

15 Days Added to Wildfowl Hunt Season

Bag Limit on Ducks, Geese Also Boosted

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP)—The agriculture department today added 15 days to the duck, geese, jackknives, and cool hunting season, giving hunters a 45-day open season for the first time in three years.

The season begins Oct. 1 and ends Nov. 14 in the northern zone, and runs from Oct. 15 to Nov. 23 in the central zone, and from Nov. 15 to Dec. 29 in southern states.

Two other major rules were liberalized. Possession limitations on ducks and geese were increased to two days' bag, or 20 ducks and 10 geese. Hunters also may bag a total of three of the following duck species which have been protected during the last few years: canvasbacks, redheads, buffbreasts and ruddy ducks.

"Three-shoot" limitation on repeating shotguns was lifted, as were prohibitions on baiting of waterfowl and use of live decoys.

The bag limit on jackknives was set at 15 and at 25 for coots.

Officials said the regulations were liberalized because of an increase in most species in the last few years largely as a result of reduced annual kills while stricter rules were in effect.

Central Zone
The central zone is composed of: California, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Jersey, New York (including Long Island), Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah, Washington, West Virginia and Wyoming.

RED CROSS SWIM DIRECTOR NAMED

Thomas A. Gill, Red Cross instructor, will conduct the annual swimming and life-saving campaigns at Harmon pool as first-aid and life-saving specialist.

The campaign, sponsored by the Twin Falls chapter, American Red Cross, will begin Aug. 8 and continue until Aug. 20. Plans for registration are underway and will be announced later, according to Mrs. D. L. Alexander, chairman of the local chapter.

Gill has conducted a number of successful campaigns in the past, serving on the summer staff of the Pacific branch, American Red Cross. He has been director here before and has had high success. He is an ardent supporter of the movement to organize the Red Cross which it intensified this summer with the slogan, "Every American a Better Swimmer."

Mr. Gill has taken a keen interest in aquatic and water safety since his high school days in Boise. He is a graduate of the National Red Cross First Aid and Aquatic schools held at Hicks Lake, Wash., and Como Springs in Morgan county, Utah.

He attended the College of Idaho at Caldwell before entering the University of Idaho at Moscow, from which he was graduated this year. He has been active in the athletic division as a swimming and life-saving instructor.

Mr. Hubner died at Bull, Idaho, 4 1/2 years ago. It valued at $1,200 and included one-third interest in west end farm land and ownership of lots in Harwood county.

Seen Today

Now it does, now it doesn't—that traffic whistle at Main and Shoshone... New doorway and other repairs going on at downtown structure across from Idaho Power... Sprinkler truck operator dropping in to say that the newly-washed car mentioned yesterday as having gotten sprinkled while on a lawn was actually on the city parking lot, wasn't on the lawn proper and anyway the truck operators make every effort to show full courtesy to motorists.

Veterans' chief shaking hands with one of the few national commanders to get out this way—Scott Gaynes of the Veterans of Foreign Wars... And Mrs. Frankie Alworth, Bourbon aspirant for state representative, being told that if ability to fry chicken is a criterion, she'd have walk-away in the primaries.

Hundreds gathered outside the American legation for a look at Corrigan. He was in good form, mounted a jaunty car, the famous Irish equivalent for a horse car, to pose for photographers.

John Cudany, American minister and Corrigan's host, arranged to get him a new outfit of clothes.

Corrigan went to see government officials after he had posed for photographers, to see whether he could get his plane released. He planned later today to go to Balldonegilly to inspect it.

Visiting government buildings in the afternoon, Corrigan gave Prime Minister Eamon de Valera a first hand account of his flight.

Officials had a shock when they learned that Corrigan, discussing his flight, had commented casually, "She's good enough to fly round the world."

The message from Ford Corrigan slept until 9 a. m. this morning, and then walked in the feverish grounds after reading cablegrams of congratulation from all over the world.

One message was from Henry Ford. The American hero of the world-record wrong direction flight, after a night as the guest of American Minister John Cudany under an informal arrangement of "open detention" because he landed here from New York without a passport or other required papers, had expressed doubt earlier that he would try to fly back.

But as he made his casual remark about his plane's round the world capabilities, some interviewers thought they detected the gleam of a dawning idea in his eyes.

Papers Smash Stories
Corrigan's arrival in Boise in a sensation in Ireland and Great Britain. British newspapers smashed the story as the main one of the day and subjected it to the historical state visit of the king and queen to France—the first such visit of a British monarch since the late King George V's visit to France a few weeks before the World war.

It was notable, in the British newspaper treatment of the flight, that after mature consideration grave doubt was expressed that Corrigan was really serious when he insisted that he meant to fly not to Ireland but to Los Angeles.

HIT-RUN DRIVER PAYS FINE HERE

Glenn Osborn, Filer, today had been fined $15 and costs of $3 after he pleaded guilty to a charge of hit and run driving as he appeared before Municipal Judge J. O. Humphrey, court records show this afternoon.

Police traced Osborn through a bright cap from his machine which fell from the car at the time of the crash. A check of local dealers revealed the type of car the cap came from and further investigation revealed the car was Osborn's.

Osborn was arrested Friday and arraigned yesterday.

Woman Files Bond On Speed Charges

FRENCH HOPE TO STRENGTHEN ALLIANCE DURING KING'S VISIT

CZECH-GERMANY QUESTION CAUSE OF WAR SCARES

By JOB ALEX MORRIS
United Press Staff Correspondent
Great Britain's key position in the world struggle for stabilized peace today receives emphasis in future history books for the visit of King George VI and Queen Elizabeth to France.

Outwardly the journey of their majesties across the channel this morning was an elaborate demonstration of a revived and strengthened alliance by which the two great World War victors, united 20 years after to turn the tide of events threatening to reduce them to conqueror powers.

But behind the rapping flags and cheering crowds that welcomed the king and queen there were coldly determined conferences on specific issues which inevitably must bear heavily on the future peace of Europe. Several questions of immediate importance stood out in the talks to be conducted during the four-day visit under leadership of French Premier Edouard Daladier and British Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax.

Hitler Dominance
Outstanding was the now-pending question of German resistance to Nazi demands that the Sudeten Germans be given autonomous status which, in effect, would make them subject to dominance by Fuehrer Adolf Hitler.

The recent Czech-Nazi crisis and the few intervening weeks of negotiation that resulted in a settlement have made two points clear: (1) The possibility of peaceful solution is remote; (2) The question of whether Nazis will undertake early action to enforce their demands depends on their guess as to what Britain would do in event of war.

France has left little room for doubt that she will go to the aid of the Czechs if they are attacked and Soviet Russia also has given definite indications that she would aid Prague's defense. But Britain's prime minister, Neville Chamberlain, repeatedly has avoided a definite statement on the same question.

Daladier's Task
At the same time, all of Chamberlain's words on the subject have indicated a belief that Britain inevitably will be drawn into any general war—and no doubt has been left as to which side the British would join. It will be Daladier's task to make that position still stronger in order to ward Germany away from the Czech frontier.

One other question of grave importance will be the Anglo-French discussion of President Roosevelt's recent offer to join any move to reduce armaments. While nobody believes that any immediate progress can be made on the general questions of arms building, there appeared to be hope that some action could be taken toward reduction of the complex problem of ending civilian bombardment from the air.

Woman Diver Unruffled Over Her Hazardous Job

Ninety-five feet from the platform to the water—and then only five feet of water in a tank 12 feet in diameter to hit.
But to May Collier it's a job to be done nearly every day in conjunction with her work as the only woman high diver touring the west this year. She is presenting her first performance in Twin Falls each evening at the Mardi Gras grounds near Harmon park in connection with the "Idaho on Parade" celebration. This year she is traveling with the White City shows.

His Daughter
May Collier, of course, is her "show name." In real life she is Mrs. Howard Tydings. Aside from her eight-year-old daughter and her husband, she is accompanied by her mother at her tours, which have included the United States, Canada and even South America. In South America she featured at Japanese park in Buenos Aires for eight months, then toured the entire country.

Talking with an Evening Times reporter she revealed that she had been diving "almost since I was first able to walk."
After enjoying swimming and exhibiting in aquatic diving most of her life, she entered the professional field at 18 and started on a career that was to become famous throughout the country. Her first dives into tanks were from 18 feet. Gradually she increased this and today she dives from a platform 95 feet above the ground.

Unique Show
Unique among divers from this height into a shallow tank May Collier leaves the board "front first." A majority of the artists who do this dive for a life work fall backwards.
Sinking down to earth she guides her body with her head. "My spine is so great that the slightest twist of my head serves like the rudder of an airplane," she told the Evening Times reporter. "I wouldn't take much to miss that small tank and every movement must be timed perfectly."

"At night there is a red light on the tank. I use this to aim with and be sure I am heading in the particular direction. I watch this light all the way down," she said.
No Protection
During her dives she wears no protection of any kind on her head or shoulders. She lies on her back without even a pair of water wings, but she is accompanied by divers with any local group since they are on hand to assist her in the event of an accident.

Notwithstanding the fact she has dived from 95 feet, May Collier maintains she never goes more than two feet below the surface of the water. Although she is an outsider to figure out how she does it, but she has done it hundreds of times and although she is "down" today and the opening of the tank is still at it.
But yesterday, in the heat of the summer sun, she was looking forward to today and the opening of the Harmon park swimming pool for the balance of the week.

Takes Kids Swimming
"I took many of the children traveling with us to the nearby canal to swim today," she said, "but tomorrow we go into the swimming pool. I love to swim although I do not like diving in a pool. I am afraid I will get used to diving too deep and then not be able to correct it when I make my high dive."
And so while most women believe they have "done something" if they win the club prize at bridge, May Collier believes it to dive 95 feet into five feet of water.

Gardeners Given Chance To Show Choice Blooms
Opportunity to display their choicest blooms and to win prizes in several classifications will be accorded gardeners of Twin Falls and vicinity at the August flower show sponsored by the Twin Falls Gardeners.

The show is scheduled tentatively for Aug. 24 at the Odd Fellows hall, according to Mrs. John S. Feldhusen, secretary of the arrangements. Thomas Speedy is chairman of artistic arrangement of the hall; Mrs. O. T. Kooser and Mrs. Speedy are assistants to Mrs. Feldhusen, and Miss Margaret Hill, home demonstration agent, is chairman of the judging committee.

Unique Feature
One of the most unusual features of the flower show will be the display of "flower pictures," models of which will be placed soon in downtown store windows, according to Mrs. Feldhusen.
In creating the still life "flower pictures," boxes about 12x18 inches are to be used. When completed the ensemble should represent a still life scene.
Judging of the "flower pictures" will be made on the following points:

Proportion of composition to dimensions of box, 20 points; distinction and originality, 15 points; color combination, 15 points; proportion and balance, 10 points; relation to receptacle, 10 points; continuation of floral material in composition, 10 points.
Other details of the contest will be announced from time to time, according to Mrs. Feldhusen.

LUTHERAN SYNOD SEEKS INCREASE

In the interest of various Lutheran synods embraced in the American Lutheran conference, the Scandinavian group as well as the American Lutheran church, which was formerly the Iowa and Ohio synods, a series of three meetings will be conducted here during July and August.

Special efforts are being made to contact those persons who have had church connections in the middle west, but have not affiliated themselves with any local group since moving to the Twin Falls community.

E. W. Kasten, a student of Wartburg Theological Seminary, Duquesne, Iowa, has been placed in the field for the summer months, and is canvassing the city for Lutherans as well as others who are at present without a church home.

The first of the services will be conducted Sunday, July 24, at the Adventist church, Third and Third north. Other dates are Aug. 7 and 21.
Should sufficient interest be created in the project, an ordained pastor will be sent by the church in the early fall to work in this field, as well as serve the Lutheran church in Jerome, which Mr. Kasten is supplying during the summer months.

Lawn Party Arranged For Former Resident

A highlight of July for Twin Falls' "youngest set" will be the gay lawn supper this evening at the W. B. Brooks home, 1336 Ninth avenue east, arranged by Mrs. Brooks in honor of Miss Shirley Thompson, Salt Lake City, the house guest this week of her daughter, Miss Marilyn Brooks. Assembling to welcome Miss Thompson, one-time resident of Twin Falls, will be a number of her former classmates.

Contributing a fiesta note to the occasion will be the streamers of bright electric lights which will form the illumination for dancing, and bingo, to follow the alfresco supper. Guests will be seated at quartet tables, and crystal bowls of nasturtiums in a wide color range of yellow and orange will form the attractive centerpieces.

Mrs. Brooks will be assisted by Mrs. W. J. McFarland and Mrs. Harry Ball. Guests at the clever affair will be, in addition to Miss Thompson and Miss Brooks, Miss Price, Miss Joan Wilson, Miss Dorothy Kregel, Miss Joyce Wait, Miss Verla Bell, Miss Irah Bell, Miss Jane McFarland, Miss Gwendolyn Helfrecht, Miss Mary Beth Crivier, Miss Lavon Eaton, Miss Marilyn North, Miss Bobby Jean Douglas, Zenia Smith, Donald Voorhees, Donald Baisch, Murray North, Tom Deacon, Jack Salsburg, Bobby Kaplan and Richard Westor.

B.P.W. Outlines Philanthropic, Civic Interests

Adopting a six-point activities program, the Business and Professional Women's club clarified the objectives for the coming year at a business and program session, following an alfresco supper at the country home of Mrs. W. Powell last evening. Miss B. Marie Aukerman presided.

The event was the eleventh annual picnic at which Mrs. Powell had been hostess to the group, and the supper was served at one long table on the terraced lawn, adjacent to the rose garden.

One of the major activities of the year, probably to take place in the early fall, will be the sponsorship by the club of an Idaho Products dinner to be given at the Pioneer Hotel. The purpose of the dinner will be to give publicity to Idaho products, and the funds will be used to defray the expenses of the group. P. W. clubs of surrounding towns will be invited to be present, as well as the public. The program theme will be built around "Idaho."

Philanthropy Figures
The club will continue to furnish cold-lyer oil for undernourished children as a year-round activity, and contemplates sponsoring one or more picture shows during the year to finance the project.

The organization will also cooperate with Mrs. Vera C. O'Leary, principal of the Junior high school, and Mrs. Rose Murray North, dean of girls in the senior high school, in providing clothing, books and other items which will enable girls to remain in school who might not receive assistance from other avenues. A special committee will carry out the undertaking.

Hints on Home CANNING

PEACHES
It's time to can America's favorite fruit—the peach.

Select fresh, ripe peaches. Remove pitting by pitting or if uniformly ripened they may be pitted by immersing in boiling water one minute. Plunge at once into cold water for few seconds. As soon as peeled, drop fruit in a weak salt solution made by dissolving one teaspoon salt to one quart water. This will prevent discoloration.

The cold pack method of canning is used which means peaches are packed raw. Drain salt solution from peaches and pack loosely into clean jars to within 1/2 inch of top. As soon as each jar is filled add syrup to within 1/2 inches of top. The syrup used may be medium or thin depending upon individual taste. Adjust jar cap. Using self-sealing cap place lid on jar with sealing composition next to glass, and screw the band firmly tight. Have water bath canner on stove with water near boiling point. Place jars of peaches in canner and process for 20 minutes, counting time from minute water in canner begins to boil. When jars are removed from canner, the self-sealing cap requires no further tightening. Frequently at this season of the year the homemaker will find a supply of small but well ripened tomatoes on hand. These may be well utilized by making them into chili sauce. This quantity is an old favorite for roast beef and steaks. Prepare at least a few jars of CHILI SAUCE.

One gallon chopped ripe tomatoes, 1/2 cup chopped white onions, 1/2 cup chopped sweet green peppers, 1/2 cup chopped red peppers, 1 cup brown sugar, 2 teaspoons ginger, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 teaspoon

Pirates Pass "ACID TEST" AS CONTENDER RULING ASSURES PUBLIC SALE OF ROSE BOWL TICKETS

Pittsburgh Turns Back Giants as Cubs Win Seventh

By GEORGE KIRKSEY NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—Pittsburgh finally has passed the acid test and today all the skeptics had to accept the Pirates as a team to reckon with in the National league pennant race.

Hurling back the champion Giants in a bitter series, the Pirates not only held first place but had proved to themselves that they can stand toe-to-toe to battle with any team in the league. New York has long been a Pittsburgh nemesis, more than once crushing their pennant hopes so severely that they subsequently collapsed.

Win Seven From Giants Not so long ago the Pirates already have won seven games from the Giants, more than they won all last season. In capturing the series final yesterday, they bounced back from a disappointing Sunday double-header in which they were able to salvage only a tie game. The Pirates won the series, two games to one.

Johnny Rizzo and Lloyd Waner led Pittsburgh's attack yesterday in a 4-4 victory. Rizzo hit a homer with two men on in the sixth, breaking up a pitchers' battle between Harry Cumber and Cy Young. The Pirates then clubbed Dick Coffman for four runs in the seventh. Blanton weakened in the eighth and Bill Swift came in to put out the fire.

Cubs Beat Reds The Chicago Cubs continued their dash to get back into the pennant race by defeating the Boston Red Sox, 7-6, for their seventh straight victory. The Cardinals won the series safely until the ninth when Tony Cuccinello's double with the bases loaded drove in three runs to tie the score. Then the Cubs put the Red Sox safely until the ninth when Tony Cuccinello's double with the bases loaded drove in three runs to tie the score. 40 Per Cent of Ducats Set for 'Outside' Fans

By JACK QUENTNER PASADENA, Calif., July 19 (AP)—The prospect of the general public again being shut out of the Rose Bowl football game—as it was last New Year's day—vanished today.

Meeting in special session, the Tournament of Roses committee and the board of directors of the Pacific Coast conference voted unanimously to place at least 40 per cent of the reserved seats on public sale, beginning with the next game on Jan. 1, 1950.

In past games the Pacific coast participants in the game was given first choice at tickets. The public scrambled for what was left.

Under the reorganization the western representatives will be allotted 60 per cent of the admissions, 40 per cent going to the general public. The remaining 10 per cent to the press, clubs and other special groups. The visiting eastern eleven will be given a block of 5,000 tickets, one on in Rose Bowl history has an invading institution, require more, and that was last year when Alabama's Crimson Tide disposed of 6,000.

Under the old system members of the student body and alumni association of the conference defender were permitted to request six tickets each. When the requests were filled public sales began.

Plans for reorganization were voiced before the 1938 game was played. Dr. Hugh C. Willet, of the University of Southern California, presided at the conference committee, promised his cooperation. That promise was fulfilled in the meeting of officials last night.

SALES MEAN JOBS

SALES MAKE JOBS!

and EXTRA sales count most!

A Word to Twin Falls Sales Persons

Since the institution of the local "Sales Mean Jobs" campaign, reports of results have been highly gratifying. Sales have been up — but it has been the EXTRA sales that have counted!

EXTRA sales are the ones that you make beside the regular sales — EXTRA sales are the ones that you make where there were no sales before. Personal solicitation, attractive presentation, knowledge of your product — these things make EXTRA sales.

Hundreds of employes work hard for their living — most of them are, in some manner, sales persons. The EXTRA sales created by this large group is the keynote of this nation-wide campaign. We urge you employes to again take stock of your sales ability — and make EXTRA sales to help win this important campaign for our community.

To the buying public we present our solicitation for co-operation. Buy now to help swell the EXTRA sales which are so important in this fight!

War on Beetles, Spud Men Told

South Idaho Must be Vigilant, Hale Warns

Potato growers were called to arms today to keep close watch for a pest that offers a potential threat to every spud man in Twin Falls county and south central Idaho.

The pest is the Colorado potato beetle, which had apparently been eliminated this afternoon in one infested Buhl field but which could conceivably cost every potato grower a full $10 more per acre in production expense necessitated by complete spraying.

The beetle was spotted in a field on the M. Homing ranch last week for the first time. Over the weekend Mr. Homing and County Agent Harry E. Hale used a "duster" machine and some calcium arsenate dust and thoroughly treated the infested patch.

Each controlled "we think we got this patch eliminated," Mr. Hale said today. "We killed all we could find, and then thoroughly dusted all plants there."

The dreaded parasite — three-eighths of an inch long, one-quarter of an inch wide — is easily distinguished by its striped markings of black and yellow.

Hale voiced a new angle to the warning for spud men. "We found these beetles in a field containing volunteer potatoes. They were on the volunteer plants. Mr. Homing had planted new potatoes there but the bugs were still on the old plants."

Makes It Worse "This volunteer phase makes it worse," the county agent emphasizes, "because that type of spud plant is scattered all over the county in many kinds of fields. Farmers should immediately check every field where spuds grew last year, no matter what has been planted in them this season."

Hale painted a picture alarming to other south Idaho counties if control measures are not taken at once. "If we get this pest here, it will spread up to Burley and to the rest of the Snake river country. From there the direction toward Boise — we have the desert as a very effective barrier. The beetles do not make long flights."

Incidentally they were brought in here by some artificial means."

In Boise Valley The beetle threat to potatoes has been existent in the Boise valley for eight years at least, and the pest has been existent in northern Idaho since 1925. Anyon county has had several outbreaks, but it has controlled them. In 1930 some regions of southwestern Idaho suffered outbreaks. In several instances crops were taken out eradication in full has not been achieved. Malheur county, Ore., across the Snake from western Idaho, has not been successful in eliminating any outbreaks in that region.

Hale said that "constant vigilance by ranchers will be necessary here to avoid possibility of extensive annual spraying should the parasite spread."

The beetles can quickly defoliate an entire plant, it was pointed out. At the small infested patch in Mr. Homing's spud field about a dozen plants were attacked, and beetles and larvae were found. No eggs were discovered.

The county agent here, and those in other counties of this area, have sent out intermittent warnings for growers against the beetle. The infestation, however, is the first actual menace.

Report Promptly Prompt reporting of any signs of the beetle was urged on ranchers today. Hale's office will take immediate preventive measures, and if infestation is spotted in other south central counties, county agents in those regions will take similar steps. Control action is:

Dust the vines with a mixture of one part of calcium arsenate to three parts of hydrated lime or spray them with calcium arsenate at the rate of four pounds to 100 gallons of water. Repeat applications should be made after larvae hatch and begin to feed in the spring and before they have caused any appreciable damage.

Col. Watson 'Outfishes' FDR on Southern Cruise

ABOARD THE U. S. S. HOUSTON EN ROUTE TO COCOS ISLE, July 19 (By Naval Radio to the United Press) — President Roosevelt hoped to better his record on his fishing vacation in southern Pacific waters. Thus far he has taken record honors to Col. E. M. Watson, despite the president's catch yesterday of a 38 pound yellow tail.

Col. Watson pulled a 60 pound grouper from Magdalena bay, where Mr. Roosevelt's party did most of its first day of fishing. The U. S. S. Houston will move farther southward today on the leisurely trip to Cocos and Galapagos Islands. The President and his fishing companions were favored with ideal weather. It was warm and sunny; the waters were calm — perfect conditions for fishing in tropical waters.

As he will do until he disembarks Aug. 9 at Pensacola, Fla., Mr. Roosevelt received several messages from Washington yesterday. One said that Helen Keller would be unable to accept an appointment as chairman and civilian member of the committee on purchases of products made by blind persons. Miss Keller, who previously had accepted, said that the position would require more traveling than she cared to do.

Mr. Roosevelt appointed M. R. Migel to replace Miss Keller.

DANCERS CROWD DOWNTOWN AREA

With Bus Vaughn and his "Hungry Five" providing the music, first day activities of the "Idaho on Parade" celebration ended last night at a street dance staged in the downtown section between the Rogerson hotel and the Fidelity National bank building.

The public street dance, under the direction of Walter Callan and assisted by Charles Russell and Dewey Hutchinson, all members of the local American Legion post, attracted an estimated 2,000 persons. Five hundred couples participated in the dance which started at 9 p. m. and lasted to midnight.

Additional hundreds attended the opening of the White City shows at the Menlo-Gras grounds near Harmon park. The shows will be presented again tonight starting promptly at 7 p. m.

The street dance yesterday followed up success of the "Million Dollars" baby parade, initial event for the week's celebration. More than 6,000 persons crowded the downtown area to watch the 250 baby participants.
