CHURCHES CELEBRATE BIRTHDAY OF PRINCE OF PEACE

SOUTHERN IDAHO WORSHIPPERS TO ATTEND SERVICES

Twin Falls and southern Idaho will mark tomorrow one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight years to Bethlehem in Judah, where the Son of God was born in a stable, wrapped in swaddling clothes and laid in a manger because there was no place for him in the habitations of men.

...And a Babe was Born In a Manger...

Now in the sixth month the Angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth, to a virgin betrothed to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary, and she came into her, and said, Hail, thou that art highly favored, the Lord is with thee. But she was greatly troubled at the saying, and cast in her mind what manner of salutation this might be. And the Angel said unto her, Fear not, Mary; for thou hast found favor with God, and thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name JESUS. He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of God. And behold, Elizabeth thy kinswoman, she also hath conceived a son in her old age; and this is the sixth month with her that was called barren. For no word from God shall be void of power.

Christmas Will Survive Adversity

The outlook for peace on earth and for good will toward men is probably darker this Christmas than on any Christmas since the end of the World War. No one needs to be reminded that the world is moving rapidly in the direction of a new war, that bitter fighting rages in Spain and China, and that the very opposite of good will is enshrined as a fundamental principle by some of the world's greatest nations.

Yet this is not at all the same as to say that we need to despair. The world may be sadly out of tune with Christmas; yet those who believe in the Christmas message, and look ahead to the day when it shall exert a stronger influence in the hearts of men than it now exerts, have all the more reason for taking a new hope and a new courage.

For it is of the essence of the great Christmas story that it will survive any adversity. This poor earth has faced dark days aplenty, since the miracle of the star over Judea, and has lived through periods in which it seemed as if the last hope for a region of peace and good will had vanished utterly; yet the Christmas story lives on, forever rekindling in men's hearts the flame that shall some day give us light, to build on this earth the city of God.

And it is by our faith in the certain arrival of that day—by our faith, in other words, that there are values above and beyond those of the distracted, trouble-torn present, values which no war lord can kill and no pogrom or blood-purge can tarnish—that we must get on with the business of living.

For we don't live by bread alone, and the rough road through life must be lighted by a belief in things which transcend the trials and defeats of every-day existence. We have to believe that the verdicts of the material world are not final, that man lives for a destiny that is beyond and above anything which happens to him on earth, that somewhere and somehow there is a force greater than we are which works silently and eternally to help us attain our ideals.

It is easy to lose that belief—temporarily, at least. The demands which life makes on us don't often leave much time for cultivation of the things of the spirit: Unless we can occasionally get in touch with some outside source of strength and confidence, we are all too likely to suffer the deep discouragement that comes when faith is at an ebb.

Christmas gives us that faith, and renews it perennially. The spirit which infuses every family circle, when the Christmas tree is alight and the sound of the old carols rings in the crisp air outside, is something that cannot die. In the darkest hours, it shines like a beacon light along the hard road the race must travel; by the vision it gives us and by the faith it inspires we can go ahead with courage and good hearts.

Out of Mouths of Babies

In Buenos Aires several hundred high school and college students strud in Fascistic pose, seeking to rouse Argentinians against "Yankee Imperialism."

In England the first of several hundred Jewish children from Nazi Germany arrive with a few pence in their pockets.

In San Francisco 1,000 Chinese school children effectively picket a Greek freighter that seeks to load scrap iron destined for Japanese munition factories.

Each youthful group tells its own story: The Jewish exiles, a story of Hitlerism at its cruelist; the parading South American students bespeak the thoroughness of Nazi propaganda in the western hemisphere; the Chinese in San Francisco, the authority of public conscience when aroused against war.

And we always thought Gracie Allen was the dumb member of the Burns-Allen team.

Our selection for the most useless Christmas gift: a new world atlas.

Apparently a lot of French deputies don't think the government's "gags" are so funny.

Arthur Gerhke, of Watertown, Wis., who for 27 years has gone to bed for the winter, is staying up this year, has bet $25 he'll be "up and around" New Year's day. That's more than a lot of us would wager on ourselves.

At least they are polite about this dictatorship business in Rumania. The new one-party government decreed by Carol announces "it HOPES to win support of groups holding aloof."

Rumor hath it that Great Britain may reopen the question of war debts to the U. S. in the light of new developments to the empire's security. She probably wants a few ciphers to that string.

U. S. CONDUCTS CAMPAIGN AGAINST GERMANS, NAZIS CLAIM

GUARDED REPLY FOR ICKES SEEN IN NEWS ARTICLE

By EDWARD W. SEATTE, JR. BERLIN, Dec. 24 (UP)—Nazis have become convinced that American officials are conducting a world campaign against them, the Voelkischer Beobachter, official newspaper organ of the Nazi party, and regarded as Adolf Hitler's own paper, said today.

It was charged that United States leaders, including President Roosevelt, were trying to "tutor" Europe and that American newspapers, in commenting on dictatorialships, were "inciting to murder."

The article was in effect a carefully guarded reply—the first from a Nazi party source—to the rebuke administered by Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles to Dr. Hans Thomsen, charge d'affaires of the German embassy at Washington, when the envoy protested against the anti-Nazi speech made by Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes at Cleveland last Sunday.

Guarded Reply

It was unavoidable that the reply was a guarded one because the German public had not been informed either of Thomsen's protest or of the rebuke which it brought from Washington.

The Voelkischer Beobachter led up to its reply by commenting on a statement issued by Sen. Key Pittman, D., Nev., chairman of the committee on foreign relations, announcing his dislike of the Nazi regime.

"If we answered this newest provocation by voicing the obviously justified opinion that the gentlemen in Washington have ample reason to poke their fingers in their own moral oozepot, they probably would again whine they had been attacked," said the Nazi organ.

"Even the important Ickes speech was followed by the German press lead attacked President Roosevelt and even Woodrow Wilson. Therefore we objectively state the following:

Withheld Attacks

"1.—The Socialist (Nazi) press of Germany obtained from any attacks on United States personalities or institutions until late in 1938, not because it wanted to please Americans or win their sympathies, but because of the Fuehrer's speech enjoining Germans to respect foreign nations and abstain from interfering in their internal affairs.

"2.—There are no natural differences between Germany and the United States and there never have been any.

"3.—The United States press, on the other hand, has become increasingly the starting point of any loud speaker for Jewish Bolshevik world agitation against the authoritarian states.

"4.—United States ministers including the President have increasingly assumed the attitude of tutors toward Europe and even conducted public agitation against the policy of the Democratic allies of Paris and London.

"5.—Ickes' Cleveland speech constituted a public rebuke to the head of the German state."

Other newspapers also attacked Pittman and Ickes.

Mother Love

Having supported her semi-invalid 54-year-old son, Joseph, right, for three years, 54-year-old Mrs. Mary McCarthy, left, pleaded with Cleveland hospital authorities not to transfer her from her $45-a-month job to a $25-a-month pension.

FARM UNIT MAPS HEALTH SERVICES

Northwest regional offices of the Farm Security administration are now completing negotiations to provide prepayment of health services for low-income farm families, according to word received here today by L. F. Wiseman, county supervisor, from Walter A. Duffy, regional director at Portland.

"Plans for the health security administration for such medical care of low-income farmers in Idaho, Oregon and Washington—now being worked out with state and county medical societies—are not to be confused with 'socialized' medicine," Mr. Wiseman said.

Here's Basis

"They are based on simple prepayment of medical and hospital services with the aid of FSA loans."

As explained by Mr. Wiseman by Regional Director Duffy, the agreements being reached with medical societies provide:

1. Loans to FSA borrowers providing funds in advance for one year of medical, dental and hospital services for that family in event the family does not have the cash on hand.
2. That the amount the borrower is to spend for medical care for a given period will be on an agreed schedule based on the ability of the family to pay.
3. That funds set aside for completion of doctors shall be paid at the beginning of the operating period, placed in the hands of a trustee and put in a common fund with physicians being paid as they submit their statements for services at the first of every month.
4. That every family is to have free choice of physician.

Oregon and Washington

According to word from Duffy, preliminary negotiations and agreement on the general principles of the plan have been completed with the officers of the Oregon and Washington State Medical societies. The medical care program is expected to start in those states "early in the new year," Duffy said.

As far as Idaho is concerned, the message of Mr. Wiseman said that

LUNCH

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 24 (UP)—Two-year-old Ronald Tongue of Salt Lake City looked longingly at his Christmas tree today—then decided it looked good enough to eat. Attendees at a police emergency hospital removed a pine needle that caught in the boy's throat as a result of his unusual pre-Christmas lunch.

CAROLS FEATURE RESORT PAGEANT

SUN VALLEY, Dec. 24 (UP)—Clear notes of a choir in medieval costume singing Christmas carols before 400 winter sports guests will open a Yuletide pageant at twilight tonight on Sun Valley's village square.

Four trumpets will herald the coming of evening. The contralto voice of Helen Seaton will ring out in a rendition of "Silent Night" from a balcony on the south wing of the Challenger Inn.

Thus eastern residents, Hollywood motion picture stars and college competitive skiers will welcome Christmas, the Sun Valley public department announced.

With a flourish designed to vie with a Hollywood super-colossal, Santa Claus (or a good imitation) equipped with genuine reindeer, will make a grand entrance, and distribute toys to the children.

Religious services will be held in the opera house at midnight with a mixed liturgical choir of 21 voices providing music.

Pope Reviews Year's Events

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 24 (UP)—The Pope, receiving the College of Cardinals, reviewed the happy and sad events of the year today and deplored the Italian government's unfriendly attitude toward the Catholic Action organization of laymen.

In his Christmas eve message to the princes of the church, the Pope also expressed sorrow over what he termed the Italian government's violation of the Italian concord by its recent anti-Semitic decrees.

SAUNDERSVILLE, ENG.—Re-lease a 30-foot Christmas tree, King George and the Princess Elizabeth and Margaret opened out Christmas-bells in the Sandringham house ballroom today to aged tenants of the royal estate.

DOORN, NETHERLANDS—Former Kaiser Wilhelm and Princess Hermine personally distributed Christmas gifts to the poor people of Doorn village. The gifts included bundles of firewood, chopped by the ex-kaiser.

ROME—Premier Benito Mussolini and his family went to Ferri by train to spend Christmas at the Mussolini country place.

CANNES, FRANCE—The duke and duchess of Windsor, surrounded by a small group of friends, will spend their second Christmas in exile in the sunshine of the French Riviera, at the Chateau de la Croix.

BERLIN—Fuehrer Adolf Hitler will spend Christmas eve alone in his study after playing Santa-Claus to many famous friends and hundreds of poor families. He distributed sums of money to needy families and toys to his many god-children, but for his friends he had practical gifts ranging from priceless oil paintings to limousines.

GALLANDER, ONT.—The poor little rich Dienne quintuplets have been very good in recent weeks, but nevertheless they won't get the Christmas presents they want—meat. The four-and-a-half-year-old sisters, who haven't quite made their first million, wanted some "live dogs" for Christmas, but their father Claus put his foot down, albeit with "some difficulty."

LIVESTOCK PLAN READY FOR MEET

BOISE, Dec. 24 (UP)—A plan for creation of a five-man livestock commission for Idaho drafted by the welfare committee of the state dairymen's association, was ready today for ratification or rejection by an association convention called for Jan. 3, 4 and 5.

The commission would be composed of two representatives of the dairy industry, two of cattle, and one of the swine growers. The sheep industry was not included.

The Idaho Grange, the Cattle and Horse Growers' association and State Swine Growers' association will be asked in convention to promote the plan.

REBELS GAIN GROUND AS ADVANCE GETS UNDER WAY

NATIONALS TAKE FIRST LINES OF LOYAL TRENCHES

By HARRISON LAROCHE

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier, Dec. 24 (UP)—Fighting through blinding snow and against jet wind, Spanish nationalist troops today stormed and captured the first line loyalist trenches on formidable Montsec, dispatches from the front reported.

Navarre troops, moving off at dawn in the sector 33 miles north of Lerida, attacked the loyalists with hand grenades and followed up with the bayonet. It was reported that at 4,500 feet altitude, slipping in the blood stained snow, the nationalists and loyalists fought hand to hand until the Republican government troops were thrown back, according to dispatches.

Columns Advance
The nationalists said their first and second columns, which were based on Balaguer, had advanced north and south of heavily fortified Montsec. They said a third army had established a seven-mile deep foothold on the loyalist (east) side of the Segre river and that a fourth army captured the strategically defended Gosa hills east of the Segre.

More than 500,000 men—280,000 nationalists and 240,000 loyalists—were engaged in a battle on a 50-mile front knowing that for either side decisive defeat might mean overwhelming disaster.

In the first day's operations the nationalists claimed an average gain of 7 1/2 miles and the capture of 2,000 men on the front extending southward from Sort to Lerida.

Admit Losses
The loyalists admitted having been thrown back in the early phase of the opening day's operations but asserted officially that they recaptured all lost ground and particularly that they inflicted a severe defeat on the Italian Fascist divisions and the insurgents.

It was a battle on a scale and of a savagery seldom equaled in the 20 months of the most terrible civil war in modern history. The physical enormity of a battle which engaged Spaniards and the Arab Moles, the Germans and Italians siding the nationalists, in which every engine of modern warfare was invoked, was emphasized by the conditions under which the battle was being fought.

Blood-Stained Snow
The snow which fell softly over the northern half of the battle front, to be stained with blood and debris as artillery shells and airplane bombs struck in the lines, demoralized communications. On the southern half of the front, the temperature was below zero at times.

As broken down transport on blocked roads disrupted the flow of supplies to the front, the men on both sides consumed contents of the Christmas boxes sent them, in lieu of meals.

Aerial Hunt For Coyotes To Go Ahead

GOODING, Dec. 24 (Special)—At a meeting of the Gooding-Camas Freedmen's Association Tuesday afternoon at the Gooding court house, it was decided to continue with the practice of killing coyotes from an airplane. Jim Williams, chairman, presided at the meeting.

It was decided that shooting the adult coyotes from a plane was the only feasible way of getting rid of the source and the supply of the animals. Lamorne Stevens and Grant Kibben, two pilots, were contacted and were present at the meeting. Mutual arrangements were made for them to use their plane and work as they did last year. The campaign will begin about Jan. 30.

The members of the association assessed themselves one cent apiece for each head of their sheep to finance this eradication program. A committee of three, J. Farmer, Alex Gardner, and Fred Bradford of Ingraham, was named to handle the program.

New Yorkers Stage Debut Party for 'Poor Working Gal'

By FRANK YOUNG
NEW YORK, Dec. 24 (UP)—Wilma Beard's coming-out party, otherwise known as Tugboat Minnie's debut, or the glorification of a working girl, ended hilariously at dawn today at the Chez Firehouse, a ritzy night club in the basement of what once was a church.

She was supposed to portray the type of poor girl who could never hope for a debut, and to prove a poor girl can make as good a debut as a rich girl.

Acta Part Well
She acted the part well, for although her father is a barge captain, and she visits the barge sometimes on her summer vacations, she earns her way as a photographer's model, lives in a midtown apartment, wears fine clothes in her work and enjoys a life that is the envy of every shop girl.

Sponsors of the party admitted they had other motives. They wanted to debunk the over-glamorization of debutantes; they wanted to see one debut where the guests paid their own way and didn't come for the host's free food and liquors; or maybe they wanted to show the blue blooded debutantes, who have encroached more and more on cafe society this season, that the cafes can put on debuts, too.

They chose the tall, blond and shapely Miss Deard, native of Hoboken, N. J., for the extravaganza. Stars With Dinner
The party started with dinner at the home of Jules Glanzer, jeweler, one of the sponsors who called themselves Miss Beard's "uncles." Then it moved to the Chez Firehouse.

Formally engraved invitations had been sent out indiscriminately. All

A CHRISTMAS THOUGHT

Editor, Evening Times:
The writer recently attended a program given by a group of young people at a local church. The Christmas theme of "Glory to God in the Highest—and on earth, peace, good will toward men," was beautifully and impressively developed. As the old yet ever new story was told in song and dramatization, the thought kept repeating itself—how strikingly different the youth of America are celebrating our savior's birth from those in other so-called Christian nations of the world!

Throughout all the United States, our young people are showing in beautiful portrayals of music and drama, the story of the Babe of Bethlehem and all that His coming signified. After returning home, the radio was turned on and over the air waves was borne in various ways the message of Christmas. What a precious gift we, who live in America, enjoy! I wonder if we fully appreciate its worth?

In view of recent developments in those nations ruled by ruthless dictators, the Christmas bells ring out but a hollow mockery, for to those nations there is no peace on earth and good will toward men. May we citizens of the most God-blessed land on earth, humbly bow our heads in grateful thanks to Him for the gift of His son—that matchless gift which has made our land safe for our youth—a land where the Christmas chiming echo throughout the starlit night, striking responsive chords of joy in all hearts because a little Babe was born in a stable nearly 2,000 years ago.

American Mother Nominee Favored

Mrs. Roy Evans was endorsed as nominee for American Mother by the Bickel school Parent-Teacher association when the group met this week at the school building.
Pupils of the school presented the program, following the business session in charge of Mrs. H. H. Burkhardt.
The third and fourth grades presented Christmas songs and a play, "Mickey Mouse in Toyland," the young actors being cleverly costumed. Christmas treats were later distributed to children in their classrooms by the P. T. A., the Room Mothers and the teachers.

Turkey Feast Fades Before Carrier Boys

When 62 husky young appetites are turned loose on turkey, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, turkey stuffing, peas, milk bread, ice cream, fresh cake and sundry other delicacies... it's a slaughter, no loss.

There wasn't a crumb left last night after Joe Koehler's annual dinner for Twin Falls newspaper and magazine youths. The boys, mostly from the Times and News, dined at the Elks lodge, then witnessed "West of the Santa Fe" at Joe-K's Roxy theater.

Elks Serve 'Em

Ten Elk members handled the serving of the dinner for the youths. These were Bill Town, as chef; Truman Greenhigh, Bob Whitzel, Bill Daly, Mel Dolling, Carl Glib, John Leiser, Joe Blanford, Dr. J. G. Toulson and Mr. Koehler.

Mrs. Koehler was a special guest, as were K. A. Westergren, Times-News circulation manager, and George W. Taylor, assistant circulation manager.

The newboy fete was the 14th annual event of its kind in Twin Falls for Mr. Koehler. It was the first at which a full Christmas dinner preceded the motion picture treat.

These Feasted

Boys on hand were Evan Taylor, Eugene Jones, Bob McBride, Billy Griffin, James Gasser, Glenn Terry, Buddy Glib, Kenneth Hubbard, Clarence Dudley, Bob Barnett, Bob Jennings, Leo Buhler, Kenneth Ramsey, Halbert Miller, Tom Price, Paul Barnett and Gerald Werner.

SONGS HIGHLIGHT CHRISTMAS FETE

GOODING, Dec. 24 (Special) — This year was held at the Junior high auditorium Thursday evening with community singing featured. In past years this program has been held around a large Christmas tree on the court house lawn with treats and Santa Claus for the youngsters. This year Santa Claus and the reindeer are being brought on Christmas eve by the Jaycees, leaving the citizens of Gooding to their own program under the direction of the music department and the dramatics department of the high school.

Familiar Carols

Familiar Christmas carols in which the audience participated in the singing, led by the glee club, were the basis of the program with the Christmas story woven in throughout the evening. Bernard Seaman read the story between groups of singing.

Included on the program was a solo, "Oh, Holy Night," by Miss Lois Harrett, several songs by the male quartet with Dick Dixon, Lakenna Willis, Jerry Stone and Harold Larsen; songs by the mixed chorus of 80 voices, separate presentations of the boys and girls choruses, and the first public appearance of the newly formed a cappella choir.

These Took Part

Parts in the three presentations by the dramatics class were taken by Geraldine Gillespie, Bud Schubert, Maxine White, Elva Lindley, Lois Harrett and Howard Perry, all in the short satiric skit, "Oh, Thank You" in "Santa Gets Some Letters," a slightly heavier type of drama, Don Bullock, Lois Brown, Betty Wenstrom, Esther Heller, Dwayne Butler, Beth Dixon and Betty Lou Meeker appeared.

The third number, a serious tableau, "Holy Night" was portrayed by Elizabeth Davis, Eugene Heller, Allen Stewart, Jean Barker, Margorie Hinds and Don Bullock.

An exceptionally large crowd filled the auditorium completely, duplicating the large turnout for the initial presentation of a program of this type last year by the music department.

Device Lets Deaf Pupils at Gooding Hear for 1st Time

Several deaf students at the Gooding state school for the deaf and blind this week were able to hear the first intelligible sounds of their life through aid of a Sonotone electrical apparatus purchased for the school by the state board of education. It was announced here this afternoon by A. L. Swim, member of the board.

The new instrument, which is taken into the classroom and which has individual ear phones for the students who are seated at their desks, is what is known as a school model.

Controls Volume

The instructor, through aid of the instrument, is able to control the volume needed for each student to hear and thus many of the students actually hear their teacher's voice for the first time. In addition to entering various entertainments.

"While the instrument does not permit all of the students actually to hear," Mr. Swim said, "it nevertheless aids many and among this number are those who hear their first intelligible sounds."

"The results of the machine are splendid. Many of the students were actually able to enjoy a talk for the first time. Some of the students, deaf since birth, have found it almost impossible to understand a sound and thus placed a burden on the instructor. Through aid of this machine the teacher now has a contact with the pupil which otherwise would not be afforded. To many of the students the real meaning of sound has never been known until this machine was installed," he said.

He explained that the device could not, of course, replace normal hearing but termed it a "material aid."

New Building Needed

Mr. Swim also announced that the state school board will urge the next Idaho legislature to appropriate funds which would meet a federal grant calling for construction of a building providing additional housing facilities for male students at the school. He explained that the girls' dormitory is still adequate.

"The boys' quarters were constructed for 40 persons," Mr. Swim said, "while there are now 70 residing there. In many cases the rooms are so crowded that there is no space for any furniture other than beds."

It was pointed out that because the students are deaf or blind the building should be of fireproof construction.

In case of a fire nearly every student would have to be awakened individually. The blind would have to be led from the building. The cause of this fireproof construction should be adhered to.

DOCTOR RETURNS

BUHL, Dec. 24 (Special) — Buhl friends have received word that Dr. George Jennings plans to return to Buhl about March 1 to resume the practice he gave up in 1936 when he went to California to regain his health. Dr. Jennings will resume practice in his old office with Dr. Ed McBratney. Mrs. Jennings will return with her husband.

WISCONSIN BASS PLANTINGS GAIN

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 24 — Artificial spawning and hatching of large- and small-mouth black bass, a feat believed impossible by expert fish culturists, has been developed by the fisheries division of the Wisconsin conservation department.

The first crop of black bass ever produced from eggs artificially hatched now is swimming in Wisconsin lakes. It consists of 22,400 large-mouth and 2,300 small-mouth fingerlings. Successful experiments on the artificial spawning and hatching of the black bass was performed last year, but announcement was withheld pending further corroboration.

Director H. W. MacKenzie of the Wisconsin department hailed the discovery as one of the most revolutionary and important in fish propagation during recent years.

Old Belief Disproved

"Prior to our experiments," he said, "it has been considered absolutely impossible to extract the spawn and milt from bass and to hatch the eggs in jars."

MacKenzie disclosed that in view of the department's successful experiments in artificial propagation plans have been made to extend the new method as rapidly as possible.

"We hope within a few years to produce all our black bass for stocking by this method," he said, pointing out that the new method should result in production of a much higher percentage of fingerlings in relation to the total fry, in hatching and rearing ponds, the adult fish used as breeders eat large numbers of the fry and small fingerlings, he explained.

Upped Infertility Theory

Common belief that bass enjoy a higher percentage of fertility than other species was disproved by the Wisconsin fish culturists and biologists who conducted the artificial propagation experiments. Previously, scientists and fishermen observing bass beds in lakes have reported complete absence of unfertilized eggs.

The experiments also disclosed that the percentage of bass fry produced in hatchery jars compares favorably with other species, including muskellunge, wall-eyed pike and trout.

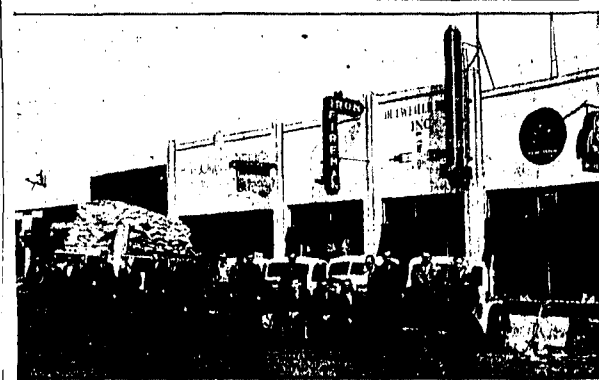

Artificial production of bass fingerlings in Wisconsin this year represented only a small percentage of the state's total propagation and distribution of 1,107,489,823 fish of all varieties. However, success of this method will enable culturists to produce black bass in far greater numbers than ever before.

Dr. W. B. Singleton, of the Connecticut agricultural experiment station, has developed an "all American" corn. Each ear is tri-colored in red, white, and blue.

Universe May Yield Secret To Huge Lens

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—The question is the universe expanding, or is it? Scientists are trying to answer it in the race through space-ship may be answered by Dr. Edwin Hubble, of the Mt. Wilson Observatory in California, scientists here believe.

The answer, they say, may be found when the new 100-inch reflector, set in working, N. Y. glass works, is completed. If the universe is expanding, the giant reflector being built on Mt. Palomar, in California, may indicate the type of expansion. The new mirror will collect four times as much light as the 100-inch Hooker reflector now in use at Mt. Wilson.

The light from the distant star galaxies is captured by the reflector on Mt. Wilson and passed through a spectrographic lens. The lens breaks up the light into different bands which form the spectrum of the tested star. The light from these stars is invariably shifting toward the red end of the spectrum. Such a shift indicates pressure that these galaxies are speeding away from the earth.

If the distant nebulae are receding the assumption is that the universe is expanding. But the speed, only 20,000 miles a second, are so great that many astronomers believe that the expanding universe may be an illusion.

If the loss in energy occurs in the nebulae, Dr. Hubble said, "then, very probably, the red shifts are familiar velocity shifts and the nebulae are all receding. If the loss occurs in space, then the nebulae are actually stationary, but the light loses energy, by some unknown mechanism, in proportion to the distance it travels through the universe."

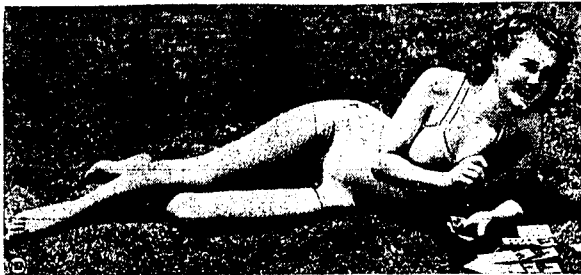

At the moment Dr. Hubble favors the stationary universe, but results do not rule out the possibility of an expanding one.

With all the resources at the command of the United States army, they turn out about 250 planes a year. Of this number only a few become what experts call real military aircraft.

They Loom as Film Stars of 1939

Rare these days is a picture of a Hollywood beauty in a bathing suit. But streamlined Ellen Drew, 1938 newcomer to the screen, may start a revival of the art. Here she is, for no good reason, playing a game of solitaire.

Baby 'Stars' Few During 1938 Season

By PAUL HARRISON
(NSA Service)

HOLLYWOOD—For movietown, 1938 has been a year of almost incredible restraint in the manner of introducing and boosting young talent. For the first time, the word "star" scarcely has been mentioned in connection with the new class of dewy cuties and curly-haired, jutting-lipped girls.

"Glamor girl" is a term to be applied with restraint. Foreign importations have been allowed to make their initial bows from the screen instead of being hurried into the limelight beforehand—as was Simon and Schuster's "The Sign of the Cross."

Thousands dollars worth of futile hoopla. Leg pictures are becoming a lost art.

For these very reasons, the new crop of feminine talent is impressive. The newcomers who in 1938 have achieved prominence or are on the threshold of it actually have been put there by the movie-goers themselves. Consequently, too, they are rarely all players who have been in the limelight for a long time. Hedy Lamarr is a notable exception.

La Belle-Lamarr
Miss Lamarr is exceptional in other ways. Without having done much of anything, she seems to have donned the mantle, or black-lace negligee, of Hollywood's No. 1 glamorist. Not that Miss Lamarr wears negligees; she wears jobs of civility and an exceptionally long bob, and a haunting expression. By no means voluptuous, she is quite tall.

The local impression that she has a fine figure is due mostly to the recollection that she swam nude in the "Ecstasy." She was 16 then and is now 22, but the notoriety attending that much-censored foreign flicker, together with her rich husband's indignation about it and the subsequent publicity, really left her with a sort of sultry aura.

Following her arrival here, the office side of her campaign of publicity by forbidding marriage, "Ecstasy" in studio publicity, and she was forbidden by Metro to discuss the picture or to give interviews. Her trial flicker, "America on Loan" to Walter Wanger for "Algiers," opposite Charles Boyer, she press agents spoke of her as "the ecstatic Hedy Lamarr."

Shirley Star Ascends
Next nearest offering for 1938 in the glamor line is Ann Sheridan, Sim-tims B-ploture and utility actress. Why and how she and physical advantages finally have reminded Warner Brothers that Clara Bow is still a star. Her film, "The Sign of the Cross," definitely is set for top roles in 1939.

Paulette Goddard, having bloomed delightfully in "The Young in Heart" and credits in "Dramatic School" is another popular Hollywood nomination as a glamorist. Trouble is, she is more sultry than sultry, and it is likely that she will become a serious exponent of the drama, or drollish, school.

The Hollywoods are full of earnest young actresses, and the studios are full of executives who seem anxious to make their people look alike and behave alike. Ellen Drew is a good example. As the dirty-faced gamine in "If I Were King" she drew critical huzzels and studio promises of advancement. So she has been tossed into the standard mold and now is in danger of becoming indistinguishable from the other nice-Nellie nonentities of the screen.

Verne, Umpire Gumption
Olympic bradys is another victim of studio restraint, in spite of her new sub-stardom. She has verve, punch and gumption, and unquestionably is the slickest, swiftest acrobatic dancer in Hollywood. You'd never guess it, though, from the way she has been employed.

After a little more than three

Louise Campbell... Paramount is excited about her.

Lynn Bari... 20th Fox is proud of her.

Nancy Kelly... once she was a child actress.

Constance Moore... her dramatic training was rigorous.

years on the screen, Florence Rice has her first important lead, opposite Bob Taylor, in "Stand Up and Fight." Constance Moore, graduate of a rigorous and obscure training period in B's and C's, is about to step out at Universal as the romantic lead opposite Edgar Bergen in "You Can't Cheat an Honest Man." The selection was the result of many weeks of many tests of many actresses, and you can chalk up the Moore gal as somebody to be seen often after the W. G. Field flicker fades out.

Nancy Kelly qualifies as the most important rediscovery of the year. Once a child actress and in-between radio actor, she easily stepped back into leading feminine roles. "Submarine Patrol" is the only 1938 release. "Joe Bonomo" and "Full-Apple" will follow shortly. Miss Kelly is 20th-Fox's surest bet for genuine stardom next year.

Poland Contributors
Melita Korjus, Polish warbler, is the year's big and vital contribution to filmusic. Juncosque, and with a wholesome whoop-tee-oo about her, this singer is a challenge to Metro's knack for natural casting. Her first job was making "The Great Waltz" such an auditory thrill that the picture's dull narrative caused scarcely any pain.

Miss Janet Chapman, who makes a very good human-interest story because of her timely rescue of an ailing mother and a jobless father, is still just a cute baby. Promising, though.

Priscilla Lane is a 1938 product and has far outpaced her sisters; she'll be starred or co-starred here-entirely in 1939.

NAME NOTORIETY CONFUSES SCOTT

CLEVELAND, O. (AP)—A "case of mistaken identity" is causing the Kenneth D. Scott family of suburban East Cleveland, unwell-known fame—all because another Kenneth Scott, professor of classics in Western Reserve university's Flora Stone Mather college, is not listed in the city telephone directory.

Prof. Scott, an authority on Pausanias, much in demand as a lecturer. He does not receive the attention due him, however, as it goes to his namesake—Kenneth D. Scott, an illuminating engineer.

"The misdirected telephone calls and letters aren't the worst part of this mistaken identity business," Engineer Scott said.

Nobody Believes Him
"What is most annoying is that those seeking Prof. Scott won't believe me when I say that I'm not he. I have interminable arguments with telephone callers who insist that they are talking to the professor."

"On several occasions I've had to use firmness in closing the door on persistent searches for Prof. Scott. They do everything but put their foot in the door," he added.

He said that the callers-in-person say he "looks like the professor."

Poems and Jokes
Invitations to speak on their travels to foreign countries to which they never have gone.

Poems and jokes on the New Deal. (The purpose of these contributions baffled the Scott family.)

Letters from Germany addressed to "Kammerade."
Engraved invitations to formal dinners.
Money for speeches never made.

The engineer Scotts received a check for a lecture which Prof. Scott gave before a local organization.

The Scott family deducted no compensation for often being awakened at all hours of the night by the phone calls for the professor—and they returned the check.

Wool Checks Sent
PORTLAND, Dec. 24 (Special)—Just in time for Christmas, checks totaling $250,000 are this week being received by some 930 grower members of the Pacific Wool Growers in eastern Oregon, eastern Washington and Idaho in final payment for wools delivered by them to their cooperative marketing association. Substantial cash advances had previously been made to members upon delivery of the wool.

Prices received on the 1938 wools in this pool range from 18 1/2 cents to 24 1/2 cents net per pound, depending on grade and averaged 20 cents a pound net to growers for all wool, including off soots, rejects, tags and defective wools. These prices being substantially better than prices that were paid in the country around shearing time this spring for similar wools, according to R. A. Ward, general manager.

HAILEY PROJECT WORK TO START

PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 24 (AP)—PWA regional headquarters today announced work was expected to start within a few days on three Idaho construction projects, following approval of contract awards.

The projects:
Additions to Hailey, Ida., high school.
Additions to Clifton, Ida., high school.
Construction of a new fire station and alterations to the city hall at Lewiston, Ida.

Tri-State Construction Co., Portland, was low on the Hailey job; Jackson and Morrin, Ogden, Utah, placed the low bid at Clifton; Ira S. Dole, Lewiston, won the Lewiston city hall contract and J. D. Berry, Clarkston, Wash., the fire station job.

One of the airlines recently started a "romance" business. For a certain fee they will take a couple to Reno, furnish the license, minister, hotel room, flowers, and the wedding dinner. The fee varies with the distance to travel to Reno.

BULL, Dec. 24 (Special)—For "rolling his own" Hermon C. Geer, Bull, received a ticket this week from C. L. "Doc" House, state patrolman.

In addition to rolling a cigarette, he was also rolling the car, unsteadily, from side to side. The patrolman followed the car for a distance on the Castleford road, and then admonished Geer for his hazardous driving methods.

Hilarious Vaudeville Marks Holiday Dinner

Elaborate among the pre-holiday observances of the week was the turkey dinner attended by 125 employees of the Parisian Launderers and Cleaners company, their husbands, wives and guests, Thursday evening. The affair took place at the company plant, and included hilarious vaudeville numbers.

Clifford Anderson presided as master of ceremonies, and M. E. Tolliver, owner of the company, gave the address of welcome. He presented each employe with a gift, and the staff gave him a Christmas present.

Dressed to represent famous movie actresses, the feminine employes staged a style revue that literally "brought the house down."

Equally well received were the "Gill-Blilly Boys" act; the Charlie Chaplin sketch by Miss Olga Setzer and Mrs. Edna Brennen, and the "Merry Christmas" play by the employes.

Other numbers on the program were a song, "Silent Night," Miss Ruby Johnson; musical numbers, Charles Harris and Tracy Wilson, and a speech, George Bateman, Ogden.

Hold Annual Ball

GOODING, Dec. 24 (Special)—One of the most successful in years was the description given to the senior ball held last week at the Lincoln high gym. The affair was sponsored by the senior class. Music was furnished by Chuck Heil and his orchestra.

Floor lamps and small trees were placed in the corners of the room, a lighted fireplace and fortune telling booth completed the decorations. Light for the dance came from the tree lights and one or two of the floor lamps.

Leading the grand march were Geraldine Gillespie, president of the senior class; her escort, Eugene Heller. Next in line were Miss Marylyn Britton and Harold Larsen.

Patrons and patronesses for the dance were: Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Cromwell, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Adamson, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. William Pyle, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cramer, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Schmidt, Mr. R. F. Hill, Mr. W. L. McCoy and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tate.

Speedy College Quints will Tangle on Bruin Floor to End Long Barnstorm Trip

Idahoans Show Power During Pacific Games

South central Idaho basketball fans can be expecting several gifts for Christmas, but the one that is expected to give most satisfaction will be the two-game series of cage games here on Monday and Tuesday between the University of Idaho and University of Utah court teams.

The two clubs are scheduled to meet on the Twin Falls high school gym floor for the two night games of the championship of the two states at stake. Preliminary contests will feature Coach R. V. Jones' Twin Falls Bruins battling the Bobcats on the opening night and the Rupert Pirates on Tuesday. Both teams are Class A clubs—outfits that have to be expected to play in a tournament play later in the season to determine a south central Idaho high school champion.

Sophs May Make Idaho Cage Club—Two good

BOISE, Dec. 24 (UP)—Whether the University of Idaho basketball quintet will be more than just a stepping stone for other teams in northern division, Pacific Coast conference, balances on the ability of four sophomores, Coach Forrest Twogood said today. The Vandals are now on a barnstorming tour.

Twogood was discouraged when his squad looked up at its first practice, but as drills the sophomore quartet would replace three of last year's regulars who were graduated. The regulars were Bill Kramer, Don Johnson and Roland Winter.

The sophomores are Ronald Harris, Idaho Falls, Carle Wood, Pocatello, Calif.; Irvin Hopkins, Pocatello, and Otis Hilton, Mesa, Ark. Harris was a center in high school, but Twogood had converted him into a forward. Wood and Hopkins are both guards. Hilton, who is six feet, eight inches in height, is the tallest player on the club. Twogood likes beanpole men and foresees a top hand in Hilton.

Twogood has five returning lettermen, including Steve Belko, all-american forward last season, and Lyle Smith, a guard. Belko and Smith have been chosen to be the club's other experienced players are forwards Roy Ranney and Gordon Pyle and center Brendan Barrett.

Charles Altkison, a transfer from Idaho's southern branch at Pocatello, has caught Twogood's eye for a guard position. "Conditioning is our greatest need at the present," Twogood said. "With adequate conditioning, our club has possibilities of being stronger than last year. But we also have possibilities of being a weaker team. Our sophomores will tell the story." Twogood's club will play Utah at Twin Falls Dec. 26 and 27.

Experts See Tipton's Kicking Putting Duke Team in Hole

By HENRY McEMPHREY
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 24 (UP)—Putting the sport back here and there: Duke's football team got into Pasadena today and the Duke critics have all figured out that the mighty kicking of the Tipton is going to cost the Blue Devils the Rose bowl game on Jan. 2. Tipton's punts are no trepanctions, they reason, that the ball here in his runs down the field by 10 or 20 yards and will allow the U. S. C. safety men, fully trained and Mike Anderson, line enough to get up a full head of steam. Anderson is the fastest man in football today, and Lansell is only a step behind. Once underway they are likely to carry the ball the whole distance. "Paul Schuster, former Oregon State coach, is one of the critics who believes Tipton's awesome kicking will prove a boomerang."

He is California, the sharpsters who operate the football center are the same. "The good news on the bowl game being circulated here is that you get Dick Southern, Cal's punter, who has a 30-yard punt that you can't select TCU unless you have a 30-yard punt. "If you have Tipton's punting, you must spot Oklahoma eight points. "Texas Tech and UT, and the bowl contenders joined even."

Nesta Anita will not follow the lead of Central Hill and would like to be. Charles Strub, Santa Anita general manager, says only beta which can be secured through the footballer will be limited at his track, and the footballer is geared for 42 handles. "In all the time that I have been in operation at Santa Anita, the giant mentioned marvel that in the footballer, has been in error only once."

Mr. Helen Wills Moody is taking up golf. "Charles Howard has told intimates that Seaboard's golf course will be in that state that offers more than $100,000 in prize money and the highest weight. "There is a good chance that the Blue Devils, on-travel, will meet War Admiral in Florida and then catch a $100,000 handicap at Santa Anita. (Copyright, 1938, United Press)

Senators Down Bobcats in Class A Game

GOODING, Dec. 24 (Special)—The Gooding Senators tangled with the Burley Bobcats here last night in the first Class A contest of the 1938-39 season, with the northlanders chalking up a 21-15 victory after trailing at the half-way mark.

The slow-moving Bobcats worked their defense well in the first half but fell 9-8 at the intermission. But a change in offensive tactics during the last half gave the local club the edge.

Leon Accatturi, the diminutive Burley guard, stole scoring honors for the evening, setting away 11 of his team's points in succession. Later he added another—but that was the extent of his scoring.

With the count tied 11-11 in the third quarter, Vernon Pauls, Gooding center, broke an 11-11 tie with a pair of field goals and B. Pauls, a center, ended the game away with two more shots from the field in the final period.

Preliminary tilt saw the Gooding "C" club win a 32-8 victory over the Burley reserves. Aphtarre and Jordan of Gooding got 15 points between them.

SALES BRISK

Ticket sales for the University of Idaho-University of Utah basketball games here on Monday and Tuesday are progressing nicely, according to W. G. (Jeff) Swin, promoter of the two tilts for the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"While the advance ticket sales have been brisk," Promoter Swin said today, "we don't anticipate turning anyone away from the door, inasmuch as approximately 1,800 seats are available. However, to avoid standing in line, I would suggest that fans who plan to attend by their dutacs in advance."

"The system will do away with a big jam at the entrance as game time nears."

Tickets sold for both seasons will be reported, but not the best of the first clash at the Rogerson, Perrine and Park hotels; Majestic pharmacy, Wiley pharmacy, Kinney pharmacy and Trullinger pharmacy.

Swin announced that officials for the two games will be Shubert, Hester and Wes Shubert, Cliff, Rupert.

Albion Cagers Trip Up Oakley Club

OAKLEY, Dec. 24 (Special)—The strong Albion Class B basketball club turned on the first here last night to defeat the Hornets in a fast battle by a score of 27-21.

The visitors, led by their veteran all-around athlete, Ralph Heworth, who scored 14 points, were ahead all the way, holding a 15-11 advantage at the half time.

The local club had been scheduled to meet Sugar City here last night, but a mix-up in games caused the eastern squad to cancel the game.

Preliminary contest saw the Oakley reserves win a 29-24 contest from the Albion seconds. Sagers of Oakley was high point man with 11 points, while Truman made eight for Albion.

Lineups:

2 Negroes Steal Show During 1938 Season; Nova is Best Prospect

Another in a series of reviews featuring the more dramatic high spots of events in 1938.

By HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Dec. 24—Max Schmeling believed Joe Louis would remember the brutal beating he took two years before. The German thought the heavyweight champion would come out slowly in the Yankee stadium pit, June 22.

But Schmeling walked into a machine gun in place of a fearful Louis. . . was hung over the ropes in a helpless condition by the Negro's introductory burst of fire.

Max Baechon heaved in the towel after the third knockdown. It lasted just two minutes and four seconds. Henry Armstrong again turned out to be the lighter of the year.

Not satisfied with stepping ahead one class, Armstrong took on the welterweight foreman, Barney Ross, and pummeled him unmercifully for 15 rounds.

Lou Ambers gave the little Sam Langford considerably more trouble, but Armstrong lifted the lightweight boxing board.

Little Stud Cloud had so many titles that he gave the featherweight wrestle back to the Indians.

Archibald, a medical student of Providence, kept his claim to the throne by forcing Scanzio to come in heavier than 125 pounds.

The most pleasing boxing note of the year was the sudden surge of Lou Nova, the California heavyweight who came from nowhere in particular to stop Gunnar Burund and all but knock out Tommy Farr.

What is more important, the big college boy looked good doing it.

He knows more about boxing than any heavyweight since Gene Tunney and Tim Loughran.

Claim 160-Pound Title

At Houston, balled Freddie Steele from the middleweight pinacle. Then the Seattle kid's handlers made an awful mistake.

They let the bantamweight Solly Krieger do nothing more than a trial horse. He carried him all the way from Brooklyn . . . where the Flatbush Bruin . . . gave young Hoxak a good going over.

The New York boxing commission wanted Krieger to box Freddie Apollon for a clear claim to the head of the class.

Krieger asked for time. He's been around a long while. . . felt that he rated a few above-the-weight matches.

So the commission recognized the winner of the Apollon-Young Corbett III encounter, and Apollon became the ruler in its eyes when he knocked out the veteran roughaw.

In the non-title veterans, Krieger has given himself far from being a chess champion.

With John Henry Lewis stepping out to box Joe Louis, Jan. 25, the light-heavyweight division is practically non-existent.

Tiger Jack Fox was slotted in a brawl in the midst of a tournament to determine Lewis' successor. "This title would go to promising Billy Conn of Pittsburgh. If his managers would quit fooling with middleweights."

Ready for the Cleaners

Stoic Escobar hasn't defended the bantam bauble since regaining it from Harry Jaffra in his native Puerto Rico.

Escobar recently was beaten in non-title affairs by Henry Hook in Toronto and Al Mancini in Washington.

The little brown boy appears to have lost his form.

Indications are that Hook, Mancini, K. O. Morgan, George Pauch, or Lou Siler, would lift the crown if given the opportunity.

Benny Lynch of Scotland ate himself out of the flyweight championship.

Peter Kane won from Jackie Jurich to get the nod of the British boxing board.

Little Dado outgalled Small Montana to gain recognition on this side. There it stands.

The smaller classes require plenty of resuscitation.

So does the entire bank busting business, for that matter.

There are 50 miles of quays and 4,000 acres of docks in the Port of London.

Southern Cal Gridders Sent Diaper Set

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 24 (UP)—Duke had his "panties incident" today. Southern California was plagued with a "rubber diaper" episode.

The teams met in the Rose bowl football game and apparently unenthusiastic fans are trying to spur their favorites to victory by arousing them with innuendo.

Latest in the string was receipt by Greenville Lamsell, Trojan quarterback, of a pair of rubber diapers.

They arrived in the mail yesterday, but, as in the case of the Duke garments, the post-mark was untraceable.

Co-captains Dan Hill, center, and Eric Tipton, halfback, of Duke, recently each received a pair of women's lace, panties accompanied by the suggestion they wear them in the Rose bowl.

Collins led the league's first batters in fielding with a percentage of .995; Herman topped the second-batters with .987, and Hartnett had the best figure for regular catchers, .993. Gabby, however, played in only 25 games and single leadership in the various departments is based upon 100 games. Hartnett could not claim the honor, which went to Al Tolan of Pittsburgh with .985.

Gable Can Dance—and Tracy Can Take It, Reporter Finds

By PAUL HARRIS (NEA Service)

HOLLYWOOD—Behind the scenes in the new Charlie Chan picture, a Chinese actor named Ben Yung is having difficulty following Bruce Humphreys' direction. In this brief scene, Yung is supposed to be examining the hood of a dead man when he hears a lion roar nearby. At that, he is expected to register startled terror.

But the Oriental can't grasp the idea because there isn't any roar. The lion is to be dubbed in later. So after several takes, Humphreys decides to shoot off a ball and Yung and thus give him something to jump about. Most of the cast and crew know what's going to happen, but Yung isn't told.

The camera rolls again. Yung bends over the dead man. Humphreys fires a six-loaded revolver. Exactly as planned, the Chinese leaps in terror. But so does the corpse! Nobody had remembered to warn the man on the ground.

Mr. Tracy Can Take It

There's a small field of action today in "Take This Woman" and a corner of a bedroom. But the principals make the set worth watching. They are Hedy Lamarr and Spencer Tracy, and in the midst of their extensive lines these two stars go into a light clinic. It's an important scene requiring careful lighting. Tracy and Lamarr are in the middle of a light clinic. The stars are standing in for themselves, just because everything must be right. They clinch and kiss and break, clinch and kiss again—but not with the ardor they will show when the camera begins to run.

"A little hotter on Mr. Tracy!" barks the head electrician. The helper who is manipulating a spotlight, Miss Lamarr, who still doesn't fully understand studio terms, thinks it's an order for her. So she turns on the heat of her full fervor and throws her arms around Tracy. The director hee-haws at the mistake. Miss Lamarr blushes. Tracy grins wilyly as he emerges from the clinch, like a game fighter in the fourteenth round.

NEW AIDES FILE JOHNSTON MOVE

Motion for new trial and notice of appeal to the state supreme court was filed here yesterday on behalf of Duncan McD. Johnston, now in the state prison at Boise under life sentence for the murder of George L. Olson, Salt Lake City jewelry salesman.

Johnston also informed Prosecutor Edward Babcock in a formal statement that attorneys had been changed and that E. V. Larson and LaVonde, employee of Johnston who was twice arrested on the murder charge, and T. M. Robertson, Jr., state public attorney who was admitted to the Idaho bar last summer, LaVonde was first granted a writ of habeas corpus by the supreme court and then was released by Probate Judge Guy L. Kinney at the second preliminary.

Dunn announced that friends of Johnston had raised the fund which makes possible the continuance of his legal battle. Included among them, it was understood, is a prominent Twin Falls hotel man.

No New Evidence

The application for new trial fails to claim any new evidence, as did the motion filed by Rayborn and Larson, but charges that the court erred when it refused to sustain the defendant's motion for a directed verdict of not guilty. It also sets forth that the verdict is contrary to the law and the evidence in that the jury disregarded the court's instructions.

On application of the new attorney, Judge Porter ordered the court reporter to prepare a transcript of the trial testimony within the next 60 days.

These Take Over

Named by the defendant to represent him were William Dunn, who formerly represented W. H. Larson and LaVonde, employee of Johnston who was twice arrested on the murder charge, and T. M. Robertson, Jr., state public attorney who was admitted to the Idaho bar last summer. LaVonde was first granted a writ of habeas corpus by the supreme court and then was released by Probate Judge Guy L. Kinney at the second preliminary.

Dunn announced that friends of Johnston had raised the fund which makes possible the continuance of his legal battle. Included among them, it was understood, is a prominent Twin Falls hotel man.

Style Upset

She took a pretty terrific spill, but since her smart ski costume was designed to be practical as well as handsome, she has nothing to worry about. The outfit includes amply cut ski trousers of water-repellent wool gabardine in navy blue and a snow-white windaway cotton windbreaker. Underneath she wears two sweaters—a lightweight scarlet cashmere pullover and a white cardigan. Her white angora gloves match her socks. The ski boots are perfectly fitted, sturdy, black leather affairs. Dark sunglasses protect from the glare of sun on snow.

Dean of Women at Moscow in Dakota Hall of Fame List

MOSSGOW, Dec. 24 (Special)—Miss Beatrice Olson, dean of women at the University of Idaho, recently became the second woman to be accorded recognition in the University of North Dakota hall of fame. Miss Olson, a North Dakota graduate, served that institution 10 years as dean of women with eminent success. She resigned to take over similar duties at Idaho last fall.

The two leading women organizations of the North Dakota campus sponsored the drive to recognize the outstanding services she rendered her alma mater. Her portrait hangs among those of the institution's notables.

State School Pupils Go Home for Holiday

GOODING, Dec. 24 (Special)—Wednesday and Thursday saw about 100 students of the State school for the Deaf and Blind on their way home to all parts of the state, according to Burton W. Driggs, superintendent. This will leave about 18 of the children at the school during the holiday season which will last from December 22 through Jan. 4. Those children who remain are to have their Christmas party and tree on Christmas eve with an exchange and opening of gifts planned.

Wednesday morning, a Christmas program with a series of tableaux of the Nativity was presented at the auditorium. The series was introduced by Francis McKay, musical instructor. Throughout the presentation of the tableaux, Christmas carols were sung by a chorus of the blind under the direction of Mrs. Mildred Peria. The numbers were sung at the same time the tableaux were presented with the music for the blind and the tableau for the benefit of the deaf.

FLIER TO RETURN SHIP TO AIRPORT

Arrival of another plane at the municipal airport, which would bring to eight the number that will be housed here with completion of the new hangar, was seen for the immediate future after W. H. Weber, local businessman, announced today he would bring his ship here from Boise.

Weber returned yesterday from Los Angeles where he purchased a motor and propeller which will be installed on the plane, a Lincoln P-T. The motor is a Warner Scarab developing 125 horsepower and the propeller is of steel.

The plane has been completely reconditioned. It will be brought here in the near future, Weber said. Weber, who has been flying for years, was formerly an exhibition parachute jumper in the middle west and east.

Yule Menu for County Jail—but City Won't 'Treat' Its Prisoners

Although a full "Christmas menu" will be provided for prisoners in the Twin Falls county jail at the Christmas day dinner, Chief of Police Howard Gillette announced this afternoon that the fare at the city jail would be "very poor."

Officials of the sheriff's office announced a dinner which will include chicken, cranberry sauce, dressing, gravy, sweet potatoes, pickles, celery, jello, cake and coffee. Approximately 16 prisoners will be served.

At the city jail there will be "nothing special," but rather the regular dinner will be served, as prepared by a local cafe.
