HOLLISTER MAN MURDERED IN NEBRASKA

"Idaho on Parade" Celebration will Reach Peak on Thursday

8-COUNTY PICNIC IS FEATURE OF DAY'S PROGRAM

Twin Falls' great "Idaho on Parade" celebration moves down the home stretch Thursday on the "big parade" and the eight-county picnic are staged with the parade scheduled to get underway at 10 a. m. and wind its way through the downtown area.

The parade, which at the present time appears to be headed for a length of at least two miles, will be divided into three divisions. It was announced this afternoon by Capt. Ralph Lighton, who is in charge.

Four bands will be featured in the parade. Heading the pioneer division will be the Twin Falls municipal band. The historical section will be headed by the Boy Scouts drum and bugle corps and the commercial group will be headed by the Elmer high school band.

The parade, entries will meet at 6 a. m. tomorrow at the corner of Sixth street west and Main avenue for directions. The pioneer division will form at Main avenue and Third street west, the historical section at Second avenue west and Third street and the commercial division at Third avenue west and Third street.

"Parade starts at Third street west, goes down Main avenue to Third street south, then down Third street south to Main avenue east, then

'Great Day for Irish,' Says Mr. Mulligan

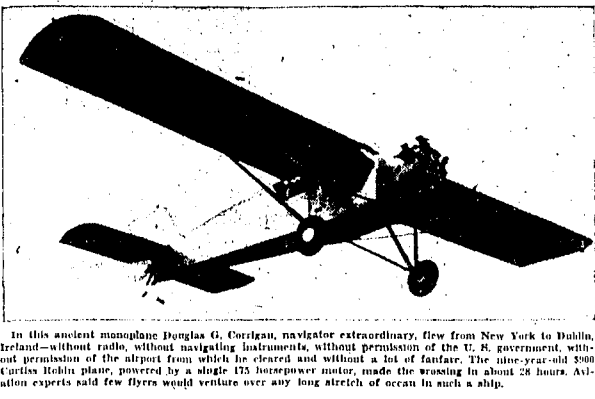

"It's a great day in the history of the Irish people and we don't want to spoil their fun right now by talking about punishments," said Bert Mulligan, director of the Air Commerce Bureau in Washington, when asked whether Douglas G. Corrigan, above, would be disciplined for flying to Ireland without government permit.

Amateur aviation experts are speculating on what the unpredictable Douglas G. Corrigan, above, will do next. He confounded them by hopping the Atlantic in a rickety nine-year-old monoplane. He is pictured as he readied his ship for a return to California, which turned out to be just about the most spectacular feat in air history.

Hops Atlantic—The Hard Way

In this ancient monoplane Douglas G. Corrigan, navigator extraordinary, flew from New York to Dublin, Ireland—without radio, without navigating instruments, without permission of the U. S. government, without permission of the airport from which he cleared and without a lot of fanfare. The nine-year-old $300 Curtiss Hawk plane, powered by a single 175-horsepower motor, made the crossing in about 28 hours.

Martial Law Ordered in Iowa Town

NEWTON, Ia., July 20 (AP)—Street-battled national guardsmen, armed with machine guns and bayonets, broke up a pitched battle today in front of the Maytag Washing Machine company plant.

At least 30 men were slugged, killed and otherwise maimed in a fight between non-union employees who attempted to enter the plant and union strikers who resisted their efforts.

The battle raged for an hour before the strikers fled to a nearby building which had been dispatched to Newton by Gov. Nelson C. Knessel to enforce martial law in this city of 11,000 residents and industrial territory.

The national guardsmen encountered only slight resistance when they arrived at the plant and did not participate in any of the fighting.

They kept in the middle of the crowd, ordered dispersal of the crowd and warned that the city was under martial law.

But the fight continued. It was estimated that 1,000 persons, including several shouting, clanging weapons in the streets.

Twenty-five men who attempted to enter the plant in a body were set upon and driven back.

A special constable appeared with a gun and was disarmed quickly. A policeman, swinging his night stick, rescued a "back-to-work" man from the crowd.

A man identified as "Red" Alger, a non-union member, drew a knife to defend himself from the angry crowd. He and a patrolman were pushed against a wall. Alger finally was rescued and taken to jail for his own protection.

Spring Leafhopper Influx Shows Drop

MANIPULATION of the spring generation of leafhoppers for 1938 in southern Idaho was less than had been previously expected. It was revealed this afternoon in the third report on leafhopper conditions prepared by J. R. Douglas, associate entomologist of the U. S. B.

The beginning and peak of the spring movement from desert areas into cultivated sections occurred May 26 and June 17 respectively. Mr. Douglas reported.

"Beginning and peak of the spring movement from desert areas into the cultivated sections occurred May 26 and June 17 respectively, which was practically in accordance with the statement issued in the May 19 report."

The spring movement was considered as large as in 1937, including a more favorable year for beetles in relation to the annual pest.

"The report in which the beginning and peak of the spring movement of beet leafhoppers from the desert areas into the cultivated sections occurred May 26 and June 17 respectively, which was practically in accordance with the statement issued in the May 19 report."

SPAN APPRAISER AWAITS REPLIES

BOISE, July 20 (AP)—The bridge engineering division of the state department of highways reported today that Leo Huggins, federal road engineer making an appraisal of the Twin Falls-Jarvis inter-county bridge, had a lot of correspondence to finish up before he could make his appraisal public.

Huggins, the division reported, is encountering difficulty in securing prompt answers to his written requests for material prices and estimates based on the plan and content of the toll bridge.

The federal engineer has completed his visual appraisal of the bridge structure, the division said, and unless he finds he has overlooked specific details, will not return to the bridge site to finish his appraisal.

Instead, he will reconstitute the bridge on paper. His report on value of the bridge, when finished, will be given to the state board of examiners for its investigation.

The report will be the basis for further negotiations toward purchase of the bridge by the state for incorporation in the U. S. highway system.

11 PWA Workers Killed by Dynamite Blast in Tunnel

BALTIMORE, July 20 (AP)—Eleven men were killed and nine injured today when 450 pounds of dynamite exploded in a chamber heavy out of solid rock in water tunnel 65 feet underground.

The men, employed on a public works administration project, literally were blown to bits when the dynamite accidentally was detonated. All were Negroes. Three of the nine injured were in a critical condition.

The blast shook the suburban Hamilton section where the project was located.

One Missing
Of the 11 men listed as dead, one was missing. Rescue workers believed he had been blown into the dynamite and was blown to bits.

The explosion occurred a few minutes after the workers had unfurled the dynamite from a cart in the chamber far below the earth.

The dynamite was to have been placed in a series drilled into solid rock of the chamber, 14 by 14 feet.

Only three in the group escaped alive, and they were in a critical condition. It was believed they were just outside the door entering the chamber.

150 Feet from Chamber
The believers injured, all of them white men, were about 150 feet from the chamber in which the explosion occurred. They were scarily blown to stone walls and a turn in the shaft.

Rescue workers said that the men standing in the chamber had no chance of escape.

During blasting operations, the workers retreat about 150 feet from the chamber. The foremen could not explain the cause of the detonation.

Film Star Ends Second Marriage

JOAN CRAWFORD AND FRANCHOT TONE

Crawford, Tone Announce End of "Ideal" Marriage

By FREDERICK C. OTTMAN
HOLLYWOOD, July 20 (AP)—Joan Crawford, the one-time chorus girl who became one of Hollywood's suairest first ladies, ended still another "ideal" movie marriage today by announcing her separation from Franchot Tone, her second husband.

Miss Crawford, who once said she believed all actresses should remain spinners, wouldn't answer the telephone at her Brentwood Hills mansion. Tone, son of a wealthy manufacturer, a Cornell graduate, and society-man turned actor, moved into an undisclosed hotel.

The only word from them was contained in this formal statement issued by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, the studio where they both are under contract:

"We regret this action, but we believe it is the best way out for our future happiness."

For weeks there had been rumors that all was not well with the Tones. Miss Crawford denied all such rumors. So did Tone. They insisted they may have had their quarrels, but that they still were in love and that their three-year-old marriage would last for many more years.

Tone's movie contract ends in November. He is expected to go to New York to appear on the (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

WOMAN, 2 MEN SOUGHT IN HUNT IN MIDDLE WEST

Discovery of the murder of a Hollister man, slain near Kearney, Neb., apparently by hitch-hikers to whom he had given a ride, brought intensive search in Nebraska today for a young woman and for "one or two men".

The sheriff here was informed by officers at Kearney.

Kobus Fisser, 56, of Hollister, was found slain July 10 beside a highway south of Elm Creek, Neb. Quiet investigation has been going on since that time, and today the Idaho department of law enforcement called on Idaho news officers to assist with any information available concerning Fisser.

Slugged on Head
The aged Idahoan had been slugged 15 or 20 times about the head with a blunt instrument, it was understood here.

Slashed motor car, a 1935 Dodge sedan, was discovered in front of the Kearney hospital on the morning of July 10. It had apparently been abandoned there by the slayers, according to word to the sheriff's office from Sheriff George W. Sear, Kearney.

Hollister man, who had lived in the Salmon tract community for more than a year, had been on route to Omaha, Neb., where he was a trailer of the four-wheel hayrack type, loaded with household goods.

Trailer Found
The trailer was found abandoned on the highway near Elm Creek and Holdrege, Neb., at about 1 p. m., July 8, the day before the Fisser's possessions, including bed, clothing, furniture, sewing machine, radio and other equipment, were found in the trailer south of Elm Creek.

Fisser's body, when found, was covered with a home-made quilt, apparently part of his possessions. He was dressed in new overalls.

Deputy Sheriff Art C. Parker said this afternoon that check-up here shows Fisser had withdrawn all his money from the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company July 15. He left Hollister for Holdrege, Neb., where he had relatives.

No Money Found
"When the body was found," Parker said, "there was no money on it."

Parker estimated that Fisser probably had about $100 to $150 in cash on him when he left.

He urged any Hollister residents, knowing definitely whether someone had seen a hitch-hiker who he left, to contact the sheriff's office here immediately.

The murder victim, whose wife and family had previously gone back to Nebraska, had written relatives that he might not be able to make the trip alone because of his health and his lack of finances. He told them, he might pick up someone to help him drive and to come on expenses.

Severe Cancer

Prater 7th In Coastal-Gun Match

LOS ANGELES, July 20 (AP)—The vaunted membership of the state department of highways reported today that Leo Huggins, federal road engineer making an appraisal of the Twin Falls-Jarvis inter-county bridge, had a lot of correspondence to finish up before he could make his appraisal public.

BUNCE DROPS MASTERS; LASHES BRIDGE STAND

(See today's editorial calling for candidates' stand on bridge issue)

William M. Bunce of Filer, prominent Democratic leader and a signer of the petition of Ira H. Masters for second district U. S. congressman, this afternoon announced he had withdrawn his support in Masters' behalf because of the candidate's actions relative to the proposed purchase of the Jerome-Twin Falls inter-county bridge by the state.

Urges Miller Vote
Mr. Bunce's announcement was made public today after he had dispatched a letter to Mr. Masters pointing out his reasons for withdrawing his support and also urging the people of Twin Falls county to register their protest against Mr. Masters by voting for Bert H. Miller on primary day in view of the positions Mr. Masters assumed on the bridge transaction.

"In signing Mr. Masters' petition, and canvassing some of my friends in his behalf, I felt that I was doing Twin Falls county and northern Idaho a courtesy and had the welfare of the county at heart," Mr. Bunce said this afternoon.

"Inasmuch as he was at one time a citizen of this county and at that time had the respect of most citizens and the welfare of the county at heart, I felt I should support him. Further, inasmuch as Twin Falls county has expended approximately $1,000,000 of its own money for main highway construction without receiving any material aid from the state or federal government, I felt that Mr. Masters was a man who could be relied upon to help secure for this county his just and equitable portion of the state funds."

Mr. Everyman Asks Why— Nation's Stocks Fly Upward

"In treasury circles? Has the nation's great stock market been so long a time in the doldrums that a business uptick is imminent? Or is the market showing a reaction which John T. Flynn, eminent economist and journalist, recently predicted in his book 'The Coming of the New Deal' and 'The Coming of the New Deal'?"

The market, according to the Treasury department, has been in a state of depression since the end of the war. It has not been cut severely in that period, employment had declined and the market had been in a state of depression since the end of the war.

The Bridge Issue and Politics

All those in south central Idaho who favor the state taking over the Twin Falls-Jerome Intercountry bridge for the purpose of making it toll-free will be interested in knowing just how the various legislative candidates stand on the issue before going to the polls in the primary Aug. 9.

Several requests already have been made to the Twin Falls newspapers to determine if possible how each of the legislative candidates in Twin Falls county feels as regards the bridge controversy.

There is no question about Dan J. Cavanagh who seeks re-election as state representative from Twin Falls county. During the last session of the legislature he fought virtually a lone battle to get the toll bridge barrier removed from U. S. 93 between the north and south sides of Snake river.

In the event the state board of examiners continues to delay the "independent appraisal" which two members requested in refusing to approve a transaction by which the state would have made the bridge toll-free on June 24, and it develops that the fight will again have to be taken before the legislature, those favoring a free bridge will want to be represented in the state legislature by candidates who are in sympathy with a free bridge.

Because of the importance of the bridge issue, it is only reasonable to expect all legislative candidates to commit themselves before the primaries. These include the following Democratic candidates: For state senator—Harry W. Barry, Mrs. T. Dan Connor, C. H. Hempleman and Eugene Scott; for state representative—Mrs. Frankie K. Alworth, Frank L. Atkins, Dan J. Cavanagh, R. C. McDonnell and H. E. Powers.

The Republicans have only one candidate for state senator, Floyd W. Neale, and two candidates for state representative, C. L. Bussmann and R. E. Leighton.

It is only fair for the voters to expect a definite statement from each of these candidates in advance of the primary election, explaining exactly what they will do to secure a free bridge in the event they are nominated and eventually elected. The Twin Falls newspapers will be glad to publish these statements for the enlightenment of the public. Candidates in adjoining counties likewise will be given an opportunity to express themselves on this issue in both the Idaho Evening Times and Twin Falls News.

Meantime the public should not lose sight of the fact that two members of the state board of examiners—Attorney General J. W. Taylor and Secretary of State Ira H. Masters—have made no apparent attempt to expedite the "independent appraisal" which they requested at the time they refused to allow the claim which would have raised the toll from the bridge.

Although State Director of Highways J. H. Stemmer announced on June 21 that the appraisal would be completed in "a week or 10 days," no announcement has been forthcoming and there is no indication that there will be in the near future.

Meantime the General Construction company, at the request of the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, has completed a detailed appraisal showing that the price being asked for the bridge is not out of line. This appraisal was started a week after the board's appraisal got under way, and was completed more than a week ago.

Unless the secretary of state and the attorney general demonstrate their sincerity by releasing before the primary election the appraisal they requested, the people of south central Idaho will have ample reason to believe that these men are not much concerned with the wishes of this vicinity.

And when these same people go to the polls Aug. 9, they should remember that the bridge would now be open to free traffic had it not been for J. W. Taylor and Ira H. Masters.

If they are not playing politics—if their own appraisal has not proven they were wrong on the price issue—why are they delaying the announcement?

Laughter as Evidence

Patrick Montford, visiting Irish publisher, dropped a few remarks about laughter the other day in an interview just before his return home.

He recommended it as an antidote for economic depression, war fears, and political distress. He reported that in the United States he had found a great deal of it. A great deal of laughter, that is.

What kind of laughter he found he didn't say, and that would have been illuminating. Laughter is so many things.

A 99-year-old woman in Stratford, Ont., says the youth of today is just as good as the youth of 50 years ago. He's a lot younger now, too.

WHEN YOU GO to the big cities, the unexpected gyrations of the newspaper headline writers there are apt to give you the willies. Not that they try to mislead you so you'll buy the paper as you catch a glimpse of the headlines on the news-stands. Oh no, the boys are too ethical for that. (I took him with a snicker, Algenon.)

ANYWAY, WE thought we'd try to give you a sample of the way some of them try to make things sound more spectacular than they really are. A sample, we mean, as far as we can within the narrow confines of a single column. Those boys of course have eight-column banners to play with, with type so big and black it would bring 2,016 cases of heart failure in southern Idaho. But here goes our first sample. (We'll bet 40 people call up an hour after press time to find out whether Italy is warring on England, etc., etc.)

MARRIAGE STATISTICS DEPT.
 We understand that no less than 11 eleven, count 'em, couples have been engaged in the matrimonial ring, with its free marriage ceremony, free apparel gifts, etc. But 10 of the 11 cents were not galvanized into the 19 cent marriage. Which proves a lot of folks still think they can live on love. Hard-headed Pot Shots, however, would like to assure the 19 cent marriage that this belief is greatly exaggerated.

THEY'RE INVADING SACRED THINGS NOW!

 This won't qualify your candidate content but it's along the same line.

Picture of a candidate meeting a casual acquaintance on the street:

 Asks cordially about condition of man's business.

Man says exclaims he hasn't got any; exclaims asks him if he thinks that.
 Remarks offensively that man is certainly looking well, etc. etc. he certainly is.

Man grunts he's got a bad stomach and feels like a pig.
 Asks man if he can use a neat little blister with political advertisement on it.

Man says he never uses a pig and doesn't want a blister.
 Asks man what he thinks of the candidate in the picture.

Man says he thinks he's all right and if you'll think anything my lapel, please give it to the candidate who has just been elected.

CHAPTER VII
 TRAN did not notice that when Dr. Benchley was about to interrupt with a swift question, someone else in the check-room stopped him with a quick, low word.

She only knew that the eyes of the man on the table clung to her for reassurance, and that under her hand the quivering in his arm lessened, the tense muscles relaxed, and he fell into a peaceful slumber.

She did not know how long she stood so without looking up—feeling that she was being watched by her fingers and the calm assurance of her voice—before a white-clothed nurse came with an orderly and opened the patient over her.

It was only then that Dr. Benchley said with the irony of a patient too long strained, "If it isn't your honor, I'm glad to be interesting to get some idea just what that was all about."

TRAN lifted her head and answered absently out of the jaws of that newly discovered sense of power. "He thought he was dying. I told him it was going to be all right."

"As simple as that, eh?" commented Dr. Benchley dryly.

TRAN did not answer. Instead she turned and walked toward the terrace where she had been watching her with a thoughtful frown between the arrogant sweep of his brows.

Once outside, TRAN found that her knees were shaking so helplessly that she had to cling to the wall as she went along the corridor.

So that was what Miss Phibbin meant when she talked about "giving to the patient."

TRAN thought about that evening that TRAN never knew.

LATE that night, Dr. Sargent, coming from the operating room with fatigue, halted in the corridor outside Miss Armstrong's door.

He was about to knock, when he was framed by the transom, knocked, and went inside.

Miss Armstrong, her cap slightly askew, stood just inside the doorway, watching her with a thoughtful frown between the arrogant sweep of his brows.

BY a strange coincidence," Dr. Sargent went on, staring at the ceiling, and luxuriously scratching his head in the manner of the one who was up in court—together with young Benchley—a month or so ago—the one with the long hair and the slight limp.

TRAN did not notice that when Dr. Benchley was about to interrupt with a swift question, someone else in the check-room stopped him with a quick, low word.

Behind the Scenes in Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
 (Evening Times Washington Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The candidates in Oklahoma who tried hardest to out-promise the others were Senator Frank B. Rowles, for senator, and Alfalfa Bill Murray, for governor.

Mr. Rowles's friend, Senator Elmer Thomas, who won Democratic renomination after the President patted him on the back, is no sound, cautious conservative himself. Elmer always is wanting to do something more about silver, printing press money and inflation.

In fact, there were those who felt that poor Woodrow Hockaday, who tried to spring on the President with a property plan based on shining silver and buying wheat to make bread at a profit, belonged somewhere on a ticket which featured Gomer, Alfalfa Bill, Elmer and an editorialist named Alfalfa Bill West, Daniel Boone, Brigham Youngs, Huey Long, Oliver Cromwells and Patrick Henrys.

"Hm! I doubt if Katherine Miller would recognize an honest emotion if she met it naked in the mud," said Stephen Sargent said with a sudden flash of tone that made the director of nursing glance at him sharply.

"Naturally," he agreed. "She has the quickest eye, the coolest intelligence, the deepest heart of all the nurses I have ever worked with. She'd have made a damned good surgeon if you ask me. But she's too kind, too warm, and too good-natured for that."

VERY OLD

The Rev. Father Francis J. Haas, chairman of the WPA labor politics board, told this one to me. "I remember Smily, gathering and the priest started kidding. It's a great day for the race," he said. "What race?" someone asked. "The human race," said Father Haas.

A sister led him gently aside and asked if he remembered the newspaper account of the kidnapping of his father and mother. She pulled out an old newspaper and showed it to him. On the same page appeared, as a filler, appeared that joke.

"And the date," confessed Father Haas, "was Sept. 17, 1863."

Grange Lists Rules, Premiums in Twin Falls County Flower Show

Editor's note: Sponsor committee of the Twin Falls Grange suggests interested parties submitting entries for the flower show, please the following regulations for their future reference.

Proper answer to "How does your garden grow?" is "Right in the direction of prize-winning entries at the Grange flower show," in Twin Falls county at present.

Announcement of the flower show, tentatively set for Aug. 24 at the Odd Fellows hall, sponsored by the Twin Falls Grange has stirred flower growers of the county to an increased interest in producing the fine flowers for which the county is noted. The show will be open to the public from 2 p. m. to 9:30 p. m.

Not in Contest

The flower show is being held in conjunction with the "garden improvement" contest but is not to be confused with it. Floral culturists of the county are eligible to participate in 41 entries, but only Grange members are taking part in the "outdoor living room" division.

Early last spring, pictures were taken of the Grange garden entries by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Speedy, Mrs. John S. Feldhusen and Harvey Hale, county agent. These will be compared with the completed projects.

Privacy, usefulness and beauty will be the points which the judges will consider in awarding the prizes for the "garden improvement" contest, and planting of flowers and shrubbery and other details of landscaping will be given primary importance. Installations of fireplaces, pools, and so forth, will be considered secondarily.

Jewelry Handicraft

The sound of hammer and saw will be familiar in the coming weeks, for the 15-years-and-under residents of the county are going to have an opportunity to show their expertness in handicraft. They will make bird houses and garden accessories and other items to be displayed at the show.

Certain they are to have a deeper fondness for and greater knowledge of the native flowers of Idaho, after the show is over, for the juvenile exhibitors are also to be awarded prizes for the most artistic arrangements of wild flowers.

Regulations for Show

Rules governing the flower show are as follows: (1) Competition open to all residents of Twin Falls county.

(2) Only one entry allowed an exhibitor in each class, i. e., no one exhibitor may receive first and second prize on any variety of entry.

(3) Decision of the judges shall be final.

(4) Exhibits must be delivered and arranged between 8 and 10:30 a. m. on the day of the show.

(5) Exhibits must be delivered and arranged between 8 and 10:30 a. m. on the day of the show.

(6) Exhibits must be delivered and arranged between 8 and 10:30 a. m. on the day of the show.

(13) Exhibits must be delivered and arranged between 8 and 10:30 a. m. on the day of the show.

(14) Exhibits must be delivered and arranged between 8 and 10:30 a. m. on the day of the show.

(15) Exhibits must be delivered and arranged between 8 and 10:30 a. m. on the day of the show.

(16) Exhibits must be delivered and arranged between 8 and 10:30 a. m. on the day of the show.

(17) Exhibits must be delivered and arranged between 8 and 10:30 a. m. on the day of the show.

(18) Exhibits must be delivered and arranged between 8 and 10:30 a. m. on the day of the show.

Prizes to be Awarded

First and second prizes will be awarded in 41 classifications, in which all exhibitors are eligible. In addition to these, prizes will also be awarded for the best commercial or professional display, and for the Grange garden improvement contest.

There will be no entry fee, the sponsors announce. A small admission charge will be made at the door to defray the expenses incident to conducting the show. Sponsors offering prizes for the various divisions will be announced later.

(2) Most artistic high basket (mixed flowers).

(3) Most artistic high basket, one variety.

(4) Most artistic low basket, one variety.

KETCHUM, HAILEY LURE ON OUTINGS

Although the Sun Valley rodeo in August is now the next big feature in the Ketchum resort country, week-end motorists find plenty of attractions in the area every Saturday and Sunday.

Tickets for the rodeo are now on sale and can be received by writing to Sun Valley. Thousands of Idahoans and out-of-state enthusiasts will pour into the valley—but between now and the rodeo, the Sawtooth country offers other lures galore.

Ketchum's clubs provide entertainment in town, and fishing and overnight camping trips are highlighting the outdoor amusements. Scenery unsurpassed in America awaits the week-end traveler or the one who goes in for an entire vacation.

Hailey is similarly a busy mecca for outdoors lovers these days. Its lodging facilities are accommodations for greater crowds than ever this season, and the Wood river fishing spots draw their full share of enthusiasts.

For a Sunday picnic outing, both the Hailey and Ketchum country-rides offer an ideal day for the family. The drive up to the Sawtooths is a perfect way to escape the heat, and shady mountain nooks await the picnicker at every hand.

Twin Falls to Rogerson, turn right to Salmon dam Cedar creek, Threecreek and Killy's Hot Hole, now called Murphy's hot springs on the Jarbridge river; return the same way.

Here's the Route to Vacation Pleasure

Ideal Outdoors Wonderland is In Easy Reach

Places to go for vacation or week-end . . . and good roads on which to get there . . . these abound in southern Idaho. If you're bent on vacationing away from Idaho, paved highways lead in all directions to take you to the horizon. But for an ideal vacationland you needn't travel further than half a day's auto run from Twin Falls and the other south central communities.

And just to make it easier for you, here is your Evening Times thumb-nail directory of places to go and how to get there.

Pettit Lake—U. S. 93 over summit; 11 and one-half miles more on 93; turn left one and one-quarter miles.

CRATERS-AWAIT IDAHO MOTORIST

If you're thinking of a nearby wonder of nature for a week-end trip, look to Idaho. There are a phenomena that no south Idahoan should miss.

But in spite of that fact, hundreds of motorists who live within easy reach of the national monument haven't yet inspected its impressive wonders.

Like Moon's Surface

Near Arco, and within easy running distance of Carey and Mackay, the Craters of the Moon national monument is claimed by scientists to be the nearest approach on this planet to the surface of the moon as we see it through a telescope.

Roads to the monument are good, and the 1938 season officially opened on May 22. So the seasons on now open to the Craters your "trip-tip" itinerary for this season.

To get there, take U. S. 93 to Shoshone, where you will see the monument on the right-hand side of the road. Idaho route 23, drive from Carey on state route 23 to the Craters. As simple as that, but the trip reaps you a thousand-fold.

Field of Lava

The national monument consists of a great field of hardened lava, remnants of "modern" and ancient volcanic eruptions. The lava has formed into weird and awe-inspiring shapes, and examining these shapes provides a day of vacation unlike any other.

NATION TOLD OF SINKING CANYON

Perhaps you haven't seen the colorful booklets that are going all over the country these days.

Topic: Buhl's sinking canyon.

The booklets tell those in many parts of the nation all about the marvel of nature near Buhl. But many south central Idahoans haven't seen the phenomenon yet themselves. For a brief Sunday outing, drive over and see what happened on Harley Robertson's farm.

Easily accessible, this wonder of nature is located seven miles northwest of the city of Buhl. Highway 30 will lead the motorist from Twin Falls to Buhl and then the traveler follows the same highway on the other side of Buhl until a well-marked gravel road leads to the canyon. Total distance is approximately 24 miles from Twin Falls.

It was on Aug. 10, 1937 that the world first heard of the "sinking canyon" through a story in the Evening Times. Less than 48 hours later the story had been carried in every daily paper in the United States and was already spreading to Europe, Canada, Mexico, Alaska and other countries.

200 Feet Down

Once more than 17 acres of fertile farm and grazing land, the "sinking canyon" has now more than 200 feet below the surface of the surrounding land. What was formerly the original wall of the Little Salmon river canyon still stands the area between it and a distance of more than 150 feet toward the ranch house of Harley Robertson having sunk deep into the earth.

Noted geologists made a study of the unique area but no general opinion as to the cause of the phenomenon was ever reached. In nearly every case each had set opinions as to why it all happened.

Standing on the canyon's rim the visitor can look down into the depths and still see sections of land which formerly were cultivated. The even rows are still visible and even feed the land is still intact in several instances.

Road to Edge

Because of the national interest shown in the wonder, farmer Robertson has constructed a road to the canyon's edge and for a small fee, visitors are permitted to visit the area.

Each year, during a two and one-half month period, more than 11,700 persons were admitted and a great majority of them were from states other than Idaho.

Apparently the canyon is now in a dormant period of its "life."

But evidences that it may "awaken" are seen by the fact that it has been opened in the area behind the original drop and closer to the home of the ranch operator.

Idaho's "Vacationland" is Calling You

Whether it's a week-end or a longer outing, the "vacationland" de luxe awaits you in southern Idaho's mountain and lake country. Above, just one of the ideal spots in the Sawtooths. Below, left, a fair vacationist with one of the trout that reward Sawtooth fishermen and fishwomen. Below, right, one south Idaho family enjoying an outdoor vacation.

Seeking a Trip? Sawtooth Region Is No. 1 Mecca

Let's take a look at the outdoor offerings that await the motorist who decides on a week-end or a longer vacation in Idaho's Sawtooth wonderland.

You can reach it all on one main highway—U. S. 93. To the fishermen, it's the No. 1 dream. To the women, it's a marvel of scenic beauty. And to the youngsters, it arrives at Idaho's most famous dude ranch—the Rocky Mountain club.

From the Rocky Mountain club the traveler crosses and re-crosses the Salmon river during the next eight miles of the journey. Still "good fishing" exists along the entire route.

At the eight mile point the traveler takes the left road and travels one and one-half miles before the shore of the most picturesque lake of the group, Little Redfish, is reached. Here again are camping sites for the outdoor people. But another mile further up the same road is the "big brother" of Little Redfish—the Big Redfish.

Hotel Facilities

On the shores of Big Redfish, like a modern hotel has been constructed and camp sites are plentiful. Boating, fishing and hiking are some of the many diversions offered. Three sides of the great lake are walled in by the mighty Sawtooth mountains.

Then from Big Redfish the traveler returns once more to the main highway and travels six miles down to Stanley, a typical western town of the old days in which festivals and dances attract people from all walks of life who mingle together and "make time" for the day.

At Stanley the traveler can once again leave the main traveled road and, after six miles, view Stanley lake where still more camping sites in natural, untouched beauty are available.

From Stanley there are literally 1,001 trips which can be made.

AUTO TRIPS

A public park is maintained on the shores of the lake where there is " plenty of room" for those wishing to camp out.

Dude Ranch

From the ranch, the borders directly on the main highway, the journey continues north for a distance of some eight miles, every foot of it along the Salmon river which

PUBLIC WEDDING ATTRACTS 7,000

Odesa Wyke, 18, and Max Cazier, 22, both Piler residents, were starting their married life today at a public wedding here last night before 7,000 persons by Justice of the Peace H. M. Holler at the Mardi Gras grounds near Harmon park.

The public wedding was the largest marriage "party" in south Idaho history and was the most brilliant of the "Idaho on Parade" celebration now being observed in Twin Falls. Arrangements were in charge of Charles H. Russell. He was assisted by W. Clyde Williams. The crowd was said to be the largest ever to attend a carnival event in this city.

Evening Gown The bride wore a formal evening gown with the rooming to a tulle. Lee Cazier, brother of the groom, was best man and Dorothy Jackson was attendant for the bride. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cazier, parents of the groom, were also present. The entire party was from Piler.

The marriage marked the 250th anniversary of the city. Immediately following the ceremony the young couple was handsomely entertained by the groom's parents. They then enjoyed the attractions of the show as guests of the management.

Gifts for the bride included those from the Vogue, Bertha Campbell's store, J. C. Penney company, Hood's, Park company, Cinderella shop, Sweetbrier shop, Twin Falls Floral company, Sierling Jewelry company and the Russell Beauty Beauty shop. The groom received gifts from the Idaho Department store, Van Engen's, Rowland-Macy company, Bus Vaughn's and Alexander's.

Baseball Today The celebration continues today with a baseball game this evening between the Piler Angels and the Kimberley Independents as the highlight. The game is called for 5:30 p. m. at the old ball diamond. The city also has a number of other events, featuring many free acts, will open again this evening at 7 o'clock. It was also open during the week.

Throughout the balance of the week special sales will feature in the downtown stores.

Prodigal Yachtsmen Return with 'Borrowed' Vessel

Three Santa Cruz, Calif., youths, who "borrowed" the yacht Tira for a cruise to the south seas, ran afoul of the law when they put in at Puerto Vallarta, Mexico, 1,000 miles south. They were held on complaint of the yacht's owner, Lee Foot, who flew to the Mexican port to return the youths and his boat. And here they are, standing on the yacht, which was landed at Los Angeles, left to right: William Grace, 16; Lyle Tava, 17; James Henninger, 17, and Foot.

Almanac-Forecasts 1939 Fall in Il Duce's Power

LONDON (U.P.)—Foulham's Original Old Moore's Almanac, which claims to be published under an original copyright dating back to 1897, prophesies world events of sweeping importance for next year. The decline of Benito Mussolini's dictatorship is predicted for November, 1939, the juncture of which is "adverse for Mussolini, whose way will be rapidly declining through discontent fostered by economic depression, partly through the reigning dynasty now exercising more control than hitherto in Italian affairs."

TOP BREEDERS CONSIGN STOCK TO ANNUAL RAM EVENT

IDAHO SHEEPMEN COME TO FILTER FOR AUG. 10 SALE

Outstanding breeders of Twin Falls and other parts of central Idaho regions have consigned stock for auction at the 17th annual state ram sale scheduled for August 10, at the fairgrounds, according to latest data sent to the Evening Times today by M. C. Clear, Boise, secretary of the Idaho Wool Growers' association.

The association sponsors the annual event, which is known as one of the most important purbred black face ram sales in the United States.

Large Total

Total offerings this year will comprise 388 Hampshires, 231 Suffolk and 240 Suffolk-Hampshire. Mr. Clear said. "In addition there will be five Corriedales and nine Lincoln-Rambouillet rams."

Clear, founder of the breeders' consigning rams to the state sale include Frank L. Stephan, R. B. Eddy, A. E. Boone, H. C. Childers, Mr. A. E. Holmquist, Twin Falls; Willard McMaster and Ben Jensen, Hansen; J. S. Elick, McLean, Kimberly, Robert E. Blackstock, B. A. McCoy, Piler; T. J. Weaver, Buhl.

Among more distant consigners are M. H. Smith, Soda Springs; University of Idaho, Moscow; S. W. McClure, Michael Barclay, Blackfoot; Ed W. Moore, Pocatello; standing Bury and Rupert breeders are also included in the list.

Preparations Soon

Preparations for the sale will start soon at the fairgrounds, according to Mr. Clear, and construction of pens and the building of a new stand are well advanced.

Col. E. O. Walter, Piler, and Dean Sullivan, Nampa, will be the auctioneers for the sale. Dr. S. W. McClure, Kimberly, Robert E. Blackstock, B. A. McCoy, Piler, and T. J. Weaver, Buhl, are the one of Idaho's most prominent breeders of purbred Hampshire rams.

In all, there will be 128 lots sold. This will be consigned to one of Idaho's best breeders, all rights already been inspected and passed on by the ram sale committee, headed by Robert A. Blackstock as chairman, L. L. Breckinridge, Twin Falls; H. L. Finch and E. F. Rinehart.

The wool growers' association will meet in Twin Falls on the evening of the sale, Aug. 10. On Tuesday evening, Aug. 9, all purbred breeders and range sheepmen are invited to attend the annual dinner given at the home of Mrs. H. C. Childers at the Kiwanis club of Piler. This is scheduled for 6 p. m.

BUHL

The members of the Buhl Catholic church enjoyed the annual family picnic dinner Sunday at the Madeline ranch at Clear Lake. Several members were guests from the pastures of Wendell Gooding and Jerome. The afternoon was spent socially and in enjoying the youngsters' race and sport.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Whitley plan to leave Buhl early Thursday morning for Yellowstone park where they will spend a week before going to Black Hills and Lead City, N. D., to visit relatives of Mr. Whitley.

Hazelton Garden club visited the camp recently and left a donation of $5 for the purchase of bathing suits. The visiting women were Mrs. Frank Johnson, Mrs. B. F. Brennan, Mrs. D. O. Longenecker, Mrs. W. A. Pyne, Mrs. Henry Forbes, Mrs. Roy L. Gale and Mrs. H. K. Belmont, all of Hazelton; Mrs. H. R. Grant, Twin Falls.

O. B. Smith, Lewa, Hot Springs, arrived Saturday to take the place of G. Blazer as first truck operator of the Oregon Short Line. Mr. Blazer has moved to Reno Valley.

The C. R. Smith family has moved to the Hazard house on Eighth north.

The Northwest community club held its annual family picnic Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maxwell. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hart and family, California, who are visiting here with relatives. The next regular meeting of the club will be held this afternoon of July 27 at the home of Mrs. Sharon Smith.

Boulder Dam Backwaters Submerge Historic Town

Though floods are commonplace in the United States, it is rare when science joins with nature in inundating a town. Today, the waters of the mighty Colorado river are slowly backing up across the fertile fields and peaceful habitations of St. Thomas, Nev. Above, a scene in the town as it is gradually submerged by the waters of Lake Mead.

Pig Smartest of Animals In Electric Fence Tests

APPLETON, Wis. (UP)—Achilles, the pig who had a nervous breakdown when scientists in an eastern university tried to teach him to find an apple in a box by electric shock signals, wasn't a typical pig, experimenters here believe.

Figs. J. K. Aylward and Harold Sheridan of Fond du Lac, Wis., have found, response to the shock of an electrically charged fence "in a flash."

Smartest

In fact, Aylward and Sheridan found, the pig is about the smartest animal on the farm when it comes to electric fences.

"The 'porcher' who pokes his snout against one of the charged wires while grubbing his daily meal does so just once. After that he remembers it's hot."

The cow, on the other hand, is one of the least apt four-legged pupils. She needs four or five good jolts to learn her lesson, investigators discovered.

The horse soon finds that rubbing noses with the old gray mare in the next pasture isn't safe anymore, but the sheep can do just about as they please. Their wool coats provide the insulation they need to ward off the current. A nip on the tip of their bare noses makes

NO WORD HEARD OF LOST AIRMAN

DETROIT, July 20 (UP)—Relative of Davis D. Smith, 46-year-old amateur aviator, believed today that he had perished on a hop across the Atlantic ocean in his rebuilt monoplane. The airplane factory representative has been missing since he left Wayne county airport June 29.

When Smith took off, his reno-vated plane was carrying a capacity load of 350 gallons of gasoline—enough to carry him 3,000 miles. There has been no trace of him since. His plane carried no radio equipment but was a more modern type than the ship Douglas Corrigan flew to Dublin.

Two of Smith's sisters living in eastern states said they had no idea of his whereabouts. They feared he had crashed, either in the ocean or in some isolated area between Detroit and Newfoundland.

Smith had confided in friends several months ago that he planned a solo transatlantic flight, probably to Belfast. Joseph W. Hance, a high school instructor, said he helped Smith rebuild his single-engine Verville monoplane. Smith left no indication of where he would land when he departed from the airport 22 days ago.

The only navigating equipment was a directional gyro of his own design and construction, a magnetic compass, an altimeter circle and a hand-drawn map.

Smith was employed as foreman in the research laboratories of Chrysler corporation.

Two Girls Assisting Camp Fire Official

Wanda Hankins and Eugenia Elder are assisting in the Camp Fire office this week. On alternate days they aid Mrs. Mary Branin, secretary, in conducting the routine of the office.

Assistance during the week has been made necessary by the press of work occasioned in the preparations for camp. All girls planning to attend one of the sessions also are qualifying for honors that they wish to receive at the grand council fire.

ARMY BARRACKS DE-DUXE

LONDON (UP)—The barracks of British soldiers are being modernized and made more comfortable. The first of the new-style barracks are being built for the Cameron Highlanders in the North of Scotland. They are equipped with concealed lighting, sleeping cubicles furnished in a "restful style."

Wage-Hour Head

The difficult task of administering the wage-hour law, first federal experiment in establishing nationwide minimum labor conditions, falls on the shoulders of Elmer F. Andrews, above. Long experience as civil engineer and as industrial commissioner of New York state qualify Andrews to undertake the placing of a "floor under wages" and a "ceiling over hours" in all industries engaged in interstate commerce.

ONE MAN LEFT IN 'OIL BOOM' TOWN

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UP)—The days "back bay in the 1850s, when the magic cry, "black gold," echoed throughout northwestern Pennsylvania, were recalled when Charles Birtzell, 86, last surviving resident of this once-thriving town of 18,000 persons, was bitten by his Spitz dog.

Bitten 20 times on both hands, Birtzell was taken to a doctor in Pleasantville, not far from Titusville, where Col. William Drake discovered oil in 1857.

"Like the old "ghost" towns of the west—towns which rose up from the desert during the gold rush days of '49 only to be deserted when the yellow dust was exhausted, Pittsboro once was the headquarters for fortune hunters at the height of the oil boom.

The town was the scene of feverish activity for several years. Fortunes were made and lost. Then the flow of the wealth-producing fluid diminished and finally dwindled to a point where it was no longer profitable.

With nothing to lure people into the town, the population gradually decreased through the years until Birtzell and his dog were the only ones left.

The spot man is one of the few persons alive today who can recall any detail of Pittsboro. He can point out in the meadows the location of once thriving streets and the sites of famous buildings that were frequented by hundreds when "black gold" flowed from hastily erected wells. Outside of Birtzell's humble abode, not one structure of the forgotten town now remains. The last building, a church, was demolished two years ago.

When Birtzell died, the name of Pittsboro will die with him—unless the cry, "black gold," again reaches the feverish pitch it did in the days of Drake and other pioneers.

Jerome Highway Oiling Campaign Makes Headway

JEROME, July 20 (Special)—At present two shifts of workmen are busily employed preparing the gravelled streets of Jerome for the extensive oiling program scheduled to begin operation within the next week.

The program will cover an approximate 110 blocks of streets and about eight blocks will be widened out the full width, while the remaining number will be widened about 24 feet, with all intersections completely oiled.

In addition to this oiling on the usable streets, there will also be a number of blocks which will be paved and prepared for oiling next year as time and funds permit.

CLEVELAND CAN TAKE FIRST PLACE TODAY

Vitt's Club Only Half Game Behind First Place Yanks

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—The Yankees have been saying all season that the Cleveland Indians were a "fold-up club." But they haven't been able to prove it.

Instead, the evidence at hand indicated that the Yanks are more inclined to fold than the Indians. In 11 games between the pennant rivals the Indians have won seven; the Yanks four.

And today the Indians can tumble the Yanks out of first place by sweeping both ends of a double-header at Yankee stadium. The White Sox did it earlier this season.

Manager Oscar Vitt has selected Johnny Allen, who has won 12 straight games and would rather beat the Yanks than all the other six clubs combined, and Rookie Johnny Humphries who has been red-hot lately. The Yanks pitched with Lefty Gomez and Red Ruffing. With this array of pitching talent on display and first place at stake, some 70,000 fans are expected to jam Yankee stadium.

Settle Down Again
After squandering the league lead by losing a double-header and rugged pitching, the Indians have settled down again and apparently are far from through. They have won the Yanks yesterday under the steady pitching of Mel Harder indicated that Vitt has kept most out of the game.

After losing the lead with Harder pitching a six-hitter the Indians conquered the Yanks, 5-3, and trimmed their lead to half a game. The defeat snapped the Yanks' seven-game winning streak and marked their first loss in 17 games at home.

Black Ferris doubled in the 10th inning scored Buddy Myer with the run by which Washington defeated Detroit 4-3. The Senators pitched Vernon Kennedy for 14 hits, with George Kase leading the attack with three singles.

Pittsburgh held its half game lead in the National League by blanking the Reds 8-0. Behind the big left-pitching of Ed Brandt, Johnny Vaughan, with a 4 for 4 and Arky Vaughan, with a 3 for 4 and perfect control at bat. Two of Vaughan's hits were triples.

The New York Giants put on a ninth-inning rally to score three runs and overtake the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-6. Hank Leiber drove in five runs, hitting a homer in the eighth run, which winning the game with a ninth-inning single.

The Cincinnati Reds broke a four-game losing streak by scoring a double victory over the Boston Bees, 3-1 and 7-2, and climbed back into third place one percentage point ahead of the Cubs. Whitey Moore, making his first start of the season, held the Bees to two hits in his opening. He held them hitless until Punch-Hitter Earl Gruber singled in the eighth. Homers by Lombardi, Grant and Elger brought back the second.

Bucky Walters allowed only eight hits to win his fourth straight 7-0. Who Tamms stopped the Chicago Cubs in a game which was a 3-0 Brooklyns downed them, 8-3. It was the Dodgers' fifth straight victory and their seventh against the Cubs against first division club. Lavagetto and Tamms each drove in three Dodger runs.

Burley Juniors Ready for East Victor

BURLEY, July 20 (Special)—Burley's speedy Junior American Legion baseball club today was preparing to defend its regional and state honors yesterday capt of the south central championship from Shoshone by a score of 12-6 on the local diamond. A week earlier the local fans were their first name of the series 17-6 on the Shoshone field.

Early next week the local fans are scheduled to tackle the winner of the Pocatello-Idaho Falls series for the championship of southern Idaho and if successful will move from there to the state title play against the winner of the western division.

Home Club Battles
After the victors had led for five innings, the home club came through with big rallies in the sixth and seventh innings to tack the game away as 2. Tooleen, busting through with three hits in five trips to the plate, to lead the assault on Blamire, Shoshone meadman.

Shoshone opened a scoring of the game in a big third inning rally when they scored four runs on Blamire's three bopper, Danman's single and a passed ball. With pitch, they were led by Jorgenson and Bolton and an error on Watson's fly.

Burley's Big Tinning
Burley scored a run in the fourth and another in the fifth and in the sixth really applied the pressure as they took the lead for the first time. Gano singled, Tom Church was hit by a pitcher, Acaturri singled and Thomas tripled and then Thomas scored himself on an error. Groves topped the rally by driving out a home run over the center field's head. Burley collected five runs on five hits and three errors.

Burley's star hurler, Brown, struck out 12 Shoshone batters in the six innings he was on the mound.

Twin Falls Reported As "Near Cinch" to Land Berth in League

By HAROLD L. WOOD
Evening Times Sports Editor

Mounting interest in the inter-mountain territory was being displayed today as the date for the meeting of baseball executives from Idaho, Utah, Oregon and Montana neared.

The meeting is set for Twin Falls on Tuesday, July 26, the purpose being the organization of an inter-mountain loop that will display at least Class C baseball—possibly Class B.

And as interest gained, so it would appear that Twin Falls would need to get busy if a franchise is to be offered this city—for offers to buy franchises in the proposed new league are coming in faster than President Lloyd Harris of Lewiston, who started organization of the circuit, ever dreamed.

Present proposals would include eight of the following clubs: Lewiston, Boise, Pocatello, Idaho Falls and Twin Falls in Idaho; Baker and LaGrande, Ore.; Butte, Mont.; and Ogden, Salt Lake City and Provo in Utah. That makes 11 teams—and the gathering will certainly select the eight cities that are offered a berth in the loop—but from there on it's every man for himself—and the devil take the hindmost.

Already lacking in population from what other cities in the area have to offer, this city has the disadvantage in location—and with the proper organization back of a club here will probably receive 100 per cent support from representatives of other cities in the proposed league.

Meeting Tonight
A meeting will be held tonight at the Chamber of Commerce room and all fans interested should be present. It is absolutely essential that an organization be set up before the meeting so that Twin Falls can show some semblance of work on getting a team.

It appears the present writing that the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which is working to bring a baseball franchise here, will be financially able to construct one of the best parks in the inter-mountain territory on its new Jaycee park project—and that assistance that is needed is the proper financial backing for the club.

It is reported that the St. Louis Cardinals are willing to look "firm" here, but it is thought that before the Cards would even consider offering the franchise for a team they would demand some kind of a local organization.

Plans were under way today for the reorganization of the Co-op team in the Twin Falls Softball association league following the second forfeiture in two nights of play by the cellar-occupying team.

The Co-op plans to add new players to the roster for its next game, which will be on Friday. Last night's forfeit was against the Glass-Point club in the eighth inning. The creamery crew fanned the Glass-Point Transfer-Hemp Lumber club, and in the other tilt of the evening, the Idaho Chiefs kept their second round intact by scoring a narrow 6-4 victory over the Glass-Point club.

The conference trial Glass-Point for the first four innings of the fifth inning rally in the fifth inning knocked the count at that point.

FRIDAY GAMES POSTPONED
Postponement of Friday games of the Twin Falls softball league were announced today by Fred Johnson, president of the league. The postponement was due to the American Legion week-long celebration here. The Legion had requested use of the grounds on that day.

four-all and in the sixth frame the league-leaders added a pair more to take the game away. Mel Harder, strike-out king of the loop, whiffed only two men. He held the hard-hitting Paulmen to five hits, however, while his resources were touching the offerings of Joe Atkins for eight. Curt Floyd, first man to face Harder, connected for a home run, the only extra base blow of the seven-inning game.

In tonight's games Wiley Drug will take on Idaho Power in the upper court, Wash. for the middle weight and Vogel's tangles with Texaco under the flood lights.

HOLLISTER MAN'S Army of 4,000 Fights Coast Forest Fires

(From Page One) SAN FRANCISCO, July 20 (UP)—An army of more than 4,000 men today fought forest fires in California, Oregon and Washington, as dry lightning, low humidity and high winds threatened national forests, valuable privately owned timberlands, and a score of towns.

The Washington forest fire association reported that five large fires in that state were of incendiary origin.

A survey showed a dozen large fires raging out of control.

Among these was the Smith river fire in Oregon, which covered approximately 6,000 acres.

Out of Control More than 300 forest fires burned in eight national forests in California.

Out of Control One of the largest, at Red Cap grade, north of Ukiah, was out of control.

MURDER SUSPECT TRAGEDY IN IOWA

Nebraska authorities have extended to Iowa their hunt for a hitch-hiker who claimed to have been riding in the car of a man who was believed to have a connection with the brutal slaying of a young woman.

This information had been received today by W. M. McDonald, manager of the Salton River Canal company and an acquaintance of Holister, who has not been informed of progress in the case by Nebraska newspaper accounts.

Get Clue Sheriff George W. Sears, Buffalo county investigator, said that several attendants told him a hitch-hiker whose description closely coincides with a man seen driving a car with Fisser's car.

Attendees said the claimant to be a man named Adolphe, of the former occupation of a laborer for a ride, and paid for it with a $30 bill.

When Holister's acquaintances first learned of Fisser's death, before full details were received, they believed he had succumbed to the severe car accident.

While, therefore, large inventories would have caused a decline in activity, it would not have proceeded collapsed which occurred in a few months last year.

Two Other Forces There were two other forces. One was a widely held view that dollar devaluation was near.

But many circumstances led speculators to write down the devaluation date as close at hand.

There was a general feeling in business that the bottom was probably being reached.

Men are in business to make money, not to punish political or religious enemies.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

By William Ferguson

MERCURY IS THE SPEED KING OF ALL THE PLANETS! ITS VELOCITY THROUGH SPACE VARIES FROM 24 MILES PER SECOND, TO 36 MILES PER SECOND.

MUSKRATS ARE NEVER WITHOUT A FAINT, SWEET-SMELLING PERFUME IN THEIR FURS.

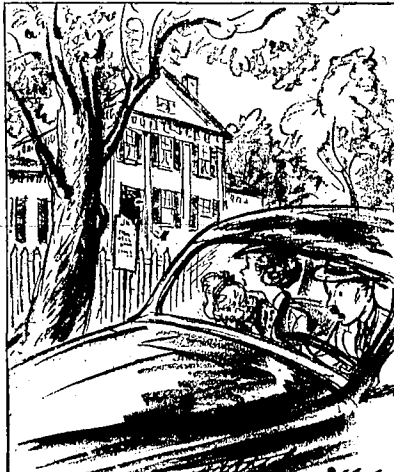

IN THE MORNING, CROWS FLY LOW, SEARCHING FOR FOOD; IN THE EVENING, THEY FLY HIGH, ON THE WAY HOME TO ROOST.

Mercury completes a trip around the sun every 88 days, which gives the planet a year that is shorter than a spring, or a summer, on our own earth. Since the planet travels in orbit (inside ours), it passes between the earth and sun every 116 days.

Corrigan Gets Movie, Air, Lecture Offers

Money Plans No Interest To Irishman

By CHARLES J. McDONNELL
DUBLIN, July 20 (AP)—Douglas George Corrigan took another look at his nine-year-old "crate" today and laughingly revealed that he had another possession which he treasured almost as much.

It formerly was owned by another Douglas George Fairbanks, whose foats in the movies thrilled the California "wrong direction" flier when he sold newspapers years ago on the streets of Los Angeles. It was a dime—price of a newspaper plus a tip—which Fairbanks once gave Corrigan.

With lucrative offers pouring in from all parts of the world—a chance in the movies, possibly a trip around the world, lectures and other stunts—the 31-year-old unemployed airplane mechanic said he did not have much use for money. He had $15 in his pocket when he arrived here from New York on his "zenek" solo hop.

"Not interested?"
"I'm not interested in money," he said. "I can get sufficient fun and satisfaction from life without it."

"I never really had much money and for years I sold my papers back in Los Angeles. One of my most treasured possessions is a dime which Douglas Fairbanks gave me for a paper."

"I'm out of a job right now, but I always seem to get along all right."

Irish government authorities, cheering Corrigan's 6,000-mile flight, gave him back his $200 plane after he promised not to attempt to fly it back across the Atlantic.

It was believed that Corrigan would remain in Ireland and enjoy his "vacation" for about a week before sailing back home with his "Spirit of St. Louis" safely aboard. It was not certain whether it would have to be dismantled.

Corrigan's flight to London in his ship because I only had a special license to fly it from Los Angeles to New York and back. Corrigan said he supposed he could fly it through if it was ordered to take it over for a show for the king, or something like that.

He has been receiving offers for contracts but I accepted none of them and will not consider any in the United States until I return home."

Corrigan reiterated his intention to ship the plane back to the United States.

"That's too good to get into anyone else's hands," he said, "I wish the cost of the return trip was only that of the trip over—about $20. I just want to continue thinking with airplanes."

As Explosions, Fire Swept Refinery

Great columns of flame and billowing smoke rising high into the sky, a spectacular fire completes destruction of the $12,000,000 Sinclair Oil company refinery at Wallville, N. Y. This air view, taken while the blaze was at its height, shows the inferno as one storage tank after another exploded. Four men were killed and many more injured as refinery workers and firemen battled to keep the flaming oil from getting into the Genesee river and floating into Wellsville to endanger the city. The large storage tanks seen in the lower right-hand corner were barely saved from the blaze.

O'CONNELL LEADS MONTANA'S RACE

HELENA, Mont., July 20 (AP)—Rep. Jerry O'Connell, ardent New Deal supporter, increased his lead today and apparently was headed for Democratic renomination in the primary election held yesterday.

Rep. James P. O'Connor, also seeking renomination on the Democratic ticket, likewise held a comfortable lead in early tabulations.

Returns from 208 out of 413 precincts in O'Connell's congressional district, the first gave:

O'Connell 10,250
Fayre Templeton 14,266
T. J. Collins 2,884
Maggie Smith Hathaway 1,090.

O'Connor took an early lead and maintained it as the counting progressed. Templeton, his principal opponent, is superintendent of schools in Helena.

In 289 of the Second district's 755 precincts, O'Connor received 15,306 votes to 8,212 for H. E. Rogin, Republican, speaker of the house during the last session of the legislature.

Returns from 208 precincts out of 413 in the Republican primary in the First congressional district gave:

Dr. J. Torkelson 1,887
Winfield Page 1,554
J. J. Garrison 1,144
Republican Results

Returns from 289 of 755 precincts in the Republican primary in the Second congressional district gave:

W. C. Hubbard 4,532
W. E. Stockell 3,951
H. O. Willard 1,242

O'Connell, who has indicated that he will oppose Sen. Burton K. Wheeler in the 1940 senatorial race, campaigned on a platform of support for the New Deal. Templeton, endorsed by Gov. Roy E. Ayers, runs a big cattle and sheep business, including President Roosevelt's proposal to reorganize the supreme court. Wheeler, whose name was linked with that of Templeton, although the senator said he was supporting no candidate, led the senate fight on the supreme court bill.
