LOYALISTS DIG INTO PYRENEES; DEFY NATIONALISTS

MOSSOLINI WILL SEND MORE HELP TO GEN. FRANCO

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
United Press Staff Correspondent

Spain's civil war came dangerously close today to bursting the bonds by which Europe has sought to keep it beyond the green zone.

A month of fierce fighting on the Ebro river front has sharply increased the military strength of the Nationalists, who have changed the one-sided military picture which inaugurated generalissimo Francisco Franco's armies dominated.

Loyalist troops dug into the solid rock slopes of the plain Gaudesca front and hidden in caves that defy bombardment and machine gun fire, have thrown back rock and again the mass attacks of rebel infantry, tanks and artillery. They have also been joined in the fighting to re-double the defensive power built up by fresh supplies of loyalist artillery and air support.

Forces Mussolini Hand

But the spearhead which government troops thrust into the insurgent flank along the Ebro and which had been the main line of offensive against Valencia has had even more important effects elsewhere. It has stripped away the last line of defense against the Italian army which Europe had sought to help itself to sleep despite explosion in Spain. It has also forced the hand of the Italian Premier Benito Mussolini.

Italy entered, if not the front, the Spanish civil war because she believed that a split Spain allied with Soviet Russia and neighbor to the Communist France was a real threat to her own security. Italy definitely committed herself to a Franco victory.

Six months ago he was winning on all fronts. Franco was reaching his final goal. French leaders most friendly to the Spanish loyalists were ousted. British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, at least was more sympathetic toward Spain.

Military Situation Changed

But the military situation has changed. Whatever change might have been made of making non-intervention a reality exploded this week in Madrid. Franco's reinforcements or replacements to try to pull Franco's army out of the mire.

Moscow is angry, making indirect threats of action. France has sought to minimize developments; asserted that she would not recognize her frontier, which has leaked supplies for the loyalists like a sieve except when Paris felt it was politically wise to close down.

Great Britain is most seriously worried. Her future is more at stake than any other nation; she might have to go to the aid of the Nationalists to keep Germany or Italy from setting up permanent bases in Spain that would threaten British domination of the Mediterranean.

Even more important at the moment, the Spanish problem—between Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax and Chancellor of Exchequer Sir John Simon to an urgent conference in London this morning—is thrust forward again just as British leadership is facing another crisis in Czechoslovakia.

Stuporion Created

The synchronized vibrations of the Czech and Spanish diplomatic crises have long created suspicion of a behind-the-scenes arrangement by Hitler, Chamberlain, Mussolini and their ally, Gen. Franco, to harry Britain and divide her attention.

Regardless of the underlying cause, the excitement aroused by German army maneuvers during the Czech minority negotiations had not died down before Premier, presumably after consultation with the Nazi-Fascist leaders, threw up the Spanish crisis again by rejecting the non-intervention plan; forced Britain to face grave diplomatic problems on two fronts simultaneously.

In addition to the multi-diplomatic front, the world's trouble centers kept on bubbling:

Claim Poison Gas Used

CINCINNATI, Aug. 23 (Special)—That poison gas was used by the Japanese who landed forward in the preliminary phase of their attack on Hankow, was the official statement of the United States government. The Japanese were reported to have used a two-pronged device on Nanchang.

GERMANY—Hitler continued his conversations with Admiral Mikolajczyk, regent of Hungary, without any definite indication whether they were near an agreement that would give Germany the best influence in Central Europe. The government board a list of names which will henceforth be regarded as typically German, including Hitler, Himmler and "Hud."

WITNESS ADMITS MONEY DONATION

"bribed, influenced or coerced" by Hines.

Recounting a conversation he had with Hines, Schultz, Schultz's lawyer, Weinberg said:

"He said Schultz had said to use all the money we could to help Hines elect Dodge."

Questions Weinberg

Dewey started the testimony today by questioning Weinberg about a cut of policy controllers' profits in 1935 from 30 to 25 per cent.

Controllers "squawked," Weinberg said, but the cut went through.

Q—What happened? A—Business went down about 10 per cent, and I went to Schultz. I told him I looked like we would lose all the business and that I thought we ought to give the cut back.

Q—Did you give him any money after that? A—Yes. If we paid him $500, it was for two weeks. If he took $1,000 it was charged for four weeks.

Q—How often in 1935 did you personally deliver money to Hines? A—Not more than two times.

Q—In 1937? A—Seven or eight times.

FDR'S REMARKS MAY HELP POPE

Donalst Callahan, One New Deal stalwart, Sen. M. M. Logan, D. Ky., suggested in a radio speech last night without specific reference to Idaho, that it might be better for administration to see a "straightforward Republican" in congress rather than a member "masquerading as a Democrat but voting Republican."

Logan pictured Republican criticism of the President's campaign for election of strictly New Deal candidates as a new stratagem of the "big financial and industrial interests" who have "owned" the Republican party for years but which now find it ineffective and "have turned their attention to the Democratic party in an effort to capture it piecemeal."

Behind the Scenes In Washington. By RODNEY DUTCHER. Evening Times Washington Correspondent. WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The committee for industrial organization which will hold its first national convention in October and probably will change its name, plans to accept as its first business condition the improvement of business conditions.

Diagnosis by Models. Two interesting news stories have come to hand. The first tells about the work being done at a novel Children's Center that opened recently in London. Probably the most interesting feature of the place where psychological difficulties are straightened out, is a large room cluttered with toys and building materials. Here the children are encouraged to construct "model worlds" according to their own ideas.

Next Time Give Her The Tip Without Queerly. Pot Shots: Wonder if you would put the following little scrip in the Pot Shots column as soon as possible? A certain fellow from Rupert went to a certain cafe in Jerome. The Rupert guy was in a hurry so only took time to glance at the menu. The Frenchman turned a mournful eye on him. "Mais non," he said. "Not with ze magic. I am ze Great Pierre. I am ze most magnificent of ze world." "Damn if you ain't," put in Bull Griffin, who had been very much impressed. "Et is with ze women zat I have ze disgust," continued the Great Pierre sadly. He glanced at Sally. Budget Balanced. The C. I. O. budget has been balanced since February and organizations retained were the most effective ones. Hon. Chairman John L. Lewis believes the organization can expand as rapidly as it was contracted. "The present staff improvement, however, hasn't provided enough basis for beginning such expansion. Increase of steel production from 30 to 35 per cent of capacity continued improvement in steel, a spur in coal after the coal commission announces a new price schedule in November and other continued upward trends.

Worker Looks at Business. The past 10 years have brought subtle changes in thinking which are no less important than the physical changes that can be seen about us. Perhaps they are more important. One of the most striking is the gradual spread of the conception that any large business is in a sense a public business, and ought not to be operated without some thought of the social effects it produces.

A Radio Magnate Climbs Down Ladder. None other than Mr. O. P. Sells, of Twin Falls, Potocello of the radio, has been named as the first magnate. He was long violent for an 800 watt radio set to send out a short wave morning on Main avenue north.

Public Forum. ALCOHOL AND HIGHWAY ACCIDENTS. Editor, Evening Times: An "Accident Facts," 1938 edition, the national safety council estimates that from 24 per cent to 40 per cent of the drivers involved in 1937 were 20 per cent to 65 per cent of the pedestrians "had been drinking." On that basis, alcohol on the highways killed more people during 1937 than the total number of Americans killed during the Revolutionary war.

Brains in the Booth. Probably every voter has had an experience like this: Entering his polling place, he finds a half-dozen flustered people seated around a table, helplessly shuffling the ballots and books, wondering what blank goes where, who signs what book, whether the ballots are really in order, and in general pretty well lost in the midst of what is, after all a simple procedure. The reason is that among election officials there are always a good many who are incompetent, ignorant and careless, and who have received the job merely as a minor political plum.

CHINESE PASSENGER PLANE SHOT TO GROUND BY JAPANESE

AMERICAN PILOT ESCAPES; 13 ARE DEAD OR MISSING

HONG KONG, Aug. 24 (AP)—A Chinese passenger plane, piloted by an American, was shot down near Canton today. Chinese announced officially that the attacking planes were Japanese and that 13 passengers and crew of three, 13 were dead or missing.

The official statement said five Japanese planes covered on the passenger plane, firing machine guns. It was forced out of control and plunged into the river, where it was machine-gunned again. The Chinese said the plane was riddled and was now partly submerged, with the tail and part of the fuselage out of water.

The American pilot, H. L. Wood of Winfield, Kan., made his way to Macao by motor car. He was uninjured. He brought with him an injured Chinese passenger, C. N. Lou, who was operated on in the hospital for a machine gun bullet in the neck.

Two in Hospital
He said his Chinese radio operator accompanied him as far as Shekki, where two critically wounded passengers were in the hospital. These presumably would be among the "missing" officially reported by the Chinese.

Wood said five Japanese planes chased his plane shortly after it left Hong Kong. He attempted to escape but was outflanked, the airplane riddled with bullets and it plunged into the river at Wang-moon, near Cheungkapin, 10 miles east of Shekki.

The corroborated Chinese assertions that the Japanese continued to machine gun the fallen plane and also its passengers and crew as they tried to escape by swimming ashore.

Part American Owned
The plane is operated by the Chinese National Aviation company, which is 45 per cent American-owned. It was en route from Hong Kong to Wuchow. Its 14 passengers were all Chinese. Most of them were bankers going to Chungking to attend a conference. They included Hsu Sing-Loh, general manager of the National Commercial Bank of Shanghai, and Hu Pi-Kang, general manager of the China South Seas bank in Hong Kong.

The plane was to have carried Dr. Sun Fo, American-educated Chinese official, but he cancelled his plans and took a Eurasia plane to Hankow. He had just returned from an undisclosed mission aboard.

A Pan-American Airways plane, piloted by P. S. Delaney and followed by the U. S. gunboat Mindanao, went up the Canton river to aid the survivors of the attacked plane.

Since then McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover and Franklin D. Between postal duties, Mrs. Stone operates a general store.

CURBING PROJECT SEEKS NEW LIST

Owners and renters of property within the city of Twin Falls this afternoon were urged to take advantage of the opportunity of having curbs, gutters, sidewalks and sewers installed at low cost through participation in the WPA projects sponsored by the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Paul Gilman, chairman of the Junior Chamber committee in charge of the project, said that owners can now get swift action because only enough work was on hand at the present time to keep the 30 WPA workers engaged on the job "busy for about a week."

Materials Only
"Local persons should take advantage of this opportunity to secure sidewalks, curbs or driveways at the cost of the materials only," Gilman said. "The project fits in line with a recent ordinance being passed by members of the city council to the effect broken sidewalks would have to be repaired in order to reduce the danger of persons being injured. Such necessary improvements can be had by local property owners at a minimum of cost by taking advantage of this project."

During the summer, Gilman said, three blocks of curb and about 10 driveways have been completed. Each week day from 11 a. m. to 1 p. m. a man is available at the Chamber of Commerce offices and will come to any residence in order to measure the area to be improved and give an immediate report on the cost.

Any Amount
Materials must be paid for before work can start, under WPA arrangements, Gilman said. Any amount of sidewalk from one square to a block can be cared for.

Due to the property owner or renter for such improvement is 40 cents a running foot for the curb, 13 cents a square foot for the sidewalk and 13 cents a square foot for driveways.

TEACHERS' SALARY SCHEDULE RANKS CITY 4TH IN MAXIMUM

Stressing training and experience, the salary schedule which becomes effective for Twin Falls teachers this year provided $48 annual increases in definite "steps," is pointed out in the annual report of Supt. Homer H. Davis.

The schedule, adopted by the board of trustees last March, puts Twin Falls fourth in the state as regards maximum salaries. Boise, Pocatello and Idaho Falls all have higher salary schedule, Supt. Davis said.

"Our maximum salaries compare very favorably with Nampa, Caldwell and Lewiston," he points out in the report.

22 at Maximum
Thirty-two teachers in the Twin Falls system have reached their maximum salary this year, since they have been here 10 years or more. The scale, adopted after comprehensive study of teacher recompense in other systems, provides the following:

Two years training, $24 minimum and $1,256 maximum; number of steps upward 10; amount per step $48.

Three years training, $296 minimum and $1,428 maximum; 10 steps at $48 each.

Four years training, $1,140 minimum and $1,620 maximum; 10 steps at $48 per step.

Five years training, $1,140 minimum and $1,620 maximum; 11 steps at $48 per step.

Some Excluded
Some of the special teachers do not come under this schedule, the report shows. In addition, the schedule is limited in two other ways: Teachers in the first six grades are not given credit beyond the three-year training level and only two years of outside experience is counted on the schedule. Removal of those two clauses is hoped for in the future.

Regarding teacher tenure and experience, the superintendent's report explains that "most of our teachers have had from one to five years of experience before entering the local system. Two years experience is required at the present time."

The faculty throughout the system "has a very good balance so far as age is concerned," Mr. Davis said. More than half the teachers have been in the system five years or less, and in excess of 40 have been in the system from six to 10 years or more.

A "very high per cent" of the teachers attended summer schools this year. Grade school teachers with two years' training can raise their salary classification to the three-year level by attending summer sessions.

FROCK CONTRAST PATTERN 822

How little daughters and stylish mothers will revel in this new bolero-dress design! If made up in percale, challis or broadcloth, Pattern 822 will smartly bear the brunt of school or play hours. Clever of Marian Martin, wasn't it, to put a light print top for sparkle contrast with the skirt and bolero (dark, so they won't soil so easily). You realize, of course, that the bolero can be worn with other dresses too. And don't you admire that dainty puffed waist, accented by buttons? Moreover, the Diagrammed Sew Chart helps simplify the making so much!

Pattern 822 may be ordered only in children's sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 8, entire ensemble, requires 1 1/2 yards 4 1/2 inch fabric; size 10, contrast, dress 1 1/2 yards 30 inch fabric.

Undervalued autos like this one—patterned frankly after the small cars so popular in England and on the European continent—will soon be scooting over American highways.

Dispelling the Fog

By CHARLES MICHELSON, Director of Publicity, Democratic National Committee

Chairman John D. M. Hamilton of the Republican national committee has blossomed out as an economic expert. He takes issue with the facts and figures of Secretary of State Hull's report on the working out of the reciprocity trade treaties.

It is not to be expected that the program of the minority party, which would be a violent departure from the D. C. program, will be adopted by the G. O. P. program committee.

Back in 1932, when Mr. Hoover was pointing out the perils and plotting the awful consequences of the possible election of Franklin D. Roosevelt, he indicated that if the sacred Smoot-Hawley tariff was lifted, the grass will grow in the streets of a hundred cities, a thousand towns; the weeds will overrun the fields of millions of farms.

Lonely Position I gather that, regardless of whether the better of the two bills in the Republican banner of 1940 will be Mr. Hoover, Governor Landoh, or Senator Vandenberg, Mr. Hamilton will not be satisfied with the nomination.

For example, Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National bank and director in practically every banking association in the country, devoted the best part of a speech before the International Chamber of Commerce to the reciprocal trade accord.

And only last month James A. Farrell, former president of the United States Steel and chairman of the national foreign trade council, etc., devoted a whole magazine article to the subject, and in the course of that he said: "The reciprocal trade agreements have actually expanded our foreign markets."

The industrial recovery we experienced between 1923 and 1927 was due largely to the expansion of foreign trade, enabling us to put more men to work making products for export, which, in turn, increased the domestic demand for manufactured goods.

Even Chamber Approves Even the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, that organization which votes with almost everything President Roosevelt says or does, slipped to the extent of stating in its resolutions at its annual meeting that "it should be the objective of government and business during the coming year to maintain and increase the volume of export trade, which in the past year has taken up much slack in domestic business and employment."

Then, too, the mournful Colonel Knox, who, according to the reference books, ran for vice president in 1936, took a fall out of the Smoot-Hawley tariff and so inferentially endorsed the reciprocal trade arrangements to which Chairman Hamilton is so much distressed.

Really it would be a great thing if there were somebody who could talk for the Republican party. The national chairman is supposed to do that, but here he is affronting Liberty leaguers just as if his organization could get along without the fat contributions of those who consider that great aggregation devoted to saving the country from Franklin D. Roosevelt.

G. O. P. Never Learns But the Republicans seemingly never learn. They are quietly organizing a new campaign against the reciprocal trade program. They plan to lay down their cards on the pending negotiations with Czechoslovakia, Great Britain and Canada.

Although the country's foreign trade has doubled during the days of the Hawley-Smoot act in 1932, they profess to see the country headed for ruin because a few high tariffs have been reduced. No, the foregoing is not a quotation from a Democratic campaign speech. It was put out during the recent session of congress by my distinguished and consistent colleague on the other side of the political fence who directs the publicity for the Republican national committee.
