

FBI MANPOWER JOINS IN HUNT (From Page One) Neither Hoover nor his aides would hint how many G-men now are working on the case. But it appeared that the federal agents, determined to break the seventh child kidnapping since 1932, were massed in far greater force than in any other recent campaign. Leaving the detective work to the G-men, south Florida began the third day of its inch-by-inch search for the boy or his body. Hundreds in Posses Hundreds were in the first posess that went out at dawn through the citrus and truck farms, the everglades and aboard vessels coasting along the keys. Hints which hampered the search, yesterday had ended and the manhunt was in progress under a bright Florida sun. Posse members sought discomfort as they struggled through the dense subtropical growths steaming after the heavy rain.

Enemy war birds attempting to raid England will find their wings enmeshed in an aerial "fence" if the "balloon barrage," new air defense technique of the Royal Air Force, pictured above for the first time, works as expected. The plan visualizes hundreds of captive balloons, such as those seen above in a recent try-out at Cardington, which will float to great heights with long steel chains suspended beneath them, thus forming a barrier through which enemy planes could not pass. Being moored to motor trucks, the balloon barrage could be quickly towed to any threatened area.

With good weather conditions continuing, between 2,500 and 3,000 men—most of them armed—probably will be participating before dark. Will Visit Every Nook Leaders of the manhunt promised that they will visit every nook and south Florida thicket would be explored, a pond or cave unvisited or a key concealed in the three-day search. The federal agents throughout the night questioned persons in an unbroken stream in their offices in Miami. At all times in the street outside, was an excited crowd intensely moved by each rumor. Each rumor aroused by the strong probability that the five and a half year old boy had been murdered by the kidnapers who had collected a $10,000 ransom from his father, gathered in groups, muttering over each bit of gossip that came their way.

NEGRO CONFESSES LIST OF CRIMES (From Page One) they would question him also about the attack-slaying of Mrs. Rose Valdez, which occurred in Los Angeles in May, 1934. Howard Jones Green, 20, Tallahassee, Miss., Negro, who had been taken into custody because Nixon said he had traveled with him, was brought in Green here told police Nixon had confessed to performing a number of robberies on the west coast when he was there a year ago. Removed to Cell "Do you know this man," Storms asked him. "Yes," Green said. "He's Robert Nixon." Green was removed to his cell and Nixon, without further prompting, added his confession of the Worden slaying. After a stark dinner, he drew up a chair to Storms' desk and said he was ready to make a detailed statement. "I want to get it off my chest," he said. He began by describing an assault in a Chicago hotel. It was the 19th he has admitted since he was seized early Friday by a police squad on its way to the scene of the Johnson slaying. He implicated Green in the Los Angeles crime, Green denied being present when the slaying was committed, but the Los Angeles officers said they had evidence he was there at the time. Fled to Coast Nixon came to Chicago from Tallahassee in 1933. He fled to Glendale, 20 miles north of Los Angeles, a year ago after the Castle slaying. He was in a CCC camp there, he said, carrying on his marauding raids from the camp. In checking of the youth's background police wired Sheriff A. J. D. Sogier of Madison Parish, La., for information. He said Nixon had been known as a sneak thief and prowler since he was six. "Unable to do much with him because he was a young," Bezier wired. "Nothing but death will cure him."

ENGLAND LEADS IN CUP MATCHES By HARRY PERCY ST. ANDREW, Scotland, June 3 (AP)—Britain's Walker cup golf team, which had been regarded as a pushover, forged into a 2-1 lead today in the biennial series with the United States. Britain won two of the Scotch foursomes (the U. S. won one, and one was halved). The series will be concluded tomorrow when eight singles matches will be played. Despite the fact that the United States was trailing tonight the invaders were still favored to retain the cup which has never been won by Britain. This is the tenth series. Results of Foursome Today's results: Leonard Crawley and Frank Pennington, England, defeated Reynolds Smith, Dallas, and Freddie Haas, New Orleans, 2 and 1. Gordon Peters and Hector Thomson, Scotland, defeated Johnny Goodman, Omaha, and Marvin Ward, Olympia, Wash., 4 and 2. Charley Yates, Atlanta, and Ray Billows, Poughkeepsie, defeated Kyle, Scotland, and Charles Stone, England, 3 and 2. Scoring Good, Poor Johnny Fischer, Cincinnati, and Chuck Kocsis, Detroit, paired with Harry G. Bentley, England, and James Bruen, Jr., Ireland. Some of the scoring was extremely good and some of it was exceptionally high for top flight players Goodman and Ward, for example, had a 43 on the outward and 35 on the return. On the other hand Bentley and Bruen had a final nine in 32, five strokes below par, to come from behind a two-hole disadvantage at the afternoon turn. Fischer and Kocsis had to score a 34 on the same nine to finish even.

Evident Facts From this maze of rumor created by the strict secrecy necessarily maintained by authorities, some evident facts. The G-men had not solved the crime but were working on the lead that the believed would lead to a solution soon. The persons they were questioning were almost all witnesses rather than suspects. Four men had been in the room for more than 40 hours. One, a Negro, was a vital witness. The man who was taken from his bed last Saturday night. POSTERS GO OUT FOR BRICK POOL

Posters advertising the Harmon park brick pool, which will mean prizes that may go as high as $500, were distributed in Twin Falls, Kimberly, Piler and Hazelton today by Junior Chamber committees.

The pool, operated on the same basis as Alaskan ice break-up pools, will be decided by the estimates closest to the number of bricks which can be salvaged for use in the new public gym on the Jaycee 20-acre recreation grounds adjoining Harmon park.

The estimating contest has already aroused wide interest among sport-minded residents of half a dozen south central towns, according to Chairman E. W. McRoberts. It is expected that a substantial portion of the estimates will come from communities other than Twin Falls itself.

Sportsmen in other towns interested in submitting estimates, or in handling estimates in their areas, were advised to contact McRoberts at Sudler, Wegener and Co., Twin Falls.

(Copyright, 1938, United Press)
LONDON, June 3 (U.P.)—The duke of Windsor, for 326 days king of the world's greatest empire, called the most popular monarch who ever mounted a throne, was Britain's forgotten man today, one year after his marriage of the century to Mrs. Wallis Warfield Spencer, 61-
On June 3, 1937, the eyes of romance lovers turned toward the Chateau de Caumont in France where the duke married the woman for whom he had left his throne and his country with the explanation: "I have found it impossible to carry the heavy burden of responsibility and to discharge my duties as king as I would wish to do without the help and support of the woman I love."
Redecorate Chateau
Today the duke and his American-born duchess were at Amboise on the French Riviera, where the duke was helping him in his big responsibility of the day—redecoration of the chateau for three years.
It appeared unquestionable that the duke had no regrets. He had given up a life in which wherever he went, whatever he did, he was the principal figure, honored, admired and loved. Many of his people had criticized him. "Was Wallace right," said bitterly that the heavy burden which he found himself unable to bear without the company of his present was not so heavy as the burden they bore in four years of the mud and blood of the trenches as infinitesimal parts of an army pledged to die for king and country.
Only Two Mentions
Out of eight morning newspapers today, only two thought it necessary to mention the duke's wedding anniversary. Those two favored six lines each to it. It meant nothing to Britain. It meant nothing to the duke either except that he was freed of a burden which had always been oppressive to him.
Friends saw the other day in Paris who are in contact with the duke, affirm that he appears happier than he ever did as prince of Wales or king.
Duke Less Fidgety
Nowadays, in public, the duke is less fidgety and taut. He often seems light hearted, amiable and interested. His friends in France say that he has recently manifested a certain readiness due to his comparative lack of action after 25 years of active activity in official life.
The duke and duchess seem happy together. They have had their bitter disappointments, their reaction to their visit to Nazi Germany, the criticism which forced them to cancel their intended visit to the United States. The duke is France say "resent" greatly the refusal of the British court and government to recognize the duchess as a royal one. He is "royal" dignities, and the social world she is just one of the ordinary British duchesses—if a woman who bears the highest non-royal title may be classed as ordinary.

Would Be Pro Housewife

Lovely Katherine Rawls, 21-year-old Olympic swimming ace, is pictured above with aviator Theodore H. Thompson in Columbus, O., after admitting their recent secret marriage in Valdosta, Ga. The bridegroom reported there would be a church wedding when the families are assembled in Columbus. Asked if she will turn pro, Miss Rawls said, "The only professional standing I want is that of a good housewife."

GALLIPOLIS, O. (U.P.)—The largest and probably the oldest grapevine in Ohio can be seen at the Ohio Hospital for Epileptics here. The vine, which has attained a girth of 30 inches at a point 3 feet above the earth, was growing at the time Gallipolis was settled by the French in 1720.

Coffin, Grave Ready

GRAND FORKS, B. C. (U.P.)—Clement K. Vacher, 84, wanted his death to cause no one any trouble. So the pioneer prospector of Boundary Falls built his own coffin and dug his own grave. He was buried in the lonely mountain grave he dug years ago.

CANADIAN RAINS BOON TO WHEAT

WINNIPEG, Man. (U.P.)—Soaking rains and heavy mows throughout western Canada and especially in those areas where drought has taken a heavy toll for the past seven years has brought renewed hopes to wheat farmers throughout the section. Especially in the Saskatchewan area, remains to be done, prospects of a bumper crop are the best in many years.
Snow followed several days of heavy rains, adding greatly to the moisture supply, the lack of which has caused crop failures over much of the western bread basket. Farmers, most of whom have been on government relief for several years, are happy again. Seed is stored and ready for sowing.
Crop Report Optimistic
The Winnipeg Free Press, in its first crop report of the season, described conditions as "the best in 10 years." In every wheat-growing section moisture sufficient for seed germination was reported and to be delayed seeding in parts of Saskatchewan and Alberta makes the 1938 wheat acreage still uncertain and unless a warm, dry spell of weather sweeps the prairies shortly the entire acreage may not exceed 22,000,000 acres, compared with 21,500,000 acres last year.
In Manitoba there is a strong movement from durum wheat to most resistant bread wheat.
Sixteen counties in the three provinces was reported much better than at seeding time last year, and the majority of sections reported that sub-surface moisture also is good.
Whole Area Hard Hit
Government authorities too are hopeful. Municipal and provincial budgets in western Canada have been drained of resources steadily, with some sections now verging on bankruptcy. A good crop this season is expected to reduce the tremendous relief burden and to replenish the rapidly decreasing treasuries.
Government action, resulting from the Turgen Grein commission report, is expected this year, bringing further strength to the market. The Winnipeg grain exchange it is expected will be carefully supervised by federal government officials so that farmers may avail themselves of a good price. Steps will also be taken to increase the demand for Canadian wheat abroad, and a representative probably will be sent to deal directly with millers, importers and grain merchants.
Last year's crop, the poorest in recent Canadian history, resulted in a harvest of 100,000,000 bushels. Prospects this year are that a total of more than 300,000,000 bushels will be harvested.

He was revived after 20 minutes of resuscitation work.

Japanese Throw Full Power into Conquest of China

AIRPLANES BOMB HARD-HIT CANTON DESPITE PROTEST

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
 Japan swung the full power of her empire into the conquest of China today with appointment of Lieutenant Ichihiro Itagaki as war minister.

In the south, relays of Japanese airplanes bombed the shattered city of Canton—despite formal British protest against bombardment of civilians in China and Spain—in an effort to cut railroad lines feeding Chinese armies.

In the central Yangtze valley, Japanese boosted their armed forces to 300,000 troops in preparation for an attack on the Chinese capital at Hankow, which already is being partially evacuated.

Troops Recover
 In the north, Japan's 500,000 soldiers recovered from the danger of too rapid advance and opened mass attacks on the eastern provinces after storming the city of Kihaiin. In the Kaitung-Lanfeng sector along the Lungshai railroad, the Chinese troops fought back bravely against the invaders' efforts to move southward toward Hankow.

But these powerful and effective military thrusts were still far from the "quick victory" sought by an economically and financially straitened Japan. The cost of every gain on the northern front has been many times greater than anticipated in men and money. And even as the Japanese pounded the Kiangsu Chinese guerrilla troops began slashing at the invaders' rear bases near Peking, Peiping and Tientsin and in Chahar province.

Greatest Obstacle
 This guerrilla warfare is the greatest obstacle to Japan's conquest. Japanese authority in conquered areas extends only as far as Japanese guns can shoot which, due to the front line needs, hardly covers the entire line of communication, indicating the seriousness of the behind-the-lines danger. Japanese army leaders offered Chinese guerrillas to fight against the invaders' efforts to move southward toward Hankow.

No Early Victory
 Italian and German aid for rebel Generalissimo Francisco Franco has failed to bring him the early victory expected. Loyalist armies defeating Barcelona and Valencia today slowed the Franco advance along the Mediterranean to a walk and sent guerrillas fleeing through the mountains to cut at rebel flanks in the same tactics that smashed the Italian-led offensive against rebel Madrid. In return, Franco's planes battered villages along the coast and aerial fighting was intensified over the important battle-grounds.

Great Britain has been laboring to get an agreement among European powers for withdrawal of foreign volunteers from Spain and closure of Spanish frontiers in an effort to isolate the civil war, but the outcome of this effort remained uncertain in view of the fact that Germany and Italy are determined that Franco must win the war.

MUSE AND COW HELP VERSIFIER

ABILENE, Tex. (UP)—Marvin Miller, 19-year-old freshman at Hardin-Simmons university, resorts to milking the family cow for inspiration for his poetry, from which he has realized more than $1,000.

"With a poem thought in my brainpan, instead of drumming the table with my fingers, I grab a milk bucket, feed the cow, and sit down on a milk stool," Miller said.

"With a bucket between my knees, I am ready. The milk splashes in the bottom and on the sides of the pail interprets itself to me in various kinds of rhythm—from iambic pentameter to trochaic tetrameter.

"After the milk is strained, I go to my typewriter to hit off the first draft of the poem. The composition meter, as I milk, clarifies my thinking. A bit unusual, perhaps, but with me effective.

"The cow," he added, "at first seemed quite amused, but now is accustomed to my monotone chanting, taking it as she might a cockle-burr in her tail—as one of those necessary evils.

"I find it sane procedure to place the tail of the cow behind the knee, in the crook of my left leg. It is not considered good taste to catch a switching tail in the mouth while doing the closing couplet of a sonnet."

Miller said he used the described procedure in composing "Feather Chickens," a poem appearing in a magazine. He won numerous poetry writing contests in high school. His works include limericks, couplets, ballads and odes.

An Irish Stew

Which one of these Irishmen is Pat O'Brien? Both of 'em, be-cause! And that's what is causing a good old Irish brawl. Pat of Detroit, lower plane, claims he went to the Hollywood film capital in 1923, and that Pat of San Francisco, top, came along later, changed his name from William Patrick to plain Pat, and became a movie star. Now Detroit Pat says he can't get a film job and has changed his name from William Patrick to plain Pat, and became a movie star. A volley of shots was fired over the graves by Legionnaires, followed by the impressive sounding of taps and echo by the Boy Scout buglers.

Fraternal organizations attending the services in a body included members of the Masonic order, the Moose, the Odd Fellows and the American Legion.

Ancient Auto Of 1902 Soon To Run Again

How would you like to take a ride in an old fashioned horseless carriage? That is the treat planned for Idaho residents and tourists by H. H. Soper, owner of Soper's service station, 251 Fourth avenue west.

Rebuilding of the motor for the 1902 wonder is now progressing at Soper-Ken auto parts. When the rebuilding job is completed the top speed of 20 miles per hour will be made possible by the two cylinder motor with the chain drive.

Looks Like Buggy
 The old "International," four passenger phaeton now reposing in the back shop of the service station, resembles an old fashioned buggy, or hack as it was known in the good old days. The 20 horse power engine fits under the front seat and the driver must watch the road from the right side of the carriage.

The wheels on the latest 1902 model are 47 inch wooden spoke buggy wheels equipped with hard rubber tires. Bumps in the road are taken with the aid of regular leaf springs attached under the wooden frame of the buggy.

Boogie Woogie
 Mr. Soper secured the car a number of years ago from a resident of Home and after much legal maneuvering now holds the Idaho certificate of title on the machine.

Just another novelty and purely for entertainment this car is another of Mr. Soper's varied interests, which also include the making of small Idaho products trailers. These were paraded through downtown streets last week.
