Hull Asks Military Cooperation for 21 Nations at Meeting

By HOBART C. MONTREE
LIMA, Peru, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull today called upon the 21 American republics to join in military and political cooperation to smash the aggressive ambition of possible enemy combinations and frustrate attempts to plant foreign political ideologies in the western hemisphere.

He said each nation must decide for itself what it should contribute to the common interest and responsibility of all in this respect. At the same time he warned the world that the United States, for its part, will develop military and naval forces capable of meeting the armed challenge of any nation.

Attacks Intolerance
Addressing the second-day session of the eighth Pan-American conference, Hull sharply attacked intolerance and undemocratic procedure in certain European countries and said their "ominous shadow" has been cast across the western hemisphere. He did not specify any nation by name as had been suggested as a possibility.

To combat these forces, he said, the American nations must work unrelentingly for the "assertion of human rights and the creation and maintenance of free popular government."

"Each and all of us desire passionately to live at peace with every nation in the world," he declared, "but there must not be a shadow of a doubt anywhere as to the determination of the American nations to permit the invasion of this hemisphere by the armed forces of any power or any possible combination of powers."

Must Decide
"Each of our nations obviously must decide for itself what measures it should take in order to meet its share of our common interest and responsibility in this respect."

"As far as my country is concerned, let no one doubt for a moment that, so long as the possibility of armed challenge exists, the United States will maintain adequate defensive military, naval and air establishments."

He stressed that the result of a conference by other nations, the world is confronted by the alternatives "of freedom or serfdom, of order or anarchy, of progress or stagnation, of civilization or barbarism."

Ending Intolerance
He said the Pan-American conference must carry forward the work of building an enduring structure of peace and friendship among the nations within the power of the American nations to furnish a conclusive demonstration that peace, based on justice, law and cooperative effort, is feasible.

He urged the conference to devote "sincere efforts" to the means of strengthening the foundations of international law which, he said, have been undermined and impaired in many parts of the world.

Of equal importance, he said, was the necessity of extending and making more secure the bases of sound and healthy international economic relations.

BOOST SEEN FOR IDAHO'S INCOME
BOISE, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Idaho farm income will be the highest there has been in the "bad" year of 1938, University of Idaho extension economist Ezra T. Benson and Karl Holman predicted today.

The two economists have a joint record of accuracy in their monthly estimates and are considered authorities on long-range agricultural forecasts. They predicted in 1937 the hog in 1938 farm prices.

The Idaho farm income for 1938 will be the highest since 1929, between the $100,000,000 total of 1937 and the $70,000,000 in 1938, they said.

Prices for finished goods, livestock and raw materials are expected to be higher next year. Increased industrial activity should be a factor in higher prices of raw materials, they said. More active building and public works construction might bring increased prices for building materials.

Nine are Saved from Grounded Freighter
CHILMARK, Mass., Dec. 10 (U.P.)—The captain and eight crew members were rescued Saturday after being adrift for an hour after the Boston trader Andover grounded on Nauset beach in dense fog early today. The rolling and heaving launched life raft boats, so the coast guardmen about a line grounded the grounded vessel.

EDEN HOPES TO GET U. S. VIEWS ON DEMOCRACIES

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Anthony Eden, who resigned as British foreign minister because of his government's policy of "dealing with dictators," disclosed today that he was visiting the United States to listen and learn the American viewpoint on perils to European democracy.

He said that Great Britain was acutely conscious of its own perils and was resolved to stand firm. Today, he and Mrs. Eden will see the Senate and tonight they will look over some American night clubs.

He addressed the annual dinner of the National Association of Manufacturers last night.

Prescribes No U. S. Course
It was his first public appearance in the United States where his great-great-grandfather, Robert Eden, had presided at the colonial convention of Maryland before the American revolution. His defense of democratic rights and principles was spirited. He discussed the English-American relationship.

Jury Recommends Life Term After Deliberating Eight Hours

Sentencing Set For Wednesday

By O. A. KELKER
Duncan McD. Johnston, former mayor of Twin Falls, ex-soldier and jeweler, today was found guilty of murder in the first degree in connection with the killing of George L. Olson, a Salt Lake City jewelry salesman termed by Johnston as an "intimate friend."

Life sentence was recommended and Judge James W. Porter set Wednesday, Dec. 14, at 10 a. m., as the time for passing of sentence.

A jury of 12 men, 11 of them farmers, filed into the district court room here at 12:24 a. m. today. It was exactly eight hours and four minutes from the time (4:20 p. m. Friday) when the case was handed to them.

The jury members were seated and the jury polled. Judge Porter addressed them, saying: "Gentlemen of the jury, have you reached a verdict in this case?"

A. E. Kils, Bull, a retired farmer and former county commissioner, arose. He had been selected as foreman. In a clear voice he said "We have, your honor."

Judge Porter then directed that the verdict be given to the court. The judge glanced at the jury's findings and then the verdict was handed to Paul Gordon and was recorded, this took two minutes. The court room was unusually quiet as the more than 50 spectators, as well as those directly connected with the case, waited.

MILK
SEATTLE, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—The crew of the S. S. Cordova had better like milk.

They sail today for Alaska with 50 tons for the government's Mantanuska colony dairy herd at Palmer. The cows are expected to give at least 50 gallons a day.

The cook planned to use all of it.

INNOFORTUNE
SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Ernest La Rue, 25, police said today, chose the most inopportune time to have his wife's car wrecked.

More than 1,500 men were attending meetings in nearby rooms. Paul Kracht, clerk of the council, which frequently has large sums of money on hand to cash members' checks, was shot in the leg. He knocked the bandit down. Other members, hearing the shot, stormed into the office and captured the robber.

TRAIN DERAILED
DEFIANCE, O., Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Ten cars of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad's Fort Pitt limited, eastbound from Chicago to Pittsburgh, derailed from the rails east of here early today, throwing scores of sleeping passengers from their berths. Three were treated in the Defiance hospital. Several coaches were overturned.

Johnston Emotionless
Gordon stood up and started to read. The defendant Johnston looked straight ahead. He showed no emotion. It was exactly 12:27 a. m. . . we find the defendant, Duncan McD. Johnston, guilty of murder in the first degree. Gordon read. . . and recommend that he be committed to the state prison for life.

The jury was then polled and as Gordon asked each one "is that your verdict?" each in his turn answered "Yes."

Through all this Johnston had not moved. He sat looking straight ahead. With him was E. V. Larson, defense co-counsel. His other attorney, E. L. Rayburn, had become ill during the last day of the trial Friday and was not present.

COMMENT

Comments expressing satisfaction with the district court verdict of life imprisonment for Duncan McD. Johnston—and opposite comment condemning the verdict—were made here this afternoon in statements to the Evening Times.

At the same time Mrs. Virginia Johnston, wife of the defendant, said she "had nothing to say" at this time. She was at her home.

D. McClain, prominent Denver attorney and brother-in-law of Johnston, said he was sure the defendant would be proven innocent of the crime with which he is charged.

"I am surprised and shocked at the verdict," Mr. McClain said. "Duncan Johnston is absolutely innocent of this charge and I know Mr. Johnston will be exonerated before the matter is settled."

"This is the greatest miscarriage of justice that has ever occurred in this state."

Statements given by those connected with the prosecution followed.

Edward Babcock, prosecutor: "The verdict was rendered by fearless citizens of this county and shows that regardless of rank or standing wrongdoers have no place in this community."

Lauds Police Department
"The police department and the sheriff's office are to be highly commended in digging out the evidence in this case."

"I feel this verdict is a victory for the state," said Sheriff Gordon.

Howard Gillette, chief of police: "I feel that justice has been partially done. One of two men guilty of this crime has been convicted."

"At this time I want to thank the public for its cooperation in this matter. The jury in this case is to be commended for its courage in assuming responsibility."

Won't Bring Husband Back
Mrs. Lois Olson, widow of the slain man: "The verdict, of course, will never bring my husband or the father of my children."

"My heartfelt sympathy goes out to Mrs. Johnston and her son."

Johnston's mother, the mother of the slain man: "I have lost my boy and nothing we can do will ever return him to me."

Wayne Decker, owner of the Decker Jewelry company of Salt Lake City: "I'm glad the whole case is over."

THOUSANDS HEAR LAGUARDIA TALK
NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia's citizens rally against oppression packed Madison square garden today. The speaker, who addressed 4,000 persons last night and kept 7,000 others standing outside, listening to speeches over loud speakers and applauding with a din heard for blocks.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, William F. Dodd, former ambassador to Germany, and Rev. Fulton J. Sheen, theology professor at Catholic university, Washington, D. C., were among the speakers who denounced anti-Semitism and anti-Christianity in Europe as well as in America.

"The mayor, speaking, explained that the meeting was to 'express sorrow and sympathy with the victims of oppression in Central Europe.' Five detectives were conspicuous inside the hall. The mayor had received a letter two days before threatening his life for his attacks on Nazis.

"Liberty-loving people naturally are confused in the conditions they see," the mayor said. "It is difficult to understand. It is not only a new form of government gone mad; it is not a political riot; it is not an economic revolution. The world today is protesting against a mental disease."

FATHER IS SLAIN BY FURIOUS SON

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Richard Beichert, 20, shot and killed his father William Beichert, 58, today, then called surrendered to police, saying "I did it because he mercilessly beat my mother."

Mrs. Beichert, her skull smashed, also from her husband's blows, was in community hospital at San Mateo, in a critical condition.

The alleged beating and subsequent shooting occurred in the Beichert home, North Fair Oaks, a small unincorporated area just south of Redwood City.

Richard is employed as clerk in a Redwood City store. Following the shooting he walked to a neighbor's home, gave up his pistol, and waited until police arrived and arrested him.

"When I saw mother's condition," he said, as quoted by deputies, "I became frantic with rage. I drove to a friend's home, got a pistol and telephoned for an ambulance for my mother."

Returning, I saw my father leave the house. I drove after him and shot him."

Norma Shearer, Sons TO VISIT SUN VALLEY
SUN VALLEY, Dec. 10 (Special)—Norma Shearer, famed movie star, will visit the Valley Dec. 21 for the Christmas holidays and will bring her two young sons and a party of several numbers.

What a more, the two young sons will take special skiing lessons. The oldest son, Irving, is ten months older than the other eight years younger.

Miss Shearer has engaged a suite of six rooms at Sun Valley for the holidays. Her reservations include a stay through New Year's.

The resort manager, Norma Shearer, started the ball rolling for visits of noted film stars and other celebrities. Motion picture production firms who have private ski resorts, mostly at the lodge, include Clinger Rogers, Robert Montgomery, David Niven and Gary Cooper.

Irving was tentative, and was made on provision that he can get away from the Hollywood studios long enough to try some skiing.

Other film stars and scores of celebrities prominent in social ranks and in business are expected to be here for the holiday celebration. The lodge formally opens Dec. 23, and colorful Christmas eve entertainment has already been arranged.

Thespians Pull No Punches In Dramatic Dictator Play

By MUREL SCOTT That Twin Falls high school dramatic pull no punches was ably demonstrated again last evening as the second performance of the senior class drama, "I Can't Happen Here," was presented for the last time on the high school auditorium stage.

Realistic action in the slugging, beating, and slapping scenes brought red veils to the faces and bodies of many of the students. The rough and tumble scenes were entered into so enthusiastically by the players that large floor lamp was destroyed and at one time the background scenery was in danger of falling.

Audience Applauds The audience last evening echoed the sentiments of those attending the first showing in the approbation of the American ideals set forth in the hypothetical case of a dictatorship.

John Smith, portraying the leading character of Doremus Jessup, turned in a convincing performance as the editor who is finally aroused to a conception of his duty as a "guardian of the truth."

Betty Painter and Mary Greenfield, daughter of Jessup and wife of the doctor, Fowler Greenfield, interpreted the thoughts and actions of an American woman roused to action. Wilton Horvack, playing the role of Dr. Greenhill, enacted the part for his utmost as the doctor more interested in his work than politics.

Scores Again Donis Peterson, Clarence Tubbs the druggist, scored again in his part as the visionary, Richard Sweet, 8-year-old third grader, again captivated the audience as David, the grandson of the editor and son of Mary and Dr. Greenhill.

The social editor with a New England conscience, who tried to arouse the editor before it was too late but stuck through all adversity, was brought to the audience by Gladys McKee.

Bill Moon as Shad Leduc was most convincing as the rough neck backwoodsman playing soldier, and whose innate cowardice and meanness could not be disguised by authority.

Capable Performances Mary Wright as the slightly woman politician, Adelaide T. Gimnich, played the part to perfection. A fine interpretation of the elderly Vermont couple, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Veeder, was given by Annabel Rudolph and Gerald McFriede.

DALADIER WINS NARROW VICTORY

PARIS, Dec. 10 (AP)—Premier Edouard Daladier won a narrow and temporary victory in the chamber of deputies early today when he was given a vote of confidence by 315 votes to 241, with 53 deputies abstaining.

The vote was on the general policy of the government. It had been expected that Daladier would win it. But in doing so he failed to rally any permanent majority committed to his support to replace the socialists and Communists who now are in opposition after two years of the popular front.

Conservatives and nationalists who voted for Daladier made it plain that they do not commit themselves to the future, and that their votes would depend on the individual issues involved.

The climax of the chamber debate was angry. Only the intervention of neutral deputies prevented a free for all fight between Socialists and nationalists because the nationalists persisted in interrupting Leon Blum, Socialist leader.

POT SHOTS WITH The Gentleman in the Third Row

Old-Fashioned Patriotism

A small-town business man sat him down the other day and tried to figure out why America is distracted and beset by its current plague of ills.

"When I was a kid (so, these many years ago)," he wrote, "going to school we daily saluted the flag and every morning before studies we sang 'My Country 'Tis of Thee.'"

"Then there developed a laxness in these patriotic teachings... Perhaps the broadening of the curriculum over the past 20 years to better equip the children to earn a living on leaving school crowded out some of our teaching of patriotism.

The old-fashioned schoolhouse has come in for a lot of criticism lately. It was unscientific and slipshod, stuffed its pupils' minds with facts instead of teaching them how to think.

For there is more to patriotism than blind loyalty. It is based on an understanding that there is something unspeakably precious wrapped up in the American dream; something that men have struggled hard for and died for unhesitatingly.

And a person who has that understanding will insist that today's problems be solved in such a way that those priceless elements in the American heritage are not destroyed or weakened.

A good deal has been said about our need for "getting down to fundamentals." Is one hopelessly old-fashioned to suggest that one of those fundamentals is simple, straightforward patriotism?

The Supreme Court of the United States is the most dignified body in the U. S. Nowhere in the 48 states is there a group which approaches the exalted honor of nine men as they sit upon the bench of the highest court in the land.

In a barn at Montclair, N. J., graduates of Yale gathered to do honor to Justice Stanley Reed by awarding him a silver bowl. He has made his "Y" in life, although he failed to make it in sport at college.

Such a ceremony in dictator countries would require at least a crowd of 100,000 spectators and would last for not less than a two-hour speech on ideology.

But in America, old friends gather in a clean swept barn, paper hats are put on, the years fall away and the judge of the highest court mingles with his commons exactly as he did on the campus years ago.

But in America, old friends gather in a clean swept barn, paper hats are put on, the years fall away and the judge of the highest court mingles with his commons exactly as he did on the campus years ago.

SERIAL STORY LOVERS AWEIGH BY BETTY WALLACE

"That might have blown over," he said thoughtfully, as if he were speaking his thoughts aloud, "but you've got to be careful. We might still have made a go of it if it weren't for all her money. My wife and I thought money was a fine thing. She wanted to buy Paris clothes, travel in the most luxurious way. Whenever I said I couldn't afford a dress, she'd say, 'You've got to be a man, she always dumped back at I couldn't stop her from spending her money. She was used to running around in Paris. I thought it was a nice thing to do. I thought it was a nice thing to do. I thought it was a nice thing to do."

HER own eyes dropped before his. "Yes, it is," she said in a low voice. "You're not hurt. I treated you terribly. But I know that before I told you about her, you must have thought I—[I—]—careless. Oh, it must be true! You were so white about it. So brave and clean! You're a thoroughbred. Her heart was close to hers, his arms around me. You're so sure I've cried over her. Let me tell you something else you don't know! Now she was triumphant, glad to be back with me. Her pride was hurt. I was a fool. I—I didn't realize that. But I—I was so blind."

DWIGHT was saying, "I couldn't make Marvel see it my way, Judy. She kept insisting that she must be allowed to keep her old friends. They understood her. She hated them! She said she hated the Navy! And I always knew I couldn't help seeing—that in Marvel's old crowd a little phrasing wouldn't matter. They expect it. It's the only fun they have! None of them work—more money than they know what to do with. My friends were impossible. Why, Judy, that party on Carey Tennant's yacht was—"

"I wish to draw your attention to the fact that there is an error. In the first place, I was not in the city the last Thursday in November, never in December, and in the second place, I am 30 years ago. A newspaper should be punctual as well as accurate, haven't you heard, Poi?"

John T. Flynn Says—

(With a successor to the late Rodney Ditcher is named, the country of John Flynn's politics and certain laws in the U. S. of "Behind the Scenes" in Washington.)

By JOHN T. FLYNN (NEA Service) NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (NEA)—A simple sentence in a newspaper dispatch from Italy, unobserved by anyone whom I have spoken, called me one of the most staid scraps of news that has come over the cable in some time.

Mr. Editor: Mr. Schozman is right! These stories about Jew killings in Germany are no doubt on the same level with the wartime atrocity stories, which were admittedly all manufactured by the English to raise the price of their munitions.

Immediatly Italy had two governing groups functioning under the charter. One was the chamber of deputies elected by geographical districts which made the laws governing the country.

56,000 TO SEE CLASH FOR PRO GRID TITLE HUTCHINSON REPORTED SOLD TO PIRATES FOR $50,000

Packers Meet Giants in N. Y. Battle

By HENRY SUPER
NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—The "world series" of professional football, always a high scoring affair, seems likely to stay in character tomorrow when the New York Giants, eastern champions, battle the Green Bay Packers, western titleholders, in the sixth annual playoff game. Some 56,000 will see the game.

The Giants and the Packers are the two best scoring teams in the National League. Green Bay has scored 223 points, a new league record, and New York 194 points.

Varied Attacks
Both teams varied attacks, combining the ultimate in passing and running. On the ground the Packers have outgained the Giants, 1,871 yards to 1,550, and also had a slight edge in passing, 1,440 yards to 1,142. The Giants, however, do not pass as often as the Packers. They have a better average—49.9 per cent, a new league record.

Four touchdowns are the least that ever have been made in a playoff game. In 1933 the Chicago Bears scored the Giants, 23-11. The next year the Giants won from the Bears, 26-15. Detroit overcame the Giants, 26-7, in 1935. Green Bay outscored the Boston Redskins the next year, 21-14.

Last year the Washington Redskins rode Sammy Baugh's passes to a 26-21 triumph over the Bears.

Best Packers
Although the Giants beat the Packers, 15-3, on Nov. 30, the gamblers rated tomorrow's game a toss-up. The reason is that Don Hutson, the Packers' star end, is back in shape. He didn't play in the other Giant game, this year. In the Bears game, Hutson caught 32 passes for 546 yards gained and scored 54 points.

The Packers' star game backfield in the last Giant game and there were indications from Coach Curley Lambeau's headquarters that Green Bay's forces into the air will be more wisely conceived this time. The Giants intercepted five of Green Bay's 21 passes, and scored one of them into a touchdown.

The Giants are banking heavily on their superb defense to shake Green Bay's attack. They have led the season the Giants led the league in three important defensive departments—allowed least opponents' yards, 202; best pass defense, permitting only 34 per cent of the opposition's passes to be completed.

Mel Hein Wins Most Valuable Player Award
NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (U.P.)—Mel Hein, New York center and former star at Wake Forest, today was named the most valuable player in the National Professional Football League.

It was the first time Hein had received the honor since he joined the pro league after his graduation in 1925 from the Green Bay Packers game tomorrow for the league championship he will receive the O'Brien award of merit from Joe Leggett, president, Earl D. Clark, Detroit coach and quarterback, won the trophy last year.

The jury which picked Hein was composed of Harry Egan, Detroit Press sports editor; H. C. Salinger, Detroit News; Warren Powell, Washington Post; Shelby Brown, Chicago Herald and Exponent; Cleveland News; and Lawton Carter, International News Service.

Fairfield Wins Double-Header
FAIRFIELD, Dec. 10 (Special)—The Patriots of Fairfield opened their season here last evening by defeating the Invaders, 15-6. The Patriots won the first game by a score of 26 to 16. The game was the second of the evening as the local girls won over the local Invaders by a score of 20 to 10.

The first half of the boys' game was evenly matched, with the count at the mid-way mark being even. But the under-the-basket work the second half gave the locals the edge and the final score was 20-10.

Split 2 Games
WAZLETON, Dec. 10 (Special)—The local girls split a double-header here last night.

Meeting Set Tuesday for Fish, Game Commission

South Idaho Approves George Booth Choice

South central Idaho sportsmen today looked on the handiwork of Lieut. Gov. Charles C. Gossett in naming the sportsmen's unit as a commission—and found it good.

Sportsmen from this area expressed high approval for the choice of George E. Booth, Burley, as the commission's director. Booth is a member with A. R. Howell, Idaho Falls; Stanley Easton, Kellogg; Walter Pincus, Pocatello; and W. W. Hawley, Boise.

Six years for Booth was named to six-year terms; Mr. Easton, two years; Mr. Hawley and Mr. Pincus, four years.

The non-partisan commission shows a lineup of Elston and Hawley, Republicans; Pincus, Howell and Booth, Democrats. Easton is a former member of the Idaho World's Fair committee and a former member of the state board of education. Pincus is a farmer and deputy clerk of Harco Electric Co. Hawley is a farmer and livestock specialist; Howell is a farmer; Booth is a rancher and Union Pacific agent.

Announcement that the Burley man had been chosen as the south central representative on the board that is changing the sportsmen's unit drew full pledges of cooperation from sportsmen's organizations in this area.

Booth Choice
H. Claude Stewart, president of the Southern Idaho Fish and Game Association, Hal Wallington, former director in the Idaho Wildlife Federation; Milton L. Powell, Twin Falls, also a director in that unit; Charles Buller, a director in the Frontier club; and N. D. Hogg, president of the B. club of foresters, were elected a major, fire chief, and dog catcher.

Just about the time last year I wrote a story along these same lines, but the Hollywood motorists shrugged their shoulders, said "let the state get out of its own back" and went on ignoring the legal limit of pedestrians.

Every driver is entitled to five pedestrians a year, and there is no stigma attached to hitting one while they are standing still. This is the only town I have ever been in where it is considered sporting to flush a pedestrian off the sidewalk.

Laundry and Hotel Bowlers Win Games

Led by Walt Riggert, who went over the 600 mark, the National Laundry took the best of three games from the Segs Milk team of Bowling in the Commercial League built team last night.

In the City loop, Perrine Hotel took the same decision from Twin Falls Flour Mill.

High single score for the evening went Ken Kitcher of the Laundry crew, who had a 236. He led the losers with a three-game series of 184-226-192-603.

In the City loop, H. Hartfelder led the Perrine crew with a three-game total of 542. High individual score went to Fisher of the Flour team with a 193 his third game.
