RUPERT

Members of the "T" Tri club of the Christian church met in regular session Friday after school at the home of the sponsor, Mrs. A. F. Cox. Following a lesson on rural church problems, conducted by Mrs. Cox, the evening concluded with a pot luck supper.

As a courtesy to Elizabeth M. Johnson, home from Albion Normal for spring vacation, Miss Ora Joe Hanks entertained informally Friday. Games and music provided the entertainment which concluded with a midnight supper served at three small tables each covered with a pastel colored cloth with Easter napkins in matching shades and a favor for each guest.

It is reported that motorists of the United States have paid 78.4 per cent of all federal excise taxes collected during the last fiscal year.

LEO V. and GLEN BELL, Owners
HAGERMAN, IDAHO
April 5th, 1938

Twin Falls News
Twin Falls, Idaho.
Gentlemen:

Last week I had an ad put in your paper under livestock which read, "Reg. Shorthorn bulls, 16 mos. old. Bell Bros. Hagerman, Ida."

I paid to have the ad run two weeks but we have sold all of the 16 months old bulls, three of them were sold as a result of the ad, and we have had other inquiries.

Please discontinue the ad as it now reads. But if you can give us credit on what I paid on that ad, you may run another for the balance of the time we would have credit for to read as follows:

"Reg. Shorthorn bulls, 9 mos. old. Bell Bros., Hagerman, Idaho."

Yours very truly

The experience of the BELL RAPIDS STOCK FARM is not unusual. Regularly, hundreds of other classified advertisers, make extra sales through this inexpensive form of advertising. Although classified does not cost much, thousands of interested readers habitually read the classified section.

If you have livestock, unused articles to sell or trade; if you want to rent a spare bedroom, sell your professional services or buy, try the Classified section! Place your ad in either paper—it runs automatically in the other—and at only one cost. In Twin Falls, call 32 or 38, in Buhl call at Varney's Candy store, an authorized Times and News ad station.

Not only are sales actually made through classified, but contacts for future sales are established. Note Mr. Bell's remark: "... and we have had other inquiries." Other inquiries mean more possible customers for the fine-purebred shorthorns Leo and Glenn Bell sell.
