

PWA POWER PLANTS WILL NOT ENTER PRIVATE COMPETITION

LEADER OPPOSES EARMARK PLANS OF U. S. SOLONS

By JOHN R. BEAL

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP)—Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley told the senate today that President Roosevelt does not plan to authorize public works construction of utility plants in competition with private facilities except where private firms reject reasonable offers for construction of such facilities.

Barkley made the statement in opposing an amendment to the recovery bill which would bar use of PWA funds to construct power plants which would compete with existing private facilities.

The senate debated the PWA power issue after increasing the spending-allowance bill total to $2,422,000,000 by voting the PWA appropriation by $100,000,000.

"In Good Faith"

Barkley made plain that while Mr. Roosevelt increased the amount of power facilities, he would authorize PWA projects in the instances where an owner made good faith by municipally to purchase a private plant at a reasonable price was rejected.

The $100,000,000 PWA fund was restored to the bill by senate vote after it had been placed in the measure by the house and then eliminated by the senate appropriations committee.

The senate thus far has made these major additions to the recovery bill:

- Farm parity payments, $212,000,000.
- Rural electrification, $75,000,000 (additional).
- FWA, $100,000,000 (additional).
- Total increased $427,000,000.

The senate also increased the works progress administration total by $175,000,000 but this was for the purpose of carrying the WPA program for one month longer than the house bill provided.

The senate changes carried the prospect of a possible bitter house-senate conference on the provisions. Rep. Clifton Woodrum, D. Va., floor manager of the measure in the house, said he opposed the $100,000,000 PWA appropriation and indicated he might also oppose the senate's $125,000,000 allotment for direct relief purposes.

Johnson was mayor for two terms, from 1923 to 1925. In April of 1937 to Lem A. Clavin, present city clerk. While mayor, he ran unsuccessfully two years ago for reelection on a platform of "no enemy of Olson's."

The former mayor is now the president of the Young Democratic club of Twin Falls county, a member of a local service club, belongs to a select social club and is listed in other activities here.

It was believed that the Bonneville authorities had recovered a 25 automatic, reputedly the same type gun that brought death to Olson.

LABORER HELD IN MONTANA KILLING

"I call it keeping me in a wall."

Ed Gross, a neighbor, said he witnessed the shooting.

Gross reported that Kunze walked to the mayor's home with a rifle and fired at Mrs. Kunze when she came out. He refused an arrest because she had the rifle.

The bullet pierced Mrs. Kunze's heart and she fell dead. Mayor Kunze attempted to hide behind a tree but the stepbrother's next shot struck him in the back, killing him instantly.

Gross said the slayer then walked calmly away to the cabin he shared with his aged mother.

Gross spread the report of the slaying. Mary Louise Kunze, 7, daughter of the slain couple, called a physician.

Sheriff Westlake of Gallatin county, aided by Sheriff Larry Velt of Blaine County, surrounded the cabin and demanded that Kunze come out. He refused an arrest because it was with tear gas bombs.

Kunze Surrenders

About an hour later Kunze surrendered and was taken to the Gallatin county jail at Bozeman.

Funeral arrangements for the slain couple will be made today at Three Forks. They are survived by another daughter, Charlotte, 2.

The aged mother of the accused man was forced from the cabin a short time after it was surrounded by deputies. She was not held in connection with the slaying.

"My poor boy. Oh my poor son," was her only comment.

AMERICAN YOUTH DETAINED AS SPY

Sessions and return to my studies again. I think I have almost convinced police that I am not a Fascist nor a German spy. Unity, however, is having more trouble because she had a Nazi aviator emblem and the autographed picture of Hitler.

Asked how well she knew Miss Freeman-Bittford, who Hitler once described as the perfect "Argan" type, Russell said:

"Beautiful" Woman

"I just happened to meet her through the British writer who I was with. She is a very nice girl but I hardly know her. She is an ardent Nazi and I am not interested in politics. Furthermore, I am no Fascist."

Field Marshal Hermann Goerring, Hitler's right hand man, once described the Freeman-Bittford sisters and his own wife as the most beautiful women in Germany.

So enthusiastic is Unity's admiration for Hitler that she recently announced her intention of becoming naturalized as a German citizen.

Britain Moves to End Spain War

U. S. S. R. AGREES TO ENGLISH PLAN FOR VOLUNTEERS

By FREDERICK KUIH
LONDON, June 2 (AP)—Great Britain now the first important move in efforts to arrange an armistice in the Spanish civil war today when Soviet Russia agreed to accept the British plan for evacuation of foreign volunteers.

The Soviet, which had been holding up the plan, agreed to accept the method of counting volunteers, a division of the volunteers into four main categories and the restoration of land and sea control of the Spanish frontier.

Chamberlain Not Satisfied
Russia's acceptance of the non-intervention committee plan was announced today it was learned that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain intended to go beyond the scope of the committee's work because he was not satisfied with its relatively negative efforts.

S. B. Cagan, counselor of the Soviet embassy, said at the committee meeting that Russia would categorically insist upon simultaneous enforcement of effective land and sea control. He said the British proposals did not guarantee effective sea control.

Land, Sea Control
If after 40 days withdrawal of volunteers has not started, the Soviet will insist that land and sea control of the Spanish frontier be immediately in force. No further postponement of any kind or under any circumstances will be granted, Cagan said.

The first major progress of the committee in many months coincided with Britain's decision to work actively to arrange an armistice in the Spanish conflict; to seek a pacific settlement in Czechoslovakia and eventual direct friendship negotiations with Germany.

It was Chamberlain's desire to try to effect an agreement that would end the war.

Freddie Bartholomew, in Debt, Struggles to Register Comeback

By PAUL HARRISON (NSA Service)

HOLLYWOOD—By the time you see Freddie Bartholomew in "Kidnaped," that young star will have been off the screen about a year. An actor whom many a critic and player said deserved the 1937 Academy Award for his performance in "Captains Courageous," Freddie finds himself trying to make a comeback in 1938.

Hard-luck stories are rare in the high places of Hollywood, but Bartholomew, Julius turned 14, can't get three of them—the long custody squabble with his parents which he and his Aunt Mylicent finally won; the surprising court order to pay one-fifth of his earnings to his parents and $15,000 to their attorneys; and his own long suspension by Metro, ostensibly over a salary disagreement.

A Year of Freedom However, recently both court orders compelling the payments to his parents and attorneys were set aside, and although he is not only broke today, but in debt, there is actually a fair fortune in sight for him ahead. The trusteeship of his estate has been removed from a bank which had depleted it from $30,000 to less than $400, and Freddie is now a financial czar of superior court. Even his aunt cannot spend any of his money without court approval.

Immediately behind him is a year of illness which might have been his most profitable one.

"Actually, though, it was the best year of his life," said Miss Mylicent Bartholomew. "You couldn't realize how much the freedom meant—to be able to do things like other boys. I didn't have to say, 'Be careful on those skates, Freddie,' or 'Better not climb that tree, Freddie; you couldn't finish the picture with a broken leg.'"

Just 14 "He rode often at one of the stables that rents horses. He learned to take horses, and he was trying to go under the horse as they do in circuses. He went flying several times with a friend of ours, and wants to take a horse when he is 16."

"On his birthday a few weeks ago, March 28, he was up practically at dawn. He kept saying, 'Gis, can you realize it? I don't have to say, 'Be proud of his long pants and his big feet; he buys shoes about two sizes too big. His voice is getting lower, but it is better.'"

"You know he used to be a bit under-ah—and frail-looking. Well, he weighs 104 pounds now, and is 5 feet 4 inches tall, and has an appetite like a wolf. He grew more than an inch in the last three months, and— But here he comes now!"

Getting Wild and Husky We were on location with the "Lord Jeff" company, Bartholomew, with other naval cadets, had been studying some machine rigging erected for practice on the grounds of a school. In the recently completed "kidnaped," for which he was loaned to 20th-Fox by Metro, he was rugged, youngmanly role than ever before. For "Lord Jeff," though, he again is an arrogant brat. His next assignment probably will be "Kidnaped" after that "One Young American."

Freddie said, "Hello there," in a voice that seemed to originate from the region of his ankles. He shook hands in the Victor McLaglen manner. He seemed pleased when I noted his conventional haircut—his first. But he showed marked unwillingness to chat about the picture or future roles. Kept looking at me speculatively and finally burst out with, "If any—do you want to go to sleep?"

Heat Juggias I said no, thanks, but I would call on him next time I was troubled with insomnia. He said, "Oh, you must; it's real juggias. Now take three deep breaths and hold the last one—"

Strong hands (Mr. Bartholomew's) grabbed me. I took three deep breaths and held the last one. Then two strong thumbs moved atwart my ears and pressed on a couple of nerves, or arteries or something.

The sad-looking expression in Freddie Bartholomew's face is there for a good reason. Freddie is approaching the difficult act which has spelled oblivion for so many boy actors.

I saw stars (non-movie) and the sunora borealis, and heard bells. Just as I was about to subside into the arms of a property man who acts as Bartholomew's catcher on these occasions I was relieved by Director Sam Wood's yell of "Freddie, hurry up; we're waiting!"

HOLLISTER

Future Education I returned to non-militant Miss Mylicent, who told about Freddie's education. He is in the second semester of junior high school now, is especially good at English composition and mathematics, and can enter college when he is 16. His tutor has written for the catalogues of Stanford, Yale, Harvard, Oxford and Cambridge, but it is by no means certain that he will go to college.

Miss Bartholomew would like him to travel first, perhaps for a year. But both agree that if he is prospering in pictures two years from now he probably will remain in Hollywood and continue to study under tutors. About that time, too, they will discuss the matter of remaining British subjects or becoming American citizens, and he will make the choice.

American Tastes Already his tastes and sympathies are overwhelmingly American. Freddie reads everything from world affairs to westerns. His aunt said, "He loves westerns. And swing music!"

"He still hasn't a very clear idea about money. He gets a dollar a week to spend, since his new contract, and doesn't seem to realize the size of his salary. He wanted a bicycle for his birthday, and I cau-

GOVERNMENT PREPARES FOR HUGE FARM AID PROGRAM

OVER BILLION TO BE SPENT DURING NEXT 12 MONTHS

By FRED BAILEY
WASHINGTON, June 2 (UP)—Department of agriculture officials prepared today for a gigantic farm-aid program to bolster the purchasing power of 6,000,000 farmers.

Tentative plans drawn by aides of Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace call for a federal lending-spending farm program involving $1,300,000,000 to $1,400,000,000 in the next 12 months.

Direct aid to farmers in soil conservation payments, rural relief, purchase of surplus, and other parity payments, to be either obligated or paid in the next year, will total approximately $1,000,000,000.

Lend on Shortage
In addition, government agencies expect to lend farmers up to $350,000,000 for storage of surplus wheat, cotton and corn. The farm security administration plans to loan farmers approximately $100,000,000 to make up for the loss of income.

Three factors influenced the department in planning the most comprehensive farm program ever undertaken by the government.

1. Prospects of another bumper crop, added to huge surpluses from last year.

2. A drop of nearly one-third in market prices of farm products during the past year.

3. The decline of farm purchasing power to 74 per cent of 1929 level.

Surpluses, prospects of bumper crops and the industrial depression have forced farm prices to the lowest level in four years, the department said. Prices dropped from 128 per cent of pre-war on May 15, 1937, to 92 per cent on May 15, 1938.

Farm purchasing power, a big factor in recovery from the last depression, has again dropped to 74 per cent of the 1929-31 average. Prices of farm products declined 30 per cent during the past year while the prices of many farm inputs have risen seven per cent, the department said.

Government payments, under the program would constitute approximately 10 per cent of estimated total farm income this year of $7,000,000,000. The spending program includes $200,000,000 for soil conservation payments; $212,000,000 for parity payments included in recovery bill now before the senate; $130,000,000 in direct relief; and $350,000,000 for the purchase of surpluses for urban needs.

President Urges Navy Grads To Study U. S., World Affairs

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 2 (UP)—President Roosevelt today called on U. S. naval academy graduates to equip themselves with a broad and thorough knowledge of American and world affairs to enable them to cope with modern problems.

The President's advice was contained in his graduation address to 480 midshipmen completing their four-year course of study at the Annapolis institution.

Mr. Roosevelt's address did not touch on specific issues of national or international matters.

"You will never reach the top and stay at the top," Mr. Roosevelt told the students, "unless you are well-rounded in your knowledge of all the other factors in modern civilization that lie outside of your own special profession."

Special Emphasis
"That applies to all of world thought and world problems, but it applies, of course, with special emphasis to the thought and problems of our own nation."

Mr. Roosevelt illustrated his point by quoting an anecdote told him by Theodore Roosevelt after the defeat of a conservation measure by a congressional coalition.

FELL ASHREP

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 2 (UP)—President Roosevelt once fell sound asleep in full view of a group of admirals and the dignified graduating class of the U. S. naval academy.

He told the 1938 academy graduates of the incident today.

He said:

"The only time I disgraced myself was I fell asleep during World War. Because of the strenuous work in the navy department, I was a bit tired on sleep. The temperature in this hall was in the neighborhood of a hundred. There I was sitting on the right of the superintendent of the naval academy, the was then assistant secretary of the navy."

"The speaker of the occasion began his address. My eyes slowly but firmly closed. I think my mouth fell open. I slept ungraciously but soundly directly in front of the eyes of the entire graduating class."

"Could anything be more un-military, more humiliating—but more satisfactory?"

Reclamation Director Tosses Hat in River as Water Flows over Spillway

MACKAY, Ida., June 2 (UP)—W. Paris, state commissioner of reclamation, was so happy when he saw tons of water rushing through the spillway of the Mackay dam—his pet project—that he removed his $10 Stetson hat and, with a warwhoop, tossed it into the river.

He explained to amazed citizens that for years he had argued that water—liquid gold to the Lost River valley—would somehow flow over the spillway, indicating that a re-estate peak had been reached which would see farmers through the summer.

The spillway was constructed by his order—against the "better" judgment of engineers who built the huge earth-filled dam.

Paris said there was no truth in the rumor that the dam might give way before its capacity load of 45,000 acre feet. The structure is in good condition, he reported.

It was the first time in 17 years that water had run through the spillway. Paris first wanted to jump in and take a swim, but he was restrained by his companions.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

TORNADOES LAST ONLY ABOUT ONE MINUTE IN ONE PLACE, WHILE CYCLONES AFFECT THE WEATHER FOR THREE DAYS... YET, TORNADOES USUALLY CAUSE THE MOST DESTRUCTION.

DURING THE ICE AGE, SOME ELEPHANTS MOVED SOUTH TO WARMER CLIMES; SOME REMOVED TO MOVE AND GREW WOOLLY COATS.

A tornado is a local, restricted example of a cyclone. It seldom travels the breadth of one state, and is of short duration. A cyclone travels over continents, lasting for days, but after it has roared on its way, the damage may not be worth mentioning, while the little tornado, in its few minutes of existence, has left death and destruction.
