HEAVY VOTE FOR RACE IN GEORGIA

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 14 (U.P.) — Ideal weather brought out a heavy vote today in Georgia's Democratic primary in which Lawrence S. Camp, endorsed by President Roosevelt, is seeking to defeat Sen. Walter F. George, conservative.

A third candidate was former governor Eugene Talmadge, anti-New Dealer.

Voters in many cities stood in line waiting for an opportunity to ballot. But at Irwinton there was a brief lull in voting and one ballot box was opened. The count showed:

George 14.
Talmadge 3.
Camp 1.

The box was then closed for further balloting.

President Roosevelt had spoken directly against four Democratic congressmen who opposed in varying degrees his New Deal program. He lost in South Carolina where Sen. Ellison D. Smith won re-nomination over the Roosevelt endorsed candidate. He lost in Maryland Monday where Senator Millard Tydings also won re-nomination, though Mr. Roosevelt had delivered a speech in favor of his opponent. The betting odds were that he would lose today—that Sen. George would win re-nomination.

CHINESE HELD IN NARCOTICS RAID

BOISE, Ida., Sept. 14 (U.P.) - Chick Loule, former state president of the Hip Sing tong, and four other Chinese were held today for arraignment before U. S. Commissioner John Jackson following their arrest last night in a narcotics raid.

Loule's companions were Louie Bing, Herbert Eng Dunger, Louie Gam Shell and Louie Lee.

Gerald Close, federal narcotics agent, led the raid on a Chinese clubroom.

Police confiscated nearly $2,000 worth of opium, smokes, pipes and bowls.

Close said the pipes had been in use shortly before the raid.

Close said he believed the raid had broken a narcotics ring which had supplied addicts throughout the state, and had been associated with a Pocatello outfit.

In a raid on a Chinese residence here last summer, police took a few pipes, about $150 worth of opium and captured an aged Chinese farmer.

ARABS KILLED

JERUSALEM, Sept. 14 (U.P.)—Ten Arabs were killed and 10 injured today when a land mine exploded under an omnibus on the northern frontier. Twelve Arabs were killed yesterday in a clash with troops on the Jerusalem-Hebron road.

Front-Line Chorus in Germany's Army

Troopers like these, hiding behind a portable fence which they carry with them in advances, are obstacles to be considered by the Czechoslovakian government if it continues its policy of resisting demands of the Sudetens. The soldiers shown are Germans in recent maneuvers along the Czech border. If war breaks out, as appeared likely after today's skirmishes in the Sudeten area, these men of Hitler's huge army would be the first to ride toward the Czech strongholds.

List Grows in Honor Day of Safe Driving

Have you seen a motorist you'd like to commend?

Several score license numbers of Twin Falls motorists who performed deeds of safe driving and of traffic courtesy had been turned in at offices of the Evening Times this afternoon as south Idaho's first "safety recognition day" went into effect.

Honor roll of safe drivers will be printed tomorrow in Times and News. The recognition day forms one of the high spots of the safety campaign sponsored by 50 cooperating Twin Falls merchants.

License numbers and a brief notation on the safety or courtesy action are all that are needed for inclusion in the honor list, heads of the safety campaign said. These can be turned in at Times-News office tonight or Thursday morning.

City police and sheriff's officers are cooperating.

Honor lists from other south central cities and towns may be mailed to the Times or News for inclusion in later lists, it was emphasized this afternoon.

'Hands Off Sudetens,' Says Hitler

"If the Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia cannot defend themselves, they will receive help from us," declared Adolf Hitler, thundering a hands off warning at the recent Nuremberg Nazi party congress on Monday night. Today it appeared that the Sudetens would be unable to defend themselves after a series of clashes, and the world now awaits word and action from the Fuehrer to see if he really meant just what he said.

KING RETURNING TO CONFER WITH BRITISH CABINET

By RICHARD D. McMILLAN

LONDON, Sept. 14 (U.P.) — The cabinet, at its gravest meeting since the World war, made ready today for a European explosion. It discussed mobilization plans. It announced that King George was returning at once to London to consult with his ministers, and it was reported to have made arrangements for an early extraordinary session of parliament.

While the cabinet still was in session, United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy arrived at No. 10 Downing street, where it was meeting.

Even before the cabinet met, it was reported that the defense ministers and chiefs of navy, army and air force staffs had been ordered to prepare complete mobilization plans ready for instant use if Germany attacked Czechoslovakia.

National Emergency

The formal announcement of the king's return meant that the country was confronted with a national emergency, for the king's presence is required only because the government may be faced with the necessity of deciding whether to go to war.

Previously, the king had planned to come here Friday for the funeral of his cousin, Prince Arthur of Connaught, and to return at once to Scotland.

It was understood that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain planned to call parliament and, as soon as it met, to make a speech warning Germany directly and unmistakably against attacking Czechoslovakia.

United Front

After Chamberlain's speech, it was said, leaders of the labor and liberal parties, the opposition, would speak, supporting the views of the government, to show a complete united front of more than 40,000,000 Britons and a determination to march with France in any European war.

The Czechoslovak minority situation was now one in which British leaders felt that German military action against Czechoslovakia was possible at any hour, and it was understood that a majority of the cabinet believed that a violent solution of the problem was more likely than a peaceful one.

The feeling was that though any hour might bring war, every hour that passed without war offered hope for some development that would prevent it.

WOMAN'S TRIAL SET ON SEPT. 26

Trial date for Miss Cindya Caudle, Twin Falls, on charges of assault with a deadly weapon was set tentatively today for 10 a. m. Sept. 26 by District Judge J. W. Porter.

Miss Caudle is accused of wounding Earl O. Smith, rancher employed to handle a farm located near Kimberly and owned by Miss Caudle and her sister. Smith was allegedly shot in the leg after dispute over ranch matters.

The accused woman, speaking in a firm voice, entered a plea of not guilty in district court today. Judge Porter then set trial for Sept. 26 subject to possible further setting of the court to precede the Caudle case. The further setting would be the murder trial of Duncan McD. Johnston and William La Vonde in event supreme court decision on La Vonde's plea for freedom by habeas corpus does not change the complexion of that case.

Information against Johnston and La Vonde, charging them with killing George L. Olson, jewelry salesman, is to be filed in district court next Monday by Prosecutor Edward Babcock.

The Johnston-La Vonde case would precede the Caudle charges under court rules which specify that criminal cases are to be tried in order of importance. That order puts at the top those felony cases where the defendant is in jail, next those in which the defendant is out on bail, then misdemeanor cases where the accused is in jail and finally misdemeanor matters where the defendant is free on bail.

2,000 TAKE PART IN 1ST SKIRMISH

By ELEANOR PACKARD

(Copyright, 1938, United Press)

EGER, Sudeten Area, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 14 (UP) — Battling almost on a war-time scale broke out today in the Sudeten area near the border north of Eger.

Casualties were estimated by the Sudetens as upwards of 30.

In the battle, 2,000 Sudetens armed with machine guns, rifles and pistols fought hundreds of Czech troops and police.

The action was at the town of Haberspar-irk, near Falkenau in the Eger district.

Seize Weapons

The Sudetens supplemented their own weapons with arms and ammunition seized in the local police station, which they captured.

The battle was described in a "war communique" issued by the newly-established headquarters of the Sudetens in Eger.

"At 11 o'clock this morning, heavy armored cars of the Czech army converged from two sides against a solid front of approximately 2,000 Sudeten Germans," the Sudeten communique said.

"Losses of Czech gendarmes have been placed at between 10 and 15 while our losses are considerably higher. They cannot even be estimated.

The communique added in another section:

"After Communists had provoked the inhabitants of Haberspark a battle ensued between the two sides with the Czech gendarmes intervening in the fight without, however, using firearms.

Gendarmes Withdraw

"Finally the gendarmes withdrew into their post as the crowds pushed on to the building. Suddenly a shot came from the building and shortly afterwards regular firing began.

"After storming the post, the crowd armed itself with weapons found there and with about 40 boxes of munitions and hand grenades, two machine guns as well as machine gun cartridges.

"A short time later gendarmes from the nearby towns of Falkenau and Zwobau arrived in automobiles and immediately opened fire which was immediately returned by the population.

"This shooting killed more people. (Shortly after news of the battle became known, it was announced in Prague that martial law had been extended to three more Sudeten areas, making 11 now under military rule.)

Trivial Incident

The smoldering animosity between Sudeten Germans and Czechs, fanned by events since Adolf Hitler's Nuremberg speech Monday night, broke into armed rebellion over what started as a trivial incident.

The Sudeten version was that Communists taunted Sudetens in the center of the town and a scuffle resulted.

Local gendarmes patrolling the streets tried to quiet the disturbance but in a few minutes, free-for-all fighting broke out.

The gendarmes made several arrests and fought their way to the police station.

The mob closed in and surrounded the police station, shouting threats and Nazi slogans.

Shot Rings Out

A shot rang out from the building. The mob wavered and some started to run, others remaining where they were, uncertain.

Then a hail of bullets came from the building as the gendarmes let go with a raking fusillade.

PRESIDENT GOES TO WASHINGTON

ROCHESTER, Minn., Sept. 14 (U.P.) The threat of European war sent President Roosevelt speeding back to Washington today soon after bidding goodbye to his son James at the Mayo clinic.

Telephone conversations with Secretary of State Cordell Hull convinced the chief executive that he should be at his desk prepared for whatever eventually might arise. Plans were revised hurriedly and instead of proceeding to Hyde Park, N. Y., as intended originally, the capital was decided upon.

Doctors at St. Mary's hospital reported this morning that James still was in a "critical" condition from his ulcer operation of Sunday but that he was making "satisfactory progress."

FOREIGN ENVOYS KEEP U. S. INFORMED ON EUROPEAN CRISIS

NO INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN BY HULL TO CONSULATES

By FRANK McNAUGHTON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt hurried toward Washington today to keep in closer touch with an increasingly grave crisis in Europe. At the same time Secretary of State Cordell Hull declared that American representatives are well informed of their functions in event of any European emergency.

Canceling plans to go to his home at Hyde Park, Mr. Roosevelt left the bedside of his son, James, at Rochester, Minn., to come directly to the capital. In an extemporaneous speech as he left, he explained:

Back to Capital

"I am not going back to my Hudson river home, but to Washington for as you know conditions of affairs in Europe are extremely serious. That is why I go back to the national capital as President."

Secretary Hull said that no new instructions have gone forward to U. S. consulates for evacuation of American nationals in event of European war. Hull discussed the European situation this morning by telephone with Mr. Roosevelt.

Hull was asked at his press conference concerning reports that in some instances American consuls have suggested to nationals that they might leave Europe immediately. He said he had no official reports to that effect, emphasizing that American representatives abroad are sufficiently informed to take any action they deem necessary.

General War Information

The consular instructions, it was understood, comprise general information on what to do in event of a war.

Hull said that French Ambassador Rene de Saint Quentin called upon him today to discuss general observations on the trend of affairs.

Dr. K. Brejska, charge d'affaires of the Czechoslovakian legation, declared in a radio interview last night that his nation would not "voluntarily" sacrifice any part of its territory in a move to placate German demands.

FORCES CLASH IN CZECHOSLOVAKIA

Several in the crowd fell. Others raced for shelter.

Then the mob reorganized and weapons began to appear. They made a mass attack on the station, firing through the windows.

The gendarmes tried to escape through an adjoining building but were shot as they ran out.

The Sudetens moved victoriously into the station and began distributing the arms and ammunition which they seized. They were now ready for battle with the addition of two machine guns, cases of hand grenades and 40 rifles, besides plenty of ammunition.

Call for Help

Authorities sent out hurried word for reinforcements to the nearest large centers, Falkenau and Zwodau. Truckloads of gendarmes with machine guns, rifles and grenades raced to the battle scene.

They opened fire into the crowd, but the Sudetens, reinforced with the arms they had captured, returned volley for volley. Several on both sides were killed in the first few minutes of battle.

Then Czech troops arrived in heavy armored cars and attacked the Sudetens from two sides. In addition to mass fighting, there was scattered open fighting and sniping from buildings and other shelter.

Cause of Fight

The Sudetens said one of the gendarmes wounded in the attack on the police station declared that the first shot was not aimed at the crowd but was fired by a gendarme named Bartosch at his sergeant.

According to the gendarme, Bartosch was angered because the sergeant, who was a Slovak, refused to give the order to open fire when the disturbance started.

AUDITOR RAPS AT GOVERNOR'S FIRE

Twin Falls county "has paid its share of state social security relief funds straight along" in spite of claims to the contrary by Gov. Barzilla Clark, County Auditor Frank J. Smith said today.

Clark said at Boise yesterday that 10 counties, including Twin Falls, have not kept up their contributions.

Mr. Smith explained today that the federal government pays half the old age social security program, and the state and counties "approximately" divide the other half. The program assists the aged, the blind and other needy classifications.

"The old age security fund had $30,000 in the county budget this year," Mr. Smith said today. "We still have $14,000 in the budget and we have met our obligation to the state at all times.

"Although the budgeted amount doesn't mean that sum must be on hand—since all taxes haven't been collected yet—we could register warrants against it if necessary. That isn't needed this year."

The auditor explained that $23,000 in actual cash is on hand for the poor fund, in addition to the budgeted $14,000 which can still be spent for the security program.

AMERICANS TOLD TO LEAVE EUROPE

LONDON, Sept. 14 (U.P.) — The United States consulate is advising Americans to book passage for home when possible, an official of the consulate said today.

"We are advising United States citizens to book passage for home as soon as possible unless their presence in Europe is essential, because of the difficulty of getting passage in the present international situation," he said.

An ocean traffic official of the American Express company said four out of ten Americans who came to Europe aboard German ships have tried to transfer to British, French or American boats for fear of war catching them on the high seas aboard a German vessel.

However, he said, traffic to the United States is so heavy because of the international situation that a traveler is lucky to get passage on any vessel. There is a waiting list for almost every boat bound for the United States.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 38 to 52), who fears she'll lose her appeal to men, who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dizzy spells, upset nerves and moody spells.

Just get more fresh air, 8 hrs. sleep and if you need a reliable "WOMAN'S" tonic take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made especially for women. It helps Nature build up physical resistance, thus helps give more vivacity to enjoy life and assist calming jittery nerves and those disturbing symptoms that often accompany change of life. Pinkham's is WELL WORTH trying.

Nothing Completed For Adding Counsel On Murder Charges

Frank L. Stephan, local attorney, this afternoon told the Evening Times that no arrangements had been completed to date whereby he would aid Edward Babcock, county attorney, in the prosecution of Duncan McD. Johnston and William LaVonde, charged with the murder of George L. Olson, Salt Lake City jewelry salesman.

A rumor was current around the city that Wayne Decker, head of the jewelry firm for which Olson worked, had asked Stephan to aid during the trial, slated before the district court sometime during the current fall term.

"It all depends whether or not I will aid the prosecutor," Stephan said. "At the present time no arrangements have been completed."

He would not comment as to whether or not he expected such arrangements to be made. If a private attorney aids Babcock, payment of that attorney's fees must come from private sources and cannot be paid by county funds.

ARM AMPUTATED AFTER ACCIDENT

BURLEY, Sept. 14 (Special) — Cromwell Martindale, 40, Burley resident, lost his left arm by amputation yesterday following an automobile accident one and one-fourth miles west of here on highway 30 when his car sideswiped a truck driven by Charles A. Howell, McCall.

Surgeons deemed it necessary to perform the amptuation, the member being so badly crushed. His condition was pronounced as fair Wednesday afternoon by attaches at the Cottage hospital.

The injured man has a wife and four children living at Shoshone. He had recently completed work with an oiling crew on the Oakley highway.

UNION GROUP TO RECEIVE CHARTER

Permanent charter for the Twin Falls section of the American Federation of Labor Unions will be presented to the local body at a special meeting which will be held in the meeting rooms of the Perrine hotel Friday at 8 p. m., it was announced this afternoon by H. H. Freedheim, organizer for the American Federation of Labor.

The local section has been operating under a temporary setup since it was first formed here this summer. Permanent officers will be elected at the Friday meeting. August Rosqvist, state federation secretary, will come here from Pocatello to attend the meeting and present the charter. The presentation of the charter will mark completion of formation of a central labor body here with the exception of additional unions which may join from time to time.

Freedheim also announced that a number of local labor men were planning to attend as delegates the state convention which will be held at Lewiston starting Sept. 19. At the convention the seven vice presidents will be up for re-election or retirement.

'Next Few Hours will Decide,' Says Sudeten Negotiator

REFUGEES LEAVE BORDER AREA AS FIGHT THREATENS

Editor's note: Eleanor Packard is an American newspaperwoman of long and varied experience. As a United Press war correspondent, she accompanied the Italian army through Ethiopia and covered phases of the Spanish civil war. She and her husband, Reynolds Packard, are now members of the United Press Czechoslovakia staff.

By ELEANOR PACKARD

EGER, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 14 (U.P.)—Ernst Kundt, chief negotiator for the Sudeten Germans with the Czechoslovakian government, said today: "The next few hours will decide whether it is to be peace or war."

Soon after the leader of the Sudeten Germans who long for incorporation with the Nazi reich made that statement to the United Press correspondent, he left for Prague by automobile where, he said, he would hold himself "in readiness to do anything I can in behalf of the Sudeten-German party."

He was accompanied by Gustav Peters, another leader of the Sudeten Germans.

Jam Trains Out

Kundt talked to the United Press correspondent while hundreds of German Jews, German Socialists and Czechs jammed the railroad station, frantically seeking trains out of this border city, one of the chief cities of the Sudeten German area of Czechoslovakia. The Sudeten Germans consider them all enemies.

Kundt said:

"No proposals yet submitted by the Czech government have been anything but subterfuges. They avoided the real problem while at the same time they were so framed as to give a false impression to people outside the country, that Czechoslovakia is really trying to do something.

"I have always told my French friends, including Bonnet (Georges Bonnet, French foreign minister), that Benes (Edouard Benes, president of Czechoslovakia,) would not make a constructive effort to settle the problem unless they say to him, 'Unless you try to settle the minorities problem fairly and justly, we will not allow French blood to be shed in your behalf.'

Reasonable Plan

"It seems to us that the only solution now is for France and England to immediately draw up a reasonable plan for the minorities of Czechoslovakia and with the collaboration of Hitler, compel Benes to accept it."

Kundt received the correspondent in the sunny coffee room of the hotel Weinzel. He talked while drinking his beer.

Both he and Peters are deputies to the Czechoslovakia parliament, representing the Sudeten region.

All day yesterday, all last night, train after train had carried thousands of refugees into the interior, but today, there were more hundreds, laden with baskets and bundles of every shape and kind, many lugging cats and dogs, who piled into the woefully inadequate accommodations of every outgoing train.

They were the minority of this German city and region which were put in Czechoslovakia by World war treaties and they were fleeing, they believed, for their very lives. Since Adolf Hitler pledged aid to the Sudeten Germans Monday night, the followers of his ideology, believing that union with the Nazi reich was imminent, had been demonstrating riotously. Swastikas had been flown by the hundreds though they are prohibited, Jews and Czechs had been stoned, shop windows had been broken.

ENROLLMENT AT TOTAL OF 3,352

Total enrollment in the Twin Falls public school system Monday of this week was 3,352, according to a summary released today by the superintendent's office.

Junior high school, with 884 students, ranked at the top of the five-school list Monday. Senior high, with 703, was second, and Lincoln grade school was third with 638.

Enrollment is below that of one year ago but late registrations are expected to bring the total by early October to approximately the level of October in 1937, according to Supt. Homer M. Davis.

The high school registration is necessarily beneath the high figure of 1937-38 because of the fact that it is now comprised only of sophomores, juniors and seniors. Under the reorganized set-up, the freshmen (ninth graders) have been moved back into junior high and all sixth graders have been moved out of junior high into the elementary buildings.

Enrollment analysis as of Monday:

Lincoln 638; Hickel 606; Washington 462; junior high 884; senior high 703. By grades—first, 295; second, 305; third, 267; fourth, 275; fifth 287; sixth 278; total in grade schools 1,705. In junior high, seventh grade has 272; eighth, 290 and ninth, 322.

Here's Wilma Jean Cole, who with her sister Wanda and their trained ponies, Buster and Midget, will entertain district 4-H fair crowds at Jerome high school athletic field at 8:30 p. m. Thursday. Wilma and Wanda will offer a 30-minute stunt program with their Shetland ponies. The event will be free and forms part of Jerome's extensive 4-H fair program. Wilma was grand sweepstakes winner in the "Idaho on Parade" baby show in Twin Falls last July.

F. F. A. BOYS WIN AWARDS OF $122

Prizes captured by members of the Twin Falls high school F. F. A. chapter in the livestock division at the county fair totalled $122, J. V. Briggs, Smith-Hughes instructor, announced today.

The prizes were divided: Maurice Capps, $50; Bob Slack, $23; Dean Sanner, $5; Byron Laughmiller, $4; Raymond Edwards, $14; Orion Mack, $8; Bill Noble, $3; Dick Hansing, $8; and four boys, Dean Sanner, Orion Mack, Herbert Ronk and Dick Hansing split a $10 prize on a pen of pigs. Prize money is used by the individual winner to conduct his F. F. A. project.

No report is available on the produce prizes as yet but they are expected to run about $15, Mr. Briggs stated.

Beano stand operated by the chapter will clear approximately $100 after all expenses are paid. This sum will go into the chapter loan fund and be used to purchase animals for use by the chapter members as projects.

PENCILS

There were 1,010 pencils piled in a wagon—and Norma Jean Robison, Twin Falls, guessed 1,008.

That surprisingly close estimate won for her the "flyer" wagon offered as a prize by the M. H. King store in a contest it staged for "back to school" time. There were approximately 300 estimates submitted in the contest.

CHEST DIRECTORS CONTINUE STUDY

Members of the board of directors of the Twin Falls Community Chest today had postponed adoption of the budget for the year 1939 until next Thursday evening as they failed to reach an agreement at a meeting held last night in the city hall.

The budget for the year, as suggested by the budget committee headed by Chairman W. B. Lawrence, calls for $8,165 to be provided for the seven participating organizations. Members of the board last night could not agree on its adoption and the session was adjourned until Thursday night.

At that time further discussion will also center around the application of the Twin Falls Recreation association for entry into the chest with a budget asking for $573.

The drive this year will be headed by Roy Painter with the kickoff breakfast scheduled on Oct. 11 at the Park hotel.

Complete details of the budget as submitted to the board last night, were published Tuesday in the Evening Times.

ADDITIONAL BRUIN POSTS ASSIGNED

Sports staff, reporters and other positions on the "Bruin," Twin Falls high school publication, had been designated today by the sponsor, Mrs. Mercedes Paul, to complete the staff assignments announced last week.

Ted Schweighardt, John Smith, Frank Ellsworth and Herbert Russell will handle sports assignments; Lucille Haskins, Betty Strawser and Ruth Cutler will do the typing, and circulation will be managed by Ernest Cook and Joe Ryan.

Reporters on general assignments are Darwin Dunn and Helen Stephens.

SIGN-UP DOUBLES FOR AG CLASSES

Twice as many boys have registered this year for work in the agriculture department at the high school as signed up for this course last year, Smith-Hughes instructor, J. V. Briggs reported today.

Enrollment last term reached 32 with 65 signing for classes this fall.

This exceeds by five the goal set for the department.

Juniors and seniors number 10, sophomores are second with 18 "ag" students while the freshman class has 37 enrolled in the farm course.

An Opportunity for Twin Falls

For years Twin Falls has recognized the need for a modern library building to replace the present inadequate, second-story, rented quarters in the down-town business district.

Not only does the present location make for inefficiency, but it is more or less inaccessible because of traffic conditions. This latter factor also makes it dangerous for school children going to and from the library.

Such being the case, Twin Falls should not overlook the opportunity of now erecting a new library with federal aid—an opportunity that may not be available in the future.

At a special bond election next Tuesday, Twin Falls will have the chance to secure a $50,000 library structure at a cost of only $27,500 to the taxpayers. The public works administration has already agreed to provide $22,500 in the form of a grant, providing the taxpayers approve the city's portion of the expense.

There is no disputing the fact that taxes are already high and that careful consideration should be given before they are permitted to go any higher. But the city's part of the cost for a new library building is almost negligible when it is thoroughly analyzed, and there is nothing Twin Falls needs worse than improved quarters for its library.

To retire the bonds, the individual taxpayer would be required to pay only 50 cents for each $500 of assessed valuation per year for a period of seven years. The city already owns an ideal location for the building, and with a new structure in use it would no longer be necessary to pay $1,500 annual rental for the present location in the Elks building.

Sooner or later we're going to be forced to erect a new library building. Why not do it now when we have the opportunity to get it at about half price?

Earth Refuses to Be Victimized

A little while ago conservation authorities went to the beaver for help. Several colonies of these industrious creatures were planted in various parts of the west, the idea being that their dam-building activities would help in flood and erosion control.

Just how well this will work out is something only the future can tell. But the experiment will be well worth the cost if it impresses on us the queer, fascinating way in which nature maintains her balance. For it is mortally easy for blundering, thoughtless man to upset that balance, and he usually does so at his own cost.

A glimpse of the way the beaver fits into this natural balance is provided by a recent bulletin from William H. Carr, director of the Bear Mountain Trailside Museums in New York.

Eighteen years ago, Mr. Carr recalls, three pairs of beavers were released in Bear Mountain State park, which is some 40 miles north of New York City. By now there are several hundred of their descendants, scattered in more than 60 colonies spread over a 30-mile radius.

Now the point is that because this park area has beavers, it has various other forms of wild life which it did not have before. The beaver ponds, for instance, have furnished new breeding grounds for various kinds of fish. Wood ducks, which were formerly listed as extremely scarce, are now common. The rare pileated woodpecker has also increased — because the standing trees killed by the flooding of the ponds provide him with his favorite stamping ground.

But that is only part of it. Sooner or later, every beaver pond is abandoned. Its dam goes to pieces and its water drains out. But the pond's bed is composed of rich, fertile soil, carried downstream as silt and dropped when the beaver dam backed up the water. And where the pond was, a rich meadow comes to life.

Reeds, grasses, and bushes spring up; before long, trees take root. Here is "cover" for songbirds and game birds; a little later, such creatures as muskrats, raccoons and skunks find the spot a good feeding ground. As the number of such thickets increase, deer begin to appear.

All of this is a fascinating example of the way nature's balance works.

And the story points its own moral. Nature's balance provides the environment in which we ourselves have to live. Only if we understand how it works, and make certain that we do not disturb it more than we need to, can we enjoy earth's yield to the full. When we exploit nature too ruthlessly, we ourselves are the ultimate losers.

Maybe It Was a Misunderstanding

Did we misunderstand State Highway Director J. H. Stemmer when he announced the time, two months ago, that would be required to complete the state board of examiners' appraisal on the Twin Falls - Jerome Intercounty bridge?

Did he say "10 or 15 days" or was it "10 or 15 months"?

Could it possibly be that they have now decided to hold up the appraisal until after the general election?

Pot Shots:

Did I hear you speaking of errand boys?

How's for including in your collection none other than Algot Westergren, the mighty Swede? Al and the missus went to the movies Saturday night, after the missus had seen a hat she wanted in a downtown store.

It seems that Al left the theater, bought the hat, then returned to his same seat beside the missus.

While he was at it, he bought her a purse—probably because he was going to Gooding the next day to play tennis and figured he needed an advance peace offering just in case he didn't get back at the time he said he would. . . which, incidentally, he didn't.

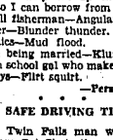
JUST FOR A CHANGE



This is not a picture of anybody in particular and we aren't trying to boost Idaho's fishing resources, although Idaho has the finest, etc. etc. Pot Shots simply decided that since all the pictures in the papers these days—and for a month past—are full of smiles, mixed, marching men and whatnot, we'd print a picture to give you a little variation. BY CHARLES B. PARMER

COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday: Linda goes to "interview" Man o' War and finds Bruce is on the same assignment.

CHAPTER X

LINDA'S eyes widened. "Interviewing Man o' War!" She freed her hand from Bruce's grasp. "Who for, Bruce?"

"Free lancing," he announced proudly. "Always was a darn good feature writer. So, knowing the state's holding a celebration this fall for Man o' War, I queried the National Weekly—and here I am, to interview the nag." He grinned again.

"So am I," she said.

"Who for?"

She told him.

"H-m-m! My competitor."

So Bruce had greeted her as though nothing had passed between them. She wanted—oh, so much!—to apologize for her biting words. But this was not the time, the place. Now he was speaking again:

"Where are you stopping, Linda?"

"The Henry Clay, and I'd better be going. I've got my yarn; Man o' War told me a lot of exclusive things." She gave him her hand, lowered eyelids, said: "M'lad, you'd better step on it, or I'll beat you—"

"Hol! Wait! We're going to have lunch—"

"No such thing—I've a story to write."

A word of thanks to old Harbutt, a smiling nod to Bruce, and she was gone.

• • •

LINDA GORDON was the keen newspaper girl again. She drove straight to Western Union, telegraphed Moss:

"GOT YARN TITLED MAN O' WAR WRITES A LETTER STOP"

She thought an instant, then wrote on: "FOR YOUR INFORMATION NATIONAL WEEKLY HAS MAN HERE SAME ASSIGNMENT STOP RUSHING STORY."

She had a twinge of conscience about adding that, but—business was business. Bruce had to look out for himself.

She did a bit of shopping; and when she returned to her hotel found this telegram:

"THANKS FOR COMING TO BAT STOP PUT STORY ON WIRE TONIGHT STOP THIS IS MUST. MOSS."

The telegram was a bugle call to action. She guessed that Moss was going to jam the Man o' War feature in an edition going to press; publish it a week ahead of his rival—and the easy-going Bruce. Too bad, old Bruce—

She sat at her portable typewriter. "Let's see, 3500 words—about 14 double-spaced pages—"

Within the hour the phone rang. "Miss Gordon, this is a reporter—and I've got a photographer. Won't you please come down to the ladies' parlor and let us get a good picture?"

The sudden request knocked her off balance. "Of me? Why me?"

"We're running a great story about you in the morning—"

"About me? I don't understand. Why, I'm a reporter myself! What have I done?"

"You've done a lot." The words came in a soft southern accent—not unfriendly.

"But I'm busy writing—"

"Great! Then, we'll take an action picture of you at the typewriter. We'll get manager's permission; be right up."

• • •

ABRUPTLY he hung up. Linda got to her feet. Now just what was behind this? She'd jolly well know before anyone snapped her picture. But her anger melted when a youngster of 18, clean-looking, with great blue eyes, came in, followed by another youngster, with a camera.

"Just what is this?" she demanded.

"Miss Gordon, Mr. Jenkins, the horse auctioneer, told us you outsmarted one of the shrewdest trainers on the turf: when you bought that Pompey colt last week. I want to get the real story from you—"

"Oh, that!" How dumb she had been. Of course it was a good yarn.

"You see," the reporter was smiling, "Mr. Jenkins said you pulled one of the smartest tricks he ever knew—demanding cash. As a rule, a horseman's check is good here; but he says you called for a pound of flesh, and got it."

Linda laughed. "Joke is, Monte Hill is an old friend—"

"But anything goes in a horse deal!" the reporter grinned.

"And I bought the colt in partnership with Brown Donald. He helped me do that outsmarting, as you call it."

"The steeplechase rider? That's news, too."

At last she got rid of them, after several flashes had been made of her at the typewriter. Called for tea and sandwiches; ate, returned to work refreshed. The reporter's visit—it had boosted her ego. She was feeling great when she wrote "The End" after the last word of her yarn. Ten minutes to mid-night she placed it on the wire; returned, put a "please don't disturb" sign outside her door, slept dreamlessly till past noon the next day.

The paper was under her door. There, on the front page, was her picture. And a two-column yarn:

Famous Kentucky Writer Beats Shrewd Horseman in Pompey Colt Auction

• • •

IT had been a dull night in Lexington; and horse news is real news, there. It was dull on the wires, too. United Press picked up the yarn, made a little feature of it, shot it out on all circuits. It started a train of consequences—

"H-m-m, they left Brown Donald out," Linda said to herself as she read it. No wonder—the auctioneer was quoted at length, and he spoke only of "that pretty young miss with a triphammer brain."

Then came a telegram:

"THANKS FOR YARN CONGRATULATIONS ON BECOMING TURF OWNER STOP—"

That news story must have been published in New York!

"PLEASE COVER TWO MORE ASSIGNMENTS IMMEDIATELY STOP FIRST TO GO BERWYN WRITE COLORFUL YARN OF HUNT SET AND GENTLEMEN RIDERS WHO MAKE CULT OF STEEPLECHASING FOR GLORY STOP THIS LITTLE KNOWN RACING ANGLE STOP—"

Go to Berwyn! That was the millionaire's estate where Brown Donald was riding this week! He could tell her all about it. Of course she'd go!

"SECOND GATHER MATERIAL FOR UNIQUE YARN WOMEN AND RACING STOP CONTRAST MILLIONAIRE OWNERS AND POVERTY-ROW TRAINERS STOP WIRE ACCEPTANCE. MOSS."

She drew in a deep breath! The story she wired in must have been a whiz—she had made good with a bang! Of course, she'd cover these assignments. She'd do that and race with Uncle Sandy, too. Edgar Wallace wrote and raced in England; Peter B. Kyne did in America—

She'd become famous—a celebrity!

She sent Moss one word—yes. She was still exulting when the phone rang. It was Bruce Radford, and a purposeful Bruce, too, judging by the tone of his voice:

"Linda, I've got to see you right away."

"See me? Why aren't you writing?"

"Never mind that—I'll surprise you; about the writing business. But I want to see you about Golden Toy. I think you'll listen—" his voice broke off, ominously.

"Why—why, yes, Bruce; I'll be right down."

RAPS CALLAHAN STAND ON OLD AGE PENSIONS

Editor, Evening Times:

As reported in the Boise Republican paper of Sept. 9, Donald A. Callahan, nominee for U. S. senator in Idaho, is not advocating any particular plan of old age pension. He is merely for relief assistance, as stated in his first point, as follows: "Pensions for the aged and helpless should be measured by the need of those who receive aid."

This is just another way of saying that the helpless should have charitable aid. Of course all agree. But why make age a matter of charity? If no poverty, no pension. Why hire folks to become destitute in old age? Why offer them a price to be helpless and dependent when old? Better offer them a bonus to be thrifty and independent. Every normal person hopes to live long, but when old does not want to be an object of charity in order to obtain his just share of the common things.

Compare this with the Townsend recovery plan, which is based upon justice, equity and thrift. This plan is self financing and will help keep the country out of debt. It will care for the aged poor and will place other aged folks on a fair standard of living. It will encourage people to own homes, have incomes and be self-supporting when old. It will be assurance to young people that they will not be deprived of their property in old age. It will make odds of prosperity of elderly people instead of burdensome objects of charity. When will Mr. Callahan get behind this great recovery plan?

Sincerely yours,
F. B. DOTSON.

Burley, Sept. 12.

The Family Doctor

(This is the third and concluding article by Dr. Fishbein on the relation between housing and health.)

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

In the summer there is no question that air cooling and de-humidification, or removal of moisture from the atmosphere, contribute a great deal to comfort and efficiency. For many persons the cost of artificial cooling of the air is still too high for routine usage. Insulation of buildings, awnings on the sunny side, and the circulation of cool night air by the use of open windows will frequently substitute for artificial cooling except when there are long hot spells.

Dr. C. C. Yaglou of the School of Public Health of Harvard University recommends exhaust fans for the attic as a means of cooling homes in the hot season. Such a fan may be started after sunset; air may be drawn through the first story windows in the early evening, and through the second story during the rest of the night. This may will begin with a cool house in the morning and insulation will keep the inside temperature below that of the outside air, if windows and blinds are kept shut.

A comfortable house temperature in summer varies from 70 degrees F. to 85 degrees F., according to the temperature outside. In summer, we become adapted to warm weather, we wear thinner and fewer clothes, and we do not require an exceedingly cooled atmosphere for comfort.

In cold weather the average home has a great deal too much leakage of air from the outside to permit artificial ventilation. Indeed, the effort in cold weather is to prevent such leakage.

Leakage can be reasonably prevented by the use of weather stripping, storm sash, and storm doors. Under such circumstances, leakage will be reduced about one-half. This will still provide enough ventilation in a home of ordinary size.

Kitchens, however, must be ventilated separately to remove the odor from cooking, to remove excess heat, and to remove the excess moisture which arises from steam evaporation of water. For kitchens, experts in ventilation recommend now the use of an exhaust fan attached to a wall opening near the ceiling or to the upper half of a window, as near as possible to the stove.

Finally, good ventilation provides for prevention of smoke, dust, and gases in the air. In cities these may be a hazard to health, though there seems as yet no conclusive evidence to show direct damage to health from such causes. Studies are now being made in many places to determine just how far smoke, dust and gases in the air may be health hazards.

It is also important to remember that, regardless of the nature or construction of a home, babies, very old people, and those who are ill may require extra heat. The best method of providing such heat is by the use of the small portable electric heater. This will provide the heat where it is needed, and avoid general over-heating of the atmosphere and of others who live in the home.

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Evening Times Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14—If you don't like the way the monopoly investigation goes, blame the Yale law school!

Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold, in charge of anti-trust cases and department of justice member of the temporary national economic committee, is a professor on leave from the school.

Arnold has his own dean working for him this summer—Dean Charles E. Clark of Yale law school, who helps with Arnold's regular work and in the monopoly inquiry. Although Arnold temporarily is Clark's boss, Clark will be boss again when Arnold returns to New Haven.

WHY NOT MOVE THE CAMPUS?

Walton Hamilton, Yale professor of business, public and constitutional law, was prescribed by Arnold to locate and outline trouble spots where the business system doesn't function. George Dession, professor of criminal law at Yale, will stage-manage the monopoly hearings. Allan Hart, former faculty member, is handling the "group medicine" anti-trust case against the District Medical society and the American Medical association. Half a dozen young lawyers who were graduated from Yale also are working with Arnold and an unknown number of law school students are "dollar a year" men.

Also on leave from the law school is Chairman William O. Douglas of SEC, a monopoly committee member. SEC Commissioner Jerome Frank is a former lecturer at the school. A Douglas right-hand man is Abe Fortas, resigned from the faculty to handle administration of the holding company act. Roger Foster of SEC is another former faculty member.

Arnold, Clark, Hamilton, Douglas and Frank all have been publicly mentioned as supreme court possibilities. But the leading candidate for the existing vacancy is still Prof. Felix Frankfurter of Harvard law school—which has contributed more graduates to the New Deal, but not as many professors.

TAILS YOU WIN, EARS YOU WIN

Lovell H. Parker, 12 years chief of staff for the congressional joint committee on taxation, has resigned to become a private tax consultant. Most senators and representatives claiming to know much about taxation owe their reputations to Parker. It was he who wrote Senator Pat Harrison's attack on President Roosevelt's criticism of the last session tax measure.

Parker was born in Osterville, Mass., on Cape Cod. Discussing lack of co-ordination of state and federal tax policies, he sometimes relates a story his father told him many years ago.

Muskrats were pests in the nearby towns of Mashpee and Barnstable. A Mashpee town meeting voted a 25-cent bounty for every muskrat killed, the town treasurer to pay a quarter for every pair of muskrat ears presented. Men and boys made 50 cents a muskrat by delivering tails in Mashpee, ears in Barnstable.

Next year each group of town fathers decided to fix that. Mashpee voted to pay for ears. On the same day Barnstable voted to pay for tails.

After another year of 50-cent muskrats the towns co-ordinated and agreed on tails.

HISTORY Of Twin Falls City & County

As Gleaned from Files of The Times

15 YEARS AGO

Sept. 14, 1923

W. S. Harris, Battle Mountain, Nev., who is here and at Buhl looking after his interests this week, was the man who bought the first prescription from the Gooding and Williams drug store, which was the first "apothecary shop" in Twin Falls. His present state of health seems to indicate that the medicine was effective. He has a farm at Buhl.

Thursday afternoon the 20th Century club was in charge of activities in the woman's building at the county fair at Filer. Mrs. James Fitzgerald was in charge of arrangements. Punch and wafers were served throughout the afternoon and between 500 and 600 persons were served. Mrs. D. L. Alexander arranged the pleasing musical program.

Misses Helen and Lillian Lind will leave Saturday for Claremont Calif., to enter Pomona college, the former entering the junior and the latter the sophomore class.

27 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 4, 1911

Secretary Fisher of the department of the interior and real head of the reclamation service, according to a telegram received by the Commercial club, will be in Twin Falls next Friday afternoon and will spend the balance of the day here. Plans for this entertainment include a trip about the tract in automobiles with visits to Blue Lakes and Shoshone and Twin falls. In the evening the distinguished guest will be at the Perrine hotel where the citizens will be able to meet him.

Mike Sweeney was before the police judge Wednesday morning, charged with being in an intoxicated condition. Having no excuse to offer, the judge assessed him the usual amount of $25 and costs, and not having the money to liquidate, is now working it out on the streets.

Party to Fete Couple Married 63 Years Ago

Attaining the matrimonial mile-post of 60 years of wedded life is accomplished by many couples, but comparatively few are able to celebrate together their 63rd wedding anniversary, as Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Morgan will do tomorrow. Their home, 250 Fourth avenue east, will be the scene tomorrow evening of an informal reception for the immediate families.

The honor guests were married at Logan, O., Sept. 15, 1875. They have lived in Twin Falls for the past 18 years. Both are members of the Methodist Episcopal church, and Mrs. Morgan is especially active in the Ladies' Aid society, and the Women's Home and Foreign Missionary societies.

Assisting in the informal celebration will be Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Morgan, son and daughter-in-law, and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Crabtree and Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Alexander, sons-in-law and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan. Their other daughter, Mrs. H. C. Newkirk, recently returned to New Orleans, La., following a month's visit with her parents.

Grandchildren of the couple and their families, also guests, will include: Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Morgan and twin daughters, Ann and Jan; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Anderson, jr., all of Twin Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hack and daughter, Mabel Louise, Filer.

NEARLY 200 GUESTS ATTEND O. E. S. DINNER

Giving their version of schoolroom antics in 1900, Peck's bad boys and girls provided hilarious entertainment on the "Back to School" program last evening at the Masonic temple, when members of the Eastern Star attended the first meeting of the year.

Activities began with the annual dinner at 6:30 o'clock, attended by 180 members of the chapter, their husbands and escorts. Throughout the dinner hour Mrs. Ralph Bacon, Miss Doris Ann Sherwood and Miss Loreen Fuller, pianists, and Paul O'Leary, vocalist, entertained with musical selections.

As an introduction to the one-act comedy which followed the business session presided over by Mrs. Horace Holmes, Mrs. J. A. Dygert, pianist, and Miss Melba Holmes, violinist, played "School Days." Highlight of the play was a vocal solo, "Shortenin' Bread," by Mrs. A. F. Oslund, dressed as a pickaninny. Mrs. E. A. Landon, as "teacher," put the students through a clever quiz.

Members of the cast were Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Glandon, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sahlberg, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sweet, Mrs. Landon, Mrs. H. W. Merritt, Mrs. Oslund, Mrs. Helen Taylor, Mrs. H. H. Burkhart, Mrs. W. B. Brooks, Mrs. M. E. Shotwell, Miss Lois Shotwell, Miss Kathryn Bryson, Dr. R. A. Pratt, J. A. Johnson, A. D. Bobier, H. L. Dinkelacker and Reese M. Williams.

Miss Jane Douglass, Miss Judy Jones, Miss Lillian Laubenheim, Miss Joyce Miller, Miss Patricia Graves, Miss Mary Frances Bates and Miss Holmes served the dinner. Flowers from the garden of Mrs. E. P. Laubenheim decorated the tables.

General chairman of arrangements was Mrs. H. L. Dinkelacker and Mrs. A. D. Bobier was chairman of the program.

In keeping with the school theme, lollypop favors were distributed following the program.

Women Attend "Sunshine Tea"

The "Sunshine Tea," annual event at which the names of "secret sisters" for the past year are revealed and new ones drawn, was arranged yesterday afternoon by members of the Mary-Martha class at the Baptist bungalow. Toasts of tribute were read by the members as roll call responses.

Class colors, green and gold, were adroitly employed in the decorative details. The tea table was centered with a silver bowl of yellow dahlias, and illuminated by gold tapers in silver holders. Autumn bouquets in abundance made the bungalow attractive for the occasion.

Presiding during the fore part of the afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Holt, president of the class, and Mrs. S. O. Kloefl, teacher. During the latter hours, Mrs. C. O. Olsen, vice president, and Mrs. Roy Barnett, wife of the Baptist pastor, were at the silver service.

Mrs. Holt conducted a brief business session and Mrs. M. O. Kuykendall presented the program. Of particular interest were two readings by Mrs. Lionel Dean, "The Outlaw," by Mrs. Irene Welch Grisson, Idaho poet laureate, and "Limitations and Compensation of an Invalid," Edith M. Roberts, Rupert.

Also on the program was the singing of the class song, "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us," accompanied by Mrs. Barnett; prayer led by Mrs. A. S. Martyn; vocal solos, "My Task," and "Whisper a Prayer," Mrs. O. Ratschowsky, and a piano duet, a Strauss waltz, by Martha and Ruth Barnett.

Mrs. R. O. Kuykendall was chairman of the hostess committee, assisted by Mrs. Frank Monroe and Mrs. Marvin Mayo.

WITTY COMEBACKS FEATURE NOVEL QUIZ

Highlight of the humorous and peppy program which featured the first hour of the opening social of the first ward, M. I. A. last evening at the L. D. S. church, was the "Professor Quiz" stunt directed by Lionel Campbell.

Participants in the "battle of wits" and gay repartee were Mrs. Juanita Hill, Miss Marcella Rappleye, Miss Vernis Richards, Marion Guest, Charles Seaton and Junior Hansen. Mrs. Hull and Marion Guest tied for giving the most glibly accurate replies to the various questions.

In the final decision, Guest was declared the winner, and was presented with a pen and pencil set.

Dr. Elwood T. Rees presided at the evening's entertainment. Socialized dancing, with mixers arranged by Miss Richards, completed the evening's activities. Night Hawks furnished the music for dancing.

SOLDIER REUNION LISTS EXPANDED

Reunions of every organization that formed a part of the army, navy or marine corps during the World war will be held in Los Angeles Sept. 19-22 during the national American Legion convention, officers of the Twin Falls post were advised this afternoon.

It had been announced here previously that the 66th field artillery brigade reunion would be held, but today's information indicated that every Idaho veteran—no matter in what state he lived and enlisted at war time—will be able to attend a reunion of his old buddies.

All war veterans, whether or not they are Legion members, are invited to attend the reunions, according to the message from Adolph N. Sutro, general reunion chairman. The long list of organizations is given in the September issue of the Legion magazine.

The 66th field artillery brigade meeting will be significant to Idahoans because of the number of men who served in it from this part of the country. Reunion chairman for that group is Theo. L. Stearns, P. O. box 155, Los Angeles.

WASHINGTON POINTS TO MINNESOTA CONTEST

Phelan Hopes to Beat Gophers In Opening Tilt

By WILLIS S. DUNIWAY

SEATTLE, Sept. 14 (U.P.)—The University of Washington Huskies started football practice with scrimmage the first day.

With only 10 training days before the squad leaves for Minneapolis to meet, the University of Minnesota, Coach Jimmy Phelan could afford to lose no time.

The Huskies entrain Sept. 20 and play the Gophers Sept. 24. Minnesota beat Washington, 14 to 7, in Seattle two years ago in the first meeting between the two schools. Phelan wants to even the score and knows he'll have to hustle to do it.

To speed up practice, Phelan has already picked his first team. It will stand as the varsity unless other men prove their superiority.

Sheldrake saw a lot of action last year. Backing him up will be John Mizen, junior college transfer. Two-year lettermen Henry Wise and one-year man Dan Yarr will also be counted upon.

Plenty of Fire

In addition to Grabenhorst, Phelan has Walt Yonker, George Anderson and Byng Nixon, who showed plenty of fire in spring drills.

Means, a two-year letterman, alternated at left guard last year and has the call there. Also figuring at the post are Bill Holmes, sophomore; Pinto Breda, two-year letterman, and Ralph Emerson, with one year of varsity experience.

Bill Hill, all-Seattle prep center of three years ago; may force both Elliott and Al Zemek out of the pivot job. Hill did not play last year because of a bad knee.

Slivinski, at right guard, was one of the coast's outstanding players last season. Kindred held down the right tackle assignment most of the time last season. Peters played almost continuously at right end last year.

Veteran Backfield

The backfield will be a veteran one. Phelan calls quarterback Newton one of his greatest blockers. Halfbacks Johnston and Miller should hold their jobs. So should fullback Cruver, except that Rudy Mucha, sophomore, sensation of spring practice, will give him plenty of competition.

Graduation swept away the entire left side of last year's line. Washington's strength this year lies in the backfield, where there are many possible combinations. But how they come through will depend on the line and the reserves and sophomores to fill the holes in the wall.

Lost from the left side of the 1937 line were Dick Johnson, end, who has joined Phelan's coaching staff; Vic Markov, All-American tackle, captain of the all-stars who defeated the Washington Redskins in Chicago last week; Frank Maltes, guard, and Bud Erickson, center, who quarterbacked Washington to a scoreless tie with California.

Picks Stanford

Phelan picks Stanford to win the conference title with Southern California second and Washington third, where the Huskies finished last year. Washington won the conference championship in 1936. Washington State, California, UCLA, Oregon and Oregon State are expected to finish in that order on Phelan's list.

The schedule:

Sept. 24—Minnesota at Minneapolis.
Oct. 1—Idaho at Seattle.
Oct. 8—UCLA at Los Angeles.
Oct. 15,—O. S. C. at Seattle.
Oct. 22—California at Seattle.
Nov. 5—Stanford at Palo Alto.
Nov. 12—U.S.C. at Seattle.
Nov. 19—Oregon at Portland.
Nov. 26—W. S. C. at Seattle.

64 Golf Stars Open Match Play Today

By HARRY FERGUSON
United Press Sports Editor

OAKMONT, Pa., Sept. 14 (U.P.)—The sun can flood the fairways with silver today. But it will still be "black Wednesday"—the day that used to give Bobby Jones the jitters—along the traps and greens of Oakmont where 64 nervous golfers start match play in the national amateur championship.

It will be "black Wednesday," day of heartbreak and disappointment because at dusk only 16 of the 64 men who have a chance this morning will still be in there fighting for the title. The rest will have dropped into obscurity, losers in the 18-hole matches that will be played this morning and this afternoon.

Shot at Fame

For the dark horses, it is a shot at fame, a chance to knock off some renowned player and get a foot on the glory road. For Johnny Goodman, defending champion, and others who already have collected a reputation it is a day of terror. They never know when an unknown player is going to get hot and sweep them out of the tournament before they can get their game in the groove.

Bobby Jones used to say that "black Wednesday" was the most terrifying prospect in tournament golf. In 1929 at Pebble Beach, Calif., he lost a "black Wednesday" match to Goodman.

Moreland Beats Par

Not until late yesterday, near the end of the two days of qualifying rounds, were the amateurs able to beat down Oakmont's stubborn par of 72. The pressure was on for 124 men, and many a putt was stabbed nervously, many a tee shot strayed to the rough. But along in the afternoon, cool as a gangster's greeting to a cop, came Gus Moreland of Peoria, Ill., and dropped a five-footer on the 18th, green of shining 70. It gave him a two-day total of 146 and made him medalist of the tournament. The only other person able to conquer par was little Willie Turnesa of Briar Cliff Manor, N. Y., who got a 71 for a two-day total of 148.

Discussion of a definite purpose and an active club was conducted with the group voting to supervise conduct at all athletic games and contests with the aim of promoting school spirit and good sportsmanship.

Red Ruffing Scores 21st Win of Year

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (U.P.)—Red Ruffing woke up in Cleveland today and anxiously inquired: "I really did win that 21st game, didn't I? It wasn't a dream, was it?"

The Yankees assured Ruffing that he did pitch his 21st triumph yesterday by letting the Cleveland Indians down with eight hits in scoring a 7-1 victory. The assurance was music to Ruffing's ears because for 15 long years he's been trying to get over the 20-game hump.

* * * *

RED RUFFING

Last year and the year before he won 20 games but he couldn't get No. 21. Now 34, Ruffing had about reconciled himself to the fact that he was just a 20-game winner, no more. In his last start before yesterday's game he was blasted out of the box by the Red Sox in less than four innings.

Pitcher of the Year

By winning his 21st game yesterday Ruffing firmly established himself as the pitcher of the year, with 21 victories and five losses. No other pitcher in either league comes close.

The triumph increased the Yanks' lead to 16 games and put them in sight of the championship. They need any combination of five, either Yankee victories or Red Sox defeats to eliminate Boston and any combination of six, either Yankee victories or Indian losses, to eliminate Cleveland. Detroit already is mathematically eliminated.

The Tigers won their sixth straight by clubbing out a 9-3 win over the Red Sox. Vernon Kennedy limited the Red Sox to eight hits to win his 12th game. Four Tiger double plays helped.

White Sox Divide

Washington and Chicago divided, with the Senators taking the opener, 7-1, and the White Sox grabbing the nightcap, 3-2. Zeke Bonura had a perfect day at bat, "4 for 4" in the opener, leading Washington's 12-hit attack.

The Chicago Cubs muffed a chance to gain on the idle Pirates in the National league race by losing to the Boston Bees, 5-2. Jim Turner held the Cubs to four hits and won his 13th game. The Bees rapped Clay Bryant for 11 hits, with Elbert Fletcher getting "4 for 4," a triple, double and two singles. The defeat dropped the Cubs four games from the top—or worse still, six games behind on the losing side.

The other three first division clubs were rained out yesterday and will schge doubleheaders today with the Pirates tangling with the Giants and the Reds playing the Dodgers.

Budge, Marble Take Courts In Net Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 14 (U.P.)—Don Budge men's defending champion, and Alice Marble, America's chief feminine aspirant, will resume play today in the national singles tennis championships, hopeful of avoiding the upset jinx hovering over the tourney.

Both are heavy favorites to advance to the quarter-finals as competition resumes after a day's postponement because of rain. The quarter-finals in both men's and women's divisions will be filled tonight after four matches in the men's upper bracket and four in the women's lower bracket.

Red-haired Budge of Oakland, Calif., meets Charles E. Hare of England; youthful Davis cup player, and Miss Marble, a streamlined Los Angeles blond, engages Dorothy Stevenson of Australia. Oh form, Budge and Miss Marble should win in straight sets. But form has taken a holiday this tournament, with upset victims including Helen Jacobs, Bobby Riggs and Elwood Cooke.

Rain Postpones Softball Finals

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (U.P.)—The world's softball championship tournament finals were postponed last night because of rain and will be played tonight.

The International Harvesters, Little Rock, Ark., will meet the Pohlars, Cincinnati, for the men's title and the Chicago Down Drafts will meet the Reig club, Alameda, Calif., for the girls' title.

Burley Asks Lighted Field

BURLEY, Sept. 14 (Special)—A request for a suitable field for night baseball has been presented the city council.

Dr. G. H. Toolson, C. W. Thomas, James McIlaley, and Fred Judevine comprised the committee requesting the council to lay out, prepare, equip, and maintain a suitable field for night baseball. The suggestion was made to use part of the ground belonging to the city down near the golf course for this project. The committee was informed that a WPA project has been approved for the further development of the river park and that a baseball field with suitable seating facilities and accommodations can be contained in this project.

Extension of water mains is progressing, reported J. C. Pixton, but in order to complete the present project, 3,800 more feet of pipe will be needed.

Construction of another tennis court on Miller and Third street on city property was proposed. The next regular meeting will be held Sept. 19.

The bulk of the world's nickel is mined at Sudbury, Ontario, Canada.

Rainiers Take 12th Straight Coast Victory

(By United Press)

The Seattle Rainiers had 12 straight wins to their credit today and were still only two games behind Los Angeles as the Pacific Coast league season was launched in the final week of play.

The Rainiers, staging one of the greatest pennant drives in league history, almost broke their winning streak but managed a 6-5 victory over San Diego in an extra inning.

The Padres, who have a first division berth at stake in the last week, drove Dick Barrett to the showers in the eighth with a five-run barrage after Muller of the Rainiers had homered with three on in the seventh. Tied up at the end of the ninth, the teams went into an extra frame in which Seattle scored its winning run.

The league-leading Angels had less difficulty, trimming last-place Oakland, 6-2.

The San Francisco Seals, who have been crowding San Diego for fourth place, moved into a virtual tie with the Padres by defeating Sacramento, 8-3.

Hollywood and Portland had a slugfest in Portland with the winners getting 14 hits and the Beavers 12. Hollywood took the game, 7-6, after a Portland rally in the ninth fell one run short of a tie.

Greenberg Must Hit Two Homers Today To Keep Ruth Pace

DETROIT, Sept. 14 (U.P.)—Hank Greenberg needs to hit two home runs today to maintain the record pace set by Babe Ruth when he hit 60 in 1927.

Today's tilt with the Red Sox is the 136th game of the season for the Tigers, and Hank's homer total is 50. Ruth clouted his 52nd in the Yankee's 136th game of 1927.

Berg Works to Build Pennant Contender With Gooding Eleven

By HAL WOOD
Evening Times Sports Editor

GOODING, Sept. 14—Building another team good enough to be a contender for the Class A crown which Gooding now holds is the task that will face Coach A. W. "Ap" Berg and his Senators when they take the field for their opening encounter this fall.

Last season the Solons romped through all opposition in their league, winning the title when they disposed of Oakley in the final game of the season. But when the athletes from Gooding dig in their cleats for their first game this year, and Berg looks them over he will find only three regulars from last year's big squad, plus two other lettermen.

So it would appear, on the surface, that Berg will have a tough time ahead of him this season. But Ap is not at all downcast, and he is already somewhat enthusiastic about some of the upcoming prospects.

Regulars left from last year's championship squad are Jack Wright, big 170-pound center and tackle, who still has another season to play after this one; Ernie Hanes, 140-pound quarterback, also a junior; and Bud Schubert, a tackle and fullback, weighing 160 pounds and the regular signal caller for the outfit—no matter where he plays.

Heavy Aggregation

Berg's outfit will probably be one of the heavier aggregations in the gridiron wars this season and the chances are that he will put a team on the field that will scale in the neighborhood of 155 pounds per man.

Followers of the club in Gooding think that the Senators will open the season with a 165-pound forward wall—but Berg disagrees with that.

"We have a lot of rangy fellows on the club," he stated, "but most of them don't pack an awful lot of beef. Of course they'll probably add a little weight as the season progresses."

Berg speaks the truth. We looked his club over and found a lot of six-footers, and fine prospects for a basketball club. Of course there is also the chance that these youngsters will develop into one of the tougher gridiron teams.

Fine Prospects

Supplementing his lettermen, Berg sees some fine prospects coming up. And the funny part of it is that a good lot of them are seniors who have never been out for the club before.

In Bob Pauls, 160, Berg believes he has a fine prospect. Pauls is a senior and has never attempted to make the squad before because he was too small. But he sprung up this season and the chances are he may gain one of the end berths. Another new senior is Leonard Heldel, 150, who is working out at half and quarter and looking very good.

Dwain Butler, a 165-pound junior from Montana, is coming in for a lot of attention and Rodney Pauls, another new senior, weighing 160 pounds, is working out at tackle. Other outstanding prospects on the squad of 45 include Alan McCombs, 125-pound junior guard; Glen Massey, 165-pound senior guard and a reserve last year; Don Brown, another newcomer and senior, weighing 140 pounds; Gail McNeal, a senior halfback, 145 pounds; Max Wennstrom, jr., junior and a basketball star, weighing 145 pounds, also a reserve last season; Ken Coulter, an end tipping the scales at 190, a junior.

Frosh-Soph Team

For the first time, Gooding will have a frosh-soph team to aid in building material, Berg stated, and that way he hopes to get away from having to train inexperienced seniors in the rudiments of the game.

"We're putting in a New Deal all around this season," the former University of Idaho athlete stated, "and that includes four games per season for a junior club, such as they have in Twin Falls."

The Gooding club will get its first taste of competition on Friday night when it takes part in the jamboree at Jerome, but its first regularly scheduled game of the year will be on Sept. 23 when Twin Falls visits here.

Other games on the schedule are:
Sept. 30—Wendell here.
Oct. 7—Jerome there.
Oct. 14—Buhl here.
Oct. 21—Filer there.
Oct. 28—Rupert there.
Nov. 4—Shoshone here.
Nov. 11—Oakley there.

Attendance at National Tennis Tournament Sets Record Despite Moody's Absence

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (U.P.)—The Moody myth has been exploded.

It is not true that the classic profile, the tailored eye-shade, and the air-conditioned demeanor of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody are necessary to make a tennis tournament a financial success.

Mrs. Moody is not at Forest Hills for the current national singles championship, yet already the attendance has set a new five-day record and by nightfall Sunday the coffers of the West Side club are certain to be stuffed as they never have been before. Upwards of 40,000 customers have crowded the play to date, and over the finals now set for Sunday because of yesterday's rain a total attendance of 100,000 or more seems not only probable, but downright likely.

Tournament officials welcomed the rain with all the enthusiasm of a dust bowl farmer, and not because they wanted to stay indoors and catch up on their reading, either. Each drop was a penny from heaven as it set the courts and paved the way for a week-end final.

It wasn't a hard rain, being barely sufficient to settle the dust on the clay courts. But the weakling of the customer is always uppermost in the minds of tennis officials at such a time, and they couldn't bear the thought of a single ticket buyer getting a single drop of moisture on his clothes.

But to get back to La Moody, the officials must be delighted with the proof (and it's right there in the ledgers, in black ink) that her presence isn't the only lubrication that will make the turnstiles spin. Because goodness knows how many hours they have spent fretting and fuming waiting for her entry blank that never arrived, and pleading and cajoling in an effort to get her to enter the lists. This year was no exception. They went after her entry blank as painstakingly and carefully as a botanist seeking a rare orchid, and when their quest ended in failure their faces were as long as that of a Missouri mule who has just lost the one nearest and dearest.

We of the press didn't write anything that would help them up, either. We too believed in the Moody myth and wrote stories picturing row on row of empty seats and a stadium as cheerless as a morgue on Monday morning. But the customers exploded the myth. They went right ahead buying tickets just as if they didn't know that the California matron was too busy with a lecture tour, the third chapter of her first novel, the design for a new sports frock, and the painting of a new (and stiller) stil life, to play tennis.

In fairness to Mrs. Moody (and if there is one thing this pillar of sweetness and light believes in, it is fairness—on alternate Wednesdays) her absence might have hurt more but for the presence of the Davis cup on these shores. The Davis cup attracts foreign players just as effectively as a flower does the bee or a airloin steak does man's best friend, which is either the dog or the horse—I forget which.

Thanks to the Davis cup, the national field this year is cluttered up with Germans, Frenchmen, Poles, Czechs, Jugoslavs, Australians, Peruvians and Englishmen. Foreign players hold a strange fascination for tennis fans. Whether they can play a lick or not, doesn't matter. The fact that they are foreign is enough. The patrons apparently would rather hear a good accent than watch a good backhand.

Which, of course, is nobody's business but their own.

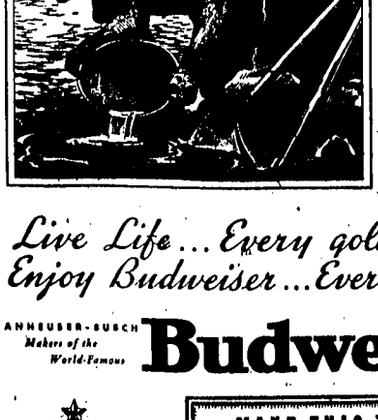
The '49rs set the pace for '39



To our forefathers, "panning for gold" meant daring and hard work—even at the plow...in the factory...at the old roll-top desk. They discovered that America would give generously—to those who could give and take.

Today we still have our frontiers... in commerce, industry, agriculture and science. They are stubborn. They resist... but they yield—to those who have inherited the old-fashioned courage, vision and energy of our early pioneers. Other nations listen enviously as America continues to tell us, "There is opportunity for all."

CROP CONDITIONS REPORTED GOOD

BOISE, Sept. 14 (Special)—Crop conditions continued fairly favorable during August, with the result that on September 1 indications pointed to larger crops of oats, barley, hay, beans and grapes than were forecast on Aug. 1, but to smaller potato, apple and pear crops.

August precipitation averaged about a fifth below normal for the month. Temperatures probably averaged close to normal, but low night temperatures, with frost in some areas, were reported toward the latter part of the month, according to Richard C. Ross, USDA statistician for the bureau of agricultural economics.

Threshing returns to Sept. 1 indicated lower spring wheat yields than had been expected in some areas, but indications pointed to the same yield as was forecast on the first of August. On the other hand, oats and barley yields were turning out heavier than expected. Ample water supplies and favorable growing weather also point to slightly greater hay yields than previously expected.

The potato crop, now forecast at 27,675,000 bushels, declined somewhat during the month. Because of the lateness of much of the crop, it is expected that size will average smaller than indicated earlier. Lower yields may also result from disease. Good bean yields are being harvested in the Twin Falls section, with many growers reporting larger yields than they had expected. The crop is now forecast to be 1,482,000 bags.

Apple prospects declined about eight per cent during August, with the total crop now forecast at 3,433,000 bushels. The commercial crop is indicated to be about 2,500,000 bushels, which would compare with the 1937 commercial crop of 3,100,000 bushels, and the 10-year (1927-36) average commercial production of 3,759,000 bushels. The total prune crop is forecast at 17,500 tons, the same as on Aug. 1, but because of damaged quality the supply available for shipping is now estimated to be smaller than earlier in the season.

COBB, EYSTON TO RENEW ASSAULTS

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 14 (U.P.)—A determined but friendly duel for the world land speed crown will be waged on the Bonneville salt flats tomorrow and Friday mornings, with two English sportsmen as the contenders.

First to roar across the saline speedway will be John Cobb, London fur broker, who believes his 2,600-horsepower Railton racer can break Capt. G. E. T. Eyston's present record of 345.9 miles per hour. Cobb came within less than three miles per hour of the mark Monday in his first official speed trial, over a course damp with rain which cut his speed.

Eyston will take to the flats Friday in his Thunderbolt, which he thinks had reserve speed to burn when he set his new record on Aug. 27.

Irrigation Water Supply Decreases

Decreases in the amount of irrigation water stored in three principal reservoirs serving this section of Idaho were noted this afternoon in a comparison of readings of two weeks ago with today's reading which was made by Lynn Crandall, watermaster.

During the two-week period Jackson lake showed a drop from 813,750 to 475,450 acre feet; American Falls reservoir from 930,870 to 816,250 acre feet and Lake Walcott from 94,850 to 93,320 acre feet.

With the irrigation period almost at an end it is indicated that the carryover for 1939 from the three reservoirs will provide the basis of an adequate supply of water during the next season.

At the end of 1937 there were 8,200,000 cars in use in Europe, according to the Federation of Automobile Manufacturers association.

Patrolman Speaks On Traffic Safety

JEROME, Sept. 14 (Special)—Members of the Jerome Grange employed a safety program during the lecturer's hour Friday.

State Trooper Earle B. Williams gave an instructive speech on traffic safety and answered questions concerning safe driving.

Roll call responses were safety rules for traffic.

The safety programs of the Grange and the Junior Chamber of Commerce are in line with the safety campaign now being sponsored throughout southern Idaho.

CHEERFUL CLUB GROUPS DEPART

SUN VALLEY, Sept. 14 (Special)—A cheerful throng of Idaho and Utah Kiwanis members and their wives had departed from this resort today after winding up their district convention late Tuesday.

George H. Lowe, Ogden lawyer, was named district governor. Other officers are:

Lieutenant Governor
Guy Poulsen, Idaho Falls; Leonard Wood, Boise; Henry Hall, Helper, Utah, and Roy Ashworth, Salt Lake City, all lieutenant-governors.

District Gov. Lowe will name the secretary and treasurer.

Ogden was named for the 1939 convention site.

Winners in the Kiwanis achievement contest for 1937 were:

Salt Lake City, gold division clubs with membership of 101 and over).

Boise, silver division (51 to 100 members).

Weiser, blue division (31 to 50).

Eureka, white division (30 or less).

Standings of the winners showed Salt Lake with no competition, awarded 100 per cent; Boise, two competitors, 86 2-3 per cent; Weiser, eight competitors, 87 1-3 per cent, and Eureka, eight competitors, 84 2-3 per cent.

Thank Host Clubs
Among resolutions approved were these:

Appreciation to members and wives of Buhl, Filer and Twin Falls host clubs.

Appreciation to Elmer Hollingsworth, Twin Falls, general convention chairman, and his assistants.

Appreciation to Mrs. Miles J. Browning, Twin Falls, women's chairman, and her assistants.

Appreciation to the artists assisting in the entertainment. Those included Mrs. O. P. Durell, Mrs. Julet Hayden Boone, Miss Enid Richards, Miss Gertrude Becher, Mrs. D. L. Alexander, James Reynolds, the Buhl male quartet.

Resolutions also urged a "healthy increase in membership" for Kiwanis clubs and "a sincere effort to increase the number of clubs."

WOOL

BOSTON—Occasional sales were closed in the wool market today, the U. S. agriculture department reported.

Business consisted mostly of odd lots. Prices were irregular and inclined to be low beside last week's nominal ranges in graded wools.

The value of wool changing hands was too small to be considered significant. Most holders were not inclined to change asking prices that have prevailed for several weeks on sizable quantities of graded domestic wools.

WHEAT GAINS ON FOREIGN BUYING

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (UP)—Fresh concern over the acute European situation coupled with reports that Winnipeg wheat was up the 5-cent limit caused a renewed wave of buying in wheat on the Chicago board of trade today, after heavy profit-taking sales had brought about an earlier reaction.

At the close wheat was up ⅛c to 1½c, corn up 1c, and oats ⅝c to 1c higher.

Wheat spurted more than 4 cents a bushel from the day's low points, after initial profit-taking sales had caused losses of 2 cents from previous closing levels.

Corn advanced more than a cent under good commission house buying reflecting the strength in wheat.

STOCKS NERVOUS IN HEAVY TRADE

NEW YORK, Sept. 14 (UP)—Stocks fluctuated nervously in excited trading today, swayed by various developments in the German-Czech situation.

The list had a substantial rise in the early trading and a sharp break in the afternoon. Between those movements there were several swings on conflicting rumors. Toward the close the market showed signs of rallying.

At the extreme lows, the list showed losses ranging to 3 points. In the early rise there were equal gains.

Chrysler, at its low of 65¼, was off 3¼. It came back more than 2 points. General Motors also reduced a loss. Steels met support after U. S. Steel had fallen from 57 to 52, the latter off 2½ net. Bethlehem cut a 1½ point loss to a fraction.

Market experts explained the early rise as a technical rebound after a sharp break caused by war fears. Accumulated orders were executed in blocks of 1,000 to 5,000 shares at the opening. Thereafter for a half hour the rise continued.

Dow Jones closing stock averages: Industrial 132.93, off 1.26; rail 24.22, off 0.69; utility 17.50, off 0.55.

Stock sales approximated 2,820,000 shares, the most active session since July 19 when 2,942,000 shares were traded. Yesterday's turnover was 1,700,000 shares, of which 1,070,000 came in a wild final hour break. Curb stock sales were 318,000 shares against 199,000 yesterday.

LUMBER DEALERS START CAMPAIGN

More than 60 lumber dealers from over the Magic Valley last night met at the Park hotel at a dinner meeting which marked inauguration of a campaign designed to educate the public on becoming home conscious and also to make a concerted effort on the part of the retailers to improve business conditions generally throughout their entire industry.

Principal speaker at the meeting last night was W. C. Bell, Seattle, managing director of the Western Retail Lumbermen's association and chairman of the Western Homes foundation. Chairman of the session was E. J. Ostrander, local lumberman.

Manufacturers Helping

Important manufacturing associations are cooperating with the retail association in sponsoring and financing the program, Mr. Bell explained during his talk, and sufficient funds have been already contributed to insure the carrying out of the program as planned, and of making it available to all dealers at nominal cost.

"This program is really a joint industry effort," Mr. Bell said. "The idea originated with the retail lumber dealers, but the manufacturers' associations thoroughly approve and they are participating on an equal basis.

Long Planning

"We have been working for more than two years to formulate our plans and now we are ready to offer the lumber and building material dealer, as well as the public, something they have never had before, that being a practical means of developing sales and owning homes."

At the meeting last night an exhibit of five model houses, built to the scale of one inch and complete throughout, caused considerable comment. Similar exhibits are being shown throughout the western states.

CHILD SUSTAINS SKULL FRACTURE

BURLEY, Sept. 14 (Special)—Condition of James Talbot, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Talbot, Burley, was "satisfactory" early this afternoon, according to the attending physician.

The child sustained a compound skull fracture when he fell from a pickup truck driven by his father, yesterday morning about four miles south of Burley. He was also badly cut and bruised, according to the physician.

Talbot told Sheriff P. D. Pace that the child was riding in the rear of the pickup and that when he turned out to pass an automobile, the lad lost his balance, toppling onto the hard surfaced road.

New Nazi Zeppelin Takes Test Flight

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Sept. 14 (UP)—The zeppelin LZ-130, successor to the Hindenburg that burned at Lakehurst, N. J., went aloft today on its first test flight, carrying Dr. Hugo Eckener as commander and 74 passengers and crew.

Although built for non-inflammable helium gas, the dirigible used hydrogen because of the United States' embargo on helium.

OREGON WOMAN HURT BY CRASH

GOODING, Sept. 14 (Special) — Suffering from a fractured collar bone, severe back and chest injuries, Mrs. Charles Cullinan of Portland, Ore., was in the Gooding hospital today as a result of an automobile accident yesterday at hazardous College corner.

Edward Sandstrom, 23, Hillsboro, Ore., driver of the car in which Mrs. Cullinan was riding, was charged with reckless driving and released on $200 bond pending his plea.

The accident was the second in 11 days at College corner, one-half mile south of Gooding. Mrs. Warren Stevens and two-year-old daughter, sustained fatal injuries Sept. 3.

Sandstrom, appearing before Judge W. F. Cochran this morning, was exonerated from criminal guilt in connection with the accident, but the case was not dismissed. He will be called to prove that satisfactory settlement with Diehl has been made.

The car driven by Sandstrom and belonging to Charles Cullinan, Portland, came into collision with a machine driven by Omar K. Diehl, Jerome. Mr. and Mrs. Cullinan, E. F. O'Meara, Hillsboro, Ore., and Sandstrom were occupants of the Oregon car.

C. L. "Doc" House, state highway patrolman from Buhl, who witnessed the accident, reported that Sandstrom ran through a stop sign and crashed into the side of the Diehl machine. Sandstrom claimed that he did not see the stop sign and thought he was on a through highway.

RETAINS POSITION

MONTREAL, Sept. 14 (UP)—Tony Galento, Newark, N. J., tavern proprietor, retained his position as leading heavyweight contender, according to ratings issued by the U. S. national boxing association, which is holding its annual convention here.

CLAUD PRATT SAYS IT'S "TIME TO RETIRE— GET A FISK!"

This is old Claud Pratt again. He's the biggest tire dealer in Southern Idaho, speaking in terms of mule flesh. He weighs between three and four hundred pounds. Now, let's get down to brass tacks as I would like to give you a little country talk regarding the FISK line of TIRES and TUBES. Before I give you too many details I want to tell you from the very start that we have cut the price of these valuable tires and tubes down to bedrock and we are selling absolutely ton after ton of FISK tires and tubes. Right at the present time we have an extra SPECIAL on the FISK multi-grip, mud and snow type tires. These tires will not hum or wobble, but Man Oh! Man they'll give you traction that will pull you out of snowdrift or mudhole quicker than you can say "Jack Robinson." We not only want you to compare our prices with mail-order houses but we invite you to also compare the quality of these anti-friction cord tires. They have a greater flexing area, less rolling resistance, less inside heat, less tread heat, less build up of air pressure due to heat. They contain more fabric. They have a full size anti-friction cord breaker and a much stronger cord-breaker. And, say! here's something else to think about. They have a continuous cord bead tie-in. Now what do you think of that? They have a greater road contact area and a much more sure road grip tread. They have a much longer, safe mileage and last but not least—a greater protection in the blowout zone.

Now here's something that ought to tickle you car owners clear down to your boots. We're going to quote you some prices now on the FISK mud and snow tires. The FISK TIRE COMPANY only gave us the special price on about a ton of them and they won't last long. 4.50-4.75x21 6-ply—$9.73; 4-ply—$7.35. 4.75-5.00x19, 6-ply—$10.36; 4-ply—$8.30. 4.50-4.75-5.00x20—$10.36 6-ply; $8.37 4-ply. 5.25-5.50x17—$11.83 6-ply; $9.66 4-ply. 5.25-5.50x18—$12.36 6-ply; $10.12 4-ply. All right, let's go again. 6.00-6.25x16—$14.39 6-ply; $11.97 4-ply. 6.50x16—6-ply $15.79. 32x6, 10-ply, mud and snow tire like the others $34.02. Now Claud Pratt has hundreds of FISK tires and tubes on hand and they're going like a Kansas prairie fire, in other words, I'm just ruining the territory.

Someone wrote me a check the other day and they wrote my name "The Ratt Sales Company." I guess she just made a mistake but I did hear someone say one day that he'd like to drown that rat, but I've always managed to float on top. I'm so full of grease that even though I did drown I'd float and after all you can't hold a good man down.

Well, we're selling a lot of America's safest tires. They are the new Safti-flight that have the gum rubber cut in between that gives each separate block a toe hold just like a monkey climbing a tree. These tires will not cup. These tires would sure be wonderful for doctors, state police and the man who owes lots of debts. They can sure get you over the ground quickly without any danger.

We always give preachers reductions. They are the poorest paid professional men in the world today and we need preachers more than we need cigarettes, booze and tobacco. Come on in and see these wonderful tires right away, but don't come on Sunday as we're locked up on that day and we're not out fishing either.

Clover Gives High Tribute To Minister

CLOVER, Sept. 14 (Special)—In observance of the 25th anniversary of the ordination of Rev. W. F. Dannenfeldt into the ministry, Trinity Lutheran congregation sponsored a surprise memorial service Sunday at 2:30 p. m. He has been pastor of the church 22 years.

Rev. F. Westerkamp, Jerome, delivered an appropriate sermon, and Rev. H. C. Westendorf acted at liturgist. A gift of silver, token of esteem and gratitude from the congregation, was presented to Rev. Dannenfeldt.

Reception Follows

A reception was held on the church lawn following the services. G. C. Westerkamp was master of ceremonies. Numerous congratulatory letters and telegrams were read. Rev. M. H. Zagel, Rev. Westendorf, Rev. Schulze, Rev. Westerkamp and M. Rohlfs and M. Westerkamp delivered brief addresses. Musical selections were presented.

The women of the congregation served light refreshments.

Rev. Dannenfeldt started his ministerial career at Casper, Wyo., Aug. 21, 1913, following his graduation from Concordia college in St. Louis.

Under his leadership the congregation has grown from a small beginning to a membership of about 85 voting members and 400 communicants.

The parochial school, with a two-teacher faculty, is attended by 60 children.

Four in Ministry

Rev. Dannenfeldt's father, 78 years old, after a service of 54 years, is still active in the ministry in Elmhurst, Ill., a suburb of Chicago.

Two brothers in the ministry, one in Cleveland, Ohio, and the other in Fort Wayne, Ind., passed the 25th milestone of service a few years ago.

The Dannenfeldt family, father and three sons, represent a combined service of 133 years in the ministry.

Ex-County Agent Now With Noted Family Institute

Donald McLean, once of Twin Falls, now of Los Angeles, always was good at solving problems.

As one of the first county agents Twin Falls ever had, he helped the farmers with crop estimates and surveys.

Later, as secretary for the Wool Growers' association, he manipulated marketing agreements.

But his hobby was ironing-out human "relationships." This was most evident in his energetic sponsorship of Boy Scout activities during his residence here.

With Famed Institute

His hobby has become his profession. He is now clinic psychologist consultant with the Institute of Family Relations at Los Angeles, which has gained national reputation for its accomplishments in adjusting people to the complexities of modern living.

Last spring his book, "Knowing Yourself and Others," a volume on mental hygiene for young people, was released to preparatory and high schools, and met with immediate success.

Published by Henry Holt and company, the book is particularly noteworthy because it deals with problems of the normal young person, and is not the gruesome string of case histories so frequently found in psychological texts.

Seavers Visit

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Seaver, who recently returned to Twin Falls from Los Angeles where they visited Mr. and Mrs. McLean, brought back the word of his success.

His publishers are releasing a second issue of his book for general use, and he is now at work on another psychological volume.

Hit or Miss AT THE HIGH SCHOOL

By MURIEL SCOTT

Nelda Wagner has been dubbed "Blondie" by her very best friends, but that doesn't deceive those in the know as reports reaching this columnist say she is very brilliant.

Margaret Bacon drew as many laughs as she did yells at the tryouts conducted yesterday. Herinterpretation of the "Big Apple," was especially appreciated by students, and they were still chuckling a couple of hours later.

With a sad and sorrowful face Harold Fisher hied himself to the doctor's office yesterday afternoon. No, he isn't ill, he was only going to get a prescription for grain alcohol. The sad look was caused by the demise of "Oswald," who followed "Oscar" into frog heaven after experiments in his science classes. Two frogs survive.

Bert Tolbert was quite elated to find that the combination on his locker had not been changed as he tried it out when visiting the school Monday.

Inspection of the seat of his trousers was in order Tuesday evening for Wilton Hovorka. In his part in "Robin Hood," he has to take some rather severe punishment and the director didn't want him to ruin a good pair.

Still considering the yell leader tryouts—a great number of those crowded into the high school auditorium were very favorably impressed with the giving the diminutive duo, Earl Hayes and Bobby Blandford, made.

Phil Thornburg after many tries at drawing a likeness of one of the Smith Brothers decided it would save much effort if he expended a nickel and just traced the portrait.

STUDENTS BALLOT

Balloting on candidates for student body offices progressed at the high school this afternoon with nomination of class officers set for Thursday. Final voting is scheduled for Friday with the first student council meeting set for the first of the week by Principal Edward Rogel.

Much merriment was attendant during the speech-making by candidates at yesterday's assembly. In addition to talks by the candidates themselves Bert Sweet acted as campaign manager for Cecil Jones and James Hawley for Dean Brown.

Halibut are tatooed by the International Fishiers Commission for the purpose of making life history studies of the species.

WHY FALSE TEETH WEARERS HAVE Bad Breath

You can't notice any odor from your plate or bridge—but others can! Dentists call this odor "denture breath" and it's serious. It comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum is almost invisible—but it can make your breath so bad that friends shudder. It can breed decay-bacteria that infect your other teeth, actually hurt your health and spoil your appearance.

Ordinary brushing cannot get this scum off plate or bridge—can't protect you against "denture breath." But just try Polident! Polident not only cleans—it actually purifies plates and bridges without brushing. It gets every bit of scum, tarnish, stain and odor—dissolves it away and leaves your plate sweet and clean as new.

Your breath will be fresher, your mouth feel cleaner—and your plate last longer and look better. Polident is approved by dental authorities, Good Housekeeping and tens of thousands of users. Long-lasting can costs only 35¢ at any drug store
