BILLION DOLLARS ADDED TO NEW DEAL'S FARM PROGRAM

WALLACE TERMS CONGRESS LAWS AS CONSERVATIVE

By FRED BAILEY
WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—The congress which adjourned yesterday broadened the New Deal agricultural program and appropriated more than a billion dollars to aid farmers.

Congress began consideration of the new farm program at 11:30 a. m. in the Senate chamber and finally passed it in February over opposition which charged farmers were being "regimented" and "forced" into compliance.

Defend Act
Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace said the act as "the most constructive farm legislation ever enacted" and asserted that it gave farmers "new charter of economic freedom."

Principal features of the new farm program are:

1. Imposition of marketing quotas limiting farm sales, subject to two-thirds approval of growers.
2. Federal loans on surpluses to growers who cooperate on acreage limitations.
3. Wheat insurance beginning in 1939.
4. "Parity" payments on cotton, wheat and corn.
5. The act differs from the old soil conservation law principally in that it gives the secretary of agriculture added power to regulate and make orderings by rewarding co-operators and penalizing non-cooperators.

75TH CONGRESS ENDS SESSIONS

skipped early about 6:45 p. m. train for Uvalde, Tex. Mr. Roosevelt and his party left at 9:15 p. m. for Massachusetts to attend the wedding of the youngest son of the late Anne Lindsay Clarke, of Boston.

Garner and a group of old time Democrats are judged now to be out of sympathy with some of Mr. Roosevelt's major aims—and especially with continued big spending accompanied by huge treasury deficits. Mr. Roosevelt himself shortly will embark on a transcontinental journey dipping into political waters from coast to coast.

The battle is one to determine the factional and party complexion of the new congress. It foreushadows the 1940 struggle between conservatives and liberals for control of both the Republican and Democratic nominating conventions.

Ends in Factions
Democrats who marched shoulder-to-shoulder into Washington in January, 1937, dispersed today in groups and factions. The scum republican rear-guard scattered denouncing the record of this congress but predicting big things from the 11th election of November.

There were a few unavailing objections to leaving without voting on emergency loan and other bills. Mr. Roosevelt in letters to Garner and Speaker William B. Bankhead praised the departing congress for its record of legislation.

The New Deal found much comfort, if great disappointment, in the legislative record. Political chances are assessed rather than the chances of gaining control of the house this year at prohibitive odds and the senate will remain safely Democratic region of the electoral college.

The judiciary reorganization dispute almost stymied the first session of this congress which met in August, 1937, and quit Aug. 26, 1937, after the bill was dead. President Roosevelt summoned a special session Nov. 15 last year and assigned the judiciary bill to the senate, but the program carried over into the session now adjourned which met Jan. 3 of this year.

Outstanding Triumph
Wages and hours legislation was the outstanding Roosevelt legislative triumph of the 75th session. Killed once by the house, but practically ignored. That program carried over into the session now adjourned which met Jan. 3 of this year.

Surviving relatives are his wife, Mrs. Nellie Wilson Griggs; two daughters, Mrs. Elmer Jones, Twin Falls, and Ruth I. Griggs, Twin Falls; and three grandchildren, the body rests at the White mortuary.

Red Cross Urges Immediate Funds For Chinese Aid

Last appeal for contributions to the American Red Cross fund for the stricken Chinese, was made this afternoon by Mrs. D. L. Alexander, chairman of the local chapter. The fund's name is Pandora, and her 18 pounds of liveliness indicates no ill effects from her long journey.

The Red Cross, recognized throughout the world as the first agency of relief, and the most experienced and efficient organization in the field, is facing a new emergency brought on by the annual floods in China.

The necessity for immediate funds is revealed in a telegram from A. L. Schaefer, manager of the Pacific area, American Red Cross, to Mrs. Alexander. The telegram follows: "Devastating floods greatly increasing suffering among civilians in China. Need for food, clothing, shelter and medical aid now greater than ever. Red Cross people worldwide wish to contribute promptly and generously to Red Cross relief fund. This new disaster drives millions of Chinese families from their homes. Please exert every possible effort to reach your goal speedily. Contributions to the fund may be left at the local banks or sent directly to Mrs. Alexander."

Wife Objects to Duties as Army

Feeding stock and carrying drinking water are not proper duties for a housewife on a farm, contends Janaye Bissel Kramer who filed suit yesterday in Twin Falls district court for divorce from A. O. Kramer on a charge of cruelty and mental suffering.

She also charged her husband with destroying letters addressed to her. The complaint states the couple was married at Cedar Hill, Mo., on Dec. 28, 1929, and has one child, James Edward, 8 years old. Plaintiff seeks custody of the child, with the provision he may visit his father during summer vacation, and a settlement of half the proceeds from the 1938 crop planted on land which is alleged community property. Upon receipt of the settlement, plaintiff would defend a clear title to the land.

Contributions to the fund may be left at the local banks or sent directly to Mrs. Alexander.

The crimes for which the man is sought are committed on the night of June 14, according to a wire received from Sheriff Allison.

Identical number of the automobile in which the man is traveling is reported as Arkansas 146-970. He is reported to be armed. His description includes the notation that he talks soft, has a scar on his chin, and is about 5 feet 7 inches in height.

It was as the man was traced into northwestern Kansas and Nebraska. It is believed he is heading west.

"Here's Smoothness that brings to mind Whiskeys Rocked in the Keg!"

SAYS OLD MR. BOSTON

When Captain Phinney finished a long voyage he noticed that the rolling motion of the sea gave his whiskey a fine smoothness, and that the light "set on the tongue."

After he returned, the wise old salt would just take a jug of whiskey to his rocker and drink it to his goodnes. "Rocked in the keg" he called it, and was that real whiskey -- was that real flavor!

My splendid rocking chair blend is most aptly named -- for its richness and mellow smoothness brings to mind the "rocked" whiskeys of old New England. To those who thought this superb, old-time flavor had been lost forever... Rocked Chair is a positive revelation. It has character, gentleness, reminiscence of old New England tradition!

OLD MR. BOSTON BRAND Rocking Chair BLENDED WHISKEY 90 PROOF

Controlled and even agitation in our process of blending, gentlemen--that's the secret of my "Rocking Chair" Blend! From my own distillery, I have produced this "Rocking Chair" as a forgotten flavor.

CONGRESS PUTS U. S. IN CENTER OF ARMAMENTS RACE

AMERICA'S WAR NAVY TO EQUAL BEST IN WORLD

By HOBART C. MONTEE

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—The 75th congress placed the United States in the center of the world's naval armament race with the greatest appropriations and authorizations for national defenses in America's peace-time history.

Authorizations and appropriations totaled more than $2,500,000,000 to make America's war fleets equal to any afloat and to provide an army and military and naval air corps capable of defending this country against attack from abroad.

Under President Roosevelt's emergency recommendations, congress authorized a new 10-year naval building program which at completion will give the United States the greatest fleet in its history.

Aroused by Breakdown

Aroused by general breakdown of international law, wholesale treaty violations and establishment of brute force as a dominant factor in world affairs, the 75th congress:

1. Appropriated $22,141,994 to build up and maintain U. S. naval forces in the 1939 fiscal year.
2. Appropriated $452,461,254 for land and air forces of the army.
3. Authorized expenditure of $1,187,000,000 for a 10-year program to increase U. S. war fleets by 20 per cent over existing treaty limitations for all categories except airplanes which would be increased by 50 per cent.

The regular naval appropriation bill, carrying $546,866,484, a new all-time high for peace times, provided funds for laying down 22 new warships and to continue construction of 72 already on the way. The 22 new vessels include two battleships, two light cruisers, eight destroyers, six submarines, a minesweeper, a submarine tender and an oiler and a fleet tug. This construction was authorized under the Vinson-Trammell act to give the United States a navy of "treaty" parity by 1942.

McDonald Ends Bridal Spree With Third Wife in Two Days

RENO, Nev., June 17 (AP)—James McDonald, III, 24, heir to $2,000,000, went into seclusion today with the woman who will become his third wife in two days.

Sometime today at Carson City, Nev., he will marry her—June C. Kerns of Caswell, Calif.—and that, he said, will end his two-day spree of marriage and divorce.

Within two hours yesterday, McDonald was divorced by one wife, married a second, was divorced by the second and announced his engagement to a third woman.

The reason for it all, he said, was that a year and four months ago, wife No. 2 had borne him a son out of wedlock—they were unable to marry at the time because he was still married to wife No. 1. Subsequently, his love for wife No. 2 waned before he had opportunity to marry her, but he went through the ceremony anyway to give the child a name. By the time he had divorced wife No. 1, he was ready for wife No. 3.

Married at 18

McDonald's fortune comes from an oil business in Idaho. He began his marriage career in 1922.

Sunday to be given by the male quartet of Northwest Christian college, Eugene, Ore. Dr. K. E. Burke, president of the college, will preside and give a short address especially for youth.

Each member of the quartet is a ministerial student at the college, and music will consist chiefly of Negro spirituals and classical selections, according to the Rev. Mr. Cronenberg.

The group is en route to the Idaho convention of the Disciples of Christ at Caldwell June 20-23. They have been touring the northwest, sponsoring programs.

FILER BOYS MAP 1939 EXHIBITS

Steers purchased this year by the Filer chapter of the Future Farmers of America will be fed and groomed for exhibition and sale at the San Francisco exposition show in 1939, reports Henry T. Schodde, agricultural instructor at Filer high school.

Every member of the chapter who entered exhibits in the recent fat stock show at Salt Lake City received prize money, said Schodde. The four boys who participated purchased their steers from Lloyd Barron, Partridge, August 20, 1937, and fed them on grain. The steers gained an average of two pounds per day from the date they were purchased until sold following the show at Salt Lake City, he said.

Junior Thomas of Filer exhibited the best steer in the heavyweight F. P. A. Angus division, and fourth and fifth place steers in the same class were exhibited by Ed Shaff and Harry Wilson. Gerald Pickett's entry placed tenth in the Hereford class.

Doctors Amputate Burley Boy's Arm

BURLEY, June 17 (Special)—Physicians said today they found it necessary to amputate the arm of Tommy McCarthy, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCarthy, as the result of serious injuries inflicted Wednesday afternoon when the boy fell from the seat of a truck, catching his hand between the vehicle's dual rear wheels.

The arm was mangled, and doctors said it had to be amputated just above the elbow. The boy also sustained a bruised body and a reported fractured ankle. The accident occurred at the Briggs ranch four miles east of Murtaugh.

Tommy had gone to the country to visit at the Howard Kleinkopf home. He had gone from there to the Briggs ranch and was riding with an employee of the ranch when he fell from the moving truck.

BEHIND THE SCENES in Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER (Idaho Evening Times Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Likelihood that the government will supply supplies of clothing for distribution to people who can't afford to pay for any, proposed by Sidney Hillman, reflects growing determination in Washington to provide "over-produced" necessities for those who lack them.

The plan originated by WPA officials for men's clothing would operate similarly to the federal surplus commodities corporation which will be rapidly expanded. The FSCC program, under which surplus food is bought for distribution to relief families, has cost $150,000,000 in five years.

Latest FSCC plan, as yet unannounced, calls for purchase of cotton to be made into quilts and bedding for needy families.

Recently increased distribution of milk for babies who now go without, is also being considered. Secretary Wallace, who believes families are assured adequate nourishment and clothing, stresses the importance of fruits, vegetables, poultry and dairy products.

All this is the exact opposite of the "austerity of the little pigs" which is in the air in Washington. Proposals for free distribution is to avoid displacement of any sales which might otherwise be made by the government. It is estimated that operating less than 40 per cent normal, and suffering from price controls, are an estimated one million small farmers and ranchmen over FSCC operations. Hillman, president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers and International at the White House, also designed his plan to benefit retailers as well as to restore employment in the clothing industry.

BIDDLE BACK AGAIN

Francis Biddle, the slender, quick-witted and industrious Philadelphia lawyer selected as counsel for the TVA investigating committee, was chosen almost unanimously after receiving the endorsement of the committee. Biddle is a native of Philadelphia and had telephoned Biddle and asked him to come to Washington.

Biddle's role as a mediator between the two sides of the same street, Congressman Tom Jenkins of Ohio, TVA critic, and the only vote Biddle, a lifelong liberal and once secretary to Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, admitted he had graduated from the University of Pennsylvania.

Biddle was "much of a lawyer," the latter impressed the committee. Chairman of the old national laundries and industries in Philadelphia, Biddle is known for his bravery, ability and willingness to express himself freely and frankly.

THE FACTS ABOUT IOWA

As Roosevelt invited Senator Gillette to lunch, certain previously concealed facts about the Iowa inquiry began to leak out. For instance, Jim Farley originally picked Congressman Otis Wearn to oppose Roosevelt as long as Wearn looked like a farmer, partly because he had money to finance his own campaign. Farley had expected to get Governor Krasch on Wearn's side and Roosevelt was cocksure he could make Secretary Wallace support Wearn. Both failed.

Farley pulled in his neck, neither he nor Roosevelt during the exposure of Wearn as being as Wearn. Indeed, The Hearst-Hughes statement for Wearn was partly designed to smoke Wallace out. That was Wearn's idea.

Jimmy Roosevelt went in with a left-handed endorsement of Wearn. At the same time, he was pushing out of a hole. Although Jimmy had had plans to go to Iowa for Wearn, explaining his doctor's recommendation, he had no intention of going to Iowa for Wearn.

Mr. Farley had made arrangements with Ed Dunn of Madison to go to do that and had planned to appear at the dinner. Whether Jimmy's doctor discovered more than a case of cold feet is not clear. Anyway, there are the facts.

This Man, Joe Murray

BY WILLIAM CORCORAN Copyright, 1938, by William Corcoran, NEA Service, Inc.

The small hand in his gave a convulsive start and gripped him hard in return. "You mean you'll marry me?"

"I think we're out of our heads. So we might as well get married."

"And there was a sudden quivering breathless radiance in the dusk beside him."

It was late when they arrived at her home. All was dark and quiet, and they entered the front room unannounced.

There was no sound; Joe breathing, Terry inscrutably. Terry lit the lamp, and then she extinguished the light, listening longer, for two was as raring as of a mighty... omni-phant surf on an endless ocean, it dropped out all the world... They were married in the parlor of the municipal building downtown by the city clerk at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Now do not think for a minute that disposes of Terry and Joe and my story about love. Marriage is an incident in life, and life goes on. It goes weaving and winding, deviously hiding and wantonly flaunting its always inscrutable purpose, undaunted even by death. Terrible and beautiful by its ease, spitting all plans and provisions, carrying all certainties, the very magnificence of life is its completely sublime disdain.

There was something wanted and disdained about this marriage of Joe and Terry. This inevitability was in it at all, but much chance and fortuity. Pre-arranged indeed in any marriage, but here was a marriage with no foreordained compulsion about it, with no fond benediction of families and friends, with nothing, practically speaking, but the intense persistence of Terry Malloy. And she was young, knowing neither life nor the world sufficient, where Joe knew both all too well.

It was a marriage sustained only by that small and intense persistence, and by it to stand or fall.

Terry told no one about their intentions when they met early and went downtown together. They got busy immediately afterwards and did not see each other for a four-room box for three streets up on a side street in their own neighborhood. Joe drew his money from the bank and Terry selected a bed, a table, utensils, furnishings. They bought with frugal care, having none too much money for their whole needs, and they bought right in the neighborhood, so that the things might be delivered and installed without the bother of long any proper meal time Terry prepared their first meal together that night in their own home.

Terry went about all that day in a kind of calm, bated entrance, full of wonder and joy and yet unquestioningly sure of herself. She had no experience to guide her, and was at no time daunted by the demands of the day. It was as if she selected the proper unfringed things and people out of an unwarring instinct. Terry possessed a rare directness of mind; she knew always without confusion what she most wanted and she got it, and she got it wholly and solely into the acquiring of it.

"I feel good," she told Joe spontaneously, "I feel good, I feel good, I feel good, I feel good, I feel good." She smiled that was their home. She smiled. "So good? Feel it? In here where my heart is? Do you feel something I do? Do you feel the sturdy, steady beating of her heart, and she smiled. He looked at her a long moment, while she browsed among the books in the home of the club at the Calneonian hotel Wednesday and with bridge at the Dupont home afterward. She made a quick sound without words, saying something inexpressible. That was all had been drifting, the last thing flower and life were in fullest flower. It flowered for Terry. But Joe there had had once before been a time that had, and then there had been a bright, no second blooming came. There was a survival and a continuity, similar to that of the arid journeyed tumbleweed drifting on its vagrant insupportable journey before the winds that prevail, but there was no flower, no color, no perfume of life.

He had committed his love to this small one whom it made so happy. He lied, knowing so. He accepted this, deliberately. Last night when he had gone home and to bed, there was a long howl when sleep would not come, but instead a relentless parade of life. Against his will, and despite his will, he had kept a bleak rendezvous with a figure poignant and accusing and more colorful than facework.

The Seasonal Bonanza

One of America's biggest industries is a thing which is seldom looked on as an industry at all. It is the business of supplying, feeding and bedding the summer automobile tourist as he wanders up and down the country.

This summer, according to estimates prepared by the American Petroleum Institute, the motor tourist is going to spend rather more than $4,000,000,000—which is big money, any way you look at it, especially in a time of deep economic depression.

Some of this money is going to go for new clothes, the beach pajamas, the fishing outfits and the golf clubs which the motorist and his wife take along with them when they go touring. Some of it will go for food, hot dogs, pop and what-not along the way. Some of it will go for sleeping quarters, some of it for camping privileges, and some of it for fees at golf courses, bathing beaches and so on.

Anyway, it all adds up to a huge sum, and indicates that we have turned the summer vacation into the biggest kind of big business.

One interesting fact about this huge expenditure is that until recently a good slice of the sum was going to Europe instead of being spent at home. Beginning about 1931, when the depression began to make itself felt in a really painful way, tourist travel from the United States to Europe fell off; but at the same time vacation travel within the United States began to increase, and it has been going up ever since.

More interesting than that, however, is the fact that this tourist trade has been a life-saver, economically, for thousands upon thousands of individuals.

For a great part of this $4,000,000,000 goes, not to establish big-business agencies, but to little fellows who saw their chance and took it—proprietors of roadside stands, home-owners who set aside a couple of rooms for tourists' use, canny farmers who turned a pleasant strip of river or lake frontage into a tourist camp, people who started a restaurant or filling station on a shoe string.

In a very real way, this vast vacation spending spree has cushioned the depression. It has given many and many a family the chance to start a little business; it has brought to many more enough of an added income to tide over the depression period.

And so, when you wheel the old bus out of the garage this summer and start your little trip, you can comfort yourself with the thought that you are at least a corporal of big industry, if not a regular captain.

Be Kind to Animals

All the civilian populations that suffer in a war are not in the areas of battle. Take newspaper readers—as far removed from the scene, say, as the United States is from Spain.

The bare casualty figures encountered in the headlines every day have their own frightfulness, but there is another kind of reading that inflicts a special torture not so much on the heart as on the stomach.

A recent dispatch from Saragossa serves as a case in point. It concerned a touching incident involving an insurgent officer and a loyalist machine gun crew. The story told how the insurgents wiped the gun crew off the face of the earth and then discovered a large dog standing bravely by the silenced gun, growling defiance.

An officer who liked animals forbade his men to shoot the dog, so it had to be driven away with sticks and stones while the insurgents took the position. But the dog came back again, whimpering this time, and it was found to be wounded. The men tenderly dressed the wounds, made friends with the dog, and wound up by adopting it as a mascot.

How touching! What a prince that officer was! How noble of the men to confine their slaughter to their brothers! How reminiscent the story is of some of the pap that used to come out of the propaganda machines in 1917! How senseless, how twisted, how revolting!

Much has been made of a new machine that unscrambles eggs, but at Alcatraz they manage to soft-boil hard ones.

Finnland may require licenses of pedestrians. Pretty soon a man will have to have a license to get into the accident ward.

Some people have a lot of what it takes, but the men who stole two tons of brass from New York's new jail already had a lot of what they took.

Some election officials recently found that a dead man was running for a public office. Now why doesn't somebody check over a few of the ones that are already in?

The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

Most people know about vitamins A, B, C and D. They are the fat-soluble vitamins. They are given to small children regularly because of their influence on growth. They are also very important in the life of the adult.

It is found largely in yeast, B is in the anti-pericarditis and anti-angina vitamins. They have a strong influence on digestion and appetite.

Vitamin E is one of the most recently discovered. It has been found that it was proved that on diets which were otherwise complete but which lacked this new factor, rats could not reproduce, although they appeared to be normal in other respects. The new factor was soluble in fat. If the diet of rats did not include the minimum amount of this factor, the males would become sterile through degeneration of the tissues of the reproductive system, and the females would be unable to carry their young to the time of birth.

Extensive studies have been made upon this vitamin, applying them mostly to animals, because apparently the human being is seldom deficient in vitamin E.

Nevertheless, all sorts of studies of this vitamin have been made on human beings with a view to finding out whether there is any real necessity for the human diet beyond the amount usually taken.

Many different causes and conditions exist which may be responsible for failure in the human being to reproduce. Apparently the most important factor is directly concerned with only one phase of the process of reproduction, in the female namely, the normal ovulation of the prospective offspring.

In the male, vitamin E is apparently concerned with just one element, that is, the normal function of the reproductive cells, since vitamin E is found particularly profuse in wheat germ oil, which has been found to be rich in vitamin E. In fact, when vitamin E has involved the use of that substance.

There are some women who seem to be fertile, but who are infertile to children even though the birth process is begun—because the child does not mature. Several investigators have found the wheat germ oil in cases of women of this type and have reported excellent results.

Nevertheless, a small number of cases involved is still in the lower hundreds, and that is hardly enough observations in the light of the numbers of children who are involved to say with certainty that vitamin E is really valuable in cases of abnormal human reproduction. It is, however, certainly worth being considered or planned as a supplement.

As to I should point out that vitamin E is widely distributed

MONOPOLY PROBE HEADS SUMMER'S INVESTIGATIONS

O'MAHONEY, KING, BORAH NAMED ON U. S. COMMITTEE

By FRANK McNAUGHTON
WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—A legislative-departmental investigation of monopolies today headed a series of intense and spectacular investigations which will be made before the 76th congress convenes next January.

President Roosevelt signed the resolution for the monopoly investigation shortly before congress adjourned yesterday.

Armed with a $500,000 fund, of which the President will control $400,000, a 12-man committee representing both the executive and legislative departments will study business, the asserted inability of the Sherman and Clayton anti-trust acts to cope with concentration of business and wealth, and draft a comprehensive legislative program for presentation next January.

Immediately after Mr. Roosevelt had signed the resolution, Vice President John Nance Garner named Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney, D., Wyo., author of the resolution; Sen. William H. King, D., Utah, and Sen. William E. Borah, R., Idaho, as Senate members of the committee.

O'Mahoney will head the inquiry. Two Democratic members and one Republican from each house will represent congress, and representatives of the treasury, justice, commerce and labor departments, the securities and exchange commission, and federal trade commission will complete the membership.

Assistant Attorney General Thurman W. Arnold, head of the anti-trust division, and Solicitor General Robert S. Jackson will aid the inquiry. Both contend the old laws are inadequate and that a new regulation of business must be devised.

The Tennessee valley authority may be revised after a 10-man joint congressional committee completes an investigation of it.

Former TVA Chairman Arthur E. Morgan, ousted by the President, and Directors David Lillenthal and Harcourt A. Morgan had charges of mismanagement, hypocrisy, concealment and obstruction at each other in the committee's initial hearings.

Biddle Hired
The committee hired as counsel Francis Biddle of Philadelphia, New Deal lawyer and former head of the national labor relations board. Then it announced that this summer it will "go to the bottom" of the TVA controversy.

Private utilities also will be investigated in connection with charges they sought to hamper TVA and hamstring it by court fights. The committee has $150,000 to finance the inquiry.

The senate civil liberties committee, headed by Sen. Robert M. La Follette, R., Wis., plans an inquiry into the situation in Jersey City, N. J., where Mayor Frank Hague has been accused of suppressing the

Congress Starts New Economic Experiment

WASHINGTON, June 17 (AP)—The 75th congress launched the nation on a new economic experiment in labor standards expected to evoke memories of the invalidated NRA.

The latest New Deal industrial venture was inspired by passage after months of bitter dispute of a labor standards bill establishing for the first time in U. S. history a flat national minimum wage and maximum work week applying to all industry in interstate commerce.

Affects Workers
The number of workers actually to be affected by the measure was uncertain. Estimates ranged from a low of 500,000 to between 1,500,000 and 2,000,000.

Court test of constitutionality of the legislation was believed virtual by certain.

The bill is not effective until 120 days after passage, a period of delay designed to allow machinery to be set up to administer the measure.

Standards Increase
While first year standards of 25 cents an hour and 44 hours a week are set by the measure, higher standards may be fixed by the administrator. In no case, however, may lower standards be fixed. Minimums for the second year are 30 cents and 42 hours. By the end of seven years standards of 40 cents and 40 hours are to be reached.

The measure provides substantial exemptions. It does not affect purely local businesses. It does not lower the work week of industries working longer than minimum hours if these hours are fixed by union agreement.

Exemptions Listed
It specifically exempts from its provisions outside salesmen, fishermen, farm workers, workers on weekly or semi-weekly newspapers with circulation of less than 3,000, employees of street railway and bus companies, highway carriers under jurisdiction, air transport workers, interstate commerce commission railroad workers and employees of farm processing plants.

Thankful for Gas
SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (AP)—Sixty-three-year-old Milton Warn decided against drowning because of "too much trouble" in finding his body, so he committed suicide by gas, leaving a note thanking the New York Power & Light corporation for its "donation."

Lobby Probe
Sen. Sherman Minton, D., Ind., will continue his investigation of lobbies.

Other committees will study the problem of conserving the nation's forests, and phosphate resources.

Activities of Nazis, Fascists and other groups propagandizing un-American ideologies will be investigated by a seven-man house committee headed by conservative Rep. Martin Dies, D., Texas.

NAZI ANTI-JEW DRIVE EXPECTED

BERLIN, June 17 (AP)—Foreign embassies and legations, fearing that interests of their nationals might be involved, watched closely today a series of developments which indicated that Nazi Germany was embarked on a big scale anti-Jewish drive.

Every aspect of Jewish life was now involved in a campaign conducted by ordinary police, uniformed storm troopers, and Nazis in civilian garb, which brought new terrors to the Jewish population and new concern to foreign interests.

Anxiety Increased
Anxiety over the Jewish situation was increased by the new problem of Austrian foreign debts as the result of a speech by Walter Funk, economics minister, repudiating German responsibility for payment.

Foreign concern centered: (1) in the recent decree compelling Jews, German and foreign, to register all their holdings in excess of 5,000 marks (82,000); (2) a decree yesterday ordering a special register of Jewish firms and authorizing the economics minister to prescribe that all Jewish shops should be identified as such; (3) the problem of debts owed by Austria at the time of its absorption by Germany.

Similar to 1933
But to Jews themselves, the campaign took on more and more the aspect of that which followed the Nazi accession in 1933.

Police and uniformed Nazi storm troopers made raids in the central Berlin area, on cafes, restaurants, and movie theaters.

Nazi storm troopers continued to visit movie theaters and warn Jewish patrons to get out and not return. It was rumored without confirmation that "Ghetto movies" might be established for Jews.

Rose Motif Featured At Birthday Breakfast

Rosebuds, the symbol which the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic has popularized nationally as the official flower for Father's day, formed the central theme for the annual birthday party today at the home of Mrs. J. N. Clyde, 636 Main avenue north, arranged by Dan McCook editor of the honor members of the organization who are 65 years of age or older.

The occasion afforded the honor guests the opportunity to each in an interesting reminiscence of bygone days, and its proximity to Flag day made it an appropriate time for the origin, significance and history of the flag.

A sumptuously appointed breakfast for the honorees was served at 11 o'clock on a round table, decorated with a floral bouquet of roses. Lollypops elaborately coated as old-fashioned ladies, the honorees were seated at the table with their guests. Those who were unable to be present were remembered by the presentation of the roses and the room.

A party given by veteran, instead of a fluffy lady, was at the place of Belahel Zast. The program consisted of the reading of the Declaration of Independence, and a song by Mrs. Sarah McDoole, who will be 81 tomorrow, was the oldest woman guest present. The breakfast was also arranged in honor of Mrs. Laura Whitney, Mrs. Ida Sweet, Mrs. Mary Petty-John, Mrs. Ida Mead, Mrs. John Bates, Mrs. Lory Stricker, Mrs. Nana Shields, Mrs. Kate Webb and Mrs. Jessie Yochem.

Members of the circle joined the honor guests in the afternoon for a social meeting and patriotic program. Mrs. W. J. Johnson, president of the circle, was presiding officer.

Mrs. Clyde, Mrs. Martha Smith and Mrs. L. M. Lusk arranged the breakfast. The committee arranging the afternoon's entertainment included Mrs. Myrtle Johnson, Mrs. Pearl Riley, Mrs. Olive Jones, Mrs. Foye Steadman, Mrs. W. L. Johnson and Mrs. W. A. Faloon, who was unable to attend. Mrs. Faloon is convalescing from a recent automobile accident.

Refreshments were served during a social hour which followed the program.

The division followed a prettily appointed no-hostess luncheon. Guests were seated at small tables, decorated with summer bouquets. The rooms were also artistically trimmed with garden flowers.

Miss Loren Fuller played two piano solos and Miss Martha Aubrey gave a reading.

UNIT OFFERS CLASSES FOR MOTHERS
Twin Falls mothers will be offered a course in prenatal care in the immediate future, classes to be held in the L. D. S. church, Miss Edna Purnette of the county health unit announced at a meeting of the second ward Relief society yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Roy Perkins conducted the meeting; Mrs. L. O. Kirkman directed a social service lesson on prenatal care, and a song practice concluded the afternoon's program.

Plans were completed for the annual mother-daughter pot-luck luncheon to be held next Thursday at 1:30 o'clock at the church.

CLUB MEETS FOR EVENING OF CONFRAT
Mrs. Paul Detweiler was hostess to the M. O. club at her home last evening. At bridge Mrs. Waller Dix and Mrs. Claude Detweiler won the prizes.

Mrs. Darling presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. W. A. Fox. Refreshments were served during a social hour.

FINANCIAL DIVISION OF M. E. AID SOCIETY

Leader Analyzes Recreation Aims

Comprehensive analysis of the recreation problem locally, and sound recommendations for its solution, were offered by Miss Anna Sweeley in an address to members of the Presbyterian Missionary society yesterday afternoon in the church parlors.

Miss Sweeley, physical education director for girls in the Moscow junior and senior high schools, was city recreational director here two years ago, and acted in a similar capacity last summer at Borley.

Emphasis should be placed on the dramatic and musical sides of recreation, with facilities provided in the new recreation center for the development of a community orchestra or chorus, and "Little Theater" groups, Miss Sweeley suggested.

She also recommended supervised dancing in the gymnasium of the school, and praxed the work done in present in sports and handicraft. She pointed out that activities sponsored by the WPA and NYA are for all to enjoy, not just the unemployed and poor.

She urged support of the bill which it is hoped will be brought before the next state legislature to enable cities to levy a tax for recreational needs, and pointed out that Twin Falls could obtain such funds only by taking them from the park fund.

Mrs. C. M. Hall, program chairman, introduced Miss Sweeley, Miss Mary Ellen Groves played two piano solos and Miss Helen Moffitt and Mrs. LaVerne Kniffitt sang two duets, accompanied by Mrs. Guy Shearer. Mrs. J. A. Dygert introduced the musical numbers.

Mrs. E. Bacliff presided over the business session in the absence of Mrs. F. P. Bracken, president. Mrs. Charles Burt conducted the devotional, and Mrs. Jessie Smith called the roll, members responding with names of missionaries. Mrs. M. Simpson and Mrs. H. Schande, hostesses, served refreshments.

Old Church Ready for Roosevelt Wedding

Quaint and simple is the old Nahant Union church

Rev. Dr. Peabody

The Union church has no middle aisle

Tuning up the pump organ

Excitement over the most important social event in years will reign in the ancient town of Nahant, Mass., June 18 when the more than century-old vine-clad Union church, shown at left, above, will be the scene of the wedding of John Roosevelt, son of the President, and Anne Lindsay Clark. Approaching the simple altar, shown in the interior view at bottom, left, the bride party will have to veer far to the left or right, as the quaint old structure has no "middle aisle"; the wedding march will be played on the old-fashioned pump organ, shown at bottom, right, being tuned up for the occasion. At right, above, is Rev. Dr. Endicott Peabody, of Groton, Mass., who will officiate, as he did at last year's marriage of John's brother, Franklin, Jr., and Ethel du Pont.

KIMBERLY GETS NEW INSTRUCTOR

KIMBERLY, June 17 (Special)—Robert Miller, a graduate of Jerome high school and the University of Idaho in 1927, today had taken over his new duties as Smith-Hughes instructor in Kimberly and president of the high school, according to Supt. L. A. Thomas.

Miller succeeds Gordon Winn, Colorado instructor, who resigned to accept a post in his home state after a half year at the local institution. During the past year Miller has taught farm shop and freemason agriculture at Madison county high school in Reclary.

Miller established a fine record at the International Junior livestock show at Salt Lake recently when one of his boys took third place in the fat steer division there. He plans to encourage feeding and showing of fat stocks.

Wedding to Link Princess of Ancient Egypt with Iran's New Royal Dynasty

By MILTON BRONNER (NEA Service)
LONDON—When pretty, 11-year-old Princess Fawzieh, sister of King Farouk of Egypt, wed the 19-year-old Crown Prince Mohammed Reza of Iran, she will acquire a father-in-law who is "one of the most advanced rulers in a class with Stalin, Hitler, Mussolini and Kemal Ataturk." Reza Sha Pahlavi rules Iran with an iron hand—the "iron hand" has until the dynasty of the two big Moslems swept it away.

It will be another chapter in the wonder story of the Shah. There used to be a legend that the present Shah started out his life as a humble soldier, once actually doing duty as a sentry at the palace where he now sits as sovereign. This legend the folk of Iran deny. They say he was the son of a small land-owner in northern Persia. In those days Persia—later to be called Iran—had only nominal independence. Two great grabbing powers—Britain and Russia—agreed between themselves upon "spheres of influence." Britain took southern Iran and Persia took northern Iran. The fall of the Shah in 1917 gave a splendid vision to Lord Curzon, a former Viceroy of India and then Foreign Minister of Britain. Here was a chance to make all Persia a British dependency, a sort of frontier province of India.

Seventy-five members and guests attended the affair. The luncheon was held at the club house and presented with programs and menu booklets designed in black and white and bearing a photograph of the club house and given a rose as they entered the room.
The most unusual feature of the event was the cleverly designed table decorations carried out in a fairyland theme from the story of Snowwhite and the Seven Dwarfs. Miniature characters from the story were made from colored paper and were placed around the center of the table. Small mirrors, lily pools and bowls of roses completed the decorations. The figures were designed by Mrs. E. L. Turner and Mrs. Virginia Icard. Large baskets of roses were set in attractive arrangement about the room.

Pumping Districts Plan Weed Removal

JEROME, June 17 (Special)—The board of directors of the Jerome pumping company decided at its last meeting to make a weed district of pumping plants No. 4 and No. 5 which are located just north and east of Jerome. It was decided that there would be a weed establishment the latter part of this month so that the weed commissioners of Jerome county and the settlers on these two pumping plants can work in conjunction to clean up all weeds. These two pumping plants will actively engage in a program of extermination for the various types of noxious weeds in that district.
It is important that this be done because the lands lie above the gravity system and naturally feed into it. The board of directors feels this work should be done not simply to help the weed situation on these two pumping plants, but to avoid spread into the gravity plants below.

CLEVELAND INDIANS BREAK LOSING STREAK

Star-Studded Field Starts Competition in NCAA Meet

Bob Feller Wins 7th Victory as Hemsley Returns to Catching

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
New York, June 17 (U.P.)—The Cleveland Indians, their worst slump of the season broken, dug in today in an attempt to beat back the challenge of the New York Yankees in the American league.

With only half a game margin over the Yanks, Cleveland won its second straight game yesterday by defeating Washington, 4-1. Prior to this two-game streak the Indians had dropped five in a row as the Yanks moved up with a rush. But things are looking up for the Indians with Rolfe and Hemsley back on the job to catch Bob Feller. Hemsley, out for three weeks with a broken finger, returned to action yesterday and Feller went for his first victory since May 30. Feller allowed eight scattered hits, fanned seven and walked four. It was his seventh triumph.

Yanks Keep Abrast
The Yanks kept abreast of the Indians by winning their sixth straight, 4-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox. Monte Pearson allowed only one hit in 3-1 innings but was relieved when he walked four men and made a wild throw. Bump Hadley finished the game and did not allow a hit. Lou Gehrig hit homer No. 9.

A GAME GUY WITH A GREAT GAME

Schmeling Howls Loudly at New Long-Thumb Louis Fight Gloves

By HENRY McEMORE
SPECTATOR, N. Y., June 17 (U.P.)—The human thumb, heretofore considered important only to little Jack Horner, high-hikers, and baseball smutlers, today threatened to become the paramount issue in the world's heavyweight championship fight between Max Schmeling and Joe Louis.

The thumb, an unattractive and unimpaired appendage at best, rose from obscurity to prominence yesterday when Schmeling suspected the boxing gloves which Joe Louis planned to use in defense of his title in Yankee stadium Wednesday night.

The gloves were brought to Schmeling's camp by Tom Emory, brother of Jim and a deputy inspector of the New York boxing commission. The German had no more than slipped his hands into the gloves than he started a storm of protest that all but brought white phosphorus to the surface of his Cucciolle bungalow.

"Look at the thumb! Look at the thumb!" he cried in English which is an understatement to the effect that went to the wall to often.

All the thumb remonstrances in the room rushed forward as one man (which is the way they should have rushed forward, being as there was only one) and studied the thumb.

They were of abnormal length and when Schmeling doubled up his fist the thumbs protruded fully an inch beyond the knuckle surface.

"Dot is not dot. Dot has not changed, I vent stand for dot," Max yelled.

To those familiar with the unnamable practices of the manly art, Schmeling did not have to explain his fear of the long and slender thumb. Since man has been fighting with his fists there have been those gladiators who, intentionally or otherwise, poked their thumbs into the eyes of their opponents.

Schmeling will make a determined stand for gloves of the same design he has used in all his fights in this country; a glove whose thumb folds snugly against the clenched fingers and provides a smooth, unbroken hitting surface. Max would not listen to these boxing writers who pointed out (and naturally, too) that Louis has an abnormal set of thumbs. The challenger seemed to take this as a personal affront to his own thumbs and, holding them proudly in the air, boasted that they were just as long as the thumbs of any man who ever lived.

Gun Found Buried in Johnston's Basement

Wintehler was asked by Attorney Dunn for the defense. "The chief told us to pick him up as he entered the door," Wintehler answered.

Wintehler then admitted that he and Marvin Bond, another officer, searched LaVonde's room the same morning. He pointed out that LaVonde's trunks and suit cases were packed.

He said that he found nothing which might be evidence in the case with the exception of a ring which appeared to be the same as the one which Wintehler had admitted that "no one has made any claim of ownership to the ring."

Next witness called was Patrolman Craig Bracken who said that he first entered the basement of the Johnston Jewelry store on June 4 at 4 a. m. He again entered at 4 a. m. on the morning of June 2 and remained until 9:15 a. m.

During this period, he said, Johnston came down to the basement at about 9 p. m. with a box of what appeared to be rubber. He took it to the furnace and on his way back "sped and studied a break in the concrete wall. He then went back upstairs after turning out all the lights."

Takes Johnston to Cell Bracken then said he moved to another location and in a very few minutes Johnston returned to the basement, once more turning on the lights. This time, Bracken said, Johnston stood for a few moments and studied a spot of water on the floor. He then turned around and said "I'm going home."

Regarding the identification of Olson, Williams said "I immediately noticed the feet." "What did they look like?" Both Olson because of an operation on the right side of the stomach and also because the "big toenails" were square at the ends.

Wintehler testified that he was called by Johnston on the morning of June 24, 1938. He was accompanied by Sherman Wright, radio engineer of KTFP, and Chief of Police Gillette.

British Believe Curtain of Steel Will Halt Bombers

RESIDENTS PLAN TO QUIT LONDON AS PLANES RAID

By WEBB MILLER

(Copyright 1938, United Press)
LONDON, June 17 (Special)—London's fantastic "curtain of steel" five miles above the metropolis to ward off enemy aircraft has been tried out and authorities believe that it will be effective.

The balloon barrier was demonstrated successfully in a 40-mile raid, but only 12 of the projected 400 balloons were used.

The government has called for 6,000 volunteers to man the sausage balloons which are expected to rise above 25,000 feet, trailing steel cables which would entangle any airplane flying below the steel apron. Hundreds of volunteers have enrolled in the balloon corps.

Would Keep Enemy High
Proponents of the balloon barrier assert that the steel curtain will keep the enemy so high that he will be unable to bomb accurately, but he will still be within range of anti-aircraft guns and fighting planes.

The government has developed a 37 millimeter anti-aircraft gun which it is claimed is remarkably effective to an altitude of more than 35,000 feet. Hundreds of the guns will be placed in the London area.

In addition to active defense, passive defense plans have been announced. Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary, recently estimated that trench systems and dugouts to be built in the parks could shelter 1,250,000 to 1,500,000 persons. He reported that 32,000,000 sandbags have been accumulated and 275,000,000 bricks.

Thousands of residents owning gardens have been building their own trenches, on advice of the government that a narrow trench in their back protection against explosive bombs.

Excavation Res
The government has formulated plans to move the governmental machinery from Whitehall to a safe place, but details have been kept secret.

The home office announced recently that the railroads have estimated they could carry 3,500,000 persons from London within 72 hours without interfering with mobilization or food transport. The London county council has been considering means of closing 1,200 schools and evacuate the pupils.

It was announced that the signal to take cover in an air raid will be a siren of "two minutes duration consisting of a fluctuating or warring sound of varying pitch, or intermittent blast of siren, or the 'all clear' signal after a raid will be by hand rattles, hand bells or police whistles.
