CHINA MASSES MILLION MEN TO HALT JAPAN'S DRIVE

KAI-SHEK TRAPS INVADING TROOPS IN HANKOW DRIVE

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
United Press Staff Correspondent
China's defense forces have planned a million-man drive on the northern front today in an effort to break the Japanese drive on Hankow.

Risks destruction of the finest Chinese troops, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek personally directed counter-attacks along the Lungshang railroad river in an effort designed to wipe out the trapped Japanese column under Gen. Kenji Doihara and to turn back two other Japanese columns.

Fighting Intense
Fighting was intense in the Lungshang and Kaifeng sectors along the railroad which the invaders are attempting to follow to Hankow. Outcome of the battle probably will be determined by the fate of the Chinese capital.

Far to the south, there were indications that the Japanese were planning an attack on Canton where four days of aerial bombardment have cost close to 2,000 Chinese dead and 5,000 wounded. A change in the tactics of the raiding planes prompted some observers to believe they were piloted not by Japanese but by European flyers. Japanese troops meanwhile were reported moving toward a drive on the Canton area where they would be likely to come into grave contact with British interests in south China.

An indication of the determination of the Chinese defenders was given by an announcement that the government had approved construction of a railroad from central China to French Indo-China over which troops could be moved to meet a Japanese attack on Canton cut the supply line from the south. The road could be built in about six months.

Loyalists Yield Ground
Elsewhere:
SFAN—Loyalist armies defending the ground to Valencia advanced from Teruel to the Mediterranean. The rebels, surrounding the city of Valencia, a key city in the government defense line, reported that some 60,000 loyalist troops were almost caught in an encircling movement. Airplanes and artillery again struck at the loyalist centers of Barcelona and Madrid, but without causing much damage.

LONDON—Britain vigorously protested to Spain's rebel general, Francisco Franco against the "de-licious" sinking of the British steamship Thorpehall in Valencia harbor, and demanded strong disciplinary action against the responsible pilots. A French frigate was reported hit in the raid, and the French government also protested the rebel bombing of the frontier town of Guebara last week.

ROME—Premier Benito Mussolini disclosed that Italy's support of the Spanish rebels has cost her 2,000 Italian dead, 8,841 casualties, 1,808 captured. The entire conquest of Ethiopia cost only 1,542 Italian dead.

FRAGUE—The Czechoslovakian government continued its negotiations with minority leaders, particularly those in an effort toward a peaceful solution of their quarrel but without definite progress. Both sides interpreted Sunday's municipal elections as strengthening their positions.

BERLIN—Nazi newspapers criticized the Czechs for continued concessions to the British and the German frontier area and charged that the action was tantamount to a "surrender" intended to influence voters. The statement last week-end of United States Secretary of State Cordell Hull calling attention of European nations to their anti-war pact signatures also was criticized on the grounds that it should have been directed chiefly at Prague.

MALTING BARLEY GAINING IN IDAHO

OGDEN, May 31 (Special)—That the growing of malting barley is becoming important agriculturally throughout the intermountain region, is seen in the fact that the Becker Brewing plants in Ogden and in Evanston, Wyo., will purchase many millions of pounds of this home-grown crop this year.

One farmer in Idaho now has 1,800 acres of barley maturing, part of the crop on irrigated lands, and part on dry farms. The seeding of this vast acreage required 91,000 pounds of "pedigreed" barley.

WOODRING PLANS NORTHWEST TRIP

BY RALPH W. OLMSTEAD
WASHINGTON, May 31 (Special)—This fall Harry Woodring, secretary of war, will likely visit the Pacific northwest for the first time. On the occasion of his visit he may have some important things to say about the development of the Columbia and Snake rivers for water transportation.

Sen. J. P. Pope has been working quietly on this project for some time and the prospects, at present, for channelization of the Columbia and Snake to make the rivers navigable from Lewiston to the Pacific coast are very good.

The army engineers have considered and approved a report which recommends an engineering plan and economic justification for river development from the Dalles to Lewiston, Ida. The report in its present form leaves to congress designation of projects to be first initiated. No official announcement of the report will be made until after it receives approval from the secretary of war and the White House.

George Bremer, formerly of Jerome, arrived in Washington and was sworn in as underwriting supervisor of the farm section of the federal housing administration. When federal housing legislation was before the senate some months ago, Senator Pope secured an amendment to make FHA loans available to farmers. FHA has found it necessary to establish a new division to take care of the business operations of the division will be under the able direction of George Bremer.

Harry Bellworth, secretary of the Southern Idaho Timber Protective association, and Franklin Girard, Idaho state forester, are in Washington for conferences on forestry matters.

Brethren Church Group Complimented at Tea

Women of the Church of the Brethren here honor guests this afternoon at a tea of changing appointments, arranged by girls of the Young People's Society. The event, one of the most delightful of late spring social affairs, took place at the Idaho Power company auditorium. Miss Faith Magoffin and Miss Fern Magoffin passed among the guests, distributing corsages from flower baskets which they were about to show after the fashion of foreign flower girls. A trio composed of Miss Shepherd, Miss Kerlin and Miss Wright, accompanied by Miss Davidson, sang an opera aria, "The Flower Garden," as the flowers were presented.

The also sang the wonderful Mother of Mine. Mrs. Lawrence Albee sang "Mother Macaire," accompanied by Miss Wright, and Mrs. Hester presented a group of readings. As a finale to the refreshment hour, the hostesses group sang an original song. Refreshments were served at a table with a miniature cut-out dog house and a basket made of paper gumdrops. Small dog bones unfolded to reveal the afternoon's program.

Mrs. Brewer and Miss Perry presided at the service table, graceful with an arrangement of lavender and yellow flowers and lighted yellow papers, and covered with a lace cloth.

Rose Garden Draws Many Fanciers Here

Twin Falls has a memorial garden—dedicated to those "lost yesterday" when a man was obliged to be too commercially occupied to share to the fullest enthusiasm the gardening hobby of his family.

This rose garden at 651 Second avenue north, is the pride of W. M. Lambing, who as a member of the original Idaho survey in 1875, predicted that this section of the state would "blossom like the rose" and who, in the past 16 years, has done more than his share to make the prediction become a reality.

Garden of 400 Bushes

Begun by Mr. Lambing 16 years ago, the garden now comprises 400 bushy, flourishing rosebushes, 135 varieties being labeled with neatly lettered metal markers. As its fame has spread, annually throughout the summer months, more and more rose fanciers and flower lovers visit the Lambing rose garden, and many of them carry away with them arm bouquets of the best flowers. As the development of an art, and a joy to share, his rose garden means much to Mr. Lambing.

Because of the delayed season, the garden was not in bloom for Decoration day, but within two weeks opening buds should forecast the marvel of fragrance and beauty of coloring that it will unfold in its summer prime.

His knowledge of roses seems so vast and his interest so keen, that one can scarcely imagine Mr. Lambing's not always having grown roses.

As national representative of the Breeders' Gazette and as western representative of the Iowa Home-Steader, Mr. Lambing's principal concern for many years was the care and cultivation of advanced roses.

Favorite of Mr. Lambing is the "Eclipse," a yellow rose having dreamlike buds which average two and one-half inches in length and named "Eclipse," not only because it surpasses all other roses in the estimate of several rosarians, but because it first bloomed on the day of the sun's last eclipse.

Joanna Hill, Tallman, Opheelia—all the favorite varieties of bride and bridesmaids—are present to lend romantic quality to the garden. Madam Butterfly, pink roses fading into cream, and a rival in popularity to the other three mentioned, also has a place.

Rare Spanish Rose

Almost international in theme is the garden, which has Irish, French, Dutch, domestic, and even Spanish roses. Of particular interest to Mr. Lambing are his three Alessandras. This type of Spanish rose is the only one that the United States rosarians considered worthy while in the estimate of several rosarians, multi-colored rose. It is of prettier shading and deeper hue than the Tallman.

An unusually vigorous rose is the

Coastal Driver Ends Race For Five Miles In Front of Shaw

By STUART CAMERON United Press Sports Editor INDIANAPOLIS, May 31 (UP)—He said a black cat meant luck—and today a former Dakota plow hand sat atop America's automobile racing throne, bewitched by having won a 600-mile race.

Floyd Roberts came out of Van Nuys, Calif., just another assembly line man in an airplane factory. But in the long motor trip across the western states he prayed that a black cat would cross his path.

Nearly every other driver in the race at Indianapolis motor speedway would have hung up his goggles in fright at such a thing. But there was more of that about Roberts yesterday morning as he swallowed his half cooked eggs at Tom Bealy's track kitchen in gasoline line. On the way east, his lucky omen had come along. And he had more confidence in the charm of the cat than in the sweet-smelling Miller motor that was to carry him to an all-time record of 117.20 miles an hour, almost four miles faster than Wilbur Shaw's prime mark of 113.77. The hungry Californian had the checked flag waved in his face at the end of 200 laps, and he could explain it only by the

"It didn't seem like a 600-mile at all," he said, "except in the last 50, or so." Roberts, who was wearing a white shirt, could have lasted a thousand miles and I still would have won."

The crowd of 187,000 top figures for any sporting event in America—save testament to Shaw that a winner simply cannot repeat in 600 mile race. He was second, five miles back.

A specialist killed on the southwest turn was the first casualty since the 1907 race when Charley Meyer, now chief steward of the 600-mile race, ran into a crowd and fatally injured two bystanders.

Driver Critically Injured Emil Andrea, the Chicago driver whose wrecked car tumbled a wheel into the crowd, was taken to a clinic at the Methodist hospital. Roberts drove down some 838,000 by winning. Of this it was said he got about one third, 120,000.

The race driver who owns the car, will get the rest. That's the way most Indianapolis drivers work. This was the first single-seater race since 1929, when Ray Keech won, but one-man racing does not mean the pleasure of the crowd, the craziest, most exciting sports spectacle that America knows.

Rain or Shine, Armstrong And Ross Fight Tonight By HENRY McLEMORE NEW YORK, May 31 (UP)—Word has reached me, from a source so authoritative, that the most almost believe I made it up myself, that Barney Ross and Henry Armstrong will fight tonight no matter what the weather.

If it's raining they'll slip on hip boots and slickers and go on it. If it's raining they'll slip on hip boots and slickers and go on it. If it's raining they'll slip on hip boots and slickers and go on it.

On the other hand, Eddie Mead, who watches over Henry Armstrong like a mother (for 33 1/2 per cent) had this startling statement to make yesterday.

"The rainy days here in New York were just what my boy needed, etc., etc."

I took both of these statements with a grain of salt. I am never without a grain of salt. You wouldn't be either if you were in the business for it. Because I remembered how the managers of both fighters were buying pointing out the benefits of country training last year.

At the rate they're on razor edge and to tonight. (Copyright, 1938, United Press)

NEW YORK, May 31 (UP)—Baseball history was made yesterday at the box office. A total of 331,340 persons paid their way to see the Decoration day games. The largest crowd in baseball annals, 83,633, jammed Yankee stadium to see the world's baseball champions put on a Barnum and Bailey show.

Throwing in a flitfast for good measure, second-year Yankee developed the Boston Red Sox good, 10 to 0, and 6 to 4. Irritated by a bad pitch which hit him on the leg, Jake Pez and Yankee outfielder Archie McKain, Red Sox pitcher, before any blows were struck Manager Joe Cronin came in to stop them from repeating both.

Finch Under Stadium The result developed into one of the bitterest battles ever staged in Yankee stadium. Cronin and Powell exchanged blows. Separated, they went under the stands and continued their fight until the Yankee players tore Cronin loose from the benches.

The Yankees knocked Lefty Grove out of the box and beat him for the first time this season after the southern Yankee won eight straight games. Then with Lefty Comes on the hill, they came from behind to win the second game and slam their way into second place.

Meanwhile the Cleveland Indians held their briar back by knocking off the Chicago White Sox twice, 5-1 and 4-0. They held their American league lead. Bob Feller pitched a five-hit game to win the opener and Johnny Allen came back to win the second.

Tigers, Senators Split Before a surprisingly large crowd of 35,724, Washington broke even with the Athletics. The Senators won the opener, 2-4, and the A's copied the second, 9-1.

In Detroit, before 49,600 fans, the Tigers split with the Cubs. Lou Gehrig, who had been out of the lineup for a week, hit a home run with the bases loaded as the feature of the first game won by the Tigers, 10-7. Then Les Tiebout's masterpiece, the Browns triumphed 3-0 in the nightcap.

The amazing Boston Bees knocked off the league-leading New York Giants twice before 41,038 fans. Jim Turner blanked the Giants in the first game, 6-0, and Danny MacBride did them out, 1-0, in the second game.

Cubs, Red Divide Two tense struggles occurred in Chicago before 42,128 fans as Cincinnati and Chicago divided a doubleheader. Paul Derringer scored a seventh triumph by pitching the Reds to a 9-5 victory over the Cubs in the first game. The Cubs won the second game 3-0 behind the superb pitching of Big Bill Lee.

The parade is set to leave from the Elks building at 7 p. m. Wednesday evening, go to the center of Shoshone and Main, turn six blocks down Main and turn off to the Lincoln field, where the first ball will be tossed in by Mayor Lem A. Chappin. The parade will be led by the Twin Falls municipal band.

SUNSTROKE CAN OCCUR IN THE SHADE!

THE MAXIMUM EARTHQUAKE PERIOD FOR THE UNITED STATES IS BETWEEN OCTOBER 1 AND MARCH 31.

There is much yet to learn as to why earthquakes occur more frequently during certain periods of the year than others. But there seems to be sufficient data on hand to prove that most quakes occur in years of fewest sun-spots.

SIMILARITY REPORTED IN LEVINE, MATTONSON KIDNAPINGS

SADISM EVIDENCE SHOWN IN DEATH OF BOTH YOUTHS

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., May 31 (AP)—Men found striking similarity today in the kidnaping and murder of Peter Levine and that of Charles Mattson, Tacoma, Wash., 17 months ago.

Evidence of sadism in the case of Peter Levine, 12, whose headless body was washed ashore Sunday night from Long Island sound, increased this resemblance. Charles Mattson, 10, was mutilated by a sadist.

The fathers of both boys were professional men of moderate means, one a surgeon, the other a lawyer. Each had been accused of the ransom demanded, which also was similar—$25,000 for Peter Levine, $30,000 for Charles Mattson. The kidnaper try to collect the money although it was waiting for him. In each case he killed the boy and hid the body until the body to be discovered by chance.

Common Boldness

The homes of the boys, although separated by a continent, were close together. In each case the kidnaper with access to ships might have been there. There was a common boldness in the homes of his parents. Dr. W. W. Mattson, son of Dr. W. W. Mattson, was found dead in a boat near Everett, Wash., Jan. 31, 1937.

Thirty G-men, assigned to the Levine case, studied these similarities today, hoping possibly to clear up the only two unsolved of the 20 kidnapings since that of Charles A. Lindbergh, Jr.

Two Youth, among the eight who tried to "chase" the ransom from Murray Levine, the boy's father, were questioned again today by G-men who were not convinced that they had had no part in the actual kidnaping. They were Werner F. Lutz, 21, a whopper-jawed, German-born chauffeur who resembles Bruno Hauptmann, executed kidnaper of the Lindbergh child, and Edward J. Penn, 18, high school pupil.

They have been in jail since March 24 and while to have been put on trial today for writing a letter trying to collect the ransom from Levine. Because of the finding of the body, District Attorney A. Ferris planned to ask a commitment so that they could be questioned more thoroughly. In a raid on their rooms, police found guns, maps, radio tape, lengths of copper wire and a toy typewriter. The Levine boy's body was looted twice with a piece of copper wire when it came ashore. His kidnaper left ransom notes for the Levine victim on a toy typewriter.

Two Goes to FBI Heads

Lock once worked at an ice cream store that Peter Levine frequented. The strand of wire, which fastened one arm to the body and which Dr. Squires believes, had been attached to a weight, was sent to the federal bureau of investigation, laboratory in Washington for scientific examination. It was the best clue in the case, one that G-men hoped to develop as they had traced the wood in the ladder that Hauptmann used at the Lindbergh home.

The report of Dr. Amos A. Squire, county medical examiner reads: "Asphyxiation by drowning. Homicide." He noted that the murder was committed some time after March 17.

Held at Least 5 Days

He indicated thereby that he believed the kidnaper held the boy prisoner at least five days. He said that the body must have been dropped from a boat, not thrown from the shore, and that the section of waves had detached it from its weight.

The body was cremated yesterday after police services.

It was reported that the $5,000 reward Levine offered for finding the boy's body would be paid to Hamner Storm, boatman at the estate of Mrs. Lewis Beilin, who saw the body drifting shoreward while watching the sea Sunday evening.

General Agent

K. L. Johnson, veteran Union Pacific agent, promoted to general agent with headquarters at Boise, succeeding Joel L. Priest, recently advanced to special representative.

CITY JOB CHANGE PRODUCES SPLIT

W. E. Nixon, pioneer local resident, today had been named city weighmaster after members of the city council last night by a vote of four to one accepted the resignation of L. H. Benton who had held the position for approximately eight years.

The action in accepting Benton's resignation caused a rift at the council table when W. E. Taylor, city park commissioner, said he wanted it "clearly understood" that the "so-called resignation of Benton is no baby of mine."

"I have no objection to Mr. Nixon," he said, "but I want it known that I voted no on the acceptance of Benton's resignation, and not on the appointment of his successor."

Taylor asked Mayor Lem A. Chapin if the city was running a "charitable institution" and the mayor answered that he "didn't believe so."

Benton has a civil service job and doesn't need the one of weighmaster," the mayor said.

All council members, including Leonard Arant, street commissioner, agreed that Benton had done a "thorough" job.

The council also voted to authorize the city attorney, city clerk and city engineer to fill out properly a formal application blank for PWA aid for the proposed public library.

Routine matters included the passage of building permits which had been applied for since the last regular meeting.

Local Youth Wins Cornell Scholarship

Paul Leighton, a 1938 graduate of Twin Falls high school, today received notice that he had been recommended to the president of Cornell University at Ithaca, N. Y., for a John McMillen regional scholarship.

Notification of the scholarship which carries a $400 a year value annually and is to be held for four years providing a satisfactory academic record is maintained, was received from S. C. Hollister, dean of the engineering college. The scholarship will pay the tuition in the college of engineering.

Recommendation for one of the 30 scholarships given annually in the United States was made for Mr. Leighton by J. T. R. McCorkle of Boise, and a graduate of Cornell, after a personal interview and inspection of scholastic records and review of Leighton's other activities.

Factors of scholastic rating plus varied activities and high character contributed to the recommendation for the honor.

During his high school career young Leighton earned membership in the Tiespan club, a national dramatic honorary, was a member of the Beta Beta club, a mathematical organization; a member of Beta Sigma, scholastic honorary; Latin club, went out for football and won a letter for track work.

While a Junior he carried leading character roles in "New Fires," and "The Road to Yesterday." In his senior year he had parts in "Taming of the Shrew," and "Death Takes a Holiday." In declamation he participated in the extemporaneous division.

He also participated in two American Legion oratorical contests, winning first in 1937 in the state and placing second in 1938.

In addition to school work he is a sergeant in Co. E, 11th Engineers, and an Eagle Scout.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Leighton, 232 Fifth avenue north.

Rare Idaho Tree Blooming Now at Twin Falls Home

Extremely rare in Idaho is the horse chestnut tree—known to the more scientifically minded as Aesculus hippocastanum.

And a fine specimen of the horse chestnut is in full bloom today at the home of Fred Tyler, 293 Adams street.

Claimed by most botanists to be the most showy of all trees, the horse chestnut is grown to almost no extent in Idaho, although in this state it seems free from blight and disease of every kind.

History? The horse chestnut is a native of Greece. In the 17th century its cultivation spread quickly throughout Europe. It thrives almost anywhere in the United States, which makes its almost total absence in Idaho a perplexing matter. The tree attains a height of 100 feet; the trunk stands erect and the branches come out with such regularity that it forms a symmetrical cone-like head. If allowed room to grow, it requires no pruning.

Run out to Adams street and have a look. The specimen there is a young tree, only 16 years old.

FLIER CAPTURES AIR SPEED MARK

OAKLAND, Calif., May 31 (AP)—Dart Ortman, of Los Angeles, today held the air speed record over a closed course at 150 miles, $5,000 in cash and a gold trophy, all of which he annexed yesterday in winning the feature event of the three-day Pacific International air races here.

His average speed on the 8 1/2-mile course in the Golden Gate exposition trophy race was 255.539 but even at that fast pace he outdistanced Col. Roscoe Turner, also of Los Angeles, by only 100 feet.

The old record of 264.261 was established by Michel Detroyat, of France, but was over a 10-mile course and around four pylons. Ortman's course was around five pylons. The national contest board verified his record.

Ortman flew a Marcoux Bromberg plane while Turner piloted a Turner-Laird Special.

Turner received $2,500 for finishing second. Others in the race were Tony Le Vier, third, $1,500; Ray Moore, fourth, $1,000, and Art Chester fifth $700.

Turner set a new unofficial one-lap record of 278 miles an hour as he attempted to overtake Ortman on the final lap.

The final day of the race was free of tragedy. On Saturday, however, Ralph Johnson, Los Angeles airplane distributor, was killed when he crashed to the ground and Sunday Gus Glotch, of Hollywood, died when his plane dropped into San Francisco bay.

Floods Wreck Utah Highway

BOCALANTE, Utah, May 31 (AP)—OOO and county road crews today began repair operations on the flood-swept road to Boulder, which had been isolated since yesterday when swollen waters of Boulder creek burst an irrigation reservoir and caused heavy damage to bridges and roads in their path.

Damage was estimated at more than $20,000.

Swollen by melting snows, the creek widened its channel more than 50 feet. The reservoir was unable to withstand the increased volume of water.

The creek passes below the city of Boulder and the community was not in danger. However, while road repairs are in progress horseback is the only means of ingress to the town.
