BATTLE OPENS ON POTATO BEETLE INVASION

10,000 CURIOUS NEW YORKERS WATCH AS Youth Makes 17-Story Suicide Leap from Old Gotham Hotel

New York, July 27 (AP)—John Ward, 26, a young man, spent 17 hours on a narrow ledge abutting the 17th floor of the Hotel Gotham, then jumped to instant death in the street below where 10,000 persons watched.

hoped to entice him, as peddlers shouting through the crowds below crying, "Hyah ya are! Get your brooches hyah," he said to the policeman leaning out the window pleading with him.

Ward jumped at 10:36 (7:30 MST) last night. Since 11:40 a. m. yesterday he had been perched on the ledge, 18 inches wide, 17 floors above the 55th street intersection of Fifth avenue, one of the busiest and wealthiest mercantile streets in the world.

Whitaker, en route to Boise where he will spend the remainder of the week before returning to this city Sunday evening to conduct religious services at the L. D. S. tabernacle.

Opposed to Any Toll
"I am positively opposed to the general public being assessed an additional tax for driving over any of our state highways," said Mr. Whitaker, "and I think it is a mistake to permit a toll bridge to be built in Idaho in the first place."

Fair to Company
In this connection, however, Mr. Whitaker explained that the price should be fair to the bridge company as well as to the state "because those bondholders who invested their money in the bridge in good faith are entitled to just consideration."

Russian, Japanese Armies Play in Dangerous Siberian 'Poker' Game

Daring, Bluff Involved with New Incidents

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
United Press Staff Correspondent.

Japan and Soviet Russia played another hand today in the world's most dangerous power game—a struggle involving powerful armies facing each other across the Siberian frontier.

As in any high-stakes poker game, the bet along the Manchukuo-Siberian border involves daring, bluff and forceful action. There is, too, the constant danger that unexpected circumstances may suddenly shift the game to a winner-take-all basis.

Further Satisfaction
Further cause for Japanese satisfaction came from the Yangtze valley, where the powerful Chinese defense forces along the Yangtze valley at Kiching and where two Japanese columns advanced on up the river toward the former provincial capital.

Chiang Kai-shek's army, which has been prepared up to the river, the possibility of fighting at Kiching, a substantial number of troops were of Americans and other foreigners, but the foreigners said they did not intend to leave.

Fires Darken Skies of Pacific Coast

Virtually all CCC youths and hundreds of other men are fighting a determined battle against forest fires in Oregon, Washington and California, while in British Columbia, even naval radar operators have been called out to assist in communications as flames are battled on Vancouver island. At left, a ground view of a fire sweeping timber and dead snags. At right, Naval Telegrapher John Matthews, from his Canadian ship, operates a short-wave set for fire fighters.

COUNSEL STUDIES Overcast Skies May Bring Forest Relief

BOISE, July 27 (AP)—Overcast skies above the Boise and Payette national forests released a few drops of rain early today, bringing a slight measure of relief to an intensely dangerous fire situation.

Humidity crept past the 50 mark and officials said the moist atmosphere would act as a counter-agent to the merciless sun which for days has dried out timber and undergrowth until the fire potential was greater than at any time in the hot few years.

Under Control
A ground patrol discovered the fire today had it checked and fenced, fully under control. The rain which fell in no more than a drizzle, however, did not mean the end of the overcast conditions, which were greater than at any time in the hot few years.

GOP-BOURBON COALITION MAY PUT END TO THIRD-TERM TALK

INTIMATIONS OF LEADERS RESULT IN GROUP PLANS

WASHINGTON, July 27 (AP)—A Republican-Democratic coalition effort in the senate to force Roosevelt to resign for President Roosevelt appeared likely to develop today from agitation over his 1940 plans.

Mr. Roosevelt has made no categorical statement whether he will be a 1940 candidate or retire. His public utterances, however, have intimated a desire to leave office.

But some of his associates and supporters have suggested directly or indirectly that Roosevelt might continue to make the race in 1940. Partly for that reason the nation has broken out in a rash of third-term talk.

Continued at its present volume to assure both house and senate discussion of the matter when congress next meets.

Bourbon Help Welcome

There have been intimations from some Republicans that Democrats probably would be sought in and out of the senate to third term candidacy. When on a third term storm, the senate expressed itself in a resolution at all binding upon any nominating convention.

Some Democrats would have been taken into consideration if Mr. Coolidge's name had been put before the Republicans in 1937. The resolution adopted by a vote of 58 to 29, the resolution said:

"It is the sense of the senate that the president should be elected by the United States after their second term has become, by universal concurrence, a part of our Republican system of government, and that any departure from this time honored custom would be unwelcome and fraught with peril to our free institutions."

Most Effective

An anti-third term resolution would be most effective, observers believe, if it were sponsored by one or more Democrats rather than by the Republicans. La Follette, a Republican, offered the resolution designed in 1928 to stop Coolidge's.

An opinion expressed often among voters is that Mr. Roosevelt has not decided in his own mind whether to run but that when he does he will delay announcement of his decision as long as possible.

BATTLE STARTS ON SPUD BEETLE

Department of agriculture in the matter was pledged by Mr. Graham who termed the finding of potato beetles in this area "a forecast of a possibly serious situation."

"It is worthwhile to have the farmers realize the fact that it is a serious situation if it gets out of control," Mr. Graham said. "It is difficult to meet competition now and if our farmers have to be further burdened through a fight against the beetle it would not leave much room for profit."

"For this reason it is highly important that control measures start at once in this county. Only a few limited spots have been found to date but this does not mean they cannot spread unless we react to immediate action."

Close Watch

"It is vital that all farmers keep a close watch on their fields in search of the beetles. Mr. Hiate, the county agent, can furnish any farmer writing in with descriptive material regarding the beetle. If the ground would have to be 'attacked out' in order to be killed. The adult lays eggs on potato leaves near the top, it is explained, and as soon as the eggs hatch the beetle-to-be starts eating."

Several counties in Idaho are in search of the beetles. Mr. Hiate, the county agent, is believed to be the first instance. Representatives of other counties in this area who were present at this morning's meeting said they knew of no infestation in their locality. However, they said, an investigation leading to a general search would be started.

Those attending the meeting believed that the prompt action which has been taken will result in the stamping out of the beetles before they have a chance to cause any damage.

Funeral Set for 10th Anniversary Of Wedding Day

HAGERMAN, July 27 (Special)—On the 10th anniversary of her wedding day, funeral services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. for Mrs. Virginia Kimpton, 30, at the Hagerman Methodist Episcopal church.

Mr. and Mrs. Kimpton and daughter, Barbara Kay Kimpton, went to Seattle early this summer when Mr. Kimpton, county agent at that time, was in charge of the University of Washington.

The body arrived from Seattle Tuesday and was accompanied by the husband and daughter, and the mother, Mrs. W. O. Trupper, Hagerman.

Mrs. Kimpton, who was born Feb. 20, 1868, in Virginia, came to Hagerman as a small child, and had resided here until her marriage July 27, 1907.

She is survived by her husband and daughter; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Trupper; three brothers, William, John and Robert Trupper; all of Hagerman. A sister preceded her in death several years ago in Virginia.

ELK FLOAT GOES TO STATE MEET

Parade float of the Twin Falls Elks Lodge was en route in two trucks today to Idaho Falls, where the annual Idaho Elks convention opens Thursday.

The float—same as that used in the parade here last week—will represent Twin Falls in the street festivities arranged at the lodge celebration. The truck with decorations was escorted by caravan to the trip eastward, and the big stuffed elk figure rode in another vehicle.

Miss Louise Flechtner, Jerome, bathing beauty winner in the Twin Falls Elks contest, will go to Idaho Falls tomorrow with H. E. Deles, club secretary, and Mrs. Deles. She will compete in the finals there for a chance to win a trip to Hollywood and a M-O-M screen test.

The lodge yesterday completed purchase of a new evening gown and accessories for Miss Flechtner for the social activities in which she will also take part.

Carl Gibb, exalted ruler, of the Twin Falls group, will proceed directly to the convention from Nampa where he is now transacting business.

Remainder of the Twin Falls lodge delegation will probably consist of 10 or 12 members, according to Mr. Deles. Some of these will leave tonight; some Thursday morning, and a few will wait until Friday night.

BAR ASSOCIATION FIGHT FLARES OVER JUSTICE BLACK

NEAR FIST-FRAY FOLLOWS DEAN'S CHALLENGE STEP

CLEVELAND, July 27 (AP)—The American Bar association's resolutions committee today had received a resolution challenging the right of Justice Hugo L. Black to sit on the supreme court. The issue almost resulted in a fist fight.

The resolution, introduced by Dean Edward T. Lee of John Marshall Law school, Chicago, based its challenge on Justice Black's membership in the congress that increased supreme court justices salaries.

Richard V. Evans, Alabama circuit court judge, and Marvin Woodall, former president of the Birmingham Bar association, urged withdrawal of the resolution, Woodall asserting that its motive was to "be-little" the bar association.

"You have insulted Dean Lee," an unidentified Chicagoan delegate shouted. Evans retorted:

"We didn't insult the dean at all. Your friend, the dean, insulted Justice Black."

The unidentified Chicagoan moved quickly toward Evans and Woodall, who also advanced. The Chicagoan then retreated.

The resolution ultimately was left among five others for consideration of the resolutions committee until Thursday.

Red Cross Teaches Rescue Methods

Advanced swimmers enrolling for the life saving campaign here Aug. 8 to 20 will be taught how to use hollow surfboards in ocean, lake or river rescue. The Red Cross Life Saving Service is advancing this new life saving method as a safe means of rescuing the drowning. At top, life saver demonstrates resuscitation of victim after rescue from waters; at bottom, demonstration of ease of propelling victim to shore.

Red Cross Swim Course Teaches Rescue Methods

The Red Cross swimming and life saving campaign here, Aug. 8 to 20, will stress the value of having swimmers and non-swimmers alike familiar with rescue methods and water-safety equipment, says Mrs. D. L. Alexander, chapter chairman.

Red Cross experts, who have been factors in materially reducing the number of deaths by drowning, give to the public the following observations:

How to Rescue

Rescues may be made by non-swimmers from the shore or dock or by persons wading. Rescues may be made by swimming or they may be made from small craft with special equipment.

During the swimming and life-saving campaigns this season, special attention will be given to these various rescue methods. Students will learn how to extend a hand, or a leg, to a person in distress. They will learn how to use a coat, a fishing rod, oar, pole, boathook or plank.

Rescues that may be made by waders and rescues that will require the skill of advanced and experienced swimmers, are other subjects for the local classes.

Enrollment Underway

Advanced swimmers may have the opportunity of learning methods of using the hollow surfboard in ocean, lake or river rescues.

Mrs. Alexander also said that instruction in the classes this year is exceptionally great and she urges a prompt enrollment with Bill Powers or Frank Carpenter at Harmon's pool. The instruction is free.

DATE FOR CHEST DRIVE ARRANGED

With the date of Oct. 11 set as the opening of the Community Chest drive this year, Roy Palmer, chairman, attention was speaking plans for the event which gathers funds to aid in supporting several local organizations.

Palmer was named drive chairman at a meeting of Community Chest officials last night at the city hall. He succeeds R. P. Robinson who was drive chairman last year.

Completed plans for the drive will be announced later with next meeting of the board of directors called for Sept. 15.

All organizations sharing in the Community Chest today had been urged to have budgets of last year's expenditures and also estimates of the needs for 1939 in the hands of Mrs. Dorothy Reynolds, secretary, not later than Sept. 1. According to a report by Treasurer W. H. Eldridge, a total of more than $9,000 was collected last year and also distributed at a cost of only $14,453.

Officers present at the meeting last night included J. W. Ritchins, president; Claude Desweller, vice president; Mrs. Reynolds, secretary; Mr. Eldridge, treasurer, and members-at-large including O. P. Duwall, Mrs. W. A. Van Engelen, Claude S. Butler, Campfire Clerk, Clarence Nye, Boy Scouts, and Mrs. E. E. Deise, Anti-Tuberculosis association.

DID HE CREATE A BIG TIDAL WAVE?

Kind Sir:

When a man in a boat rows and rows, with an anchor holding his boat, that's worth some kind of applause in Pot Shots column.

When the man weighs about 350 pounds, and the anchor was a heavy one, that makes it even better. In spite of the fact that 350-pound Claude Pratt has already "traded" Pot Shots a couple of times in the past couple of weeks.

Claude was fishing at Maple dam. When he got his boat out where he wanted it, he tossed in the anchor and settled down to fishing. When he had enough fishing, he started to pull up the anchor. But he's so heavy that he COULDN'T MOVE TO THE END OF THE BOAT TO GET THE ANCHOR because the boat started to tip over.

So he had to row all the way to shore with the ANCHOR DRAGGING. If you think there wasn't a mighty amount of hulling and puffing, and tons of perspiration, you should have been there.

SNEAKING A GLIMPSE AT KEE'S THOUGHTS!

Pot Shooter:

After all the prolonged lambasting you papers dished out on the bridge matter, and all the alibi-shilling by Messrs. Masters and Taylor, I was still in a fog about the matter. So, like that other contrib of yours who says he tuned in on thought waves, I also had myself a strange interlude. During this Strange Interlude I sneaked in on thoughts of Messrs. Masters and Taylor. This is what I found:

"I'm sure that the Twin Falls papers. They're trying to put me over a barrel. I'm not playing politics. All I want is votes. It's no more money for me. What is it? Why did this come up anyway? I'm running for congress, anyway? Ah me, it's a hard life and a— the Twin Falls newspapers."

Taylor—Thank heavens they're doing all the jumping on poor old Kee.

4. A Helvetian is a citizen of Switzerland.
5. James Gordon Bennett was a famous British journalist.

THE STRANGEST "DUNKING" OF THE MONTH!

Pot Shots:

Yes sir, Poty, this is one time the Idaho people, "in vis veritas" their teeth in wine, lives up to its tradition.

My gal friend and I were sitting in a cafe, when in walks two men who were looking a little queer. I couldn't keep my eyes off them. They had all the police, prisonism and punctuality of dress a man could get for, but what I liked was the fact that they were in the lake taking a dip in the water, and then she takes out her latte teeth and she'd dunk them in her lake water.

possals will be conditioned by public reaction to proposals at the conference. The committee has revealed a huge public demand as well as an appalling need.

Representatives of the A. F. of L., C. I. O., national women's and farmers' organizations, public health schools and groups, certain industries and other delegates left in a high pitch of enthusiasm — which was not entirely shared by a conservative minority.

Chairman Josephine Roche of the interdepartmental committee and Surgeon General Tom Parran of the U. S. public health service said the conference "may be the greatest event in medical science which has happened in our time," thinks Roche, to meet fears of American Medical association officials, welcomed assurance of co-operation from the A. M. A. and promised that the federally-operated program was contemplated.

BEAUTIFUL MRS. O'CONNELL

Washingtonians who observed the victory of Congressman Jerry O'Connell of Montana, re-nominated on an anti-Spanish Wheeler and pro-Roosevelt platform, are quick to know that the capital will not be bereft of the presence of Mrs. Mazie O'Connell, once a Hollywood model and a winner of beauty prizes.

Beautiful Mrs. O'Connell was right alongside red-headed Jerry when he landed the Jersey City chairmanship of Mayor Frank Hague and was pushed around and out. Mrs. O'Connell herself was thrown down and her knees were broken in a catastrophe which greatly intensified Washington bitterness toward Hague and his cops and could have been avoided by her husband if one of her eyes had been accidentally blackened.

O'Connell, a first-term congressman who keeps sticking his neck out for Loyalist Spain and Tom Mooney's freedom, is 29 years old if you believe his story in the Congressional Directory. But it is alleged in Montana that he was only 19 when he first served in the state legislature in 1923—the same year he was graduated from college.

Which he ran for mayor of Butte in 1922 his opponent brandished a birth certificate to show that he was under 21, a charge which was a factor in his defeat at that time. (Copyright, 1938, NEA Service, Inc.)

MYSTERY AT THE LAZY R

BY CLARKE NEWLON

CHAPTER I

NOISY, impatient Grand Central Station commuters, voices and consciously paused to make a concourse between the two tall masts. It was a handsome young man with golden lights, a figure that men wanted to paint or possess. At the gate she painted and spoke to him.

"Goodby dear, I'll write you when we arrive. Steve will take good care of me." She smiled at the young man standing hand in hand, kissed her father and patted him lightly on the shoulder. "Don't worry so much about your old comrade with me. I'll be with you during all my days."

Peter Jerome smiled back at his only daughter. "Have a good time and give my love to Uncle Jim and Aunt Amy," he said. "Have your bags gone on down?"

"The redcap took them on to the train," said Steve. "I'd better go too." He grinned. "I'll keep Nikki away from wild horses and lame cabbages. Goodby Steve!"

He called his father following the course of his daughter and the man she was engaged to marry down the ramp and then he turned away to take a cab. But as he turned his eye caught a figure going through the gate, and he halted, staring.

He raised his arm in an involuntary gesture as though to call the man he had seen. Then he paused thoughtfully, wrote hurriedly in a notebook and he replaced the page in a redcap with a dollar and careful directions. That done, Peter Jerome continued on his way, a worried line creasing his forehead.

At her station Nikki removed the tiny jacket of her tailored bolero suit, untied the wisp of a veil and laid aside her straw slippers. Then she turned to the bags before her and placed in a redcap the portable and arrived. Nikki thought about the trip ahead with a feeling of anticipation. She hadn't seen her Aunt Amy for five years, which seemed suddenly a long, long time, because previously she had spent at least part of every summer on the Lazy R. Aunt Amy had really taken the place of a mother in her affections since her own mother had died.

Nikki turned him in panic. "That's right," said the man standing in the open door. "Close it back up and then just forget that you ever saw it."

been mixed and confused.

The first thought Nikki had was that the interior of the case looked like a bank teller's cage after an earthquake. Letting her breath out slowly she touched the money gingerly as though expecting to see it fall away and be replaced by the familiar golden tops of the fars in her toilet case. But the money remained.

"There must be at least a hundred dollars here," she thought. "Where money was it and why was it in her bag? Nikki thought back. But there it was, impossible or not.

A dozen thoughts started through her head. She should call the conductor. No, better call Steve. Maybe the "money" was a mistake. They might be involved in some long investigation and have to return to New York. They might even be suspected of something, heaven knew what.

Then Nikki saw a brown roomer edge among the piles of green and yellow, and she lifted out a man's wallet that apparently had been tossed into the case with the money. It was an ordinary enough wallet. Nikki had seen others like it in the hands of cops who had leaked out bills to settle countless checks for countless dinners and lunches.

She opened the billfold and across the inside flap read in plain gold lettering:

"Charles Dillon."

Nikki repeated the name to herself and she held the wallet a moment and then dropped it back into the bag. As she did there was a movement at the door. The lock clicked. Nikki turned half in panic, her right hand making an involuntary gesture to close the bag.

"That's right," said the man standing in the open door. "Close it back up. And then just forget that you ever saw it." His eyes were on the case.

THE voice wasn't unpleasant. It was low and rather smooth, the voice of a man very sure of himself and very sure of the situation. Nor was the man unpleasant. His medium height, fitted compactly into a dark suit. His age was indeterminate—maybe 35, maybe 40. A little too well barbered, thought Nikki.

She let the lid of the dressing case drop and glanced back at the owner of the voice. He wasn't looking at the bag now. He was looking at her. He saw the blond hair and the wide gray eyes that were even wider now as they stared at him. He saw the smooth column of her throat, the firm chin and the lower lip whose fullness was a perfect foil for the curving line of the upper lip.

Then he spoke again, but his eyes hadn't ceased their covetous admiration.

"The voice and the eyes don't fit, thought Nikki. The eyes are his. The voice has stolen from someone else. It doesn't belong. She caught off a feeling that she was standing half-dressed.

"I am very sorry. The bags were together and the porter made a mistake. Not a very serious mistake, although I really haven't much use for the things in this." He held out a dressing case and Nikki saw then that the bag in his hand and the one which held the money were identical.

He stepped over to her and set the bag in his hand down, fastening the case which held the packets of bills.

"I think you will find all of your things in good order." His eyes were still upon her as he bowed slightly at the door and was gone.

It was only seconds after he left that a knock sounded on her station room. Nikki hadn't moved.

The second rap was followed by the door to take a note from the colored boy. She felt the train jerk and slowly glide into motion as it left the station. The note was from her father and read:

"On your guard but under no circumstances antagonize Charles Dillon who has the same form as I left the station. This extremely confidential. Will explain later."

WASHINGTON, July 28—Farr-reaching proposals for a national health program will be proposed to Congress by President Roosevelt's next winter and a bill embodying the proposals will be introduced, probably by Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York.

That, at least, is the tentative plan of administration officials on the interdepartmental committee to coordinate health and welfare activities which sponsored the recent National Health Conference.

This committee and its committee of technical experts presented recommendations for general health services, medical service to the needy and hospital construction which might reach an annual cost of $850,000,000 to federal, state and local governments. It was suggested the federal government might pay half that sum in order to equalize financial burden, stimulate local action and develop health and medical care opportunities for everybody.

AROUSES CONTROVERSY

Few experts would be asked to appropriate as much as $225,000,000 for the first year of such a program. Recommendations as to the means of financing also will be composed by some medical organizations. As to that, the technical experts reported that an adequate program of medical care for all Americans "may cost up to a maximum of $20 per person a year," one suggested a comprehensive medical care program for the entire population through funds raised by taxation, contributions by individuals, health insurance systems or a combination of the latter choice to be made by the elected federal aid.

Extent of initial legislative proposals will be conditioned by public reaction to proposals at the conference. The committee has revealed a huge public demand as well as an appalling need.

Representatives of the A. F. of L., C. I. O., national women's and farmers' organizations, public health schools and groups, certain industries and other delegates left in a high pitch of enthusiasm — which was not entirely shared by a conservative minority.

Chairman Josephine Roche of the interdepartmental committee and Surgeon General Tom Parran of the U. S. public health service said the conference "may be the greatest event in medical science which has happened in our time," thinks Roche, to meet fears of American Medical association officials, welcomed assurance of co-operation from the A. M. A. and promised that the federally-operated program was contemplated.

FISHING IMPROVES AS RUN-OFF EFFECTS FADE OUT

FISHING LOG

SNARE RIVER

Because of the high run-off and the resulting high water conditions, there has been practically no good fishing in Snake river until recently. Now, with the water normal after being high for three months, fishing reports are improving. Catches are termed good at Lower Salmon falls, with fly fishermen getting some good results. At Upper Salmon falls, however, game department reports indicate the fishing is poor.

Great improvement has occurred recently from the Thousand Springs to the Box canyon area between Banbury's and Wing's. Trolling is reported particularly good between those points.

The fact that the water is normal, led to at least fair fishing over most of the river.

Directions for reaching the river are unnecessary. Fishermen can get to it in brief time from scores of south central communities.

Here's a Trip By Ambitious Fishing Party

For the more or less ambitious fisherman who wishes to associate himself with a pack trip and a couple of weeks in the open—in addition to getting his fish—a trip out of New Meadows, near Fayette, lake will fill the bill.

At least two local men, namely J. A. Cedergust and George Buehler, felt this way about it and so they decided recently to do something about it. They packed out of Black Bear Inn, near New Meadows, with a party of nine persons including themselves, and found that they were looking for.

Plenty of pictures back up their "fish stories" and, in most cases, the fishing was good, they report, and well worth the 125 or more miles they "rode" the horses.

An Evening Times reporter this afternoon talked over the fishing possibilities with the men and, after a brief description of the fishing conditions at the various spots visited:

RAPID RIVER: Rough water, stream is high but fishing good.

CRYSTAL LAKE: Good fishing during the summer although in the winter the lake's because of its location at a high altitude freezes over.

BLACK LAKE: Bait fishing fair with some good catches reported.

EMERALD LAKE: Fishing good in this lake, one of the most beautiful in the state. Tall pines skirt the edges of the lake and cool weather makes fishing a pleasure.

SATAN LAKE: Fishing good although lake is small and does not afford room for too many anglers. Many drivers continue to operate their cars with old and unreliable batteries, thinking such action is economical. But you needn't take chances when you can save so much by trading in your old battery on the purchase of a new one.

Get Good Tires
Good tires are one of the best forms of safety insurance. Don't get into the mountains, or on side roads leading to your favorite fishing spot, and then spend your time changing "flats." You can buy new tires now at distinct savings.

Many drivers continue to operate their cars with old and unreliable batteries, thinking such action is economical. But you needn't take chances when you can save so much by trading in your old battery on the purchase of a new one.

Beat Covers Help
On vacation trips, too, you'll find that fiber seat covers save your upholstery under the wear and tear of piling into the back seat all manner of outdoor needs. Fiber covers, too, are easy to slip in under the wheel without "attacking" to upholstery. And they make driving comfortable the whole year around.

Don't skip on lubricants for your motor. Go out oil, no matter what the brand name, is an economy in the long run. And steady driving under the near-100 temperatures of recent days requires good oil to protect your auto.

Don't be penny-wise and pound-foolish.

LAKE CLEVELAND
This picturesque and beautiful lake, almost at the top of rugged Mt. Harrison, offers some good catches of just-arrived trout.

To reach it, take U. S. 30 from Twin Falls to Hurley, U. S. 20-N to Derio, turn seven miles south to Albion; drive from Albion to Howell canyon, and then to the end of the canyon road. The lake is on the north side of Mt. Harrison south of Albion, is 20 acres in size, and reaches a depth of 70 feet.

Drop in Here on Your Fishing Jaunt

If you're on a fishing jaunt into the Sawtooths Aug. 12-14, you'd better take several hours off and drop in at the second annual Sun Valley rodeo. Above, America's most modern rodeo stadium, site of the colorful show. The stadium seats 11,000 persons and even bleacher seats give perfect visibility. America's top-ranking cowboys will compete for unusually high prize money.

FIX UP THE CAR FOR THOSE TRIPS

Going fishing or vacationing? There are lots of fun, and there are hundreds of ideal spots in northern Idaho—but you've got to assure yourself of a trouble-free car or your outing will be ruined.

Auto dealers, garages and filling stations in Twin Falls and throughout southern Idaho are offering these days complete "autotizing" service. Motor tune-up, lubrication, oil—these and a score of other items can be gotten at rock-bottom prices during the vacation days.

Get Good Tires

It's Long Lane—But Here's Turn

It's a long lane that has no turning—and southern Idaho fishermen today had apparently rounded the corner after a long siege of high and roiling waters in most of the topnotch fishing spots of the region.

During most of the season to date, the majority of streams has been at high mark because of heavy run-off waters. The high water brought with it plenty of food for fish, and wily trout hadn't been biting any too well.

Now, however, more encouraging reports are coming in from returning anglers. Streams and reservoirs are apparently nearing normal, with the run-off effects wearing away. Reports of good trout catches are still spotty in some regions, but the trend as a whole indicates that fishermen are in for better luck for the rest of the season.

The fly fishermen particularly are encouraged by the situation. Bait anglers have had somewhat more luck but improved stream conditions should prove a boon to the bait devotees, too.

Trolling and perch fishing, moreover, are "looking up."

Elsewhere on these "fishing log" pages of today's Evening Times you will find specific reports on favorite haunts.

Normal Waters Bring Plenty of Better Catches

Drouth Over?

WASHINGTON, July 27 (UP)—J. B. Kincer of the U. S. weather bureau today said that plentiful rains in 1938, following the drought of 1937, suggest the possibility that the long drouth cycle has spent itself.

TREES TAKEN TO TREASURE ISLAND

Just as Shakespeare told of Birnam wood moving to Dunstane, so the residents of San Francisco are seeing a veritable forest of logging trees moving out on to Treasure Island, the island that has been built into San Francisco bay to house the Golden Gate exposition this next year.

From the huge estates of north-central California, gigantic trees are being transported and transplanted on the exposition site, by the horticultural division which has a $1,500,000 job on its hands. Specially-designed and specially-built trucks are handling the work of going the great trees to their new site.

Other trucks are hauling many tons of rich loam to Treasure Island when it is spread over the loose sand of which the island is made, so that it will furnish soil in which the plants and trees will thrive.

Concrete and lumber for the construction of the exposition buildings, and for the drives and roadways on Treasure Island travel daily from the mainland in the form of a different type of truck.

The San Francisco Municipal Railway system now has a fleet of new motor stages, just placed in operation in cross-town service, carrying tourists to and from Golden Gate park, and over the park, and connecting with various municipal railway car lines.

FISHING LOG

BIG WOOD RIVER
Take U. S. 93 from Twin Falls, cross Thimbleman hill, Big Wood fishing extends from that area to Galena summit.

Fishing in Big Wood has improved considerably. Anglers should get better for the rest of the season. Much of the heavy run-off that caused floods earlier in the year appears to have subsided. The stream is clear and is expected to fall rapidly toward normal. Good catches, already reported by many anglers, are being reported.

Over Galena summit, in Smalley creek, four miles beyond the base of Galena on the far side. Drive left on roadway marked with Smalley creek sign. Brook trout good on fly fishing; bait reported good. Numerous beaver dams in this creek.

SINLEY BEAM STREAMS—These small streams, emptying into Salmon river, are clearing up and showing marked improvement both for fly and bait fishing.

FISHING LOG
FISHING PACK-TRIPS
For pack-trips leading to good fishing in the west side of Sawtooth valley over Galena summit: Alice lake, Toxaway, Imogene—Pack in from the Pettit lake region. Trails are marked with Toxaway and Alice clearly marked near the main roads approaching Pettit lake. Pack side of valley.

Champion lake, Champion creek and other lakes—Pack in from the bottom of the runner station and McVey ranches. About two hours packing will bring you into good fishing territory, with impressive and picturesque camping spots all along the way. Ideal fly and bait fishing is reported now.

With spring run-offs ended, and a majority of the streams over this season returning to normal flow, fishing conditions at the present time range from fair to good with only a few instances being noted where some areas have not responded to the fisherman's lure.

Good catches are being reported in most areas including those principally noted for perch and trout fishing. Bait fishing, as well as fly fishing and trolling are improving rapidly as waters clear and streams return more to their normal flows.

On Snake River
Along the Snake river, fishing is best at the present time at the Lower Salmon falls, according to Grover C. Davis, district deputy game warden. The Upper Salmon falls, however, offers poor fishing although the entire length of the river through this area is capable of "delivering the unexpected" with trout rising to various baits.

Of particular note is the fact the Wood river is clear once more after an especially active spring run-off period, which time the stream overflowed its banks. Bait and spinner fishing on this stream is not good.

The Malad river, which despite its very brief length is fed by hundreds of springs which make it wide and swift, is also now at normal stage, and the stream is its entire length. The Malad is one of the favorite fishing streams in the area and is also easily accessible.

For those who like trolling, the Magic dam and also the Rockworth reservoir is recommended. In the latter case, the trout are fairly while in the former instance it is rapidly improving.

Those persons who like to "rough it" can go to Lake Independence which offers very good fishing. Located high in the mountains this stream is not over 1000 feet long, but is well stocked streams and lakes attracting thousands especially over the week-end. Those who can fish during these rough spots are not crowded.

At the Salmon dam crappie fishing is now being done with perch and trout also taking to the hook. In the future sportmen will have the opportunity of hooking large trout, as the dam is being recently planted. By next year some of these fish are expected to be large enough to be "worth going for."

FISHING LOG

MAGIC DAM
Early-season catches were poor here because the reservoir water has been high, but at any time in the future water was going over the spillway until the last 10 days and there was no much food for fish that lives on mages' hines were not too frequent.

Now, however, the water is receding, and perch fishing is good. Trout and perch fishing is reported that trolling for trout is improving. Further trout improvements should come by the end of the season.

Next to Mottulaugh lake, Magic dam is the best perch center. Perch, incidentally, are highly edible and good for eating.

Magic dam is an ideal spot for the "pleasure fisherman."

Take U. S. 93 from Twin Falls, cross Thimbleman hill, turn right at bottom of gate, go seven or eight miles. Road crosses Silver creek at various points.

This stream, a favorite for bass, trout, and sunfish, is highly stocked and is also good for fishing in some areas.

Some bait fishermen report good catches; others say the stream has been poor all season. Fly fishing has been "not too good," since the stream has been high and rocky. Some catch fishing has had a tendency to multiply.

FISHING LOG

ROCK CREEK
Rock creek in the south hills offers good fishing at present, with numerous catches of just-arrived trout and some catches of just-size-of-ones.

To reach the best spots, take U. S. 30 from Twin Falls to Hansen service station corner, then drive straight south.

Five plain locations available, with hundreds of north central jobs, prefer this territory to longer trips.

STORMS BLAMED IN FOREST FIRES

WASHINGTON, July 27 (UP)—Officials of the department of agriculture's forest service today blamed climatic conditions for the severe forest fires razing in California, Washington and Oregon.

There have been seven days of dry lightning storms in the area, they said. On July 15, a single storm in western Montana set 200 fires.

Reports reaching headquarters of the service here said that the outlook continued "extremely critical." Foresters paid tribute to the work, discipline and skillful fire-fighting of 2,200 conservation corps boys.

CCC Director Robert Feibler announced that training courses for all enrollees in timbered areas had been conducted for just such an emergency as this.

The forest service reported that in the 10 days ending July 20 there were 1,259 fires in national forests. Of these 775 were in California, Oregon and Washington.

MALAD RIVER
Water flow in this stream has returned to normal, game warden surveys now show, and fishing is "very good" for its entire length. The river is normally fed almost entirely by springs.

Earlier this season the Malad had been rocky because for the first time in years the old Wood river bed was running water, which found its way into the Malad river canyon south of Wendell. This has cleared and the Malad is providing sizable catches, both in bait and fly fishing.

Take U. S. 30 from Twin Falls through Tugerman, then to the Malad river bridge. Park car in that area, and walk either downstream toward the power plant or upstream for several miles.

FISHING LOG

SALMON RESERVOIR
Although reports of the last month have been "spotty" from this favorite perch and trout fishing spot, trout and perch fishing is now reported as good. Crappie fishing in the lower waters is also satisfactory. Trolling is declared to land the trout best at present, particularly in the end toward the Salmon dam flood, where the water is deeper and cooler.

The large-mouthed black bass, planted recently, are still not big enough to be taken, game warden says.

Trout perch fishing is offered here for those who enjoy doing their angling from the shore.

Trout conditions should improve because the water is receding. Boating conditions are the best in this area.

Distances: U. S. 93 about 20 miles to (togetson); turn right six or seven miles to dam.

TRAPPER CREEK
Small mountain trout fishing is at its best here with several fine catches being reported. The creek is above Oakley.

Provo Bid Makes Possibility of Eight-Club Loop

By HAROLD J. WOOD
Evening Times Sports Editor

Some 30 delegates from the intermountain area and big league and Coast league baseball clubs today were returning to their homes after organization of the Pioneer Baseball league—an organization that has not yet definitely set the number of teams that will play, or the cities which will sponsor teams.

Twin Falls, along with Salt Lake City, Boise, Ogden, Lewiston and Pocatello, is assured of a franchise, probably with big league backing of one kind or another. Possible tie-ups put the Cincinnati Reds in Ogden and the St. Louis Cardinals in Pocatello. San Diego may get the Salt Lake franchise. Lewiston is definitely going to be a home club—with absolutely no outside backing, according to Lloyd C. Harris, president of that organization.

8,000,000 Vote In All-Star Grid Game Poll

CHICAGO, July 27 (UP)—The paying public—8,000,000 strong—picked its 1937 All-American baseball team today for a night game in Soldier Field Aug. 31 against the world professional champions, Washington Redskins.

The fans' squad is one with speed, power, brains and a forward pass considered the next thing to Sammy Watkins, who graduated from Texas Christian and the last all-star game into the passing epiphany of the Redskins.

2 Big Sports Events are Offered City

A program for two "big time" sports events was offered Junior Chamber of Commerce officials at the meeting of baseball men and sports writers here yesterday.

Number one on the list would be the possibility of bringing to Coeurville Garcia of Los Angeles, No. 1 challenger for the world's welterweight title, here for a special bout—possibly late in August.

Number two would bring the McKinley high school football team here from Honolulu, Hawaii, to meet here rather than Honolulu.

Both proposals were made by Al Warden, sports editor of the Ogden Standard-Examiner. Garcia scored a quick two-round knockout over Jack Burke in Ogden on July 25 and his manager asked the writer what the possibilities were of bringing the exciting return here.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce officials now have the proposal under consideration.

Plans to bring the McKinley school team here from Hawaii will meet some rather high obstacles. The club is scheduled to play in Ogden in October. That would necessitate the club playing here the same night. Hank Powers' school shows nice games complete already, with no open dates in that month. Also a $1,500 guarantee is asked.

Wonderful Exhibition
The Hawaiian boys put on a wonderful exhibition, according to Warden. The brown-skinned youngsters play a wide-open type of football and present a barefoot kicking act that amazes the spectators.

Twin Falls was the first chairman at the banquet (due to lighting facilities) and the general reputation of this town as a sporting city, according to Warden.

Angels, Solons Hold Positions in Tight Battles

League-leading Los Angeles and second-place Sacramento held to their close battle for the top spot in the Pacific Coast league Thursday night in a tight contest.

The Angels shut out Portland, 2-0, in a battle between two pitchers named Tommie. The win of Portland and the loss of Los Angeles.

Sacramento raked a game out of the five, beating Seattle 3-2 after being three runs behind. The Halpiners put over three runs in the third when Oyealman homered.

San Francisco got a 7-4 win over Oakland on the strength of Hank Kins' two homers.

San Diego beat Hollywood 7-3 in a day game.

Life Began for Barney Ross After Armstrong Licking

By HENRY McLEMORE
(Copyright 1938, United Press)

CROSSING LAKE, N. Y., July 27 (UP)—Life really began for Barney Ross that night Henry Armstrong nearly beat it out of him.

He told me so yesterday when we had lunch here. As this summer here he had been training for his fight. He's back here not to relax and play. There are no managers to supervise his every move. No training table, no sparring partners, no road work. For the first time in 10 years he's just himself. Not a champion fighter any more, just a man who is enjoying the things he had to deny himself for 10 long years.

Thinking to Barney was like talking to a kid on the first day of his vacation from school. He felt so free here he talked about it all the time. In his eyes, in his walk, in his talk. His 10 years in the ring left little marks. Not even that gash-awful boxing he took from Armstrong's left mark. He doesn't intend talking about that fight, even though it took away his title and marked the end of his fighting days.

Likes Armstrong
"He's a swell fighter, that Armstrong," Barney said. "And a clean and gracious one, too. I knew I was finished after the second round, that I didn't have a chance. I couldn't figure out why. I felt good all over, but there just wasn't any ring in my arms or legs. When I went out for the third I knew I was going out there to get the daylight beat out of me, and after the fifth I remember praying and asking the Lord to let me last the last fifteen. I didn't want to finish my last fight on the floor."

I wanted to ask Barney more about that fight, but just then the waiter came around with a menu and Barney set to work ordering a lunch that would have caused any other man to blush.

Approximately 35,000 persons crowded into the civic stadium to see the bout. Drummans said the gate was about $100,000.

Hostak, known as the "Savage Star" in Seattle, started fighting in a fire station gymnasium when he was in his teens. He climbed into the ring for a professional bout for the first time five years ago. He had had 11 fights, winning the last 16 by knockouts.

Feller Ends Stump
Bob Feller came out of his slump by pitching Cleveland to a 4-2 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics. With his dad looking on, Feller fanned ten and permitted only seven hits. Earl Averitt hit a homer. Frank Greenberg's 30th and 31st homers featured Detroit's 6 to 5 triumph over Washington. Greenberg is now only two homers behind Babe Ruth's 1927 pace when he set the major league record of 60.

Ted Lyons pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 9-1 victory over the Boston Red Sox. Rip Russell and Luke Appling made three hits each in a 14-hit assault on Ostermuller and Rogers.

San Quentin Prisoners Issue Real Sport Paper

With a circulation of which many a small town paper would be envious—yet offering no advertising for its readers—the San Quentin Sports News is in a class by itself, any reader will agree.

Published behind the walls of the California state prison by an inmate staff of writers, the paper is distributed free to all residents of the prison, which at the time of publication of the last paper numbered 5,384, according to a "statistics" column on the masthead.

Rivals Outside Papers
A copy of the latest edition, which is entirely set by hand but which from the makers' standpoint and the "readability" of the stories would rival nearly any "outside" paper, was received here by M. K. Puckett from his sister, Mrs. McEwen, who exchanges with the El Monte high school paper at Los Angeles, where Mrs. McEwen secured the copy sent here.

Sports of the outside world are carried in the paper but it is "local" news in the main. The paper was first issued the July 4 holidays, featured a baseball and fight card, the paper explains in bold headlines. The "draft" paper dates back to a 10-year jinx by defeating the All-Stars 2 to 0, the well controlled curve ball of the winning pitcher "hand-cutting" the rival team.

In the fighting division a total of 18 non-title fights amused the inmates with the championships of the prison at stake by later bouts.

Carries "Date Lines"
But the paper is run like any other "big town" paper. The various stories are dated from the "communities" in which they occurred. For instance there are stories from "Recreation Field," "Cossip Headquarters," "Ringside," "Chapel," and "Ball Park."

Several special columns are conducted by various prison writers who air their views on sports subjects, sometimes in no uncertain terms. But the paper is not without its humor. For instance there is the printed story which goes as follows:

"Gasping for breath during a fast bit of handball, Baxter, print shop Berillion expert, inhaled the ball when it took a bad hop and shot into his capacious mouth."
"A half hour later Doc Stanley, Baxter on the clinic table, etherized and ready for a tricky operation on the lower esophagus. Said the surgeon as he made a tentative slash down the patient's midriff:

"Who is that man peeing so nervously up and down the hall? He seems more concerned about this operation than the hospital."
"Why that's McElroy, Doc. You see, it's his handball!"

Another bit of humor, under the "Recs" section column which is authored by "Mike," says that "one thing about being on the fliers' team is that they have still got plenty of time to learn how to play softball—maybe."

Inmates on Staff
The paper is published under the supervision of Warden Court Smith, but staff members are all inmates. The staff, whose names are listed, include an editor-in-chief, managing editor, associate editor, feature writer and head typographer and make-up man.

And next big event at the prison, according to the paper, is the big field meet down below. A notice in the paper urges convicts to get in touch with Glenn Simmons, either in the big yard or educational department to make application.

"If you can't arrange an appointment," the notice reads, "write him a letter with your name, number and cell address."

POSSE CAPTURES WOMAN SLAYER

CHICO, Calif., July 27 (AP)—A group of lumberjacks early today captured Walter Ross, 27, who police said shot and killed Mrs. Dave Boyd, 31, wife of a tavern owner.

Ross, according to the police, killed Mrs. Boyd yesterday and for nearly eight hours drove about the countryside in the dead woman sitting upright beside him in his automobile.

In the course of his wandering with the dead woman, Ross stopped at the home of his former employer, Charles Beecher, an electrical contractor.

Becher's Wife Answered his summons.
"I'm sorry I hurt a woman," Ross told her.
She looked in the car and saw the body of Mrs. Boyd. Ross drove away again. Mrs. Beecher telephoned police.

Police Chief C. E. Tovee found that Ross had driven eastward and notified lumberjacks in the vicinity of Little Meadows. They found him in a tavern operated by Mrs. Grace Taylor. When the men entered, Ross drew a gun and said "I'll kill the first man who tries to take me," he said.

Lumberjacks Retreat
The lumberjacks retreated. Mrs. Taylor was the only one Ross would permit to stay in the bar. She piled him with drinks and at last he became amiable in his washhouse.

The posse waited until Ross had begun to stumble about the bar. Then from front and back they quietly entered and seized him.

The body of Mrs. Boyd was found in the car outside the tavern. Ross was taken to the county jail here and held on open charges.

9 CCC Boys Hurt As Truck Upsets

BOZEMAN, Mont., July 27 (AP)—Nine civilian conservation corps enrollees injured when a truck in which they were riding overturned near here last Saturday night were recovering today.

Only three of the boys suffered serious injuries and they were reported recovering. They were: Frank Dohas, Barton, O., brain concussion; William Dohas, Columbus, O., concussion; Noble Barjas, Wallaces, W. Va., fractured and dislocated elbow and minor abrasions.

Peddy Maginn, 27, truck driver, told Highway Patrolman Eugene Mora the brakes on the truck locked as he neared a turn in Hylittle canyon, causing it to overturn.

The other six youths suffered minor cuts and bruises.

Christian Conference Draus Rupert Youths

RUPERT, July 26—Miss Ila Ruth Fenton, Miss Vida Maple Nutter, Miss Elizabeth M. Johnson and Miss Barbara Oliver left Sunday from a camping trip to Alturas lake. Francis Egbert received a deep gash in his leg while chopping wood. He was treated at Twin Falls and the athletes were required to close the wound.

A Boy Scout from Hansen had five stitches put in his head at the GCO after he dove into shallow water and struck his head.

WHEAT SUPPLIES CLIMB SHARPLY

BOISE, July 27 (Special)—Stocks of wheat in Idaho interior mills, elevators and warehouses were about 3,200,000 bushels on July 1, this year. This compares with stocks of 880,000 bushels on July 1 a year ago, 3,000,000 in 1934, and the 1931-32 average of 2,743,000 bushels. Stocks on Arizona this year were estimated at 6,300,000 bushels.

Turn stocks of wheat on July 1 (excluding wheat owned by farmers but stored in public warehouses) were estimated at 1,563,000 bushels, compared with 1,338,000 bushels on July 1, 1937.

Thus, combined warehouse and farm stocks in Idaho were indicated to be 4,763,000 bushels July 1 this year and 2,118,000 bushels at this time last year.
