School Blast Aftermath Causes Spiritual Rebirth in New London

(By NEA Service)

NEW LONDON, Tex.—A little over a year ago, a tremendous explosion blasted life out of 276 children and 18 adults in a New London school.

Despite the fact it was one of the most terrible disasters ever to strike an American school, the rest of the country, busy with its own affairs, may have forgotten the horror of the catastrophe.

But what of New London? What has been the result of the disaster in this little East Texas town which stands like an island in a veritable sea of oil and gas derricks? What have been the psychological effects on parents who lost their children and on pupils who survived the blast?

On the physical side, a pretentious new $200,000 school building is nearing completion. A local committee is making a drive for a towering memorial. The town is waging a fight for highway beautification.

Religious Awakening

But something more important than that is happening. It might be called a spiritual rebirth, and church and Sunday school attendance attests its arrival.

It is as though an entire city, small though it is, has turned to religion to find comfort for the loss of sons and daughters who went to their deaths so early in life. Inevitably empty chairs behind hundreds of homes.

The Rev. R. L. Jackson, pastor of the Methodist church, points out that 64 persons had church Sunday school on the week before the disaster. Now more than 200 attend the services in the Methodist church alone every Sunday.

Part of the credit for this spiritual awakening goes, incidentally, to John Lumpkin. He lost a child in the explosion, now he virtually takes the responsibility for the regular attendance of every New London church-goer.

Choose Their Own Church

With the help of employees of the oil company he heads, Lumpkin sends a big bus through the district's scattered oil camps every Sunday, picking up passengers and depositing them at the door of the church of their preference. Later he takes them home.

And what of the children? Concerning the damage to bodies of the survivors there can be no difference of opinion. One hundred and eighty-four were injured. Of these, 137 suffered only minor hurts. Of the more seriously injured, 43 may prove to have suffered permanent disfigurement.

But what happened to the minds of the survivors is another and more controversial matter. The child welfare service, after a survey of all the survivors, reported that the blast caused considerable psychological reaction among the children.

Results of the Disaster

The report showed that 125 were "emotionally involved"; that 75 "face the possibility of requiring the services of a psychiatrist"; that there were instances of boys' girls "going to pieces" emotionally long after the disaster.

C. A. Tate, principal of the school, does not agree, however, that the emotional disturbances as a result of the explosion are as serious as pictured in some quarters.

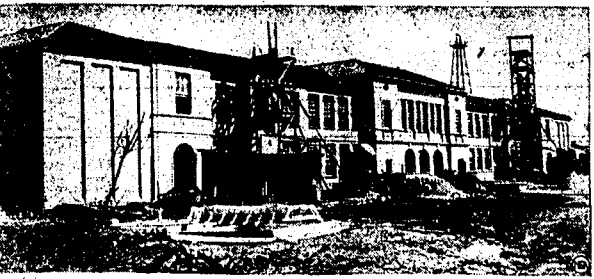

"The students may refer to the explosion in dating some event," he says, "but they use it in the same sense as they would place a date by saying 'before or after Christmas.'"

Another school spokesman flatly asserts: "There is no neurosis at New London."

'Won't Happen Again'

Regardless of the results of the disaster, those responsible for building the new school are making certain that it won't happen again. The new building, standing near the site of the old, will be heated by gas as before, but there will be no gas meters in it, no gas pipes in the basement. The boiler house stands 200 yards from the main building, and electrical control devices have made it virtually foolproof.

Meanwhile, citizens are going ahead with their plans for the memorial, which will be in the form of

The partially completed school building at New London, Tex., above, is being built to replace the structure which was wrecked by a mysterious gas explosion on March 18, 1937. The new school is as blastproof as human ingenuity can make it. There are no gas pipes into the building proper, all heating being supplied from a boilerhouse many yards away.

John Lumpkin, above, lost a child in the school explosion. Now he provides a bus to take worshippers to Sunday school every week, and is given credit for at least part of New London's spiritual revival.

R. will be presented at the grand council fire to be held by Camp Fire girls of Twin Falls, Jerome, Piler, Kimberly, Buhl, Castleford and Shoshone on April 29 at Harmon park, it was announced today.

The students may refer to the explosion in dating some event," he says, "but they use it in the same sense as they would place a date by saying 'before or after Christmas.'"

Those awarding the honors are Miss Ida Allen, trail seeker; Mrs. Clyde Urban, Kimberly, wood gatherer; Mrs. Clifford Thomas, Piler, fire maker; Mrs. R. A. Butchell, torchbearer; Mrs. Art Peters, Veterans of Foreign Wars poppy day award; Mrs. W. I. a towering arch to be erected through voluntary public subscriptions. It will be dedicated on March 20, 1939, two years after the explosion, and officials are planning to ask President Roosevelt to lead the dedicatory ceremonies.

POT SHOTS THE GENTLEMAN IN THE THIRD ROW

More Recognition for Idaho? The Oakley Chamber of Commerce deserves much credit for the campaign it is waging to have the 'City of Rocks' designated as a national monument...

Even those who have been fortunate enough to see the 'City of Rocks' have no conception of its immensity or geological heterogeneity unless they have traversed the nine square miles on horseback...

Although the view from the outskirts of this area of fantastic geological formations is impressive, it gives one a meager idea as to the importance of this region as a tourist attraction.

Freak formations of many kinds abound in this mysterious 'City of Rocks'—castles, natural bridges, spires, domes, small villages, caves, hot springs, and scores of other curiosities.

Unfortunately, the 'City of Rocks' like many of Idaho's other natural wonders, has been given little attention heretofore, and the Chamber of Commerce at Oakley is to be congratulated upon taking the lead among southern cities in attempting to have the state's many points of interest duly recognized.

Once the 'City of Rocks' is made a national monument, good roads will be constructed, thus making the wonderland more easily accessible. Then with proper development and publicity it should become one of the most popular attractions to tourists traveling this section of the country.

Not only is the 'City of Rocks' important from a geological standpoint, but it is rich in historical lore as well. Fragments of old vehicles and other implements are still being found as evidence of the traffic which once moved through this region on a trail en route to the Oregon country...

Charles Brown, president of the Oakley Chamber of Commerce, has been working hard for months in hope of getting national recognition for the 'City of Rocks'. With sufficient support his organization likely will achieve that goal.

The latest bit of evidence along this line comes from a New York scientist who has just got back from a trip along the headwaters of the Amazon.

Along those far-off waterways, this gentleman found jungle tribes who share none of the white man's ways and few of his ills. They go quietly about their business, nothing worries them and nobody hurries them...

Which, of course, is another way of proving that we pay for everything we get in this world. He have a great many things that these remote savages lack, and we couldn't very well get along without them; but we pay for them by living hurried, nervous, fearfully complex lives, and the diseases that lay us low are nothing less than by-products of our civilization.

But that sort of thing has been said a great many times and if it makes up yearn for the simple life it doesn't get us any nearer to it; and, indeed, there is no point whatever in dreaming about going back to the good old days, for the simple reason that they are normally beyond our reach.

It's better or for worse, we have got ourselves into a complex and artificial sort of society which cannot be well amplified. The horse-and-buggy age (to go down a few generations from the day of the simple life) may have had a leisure and a placid contentment that we do not have, but if we abolished our cars, automobiles and airplanes we should all speed to the grave.

THE INNUMERABLE complications of the age of machinery may be shortening our lives, but we can't do anything about them.

It's the only possible direction we can travel that will make the kind of progress we want. We can't stop mooning about the hills and dreaming out ways to adjust this to the deep, inner needs of the soul, if we put our minds to it; we can't stop thinking about the future rather than the present.

IT'S BETTER OR FOR WORSE, we have got ourselves into a complex and artificial sort of society which cannot be well amplified...

Formal Spring Dance Given by Tri-C Club

Two hundred members of the younger set of Twin Falls, members of the Tri-C club and their escorts and their guests, the Me'l club members and guests, danced to music provided by Chuck Helm last evening in a setting provided by a Snow White theme at Radioland.

The affair was the annual spring formal dance given by the Tri-C group for the Me'l club. The effective background included clever sketches of characters from "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" on the mirrors round the pavilion. Ministers, dwellers' cottage and Snow White figure in one corner and a wishing well in another. Flowers were used to twine the lattice fence about the cottage and over the orchestra pit and over the shields of the two girls' clubs which were hung on the wall.

H. S. MUSICIANS WIN HIGH RANK

Twin Falls high school orchestra, band and woodwind ensemble rated superior in the class A division of the south Idaho music festival held last week-end at Burley, ratings received today by the director, J. T. Bainbridge, show.

The performance of the orchestra in giving the "Undine Overture," was graded A for tone, interpretation, general effect, and instrumentation and a plus for intonation and stage deportment. The second piece of a type played by symphony orchestras and reputedly very difficult for high school pupils was graded A for all classifications except A plus in deportment and a B for intonation.

In writing of the band the judge declared the rendition "very nice as a whole. Second prelude a very acceptable job."

The ensemble was especially commended, the judge stating, "The Twin Falls ensemble was a very commendable group, something of the school and director may well be proud of, very few schools in our smaller communities can boast of this instrumentation. Their rendition is smooth and nice; and while at times the intonation is a little faulty it is to be expected with these rather unusual instruments, all of which require more than ordinary ability to play."

Value to Community
"The educational value to the community is alone worth the expense and effort," the judge stated. The judge also stated that the excellent direction was to be commended.

Three Join Lodge
Third degree of the Odd Fellows lodge was conferred on three new candidates, R. D. McKinley, L. E. Routh and Virgil Personette, last evening at the meeting of the order. Thirty members were present.

GROUP ARRANGES BINNER BEFORE DANCE
An interesting event preceding the Tri-C dance last evening was the dinner given in the private dining room of the Rogerson hotel for a group of Tri-C members and their guests. Later they attended the dance, annual spring event of the club.

JEROME STUDENT VOTE SCHEDULED

JEROME, April 22 (Special)—Early election for winner of the Davis cup has been announced by Supt. H. Maine Shoun. The Davis cup is a trophy offered each year to the senior graduate who according to the school student body, through his own academic efforts, became during his four years of high school work, the most perfect school citizen.

This coveted honor is offered through the courtesy of the Davis Jewelry store as a token of Mr. Davis' interest in the development of good citizenship. The first trophy award was presented in 1924, and has each year thereafter been continued. The scale by which school citizenship is adjudged was set up by Mr. Davis as: Scholarship, 40 per cent; ideals 25 per cent; conduct, 10 per cent; appearance 10 per cent; and school spirit, 10 per cent.

The first of these qualities is determined by the records as shown in the office of the principal. It is up to the student body to judge all of the qualified candidates for the trophy on the other qualifications.

Near the close of the school year an election will be held at which time all students will have an opportunity to vote on the candidate whom, according to their judgment ranks highest in the scale of attainments outlined. A list of eligible candidates will be posted on the bulletin board in the near future and according to Mr. Davis only the pupils ranking in the upper 20 per cent of the graduating class are eligible for consideration.

AUDITOR PRAISES JEROME RECORDS

JEROME, April 22 (Special)—According to records in the office of the county treasurer, Earl Kennedy, the audit compiled by Byron Detrich for the 1937 fiscal year shows that the county records are in exceptionally fine shape.

The unusually high cash balance is due to expenditures and collections due the county.

Pay Year's Taxes
Since many of the county's taxpayers paid a full year's taxes at the time the first half was due has accounted for the unusual cash balance on hand which amounted to $21,863.50 at the end of the fiscal year.

One reason that there is such an unusually high cash balance is the cash derived from the sale of the county bonds as this money is in readiness for payment on construction.

Among the receipts of cash are the following items, 1936 taxes, $117,082.27; November and December tax payments for 1937, $200,026.88; delinquent taxes which includes taxes as far back as 1929, $9,462.97; interest on delinquent taxes, $14,757.02; motor vehicle licenses $46,270.55.

In addition to the foregoing items of revenue there are over 25 other sources of county revenue such as fees from various county offices, fines, sale of weed eradication material, licenses of many types, rental, refunds and interest on county investments as the county treasurer, Earl J. Kennedy, has over $30,000 in the county's own bonds thereby saving the interest on them.

Twin Falls News-Times Advertising Department Twin Falls, Idaho Gentlemen:

Recently we ran a 3 column by 10 inch advertisement in your papers and we received such splendid results that I was prompted to write you about it.

The ad offering nails at 4c per pound appeared in your Wednesday April 6th issue of the News, and your Thursday April 7th issue of the News, and your Friday and Saturday editions. On the following Friday and Saturday we sold over 1500 pounds of nails at a limit of 25 pounds to each customer. We figured that the sales averaged 15 pounds per customer which produced for us at least 100 additional customers for the two days.

We are very gratified with results of this kind from newspaper advertising. It indicates that Twin Falls people are newspaper minded.

TIMES MARBLE TOURNNEY DRAWS CHAMPIONS SATURDAY

MAGIC VALLEY'S BOY, GIRL AGES SEEKING AWARDS

With more than 80 champions from various schools registered to attend, plans were completed here this afternoon for the first annual Magic Valley open marble tournament sponsored by the Evening Times and slated for Harmon park in Twin Falls at 10 a. m. Saturday.

Brackets for the championship tournament will be made up at the field just before the tourney actually gets underway and for that reason it is important that all representatives of the schools who won elimination championships in the various age groups be on time.

Scores of Awards

Scores of big awards will go to the winners and runner-up in each of the four age groups for boys and for the winner and runner-up among the girls. Free tickets to "Death Dodgers," which will show at the Filer fair grounds on May 1, will go to each entrant and each entrant will also be the guest of the paper at a local theater immediately following the tournament.

An exhibition match between two visitors and two businessmen will feature at noon sharp. Contestants will be Lamont Stevens and Lionel A. Dean for the plots and Claude DeWeller and Leonard Avant for the businessmen. Paul Taber, member of the city council and businessman, will referee.

Rolling Courts Today

This afternoon city workmen were busy rolling the two tennis courts which will be the "stage" for the tournament.

The public is invited to attend and witness the matches which will bring together for the first time the best marble players of the Magic Valley.

Those schools which have been unable to send the names of their winners to the marble editor should give each winner a written statement, which must be presented to the judge at the tournament. In this way the judge will be able to ascertain whether the youngster who is entering is really champion of his or her school in one of the brackets.

A complete list of all those who entered the tournament, as well as the schools they represent, will be printed in this paper Monday along with the champions and runners-up in each of the divisions.

BIRD CLUB HIKE

A hike to Rock creek canyon is the Saturday program mapped out for members of the junior high school bird club. The members voted the outing at which they will search for various types of birds, at a meeting of the club yesterday afternoon. Other trips to Blue lakes and the Mary Alice park may be taken later.

Marble Champions for Last Year

Above are pictured the two boys and two girls who ended on "top of the heap" after the marble tournament sponsored by the Evening Times in April, 1937. Of the four pictured, only one was able to win his way through a school elimination for the right to enter the first annual Magic Valley tournament which gets underway at Harmon park in Twin Falls tomorrow morning at 10 a. m. The youth is Donald Johnson (left) who last year was crowned city champion. Others pictured above (left to right) are George Gilks, winner of second place for boys; Vera Lancaster, girl's champion and Etta Fay Pearson, runner-up among girls. (Evening Times Staff Photo).

TYPHOID HAZARD BRINGS WARNING ON WATER USE

Three outbreaks of typhoid or paratyphoid fever in the vicinity of Filer during the past two years, this afternoon caused health unit officials, through Dr. Robert Stump, director, to urge citizens of this entire section to guard against use of contaminated water.

"While we have not been able to point definitely to water as the cause of these periodic outbreaks of the disease," Dr. Stump said, "it appears that water has been responsible in at least two out of the three cases. In the third case flies probably transmitted the organisms to food."

Danger Lurks

"It is a common practice in this section to drink ditch water direct or inadequately treated. This may be done many times without ill effects but sooner or later it results in a serious illness.

"It must be kept in mind that ditch water is potentially dangerous and that it may at any time be loaded with disease germs.

"Next to water, flies probably account for the greatest number of cases of intestinal diseases such as typhoid, dysentery and cholera. If the pits of the privies are kept dark and tightly closed to flies, this important link in the transmission of these diseases would be eliminated. This is simple and costs very little and takes but a few minutes to do.

"In all cases this water should be filtered and chlorinated before use. Filtration is recognized as the most economic and feasible means of removing algae, and even germs from water. After it has been filtered the remaining bacteria should be killed by the introduction of a chemical such as chlorine, ozone or permanganate," Dr. Stump said.

Rites Conducted For Filer Man

Final rites were conducted yesterday afternoon for Levi H. Blair, 52, Filer, at the Drake mortuary chapel. Rev. I. S. Molt, pastor of the Filer Methodist church, officiated.

Music included "Rock of Ages" and "Aid With Me" sung by Mrs. E. A. Beem. Flowerbearers were Charles Huddleston, Bill Moorhead, Dave Cazier, Art Blam, Bert Pale and Harold Blakely.

Interment was in Filer cemetery.

PLANS START ON LIGHTING SYSTEM

Preliminary steps toward mapping the permanent lighting system necessary for final development of the Junior Chamber of Commerce's 20-acre recreation grounds when Jaycee officials slated to have a floodlighting expert survey the grounds.

The expert, who will be a factory representative, will be brought here by Ernest Jenkins, agent for a Boise concern, according to John B. Robertson, chamber president.

Jenkins and Jaycee officers went over the area Thursday, and the Boise agent will submit a bid early next week on the amount of equipment necessary for permanent lighting. The chamber will consider the bid but will defer action until final program is mapped later by the project committee and by an advisory committee of permanent citizens, to be selected this summer.

The floodlight expert will also assist in getting the present softball lights set up for that sport this season. The lights used for softball at Lincoln field the past two years will be moved to the recreation grounds, but additional lights will be necessary to make the illumination all it should be for softball, Robertson said.

Additions to the lighting system will also be necessary for midge car racing and for professional Utah-Idaho league baseball scheduled here in 1939. Junior American Legion baseball, however, will be played during daylight.

SPEAKER ADVISES RUST CAMPAIGN

A war against rust, rot and decay was the topic of an address by W. D. Herman before 40 contracting painters and paint dealers of Twin Falls and vicinity held Wednesday by the National Lead company at the Park hotel.

Herman declared that the forces of rust, rot and decay were costing more than any man-made war in loss of property. A motion picture, "The War Is On," was displayed showing the latest trend in interior and exterior painting and decorating were given by Herman.

Twin Falls, Bull, Burley, Rupert and Shoshone dealers were represented.

The men furnish the wedding cakes in Korea. The cakes consist of white pancakes bearing the inscription, "Health, wealth, and many male children."

Near-Capacity Waters Roar At Huge Falls

Residents of this entire section of Idaho and visitors from other sections were assured today of another week-end of splendor at Shoshone falls as great quantities of water continue to pour over the wonder of nature.

Reaching a near-capacity discharge, amount of water going over the falls this afternoon was estimated by those in charge of the Idaho Power station at its base to be 13,280 second feet.

Most of the increase in flow over the falls came as the result of flood gates being opened at the Miller dam, allowing thousands of second feet of water to rush down the river bed.

This extra flow, it is believed, will at least continue through Sunday.

FICTION VOLUMES AT H. S. LIBRARY

Departing from the usual order of non-fiction, a number of fiction books has been placed on the shelves of the high school library.

Purchases announced by the librarian, Miss Stella Hibbard, are: "Under the Japanese Moon," "Tartarus on Wheels," "Peggy Covers Washington," "Captains Courageous," "Kenilworth," "Marco Polo," and "The Magnificent Obsession."

New travel books included: "Three Wheeling Through Africa," "Old Spain in Our Southwest," "America South," and "Madagascar."

Four biographies were received, the featured one being Amelia Earhart's "The Fun Of It." Others are "Champlain, Makers of Chemistry," "Audubon," and "Madame Curie."

Dinner Planned for Veterans' Officers

guests of the local post and auxiliary at dinner today at 7 p. m. at the Idaho Power auditorium. Mrs. Park and Mr. Morland have just completed a trip to Idaho Falls and Pocatello with Mrs. Lalla L. Litter, Twin Falls, for the organization.

Misconception Hinted in Navy Plans

LEADERS SCORN OUTLINE KEEPING SHIPS AT HOME

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

A great deal more than reaches the headlines is behind today's senate conflict over President Roosevelt's billion-dollar naval program.

From the point of view of administrative officials, significant misconceptions have arisen in regard to United States defense requirements. One such misconception was hinted at by Secretary of Navy Claude A. Swanson's letter to Sen. Homer T. Bone, D., Wash., opposing Bone's proposal to limit the area of peace time naval operations.

The factors mentioned in Swanson's letter lay behind the administration's opposition to Bone's proposal that a theoretical line be drawn from the Aleutian Islands to Midway island in the Pacific, to the Panama Canal and thence to the Virgin Islands and northward to Maine—a line beyond which the navy would not go except in war time.

"Last ditch" leader First, that line—which has sometimes been mentioned by naval officials but is not an important factor in naval operations—is considered by naval strategists not a defensive one in event of an attack on the United States but as a "last ditch" sea sector.

The key to naval defense of America, they argue, rests on meeting an enemy fleet as far as possible away from the coast as possible to represent an area that, if penetrated by an enemy fleet, would open the United States to direct attack by aerial bombardment.

The West Coast Maneuver As an example, an enemy in possession of Hawaii—although 2,000 miles away—would be in a position to strike directly at the west coast as demonstrated by the routine movement of planes at present bases on the eastern seaboard.

Words, the line drawn by Bone would not be a defense line in the view of naval experts but would mark an area to be defended at all costs and as a last resort.

A second factor involving United States foreign policy would be possible included in other words, the line drawn by Bone in event of war could America's shores be protected. Furthermore, there is the possibility that any act of the fleet which occurred in the event of war would be expected to be started in the next two or possibly three years.

Still another problem involved was emphasized during senate debate by Chairman David I. Walsh, D., Mass., of the naval committee—the protection of essential foreign trade routes.

The successful maintenance of those routes open with the United States neutral in the next war would depend in the light of past experience, on the backbone which the navy could give American diplomacy.

JAYCEES, TENANT SIGN AGREEMENT

Action toward setting up a softball field and midget auto racing track at the Junior Chamber's 20-acre recreation grounds near to be immediately as result of signing today of a cooperating agreement between the Junior Chamber and Calvin A. McBride, present tenant on a portion of the acreage; it was announced this afternoon by Stanton O. State, chairman of the board of directors and also chairman of the park project committee.

McBride, who farms part of the area east of the lateral which divides the 20 acres, holds lease from Donald A. Callahan, former owner who sold the land to the Junior Chamber. The agreement signed today signifies the tenant's intention to assist the Jaycees in their community recreational project.

Although his crops are planted for this season, McBride informed the Junior Chamber that the group may use the portion not under cultivation beyond the lateral for temporary placing of dirt and other materials from the softball grounds and basket ball track; and also from removal of the old Bickel school building from its present site to the new recreation grounds. The latter project, however, hinges on action of the school board in sale of the old structure to Jaycees.

Mr. McBride will vacate his present lease when his lease expires in early autumn.

He also announced that the board has agreed to utilize the tenant's service for some of the labor connected with preparation of the grounds for softball and the midget racing.

Plans for the softball grounds are under Chairman W. C. (Jeff) Swin. Kenneth Self is midget auto racing chairman. Both projects will be arranged to fit into the permanent development plans to be outlined later, but both could be moved if the final layout chart calls for different locations.
