LEGISLATURE PASSES TAX MORATORIUM CONGRESS SENATORS, ECONOMIZERS START BUDGET BATTLE

Consideration Opens On Surprise Request For WPA Assistance

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (U.P.)—Congress broke the barrier of routine organization today for a six months contest with President Roosevelt for dominance.

New Deal spenders and legislative economists will make the first test of a settlement in the new congress. House appropriation committees today began consideration of Mr. Roosevelt's surprise call for $875,000,000 to keep WPA afloat during the remainder of this fiscal year. That appropriation would establish a $4,097,000,000 deficit this year.

Subcommittee Chairman Clifton A. Woodrum, D. Va., of the house group which will handle the bill, is committed to $500,000,000. The first test of strength will depend largely on whether he stands out or surrenders.

"There was a rattling but largely idle fire of congressional protest against some of Mr. Roosevelt's nominations to high office," Professor Felix Frankfurter, a New Deal member of the Harvard law faculty, was named yesterday to the supreme court vacancy created by death of Charles E. Hughes.

Frankfurter's confirmation is as certain as anything political can be. Attorney-General-designate, Frank Murphy, likewise, should pass over the hurdle. Harry L. Hopkins, the new secretary of commerce, will have higher jumps, but was expected to be confirmed.

Both the Murphy and Hopkins nominations were criticized somewhat on the grounds Mr. Roosevelt was regarding "lame ducks" crippled either by the electorate or otherwise rendered unavailable for previous jobs.

Hills Pope, too. The "lame duck" complaint also embraced former Sen. Charles McNary, D. Idaho, who made a one-term New Deal record for himself but was regarded as private in his last November Democratic campaign. Mr. Roosevelt named Pope to the board of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Congressional dispute is developing generally in connection with spending, national defense and modification of the New Deal, including the national labor relations act. Mr. Roosevelt has submitted the administration economy bill, $312,322 on relief.

With the $875,000,000 now sought by Mr. Roosevelt—some $375,000,000 more than he requested last year—he would need recovery and relief costs this year to get to $3,122,000,000. There are $312,322 persons now on relief rolls. The President agreed in his relief message that WPA should be kept out of politics but rejected suggestions that local administration be set up to keep the institution pure.

After a couple of nights sleep on it, congress still was uncertain about Mr. Roosevelt's national defense program which was accompanied by a threat of economic reprisals against dictators.

But continued foreign aggression and unwarranted interference with American rights constantly urged on Mr. Roosevelt's position so that it is likely he will obtain full emergency war powers. He said he would have unlimited authority to deal with dictators short of war but more vigorously than with mere wars.

NEW YORK TAX STRIKE IS ENDED

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (U.P.)—A tax-rail strike involving 28 companies and 12,000 workers was settled today by a collective bargaining election conducted by the state mediation board and the men returned to work.

The transport workers union of the CIO, which called the strike Tuesday, won the election in six companies including the New York City and New Jersey electric power and gas companies.

Victorious unions in each company will negotiate for contracts later.

SURPRISE ROYAL OFFENSIVE GAINS IN SPAIN'S WAR

HENDAYE, French-Spanish Frontier, Jan. 6 (U.P.)—A surprise loyalist offensive in southwestern Spain, presumably intended as a diversion to relieve pressure on the Contado, last night, offered a serious threat to nationalist communications to the south.

Dispatches indicated Gen. Jose Mola, hero of the defense of Madrid, was leading the loyalist attack in person.

Reports were that the loyalists were attacking over a front of more than 40 miles and had made unexpected progress, pushing through all the defenses, including the strategically important hill ranges, and cutting highways and railroads in the center of the Almaden mining area.

The loyalist drive came just when the nationalists, occupying the towns of Ariza de Segura and Torras Blancas, ended the second phase of their Catalan offensive.

It was indicated that, in their Extremadura drive, the loyalists were driving northward and southward in coincident movements.

Within the first 24 hours, the loyalists took the towns of Castuera, Vallejo, Don Benito, Caceres, Del Puerto, Villavieja de la Sierra and Granville.

Barcelona dispatches, mentioning their aviation activity, said they had captured the towns of Alcazar, and, hitting one in the bow, saw heavy clouds of smoke rising from it. No details were given.

Nazis Threaten U. S. Commercial Airplane Business—Lindbergh

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 (U.P.)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has advised the government that Germany, having established the world's greatest military air fleet, is now in a position to threaten the United States' world dominance in production of commercial aircraft.

Lindbergh, a reserve officer in the army air corps and member of the national advisory committee on aeronautics, reported his findings in a confidential document after making extensive inspection trips in Germany and elsewhere in Europe.

State, war and navy department officials and President Roosevelt himself denied knowledge of the Lindbergh report, but it was learned on high authority it has been made available to the three departments.

The report said Germany's military air fleet is superior to any in Europe and vastly greater than the United States' air arm in point of number of planes.

It reportedly said German military planes were not superior to American ships in performance, but the Nazi government is conducting experiments about radically different types of aircraft, the future of military air warfare.

It was said in authoritative quarters that the report estimated Germany's air strength at approximately 10,000 first-line fighters and bombers, plus a large number of transport planes, and that the Nazis were planning to increase this strength by 50 percent in the next few years.

2 BILLS WILL BE INTRODUCED FOR SCHOOL BATTLE

BOISE, Jan. 6 (U.P.)—Two bills designed to reorganize the southern branch of the University of Idaho at Pocatello into a full four-year degree granting institution will be introduced in the state legislature early next week, lobbyist said today.

The two companion bills would: 1. Authorize a bond issue of $400,000 to build additions to the Idaho southern campus. 2. Extend the course at Idaho southern to a full four-year, degree-granting institution.

William S. Cady, general manager of the Tribune-Journal at Pocatello, and leader of the powerful lobby fighting to push the bill through the legislature, said he was confident of administration support of the proposal. Opponents of the measure, headed by Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen, frowned on it.

"Our proposal does not ask for an increase in educational funds," Cady said. "Therefore it would not be in line with the administration's economy policies but instead would fit in with them. The University of Idaho at Moscow has been running on a champagne budget too long."

Southern and northern Idaho legislators are lined up against each other in the fight over the proposal which has failed in several previous sessions, once by the slim margin of one vote.

Group Approves $450,000 Public Assistance Bill

BOTTOLFSSEN SIGNS 1ST TWO MEASURES OF 1939

By WILLIAM McMENAMIN

BOISE, Jan. 6 (U.P.)—A property tax moratorium until December, 1939, and an appropriation of $450,000 for public assistance for January were the first actions of the 25th legislature to become law today when Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen affixed his signature to the bills.

Working in harmony, without a dissenting vote, both houses suspended rules and pushed through three emergency bills for the benefit of relief recipients and delinquent taxpayers.

Gov. Bottolfsen, scheduled to address a convention of the Idaho Wool Growers in Idaho Falls, paced his office, anxious to sign the bills before he departed on the 12-43 train. They arrived, he signed, and they became laws.

The third bill, a companion to the relief measure, was left unsigned.

Provides Funds The public assistance bill provides funds to pay Idaho's aged and indigent benefits during January and February. The amount was placed high enough so that the state may carry the relief burden until the corrective legislation is passed to insure cooperation by the federal government in providing relief funds.

It was an emergency measure, but effective until permanent legislation can be drafted and passed. The permanent measure would correct the state relief pool to conform with federal standards.

Moratorium Set The delinquent tax bill provides for a moratorium on delinquent taxes for 1939 through 1941, inclusive, a reduction from 25 to eight per cent in combined interest and penalty charges on delinquent taxes, and a refund for each year of delinquent taxes in installments.

Meanwhile, the house recessed until tomorrow after cleaning up all legislation before it for consideration. The senate recessed until late today.

Monroe Doctrine and Lima Meet Discussed

Cordell Hull, secretary of state, accomplished more than any other delegate the United States has ever sent to a Pan-American conference, Mrs. Gladys Domagala declared last evening in an address on the Lima, Peru, conference. Mrs. Domagala, and Mrs. L. E. Joslyn, who discussed the Monroe Doctrine, were speakers at the International Relations study group last evening at the home of Mrs. Emma Jones.

Current events were given in responses to roll call, and the timely matters were discussed by the group, under the leadership of Mrs. Metta Baish.

Mrs. Domagala gave a complete summary of the recent conference to increase amicable relations between the Americas. Because he showed no trace of a feeling of superiority which had been evidenced by former representatives of the United States to the conference, he created an excellent impression, she pointed out.

"The Monroe doctrine was merely a presidential message, never a law," Mrs. Joslyn explained, and enumerated its outstanding points:

That the western hemisphere is no longer open to colonization by European countries; that any attempt to extend the system of absolute autocratic government to any part of the American continent would be met with an unfriendly disposition toward the United States; and that it would be an unfriendly act for a European power to oppress the American republics or try to control their destinies.

Continuing her discussion, Mrs. Joslyn reminded her listeners that the doctrine was incorporated in the covenant of the League of Nations.

Only Best Trick Can Save Goebbels, Reporter States

By MILTON BRONNER
(NEA Service)

LONDON—Whatever the truth of widely circulated reports that Dr. Joseph Goebbels was almost beaten to death by friends of Gustav Frolich—who was put in a concentration camp in order that Goebbels might make love to the lovely Frau Frolich—one thing is certain: It will take plenty of propagandizing to keep the dwarfish Goebbels in his powerful position as Reich propaganda minister.

With Hitler reportedly enraged at the behavior of his mouthpiece, Goebbels, subtle strategist and master of psychology, will have to pull one of the slickest tricks of his remarkable career to keep his high place.

Exposure of his plot to assassinate a severe blow to Nazi dignity.

Goebbels is the world's best showman. He has pulled off spectacles that make the feats of Barnum and Rickard look like a county fair.

It is no easy job to spoon-feed some 80 million minds. That is the task of little Goebbels. Next to Hitler he has been the most influential man in Germany.

It has been Goebbels who, in the way, stable routing, creative and incidents, staging gigantic political parades, selling the dogma of national socialism.

Herr Goebbels has an eye for the young and beautiful. Here he is taking to Erna Sack, German songstress.

Patron of Arts

Goebbels is an unusually well-educated man. He reads Virgil for relaxation, delights in the company of artists, musicians, scholars.

Young Goebbels was studying the fine arts when his German contemporaries were mired in the mud in World war trenches.

He was physically unfit for military service.

Born with a chisel foot at Rheinfelden, Germany, Oct. 29, 1897, he was the son of a steel foreman and a blacksmith's daughter.

Ironically enough, the man who was to spread the racial orthodoxy of the Third Reich as a nation of Nordic Siegfrieds sprang himself from a tribe of dwarfish Gibeonites.

At 17 he went to college. Drilling from one university to another, seven in all, he graduated finally from Heidelberg with a doctor of philosophy degree in 1921. He won high honors.

Young Goebbels matured to 5 feet 4 inches; he was a study of complexion, with snapping black eyes and raven black hair.

Germany at that time (1921) was a fertile field for the young crusader. It was seething with revolution. Orators agitated from every corner. One of these was Adolf Hitler.

Goebbels met the future Fuehrer first in 1922 at a students' mass meeting.

Shortly, the French entered the Ruhr and Goebbels followed as an agitator. In 1924 he became editor of a weekly journal in Elberfeld devoted solely to revolutionary propaganda.

Gustav Frolich with his Czech wife, Lida Baarova, whose youth and beauty caught Goebbels' eye.

Master of His Work

His rise from that date was swift. Soon he was made district commander for the national socialists.

He was named finally minister of propaganda and enlightenment.

As such the slender Goebbels, who was easily mistaken for a messenger boy, proceeded to "organize the thought" of the Germans.

He did it through newspapers, gigantic mass meetings, every conceivable device of publicity and censorship and propaganda.

"I can play upon public opinion," Goebbels once boasted, "as upon the stops of a mighty organ."

His wife, charming Magda Goebbels, who has long held the eye and ear of Hitler, is admittedly the most powerful woman in the Reich. She has often served as Hitler's mistress.

The family—they have four children—has been the center of the Nazi cult life.

But now Frau Goebbels plays a divorce. Hitler is the only person who can stop her.

BUSINESS CONTINUES FORWARD STEPS

Report Shows Sales of New Year are High

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (AP)—The trend of retail and wholesale trade continued forward last week, both divisions widening their gains over the corresponding period of last year on more liberal spending policies.

With expenditures for New Year celebrations estimated to have reached the largest volume in years in many centers, retail volume climbed to a level of two to six per cent ahead of the initial week of 1938. In the first week of last year retail trade showed a one to four per cent gain over the year ago volume.

As the sharp influx of buyers to spring trade shows began, wholesale activity took the business spotlight, the report said. Most of the orders written during the week were for seasonal merchandise, but inquiries and initial bookings on the new lines were considered encouraging.

Compared with a year ago total sales at wholesale were estimated to be six per cent greater, against a two to four per cent gain in the preceding week. Distress merchandise was scarce, but sales of their own stocks were virtually doubled in some departments were not insistent on price concessions. Although buyers appeared to be getting for spring five to 10 per cent higher than a year ago, they bought for inventory cautiously, concentrating largely on goods for fast turnover.

Energetic Year for Kiwanis, Achievement Report Shows

Leaders

From a standpoint of philosophy, inter-club relationships, support of community projects and social activities, Twin Falls Kiwanis club during 1938 experienced one of the most active years since its organization in 1921.

This was evidenced in the annual achievement report, which was presented at the annual meeting of the club, held at the Hotel Hooton, retiring president, and U. N. Terry, secretary for 1938-39, which was presented at yesterday's meeting of the club.

Work is Feature

The project which probably attracted the greatest attention was the establishment and dedication of a Kiwanis park at Shoshone Falls park. The installation of stoves, rustic benches and tables adding materially to the pleasure of visiting parties during the vacation season.

As in former years, the supplying of milk to underprivileged children, and the contribution of financial aid and leadership to boy and girl activities of the community, were most noteworthy.

Through the milk fund, which has been in operation for a number of years, the club during the school year ending in May, 1938, was instrumental in the distribution of 40,000 bottles of milk to the children of the public schools, and about 25 per cent of this was distributed free to the underprivileged school children.

Following the project, the club in 1938 started a fund to be used in supplying clothing, shoes, books and other essentials to pupils from underprivileged homes. The Christmas fund, collected Dec. 22, will be distributed to these uses.

Sponsors Scouts

Kiwanis club has as a regular project the sponsorship of the Kiwanis Boy Scout troop. The club also sponsors a school safety patrol, the boys being provided with least-escape and equipment through the instrumentality of the Kiwanians.

Follow-up work on a hospitalization case which was started in 1937, was another philanthropy of 1938 for the club. Financial aid was given to the Twin Falls recreation committee for furtherance of boys and girls' work, and the Kiwanis club contributed two campfires for Camp Fire girls.

To facilitate inter-club relations, the club was host to the Rotary and Lions clubs at luncheons; joined the Buhl and Pile clubs in an all-Kiwanis night program during the international convention, and participated with the Pile and Buhl clubs in an installation meeting.

At World Meet

William S. Hill, newly elected president, District Governor Duval, Hedstrom and Terry were present at the International Kiwanis convention at San Francisco June 26-30.

No worthwhile project or community undertaking was minor. Kiwanis supported the new year social events included attendance at the Lions club Charter night dinner, the supervision of a high school dance, a father-son banquet, and a father-daughter banquet; the annual Ladies' night Christmas party.

With an active membership of 75, the local Kiwanis club will continue and will augment the accomplishments of the past year and 1939, according to the well-roulled program of activities outlined by Mr. Hill, the new president.
