

NYE, LANGER VIE FOR DAKOTA SENATE NOMINATION

PEACE ADVOCATE FACING TEST IN PRIMARY BALLOT

BISMARCK, N. D., June 28 (UP)—North Dakota Republicans decide today the political future of Sen. Gerald P. Nye, Progressive, peace advocate, and one of the best known members of the senate. Selecting the party's senatorial candidate, they will choose between Nye and Gov. William Langer.

A close race appeared certain. Their charges and counter-charges have colored an otherwise quiet primary campaign.

Nominations at stake were for senator, two congressional seats, governor, and a full slate of state officers in three parties—Republican, Democratic and Union. Interest centered, however, on the contest between Nye and Langer.

Strife Typified
The Nye-Langer struggle has typified the inner strife in the powerful Non-Partisan league, which has controlled the state government since 1932. Langer is the endorsee of the Non-Partisan league, which he has held under his political thumb for some time.

During his gubernatorial term, he has built up a strong political organization. He is a supporter of the Townsend plan, of money reform, and of a Bank of the United States. He was the first governor to declare a debt moratorium.

Intensive Campaign
Nye, in his most intensive campaign since his appointment to the senate in 1925, has concentrated against what he labeled "Langerism." He said he was "tired of trying to convince departments and agencies in Washington that the voice of one man is not the voice of North Dakota."

Langer has charged Nye with making a "racket out of peace" and with spending his time to attract national interest to himself rather than aiding his state.

Federal Aid
The governor said that if he is elected senator he will devote his time to "getting federal aid for North Dakota, good roads, and fighting for the Missouri river diversion project." If necessary to get these things and adequate federal relief, he said, he will "out-Huey Huey Long."

Democratic endorsee for the senatorial nomination is J. J. Nygaard of Jamestown. He is opposed by Halvor L. Halvorson, Minot, and A. Johansson, Raub. B. F. Woodall,

80-Year-Old Schoolboys

When the WPA announced new classes to teach English to residents of New York's lower east side, there were no less than 80 octogenarians among the 500 applicants. Photo shows Sylvia Lehr, Hamer college graduate, who was assigned to teach the special class formed for the old people, and three of her bearded pupils, Lazar Schreiber, Rabbi Morris Klein and Jacob Treister.

Solen, is the Union party senatorial candidate.

Seeking renomination on the Republican ticket are present Reps. William Lemke and Haber L. Burdick. The Non-Partisan league has endorsed Burdick, but Lemke is without approval following a recent break with Langer. The other endorsee is Henry G. Gowen of Grand Forks.

Others after the Republican congressional nomination are John B. Field, of Beulah, C. F. Ketsch, of Mandan, and Silvert W. Thompson, of Devils Lake. Congressmen are nominated at large.

Democratic congressional candidates are Alfred S. Dale, Blainville, Howard L. Henry, Westhope, and Max H. Strehlow, Kindred.

REPUBLICANS SEE OFFICE CONTESTS

Possibility of several contests in the primary elections for nominations for county offices on the Republican ticket was revealed here Monday night at a meeting of the Twin Falls county Republican central committee held in the probate court room at the courthouse.

Vacancies on the committee were filled by the election of Henry Knepf, Glover; Willard McMaster, Hansen; and T. J. Douglas, Hollister.

E. N. Pettigrove of Hansen presented his resignation last night as chairman of the central committee. Carl E. Ritchey, Twin Falls commissioner of public safety, was elected to succeed Pettigrove.

Speakers introduced included M. A. Lierman of Glover, mentioned as a candidate for the party's nomination for sheriff; Charles A. Williams of Deep Creek, former Chicago Republican ward committeeman; and J. W. Steffen of Twin Falls, former Oklahoma state representative.

The meeting was attended by 15 committee members and about 10 other Republicans who participated in informal discussion.

ACTING PRESIDENT

CALDWELL, Ida., June 28 (UP)—The board of trustees of the College of Idaho today elected Dean Orma J. Smith acting president to succeed President Raymond Leach, resigned.

Smith Family Places First

Claims of the American branch of the Smith family to numerical superiority over all other family groups are supported by a survey the bureau of federal old age insurance had made of 30 million social security account card numbers assigned, according to word received here today from C. A. Granon, manager of the Poacello social security board field office.

Account card numbers have been issued to approximately 470,190 Smiths. Next in order are the Johnsons with 348,630, the Browns with 222,540. All variations in the spelling of a name are grouped together, says Cannon. For instance, Schmidt, Schmitt and Smythe are considered part of the Smith family.

"E" is the shortest name listed in the social security board's list of millions of workers, says Cannon. The longest name yet located is "Xenoglanekopoulos," he said.

BODY RECOVERED

BANKS STATION, Ida., June 28 (UP)—The body of Virginia Banks, 22, who drowned while swimming in the Payette river Sunday, was found yesterday eight miles downstream from there.

The body was caught in willows at the end of a small island. Miss Banks had been swimming alone.

NO INQUEST SET FOR OAKLEY MAN

OAKLEY, June 28 (Special)—No inquest will be held into the death of Frank Hunter, 51, disabled war veteran, whose body was found Monday in a straw stack a quarter of a mile from his home, announced J. P. Payne of Burley, Cassia county coroner.

Hunter had been missing 10 days before his badly decomposed body was discovered by beet field workers, but his parents Mr. and Mrs. Hyrum L. Hunter, at whose home he had been residing, said they were not alarmed at his absence because he frequently left for the veterans' hospital at Boise without notifying them.

Positive identity of the body was made by the father who recognized clothing.

Hunter had been ill for many years and spent considerable time in the veterans' hospital. He served in France during the World war, and was a veteran of the Mexican border patrol previously.

Kent Hale, Ballard Hale, Harold Fairchild and Cleon Lee discovered the body late in the afternoon after completing work in a beet field. They notified John Butler, Oakley constable, who called the coroner. Survivors include the parents, a daughter, Marion, 18; five brothers, Eldon Hunter, Poacello; Lovell Hunter, Paul; and Golden, Arco and Elmo Hunter, all of Oakley; and four sisters, Mrs. Zenola Peterson and Mrs. Ada Peterson, Kimberly; Zina Hunter, Oakley; and Mrs. Jennus Alberts.

The body is at the Payne mortuary in Burley.

PEACE OF EUROPE MENACED BY BOMBING OF BRITISH SHIPS

ENGLISH PUBLIC INDIGNANT OVER RAIDS IN SPAIN

Nineteen years ago the Versailles treaty was signed, designed to end war, but today the peace of Europe again was menaced by the bombing of British ships in the Spanish civil war.

The British government fought for time, hoping that the situation would solve itself, but it was predicted that a showdown is imminent.

Either Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain must take decisive action, meaning belligerent action to protect ships under the British flag, observers said, or the government admit that the policy of co-operation with Italy has broken down.

Desert Tradition
Chamberlain's wall-and-see policy may be broken down by the mounting indignation in parliament and among the British public against the apparent desertion of the "rule Britannia" tradition of the sea.

In the wake of yesterday's destruction of two British ships by Spanish insurgent bombers came news from Valencia of a new and destructive bombing of the British-operated port of Gandia on the eastern coast of Spain.

Large Shipping
London declared there is no real military objective in the bombing of British ships and that the bombings could not halt shipping to Spain because of the number of ships engaged, attracted by the immense profits to be gained. It was felt there must be some ulterior motive, designed to cause international trouble.

Francisco Franco, Spanish insurgent commander, reported that the loyalist ports are a legitimate military objective and that British ships are not the target of the bombs, but liable to suffer because of their presence in the ports.

Franco charged that the international uproar against the bombings was caused by Communists who desired to prevent war. He also declared that France might make friendly relations with his government impossible by arbitrarily releasing Spanish gold deposited in the Bank of France, and to which he claims title.

Premier Benito Mussolini indicated that he is not unperturbed for possible trouble when he held consultations in Rome with his chief military advisers.

No Early End
While the international tension grew, the war within Spain showed no sign of reaching an early end. The nationalist forces driving on Valencia were stalled temporarily as the loyalist threw in Spanish ships and began fortifying Valencia for a long siege, determined to fight to the death.

On the other side of the world, Japanese shock troops, against desperate resistance, gained in their drive toward Hankow, the provincial Chinese capital. The Japanese, aided by airplanes, cut through the Chinese forces and cut the first of 12 boats in the Yangtze river, detouring Hankow.

In Tokyo, the government drew in its belt for a long and costly war when the cabinet, considering the budget, decided that all government must curtail expenses.

A third war was threatened in South America. Buenos Aires heard that Paraguay and Bolivia were preparing for a possible renewal of their war over the Chaco. The peace negotiations which have been in progress appeared to have broken down.

SMITH DECLINES TO ENTER RACE

MACKAY, Ida., June 28 (UP)—Troy D. Smith, speaker of the Idaho house of representatives, said today he would not be a candidate for the Democratic nomination as lieutenant governor.

Smith said he would seek reelection as Custer county delegate to the legislature's lower house. His statement came in answer to the rumor that he intended to seek the vice-governorship.

It was generally believed here that Smith had withdrawn from the lieutenant-governor contest in order to swing his support to G. P. Mix of Moscow, former lieutenant governor who last week announced that he would again seek that office.

Mix was lieutenant-governor for two terms under the administration of C. Ben Ross, Idaho's three term governor. His announcement that he would again try for the office was made when Ross announced he would seek a fourth term as chief executive.

ANSWERING MR. FINN
Editor, Evening Times:—I have lived through the birth of Christ, what was to become a powerful nation came into existence and was dedicated to a constitutional form of government which guaranteed to those living within its jurisdiction liberty, equality and justice. This included the right to your own form of worship and education, freedom of speech, and right of property. Upon this foundation, I desire to express my disappointment from all nations should meet and blend into a new race. In 1922 came a merit testing whether human greed for money would destroy the government with all those intangible things sacred to the human heart and soul and send a great people backward into the degradation of the dark ages as it is doing in these nations that have suppressed human rights and adopted totalitarianism.

The question before this nation in 1922 was, "which is the more sacred, property rights or human rights?" There was no time to experiment with a new financial system and the nation had to do until a great people caught again the perspective of their heritage from the past. A great humanitarianism was elected President. He hesitated not to place human rights above property rights. Congress passed, and he put into execution, a series of fundamental reforms known as the New Deal was born. Today under it the Grand Old Ship of State sails on and our heritage are safe from all the "isms" of the world. Democracy is safe, for the people will settle any future financial or governmental problem that may arise. So the New Deal has been a great success and our heritage are safe from all the "isms" of the world. Man Killed When Tractor Upsets

HUSTON, Ida., June 28 (UP)—Charles W. Willets, 35, was instantly killed last night when a tractor he was driving slipped into an old cistern and rolled over, crushing him.

Willets' brother-in-law, John Gardner, 30, riding the tractor with him, leaped to safety before the tractor had completely turned over.

The two were driving out into the fields on Gardner's farm one mile southeast of here to prop up a haystack.

It was dark and Willets apparently failed to see the crumbling edge of the pit.

Sheriff's officers said there would be no inquest.

COUNTESS OPENS DIVORCE PLANS

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 28 (UP)—Attorneys for Countess Barbara Haugwitz-Reventlow have taken steps preliminary to filing suit for separation and divorce from Count Count Haugwitz-Reventlow, it was learned today.

The ministry of justice said that a lawyer for the countess, the former Barbara Hutton, $40,000,000 five and ten cent store heiress, had submitted a formal inquiry whether the Danish courts could deal with proceedings for a separation or divorce.

The lawyer was told, it was said, that the Danish courts must handle the entire matter because both the countess and her husband were Danish subjects.

Mine Union Rejects Reduction in Wages

EAST HELENA, Mont., June 28 (UP)—A 50-cent a day wage reduction proposal of the American Smelting and Refining company, was rejected today by the Mine, Mill and Workers union in the course of negotiations for a wage scale.

D. Mackenzie, manager of the plant, said the wage reduction had been proposed because the smelter, which employs 250 men, could no longer afford to pay at scale 15 to 20 per cent higher than other smelters.

The union decision left negotiations undecided.

Hoover Attacks Roosevelt's Classification of Liberals

SAN JOSE, Calif., June 28 (UP)—The effort of President Roosevelt to classify "liberals" and "conservatives" in the coming national elections drew the fire of Herbert Hoover last night when the former president charged that the New Deal was engaging in practices which liberals have fought for centuries.

"And at the same time," Hoover said, "President Roosevelt calls upon liberals for support."

Mr. Hoover, addressing a rally for John Z. Anderson, Republican congressional candidate from his home district, assailed Mr. Roosevelt "for weakening the personal liberties and protection of minorities which have been the foundation of liberal tradition."

"The New Deal has set up labor boards which are executives, legislators, prosecutors, judges, juries and executioners," said Hoover. "It has tried to humble the Judiciary and turn congress into a rubber stamp. If this be liberalism, then King George III, Karl Marx, Mussolini and Boss Tweed were liberals."

Advocating a coalition of anti-New Deal forces in the fall elections, regardless of their party affiliation, Mr. Hoover said:

"It is time the voters tried a little experimenting themselves. They might try experimenting at the polls by electing Republicans and Democrats who will fight against the continuation of this futile scheme. This would be no great risk. It surpasses partisan politics for it enters into the realm of economic realities and moral principles."

Mrs. Mary Aurora Branin, secretary for the Camp Fire Girls, was to return this afternoon from attending a Camp Fire Leaders' training camp in Montana. Mrs. Vivian Hansen, Blonstone, who is to be nurse at the camping session at Enaley the last of July also returned home. Miss Mary Reams, Kimberly, went to Helena, Mont., where she will serve as a connector at the girls' camp there.

During Mrs. Branin's absence the offices of the Camp Fire organizations under the Bank and Trust building were maintained by Camp Fire Girls working toward a torch-bearing rank. The hours of service applied on the earning of honors time was occupied by the girls in painting banners for the camping period and other work in the office. Girls working during the period in teams of two were: Charlotte Miller, Bernadine Quaer, Patricia Dean, Jean Nicholson, Malvina Webster, Betty Rommetvedt, Wanda Hankins, Julia Meltrite, Virginia Campbell, Dorothy and Margaret Van Engelen.

Yesterday's Newspaper Boys Are Today's Leaders

The "Daddy" of MICKEY MOUSE and SNOW WHITE SAYS—"I feel sorry for the boys who never have had the chance to carry papers . . ."

Walt Disney's Snow White and Seven Dwarfs

April 25, 1938

Newspaperboys of America!

I was an old man of nine when I tackled my first business venture. You guessed it—I had a paper route in Kansas City.

To say the least, it kept me out of mischief, because my brothers and I had to get up every morning, deliver papers, have breakfast and then go off to school. After school we started out all over again.

I can remember how proud I was of the fact that during my six years of carrying papers I missed a total of only a month on account of illness. However, I'll bet hundreds of you can better that record.

Our father had charge of the circulation in our part of town and did he spoil the subscribers! In the winter, especially, he saw to it that we put the paper inside the door so that it wouldn't be damaged by rain or snow, and the occupants of the house wouldn't have to step outside to get it. And we unto the Disney boys if a subscriber ever phoned and said he couldn't find his paper!

I'm genuinely glad that I had all this experience when I was a boy. In fact, sometimes I feel sorry for the boys who never had the chance to carry papers or sell newspapers or haven't had some way to earn their own money, because I think you'll all agree that it's a pretty swell feeling to know that the money in your pocket is there by your own efforts, and that you're getting experience in business that can't help but stand you in good stead later on.

Very best love
