How About Registration?

If you aren't correctly registered for Idaho's spirited general election Nov. 8, you have some nine days left in which to qualify yourself for what looms as the hottest voting in years.

Deadline for registration is 9 p. m. Saturday, Nov. 5, County Auditor Frank J. Smith said today.

You need not register provided you are a voter who cast a ballot at the last general election in November of 1936—and provided you still reside in your same precinct. But if you didn't vote in that last general election—or if you have moved into another precinct—your name must be on the registration books for the precinct in which you now reside, Mr. Smith warned.

Have You Moved? If you have moved into another precinct, you cannot register that precinct while your name is still on the books in your old location.

Procedure for those who have moved from one precinct to another, Mr. Smith said, "is very simple and should cause no confusion. The voter merely goes to the registrar in his former precinct and secures a transfer. He then takes that transfer slip to the registrar in his present precinct, where his name is entered on the books there. The whole transaction takes only a few minutes.

State law prohibits registration of any voter in more than one precinct at the same time; hence the fact that a name must be stricken from the books in one precinct before it can be placed on the books in another.

Youngful residents who have come of legal age since the last general election must register if they have not already done so.

GOP ASKS VOTES FOR GAME PLAN

Idaho sportsmen today were in receipt of a letter from Tom Heath, Republican state chairman, which urges non-partisan control of the state fish and game department, according to an announcement here this afternoon by Carl Ritchey, county Republican chairman.

The letter which the sportsmen received reads in part as follows: "Will you, as sportsman and citizen, interested in the future of Idaho's fish and game, endorse this plan by voting for a Republican administration this next November?"

"The Republican party pledges itself to support the pending initiative measure to place the administration of the fish and game department under a non-partisan commission."

Heath declared in the letter that every Republican senator in the last legislature voted for the proposal. There were 11 Republicans in the senate at that time.

U.S. PLEDGES BILLION PER YEAR ARMAMENT PROGRAM

WARMS NATIONS TO "STAY AWAY" FROM THIS AREA

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (UP)—President Roosevelt is pledged today to continue our $1,000,000,000-a-year preparedness armament program as a plan for peace, and to convey a hands-off-the-western-hemisphere warning to non-democratic powers.

He said last night that the United States would use "every endeavor in our power" to enable this hemisphere to work out its own salvation.

The President called no names, but he denounced as fatal to peace national policies based on a reliance on armaments, on fear, on the threat of war or persecution. He spoke in a radio address to the New York Herald Tribune forum on current problems.

Shortly before his address, the state department circulated for release today copies of a plain spoken note to Japan charging repeated violations of American rights in occupied portions of China. The note sought prompt acknowledgement and speedy, effective Japanese action to protect American national rights and American trade.

Peaceful Ideals
Mr. Roosevelt asked "that the peaceful ideals of restraint, negotiation and community of effort prevail within our own borders as well as in our relations with the world."

"The way of democracy," he said, "is free discussion—as exemplified by the objectives of the forum to which I am speaking."

"Free discussion," he said, "is most useful when it is restrained and related to facts. It is not useful to suggest either to the American people or to the peoples of other nations that the American government, its policies, its practices and its servants are corrupted by money, by dishonesty or corruption. To do so is, of necessity, an attack on the American system of constitutional representative government itself."

He reiterated the principle of reciprocal obligations among good neighbors.

Regard for Treaties
"There must be," he explained, "a regard and a respect for the treaties and such policies as changing needs require all made peacefully. That means a due regard for the sanctity of the treaties and a deliberate avoidance of policies which arouse fear and distrust. It means the self-restraint to refuse to breed insecurity and intolerance and thereby weaken the prospect of that economic and moral recovery the world so sadly needs."

Mr. Roosevelt accompanied his pledge to arm with an offer to disarm, but he refused to check American preparedness in return for mere promises from other nations. His speech further indicated that the United States will not accept a general disarmament. "Our interest in disarmament," he said, "is not to disarm ourselves, but to disarm the world. And we are determined to maintain and protect that way of life and that form of government for ourselves. And we are determined to use every endeavor in our power in order that the western hemisphere may work out its own interrelated salvation in the light of its own interrelated experience."

"And we affirm our faith that, whatever choice of way of life a people makes, that choice must not threaten the world with the disaster of war. The impact of such disaster cannot be confined. It releases a flood of evil emotions fatal to civilization. That statement applies not to the western hemisphere alone but to the whole of Europe and Asia and Africa and the islands of the sea."

No Disarmament
Mr. Roosevelt said that the United States had consistently contended that no nation would accept disarmament while neighbors armed and that we will arm unless there is general disarmament. "Ordinary rules of common sense require that, he said, until weapons capable of aggression generally are abandoned."

"We will build," he continued, "that an armament race among nations is absurd unless new territories or new controls are created by some. We are entitled, I think, to greater reassurance than can be given by disarmament."

"The kind of proof which can be given, for example, by actual discussions, leading to actual disarmament. Not otherwise, we believe of the necessity of increasing our own military and naval establishments. For while we refuse to accept a permanent, necessary idea of force, and reject it as an ideal of life, we must be prepared to meet with success any application of force against us."

TRANSCRIPT FOR APPEAL ORDERED

Order directing that a transcript of testimony be prepared within 40 days in the liquor case appeal by two Buhl men had been issued today by Judge T. Bailey Lee, Burley.

The order was directed to Calvin Love, Burley, district court reporter who serves with Judge Lee. That just preceded in Twin Falls at the civil trial for Harry Snoderly and Charles Underwies, operators of the Bavarian beer garden, Buhl.

Snoderly and Underwies filed notice of appeal to the supreme court Saturday. They were the only defendants in three civil cases to fight the charge of selling whisky by the glass. Defendants in two Twin Falls actions are under injunction to comply with state liquor laws on pain of prison.

Patrolting of the Snoderly and Underwies establishment was ordered by Judge Lee last August. His superceded, issued when appeal notice was filed, stayed that action and ordered the sheriff to surrender the premises.

Three criminal liquor actions in Buhl, Twin Falls and Kimberly are also before the supreme court on appeal.

30,000 Sacks of Onions Stored in Wendell Building

WENDELL, Oct. 27 (Special)—The storing of onions marked a milestone here this week when 30,000 sacks of onions were stored in Wendell's new $20,000 Steinberg onion warehouse, yet unfinished, filling the building to two-thirds its capacity. The storing will continue during the remainder of the season.

Construction on the new building is progressing nicely. A two-story business office is being constructed on the first section on the south at the front entrance with a corresponding room on the north being built for a bag room.

Ventilators

Six new louvre ventilators are being installed with four exhaust fans, making it possible to change the air in the building in 20 minutes. Sixties of jacks running the entire length of the building, except for the first section, will be completed soon. Part of the last rack will be finished next year after the insulation for the roof is complete.

The building is being built by the Idaho Sales company with the Wendell Planing Mill doing the construction work under the direction of Harry McCall.

Machines in Fields

In the fields the onions are being sorted and sorted by machine which is pulled by a 12-cylinder tractor, being manned by a crew of 10. The sorter is working day and night with the weather favorable, putting out about 4,000 sacks in a 10-hour shift. This machine saves five handlings of the onions.

The warehouse is the largest of its kind in Idaho and one of the largest in the United States, according to reports here.

ALL YOUR CURIOSITY satisfied by Your Mileage Merchant... Ask him exactly how you're sure of fast winter starting and extreme oil economy by changing now to WINTER OIL-PLATING

Is OIL-PLATING just a different name? ...No. OIL-PLATING is what Conoco Germ Processed oil does! The out-and-out difference is this: OIL-PLATING will stay firmly attached—plated—clear to the topmost point in your engine, while any plain mineral oil drains clear down the crankcase at every stop.

Exactly where is your gain? Well, in starting up again—next day or next month—the coldest OIL-PLATED engine is always oiled in advance...pre-lubricated before any oil down in the crankcase could ever stir. OIL-PLATING thus keeps every engine part constantly slippery. The starter speeds...the battery lives and so does the engine, free of fierce starting friction.

But is there any oil saving? Why?... Because less engine wear puts more miles between quarts. And OIL-PLATING itself never passes out during the use of Germ Processed oil. Only the Germ Process, patented, creates OIL-PLATING, the sensible reason for you to switch to Your Mileage Merchant today.

75,000 TO SEE PIT TANGLE WITH FORDHAM

Statistics Display Ram Advantage; Panthers Favored

By BERNARD J. NILES

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27 (UP)—Two eastern gridiron giants with reputations of devastating power will match their offenses at Pitt stadium Saturday to see who is best at this game of making touchdowns.

A record attendance of 75,000 fans will watch the experiment between Pittsburgh and Fordham and local betting odds are that Pitt will conquer despite an all-around statistical advantage held by Fordham. The teams have played scoreless ties in the last three seasons.

A quick glance at statistics of both teams might convince the unobscuring fan that Fordham has the better scoring machine. But you must delve into the figures before you get the true picture.

Both teams are undefeated although Fordham has been tied (6-6) by Purdue in its four games, the Rams have scored 133 points, only one less than Pitt scored in its five victories this season.

Two Third Team Opponents

But two of Fordham's victories have been against strictly third rate opponents, Upsala and Wrentham. Upsala was snapped (6-0) and Wrentham 53-0. Pitt has played no such weak-liners this season. Their easiest opponent probably was Duquesne, a city rival that was good enough to beat Waynesburg 34-7 in its opening game.

Here are the odd figures to prove that Fordham statistically at least, has it all over Pitt in running the ball, passing and making first downs:

	Passes	Passes	Yards	First
	Attempted	Completed	On Passes	Downs
Fordham (4 games)	1681	33	309	64
Pittsburgh (5 games)	1242	43	12	239

Opponents Better Definitely Also

Definitely, too, Fordham appears to be much better than Pitt, but the figures can't be relied upon because most of the yardsage made against Pitt was against its second and third teams.

Opponents records are:

	Passes	Passes	Yards	First
	Attempted	Completed	On Passes	Downs
Fordham (4 games)	301	28	70	15
Pittsburgh (5 games)	377	81	32	352

Temple and Wisconsin, both of whom scored against Pitt, made more first downs and more yards than Pitt, but they lost by scores of 23-0 and 24-0 respectively. Both scores were made on passes against Pitt's third stringers after the varsity had run up a safe score and retired to the bench.

Methodist's touchdown last week was made against the second team on an end-around play, with the ball well hidden and none of the Panthers knowing where it was until it was too late.

Should Break Deadlock

The Panthers' first team should be able to break the series of three scoreless ties that Pitt and Fordham have played. The backfield of Marshall Goldberg, Dick Cassiano, Harold Stebbins and John Chickerno hasn't been stopped all season.

Stebbins and Cassiano, the best ground gainers, Stebbins, a power-runner, has been on off tackle slants while Cassiano is at his best skirting the ends and on quick take inside the tackle. Goldberg, who does much of the blocking and ball handling at fullback, has gained 260 yards.

Vandals Prepare for Montana Contest

By BILL MCGOWAN

MOSCOW, Idaho, Oct. 27 (UP)—University of Idaho Vandals ran through light signal drills here today before leaving for Missoula, Mont., where they will meet the University of Montana on Saturday.

Despite their 35-0 defeat by UCLA, the shattering of what Coach Tod Bank called a "Rose Bowl pipe dream," and the loss of two players for alleged training rule infractions, the Vandals were in good spirits.

George Chrape, a Bull, Minn., fullback and Frank Reynolds, receiver from Los Angeles, were dismissed from the squad by Bank for what he said was "a bold defiance of training orders."

Chrape's dismissal, he spent most of his time in the water today trying out. Reynolds gave his attention to the Mao Ball and Earl Aubrey sophomore back.

Physical injuries from the UCLA game were limited to light bruises and bumps except for a fractured knee which kept Bill Edmund, reserve tackle, out of scrimmage.

Bank said with "this non-sense" about possible Rose Bowl chances out of mind, the team is in better shape. "Before their defeat," he said, "they considered themselves invincible."

With the exception of the fullback position, no changes were expected in the lineup. With Seal or Ault at full, the rest of the backfield would be composed of Earl Gregory, quarter; Hal Rolso, right half; Ed Wilson, left half.

Gene Forward, halfback, Bank indicated his forward wall would be composed of the same group of veterans who have held down the regular positions all season. This would include Ray Smith and Tony Knap, ends; Dick Trautman, fullback; Ray Kacmarek, tackle; Walt Musial and Jack Donovan, guards; and Rudy Achenbrenner or Loy Smith at center.

An interim game in Montana, game mounted, a large contingent of Idaho students and Vandal followers made plans to see the game. Montana officials said a slice of seats would be reserved for Idaho rooters.

Utahns Tackle Denver U.

SAULT LAKE CITY, Oct. 27 (UP)—Utah's Redskins, making the victory to go into a tie for first place with Brigham Young university in the Basin Athletic League, battled today at Denver U. as the best victory.

Although favored to trip the Redskins, the Utahns were depending to depend on pre-game plans to slide through to a win. Last year they were believed to have the same plan, but they were not. The Redskins have no intention of again being spilled through the hands of the Utahns.

On the exception of Cory, and the Redmond, the Utahns are coached by Coach E. Armstrong in the Basin. Both players have been named and it is not believed they will play Saturday.

Sportsmen Are Urged to Protect Game

Buhl, Oct. 27 (Special)—Declaring that sportsmen of Idaho should appreciate the obligation resting upon them "to conserve and protect" the endowments of the state, some backing of the non-partisan fish and game commission law was urged last night by Frank Griffin, Boise, assistant United States district attorney.

Griffin was principal speaker during the semi-annual banquet of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game Association held in the American Legion hall. More than 215 sportsmen attended the session, first of its kind to be held here. Eight counties were represented in the group.

Stewart Presides

Presiding at the banquet was S. Clark Stewart, Twin Falls, president of the association. Stewart introduced Jack Tynby, Buhl, president of the Idaho Frontier club, who served as toastmaster.

"This matter of conserving and protecting our endowments is a public responsibility of each one of us," Griffin, who aided in framing the non-partisan law, said. "It cannot be shifted to the other fellow. But it is to recognize this responsibility must intensify our efforts toward arousing to immediate action those who consider it imperative."

Earnest Thought

"For long periods of time, the sportsmen of Idaho have given earnest thought to the subject of our fish and game situation. Not until recently has the public interest in the subject. The fact that our people have become conservation minded can be traced to the efforts of the sportsmen's associations. You are reminded of these facts because we shall, at the November election, have an opportunity to vote on a bill designed to rebuild up the fish and game resources of our state. It is highly necessary for us to say that we have been somewhat derelict in the duty we owe the future, and quite unwise in the measure to which we ourselves are entitled."

"It is our duty to replace the fish and game which we and our forefathers have used in periods of ruthlessness, all but exterminated. The performance of this duty will afford us the privilege, and the satisfaction of preserving both the present and the future. It is my humble opinion that these desirable ends can be best attained by establishing a fish and game commission, a commission which shall devote itself to a long-range program of wild life restoration and conservation," the speaker said.

Second Speaker

Second speaker on the program was R. P. Perry, Twin Falls, attorney, who also urged support of the non-partisan bill.

Special features of the banquet included a musical program by the Buhl Kiwanis club quartet; moving picture scenes taken in Idaho and Oregon; a game of Quilder and Pat Rogers of Sun Valley.

Strike Out King

Striking out 17 batters is good enough in any company, but when you face 14 of them in succession in a no-hit victory, you get your picture in the paper. That is what George Book, above, of Nappanee, Ind., high school did against Millersburg high in an upper league game.

Panthers Rated as Nation's No. 1 Collegiate Team

AN ANGELES, Oct. 27 (UP)—Pittsburgh's Panthers today held undisputed first place in the rankings of football statisticians.

The decisive victory over Southern Methodist last week gave Pitt its edge as the leading team in the nation, in the line of football. In second place came Tennessee with Duke and Texas Christian were tied for third. Notre Dame held down the fourth position in the national ranking. Michigan and California, while California and Santa Clara tied for sixth.

Minnesota, dropping from its leading position of previous years, was ranked eighth with Louisiana State and Northwestern tied for ninth. Iowa was 14th and Southern California moved up to 12th place on the basis of its victory over Stanford last week.

Galuto Trains For Next Bout

ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 27 (UP)—Tony Galento, Minnesota heavyweight, in Philadelphia Nov. 14, will box against the Panthers today for the first time since his last fight with strikers with pneumonia last July.

Galento, beer-suzzling Orange native, kept in training to meet Light-Heavyweight Champion John Henry Lewis when pneumonia barred him into an oxygen tent last summer, but his first serious workout yesterday and showed no after-effects of his illness.

Jimmie Johnston Shifted to Half

SEATTLE, Oct. 27 (UP)—Bill Gleason, third-year center, moved up to the left halfback position on the University of Washington today.

As a result of Gleason's injury, Jimmie Johnston will be shifted to right half for the Stanford game on Nov. 6, Coach James Phipps said.

Hunting Penalty

JEROME, Oct. 27 (Special)—Pleading guilty to shooting pheasant from a highway, Neil Griffin and Elsworth Hansen, Pocatello, were fined $25 and $3 costs each as a result of a game warden's action.

PLAY FOR THE KIMBERLY

KIMBERLY, Oct. 27 (Special)—Kimberly Junior high school football team and the invading St. Edwards club played a 6-0 tie on the local field yesterday afternoon.

The two teams will meet in a return game Nov. 10 on the Bickel school field in Twin Falls.

Duck Hunters in Minnesota

Duck hunters in Minnesota about so much led into some of the lakes of the state that ducks were quacking in the water got lead poisoning.

Brownie Now

Myril Hoag, known widely as the gent with the thinnest feet in the major leagues, today had heard the sad news that he had been traded by the world champion New York Yankees to the St. Louis Browns. Others who figured in the deal were third-string catcher Joe Glenn of the Yankees and Oral Hildebrand and Colonel (Buster) Mills of the Browns. No cash was involved.

Emerick's and Schlitz Win Pin Contests

Schlitz bowlers took two out of three games from National Laundry last night and Emerick's won the two league contests.

The Schlitz club was led by Ray Freis who turned in a three-game total of 608, with a second game total of 243—high for the evening.

A. Englund led the losers with a 207 third game for a total of 549.

In the City league game, Sterling with a 520 three-game total led the winners and his second game of 266 was high. Kilborn was top bowler for the losers with 477, while Frank Vosika had high single game with 169.

Strikes to Spare

By FRED STONE

Ray Freis, with 608, topped all of us in the Schlitz-National Laundry meet. Ray got games of 197-235-176. His second game was best single for the evening for either.

Leo McCracken was the only player under the 500 mark and he wasn't far down. Al Puglino with 549 was the best Laundry man and the 207 mark game was their best single. Louis got a 330 total. The Puglino brothers were the only bowlers for the laundry men over the 500 mark. John Ford's 238 is still good for the weekly prize.

Emerick's took the odd game in the City league match with Kimberly. Sterling, with 520, was the hot shot for both teams and his middle game is still top stuff to date in the City league this week. Hagler's 193 has been up Mingo and Plaff alternated in wearing the hand-painted picture of their dog-house. Kilborn with 477 was tops for the Kimberly team and scores plus over Frank Vosika. Again a brother act shared high honors. Frank and John Vosika, who played almost high single game. Emerick's 2350 is high to date for the free bowling next week.

COACH REPLACED

SEAN BREWSTER, Oct. 27 (UP)—Idaho's coach, the former University of Montana football and coach star, was replaced as head football coach at St. Edwards Junior college today by Leo Esau, former University of California quarterback. Sweet remains in charge of the college track and field squad.

Baseball Meet Set at Boise Sun., Oct. 30

Word had been received here today by John B. Robertson of the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce that the next meeting of the Pioneer Baseball League will be held at Boise on Sunday, Oct. 30. The announcement was made by Jack Hiltwell, Pocatello, president of the league.

Previously the meeting had been postponed from this week-end to Nov. 12 and 13, but a telegram from Hiltwell late yesterday afternoon asked acceptance of the Sunday date and was accepted by the local franchise holders. Hal Wood, Evening Times sports editor, will represent Twin Falls at the meeting, for the Junior Chamber.

Big League Representatives

Included at the gathering will be representatives of the St. Louis Cardinals, the Cincinnati Reds, Boston Red Sox and members of organizations from Pocatello, Boise and Lewiston.

It was thought that Salt Lake City would have a representative at the meeting, but it is expected that the San Diego application for the franchise, due to the death of Bill Lane, veteran baseball operator.

However, no trouble was anticipated in finding an operator for that franchise as it appears the most lucrative in the new set-up. Dave Freed, who also bid for the spot in the league at one time, is reported to have withdrawn his offer.

Salt Lake Next

After the completion of arrangements at Boise, it is expected that a future meeting will be set for Salt Lake at which time final plans for the opening of the professional loop in the spring of 1939 will be completed. Some sort of major league backing for every team in the league is expected except at Lewiston where none is expected.

Negotiations are going forward here with Earl Sheely of the Boston Red Sox, and it is probable that something definite may be reached when Sheely talks with the local representative at the meeting.

Work on the new park here, under WPA supervision, is expected to get under way in the very near future, according to Mr. Robertson.

Vacation for Ball Players in Slump? Oh Sure, Says Mac Sarcastically

Arm is Mended

Hal Schumacher has good reason to be all smiles as he recuperates in a Memphis hospital, where a "loose body" was removed from his pitching arm. The operation, similar to that performed several weeks ago on his teammate, Carl Hubbell, is expected to permit the New York Giant star right-hander to hurt without pain next spring. Surgeon Chandler and Wes Ferrell of the Yankees are other major league pitchers who have had arm trouble corrected by surgery since the close of the season.

LAST WORKOUT

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27 (UP)—The UCLA Bruins go through their last workout today in preparation for the homecoming game Saturday against Stanford. Following the workout, the squad will retire to a hotel outside the city to await the game.

same time the Phillies wouldn't have enough men left to play one-eyed cat, much less baseball.

These vacations will say so, but I suppose it is all right to assume that the worse the slump, the longer the trip. Suppose the Cubs General manager, who has called the world series, where would they have sent Carl Reynolds? Nothing about a round-the-world cruise, with a 10-day stop off at Gibraltar, would have cured him.

I am also inclined to believe that when the bad weather came along, and the double-headed had piled up the thought of a quiet canoe trip down the cool and rippling St. Lawrence on a North Cape cruise, might bring on some deliberate slumps. All a fellow would have to do to earn one of these would be to take a few called third strikes, drop a few files, or ease up on his fact ball.

Or am I intimating that baseball players, unlike Caesar's wife, are not above reproach? If I am, it is time to quit.

Tony Wins Tune-Up Bout

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Oct. 27 (UP)—Tony Canzoneri, who once held the featherweight and lightweight championships, said today he needed seven or eight more tuneup bouts to regain championship form despite his first victory in a comeback campaign.

Tony scored an eight-round decision over Howard (Cobby) Scott of Washington, D. C. last night before 2,000 fans here.

Canzoneri, who will celebrate his 30th birthday Nov. 6, will meet an unnamed opponent next Tuesday at Camden, N. J., his manager, Sammy Goldman, said.

Max Baer Scores 1st Round K. O. In Honolulu Bout

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 27 (UP)—Max Baer, the former world's heavyweight champion, got his first round knockout over Hans Hankinson.

Baer polished off the veteran Hankinson in the first 48 seconds of their scheduled 10-round bout at an Elks' benefit card here last night.

WSC Cougars Work On Gonzaga Plays

PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 27 (UP)—Pullback Rex Blatz, who has been out with injuries, returned to the Washington State football squad today. His return shifted Chub Holmes to blocking half.

The Cougars currently are working on their passing attack in preparation for Saturday's game against Gonzaga.

NAVY DAY TALK URGES PREPARING 'RIGHT NOW'

Pointing out the need for an adequate Navy for the United States, and why such a navy is needed "right now," J. Edward Warner, officer of the American Legion and an officer in the United States Navy, this morning gave an address which highlighted observation of Navy day in Twin Falls.

Warner spoke over KFTI on the topic, "Why We Need a Navy Second to None."

Immediately after the World war we had the mightiest navy in the world," Warner said, "but to emphasize that we had the mightiest navy for reduction and limitation of armaments we began, in 1922, our unilateral disarmament by sinking many of our battleships and our capital ships in a futile effort to get other nations to follow our example. In consequence, our sea power gradually declined and we are today in a position to be outmanned by modern, up-to-date fighting machines. Construction of such replacements should begin now.

"The United States must build a navy even if appropriated for, cannot possibly be launched prior to 1941 or 1942, and could not be completed in the time reason we must go to work now," Warner concluded.

Many Obstacles

"The people of the United States must remember that when we talk of building two, five or a dozen battleships it does not mean that number of ships. It means that we have seven of our present 15 are reaching that age of obsolescence that they must be replaced. We are commissioned or relegated to second line of duty. Being out-moded they cannot much longer remain in the United States Navy. We have modern, up-to-date fighting machines. Construction of such replacements should begin now.

"The United States must build a navy even if appropriated for, cannot possibly be launched prior to 1941 or 1942, and could not be completed in the time reason we must go to work now," Warner concluded.

"Due to increasing world unrest and the increasing armaments race, in 1933 our patriotic citizens became conscious of our naval needs and their increasing interest was soon reflected in the passage of the Vinson-Trammell bill.

Still Unprepared

"This authorized the building of a fleet which would be a real strength. Since then many things have happened in the international field regarding which we are all familiar. It is a deep and anxious concern, for our state in the world must be protected at all times."

HEALTH OFFICIAL LAUDS DAIRYMEN

Officials of the district health unit, through its director, Dr. Robert Stump, this afternoon lauded local dairymen for their efforts to do more to improve their milk production.

"Twin Falls has a good ordinance, under which the grade of milk is getting better than the best grade of milk," Dr. Stump said. "The recent re-grading represents nothing more than a proper application of the ordinance and hence is no more than the public has a right to expect, since they are paying for the milk."

The work of Dr. E. H. Price, city meat and dairy inspector, in correcting defective dairies brought praise from Dr. Stump.

"The city is fortunate in having such an experienced man to enforce the ordinance," Dr. Stump said. "His work in enforcing the ordinance is a credit to the community."

Dr. Stump said that "any and all dairymen who are not up to the standard should go to Dr. Price, where it rightfully belongs."

Price recently completed the re-grading of all dairies in the area. Dairymen serving Twin Falls. Some dairies and one producer have corrected their dairies and received equipment or dairies and as a result have seen their grade of milk go from D, which is for cooking purposes, to A, which is for drinking purposes. Other dairymen, when applying for another license to distribute in the city, had his application rejected because of alleged insanitary conditions.

CARVER STUMPS FOR C. BEN ROSS

BOISE, Ida., Oct. 27 (Special)—The District Attorney John Carver, under the political picture today to stump for C. Ben Ross, Democratic candidate for Governor of Idaho, Carver, who unsuccessfully ran against Ross in the 1936 primary election for nomination as U. S. senator, today announced that he is a supporter of C. Ben Ross as the "best governor the state of Idaho has ever had."

"He is seeking election as governor squarely on his record during the six years he held that office," Carver told a rally at Parma.

Enforced Laws of State

Carver said Ross "had enforced the laws of the state in the interest of the people as a whole and without the application of the state's resources."

"The Republican party of Idaho," said Carver, "or what is left of it, is devoid of leadership; it is without a program and is without a future."

Elsewhere on the political front, Eugene Anderson, Boise attorney, told a Republican rally at Star that "a man too long in the office of governor becomes autocratic." He said it would not be "good governmental policy" to elect Frank Ross.

Need Businessman

In Boise, Tom Heath, chairman of the Republican central committee, today allegedly deflected questions under the "C. Ben Ross regime" in the highway department.

"One of the most vicious," he said, "was the 10 percent of the state's income tax."

At Shoshone, Secretary of State Ira Masters said that the most important thing before the voters in Idaho is the question of selecting a thorough-going business man of experience to the office of governor.

"Ben Ross is a man of such experience," he said.

In Preston, C. A. Bottolfsen, Republican candidate for governor, today said he would like to see the automobile license fee to a flat five dollars. "I'll also clean that statehouse from cellar to garret," he said.

Boyd Outlines Bourbon Aims

HALLEY, Oct. 27 (Special)—Before an enthusiastic crowd of more than 100 persons at Grande Hall here this week, Paul B. Boyd, Twin Falls attorney and president of the Idaho State Young Democrats, outlined the aims and aims of the Democratic party.

Calling attention to the federal income tax, the trade union, the social security and other governmental activities, Boyd pointed out that the Republicans were not the party of the farmer and the small business man. He said that these federal institutions which have proven a success, and which have been accepted by the people.

"But the Republicans are trying to work out a solution for the farm problem."

"You have to elect men who can be heard at Washington," he said. "In conclusion, 'What chance would a minor member of a minority party have of doing anything for Idaho, unless supporting a Republican who was elected from this state?'"

BUTTER SURPLUS HURTS IDAHOANS

BOISE, Ida., Oct. 27 (Special)—H. G. Myers, president of the Idaho State Dairymen's association, said today that the surplus of butter in the United States is a serious economic setback because a market could be found for surplus butter and a denormalized price applied inevitable reduces the price of butter.

Myers announced a nation-wide campaign through food chains to help melt the surplus "fat cheese."

Ketchum's Drum Corps to Appear

KETCHUM, Oct. 27 (Special)—The newly organized Junior drum corps of the David Ketchum post of the American Legion will make its first public appearance Armistice day, Monday, Nov. 11, at 8 o'clock, at the Ketchum school building. The drum corps, consisting of 12 members, is under the leadership of Paul Auer, auxiliary officer of the post. Equipment, uniforms and other necessities were secured in September, consists of 1011 worth of drums, cymbals, batons, and bugles.

According to Auer, the Ketchum Legion will hold Armistice day morning services in the Sun Valley Opera House to which all members of the post are invited. The program will be in charge of Norman Wagoner, post commander.
