BOARD CORRECTS TRAFFIC AT FAIR

FILED, Aug. 31 (Special)—New facilities to relieve traffic congestion at the annual Twin Falls county fair and rodeo were outlined here tonight at a meeting of the fair board, reports Tom Parks, secretary-manager of the event.

It is believed possible to empty the fair grounds in half the time used in previous years, said Parks. Chief of the improvements which will facilitate the moving of cars to a gate north of the dining hall, built especially to be used in clearing that area.

Special State Police
Special police will direct drivers, and traffic will be kept moving, said the secretary. He said J. L. Balderston, state commissioner of law enforcement, had agreed to station a number of extra state troopers at fair during the four days of the fair to assist in regulating traffic.

One more meeting of the board has been scheduled to be held prior to the beginning of the fair. Board members had their regular meeting at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 6, on the eve of the opening of the fair, following a meeting with the Bull Jumper club at 6:30 p. m. on the same night. Final arrangements will be made at the meeting, said Parks.

Bull Ticket Drive
The group will conduct a drive to sell tickets Tuesday at Burley. Object of the drive is to give bull riders an opportunity to acquire tickets to prevent possible delays when a caravan from that city attends the fair on "Bull day."

The Boy Scout drum and bugle corps of Twin Falls will be asked to play Friday. Boy Scouts of the board agreed last night. Fred Warner, Scout director, and 35 Scouts will accompany the caravan. The board also approved an exhibition by the Scouts at the fair on the last day.

SAYS STOP TOWNSMENDIES THEY SEEK PROSPERITY
Editor, Evening Times:
"Talking about 'political immorality' in Idaho. Banning the Townsmendies, for they did it. They did the dirty work by nosing over into the wrong party on election day. They broke the Democratic machine and caused the blame to fall upon the poor Republicans not of their faith. It is a libel against the patriotic Townsmendies to blame not to be passed unnoted."

Townsmendies do not seem to be bright when it comes to party regularity. They appear to think more of the general welfare act than of any political party. When their party will not adopt the Townsmendies they just go right out and adopt a candidate in any other party, or no party. They are notorious for this sort of raceability in Idaho and show no sign of repentance.

Not satisfied with the trouble already caused by party leaders, this bunch of meddlers wants congress to enact a recovery plan that is certain to bring about better times, prosperity and a certain amount of work for all folks, and prosperity and work for young folks. Just as if anybody wants to make a living by working instead of laying around, hitch-hiking or keeping time for the W. P. A. We should say not. Forbid that such should come to pass. Let us further increase our foolishness. They have a scheme that is sure to cause money to circulate among the people instead of lying quietly and securely in vaults. As if it might not get lost, stolen, wear out or gambled away. Their idea seems to be to get everything and everybody working except children and old people. They must think that because old Adam and Eve sinned thousands of years ago we should voluntarily suffer for it. Please do something to stop these Townsmendies. When they get all the mines, farms, factories, stores and other industries going full blast, with our modern machinery, folks will have so many good things that they will get soft. It just won't do. No sir, it will be up to the laborer to get good wages, have a home, auto and plenty of gas. No right run down someone. The farmer knows that if he would sell him to get 5 cents for his cream, $1.50 for grain, $2 for spuds, $10 for beefs and help pay off his mortgage. You can help save the laborer and farmer. Stop the Townsmendies.

Yours truly,
F. B. DOTSON

Archery Has Biggest Boom Since Indians Went Modern

By LOWELL DICK
The bow and arrow business in Twin Falls is experiencing its greatest boom since the Indians laid down their tomahawks and picked up rifles, says W. T. Moore, the one man in the Magic valley who should know most about the boom.

Moore has made bows and arrows in Twin Falls for the past 10 years, and reports that present sales indicate 1938 will be a better year than during the somewhat dim and faded years immediately preceding a certain Idaho sudden drop into the depths in '29.

20 in Two Months
During the 10 years Moore has made bows he hasn't kept count of the number he turns out, but he can remember selling about 20 in the past two months. He sells quite a number of bows, but generally buys them ready-made because they're cheaper. If you plan to do a little hunting with a bow

The Gentleman in the Third Row

SERIAL STORY

HAYWIRE HOUSE

BY EDWIN RUTT

Yesterday's Not everyone is happy at the Restoration, observes at a well-dressed gentleman's party after the Little Cheese feast.

CHAPTER XVI

MR. C. K. TITUS was a quiet man with grave, kindly eyes and a pleasant manner. He arrived at noon the next day after the Great Pierre had returned and, with many "Mon Dieux" and "Farebious," reincarnated his snakes.

The advent of Mr. Titus appeared to bring a great wave of peace to the Restoration. The days that followed were uneventful. Mr. Titus himself kept his own company, spending long hours in the grounds and rowing on the river. The other members of the household settled down to their usual routine.

Much to the surprise of Sally and Kinks, the team of Griffin and Spaldini remained at the "Little Cheese" was no longer gunning for Kinks. It was this phenomenon in his inflexible fashion. It appeared that the organization dominated by the Little Cheese was large and widespread. Its members were under orders to give the works to Mr. Griffin on sight. Wherefore he had deemed it advisable to remain where he was, and to wait until the Little Cheese had had time to round up his cohorts and announce that the feud had been called off.

To add to the general serenity that reigned, Wilton Ames had been in and out and making himself most agreeable. And to Sally, Wilton was more than agreeable. He was downright apologetic. Not only had the shares of the Great Divide Copper Company failed to go up; they had cruelly turned flat and slid toward the market's nadir.

Then one day Kinks brought up the general subject of finances. "There is," Sally informed him, "just about $400 in the exchequer. Bull Griffin paid for another week. I don't know how I've hoarded everything and stalled off the tradesmen. In other words, Mr. Parker, we need $300 and we need it soon." Kinks wrinkled his brow. "I hadn't forgotten. After being taken care of, I think it's time to raise some dough. But, honestly, I'm stymied. Isn't there anybody we could borrow from?" "Not a soul that I know of," Kinks replied.

C. K. Titus

ALL UNRESTFUL ON SAFETY!

Dear Pot Shots:

Don't you announce through your column that I am for the safety campaign, 100 proof—I mean per centum—believers in the following blinks for motorists should be added to the usual rules:

- 1—Don't try to hit off beer bottles cap with one in one motion.
- 2—If you spot worker driver, take another route immediately.
- 3—Don't force any highway patrolman off the road.

Yr. Truly,
J. H. Hines

P. S.—The traffic problem in Blyep's precinct was solved this week. P. Otto Zilchberg's Maxwell finally gave up and Otto says he won't try to run it any more.

IF THIS IS LOGIC, SOME ONE WILL BE IRATE!

Shelton:

Being a man of eminent logic myself, I will proceed now to prove to you that all husbands and wives are selfish.

It's like this:

Marriage is a 50-50 proposition. All possessions are split 50-50. So the wit in the family is divided.

Which makes the husband and the wife each a half-wit.

WANTED! SOMEBODY TO BE KIND TO STRANGERS!

Pot Shots:

In answer to "It's a Toss Up" of Saturday's Pot Shots, I do not see as it makes much difference if you are outside or inside the dance Friday night. If you are a stranger you might just as well be outside; there is no floor manager to introduce you. So, if you are a stranger, you might give an outsider an equal chance to see how it goes.

ANGLERS, AHOY! GOOD TROUT FISHING SUNDAYS!

Dear Pote:

You're may be the wrong department for a communication as this, but we've noticed other "tells me" items in your column, so here goes, and if it isn't worth printing, I'll throw it out and no hard feelings.

Week before last your humble correspondent was privileged to spend a few days on the banks of the Snake with a couple of local guys who have a cabin on the headwaters of Rock Creek. (Maybe you know 'em.) Incidentally, the location of the cabin is in a dense stand of alpine fir and aspens, beside a spring and with a view of the mountains. This is just the old time, the good old time, the way we used to know what we mean. We're trying to ease in a little of it now to ready you for what's ahead of us.

One hears so much talk about the good old days when a man could find primitive conditions on a mountain, but that's not the case now, or nearly so. Well, listen to this: When those tri-o-boys finish that trout, they'll be back on the river. In one hour, this fall—Twin Falls area may, in this fall, drive any trout that's in the water. They'll be mighty well sipped of what our hills should be. Well, maybe two weeks' out there. We are standing only a few yards from the road, and beaver swimming in their own swimming pool along the road, and watched trout jumping from the car, and... things and things! In one hour, we saw six beaver at the same time. Trout in the beaver dam in the stock creek are easy with fish. At the risk of oversteating his paragraph, well, simply state that in three hours we'll return, including some that were left about a foot long, on file. And that's a fact, in that stretch we fished, those we caught weren't even missed. Of course, this wasn't on the highway, but one can see plenty from the car when the rise is on. But then deer coming down to water... It's all in this place, Pote, we break back to the time when beaver stored out there in our own hills, almost in our own back yard, thanks to the fact that we can't get on the job. We want to know about it, and we hope it stays that way.

THE MINING COMPANIES OF Blaine county, one of the timber companies of the same county and representatives of Twin Falls county were heard before the state board of equalization at the session this morning.

The mining companies were willing to have their valuations remain as they are, although they alleged them to be above full cash value. The timber companies, from that county which appeared before the board, asked for a reduction of 50 percent, alleging that its property is worth less than the timber that it represents above its actual value.

THE "CRISIS AGE" for the male is 50, a British psychologist has just declared before the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

This is the big moment in man's life, he states, because the average man suddenly finds it's too late to turn back, to start over, no matter how he wants to change, and up to this time he has usually toyed with the idea of making a change at any moment.

All of which may be true, but scarcely seems to justify singling out 50 as THE crisis age.

How about 40, when life is supposed to begin, and when a man's friends all tell him so, and he starts to believe it, but can't quite bring himself to the effort to do anything about it? How about 30, when he suddenly finds that way through life and hasn't yet got anything to do? How about 20, when he hasn't yet found out what he's doing and he's almost upon the verge of 20, when he realizes at last that there's no way out and he's got to make the rest of his life away?

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 — Dies "Tri-American" Committee: Despite many objections, finally produced an impressive victory in Prof. J. B. Matthews... Tall spars, with pompoudered thin gray hair, professional spectacles and navy blue serge suit, Matthews says, professionally, dramatically, and even in oratorical flights as he makes an able exponent of Communist strategy and technique.

The zealot's gleam is in his eyes while he "exposes" "united front" groups, a die-hard Communist. "Net result will be to nullify previous testimony that Communists like to dominate organization."

Matthews, admitting he once sought to show up Communist affiliations with "united front" groups, now stretches points the other way. He is vice president of Consumers' Research, devoted to telling people how to buy.

Consumer's Research emerged from the ranks; its organizers charged "Communists" organized "Consumer's Union" and Matthews, a competitor, charges that other consumer organizations had Communists' origin.

But Matthews, never a Communist party member, tells this writer he began to pull away from active association with Communists long before the Consumer's Research strike. He says the Russian trials and exiled Communist old Bolsheviks finally soured him.

Kinks patted her shoulder gently.

"If you don't decide to marry these little pieces of Wilton," she said, "I might as well get Parker in still around. And Parker is willing."

"Oh, go away," said Sally.

That evening Sally went to her room without a slumber. She was vacantly about, wrestling with the problem of how to raise $200. He finally wound up on the porch where he found Mr. C. K. Titus sitting alone. In a sudden burst of confidence, he told him about their predicament.

The quiet gentleman listened.

"Well," he said, when Kinks was finished, "it's a grand place. You had your going to have to lose it, I'm very sorry, young Kinks. Very sorry. But now, well, I'll just say good night."

Kinks stared after him.

"Ruh!" he muttered. "That guy can sure sure other people's troubles over his shoulder. Oh, gee, this is a mess. Disposed of tomorrow. And Sally is going to be heartbroken."

He spent a restless, futile night. When he came down next morning, two people occupied the dining room. One was Mrs. Clippack who stood with arms folded, her habitual expression of stony calm. The other was the Great Pierre. And the Great Pierre was still passing his hands over a sallier, making it disappear and reappear in a most disconcerting way.

Kinks watched him for a second. Then, suddenly, he started. Inspiration, like a great white light, had flooded his brain.

The Family Doctor

By DR. MORRIS FISHER
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

No two of us are constructed exactly alike. The way in which we are constructed is a reflection of the constitution which we inherit from all of our ancestors.

The special branch of science which concerns with the original nature of the kind of man from which he is constructed, and the effects of such materials on his life, is known as the science of genetics.

The human being represents a certain contribution from each of his parents. As far as we know, the nature of each parent's contribution is not controlled by any law of science, it seems rather to depend almost wholly upon chance.

There are many ways in which we are constructed. Yet upon these very materials depend not only the individual's health but also his character, his personality, the powers which he will develop later in life — indeed his entire future.

It has been discovered that the number of chromosomes from the female is different from that coming from the male. In the female the number of chromosomes is even. In the male the number of chromosomes is odd. This difference of one chromosome is said to be the sex chromosome, which distinguishes many of the differences that distinguish male and female.

The early embryo contains in a mass first the sex chromosomes. One of these is from the mother; the other from the father. The mass grows by dividing into two cells, and so on into eight, 16, until a large number of cells are formed. From this mass the sex chromosomes develop, gradually there begin to be differences depending upon the number of chromosomes that develop. As the development occurs the individual becomes determined toward the male or the female side, and certain glands develop which are characteristic of sex.

As growth continues, the material coming from these glands continues to determine quite definitely the characteristics of the human being. It is known that the secretions do have such effects because one of the greatest discoveries in modern medicine is the isolation of each of these secretions. By injecting such secretions into animals and studying their growth, it can be shown that the glands quite definitely influence the characteristics and the growth of the animal.

BRITISH ENVOY EN ROUTE TO GERMANY ON PEACE MISSION

HENDERSON TOLD TO WARN HITLER ON CZECH CRISIS

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN
LONDON, Aug. 31 (Special)—Sir Neville Henderson, ambassador to Germany, left by airplane for Berlin today with instructions to warn Germany against attacking Czechoslovakia and at the same time to appeal for a cooperative gesture to avert European peace.

For the moment he was the key man of Europe diplomatically. He spent three days in conference with cabinet ministers. He left with a full and intimate knowledge of his government's views and his instructions were extremely definite.

The government understood to have considered sending a personal letter from Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to Adolf Hitler, appealing for a pacific gesture. This plan was understood to have been abandoned.

No secret message or document, and that he would not seek out anybody to give a message.

But it was reported that he hoped to see Hitler, Adolf Hitler, and that he would not seek out anybody to give a message.

When Henderson left Croaydon airport it was said that he carried no secret message or document, and that he would not seek out anybody to give a message.

Convict's Widow Questioned

Declaring that the four convicts found dead in the disciplinary cells of Philadelphia county prison at Holmeburg, Pa., were "roasted alive," Governor Charles Dierkes declared that his investigation would result in one or more arrests. He is pictured above conferring with Mrs. Mary Osborne, widow of one of the victims.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 31 (Special)—Governor Charles Dierkes declared today that his investigation into the deaths of four convicts in the disciplinary cells of the Philadelphia county prison at Holmeburg, Pa., would result in one or more arrests. He is pictured above conferring with Mrs. Mary Osborne, widow of one of the victims.

The governor's statement came in response to a letter from Mrs. Osborne, who had written him asking for an investigation into the deaths of her husband and three other convicts who had been found dead in the disciplinary cells of the prison.

Dierkes said that he had ordered an investigation into the deaths and that he was confident that the truth would be uncovered. He said that he was sure that the deaths were not accidental and that there had been some foul play.

MERCHANTS CITE NEED OF SAFETY

Cooperation of every auto driver in Twin Falls and south central Idaho was urged today by three of the 50 merchants sponsoring the traffic safety campaign inaugurated last week. The merchants urged drivers to exercise caution and to observe traffic laws in avoiding accidents.

With each driver in south central Idaho cooperating, it is estimated that the number of accidents would be reduced to a minimum. The merchants said that they were sponsoring the campaign to protect their own interests and to protect the lives of their customers.

Have you noticed how deeply and disinterestedly the Republicans are concerned in the Democratic primary? Have you noticed how they are trying to exercise caution and to observe traffic laws in avoiding accidents?

The Republican party is not interested in the Democratic primary. They are only interested in the Democratic primary because they want to win it. They are not interested in the welfare of the people or in the welfare of the country.

Most of Talent Firms in Hollywood Termed Fakes

By PAUL HARRISON
(NEA Service)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 31—Classifying various Hollywood talent agencies as "fakes" and "phony" is a job that local authorities don't like. Testimony is difficult to obtain before false leads and "studio executives" Larry Crosby, brother and business manager of Bing Crosby, brought the ring to police attention when he learned that a solicitor for the firm was claiming to be connected with Crosby. One man was arrested but was released because his parents refused to appear to aid in the prosecution.

There are about 150 talent agencies in Hollywood. Most of them are "fakes" and "phony." They are not interested in the welfare of the people or in the welfare of the country.

JAPAN REJECTS U. S. PLANE PROTEST

NIPPONS EXPRESS "REGRETS" AFTER DANGER TO PILOT

TOKYO, Aug. 21 (Special)—Japan rejected today the United States protest against the "unwarranted" attack on a Chinese commercial airplane by Japanese naval planes.

The reply expressed "regrets" that the pilot, Capt. Hugh L. Wood of Winfield, Kan., was endangered in the attack, but expressed belief that the Chinese owners of the plane had "intentionally" over his persons and for that reason the incident did not involve Japan and any foreign power.

Acted Suspicious
The commercial airliner acted "suspiciously like a military craft," the reply said, and because it was operating within the zone marked off by the Japanese high command the naval planes pursued it as an enemy craft.

The spokesman for the foreign office said that the protest was rejected on factual grounds.

Crash Landings
The plane, owned by the China National Aviation Corp., in which Pan American Airways has a substantial interest, was forced into a crash landing on Aug. 24.

At least 12 Chinese passengers were drowned. Pilot Wood escaped the wreckage.

The spokesman revealed at the same time that an incident involving the explosion of two mines aboard the Yangtze river near Kiangling, has been settled amicably.

Admit Attack
The Japanese authorities readily admitted that naval planes attacked the airliner, but insisted that they had reason to suspect the ship was engaged in military activities. They reiterated that a warning was given months ago that the war was liable to attack.

Pan-American Airway's British Imperial Airways and Air France were among the airlines that were suspected of being in the hands of the Japanese, it was said. But the Chinese national planes were not exempt.

The Japanese authorities might change their opinion stand that the plane and passengers were not in the hands of the Japanese, it was given by the spokesman.

Memories Hazy
He said that the memories of the Japanese side of the existing reports of the attack were the only means of ascertaining the facts and that therefore a factual agreement was being sought.

The incident involving the Monterey was cleared up presumably after the Japanese Consul General in Washington, the vessel, informed navy department officials that he believed the explosion of mines was an accidental rather than malicious. The Monterey last was reported three miles below Kiangling, in a safe anchorage.

Dewey, Hines Battle in Round of Fight that Goes Back 150 Years

This is the first of three articles recalling historic clashes between reform groups and Tammany hall.

By WILLIS THORNTON (NEA Service)

NEW YORK—The prosecution of James J. (Jimmy) Hines by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey on charges of conspiracy in a $100,000,000-a-year policy racket, is the current scene in a drama that has been going on for 150 years.

The hero, Civic Righteousness, is being played this time by Dewey much as it was played in other days by Alexander Hamilton, by Thomas Nast, by Dr. Charles G. Parkhurst, Clarence Loxow, John W. Coff, Seth Luzzo and Samuel Seabury. And the villain, Tammany, is being played by Hines much as it was played in the past by Aaron Burr, Scott Tweed, James McCree, "Bill" Devery, and Jimmy Walker.

This drama, varying from low vaudeville to high tragedy, has been going on as long as there has been a United States, for Tammany hall and the federal government were born at practically the same time. The battle has raged ever since, now with virtue triumphant, now with the villain again binding the fair city of New York to the buzz-saw of greed and graft while reformers hiss helplessly.

Conceived in Midlife
The name Tammany itself had a derivative origin. Before the Revolution, the stocking business was organized into various clubs in loyalty to the crown, called Sons of St. George, St. Andrew, and the like. In the infancy of the societies, New York revolutionists organized the Sons of St. Tammany, sarcastically "canonizing" thus a wise local industrialist of the same name.

At the time the federal constitution was adopted in 1789, a New York upstart named William Moore founded the Sons of St. Tammany, to oppose aristocratic tendencies of the then ruling class and give a voice to plain people. The society was not a partisan, but displayed its strength in parades and banquets.

When partisan division began to set in the country in 1798, Tammany naturally was anti-Federalist, and gravitated to the support of the Republicans (later to be called Democrats). But Tammany's practical political A. B. C.'s from Aaron Burr.

Burr never was an enrolled Tammany man, and never wore the distinction of being Grand Sachem of the hall. He was too elegant to dress himself with paint, crown and quill, with feathers and whoop drum, and he was taken to "Kiondiks" the night of Friday, Aug. 19.

Machine Long Entrenched
In the election of 1800, New York held the balance of power. Using the Tammany machine, Burr raised funds, bargained and horse-traded, made promises. And the election was a stand-off between Burr and Jefferson, the choice in the House of Representatives finally favoring Jefferson by a single vote after 36 ballots. That same year Tammany men captured most of the municipal offices of New York City.

Tammany as a functioning political machine was thus entrenched 128 years ago.

When the Hamilton-Burr feud came to its tragic crisis in 1804, a Tammany man stood beside Burr at the duel, the dueling ground at Weehawken. The death of Hamilton was the occasion for a rowdy celebration in the "Big Top," Tammany's meeting ground. It was the faithful Sachem, Davis, who roved the boat that carried Burr across to Perth Amboy and political oblivion.

Deputy Assessor Leaves for East
BURLY, Aug. 21 (Special)—Miss Gladys Hill left Monday morning for Newark, New Jersey, where she has accepted a position in the bureau's office of the Bergen county junior college.

The hero, Civic Righteousness, is being played this time by Tom Dewey much as it was played in an earlier day by Alexander Hamilton . . . and the villain, Tammany, is being played by Jimmy Hines much as it was played by Aaron Burr.

Young Prisoner Accuses Guards in Jail 'Roasting'

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21 (Special)—A youthful inmate of the Philadelphia county prison today had accused two guards who have been charged with manslaughter of turning on the steam in the radiator-lined cellblock where four convicts were "cooked to death."

The scouter, Patrick J. Marco, was testifying at a hearing for the guards, Francis Smith and Alfred W. Brought. He was one of 21 other convicts who Coroner Charles H. Hersch said might have perished had the heat remained on an hour longer.

Brough and Smith were held without bail to await action by a coroner's jury.

Di Marco, 28, serving a 25-year term, said he was taken to "Kiondiks" the night of Friday, Aug. 19.

Why were you taken there?" he was asked.

"I don't know," di Marco answered. "I engaged in no disorders. I merely refused to eat along with the other boys. There was no steam turned on when I entered the cell, but when I entered the cell, it was placed in No. 10. It was a warm night. There were no windows or ventilators open. I was locked in my cell and then Mr. Brough turned on the heat and went out. It was kept on until Sunday noon and then Brough turned the steam off and Mr. Smith opened the windows, but then Mr. Smith turned all the heat valves back on."

The boys were screaming they were dying. We could hear them. We screamed for water and air. One of the boys yelled: "Shoo, us quick and get it over with. Kill us fast and don't let us suffer."

For Mothers, Wives
"They begged for their mothers and wives. I don't know why more did not die."

"Captain McGuire (James McGuire, captain of the prison guard) came to the window and he ordered the heat shut off and the windows opened."

"It's too damned hot in here," he said. But when he left the steam went back on because we heard the hissing all night. Mr. Brough, Smith and McGuire closed the windows. Sunday night it was hotter than ever."

"Stanley Martin (one of the other inmates) said he had gone to commit suicide. He rammed his head against the bars. Eddie Hayes (alias of Frank Concedo, one of the dead convicts) was mourning for his mother, screaming he was going to die. I lay on the floor and told them to keep quiet and save their energy."

JUDGE AND WIFE UNHURT IN CRASH

District Judge C. F. Holt, Great Falls, Mont., suffered nothing but injured feelings and $100 damage to his motor car—when he side-swiped a truck at a railway underpass 45 miles south of Twin Falls Tuesday afternoon.

Judge and Mrs. Holt were both uninjured although fenders, glass, doors and body on the left side of their machine were considerably smashed, according to State Patrolman V. K. Barron.

The jurist's car hit a truck driven by J. E. Martin, Reno, Nev., the officer said. Martin's wife was also riding in the cab of the truck. Neither was hurt and the truck sustained only minor damage. Patrolman Barron happened to be a short distance behind the car and truck at the time of the mishap.
