WORKERS HELD BY INDIANA PIT BLAZE, 1 KILLED

CLINTON, Ind., Jan. 2 (U.P.)—Nineteen miners who were rescued early Sunday from the depths of the Crowsfoot coal mine No. 6 after they had been entombed by raging flames for 17 hours, waited for the fire to burn out today to permit them to resume work.

One man died in the smoke and gas-filled working before rescue could reach him. He was found by a black cat who wandered away from his co-workers and suffocated.

Approximately 170 miners were below ground when the fire started from a short-circuited electric wire. All but 20, working at a 100-foot level, escaped by walking through various entries to the main shaft.

The entombed men threw up a makeshift barricade to protect themselves from the flames. They severed a telephone wire and by touching the ends together signaled for assistance.

Run Out of Water
After rescue squads had labored tirelessly amid a down-pour of rain, the men from the side which was cut off by the flames, they ran out of water.

Then they began advancing through an old passageway in the rear which had been sealed for three years. Swinging sledge hammers and pick axes were used to break up the solid rock.

All of the miners were able to go to their homes after hospital treatment for gas poisoning. The victim, Jesse Hayes, 33, father of three children, would have been saved had he stayed with the others.

Thousands who had kept a prayerful vigil at the mine shaft, cheered and shouted as the beguiling miners were brought to safety.

OHIO'S BOY LIFER KEEPS 'CHIN UP'

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 2 (U.P.)—Lindbergh, 18-year-old life prisoner at the Ohio penitentiary, has turned 30 today and kept his contact with the outside world.

The youngest inmate in the prison talked persistently of radio during an interview. He said he would make the radio which he is building into a short wave set if prison rules allowed it. He assembled the set, he said, with a screwdriver and a pair of pliers borrowed from the man in the next cell.

Frank, whose home is in Cincinnati, was sentenced by a three-man court for stabbing a 6-year-old girl to death after he had been told to tell of his improper advances. He entered the penitentiary in August.

The boy was sentenced to a block where prisoners have separate cells. He said he liked it that way because "you know nobody is going to bother your stuff."

Berec and sunshine were the things he missed the most. He said a well known man he got here, but look at me now," he said. He has copied an inch-high scale of drawings from books and magazines that he was able to obtain.

The boy said he knew few of the men in the prison. One of his friends he said was a man whose name he could not remember because it had 24 letters in it.

Prison officials feel he should be kept separated from the men, but they think perhaps next year when he will start him again with his education.

The young prisoner's only expression of hope that some day he might be free was that he would be "a good man around an airport."

NEW SETTLERS TRY TRANSVAAL

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Jan. 2 (U.P.)—South Africa is looking for the problem of settling people on the land by a scheme of irrigation and assisted settlement. Another 200,000 acres of the Vaal and Hart rivers in the Transvaal.

The plan is to settle between 1,500 and 2,000 families on the land, of which 100,000 acres are being watered by the largest irrigation scheme in the country. Another 200,000 acres of dry land, bordering on the irrigated tract, also are available.

Work was begun in November, 1933, and the first settlers are now being settled. Another group of 50 settlers will arrive before Jan. 1, and a further 80 early in 1935.

"The groups of 50 are chosen from as many as 1,500 applicants at a time. The selection is carefully made since the object of the scheme is to make each settler self-supporting in a short time."

Requirements Are Rigid
Each applicant has to be vouched for by responsible persons, and prove that he is in sound health and has the kind of character necessary to stand the hard work which lies before him. Preference is given to the married man, and no bachelors have been settled.

The accepted settler is allotted 60 acres of land, which may be reduced to 40 if he is not a farmer. The government clears 20 acres of large trees and boulders, and leaves him to do the rest.

He is provided with a house, a plow, six tractors, a wagon, cow and farming implements. For the first six months he is paid $10 a month with $3 additional for each child up to a maximum of $25. (Unmarried men will receive $10) after that time the settler and his family must live on what they grow.

This probationary period can be extended to five years as a maximum, but it is considered that 12 months should be enough to show whether the settler is capable of making a living from the land. If he has not made good in five years he goes out.

House Per Day Built
Houses for the settlers are built on an "assembly line" system like motor cars. The settlers are given a plot of land, and the government clears the land, and the settlers move along the row of houses. About 250 houses have been built in a little over a year, and since April the rate has been one a day.

They are built with two-inch cavity walls of concrete blocks, ensuring even temperature throughout the year. Each house has two or three bedrooms, a large dining room, kitchen and bathroom, and the cost is $1,250.

The Vaal-Hart area is one of variable and unpredictable rainfall, and the heaviest rainfall comes in March. At the end of the season for crops. Irrigation therefore is the foundation of the entire settlement.

The Ministry of Lands, which has charge of the scheme, aims at combining agriculture and stock raising. The first settlers were given four or five cows each, but when the scheme is fully working it is hoped to give each settler 10.

The Lord Mayor's banquet in London took up only about 15 hours' labor, but required a month to prepare.

Barnes, Twin Falls, and H. L. Wallington, Buhl, have been dismissed from the hospital.

TIPS TELL HOW TO BORE PEOPLE
CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 2 (U.P.)—Seven sure ways for wives to bore husbands, or any other man, conversationally, have been compiled by Margaret Devereux, author of "Your Life as a Woman and How to Make the Most of It."

The seven guaranteed methods of making prohibition laws instead of "hanging on your every word," she says, are:

Be eager to trip up your male conversational partner and thus be classified as a checker-upper.

Pounce on the topic a man starts to talk about. "Run away with the ball," if you employ this tactic you are a topic-matcher.

Always insist on having the last word, which puts you in the biffer-end class.

Convince yourself (if you are not convinced already) that other people never have nice things happen to them. This definitely makes you a boaster.

Convert your conversation along the lines of a lecturer and becomes a one-man-audience lecturer.

Talk on and on and on—in other words, be a self-indulgent.

But the deadly egotist is the worst of the seven bores—or perhaps he is just at the top of the list.

Miss Devereux, when she spoke before a group of Clevelanders on the "Art of Conversation," said that conversation is not a monologue, personal history, or a feat of memory.

Conversation is a play of minds—and let it be fair play," she said.

TRAILER FOLK TO CONVEY AN, 16

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 2 (U.P.)—An estimated 1,500 persons traveling in 3,000 trailers will meet here Jan. 16-22 for the 20th annual convention of the Tin Can Tourists of the World.

Oscar J. Peter, of Winesburg, O., calling chief of the Trailers, estimated the visitors will spend $500,000 and said many of them would stay at least six weeks.

Peter, who has been a trailerist for 40 years, first used a horse and rig. Later, he went camping on a horse trailer, and now travels in a patrol trailer.

Peter said the trailer provides the ideal home on the road, and pointed to the tremendous growth of trailer travel in the last few years.

It's the right life for one who has retired," Peter said, "and a lot better than sitting in a chimney corner waiting to die. What's more, death won't be around nearly so soon if one leads this sort of life."

The Tin Can Tourist organization was founded in Tampa in 1919. At that time a handful of tourists traveling in sticky house cars formed what has grown into an international organization.

Peter explained nobody knows just how many members now comprise the organization. The constitution provides: "No fees, no dues, no dues." The winter convention is held in Florida, and the summer gathering in the North, usually in Wisconsin.

How's Berun
The Tri-C club became a matter of record on Jan. 6, 1934, when the Times society editor reported the following:
"The Misses Clara Kall, Flo Cook, Jean Emery and Audrie Brannin have organized a club known as the Tri-C Bridge club. The first meeting was held Saturday evening at the home of Miss Cook. Misses Mary Newman, Mattie McMaster, Ann Craven and Marguerite Finch were invited to become members and will be initiated next Saturday evening. Miss Mary Newman held high score and Miss Mattie McMaster low score for the evening. The hostess served delicious refreshments at the close of the game."

GAUEST PARTY AT ELKS BALLROOM
Brightest spot on the local social scene Saturday evening was the annual ball given by the Tri-C club at the Elks ballroom, attended by 300 merry-makers, members of the Elks lodge, their wives and women guests. A balloon shot at midnight announced the advent of the New Year, the distribution of horns, carols and other wares lent a carnival atmosphere. Chuch Helm and his Continentals played the dance music.

A buffet supper was served during the intermission. Carl Holtenbeck, George Hof, James Sinclair, Hugh Faulkner and John Lester composed a committee in charge of arrangements.

Gloria Dickson, the Foxstar, film star, goes delicately feminine for important evening in two tones of sheerest silk. The slightly long-waisted bodice is pale coral, daintily shirred with silver thread. A coral velvet ribbon outlines the top of the filmy black skirt, and ties in a shy bow at the back.

MRS. A. D. BOBIER WINS CONTEST FOR 2ND YEAR

Grand award for the second successive year had been decreed today to Mrs. A. D. Bobier, 235 Seventh avenue east, in the Times and News Christmas home lighting contest.

The committee of arbiters indicated that at least half a dozen additional decoration schemes had been considered in the race for prizes before final selection was made.

Second award, $15—Mrs. J. E. Browning, 1141 1/2th avenue east. Third, $5—James Priebe, 155 Seventh avenue east. Fourth, $3—R. J. Schweidman, 1501 Shoshone street east. Fifth, $1—Marvin A. Newman, 24 Walnut street. Sixth, $1—Mrs. E. K. Kall, 1241 1/2th avenue east. Seventh, $1—Mrs. A. and Alice Perry, 160 Seventh avenue north. Eighth, $1—Mrs. Everett M. Sweeley, 928 Blue Lakes boulevard.

Honorable mention—Florence Lusk, 402 Second avenue west; Jack Benoit, 138 Seventh avenue east; Francis Kierstead, 140 Fourth avenue east. All of the honorable mention winners were young entrants who had contrived ingenious and attractive decorations. Of the cash winners, young Priebe and the Peavy sisters were the youngest to earn honors. Priebe's "Cathedral Windows" simulating stained glass—were most unique among entries by younger contestants.

The judges—three women from the Twentieth century club and two men from male civic groups—reported that "it was a difficult task to pick winners from among the scores of attractive home displays this year." They said that points were deducted for over-elaborate simplicity, general effect, color scheme, and creation of a Yule atmosphere. Several displays which attracted wide attention of motorists who loitered the city throughout the holiday season were ruled out because of over-elaborate nature.

Duke Gridders are 1-2 Underdogs In Trojan Clash

PASADENA, Calif., Jan. 2 (UP)—Southern California's powerful football team was a top-heavy favorite to gather all the blossoms and leave Duke with the thorns in today's 25th renewal of the intersectional Rose bowl game.

It brings together the champions of the Southern conference and the kings of the Pacific slope and will be watched by 93,000 persons, the largest gathering in the history of the Tournament of Roses series. Every seat in the giant Arroyo Seco bowl has been sold and today scalpers were asking, and getting, as much as $15 for a $4.40 pastebowl.

Duke, winner of nine straight games during its regular season, will start the same eleven that humbled mighty Pittsburgh at Durham some six weeks ago, and Southern California will answer the kick-off with the same team it started against Notre Dame in its last game of the season.

Shayne G. The North Carolinians swept through their nine games to score 114 points as against none from their opponents. But not even this matchless record was sufficient to make them even money against the southern California team, and the Pacific slope team was unopposed to come to Pasadena since Pleading Wolf brought his Michigan Wolverines here in 1937, still found themselves the underdogs.

The bookies quoted Southern California at 1 to 8, and the enthusiastic Trojan backers were giving as high as 3 to 1 or 10 to 1.

Trojan Record Poor The Trojans brought a record as the Duke, into the bowl. They were beaten twice during the season, first by Alabama and then by Washington. But after a slow start, they closed with a tremendous show of power and speed to crush Notre Dame and the Pacific slope ball peddlers came out flatly to declare that they were the best all-round squad in the history of the Pacific conference.

Weather will be perfect for the beautiful Tournament of Roses parade and the game. A clear sky and warm sun has been promised by the weather man.

Sell-Out will See Orange Bowl Contest

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 2 (UP)—Tennessee and Oklahoma, two of the nation's best surviving college football teams, are scheduled to meet in the Orange Bowl today.

A sell-out of 30,000, largest ever to witness a sporting event, was expected in the historic stadium, and to watch them have it out, Tennessee was banking on its superior reserves, speed and versatility against the power and brute force of Oklahoma.

Tennessee's supporters made them 1-10 favorites.

Probable starting lineups:
Oklahoma: Pos. Tennessee; Shirk, E. Hunter; Rogers, J. G. Mottram; Speigle, O. R. Rike; Stevenson, R. G. Balford; Powers, R. T. Woodcutt; Young, R. E. Wyatt; Crowder, Q. B. Caffey; Hayden, C. H. Bartholomew; Corlette, C. H. Fetz; McCullough, J. B. Coffman.

Odds Even in Ute-Lobo Tilt

EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 2 (UP)—Football teams of the Universities of Utah and New Mexico met today on even odds in the annual Sun bowl game.

Utah's indication of a favorite came from the preponderance of Utah fans. Otherwise, 15,000 fans, a stadium sell-out, expected to see two squads in top form, each using an open type of game.

Utah expected to do more passing than in its regular season under the cloudless sky here. The Arizona team had caught the spirit of the open game in its workouts here.

Coch. Tech. Shipley's formations had drilled the New Mexico team into tricky spread formations for aerial attack. New Mexico's backfield had been drilled by Coach Shipley to cover a knee injury and was expected to do little playing, Utah's back, Paul Brown, was out with a broken collarbone.

FEATURE
SUN VALLEY, Jan. 2 (Special)—A feature in the line of entertainment for the holiday crowd here attending the national intercollegiate skiing championships, was a series of exhibition jumps by Al Engen, Max Hutter and Friedl Pfeiffer, all professional skiers.

Engen made a leap of 60 meters, just short of his record set last year of 65 meters in the Ruides mountain hill built for 40 meter jumps.

Boston Stretches Hockey Loop Lead
(By United Press)
Boston Bruins were four points out in front in the National Hockey League race today as New York's two clubs, the Rangers and Americans, were waging a battle for position in second place.

The Bruins increased their lead by two points with a 4-1 victory over the Detroit Red Wings last night, cutting score and in the game's final six minutes to snap a two-game losing streak.

Alas for Duke—Col. Mac of East Favored To Capture Shrine Game

PARADISE, Calif., Jan. 2 (UP)—Every time a southern team comes out here for the Rose Bowl, a serious flaw in its sports writing material is revealed.

The flaw is an inability to give the heart from every point of view. It is one who has not one ounce of sentiment; a man of sense and wit who can catch any sort of athletic contest without caring who wins. Just so it is the more professional man or team that is more likely to win.

I wish my level bet to be that I will have tried for 10 long years, but without success. It is simply impossible for me to be in my present more than five minutes before acquiring a favorite and becoming a fan as anyone in the house or stadium.

U. S. C. Favored
Take this Rose Bowl game of today, for example. Every point of view is given as sharply as Sherman ever did. But somewhere deep inside of me, tucked away, perhaps, between a slice of sweet potato pie and a glass of turnip cream, I love and feel for the old south that will never die.

Utah Duke may have to battle today. It will be flying the Bonnie blue flag of the Confederacy. It will be un-union, but it will be there, making every man his a little harder, try a little longer.

I've got to go with the Duke. I must not let my balls, not a punk's orange, but a hot black, dripping with butter. And so, taking a hot black, and using a chicken drumstick dipped in cream gravy for a pen, I write you the score of the 1938 tournament of roses football game.

DAIRYMEN PLAN MEET AT BOISE

Appointment of a legislative committee, composed of representatives of all branches of the dairy industry, will be one of the highlights of the annual convention of the various groups which will be held in Boise Jan. 4 and 5. It was announced here this afternoon by O. R. Koster, state president of the Idaho Creamery Operators association.

Other associations who will be represented during the annual convention will include the Idaho State Dairymen's association as well as members of cattle clubs and various breeders' associations.

Resolutions and nominating committee members to serve during the convention were named here by Koster yesterday. E. S. Trask, Idaho Falls, president of the Idaho Co-operative chamber, was named chairman of the resolutions group. On the committee will be W. B. Wagner, Payette and George Sidel, Twin Falls.

Members of the nominating committee include D. H. Mauwaring, Rexburg, chairman; H. P. Hansen, Arden, and Jack Johnson, Pocatello.

Koster said this afternoon that from 25 to 30 representatives will attend from Twin Falls county but at the present time the list was not complete.

NOTED SPEAKERS AT DAIRY MEET

BOISE, Jan. 2 (Special)—Noted speakers from several states will address the dairymen and breed association annual meeting here Jan. 3 through Jan. 5, according to D. L. Pout, University of Idaho associate dairy husbandman who is state secretary-treasurer of the dairy association.

Committee meetings will make up the first day's program. The breed associations will meet for their annual meeting on the second day. Roger W. Moore, Oregon State dairy agent, will outline Oregon's plan for controlling Bang's disease and Dr. A. K. Kuttler, bureau of animal industry will discuss the federal program for Bang's disease prevention.

Frank L. Winkler, Boise secretary of the Western Idaho State Fair, will point out the fair prospects for 1939.

The last day Professor Fourcotte, breeding director at the Idaho Agricultural Experiment Station, explains progress in controlling mastitis and Dr. D. B. Shoggy, head of the University dairy department will outline the results of a study of quality milk.

E. W. Doe, San Francisco, vice-president of Safeway, discusses the sales campaign to market surplus products and Edward O. Roemer, Boise, points out the place of Idaho in the national plan of selling.

D. T. Roster, Twin Falls, president of the creamery operators' association, leads the concluding discussion.

TOWN HALL WILL HAVE GUEST DAY

"Guest night" was decreed today by Twin Falls Town Hall officers for the Jan. 7 lecture here by Dr. No. Yone Park, noted Oriental historian who will discuss the Far Eastern crisis.

Club chiefs decided to conduct a meeting on the Town Hall program by permitting each member to bring one guest. Ordinarily the Town Hall attractions are closed to all except members.

Dr. Park will speak at 8 p. m. Saturday, Jan. 7, at the L. D. S. church.

Jerome Rites For Mrs. Lottie Purdy

JEROME, Jan. 2 (Special)—Largely attended funeral services for Mrs. Lottie A. Purdy, who died at Twin Falls last week, were conducted from the Wiley funeral home Friday. Rev. Albert E. Martin, Methodist pastor, officiated and interment was made in Jerome cemetery under the direction of the Wiley funeral home.

Mrs. Margaret Lee sang two solos, "Ave Maria" and "Rock of Ages." The members of the Wendell Rebekah lodge conducted services at the cemetery.

Funeral services were held at 10 a. m. at St. Mary's R. C. church. Mrs. Purdy had been ill several months. She was an early settler in the Bellevue district and had lived at Fairfield and Wendell before coming to Jerome, where she had resided for the past eight years.

PRRAISE

James A. Farley, postmaster general of the United States, today sent a "Happy New Year" card to the postmaster and staff of the Twin Falls office complimenting them on their work during the past 12 months.

The card read as follows: "In reviewing the accomplishments of the postal service for the year just ended, it affords me much pleasure to express to you and your force my deep appreciation for your loyalty and hearty cooperation, and I desire to extend to you and the employees of your office my sincere wishes for a happy and prosperous New Year."

Similar greetings were received by other central Idaho postal staffs.

W. O. W. SELECTS INSTALLING DATE

Installation of officers for the Twin Falls council, Woodmen of the World, will be held the night of Jan. 12 at 10 p. m. at the O. O. F. hall. Commander Spencer N. Robinson announced last week.

Decision on the date was made at a business meeting which preceded last week's meeting. The W. O. W. dance at the Odd Fellows hall. Approximately 200 persons attended the dance, with delegation coming from various south Idaho towns and one delegation drifting from Boise.

At the installation ceremony Jan. 12, Robinson said, the Woodmen will make arrangements for a big installation meeting the latter part of January.

Robinson and the remainder of the staff have been selected but some changes will occur because several officers are resigning posts they now hold in order to accept new rank.

FDR TO ATTACK DICTATORS' RULE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2 (UP)—Previous reports of President Roosevelt's annual message to Congress, set forth today a pulse-string call for national defense and a warning against the danger of dictatorship.

Mr. Roosevelt's associates believe it will be the most vigorous speech of his career. The message will be delivered shortly after noon Wednesday at a joint session of house and senate.

The new year message will begin at noon Tuesday. It would be a perfunctory gathering but for declaration of the senate campaign executive committee to proceed at that moment its report concerning progress administration political activity in the fall election campaign in some of its states covered by the inquiry. Some persons describe the report as a "blast" at the WPA system.
