WALTON'S BILLION-DOLLAR PLANNING DELVE EXPERTS' OUTLINE POTATO MARKETING SET-UP HERE

FARMERS ATTEND LOCAL SESSIONS ON U. S. PROGRAM

Department of agriculture officials cleaned up preliminary questions of Twin Falls county potato growers this morning before starting this afternoon to obtain testimony of growers on specific problems encountered in this territory, announced G. Osmond Hyde of the legal division of the department at Washington, D. C., who is presiding over the hearing on the proposed potato marketing agreement at the American Legion hall. More than 60 growers were in attendance this morning.

Washington officials who are conducting the hearing include John T. Harding, agricultural economist; Dr. Albert Meyers, marketing specialist; and J. W. Barber of Pocatello and Ezra T. Benson of Boise, extension economist.

The 1933 AAA bill "The marketing provisions we are discussing here today were included in the first AAA bill passed in 1932. In the declassified unconstitutional parts of the 1933 bill have been declared unconstitutional by the United States supreme court. It is believed that the high tribunal will declare the marketing provisions unconstitutional."

The marketing provisions of the original AAA measure have been upheld by 15 federal district courts, declared Harding.

Harding has previously aided in conducting hearings similar to the one in Twin Falls in Denver, Idaho Falls, Scottsbluff, Neb., and Salt Lake City. Dr. Meyer has assisted at hearings at Caydon, Stanton and Lapeer, Mich.

Both sides say no serious opposition has been given the proposed marketing agreement, although growers have suggested minor changes in some of its provisions.

The hearing, one of two conducted in Idaho, is for the explicit purpose of gathering information on special problems facing growers in various parts of the country. Data gathered at all of the hearings is compiled in Washington and necessary changes in the agreement are made to comply with the needs of the majority of growers.

The agreement which has been discussed at hearings in every potato-growing region in the United States, and has been approved by the federal government, will be voted on by growers in a referendum about the third week in July.

At this morning's session, growers who were sworn in to offer testimony were M. W. Hunt, Hual, W. G. (Bill) DeWetter, New Jerusalem, W. Graham, Twin Falls. One woman, Miss Jennie Hahn of Twin Falls, attended the session.

Members of the Hunsford family stated the afternoon session was a discussion of definitions of terms used in the marketing agreement, and they started on a (Continued on Page 3, Column 5)

Walt Disney Given Yale's Arts' Degree

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 22 (AP)—Yale bestowed an honorary degree of master of arts today upon Walter Elias Disney, the creator of Mickey Mouse.

Prof. William Lyon Phelps presented Disney, traditionally robed with gown and mortar-board, for admittance to "arts" rights and privileges" of the sons of Eli.

"His work has the elements of a great romantic art, the beautiful, the fantastic, the grotesque, all combining in irresistible and ineffable charm," Phelps said.

"The creature of his fancy have definite personalities."

"He has proved that popular prose can be paradoxical—for he labored like a mountain and brought forth a mouse. With this mouse he conquered the whole world."

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., June 22 (AP)—Gov. Elmer A. Benson ran up a lead of more than 6,000 votes today in the gubernatorial contest of Minnesota's Farmer-Labor party.

With less than 600 small and scattered precincts of the state's total of 3,739 remaining to be counted, it appeared certain that he had defeated Hjalmar Petersen, a former governor, for the nomination.

The totals from 3,153 precincts tabulated by the United Press were: Benson 185,838; Petersen 179,254; Benson's majority 6,574.

The Benson margin was expected to be increased even more since a large block of votes in St. Louis county, labor stronghold, was still to be reported. In that county the governor has a lead of two to one ahead of Petersen.

Harold E. Stanson of South St. Paul, was an easy winner in the Republican gubernatorial contest. With 3,653 precincts reported, he held an advantage of more than 40,000 votes over his nearest opponent, Martin A. Nelson of Austin.

EDMONTON, Alberta, June 22 (AP)—Great forest fires, the worst in the history of the province, raged on 14 different fronts today. Fire fighters, trained and volunteer, were recruited from scores of towns in what appeared a futile effort to stop the spread of the flames.

The great pall of smoke blacked out the sky for hundreds of miles. It drifted as far south as Butte, N. Dak., and as far west as Vancouver, B. C., because of poor visibility.

The two great summer phyrgones at Hault and Jasper in the weather bureau reports said rain was not likely. No rain has fallen in weeks and the entire area north of Grand Prairie, where the fires were started, is without stands of virgin timber, was dry.

The forestry officials said the damage to stands timber was incalculable and that the burning of the fire started several days ago.

First "Close-ups" of Train Disaster

Here's the tangled mass of wreckage which rescue crews faced after the tragic crash of the "Olympian" de luxe passenger train which plunged through a bridge near Miles City, Mont. This picture shows members of the wrecking crew testing a line to a crane that is clearing away part of the wreckage. The cranes were used also to lift partially submerged cars from the aisle of Custer creek in order that the bodies of the more than two score victims might be recovered.

LOUIS, SCHEMLING SET FOR BATTLE

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—Champion Joe Louis, betting favorite, held a five and three-quarter pound advantage over challenger Max Schmeling of Germany today when they were examined for tonight's 15-round "heavyweight" title fight at Yankee stadium.

Louis, weighed 193 1/2 pounds; Schmeling 193.

Despite cloudy, oppressive weather and a forecast of "possible showers" between sundown and midnight, promoter Tex Rickard never smiled and did not speak to anyone, not even to the man who battered him to the canvas at Yankee stadium two years ago.

Schmelming, Weight Surprise For their last fight, Louis scaled 199 and Schmeling 192. Schmeling's weight today was a surprise. He had been expected to weigh at least 200.

Jacobus, asked how the fight was going, smiled happily and said the advance was "just a wee bit short of the mark. The indications were that there would have to be some heavy hitting in the next few hours to make it the sixth million-dollar fight in history."

ESPIONAGE RING MEMBERS ENTER NOT GUILTY PLEA

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—Four accused spies, indicted by a federal grand jury as members of a German espionage ring that obtained United States military secrets, pleaded not guilty in a federal court today and were continued in bail of $25,000 each.

Judge Vincent LeBlath issued bench warrants for the 14 officers named in the indictment, which charged members of the German government with actively directing spies in this country.

Issuance of the warrants was only a gesture, for 13 of those indicted apparently are in Germany and safe from extradition, and the other, Mrs. Jessie Wallace Jordan, is serving a sentence as a spy in Britain.

That she is in the cage when the animals are admitted and it still in the cage after they have left.

That book tells the real story, she said. "It is not fiction and everything printed in it can be proved by facts. In reality it is the story of my life."

FIND REKINDLES TEXAS MYSTERY

ROSBERTO, Tex., June 22 (AP)—A skeleton found in the Arroyo Colorado was examined today by officials who believed it might be that of John or Luther Blanton, who disappeared more than a year ago while hunting on the King ranch near Raymondville.

Members of the Blanton family said today that they would come here today to view the skeleton and clothing found with it.

It was reported that a knife found near the skeleton had the initials "J" on the handle.

Father Blanton and his son, John, disappeared Nov. 18, 1936. They left home to hunt ducks, climbed through the fence surrounding the hidden game preserves of the vast King ranch, and never were seen again.

Roman Catholics to Attend Opening Mass

COVING, June 22 (AP) Nearly 15,000 Roman Catholics, it was estimated today, will attend the opening mass tomorrow of the national eucharistic congress.

Salvage Men Remove Train Wreck Debris

MILES CITY, Mont., June 22 (AP)—The death toll of the wreck of the unsentimental limited "Olympian" stood at 44 today as salvage crews continued to remove broken coaches from the bed of Custer creek, 26 miles east of here.

Forty-three bodies had been recovered. The body of one man known to have perished still was missing.

Six of the victims were taken from the sill-filled interior of a sleeping car. Two more bodies were recovered at Fallon, 2 1/2 miles down the turbulent Custer creek. Another was found still farther away, at Glendive, 50 miles down stream.

By swift and strong was the current of Custer creek that one body was carried 100 miles from the scene of the wreck and was recovered at Sidney.

Construction Dam

Where on the night of the wreck Custer had been a raging torrent as deep as a Pullman car, today it ran at a depth of eight inches. But thousands of tons of silt had been moved, banks had been torn away, and the deeper silt untraced settled deeper.

Crews constructed a dam above the submerged sleeper and three large pumps started circulating water from the creek bottom.

Officials said they believed there were at least 14 more bodies in a submerged sleeper which is to be raised from the creek bed as soon as equipment strong enough is set up. A 100-foot high crane was being prepared today for the work.

A concrete jay and falls to fix bridge for the sleeper, one of the worst in American railroad annals.

Clayton Hill

Resplending through the night only Monday, the deluge thinned of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad rolled out on the freight across Custer creek in the summer a listless animal delving through the old name county of eastern Montana. The freight had been covered shortly before by a track walker and was in good shape. But soon after the inspection a tremendous rainstorm occurred.

HOPE GAINS GROUND FOR TRUCE IN SPAIN CIVIL WAR

CONFLICT'S END WITH AGREEMENT IS LEADER'S AIM

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN
LONDON, June 22 (AP)—Hope that a truce might be effected in the Spanish civil war within a comparatively short time is gaining ground in responsible quarters here, it was learned today.

A most reliable source said that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain intended in his speech in the house of commons yesterday to disclose to the world in general outline, secret moves to promote peace in Spain, but that he was dissuaded at the last moment.

Path Appears Smooth—Chamberlain was urged—by France according to usually reliable informants—to omit references to the possibilities of peace. He agreed, it was added, accepting the suggestion that it would be undesirable at present to spread the idea that the path toward peace appeared smooth.

Nevertheless, it was said, Chamberlain is most hopeful of ultimate success in his aim of ending the war by agreement. It was emphasized that he did not hope for immediate peace, but for a truce.

A reliable diplomatic source said that tentative peace feelers had been made recently by both loyalist and nationalist, not by leaders but by moderators who speak more readily for war-weary masses of Spaniards.

Drops Withdrawal—Agreement has been reached in principle on removing foreign "volunteers" from Spain. But it is predicted that the actual withdrawal, even to a diplomatic "freeze" in the war by agreement, might not be effected until next fall and Chamberlain does not want to wait that long for peace efforts.

The government hopes soon to negotiate agreements on the last two points of its Spanish war policy—the degree of belligerent rights to be accorded the nationalists and payment of perhaps $7,500,000 which it will cost to evacuate "volunteers."

HOW A SMART YOUNG COUPLE SAVED ON THEIR "PARTY" BUDGET

They knew the good things of life, and liked them. So did their friends. That made the cost of entertaining a little high.

So they looked around for a solution. How about whiskey, for one item? Is there one of a quality they could afford to serve, at a price they could afford to pay?

They found what they wanted in Crab Orchard. A straight whiskey, of course—Kentucky straight bourbon, made the quality way. Mild-mellow—two years in charred staves of white oak. Clear-sparkling—lively with "head."

You'll like what they chose. You ought to try Crab Orchard. It's easy on your purse as on your palate.

NEW TESTIMONY ASKED IN CASE

W. L. Dunn, defense attorney for William LaVonde, today had made application for appointment of a magistrate to preside at a conditional examination of Mrs. Opal Carte, a defense witness who did not testify during the preliminary hearing of LaVonde and Duncan McD. Johnston last week.

The application for the taking of this special testimony will be submitted to District Judge James W. Porter. Mrs. Carte is the woman who purchased a dress from Miss Eva Keyes, employe of the Campbell dress shop, the night of Saturday, May 21.

Miss Keyes, a witness for the prosecution at the hearing, testified that she was working late that night and had heard LaVonde in the basement of Johnston's jewelry store about 9:40 p. m. She admitted, however, that she was unable to understand anything he was saying.

The request is made, the application states, because Mrs. Carte is a non-resident of Idaho and will not be in the state at the time of the trial, set for about the middle of September. If her testimony is allowed it will be sworn and delivered to the clerk of the district court during the trial.

Judge Guy L. Kinney, who presided at the hearing, refused a motion by Dunn that LaVonde be released because of "no evidence" having been produced which showed he was connected with "this or any other crime."

BEHIND THE SCENES in Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Idaho Evening Times Washington

WASHINGTON, June 22—There won't be any more "dream bills" offered in congress for a long time, President Roosevelt dreamed that he looked out of a White House window and saw a horrible fiery crackup at the Washington airport, which incidentally was dangerous and otherwise unsatisfactory. Promptly Mr. Roosevelt endorsed government purchase of 2,000 acres for a $50,000,000 national airport at nearby Camp Springs, Md. With equal promptness the purchase measure, already recommended by a special congressional committee, was dubbed the "dream bill."

Crime Points to False Idol

It is hardly straining a point to detect in the sad business of that Florida kidnaping a direct reflection of the shabby, wishful thinking that we Americans are often guilty of.

The most astounding thing about that whole case was the calm, matter-of-fact statement made by the kidnaper after his arrest.

He committed the crime, he told Mr. Hoover's G-men, because "he had been wanting the finer things of life for his wife and himself and had been unable to get steady employment."

So, questing for the finer things, he went ahead and committed one of the most shocking crimes possible to modern man, killed an innocent child, and landed himself in a spot where the shadow of the gallows now awaits him.

If this were not so monstrous it would be funny; and yet the grotesque reasoning this stupid Florida man followed can be seen as a direct outgrowth of the sort of reasoning that is common to most of us.

We all want these "finer things of life," and we have a rather childish way of confusing them with the things that money can buy. Of course, a man who can't feed his family or keep a roof over his head is quite justified in making some sort of economic independence the first item on his list of aspirations; but when that point is passed, a civilized man must realize that the things which really make life worth living and are really worth struggling for have precious little relation to the bank balance.

Yet that is the point we so often miss. We know our success stories around the men who have made their pile, and we aren't always very particular about the methods they used in making it.

So we blunder our way through this world under a profound misconception of what life really is all about. We set the pace of our entire social order by this unthinking desire to get rich. As by-products, inevitably, our society throws up morbid excrescences like this dim-brained kidnaper, who fancied that he could acquire the "finer things of life" by committing a terrible crime.

Once you assume that life's real prizes are things that can be bought with money, you open the way for weird doings in the way of money-getting. And all of us who have exalted the dollar must share a little of the blame for the dreadful crime down in Florida.

Something for the Files

Donald Carroll, who shot pretty Charlotte Mathiesen dead, and then was acquitted of the crime, moves into obscurity, leaving his story in the yellowing files of newspaper libraries. The last paragraph of the last story in those files could serve as it stands as the final disturbing paragraph in a piece of tragic fiction. It deserves repeating:

"I realize now," Carroll said, "that the trouble with most youngsters is that they think their parents know much less than they know. This is a mistake. Our parents know far more than we do—no matter what the problem is. A child should realize that his parents can help him, and he should confide in them. Gee, I wish I'd done what I've told you the other kids should do!"

There is nothing extraordinary about that. There is art in the words. It all goes without saying. But it ought to be clipped out, anyway.

The boys won't clip it. Parents should. And mark it with Carroll's name, and put it away, and take it out every once in a while.

Viennese Experiment

Maybe the intentions of Der Fuehrer have been something nobody suspected, all along.

Maybe those champions of personal liberty who have pictured him as the arch-enemy of democracy and individual freedom have been doing the man a grave injustice. Maybe the point of the annexation of Austria was to acquire a laboratory in which the best methods of easing the new Germany into the privileges of adulthood were to be worked out.

The latest news from Vienna is scarcely credible in any other light.

After 24 years of the strictest regulation, the dogs of Vienna have just had their muzzles removed. The law requiring that every Jack dog among them be muzzled in public at all times has been stricken off the books completely.

Friends of freedom, it looks like the first timorous step toward the Germanic millennium, when the muzzles will be off the entire population.

It also, however, looks like the last. Many of the dogs, according to the word from Vienna, immediately celebrated their unaccustomed freedom by taking large bites out of everything in sight, including their masters.

This Man, Joe Murray

CASE OF CHARACTERS
 JOE MURRAY—194-A new character—fall in love—drama—happy ending—love—end kept it . . .

CHAPTER XV
 JOE WAS GRIM THESE DAYS, and Terry was silent. Her bland gaiety was impotent against this. Joe went out each day when Terry departed for work, and if he had nothing definite to attend to, he walked with her to the streetcar. He would have sat beside her in silence all the way to the mill if the carfare were an extravagance. He was waiting for her when she alighted from the car at night, and they walked home together. When they arrived home he went furiously to work, either lightening or entirely relieving every task. He did not resent the work at all, because he would not spend a minute alone there all day.

He walked, walked, all the day. He went to the employment office of the plants, where the "No Men Wanted" signs were waiting, leaning at him. He lay in waiting for bosses who knew and accosted them cheerily, uttering a set formula and hearing a set reply. He ranged men streets downtown, eyeing people at work hungrily, resentfully, hatefully.

His mind was in the grip of a slow and morbid fever which showed only in the quiet grimness of his eyes. Terry looked at him and was frightened more at his eyes than all the menace of their plight. This was something she could not cope with either, could not beguile him out of; and all her wretchedy could prevail against that grim, steady stare.

Once when Joe was walking on the street a small but shiny and brand new roadster drew up at the curb just ahead and the driver got out to run into a house. He recognized Joe and waited. It was Tommy who, the older, sturdier, more of himself, prosperous looking, jaunty even in Joe Murray's sight, after avoiding him so long. It was his big moment.

"How do you like the new goods, Joe?" Joe looked at him a moment, then looked at the car. "Nice. Where did you get it?" "Withers was waiting for the question. He thought it."

"I'm," said Joe. "Lined up a job at the new broadcasting station plant on Marshall street. Maintenance man. Steady, good salary, good scale. You picked the wrong trade, fellow."

"You're an electrician?" "Always was."

"Hubb! Lucky break; not the trade," said Joe. "Glad some of your getting set for it."

"And before going inside Withers added, 'How's the misus?'" "Good!" said Joe, and walked on.

A SMALL incident, but significant. Small incidents make big thoughts, and always lead to thoughts. Withers, whom Joe had once beaten ignominiously, waiting for him to show up before he would patronize him. To patronize Joe Murray, Joe grinning, glumly, taking it, and though saying very little, impressively, proudly, depressed. And then walking, walking. This man, Joe Murray . . .

By night too. Not in the streets, on his lean legs, in corporeal reality, but in the mind, during the reaches of the night when Terry was asleep in bed, he would see him and there was no weariness to drug Joe. He walked far, alone. He walked even when he was alone, but far off things beckoned now, in a way which was an enchantment he could not withstand.

And when he had gone far, a certain distance, he was not alone any longer. So much had things changed, even so. He was alone, but far off things beckoned. There was a sound of music and a familiar smell of earth in spring. There was many things: there was a sound of music and a familiar smell of earth in spring. There was many things: there was a sound of music and a familiar smell of earth in spring.

"Helen Polacki . . . once in the darkness he wept, silently. This was Joe Murray."

"There came an afternoon when, as he met Terry at the streetcar, there was a tension on Joe and a desire to get away, quick to read him, quicker day by day. She hurried to join him and caught his arm, looking at him. "You've got something to tell me? Good news?"

"Wait till we get up the house," he said. "I can't wait."

"We'll go up the house," he said, and her eagerness vanished and she went along quietly. She knew that was not good news. She did not urge him to talk when they were alone, and he found it a little more difficult than he expected. Her silence was a success. He did what she went about, not looking at him, absorbed in putting away her hat, filling the kettle, opening a package.

"I found work," he said. Now she stopped and looked at him. "Where?"

"At a National Shipyard . . . at Fort Lansing."

"I knew it," she breathed. "You want to go away." She came to a success Mrs. Broadway when there's a "No Men Wanted" sign. Why go there, Joe?"

"Refraining, refraining. There's a chance, maybe permanent. An old buddy of mine has a job there. I wrote to him, if there was an opening to give me the break. I Joe to patronize him."

"She stared then she said, 'It's so far, Joe. We'd never see each other.'"

"But a job, I can't let you go. What will I do?" "It's a job, Terry," grimly.

A fever was growing in her. "No, Joe! Stay here with me. We'll make out somehow. You'll get a job here. The contracts will be renewed, the plant will open."

"The money is almost gone. There's only a few days' emergency money left. Your job isn't sure, and it can't get us alone. And there's my old pay waiting for me down at Fort Lansing."

"Terry lost all control. Here her anger, management collapsed. For the first time, she became impulsive, she wept. She pleaded. She grasped at straws, promising to do anything for him, to marry, to manage to do all the worrying. She would beg for him, steal for him. She must help him, without any of working and would, utterly unrepentant. All kinds of disaster would come to her. His face was set. He argued stolidly, patiently. He reviewed the reasons he likely get away to come see her occasionally. Then he ceased answering. Then suddenly he shouted at her to shut up."

"I'm going! Don't make it any worse than it is. There's not a damned thing left to do. I'm going down here I'll send you money every week and keep a roof over your head."

"You've got a roof over my head . . . all alone." He swore and grabbed up his hat and made for the door.

Just what the consideration was, says the Wendell Irrigation, has not been given out, though a mortgage of $15,000 was filed in favor of a trust and savings company.

Last Wednesday morning Don Lyman started for Jarbidge with his Ford car and two passengers, Mrs. Fisher, a merchant of the camp, and Mrs. Fisher, a resident of Jarbidge, and made the trip in eight hours and 45 minutes. Mr. Lyman has made the trip back in eight hours, but going into the camp it is all up grade and has always taken him from ten to twelve hours. He returned Friday with three passengers, Mr. Ableser, Mr. Jacobs and Jake Fisher.

The Family Doctor

As the hot season approaches, even in the northernmost portions of the United States, we become more interested in perspiration and its effects upon the human body. One of the chief uses of perspiration is to regulate the body temperature and keep it normal.

The sweat glands are the chief paths by which water reaches the surface of the skin. It is water, however, passes through the skin by what is known as insensible perspiration. It has been determined that the normal perspiration ration is uniform except for the areas on the palms and soles. It is impossible for the human body to control insensible perspiration, but the sweat glands are subject to nervous control and vary widely in the amounts of their activity.

Recent tests have been made in the hot desert to determine how much fluid and other materials are lost from the body by way of sweat.

When profuse sweating occurs day after day, the amount of salt lost is less than that which is gained because of the loss of chlorides and salts from the body in the sweat that it is necessary for people to work in hot weather to replace to take small amounts of salt regularly in order to prevent heat stroke and heat cramps which result from a loss of salts by the body.

People vary, however, as to the speed with which they perspire and perspire and as to the amount of salts and other substances that they lose during perspiration. Moreover, they are able to regulate the amount of salt lost in summer than in winter, so that even the season or the degree of acclimatization to hot weather is an important part in this matter.

In hot weather the amount of salt lost in the body is high, not only because of the heat, but because the sweat that is produced, but because the sweat in hot weather usually contains more salt than in cooler weather.

People who are already adapted to hot weather will perspire more easily and produce more perspiration than those who are not adapted to high temperatures. It is important to realize that perspiration may definitely weaken the body and that the person becomes fatigued more easily and requires a longer time to recover from fatigue. Experts advise that anyone exposed to hot weather must take active notice of the degree of exhaustion it increases every day and the degree of recovery after each night of rest is less.

LOUIS-SCHMELING FIGHT HOLDS SPOTLIGHT

60,000 Expected to Witness Indian-Yankee Double-Header

Conflict Commands Attention of Sports World; Negro Champion Is Favorite to Retain His Title

Attendance is Expected to Pass 80,000

By HENRY McLEMORE
NEW YORK, June 22 (UP)—Joe Louis, a slow and lazy colored boy from the canebrakes of Alabama, and Max Schmeling, a cold and calculating German from the Rhine, command the attention of the civilized world tonight.

They will command it with one hour (or less) of the most unutilized of all sport—fighting with the fists. They will go at it in a square watched in the center of the Yankee stadium and surrounded by 60,000 persons of all creeds and colors. With skin tight gloves iron hard knuckles they will battle one another until the referee raises Joe's hand and cries "winner and sole champion of the world" or Schmeling's and bellows "winner and new champion."

Sixth Million Dollar Fight
Not since the Babe Ruth headed Dempsey and the cunning, cutting Tunney came to grips in Chicago has New York, the United States, the world, been so excited about a prizefight. Today the ticket sale has crept close to the $1,000,000.

Fight Facts

NEW YORK, June 22 (UP)—Boxing facts on tonight's fight:
Principals—Joe Louis, Detroit, champion, vs. Max Schmeling, Germany, challenger.
Title stake—World heavy-weight championship.
Place—Yankee Stadium, Chicago.
Time, 8 p. m. (EDT). (7 p. m. MST).
Distance—15 rounds.
Postponement—Will be held Tuesday, June 23, if postponed.
Estimated attendance—60,000.
Estimated receipts—$1,000,000.
Radio broadcast—Over combination of networks.
Charity beneficiary—President Roosevelt's refuge aid committee.
Charity's share—10 per cent of net profits, with a guarantee minimum of $7500.
Weather—Clear—Louis, 40 per cent of net receipts; Schmeling, 20 per cent of net receipts.

mark, and by night, when the first preliminary starts, the gate was almost certain to be the sixth million dollar one in history.

Judged from a promoter's angle the fight is a "natural"—has every thing, it is interesting, has a foreigner against a native, and the fact that the foreigner is a German, a Nazi, fighting in the world's Jewish city, has not hurt the sale of tickets.

Negro vs. Nordic
It is a fight between a Negro and a blond, and it is a fight between a man of his prime and an old man (at ring age) on the way down hill. It is a fight that provides the challenge, the opportunity, the opportunity to become the first man in fight history to regain the heavy-weight title, and it is a fight that furnishes Louis the opportunity to gain revenge from the unmerciful beating that Schmeling handed him two years ago.

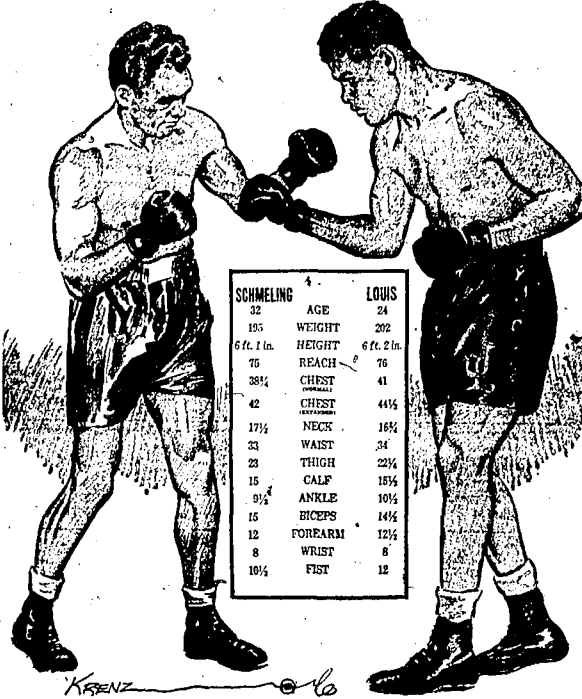

Pros that it has roused this city to an abnormal point was offered in the announcement from police headquarters as to how the city would be patrolled during fighting hours. More than 3,000 extra policemen have been assigned to fight time, in addition that the regular men on the beat, 1,000 uniformed coppers will stroll the streets of Harlem, ready to quell any racial outbreak. Commissioner Valentine has not forgotten that several were killed and scores injured in Harlem the night Schmeling knocked out Louis.

Odds on Louis
With the fight only a few hours away Louis still was a decided favorite. He was being bet 1 to 2 and it was predicted that he would go to 1 to 3 or thereabouts.

Lineup
The first one to victory at the commission meeting, he refused to grant Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's American manager, a second license, which meant that Max will not have Jacobs in his corner.
The boys weighed in at Madison Square Garden at noon. No one was weighed out who has weight to have to weigh in, being as it doesn't matter what they weigh.

AMBER DECISIONS VAUGHN
LOS ANGELES, June 22 (UP)—Los Angeles, Herkimer, N. Y., light-weight champion, 137, defeated Jimmy Vaughn, Cleveland, 138 (10); Edwards, 147, New York, outpointed Carlos Miranda 144, Los Angeles (6); Jim McDaniel, 148, Los Angeles, stopped Henry Onda, 146, Los Angeles (3); Jimmy Collins, 147, Hollywood, outpointed Young Joe Louis, 142, Los Angeles (4); Al Hager, 140, Los Angeles, drew with Al Grayson, 147, Los Angeles (4); and Ray Roberto, 132, Los Angeles, defeated Frankie Pranzillo, 133, Los Angeles (4).

Twin Falls Class-Point today occupied third place all alone in the softball loop, following last night's defeat of Willey Drug by the Texaco team. The score was 9-4, but the winners had to put down a rally in the final frame after one run had scored and the bases were loaded.

In the preliminary tilt the Utah Chiefs recovered from a Jerome Co-op scare to score six runs in the sixth inning to chalk up a 7-4 victory in another class game.

Patrick, Texaco hurler, turned in a fine performance on the mound for his team, allowing only four hits, two of them scratches. Meanwhile his teammates were rounding Johnny Wagner for seven safe blows including a home run by Stevens, junky first baseman.

Fred Durbin, back in shape for the Jerome Co-op, let the hard-hitting Utah Chiefs down with two hits for five innings, but he was replaced in the fifth as the league leaders unlimbered their big guns to run in six runs on the same number of hits, included in the arrangement were two singles, doubles by Price and Johnny Wells, a home run by Russ Wells and a triple by John Chis.

FORTY OF THE EIGHTY KNOWN SPECIES OF PINES GROW IN NORTH AMERICA.

Hannibal, Carthaginian general, attempted to accomplish with elephants the task performed in modern warfare by armored tanks. Men, armed with spears and shields, bows and arrows, rode troops of elephants into the enemy ranks. The animals, panicky with fright, were hard to control, and the experiment was decidedly unsuccessful.

Rebels Sink Three British Ships

Machine Guns Sweep Decks Of Sea Craft

VALENCIA, Spain, June 22 (AP)—Three British ships were bombed and sunk by nationalist airplanes off here today, Captain Kermode, commander of one of the vessels, told the United Press.

The mine raider attacked the Sunion, the Thorpeness, commanded by Kermode and another ship, the name of which Kermode did not remember but said began with "C".

The Sunion sank at 5:30 a. m. after being set afire. The unnamed ship went down an hour before the Thorpeness. One Chinese British subject aboard the Thorpeness was killed. The ship was machine gunned.

Bombing planes last night attempted to bomb two other British ships in the harbor at Alicante, south of Valencia. Loyalist officials said the bombs struck a "foreign tugboat."

Today's attack brought to 23 the British merchant ships attacked by nationalist planes, presumably from the Balearic Islands, during the last five months.

PLANS MADE FOR BOISE AIR SHOW

BOISE, June 22 (Special)—Death-defying feats by masters of the air are promised when fliers who appeared in national airshows at Cleveland and St. Louis last year, and in the recent air races at Oakland, come to the new Boise Whitney bench airport July 3 and 4, what is termed the "World's Champion Air show."

Tex Rankin, who last year won the title of world champion stunt pilot, in competition with flying acts from all over the world, will be top performer among a group of stars which includes George Cook, champion dead-end parachute jumper, as Larry, dubbed by the department of commerce as "the world's greatest pilot," Capt. Bill Royle, movie actor and radio announcer as master of ceremonies; Dorothy Barden, world's foremost parachute jumper; and many other sensational performers.

Tex Rankin will be the star in his moving picture work in Hollywood, taking a leading part in the show. Rankin has appeared in dozens of motion pictures, including "Test Pilot" in which he doubled for Clark Gable.

George Cook, who is expected to perform some of his regular stunts in the two-day show, is the world's most sensational parachute jumper. Cook, as well as Rankin, is well known for his movie work. He appeared with Rankin in "Test Pilot," and appeared in "Devil Dogs of the Air" with Pat O'Brien and James Cagney; in "The Flying Saucers" with Wallace Beery; in "Murder in the Clouds"; "Night Flight"; "Over the Arctic"; and many others.

The big show will be the occasion for the first visit of thousands of Idahoans to Boise's new airport now under construction. When completed, the new airport will have the longest runway of any in America. It will be used by United Airlines' big Mainliner ships which now are passing over Boise without stopping because of the inadequate facilities of the old airport for landing big ships.

WORKER INJURED BY BROKEN WIRE

A power line worker was being treated today at the Twin Falls county hospital for a fractured vertebrae and severe burns on both sides resulting from a fall. The worker, a "hot" wire he was working on Tuesday afternoon.

A. E. Shillingburg, Idaho Power company employe, narrowly escaped death when he was rescued from the top of a utility pole after having been rendered unconscious from contact with the 2,200-volt, wire east of Twin Falls. Fellow workers were credited today with saving his life. Hospital attendants this morning said Mr. Shillingburg was seriously injured but his condition was as good as could be expected under the circumstances.

S. C. Reed, a co-worker, climbed the utility pole and released Shillingburg's hands from the wire. The unconscious man suffered a fractured vertebrae when he fell to the ground. M. E. Showell, a ground worker, gave immediate first aid while Reed went for a doctor. First work on the part of the two men is credited with saving Shillingburg's life.

The men were working about a fourth of a mile east of the city limits on Elizabeth boulevard at the time of the accident. They were repairing a breakdown known as a "dead end" following Tuesday morning's freak electrical storm.

Twin Falls Guards Win Field Meet in State Competition

BOISE, Idaho, June 22 (AP)—Company E, 11th Engineers, Twin Falls, today held a field meet victory over Duhi's Company D by a margin of five points—16 to 13.

The Twin Falls company swept the board in the manual of arms, was first in knots and lashing, scored second in the equipment race and third in the tag of war.

The field meet prefaced the biggest event for national guardsmen here for the annual encampment—May day. Officers estimated that more than 845,000 will be handed out to soldiers tonight.

Hints on Home CANNING

A GOOD PLUMS TO YOUR SHELVES
A good many varieties of plums are ripening and will soon be ready for canning, among them are the green-gage and the black. The most popular is the Lombard. Regardless of variety, plums may all be canned in the same manner. However, some are sweeter than others and do not require a heavy syrup.

Use only sound, uniformly ripened plums. Those badly bruised or over-ripe may be soured. Wash and remove stems. Prick the skins in two or three places with a needle to prevent bursting during processing. Pack plums into clean jars, making as solid a pack as possible without crushing them. Plums shrink badly when heat of processing is applied and packed loosely they will float two or three inches from bottom of jars. This will not interfere with their wholesomeness or keeping quality.

The density of the syrup will depend entirely upon the sweetness of the plum and individual taste. A medium syrup is most often used and this is made with two parts water to one part sugar. Fill jars of plums to within 1 1/2 inches of top with the hot syrup. Place the "Self-Sealing" lid on jar with sealing composition next to glass and screw the band firmly tight. This cap will require no further tightening when jars are removed from canner or oven.

The best method of processing the plums is water bath or oven. If using water bath have water near boiling point. Place jars of plums in canner and count processing time as soon as water begins to boil. Process for 20 minutes.

If the oven is equipped with an automatic timer, set for 20 minutes. Be used for processing. Set jars of plums on rack in cold oven. Allow space between jars for circulation of heat. Set regulator at 250 degrees Fahrenheit. Light oven and start counting processing time when oven is lighted. Process 68 minutes. As soon as processing time is completed in water bath or oven, remove jars and set right side up to cool.

ENDURANCE MARK IS SET BY TRUCK

More miles than it takes to circle the world twice are now on the speedometer of a test truck which visited Twin Falls today, a truck which has established a new world record for sustained automotive activity, passing the 50,000 observed mile mark last week.

The truck, a 1 1/2-ton Chevrolet unit, holds the American record for sustained automotive operation, which is attained by passing the 20,000-mile mark in Death Valley, Calif., after running since early in January on a test recognized as the most extensive operation of its kind ever undertaken by an auto manufacturer.

Under the direction of Harry Hartz, dean of American race drivers and greatest money winner in the history of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, the truck is being operated by a crew of three, one of whom represents the American Automobile association. That authoritative body is certifying the present test.

Standard Model

The truck, a standard model in every respect, was selected at random from assembly lines at Flint, Mich., by AAA officials. Stanley Reed, official AAA observer, certifies all movements made by the unit. Reed retains keys to the truck's gasoline tank and ignition, and seals hood, rear axle and other moving parts. Thus the truck cannot be operated without certification.

Hartz with his crew have driven the truck from Detroit to Ottawa, Ont., official starting point for an international run to Mexico City. After visiting the southern capital, the party returned to the States for extensive operations over American highways.

The unit has visited every state in the Union on the present test. Hartz pointed out. At present the unit has just completed a coast-to-coast run from Portland, Me., to Portland, Ore.

All States Visited

All the states covered by the truck thus far, operating day and night with a daily running time averaging sixteen to twenty hours.

Remarkable economy records were established by the truck for the first 40,000 miles of its international run. According to reports of the expert pilot, an average of 15.22 miles per gallon of gasoline was recorded at an average driving speed of 22.43 miles per hour. Cost per mile was but 0.01895, while cost per ton-mile was on 0.00490, which is figured on a gross weight of 2,260 pounds. The unit carries a fixed "payload" of 4,500 pounds.

The test run is being conducted for Chevrolet Motor Division by W. E. Fish, national director of truck sales, and A. R. Cosgrove, Fish's assistant.

TWO LOCAL MEN MAKE AIR TRIP

Guy Olin, Kimberly rancher, and Lamoine Stevens, Twin Falls transport pilot, early this morning flew into the "wild country" of the Sawtooth mountains to reach a placer mine where the south fork and the main Salmon rivers join.

The mine, made in a Waco "A" cabin bi-plane belonging to Olin. Airline distance to the mine, which can be reached only by airplane or pack train, is approximately 210 miles of which nearly 150 miles is over country which affords few if any landing areas. Olin is interested in the mine, and the trip was made for business reasons. The two left Twin Falls about 4:30 a. m. today. They plan to return Thursday.
