ITINERARY FIXED FOR 3 NOMINEES

One major meeting and two days of informal appearances throughout the west and east end of Twin Falls county will feature the itinerary of three major Democratic state candidates next Tuesday and Wednesday. The trio consists of Attorney-General J. W. Taylor, Myrtle Enking, state treasurer, and George Curtis, nominee for secretary of state. Taylor and Mrs. Enking are candidates for reelection to the posts they now hold.

Expect Throng
The public meeting, expected to draw hundreds of voters, will be held at 8 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 25, at community hall on the Filer fairgrounds. Remainder of the Taylor-Enking-Curtis itinerary, as announced today by Chairman Russ G. Wilson and Secretary Thomas M. Robertson, jr., of the Democratic county central committee, shows:
The party will arrive in Buhl about 1:45 p. m. Tuesday at the Buhl headquarters, Main and Broadway. West end committeemen, candidates and party workers will meet the state nominees there and will assist in contact with voters.
Before and after the Filer session Tuesday night, committeemen will introduce the three candidates to scores of Filer townspeople and ranchers.

Morning in Twin Falls
On Wednesday the party will spend the morning in Twin Falls, and will greet Democratic workers at the general public at Bourbon headquarters on Second avenue north.
The three candidates, with numbers of Democratic backing, will then motor through Kimberly, Hansen and Murtugah, arriving at the Murtugah post office at 11 a. m. Mr. Wilson will direct the party from Kimberly eastward.
A number of county candidates probably will travel with the state nominees on their excursion in this area. It was indicated.

CONCERTS GROUP MAPS CAMPAIGN

Ten working teams of ten members each will be used to direct the drive for memberships, according to decision reached Wednesday night by officers of the sponsoring organization and other persons interested in the Columbia Concert company musical program for Twin Falls.

The meeting was held at the Chamber of Commerce rooms preliminary to the "kick-off dinner" Oct. 21, at which a representative of the Columbia Concert company will be present. The dinner will take place at 6:30 p. m. at the Park hotel.

A male vocalist, a concert violinist and a dancer, will be the attraction for this winter's series. Eugene E. Clark, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, offered the support of his organization.

Mrs. I. E. Joslyn was named publicity chairman for the drive, which will be conducted during the week following the dinner.

Regarding the concerts, Mrs. D. L. Alexander, president of the organization, said:

"The Twin Falls organization plans a very fine series of programs. It is the type of cultural opportunity that young people need, and I cannot recommend it too highly. We hope to have the public in the frame of mind so that they will join immediately, when first asked. The quality and culture of our programs is such that citizens will know at once whether to join or not. The drive is too long drawn to seek memberships daily from persons, and our drive must be short."

THE APPLE SITUATION
Editor, Evening Times:
This is an article regarding the harvest of the Twin Falls apple crop.

Most of the Jonathan variety of apples have been harvested and sold from this section; and at my own packing house at Filer, this variety has moved out in good volume and at good prices, mostly sold at $5 a ton net bulk on board cars with boxes extra and all other tickets that have been loaded here have been sold at $1 net with no brokerage out and according to Mr. Taylor of the Enking and Taylor packing house in Twin Falls, they have received $1 net for some cars and have sold none under 45 cents per bushel for the Idaho combination extra fancy, fancy grade. These prices are as good if not better than received for the Jonathan crop in 1934 when a still shorter crop was reported by the government.

Delicious apples are now being harvested and are commanding a market of around $1 while fancy wrap packed are bringing $1.25 and up. The trade in eastern Idaho has been buying quite a quantity of Utah apples that are being trucked in at cheaper prices. The Utah crop is also supplying a great percentage of the trade in Wyoming and adjoining states. This also affects the California market for the time being.

Another factor that has somewhat slowed our market on Delicious, is the fine crop of apples grown in Colorado this year. They are supplying the middle west trade at the present time. This situation should clear up within a couple of weeks as the bulk will either be moved into commercial channels and immediate sale, or into cold storages to be held for winter markets.

Picking of the later varieties such as Rome, Winesap and Arkansas blacks is now in full swing and the crops of the last two or three months have been a great benefit, and the apples if no cooler weather is experienced, will have a much better finish.

Yours very truly,
HARLEY HILLIER,
Filer, Oct. 20.

INJURY, DEATH TOLL ON HIGHWAYS HITS 1,399,500 IN 1937

STATE DIVERSION OF TAX FUND HIT BY U. S. AGENCY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21 (UP)—American highways are almost as dangerous as a battlefield, according to reports by the U. S. bureau of public roads and the national safety council.

Last year 39,500 persons were reported killed and 1,399,500 were injured on highways. These casualties were greater than American losses in any similar period of the World war.

Responsibility for a large percentage of the automobile accidents was attributed by the bureau to misuse and diversion of state highway tax funds. It said $161,413,000—12 1/2 cents out of every highway tax dollar—was used last year for non-highway purposes.

Two States Cut Off

The bureau withheld $472,862 in federal aid from Massachusetts and $250,000 from New Jersey for illegal diversion of state highway funds—mostly for relief purposes. Georgia was placed on probation and North Dakota warned for questionable practices.

The use of highway funds for other purposes by several states is being investigated and action may be taken soon, the bureau said. It said, however, that it was impossible to ascertain how much money had been allocated by states to counties and diverted to other uses.

State highway income in 1937 totaled $1,195,825,000, expenditures $1,195,825,000, including payments on debt, state police, local roads and non-highway purposes—amounted to $1,166,706,000, the bureau reported. Federal contributions amounted to $227,782,000.

Fault Found With Roads

Even that amount was insufficient to keep highways in good condition and build new roads, the bureau said. No official estimate was available as to the number of persons killed or injured in "death traps" on highways, but officials said faulty roads contributed to a great number of accidents.

The bureau is conducting a joint investigation with states to locate and eliminate dangerous roads and bridges. Officials said the inquiry is being made in 46 states and that the results will be made public upon completion.

It is hoped to arouse public sentiment to force highway officials to keep public roads in good condition. Economic losses last year from automobile accidents were estimated by the safety council at $1,700,000,000—about 3 per cent of the national income and enough to finance the building of 35 Empire State buildings.

CALDWELL MAN KILLED IN CRASH

CALDWELL, Ida., Oct. 21 (UP)—F. J. Francis of Caldwell was killed near Star late yesterday when the car in which he was riding crashed with an automobile occupied by Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Carr of Nampa.

The accident happened at an intersection. Francis died in a hospital an hour after the collision. His son, driving the car, and his son's wife and baby were hurt, but not seriously.

Chimps See Movie

LONDON (UP)—Peter and Jackie, two of the London zoo's best-known chimpanzees, were taken to the movies to see the film "Monkey Into Man" in which they starred. Close-ups of chimps and orang-utans, including a dance, provoked the most interest from Peter and Jackie.

There is more unexplored territory in South America than in Africa.

highlight in Cleveland, being, he said, the only man ever to do such a thing.

WIDOW OF PILOT BOOSTS FLYING

CLEVELAND, Oct. 21 (UP)—Mrs. Rudy Kling, widow of last year's winner of aviation's class—the Thompson trophy race—wants her son to follow in the wing-tracks of his father, although the elder Kling died in a plane crash.

"My son, Robert, wants to be a farmer now. He is only 11, though, and I will get him out of that notion," Mrs. Kling said here.

"The Klings will be winning trophies again. You'll see."

Mrs. Kling attended the National Air Races here, where her husband won the Thompson race last year. A few months later, he was killed in a crash at Miami, Fla.

Pilot's Admirer
The pilots who competed with Rudy Kling in races admire the enthusiasm which Mrs. Kling re-veals for air-racing. Col. Roscoe Turner was touched when she congratulated him after he won the Thompson Trophy this year.

She said that by the time her son is old enough to enter air races, speed planes will be even safer than she believes they are now.

"By then I will have enough money to finance my boy, I hope," she said. Kling's widow owns two garages in Lemont, Ill. She said that she was prepared to manage the business when her husband was killed.

Steered for Worst
"Rudy told me that I always must be ready—that that was part of flying. He always had told me I should keep my head and take care of everything. I remembered that when they came and told me that he had crashed. I keep going to the airport every week, though, to talk to the folks and sort of mark time until Rudy gets big enough to race," she said.

Kling virtually was an unknown at the time he won the Thompson race. He had been flying race events, but never had been in the big money. And he was a dark horse, even in the Thompson, until almost the race's end. He came behind from fourth place to dive under and ahead of several "name" pilots to take the trophy and his heavy prize money in the then 200-mile race. The event this year was lengthened to 300 miles.

Noted Painter's Widow Falls to Death in Gotham

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (UP)—Mrs. Gardner Hale, widow of a noted mural painter, who was reported escaped last May to Works Progress Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, plunged to her death today from her 16th floor apartment.

Mrs. Hale was introduced to Hopkins by James Roosevelt. When they were seen together in subsequent weeks the report of their engagement circulated. It never was confirmed.

Since no one immediately claimed the body it was placed in the court yard of the West 4th street police station and many patrolmen stopped to look at it, for Dorothy Hale was one of the most beautiful women of New York.

The fall did not disarrange her upworn coiffure. She wore a black velvet business gown and black and silver sandals with high spiked heels. Around her throat was a black ribbon suspending a gold fibronite ornament.

Mrs. Hale was the former Miss Dorothy Donovan of Pittsburgh. Her first husband was T. Allard Thomas. She married Hale, who revived the art of fresco painting, in 1929 and posed for many of his works.

Hale was killed near Santa Maria, Calif., that same year when his car plunged over a 500-foot cliff.

After his death Mrs. Hale tried the stage but with indifferent success. She was known to her friends for her gaiety and they expressed the opinion today—held also by one of the officers who investigated—that she might have tripped over the low windmill.

GOVERNOR CLARK WARNS BEN ROSS

BOISE, Oct. 21 (UP)—Governor Barzilla Clark today warned former Governor C. Ben Ross, seeking a fourth term as chief executive of Idaho, to "be careful" as he "might be misunderstood."

The governor referred in an indirect manner to Ross' defiance of a highway audit which attacked so-called irregularities in contractual relations, purchasing and general operations of the public works department during his three terms as governor.

"There is no need," the governor said, "to brag that you have built farm-to-market roads, or expect to do it again in violation of the law."

Elsewhere on the political front: At a Republican rally in Haley, C. A. Bottolfson, O. O. P. candidate for governor, accused Ross of manipulating the state's tax structure during his three terms in office so it "benefited the big interests."

In Emmett, State Treasurer Myrtle P. Enking, seeking reelection, told a Democratic audience that "continued efficiency of her department" was her aim. She said "continued efficiency and honesty" would come with continuation of a Democratic administration.

Pledged to Labor Aid
At a Democratic rally in Wallace, state mine inspector Arthur Campbell, up for reelection, said the Democratic party was pledged to reestablishment of the state department of labor.

Eugene Anderson, Boise attorney, will speak tonight at a Republican rally at Ustick.

Local Jaycee Beau Brummels Schedule Dance for Teachers

Extra-curricular feature of the South Central Idaho Education association's "Institute" here next week, will be the courtesy dance at which Junior Chamber of Commerce members will be hosts Friday evening, Oct. 28.

Senior Chamber of Commerce is contributing to the entertainment fund, so that there will be no dearth of escorting for the conference delegates; predominantly feminine, the Jaycees to the last man are already seeking permission from their spouses to have the evening out.

Jaycees Rally Round

Justifying Twin Falls' reputation for hospitality, some of Twin Falls' most eligible bachelors, members of the host organization, will be in the stag line to show to the how the latest dance steps are done.

And the teachers of the eight south central Idaho counties represented, will be equal to the occasion, as they logged in the season's smartest outfits.

Time was when "teacher" was resented as a person in a black skirt and a prim, starched shirtwaist, but not any more. As a professional class, they are the most well-dressed.

Shopping for accessories to supplement their wardrobe, or touring the local establishments for new styles will also be a part of the "not on the program" activities which will occupy a large number of the conference's next week-end.

This is on Committee

Preliminary plans were made by the committee on arrangements at a meeting last evening. Voy Hudson is general chairman and his assistant is Tom Peavy and Henry Colner.

Teachers will be admitted free, as will 100 members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

According to the local grapevine, there is a movement underway among the wives of the day-care centers to appropriate the unattached Jaycees who will attend the conference next week, but no official information was available today.

PERFECTION....

In this age of special diets, exacting appetites and the like, there is a growing demand for quality foods that measure up to higher standards. We hear about the "just-as-goods" and obvious imitations, but careful comparison soon reveals their inferiority — an inferiority too often used to mislead the buying public.

The bakers of Butter-Krust Bread are proud of the fact that they can present their product with the positive knowledge that Butter-Krust has no superior.

Constant experimentation with the best of known formulas... the use of only the newest of modern equipment available... the employment of bakers highly skilled in their art... a rigid policy of sanitation that keeps our plant spotlessly clean...

These are the factors that combine to produce the unvarying perfection of Butter-Krust Bread.

BRITAIN, GERMANY HOPE TO MEDIATE FAR EAST WAR

EUROPEAN HEADS BELIEVE JAPAN READY TO TALK

By ROBERT BELLAIRE
 SHANGHAI, Oct. 21 (UP)—Great Britain and Germany have started a joint effort to mediate between China and Japan, it was asserted today in a most reliable quarter.

As the report was made, Japanese troops were entering Canton, fifth great Chinese city to fall to them in the war, and they were only 25 miles from Hankow, the emergency capital on the Yangtze river.

They had marched 80 miles in nine days, advancing with astonishing speed in the absence of serious resistance.

They had taken previously Tientsin, Peiping, Shanghai and Nanking. There were indications that with the fall of Hankow, the Japanese might be ready to talk peace—but they insisted that as part of any truce Chiang Kai-Shek, generalissimo of the Chinese armies, had to go.

Starts at Tokyo

It was asserted here that the British-German peace move was started at Tokyo, where British and German diplomatic representatives approached the Japanese government on the mediation idea.

Japanese leaders, it was said, neither accepted nor rejected but expressed eagerness for peace before 1938.

Sir A. Clarke Kerr, British ambassador to China, was understood to be at Hong Kong, preparing to leave for Chungking, which was to be the emergency capital of the Chinese government after the fall of Hankow. It was reported here that Generalissimo Chiang was preparing to leave for Chungking, in the expectation that he would meet the British ambassador.

The implication seemed to be that this report was correct, that he was going to talk mediation.

Serious Complaints

Reports of the mediation move came after a series of complaints and appeals by Chinese leaders, based on the idea that Chiang must move promptly and effectively to strengthen the defenses of Canton.

Eugen Chen, former foreign minister, had charged that Chiang blundered by neglecting the defense of Canton and by taking from southern China most of its airplanes and its tank troops. Two of the best generals in the Chinese army, Li Tsung-jen and Pai Tsung-shih, had appealed to Chiang to take personal command of the Canton defense.

When the Japanese landed on the shores of Blas bay in southern China nine days ago, it was expected that they would soon meet strong resistance. It is now estimated that between 500,000 and 1,000,000 troops of the southern provinces, many of them among the best in China, would be in the defense line. It appeared, however, that the Cantonese leaders had sent most of their generals to aid the national government on the central front.

IDAHO FIRES SPUD CAMPAIGN INTO SHAKY MARGINAL AREAS

Idaho is now invading no less than 75 "marginal" markets in pushing sale of Gem state potatoes and onions, according to word received by Twin Falls dealers and growers from the Idaho fruit and vegetable advertising commission.

Invasion of the marginal regions, according to Secretary Carl DeLong, forms the spearhead of the Idaho advertising and publicity drive now being launched in full force. He explained that "marginal" markets are those open to shipments from all potato areas, and yearly demands on Idaho spuds are not constant. In a number of markets, for instance, Idaho has very little competition. In marginal cities, however, the competition is keen.

Chance for Increase

"It is in these areas that Idaho can make her biggest increase in sales," according to the goal explained in the advertising commission's first bulletin, "and can establish increasing yearly consumption of Idaho potatoes and onions."

Objectives of the present campaign, dealers and growers were told, is to concentrate on spots which have been good Idaho markets in many years but which have shipped recently. And here are the "marginal" territories in which the campaign is directing its heaviest fire: Birmingham, Mobile, Alabama; Phoenix, Tucson, Ariz.; Fort Smith, Little Rock, Texarkana, Ark.; Los Angeles, San Diego, Calif.; Washington, D. C.; Jacksonville, Miami, Tampa, Florida; Atlanta, Georgia.

Chicago, Decatur, Peoria, Quincy, Springfield, Ill.; Fort Wayne, Indianapolis, Ind.; Cedar Rapids, Des Moines, Des Moines, Fort Dodge, Sioux City, Waterloo, Ia.; Wichita, Hutchinson, Pittsburgh, Salina, Kan.; Lexington, Louisville, Paducah, Ky.; New Orleans, La.; Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Mich.; Joplin, Kansas City, Springfield, St. Joseph, St. Louis, Mo.; Grand Island, Lincoln, Omaha, Neb.; Akron, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Ohio; Muskogee, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Okla.

Pittsburgh, Penn.; Spartanburg, S. C.; Sioux Falls, S. D.; Chattanooga, Knoxville, Memphis, Nashville, Tenn.; Abilene, Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, Lubbock, San Antonio, Tex.; Richmond, Virginia; Charleston, Huntington, W. Va.; Green Bay, Madison, Milwaukee, Wis.

However, those in charge said, registrations can be made any day at Radioland for the city contest, open for couples 16 years or older. The winning couple from Twin Falls will compete in this city with winners from other cities of Idaho in the state contest in November.

Prizes for the city winners include for first place a gold loving cup and $20 in credit through courtesy of the Public Department store; for second place a gold loving cup.

The winning team in the state contest will be awarded a special trophy from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and a trip to Seattle to enter the zone contest. The trip will be made in a new 1937 Ford, donated by the Union Motor company, and the contestants will have all expenses paid going and returning with the exception of those of a personal nature. Winning couple in the zone contest will go to New York City for the national finals, competing against 18 couples from the other zones into which the United States has been divided. The winning couple there, will receive a three-months contract with the motion picture company.

Judging Basis

In Twin Falls for both the city and state contests, as well as in the zone and final contests, Olympic scoring will be used. Judges will allow 20 per cent for grace, 20 per cent for rhythm, 20 per cent for personality, 20 per cent for dance deportment and 20 per cent for general appearance. Professional dancers will not be permitted to enter the contest.

Contests in the local contest, and also the names of the judges will be announced in the Evening Times next week.

NAYLORS WIN IN FEDERAL ACTION

BOISE, Oct. 21 (UP)—Because Judge C. C. Cavanaugh found that a stoker had not been delivered, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Naylor, Hansen, were victorious today in a suit brought by the federal housing administration.

The federal judge ruled that the FHA is not entitled to recover $325.43 from the Naylor on a promissory note. The case was based on a conditional sales contract for the stoker, with the contract insured by FIA.

Kiki on Toes

When Jack (Legs) Diamond, prohibition-days gangster, was "bumped off," Marlon (Kiki) Roberts, above, was a popular figure on the Broadway stage. She also had been the favorite companion of "Legs" Diamond. Resulting publicity revived her to obscurity, but now she is attempting a comeback. She is pictured in a Mountaineer, N. 1939 CHEVROLET
HERE TOMORROW

All passenger car models of the spectacular new 1939 Chevrolet will go on display in Twin Falls Saturday morning. It was announced this afternoon by Glen C. Jenkins, local dealer.

The 1939 models, with new aerodynamic bodies and numerous mechanical advancements, at least two of which are major in character, will go on exhibition in 10,000 showrooms simultaneously with the display here. Delivery of models is expected to be available at once.

The two new Chevrolet series are designated as the master deluxe and the master 85. Two new models, a master deluxe four passenger coupe with many distinctive features, and a master 85 business coupe available on both chassis, are added for 1939, the sport coupe and cabriolet being discontinued.

The major mechanical improvements for 1939 are the new vacuum operated steering column control, optional on both series at nominal extra cost, Mr. Jenkins said, and the new perfected knee action riding system on the master deluxe. This improvement includes an entirely new knee action mechanism, triple-tested, precision-built, and tailored as a unit to the car, to assure maximum riding comfort over all roads.

The power plant in both series, the local dealer said, is the "time-proven" Chevrolet 85-horsepower high-compression six cylinder valve-in-head engine, in which refinements introduced in 1938 are continued, and additional refinements said to result in greater economy, durability and ease of servicing, are incorporated for 1939.

Prices are lower than on the 1938 cars.

ENGLAND TRAINS
MALAYAN TROOP

SINGAPORE, Oct. 21 (UP) — The men who built up and trained the Malay regiment—the youngest unit in the British army—is returning to England, satisfied that the Malay, despite his love of indolence and ease, can be made into a good soldier. The regiment is stationed at Fort Dickson, in the Malay States. He is Lieut.-Col. McI. S. Bruce, a Scots-Canadian, who was sent from the Lincolnshire regiment in 1923 to form an experimental company of Malay soldiers. This company eventually provided the nucleus of the Malay regiment, now numbering nearly 300 officers and men.

Trained Raw Recruits

In the past eight years, Colonel Bruce has trained raw recruits from the kampongs (Malay villages) of all the Malay States, and the regiment is now an integral part of the defenses of Malaya.

His task was not easy. The first 25 men recruited did not take kindly to army discipline. But with patience and perseverance, the colonel changed the spirit of his men, so that today the Malay soldiers are so keen on their training that disciplinary measures have to be taken against soldiers who continue practicing their drill after "lights out."

It is hoped that eventually the Malay regiment will replace the Indian battalion which is now stationed at Telup in North Malaya.

Six Malay Officers

There are at present only six Malay officers, one of whom is the son of a Sultan, but it is hoped that other native men will qualify for promotion.

The regiment is organized on British lines, with a headquarters wing, three rifle companies, one machine gun company, together with a band and drum corps. The recruits serve for seven years with the colors and five on the reserve list.

Colonel Bruce, whose grandfather left Scotland to join the Canadian Mounted Police, will go back to duty with his regiment.

New Excuse

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Pretty Miss Alice Morgan, 20-year-old singer, arrested on a speeding charge, had a new one to tell the judge: "I had just got a job," she explained, "and I was so happy that I was singing in tune with the car. Well, the music kept getting faster—accelerando, you know—and I had to drive faster to keep the motor in tune with the music."

He'll tell you more about Idaho's "most powerful political machine" — the state highway bureau — and other interesting facts about the present administration.

(Paid Political Adv.)

Does Idaho Want Any More of the 'Ross-Clark' Type of Government?

The record of Democratic administration in Idaho speaks for itself — an unimpeachable record because it's written by state audits and grand jury investigations!

The people need only to be reminded of the highlights of all this political debauchery during the three administrations of Governor C. Ben Ross to recall many more of the sordid details:

A warden borrowing money from convicts! A penitentiary official convicted and now an inmate. Twelve hundred irregular signatures on the payrolls! A highway department head fined a thousand dollars. Another highway department official a fugitive from justice. Two other highway department heads under indictment. More than $477,000 worth of major equipment purchased without bids asked. The governor ordering his purchasing agent to disregard the law. Grand jury indictments of more than a dozen state appointees, including a former penitentiary warden, a former public works commissioner, and a former state Democratic chairman! Twenty miles of highway built in Nevada, costing $162,000, and paid for by the taxpayers of Idaho!

And that's not all! Whole chapters might be written on payroll matters, equipment purchases, bid openings, lack of records, gasoline purchases, sales of used cars, the Nevada highway matter, and half a hundred other irregularities more or less important. The whole history is now a matter of public record on file in the statehouse.

Highly significant, also, is the fact that when the grand jury adjourned Aug. 23, it declared "we have but scratched the surface of state governmental irregularities." It had not yet received requested reports from the Idaho liquor control commission, state insurance fund, fish and game department, bureau of public health, inheritance tax bureau, and the departments of public investments, public welfare, public assistance and law enforcement.

A week later, Aug. 30, Governor Barzilla W. Clark whose own inefficient administration has been undermined by petty political squabbles, announced "shortages of about $2,000 during the first 15 months of the present biennium have been uncovered in the department of agriculture." And later he added: "It has been no small job to go through this vast volume of old business and weed out shortages caused by personal greed and political fear and favor." The people will agree with Governor Clark when he described these disclosures by the state audit as "terrible."

C. A. BOTTOLFSEN
Republican Candidate for Governor

"If I am elected, I can pledge you that we'll know what is going on in state government. We won't have to wait six years to find out that our employes have violated their trust. . . . but it will take your help; yours and that of thousands of loyal citizens who realize the serious condition in which we find this state."

Idaho's "New Dealers" Have Written Their Own History

Does this history justify the Idaho "New Dealers" remaining in office? Under these circumstances will the people again elect C. Ben Ross during whose three previous administrations most of this history was written?

It will be recalled that the 1931 legislature passed a law requiring an audit of the highway department, but Ross, then governor, vetoed the measure which undoubtedly would have brought to light many of the irregularities of which the taxpayers of Idaho failed to learn for six long years. Ross gave as his reason for vetoing the measure, "a wish to save the taxpayers the expense of the audit."

In 1932, Karl Evans of the Bureau of Accounts, recommended to Governor Ross "a complete revision of the accounting system in the highway department." Ross totally ignored the 272 page report.

Evans further recommended that "the laws governing the activities of the state purchasing department should be completely rewritten in order that this department may function properly." But there was no response.

What a different course history in Idaho might have taken had Governor Ross seen fit to carry out these recommendations made by a state accountant whose duty it was to make them!

But it was six years before the highway audit and grand jury investigation brought to light what was taking place during the Ross administrations. The investigation cost the state about $40,000, but as a result there has already been effected a saving of approximately three times that amount. What would the saving have been to the taxpayers of Idaho had Ross carried out Karl Evans' recommendations way back in 1932!

Yet, in spite of this record, C. Ben Ross now seeks a fourth term as governor of Idaho.

Do the people of Idaho want to continue with this type of state government, or will they rally to the support of a complete change in administration under the banner of C. A. Bottolfsen, Republican candidate for governor?

IDAHO LOOMS AS FINE ROSE BOWL MATERIAL

Experts State Vandals' Offensive Best

By JACK GUENTHER
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21 (AP)—In these muddled times when every partisan fan is clamoring that the key to the Rose bowl is handed his favored team, the experts are unanimous in their opinion that the Vandals' offense is the best in the country.

Many touchdowns have been scored in many seasons since a team worthy of the name has come out of the land of potatoes and mountain goats but the cocky crew on route here today portends great things for the conference. The Vandals' offense is the best in the country, the experts say.

First Game Power
Theoretically, any conference member in the Rose bowl bid, regardless of where it stands in the standings, in practice, the bid is awarded the power. The Vandals are the only other unbeaten eleven in the west, apart from Santa Clara which is ineligible for the bowl game.

Under-Rated Teams Successful
A number of teams which play in the bowl the attendance would drop are just silly. The Rose game always is a sell-out and any tough little team that can go undefeated against six conference foes won't draw away any prospective customers.

Injuries Hit UCLA Eleven

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 21 (AP)—There was a happy outlook today for the undefeated University of California football team as they prepared to play UCLA tomorrow in the coliseum.

Woodrow Brode, the Bruins' line backer, was ordered to the hospital because his gashed leg is not healing. Bob Ores, who will take his place, is steady but not usually brilliant—and the Bruins specialize in end-run plays.

Other gloomy reports from Westwood were that Madita Zarubka, husky tackle, may be out because of a cold, and Co-Capt. George Pfeiffer, bruised his nose and may not start. Kenny Washington was out of the hospital, however, and going great guns in practice leading to Bruin hopes that Saturday might be one of his bright days.

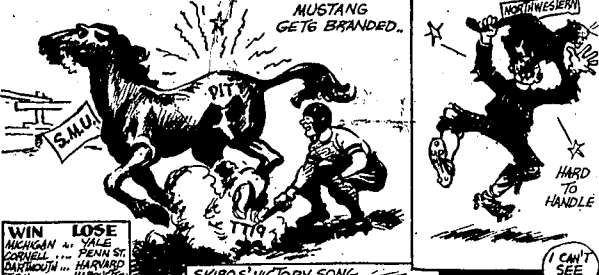

Friday night, Oct. 21 (AP)—U. C. L. A. has a good ball club and we know what will be up against Saturday at Los Angeles. Coach Fred Baker of the University of Idaho football team said today.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—The little literary sect that Genio Mac found in the sports world when he discovered the champion seems to be bearing fruit at last.

As you all remember, Tunny Mac found the poet-athlete in Marshall Goldberg, Pittsburg's all-American football player and sportsman.

ALL PROPHET, NO LOSS

Odds Favor California and USC in Big Coast Games

By JAMES A. SULLIVAN
SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 21 (AP)—Howard Jones, who guides football destinies at the University of Southern California, is going to be surprised to learn that he is a 2-1 favorite over Stanford for their annual game Saturday.

Others were somewhat surprised to see the odds posted by local betting commissioners at such a figure.

For some 40,000 persons, including Jimmy Roosevelt, the President's secretary and aides, are going down to the Stanford bowl expecting to see a toss-up game which a break or two might decide.

Even Stanford's series of injuries, the latest of which put punter Bill Paulman on crutches, doesn't change the general opinion of a close game.

California is a 2-1 favorite over Oregon State in the game scheduled for Saturday at Portland. No odds are quoted on the U. C. L. A. Idaho game at Los Angeles, but most sources look for an Idaho defeat, the first of the year for the conference contest.

Other games on tomorrow's program include Nevada vs. Fresno State; Fresno vs. New Mexico; Pacific vs. Whitman; Brigham Young vs. Portland; North Dakota, university vs. Montana; Cal Tech vs. Pomona college; Hillsdale vs. Montana State; Puget Sound vs. Pacific Lutheran; and Idaho vs. Willamette.

Goldberg who plays left halfback for Pittsburg's Panthers. Here are a few verses from Goldberg's elegy to "Red Dawg":

"A great little fellow, 'Red Dawg', 'The mighty Red Dawg', 'Of New Castle high', 'He's a whirling game-wack', 'The left half who started', 'In even deadness', 'When he graduated', 'And went to Pitt', 'His public thought', 'The left half who started', 'In his freshman year', 'That the struggle was futile, 'Though very sincere'."

5 Unbeaten Teams Seen for 1938

Strikes to Spare

By FRED STONE
After a very, very slow start, Rogers wound up their last game by falling just three pins short of the 1,000 mark.

Ray Preiss got three games of 187-192-219-300 Jennings and Walter Beretz of the 500 club. Len McCracken, rolling his first night for Schiltz, was quite badly handicapped with a bum knee.

In taking all three games from the team will be the Twin Falls Lumber company set all new high records, with the help of John Rogers, who got a 261 score.

Those in the right mood do not meet any more perfect record teams are Darlington, California, Santa Clara, Georgetown and Georgia.

Rogers Bows 261 Game in City League

John Rogers of the Twin Falls Lumber company bowled a new seasonal single-game record last night as he turned in a 261 second game as the feature of the league bowling. Rogers missed all successive strikes, three short of a 300 or perfect score.

Rogers' bowling highlighted the game at the city league. Schiltz bowlers took the strategy from Sego milk, with Walker Beretz scoring another new record — a 272.

They did not succeed in bagging any deer and report game somewhat scarce in the region. They are experienced hunters.

Nineteen Clubs Undefeated On List Today

By HENRY SUPER
NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—Figures never lie and today they say it may be a miracle if more than eight major football teams finish the season unbeaten or untied.

And, spicing mathematics with gridiron logic, it seems more likely that no more than five will come through unscathed, which will be just about enough to go around the various New Year day bowls.

Nineteen major teams are unbeaten and untied and three are in the undefeated but tied class. Seventeen of them encounter at least one team on the perfect list before the season ends. Six of them play two and even three. Out of that total, the figures show, can come only three with perfect records.

Five Can Make It
Five of the Class A elevens have as their remaining opponents teams that are undefeated. All these five can make it, and, looking at it purely from a mathematical standpoint, this quintet has the above total makes eight.

Those in the right mood do not meet any more perfect record teams are Darlington, California, Santa Clara, Georgetown and Georgia.

Indians Scalped at Bruin Pep Rally

Twin Falls high school scalped the Puget Sound Indians during the pep rally for Bruin football.

The traditional yell, directed by the yell leaders, Dean Brown and Harry DeWitt and the queen, Margaret Bacon, will inaugurate the Bruin pep band which will play at the pep rally.

Jackrabbit Lost

CLEVELAND (AP)—How a Jackrabbit wandered from the western frontier to Ohio is a mystery to Martha Allen, of the Animal Protective League. Allen captured the extremely gawky rabbit in a neighborhood where residents thought the animal was a young fawn.

MacPhail Explains Babe Ruth "Not Available" Talk

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—Larry MacPhail, general manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, sought today to further clarify the Dodgers' announcement that Babe Ruth was "not available" for coaching duties following appointment of Leo Durocher as manager.

"Because of some misleading statements regarding the selection of Brooklyn coaches," MacPhail said, "I want to point out that the statement that Ruth was 'not available' was made at Ruth's own request. The Brooklyn club believes that any manager is entitled to name his own coaches. Their selection was left entirely to Durocher and his first choices were Chuck Dressen and Bill Killefer."

Golfers Await Cotton Reply

NEW YORK, Oct. 21 (AP)—Professional, amateur and just-plain-dub golfers awaited today the reply of England's Henry Cotton to a "name your own terms" proposal for a match with Sam Snead billed "for the world's professional match-play championship."

Snead, hard-hitting pro from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., already had accepted the offer of Elmer Ward, Boston, to meet Cotton in a 2-hole match.

Arrangements Set for Fish, Game Banquet

Arrangements were being completed this afternoon for the fourth semi-annual banquet of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game association which will be held at Bull next Wednesday evening and which will feature at least three speakers.

The banquet will be held at the American Legion hall starting at 7 p. m. This is the first time the gathering has been arranged outside of Twin Falls and is being held at the west end of the county at the request of Bull.

Speakers expected to be heard at the banquet include Frank Griffin, Boise; lawyer and assistant U. S. prosecuting attorney who aided in the drafting of the fish and game bill calling for a commission form of game management; Clifford E. Fretwell, Ogden, Utah, official of the regulatory bird division of the U. S. geological survey; W. H. McIntyre, state game warden.

Streamlined Hallow'e'n Party Puts New Fun in Old Holiday

BY MARIAN YOUNG
(NEA Service)

NEW YORK — Progressive parties (they're becoming popular again, anyway) lend themselves admirably to modernized, streamlined Hallow'e'n celebrations.

In the first place, the idea itself is ice-breaking. Not even the shyest guest can stand idly by for longer than it takes to finish one course at the first house. By the time he arrives at the doorstep of his second hostess, he'll feel at ease with at least half a dozen other guests — namely those with whom he was jammed into a car or taxi on the trip over.

Secondly, the progressive party one might do her house in which only pumpkins and ghosts for the others. She could dress as a witch herself, substitute witches' peaked hats for all her lampshades, put witches of every size and type on the mantel, and the draperies and the staircase, and use large witch cut-outs for a centerpiece.

Hostess number two (she draws the main course — poor woman) could take Jack-o'-lanterns into her own home, using funny-faced pumpkins, real and artificial, throughout the house. A casserole dish which had been seen in two or three other homes would hold the dish and the upper section forms a cover.

Stuffed peppers look Hallow'e'n-ish if eyes, nose and mouth are cut into the side of each pepper before baking. Curries, squash, yellow turnips, sweet potatoes, corn and yellow tomatoes are natural, of course. Carved faces can be carved on the olives or the baked potatoes.

The hostess who draws the salad course might plan the same kind of apple motif, serving cider and Waldorf salad of unexpected red apples, celery and nuts, and decorating her house with huge bowls and long strings of apples.

Also giving the inevitable bobbing-for-apples tub a prominent place in the room for games.

The black cat course (dessert and coffee) ought to afford imaginative hostess number three plenty of chance to decorate her house attractively and serve a really interesting dessert. She, however, must plan the games. Having run from house to house, eating a course here and another there, the guests will want to play the game, so she should have the house where the last course is served.

Games? Games? — ??? Well, let's see.

Turn About Games

How about playing all the old familiar ones backwards? You know, must be the games they see new and more fun?

Musical chairs minus the chairs

—with the guests scrambling for marked places on the floor — must be an idea. The strings which always have led from the front door to the cellar where the guests of wild shrieks down your neck from far corners, clammy hands clutched at your arms and ghastrly, ghastrly from squinting windows might

Trying to pin the donkey on the tail is even more hilarious fun than the game in its original form.

It doesn't put any great amount of responsibility or extra work on any one hostess. After she has solved the decoration problem, she has only one course to plan and worry about.

Divide Decoration Job

By calling one meeting of the four or five hostesses, the decoration schemes can be figured out fairly simply. Hostess number lead instead — to the attic — well lit with the floor waxed for dancing.

You can't very well reverse the bobbing-for-apples ordeal unless you want to put the host in the tub of water and throw the apples at him. But you can pin the donkey on the tail instead of pinning the tail on the donkey. Or ask the guests to come dressed as an idea rather than in typical, by now hackneyed, Hallow'e'n costumes. Any guests told to come as "the soup is hot" or "Four Power Conference" or "lower utility rates" or "lie to what you make it" ought to have a pretty fair amount of fun before he ever gets to the party.

Chicago Book Raiders Proud Of Mark—But Not This One

CHICAGO, Oct. 21 (AP)—State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney's raiders are large, broad-shouldered and courageous. They have destroyed 445 handbooks since mid-August and are proud of every last one—except one.

They made it just as the last race being run at Hawthorne race track. Detective Daniel Moriarty and his squad found it. And it was all feminine.

Purple curtains draped the windows. There was a dainty powder room, where filmy lamp shades gleamed like stars. It was a place where the patrons were served jelly rolls, tea and soft drinks between races.

Moriarty was stumped. He was used to chasing pot men, including teens and hoodlums. He phoned headquarters and asked about it. "Go ahead," he was told. JAPANESE TANKS FIGHT WAY INTO HEART OF CANTON

DRIVE FROM BAY TAKES INVADERS ONLY NINE DAYS

CANTON, China, Oct. 21 (UP)—Japanese tanks and troops fought their way into the heart of China's greatest commercial center today in a thrust that appeared to have crumbled Chinese military defenses. Chinese authorities fled as their troops dismantled utility plants, factories and military posts in the path of the Japanese advance. Flames and smoke arose from the fallen city.

The swift Japanese drive into Canton, center of British and other commercial interests in China, broke through the reinforced defense lines with startling speed. Only nine days ago the Japanese troops landed at this bay, notorious pirate stronghold 80 miles from Canton, to start an offensive which experts had believed would require many weeks.

Prevent Strong Resistance

But the motorized invading units, led by bombing planes, struck overland and by water with a force that prevented the strong resistance offered by Chinese defense armies in the Yangtze valley and along the Yellow river in the north.

Chinese provincial troops offered slight resistance and the reinforcements ordered to Canton's outer defenses never had a chance to dig in. Artillery and tanks smashed through the last lines this morning.

Leaders Flee to Safety

The Chinese government, headed by Wu Teh-Chen, were reported to have hurried to temporary quarters at Tungguan and the Chinese troops sought to destroy everything of military value as the Japanese arrived.

The power plant was dynamited. The Roman police station was destroyed. A huge fire shot flames into the air directly across the river from Shamen, the foreign section of Canton.

Many thousands of refugees fled from the city, a favorable current aiding many of them to escape in sampans on the west river.

Before and After ...

Succinctly portraying human beings in the grip of war-fright and in a display of delight over sudden peace, these two photos form a striking study in contrasting human emotions. The picture at the top reveals the strained anxiety of a typical London crowd as it waited near No. 10 Downing street during the days of tension in Europe, expecting momentarily to learn the worst. Then, below, is another, and jubilant crowd at the same spot after the news of the four-power Munich peace settlement had reached London.

2 Hunters Remain Lost in Mountains

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 21 (UP)—Two hunters remained lost in Montana's wild mountain country today but searchers who sought them for 48 hours refused to give up hope.

William-Hookins of Belt was missing in the Yogo creek region and Elmer Fred Reed led a posse in search of him.

Elmer J. R. Thompson of Missoula county continued the search for the missing hunters. Fred Reed, who is missing in the Rock creek area, Dorey was an experienced woodsman and his friends believed he still was alive.

WOMEN CALLED TOLL CHEATERS

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 21 (UP)—Women are better cheaters than men, says the word of James E. Fisher for that. He ought to know, for after 45 years of toll collecting on the busy Eads bridge across the Mississippi river, he's "cleared all the Hicks by this time."

Fisher, who is 68 and has just retired—regretfully—suspects that "if all the phony coins that have been handed me were laid end to end they would reach clear across St. Louis.

Fisher can detect a false move by men motorists, he says, for they usually have a guilty gleam in their eye. But he has to be more alert with women.

"They have a tricky little habit of wrapping the coin for an extra fare in their pink toll ticket. After they've gone and I've opened the paper, I'm just as likely to find a piece of chewing gum or a rock."

It was difficult for Fisher to desert a position which enabled him to enjoy two types of travel which always interested him.

"I watched the automobiles roll by the bridge, and I looked down on the steamboats below. There was a candy factory nearby and the smell of fresh horicor was always in the air. The sun was in my face, when there wasn't too much soot, and altogether I had a pretty good time. I sort of hate to see it end."

The speaking program at the high school will start promptly at 11 a. m., and will be completed in one hour, Noble said.

Business matters taken up at last night's session of the Legion showed that the local post now has the largest paid membership for this season of the year in its history. One hundred and twelve members were added to the post during the last night as the 1937-38 membership expired. The figure one year ago was only 18.

Snuff-Chewing Preacher Held For Shooting Wife and Friend

MCLESTER, Okla., Oct. 21 (UP)—A snuff-chewing itinerant preacher wanted for the shooting of his 28-year-old wife and the man who sought to protect her, shot and critically wounded himself today when Sheriff H. H. Sherill and deputies surprised him at a farmhouse where he had gone to ask for breakfast.

So seriously wounded was the preacher that the sheriff thought him dead for half an hour, but he was kept in a hospital here, had wrenched his car early today and attempted to flee eastward on foot, the sheriff said.

Without a word, Sherill said, Bryce raised a pistol to his head and shot himself through the temple.

Wrecked Car

Bryce, sought for the shooting of his wife and Cotton Geter, 32, Democratic nominee for the state legislature, both of whom are in critical condition in a hospital here, had wrenched his car early today and attempted to flee eastward on foot, the sheriff said.

Physicians said there was little hope that Mrs. Bryce, shot three needed than for a rich man to enter the Kingdom of God.

"The Aramaic word for 'camel' is the same as for 'ropes', and this translation makes the passage more intelligible without altering the sense.

Wilson also explained by his translation what he considers is meant by the phrase "publicans and sinners."

"The proper translation of the Greek makes it clear that the phrase means tax-collectors and outcasts," he said. "Jesus who turned tax-collectors for the Romans were regarded as beyond the pale, and ostracized. Since everyone is a sinner, it is obvious that by 'sinners' is meant outcasts."
