SENATE VOTES TO END WATER BOARD LEADERS' BATTLE TO HALT ADDED RELIEF CUT

ADMINISTRATION FEARS REDUCTION TO $600,000,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (UP)—Senate administration leaders are concentrating their efforts to prevent further reductions in the deficiency relief appropriation and are willing to accept the $725,000,000 approved by the house, it was understood today.

Their reconciliation to acceptance of the $150,000,000 cut made by the house in the $875,000,000 bill requested by President Roosevelt was said to be based on fear that attempts to restore the original figure might create more support for those seeking to reduce the fund to as little as $500,000,000.

Another factor influencing Senate leaders is the fact that Chairman Carter Glass, D., Va., of the senate appropriations committee, and other members are spending bloc, were attempting to build support to decrease the relief funds even more.

$600,000,000 Too High
"I think even the $600,000,000 figure is too high," Glass said. Glass was understood to have questioned various conservative Democrats and Republicans on their views. Sen. Pat Harrison, D., Miss., who split with the administration over taxation and spending policies, told Glass he would vote for a reduction to $600,000,000.

Sen. Richard A. Russell, D., Ga., a member of the appropriations subcommittee in charge of the bill, said he believed the house figure would be accepted. Similar predictions were made by subcommittee Chairman Alva Adams, D., Colo., and Sen. J. Bennett Johnston, D., La. Sen. Gerald P. Nye, R., N. D., said he was considering offering a motion in committee to boost the appropriations up to the administration's figure.

U. S. to Buy Silver Mined Before July 1

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (UP)—The treasury today issued regulations to eliminate deficiencies of physical delivery of domestic silver to the United States by July 1—date of expiration of the first price for ore mined in this country.

In preceding continuation of the price of 64.64 cents an ounce last June 31, President Roosevelt said that price would be paid only for domestic silver delivered to mints by expiration of the order on July 1.

The treasury order, however, said the silver mined prior to that date may be delivered for the 64.64 cent quotation after July 1. That transaction, the treasury said, must be completed through certificates transferring title of the metal to the federal government and detailed proof of the silver was mined prior to June 30.

Treasury officials explained the regulations were issued to clarify a misunderstanding that the 64.64 cent quotation would apply only to silver actually delivered prior to July 1.

Loss $50,000 as Fire Sweeps Ketchum Hotel

St. Georg Inn Destroyed by Monday Blaze

KETCHUM, Jan. 17 (Special)—St. Georg hotel, whose frontier room and old time western bar was a popular rendezvous for Sun Valley vacationists both winter and summer, was completely destroyed by fire which swept the structure late yesterday afternoon.

Damages to the structure, a replica of the hotel set in the motion picture "Met Him in Paris," was placed by owner-manager B. J. (Pete) Bonin at $40,000 to $50,000. Insurance covering the building came to an estimated $25,000.

The fire, discovered by a chamber maid in a third floor linen closet just prior to 5 p. m. yesterday, spread rapidly and by 7:30 p. m. the entire structure had collapsed. It is believed the fire started in the attic. If the hotel had been determined today and some experts the opinion that it would never be known.

Save Village
For awhile, as the fire raged, fear was expressed for the entire village as sparks from the hotel covered the area, carried by wind. Volunteer fire fighters from Ketchum, Sun Valley and Hailey were seriously hampered in their efforts to extinguish the blaze through lack of water and water pressure.

Furniture Saved
Practically two-thirds of the guest room furniture as well as fixtures were saved. Saved also were portable bar and lobby furniture and fixtures.

No casualties were recorded although some 40 guests were forced to flee to the street, none having time to gather up personal belongings before they were overtaken.

The St. Georg was opened in July of 1936. It was constructed under the shell of a former hotel which stood for more than 20 years in Warm Springs canyon. It was named after the hotel in the film which was made with Sun Valley's scenery as a setting.

This afternoon Mr. Bonin said that announcement as to whether the hotel would be rebuilt would be decided within the next week. It is believed, however, by observers that such rebuilding will be abandoned.

HERE'S NOMINEE FOR FIRE HEROINE HONOR

Every big fire has its hero or heroine—and three Hotel St. Georg patrons who fled from the $50,000 blaze last night voted the heroine award today to Elidiah Folven, North Dakota young lady who rushed through the hotel giving the fire warning.

The trio of fire survivors was Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Roberts, Boise, and Mrs. Carl Brown, Ketchum. They came to Twin Falls today and told the first eye-witness account of the disaster that wrecked the historic hotel structure.

Miss Folven, they said, works at the Alpine cafe and had been staying at the St. Georg.

Warns Guests
"She discovered the fire," said Mrs. Brown. "She rushed downstairs and told the management, and then rushed back to warn other guests."

Mrs. Roberts added: "She didn't save a thing of her own—not even a pair of slippers. And the tall and attractive Miss Folven, they said, would have had plenty of time to rescue her belongings. If she hadn't walked to warn other guests, because the fire didn't spread down to the second floor until about 15 minutes."

Miss Folven is a resident of Minot, N. D.

As far as hero awards go, however, the trio of guests who fled the fire—and lost practically everything in their rooms—said that the volunteer fire-fighters did a courageous job of attempting to battle the flames against odds. The volunteers penetrated right up to the third floor site of the flames, rescued furniture and the luggage and possessions and in general battled mightily against odds.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Brown were asleep on the third floor when the fire came. They were awakened, oddly enough, by an alarm clock.

"Then we heard shouts of fire—and next the electric fire alarm system went off," said Mrs. Roberts. Mrs. Brown grabbed for her coat and fled without seizing anything else.

LOYAL TROOPERS TURN BACK TWO REBEL THRUSTS

HENDAY, French-Spanish Frontier, Jan. 17 (UP)—Loyalist military advisers reported today that two powerful insurgent thrusts toward Barcelona had been hurled back by government troops fighting with their backs to the wall in the Queralt and Collada mountains.

Although insurgent messages to the frontier asserted that Rebel Gen. Francisco Franco's offensive continued to gain ground, the loyalists reported that renewal of intensive attacks on the Sierra de Collada and Sierra de Queralt had been repulsed. Failure of the nationalists to break through the newly established loyalist lines halted the Franco drive toward the important mountainous town of Igualada, which the rebels claimed to be approaching yesterday. Igualada is but 30 miles from Barcelona.

Fighting Bitter
Bitter fighting also was reported from the Cervera sector, northwest of the Sierra de Collada. The loyalists reported their troops were stubbornly resisting in both sectors, blocking the rebel attempts to consolidate their gains and counter-attack along the road leading from Cervera to Igualada and thence to Barcelona. Italian and Spanish troops suffered heavy losses, the loyalist dispatches reported, in the Cervera sector. Dispatches from both sides said that the rebel attack and army bombardment in that sector, as well as elsewhere on the Catalan front, had been repulsed and that a "tremendous number of tanks" were taking part in the Franco offensive.

In Barcelona, thousands of men and boys from factories and offices were sent to work on new fortification lines.

Women were drafted into service in place of the men as the loyalist government sent all able-bodied men either to the fighting lines or to new defensive works. Huge signs in Barcelona streets appealed to women to volunteer for men's work. Already, women were prominent at such places as filling stations. Roads were crowded with buses and trucks taking men from the city.

Rebel Drive Slows
The nationalist drive on the loyalist capital had slowed, but only for the moment, partly to different lines of the fighting lines or to new defensive works. Huge signs in Barcelona streets appealed to women to volunteer for men's work. Already, women were prominent at such places as filling stations. Roads were crowded with buses and trucks taking men from the city.

Shipments Out
Shipments out of Twin Falls during 1938 topped those in 1937 by a substantial figure but meeting railroads for last year left considerably under those of the year before, according to a 12-month compilation announced today by J. L. Vetter, Union Pacific agent.

Export Goods Lead
Agricultural commodities led the list in volume of goods forwarded from Twin Falls, the report shows, although the largest single item is wool. The figures show that total 1938 shipments of wool were 24,000 bales. Heavy lumber and individual commodity shipments from here were pointers, of which wool was the largest, with 11,000 bales.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 17—From Atlanta, Ga., to Darjeeling, India, is a long way—about 9,500 miles in fact.

But not too far to go to find Scarlett O'Hara, as Producer David Selznick would agree. That's where Vivien Leigh, who won the coveted role of the lovely southern girl who has been cultivating their you-all brogue for two years can just relax.

TEST OF PARTY STRENGTH GIVES GOP 27-17 EDGE

By WILLIAM McENAMIN
BOISE, Jan. 17 (UP)—Republicans and Democrats showed their full strength for the first time this session in the Idaho senate today in a vote on a bill to abolish the state water conservation board and transfer its functions to the department of reclamation.

The Republican-backed measure passed, 27 to 17, exact party count.

Eliminate Duplication
Heath told the senate the bill would eliminate unnecessary duplication of function. Newport declared the water board was doing "splendid work" and said farmers and reclamation leaders did not want it abolished, he added. The functions were vitally necessary, he contended.

To Resist 'Stemcracker'
The Democrats served notice they would resist, what they called the Republican-backed measure. They rushed legislation through this far in the session when they met early today with Sen. Z. B. Foss, Republican party chairman. They pledged to organize a strong minority and resist legislation of which they disapproved.

MURPHY CONFIRMED
WASHINGTON, Jan. 17 (UP)—The senate today confirmed the nomination of Frank Murphy as attorney general. Vote was 78 to 7.

ILLEGALITY OF $5 LICENSE REFUTED
BOISE, Jan. 17 (UP)—A challenge to the constitutionality of the $5 automobile license fee legislation was today rejected by the Idaho legislature. The measure was introduced by Rep. H. C. Reineke, R., Twin Falls, to provide additional compensation for judges for the year 1939.

SNOW
Heavy snowfall that slowed to an intermittent pace by noon brought Twin Falls and this general area to a standstill today. Streets and roads were treacherous early today, but not so much later in the day, according to preliminary reports from the city police office and state patrol.

Encouraging Husband
In 1938 the husband of a woman who was killed by a car and who he encouraged her to drive, was today sentenced to prison for a year.

OPPOSITION LOOMS ON $5 AUTOMOBILE LICENSE FEE

ROAD HEAD SAYS HIS DEPARTMENT TO BE CRIPPLED

BOISE, Jan. 17 (UP)—Organized opposition to the $5 automobile license fee proposal best Idaho senators today, but Republican leaders said it would pass the upper house by a comfortable margin.

After this morning's session, the reduced car license fee and an appropriation of at least $1,000,000 from the highway fund for allocation to the counties were rushed through the house Saturday under suspension of rules.

Most potent argument advanced against the proposed $5 fee is that the highway department will be crippled with lack of funds if a portion of the gasoline tax fund is turned over to the counties.

H. R. Flint, director of highways, said his department would undoubtedly have to cancel construction if the two bills become law.

Sees Contract Cancelling

He said his department had already let contracts and had advertised for others on highway work which would be curtailed from lack of funds if the department was forced to turn over a share of its money to counties to carry out provisions of the reduced license fee bill.

He said, also, that if the commitments were cancelled, federal funds for the portion of highway construction proposed under the commitments would be withdrawn.

Several Republican leaders were inclined to the philosophy "we must go ahead with the $5 license fee as promised and take care of consequences later in the session."

If the highway department is short of funds now, said one Republican, "it is the fault of the present Democratic administration. We may have to issue tax anticipation notes and even bonds to take care of the temporary lack of funds, but the $5 license bill will go through."

A joint resolution calling for a constitutional convention to revise or amend the state constitution and asking that the question be submitted for a vote at the next general election was introduced in the house late yesterday. It was sponsored by the house Democrats who held that the constitution is outmoded and must be brought up to date.

Hints on Meat Buying Slated At 2 Sessions

Facts the housewife needs in buying meat intelligently will be emphasized at the meat demonstration in Twin Falls and Buley this week.

Miss Margaret Hill, district home demonstration agent, said today.

Dr. E. E. Brady, assistant professor in the University of Idaho department of animal husbandry, will conduct both meat identification sessions.

The Twin Falls gathering is set for 2 p. m. Friday, Jan. 20, at Idaho Power auditorium and the Buley meeting is at 2 p. m. Saturday, Jan. 21, at the district court room there.

"Prof. Brady will show women exactly how to buy meat, and what points to look for," Miss Hill said.

The two demonstrations are part of the extension division meat series for farm and city housewives. The previous one staged here was on meat cookery, and Buley had a display on meat cutting.

Prof. Brady will use slides to illustrate his points.

Meat for the demonstration in Twin Falls Friday will be furnished by Vogel's market, according to Miss Hill.

FDR Son Sees Texan as U. S. Leader Soon

PORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 17 (UP)—Edith Roosevelt believes a Texan will soon become President of the United States and that Vice-President John N. Garner, among others, is qualified.

His views were expressed by radio last night from a recording he made before he went to Washington where he is a guest of his father at the White House. He comments weekly on current events for his chain of radio stations.

Harvard did not specifically nominate Garner—who has been respected as the leader of the conservative opposition within the Democratic party to some of his father's policies—for the presidency, nor did he state the year in which he thought a Texan would be elected.

His point was that Texas had made great strides in agriculture, development, that its influence was growing and "the time will come soon for a Texan to be elected to the presidency of the United States."

Then he discussed the merits of prominent Texans, including in addition to Garner, Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, and consistent supporter of his father.

LEISHMAN NAMED TWIN FALLS BALL PILOT

Star Infielder is Chosen to Lead Pro Diamond Club

By HAL WOOD
Evening Times Sports Editor

Eddie Leishman, one of the greatest minor league fielding stars in the game of baseball, today was appointed manager of the Twin Falls club in the baby Pioneer professional league. The appointment was made by Bill Ulrich, owner of the local club and its parent organization, the Spokane Hawks.

Leishman was chosen over a large list of other candidates after a conference between Ulrich and officials of the Seattle Rainiers, Class AA Pacific Coast league club, which has a working agreement with the Spokane and Twin Falls teams. Word of the announcement was received here from B. N. Hutchinson, an official of the Seattle organization, for which Leishman performed during the 1938 season.

The announcement read as follows:

"Eddie Leishman of the Seattle Rainiers was named manager of the Twin Falls baseball club today by owner Bill Ulrich following a conference between Seattle baseball officials and A. J. (Monty) Montgomery, Ulrich's business manager, who has been attending the meeting of the Pacific Coast baseball league heads in Seattle."

Great Experience
Leishman brings to Twin Falls a vast amount of experience. He has taken him to the top-notch minor leagues of the country. Thirty-four years of age, Leishman is a sliver of a man, but his experience as a player and as a manager is a valuable asset to the local club. In his first season, Leishman hit .270, and he was one of the outstanding utility players in the coast league. He led the loop in fielding last season. Leishman has worked closely with Leishman in the development of the Seattle club and is noted along the coast for his keen analysis of the many players who have come through the system.

First Step
According to Ulrich and Montgomery, Eddie has a knowledge of baseball that will greatly aid in the development of young players. Signing of the manager is the first step in the securing of personnel for the local club and will be followed by the announcement of the recruiting of other playing members of the club.

During the spring training season, Leishman and Manager Bernie DeWitt of the Spokane Hawks, will visit the Rainiers' camp at Anaheim, Calif., to look over recruits of the Pacific coast team and available players approved by them will be brought to the joint training camp of the Twin Falls and Spokane clubs—sites for which has not yet been announced.

Meanwhile, work was going forward in the Pioneer league for the erection of baseball parks in the six cities and everything was expected to be in top-notch order by opening day—set the fore part of May.

'Ice Cream Cone' Proselyting Bared on Coast

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17 (UP)—Arthur Pagan, chairman of the Academic Athletic Association, said today that the "ice cream cone" proselyting of junior high school athletes would be investigated.

Pagan described as "apparently well-founded" the reports that promising junior high basketball players had been "bribe" to high schools and athletes would be everything from street car tokens to ice cream cones.

A local sportsman, commenting on the future, said if the "poison of proselyting" seeps much farther down the academic scale no one will know what to expect.

"In my mind's eye," he said, "I can see athletic directors of grammar schools hanging around kindergarten after hours, their pockets bulging with all-day suckers, roller dices and other wind-up. Freshmen's the dull to convince toddlers that public

Of All Things!! Paper Asks Mac To Act as 'Guest Handcapper'

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 17 (UP)—The surprise that Livestock felt when he appeared around a barn in the darkest night and ran into the old friend, Mac, who was, apparently looking for something, must have been great.

But it could not have been greater than my surprise when I was asked to be guest handicapper for the Santa Anita race today by the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner. A guest handicapper, as you doubtless know, is a person not officially connected with horse racing who is asked to select the winners on a certain day.

With the whole wide world to choose from, why any paper would ask me to try to name eight winners in one day is a profound mystery. People have asked me to do a lot of things—to please dance with their girl dates, to let them have five till Friday, and to put up or shut up. But this is the first time anyone has ever asked to

Jerome Cagers Upset Burley

BURLEY, Jan. 17 (Special)—The Jerome Jaycees provided the major upset of the Snake Valley Outlaw league here last night by knocking over the Burley Elks by a score of 43-37. The loss of the Jerome game was the second of the year for the Elks, but they retained their hold on second place in the loop.

The victors held a 25-20 lead at the half time, but the locals came back to gain a small advantage until the last few minutes of the game when Jerome, with John Norby pacing, moved into a substantial lead. Norby was high point man of the game with 13 counters.

Another for Budge

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 17 (UP)—Don Budge and Ellsworth Vines departed today with the Oakland red-head one over Vines, one-time pro tennis king, in their cross-country net junket.

Budge won 8-6 and 6-4 last night on errors by Vines, who was missing the baseline by inches and slamming forehands and backhands into the net by the same narrow margin. Only his terrific service kept him in the running against Budge's sharply angled cross-court shots.

Psychologist Sees Everybody
In U. S. Insane by Year 2139

BOSTON, Jan. 17 (AP)—The United States has such a bad case of insanity that there won't be a sane person around in 2139, David Seabury, New York psychologist and author, believes.

Speaking at Ford hall forum Sunday night, he cited statistics from the English Academy of Medicine to support his contention.

"The United States is on the verge of collapse," he said. "We have a bad case of insanity. The people following the Orson Welles radio drama and the fact that we spend more time teaching college students how to raise hogs than how to raise children are evidences of our insanity."

"We live in 1939 mechanically, but socially, morally and ethically, we live in the year 2139. What can keep a man sane? Why, two of nine marriages end in divorce. Isn't that it? Evidence of insanity?"

"Lack of democracy in the home is a main cause of insanity. Any mother who says to a child, 'mother knows best,' is an autocrat."

Moreover, Seabury said, each year almost as many people enter insane asylums as colleges.

2 New Officials

Rich Vein Found
Near Spot Where
Prospectors Quit

BURLEY, Jan. 17 (Special)—Thirty years ago some prospectors abandoned the old Kinney mine just south of Burley and decided to mine some other place. Last week three men struck a rich vein of copper, gold and silver ore just a few feet from the place the old prospectors had abandoned.

Emery Bates, Ernest Sparks, and Eugene Emery went down the old shaft, drilled to the west about 30 feet, and struck the bonanza. The old prospectors evidently had missed the vein by only a few feet, as they had sunk a shaft 60 feet straight down while the vein had pitched 45 degrees to the west.

The three men discovering the vein report that the ore assays high in gold, silver, and copper, and they intend to keep working the mine the rest of the winter.

Business is tiring of fruitless experiments. Business is taking the dummy off its knee and putting a man to work.

In the cold morning-after reappraisal of the media it has bought and paid for, what does Business find? Well, for one thing, it finds:

- ✓ NEWSPAPERS—with added strength; with increased circulation; tried, tested and proved resultful.
- ✓ NEWSPAPERS—modern, streamlined, vigorous and always the center of action.
- ✓ NEWSPAPERS—providing the most flexible stop-and-go advertising carrier yet devised.
- ✓ NEWSPAPERS—with measured coverage that takes the guesswork out of space-buying.
- ✓ NEWSPAPERS—the one medium that penetrates every income bracket, exercising broad and decisive influences for business welfare.

Do you realize that 91% of all adult Americans read newspapers REGULARLY? Do you realize that sound advertising investments are based not on experiment, but on EXPERIENCE? Do you wonder that M. J. B.—and others galore—emphatically say: "Newspapers do a real job for us?"

Idaho Evening NEWS

Southern Idaho, Inc., Urges Asylum Funds; Tables School Move

ASKS BLACKFOOT HELP; POSTPONES UHSB RESOLUTION

Vigorous call for corrective steps by Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen and the state legislature to remedy conditions at the Blackfoot state hospital, south, and at other state charitable institutions had been voted today by Southern Idaho, Inc.

The south Idaho booster organization, at its meeting here last night in the Park hotel, also took one other significant major step—it definitely tabled action which would have placed it on record either for or against a four-year university at the southern branch in Pocatello.

The university resolution was laid aside after members heard a spirited presentation of figures by proponents of the four-year plan and by University of Idaho spokesmen who opposed the move. Expected fireworks over the matter failed to flare, however, as the general membership held aloof from the discussion.

Crowmell Tells Conditions
The action asking corrective steps for state institutions came after Dr. J. C. Crowmell, surgeon at the Blackfoot asylum, appeared to Southern Idaho, Inc. to support remedial demands for what he termed "serious conditions."

Throwing startling figures at his hearers, Dr. Crowmell emphasized importance of the problem by asserting: "Statistics show that one out of every 270 persons at some time or another is committed to an institution for the insane. And one out of 25 develops some kind of mental deficit during a lifetime."

Conditions at Blackfoot, he charged, "are deplorable" because the hospital lacks facilities and is understaffed in every department. The hospital, under present conditions, cannot be regarded as "anything more than a big house," Dr. Crowmell said. "It is a place where we have more appropriations which which to work." He added that there are many who could be helped but there is no way to accommodate them.

Compares Funds
He cited the difference in funds allotted to the northern hospital at Orofino and the southern one at Blackfoot. Orofino asked and received 82 cents per day per person. Dr. Crowmell said he had received 55 cents per day per patient. The southern institution has 580 patients; Orofino 380.

Vigorous Indictment of Inadequate facilities at Blackfoot was offered by Dr. Charles F. Zeller, Jerome, in corroborating Dr. Crowmell's outline. The Jerome physician said he "cringes" to send patients to the hospital because one doctor cannot care for 500 people. He said mental patients are often "railroaded" through probate court and the physician has no alternative as to where they are sent.

He asserted that a mental hospital with one doctor to care 150 patients would have no recognized standing, and yet Blackfoot has only one and more than 500.

It was pointed out that similar inadequate facilities exist at the Gooding school for the deaf and blind, and the Nampa colony for the feebleminded.

The Southern Idaho, Inc., resolution urged all civil and service groups of this area to join in the effort to bring about reforms. Copies of the resolution will be sent to all state legislators.

Figures and Arguments
Spokesmen for UHSB and the university at Moscow presented comprehensive figures and arguments before the meeting here last night prior to tabling the resolution. Calling for a stand on Pocatello's four-year school campaign, it was the second thing the plan was tabled.

C. Q. Anderson, Pocatello, chairman of the four-year university committee, and A. M. Peterson, Pocatello, another member of the committee, spoke in favor of the plan. Dale M. Moser, executive secretary of the university's alumni association, presented data supporting the move.

Cost?
Chief burden of the arguments concerned Moscow claims of the high cost involved and Pocatello counter-claims that the expenditure would not approach the total charged by opponents. Spokesmen on both sides referred frequently to booklets gotten out by their groups. Anderson and Peterson offered statistics from "The Most Important Industry in Idaho." Mx offered figures from "Facts that Every Taxpayer Wants to Know."

The UHSB leaders claimed that the state university is meeting Idaho's educational needs of only one-fourth of the state. The winter session of 1938-39 showed that a first-year outlay of $400,000 would be needed for new buildings and equipment. This cost, it was claimed, would not be duplicated after the first year, and the total additional annual cost of a four-year university thereafter would be only $125,000 above what is now spent at Pocatello for educational purposes.

University View
The university's spokesman, on the other hand, claimed that the first year cost of a four-year school would be more than $1,000,000. He offered statistics to show the Moscow institution serves the entire state, and submitted information showing actual cost to the state per student at Moscow.

Anderson, in reply, charged that "the flower of young Idaho" is being lost to Idaho because students go to schools in nearby states instead of making the long trip to Moscow. "We lose them because often, when

They'll Debate Here Tonight

Vigorous Economic Debate Before Town Hall Tonight

A "red hot, right down to brass tacks" discussion of governmental planning and direction of agriculture, industry and finance will offer the Town Hall attraction at 8 p. m. today at the high school auditorium.

That's the way advance publicity describes the debate of Dr. John A. Lapp and Phil Hanna, who will stage a verbal battle on an economic issue ranking high on the national chessboard.

Dr. Lapp, one of America's most experienced students of social problems, will argue in favor of planning. Mr. Hanna, editor of the Chicago Journal of Commerce, will argue against it. His daily front page editorial in the Chicago paper is known to thousands of leading businessmen, but he will be opposing an authority who has had an active hand in framing much state and national legislation since 1910.

The debate is not a partisan discussion, Hanna-Lapp debate here will be one of only half a dozen staged in the western states. Salt Lake City hosts the pair next.

WALLACE CITES 1,300 ACRE GAIN IN IDAHO BEET QUOTA

Replying to the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce's resolution asking increased sugar beet acreage for south central Idaho, Rep. Compton T. White, Idaho first district congressman, sent the chamber today a letter from Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace showing an asserted 1,300-acre increase.

The C. of C. resolution had cited the extremely high value of the sugar beet industry to southern Idaho. The request for aid in securing more acreage was sent to Sen. William E. Borah, Sen. D. Worth Clark and Rep. Henry Dawkins.

Wallace's Letter
Rep. White's reply today enclosed this communication from Mr. Wallace, the nation's agricultural chief: "Dear Mr. White: 'Reference is made to your letter of Dec. 20 with which you enclosed a letter from Vivian Anderson, secretary, Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce, with respect to the 1939 sugar beet acreage allocation for the south central Idaho territory. 'We are enclosing a press statement they go away to school, they never come back to Idaho. 'We want to make it easy for them to attend college right here in Idaho.' 'Half-Hearted'

Mix answered that "we want a four-year school in Pocatello as much as you do, but we don't want a half-hearted institution operating on funds cut from budgets of other schools."

He pointed out that in no economy legislature such as that now in session it would be impossible to secure funds by tax increase, and the only other alternative would be to slice more money off the appropriations needed by the U. of I. Albany and Lewiston Normal, Gooding school for the deaf and blind, and the St. Anthony state industrial school.

W. L. Anderson, former state senator from Carey, offered the motion to table action on a definite stand by Southern Idaho, Inc. Frank M. Jerome, prosecuting attorney, submitted a prior resolution against a degree-granting four-year university. Anderson's move indefinitely postponed any action.

At Reading, Wendell, presided at the session here last night. Eighty-five persons attended from Blackfoot, Dubl, Carey, Elba, Jerome, Kimberly, Malia, Moscow, Pocatello, and other areas. Hitchcock, Shoshone, Twin Falls, Wendell.

8 HELD IN HUGE SUBWAY SCANDAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (U.P.)—Eight men were arrested today and charged with grand larceny and conspiracy in connection with the theft of $1,250,000 in tickets from the city-owned independent subway system.

Nine others were held as material witnesses at the district attorney's office after being questioned as to their knowledge of the theft which, investigators said, amounted to 26,000 tickets during the past three years.

District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey said at least 20 station agents, working in collusion with maintenance men, had each been looting the turnstiles of approximately $30 a day and that their thefts had amounted to three per cent of the independent subway system's gross business of $74,884,100 fares in the last three fiscal years.

Dewey said he was astounded by the scope of the operation and by the fact the thieves were able to escape detection from the subway's police force which he was in catching persons who drop lead slugs into the turnstiles.

Rumors of a scandal in the subway system had been current for several days and Dewey said some of the suspects apparently had gone into hiding. Robert H. Thayer, assistant prosecutor, said he was informed the missing man had banked $100,000 in the last few years while holding a petty subway job.

One of the men jailed, James McGovern, 28, had been a station agent but he "retired" about a year ago. The method used by the thieves would be to send a man to the station agents would call the maintenance department and report a machine out of order. A mechanic would be sent to repair it. Using his special knowledge, he would turn back the meter to show fewer fares than had been registered and he and the station agent would divide the difference.

The average theft would be $50 per turnstile per day, but when business was slack, it would be reduced, to avoid suspicion.

Know Your Idaho Promotion Plans, Official Suggests

Idahoans ought to be better acquainted with Idaho's publicity campaign on spuds and other products. That's the opinion of C. H. Enking, of the Cline Advertising Service, Boise, which is handling Idaho's national advertising and promotional campaign for the state commission in charge.

So Enking suggested to the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce today that the chamber and Twin Falls business ought to make displays out of the posters and other material they are acquainted with the campaign, he wrote.

The advertising expert pointed out significantly: "Through efforts of the Idaho fruit and vegetable advertising commission, Idaho potatoes (and onions, apples and grapes) are becoming more widely known 1938 all over the country than ever before."

Adding strength to Enking's statement, the state agency's latest bulletin points out that the sale of these Idaho products has boomed at key markets simultaneously with the extensive promotional drive.

NEW NON-STATIC RADIO INVENTED

NEW YORK, Jan. 17 (U.P.)—Columbia university announced today the invention of a radically new radio broadcasting system which completely eliminates static and other extraneous noises.

It involves new methods of transmission and required specially designed receiving sets with a much shorter wave range—from 10 meters down to possibly one meter.

Broadcasts will start in the spring over W2XNN, an experimental station operated by Maj. Edwin H. Armstrong, professor of electrical engineering at Columbia and inventor of the new system.

General Electric company already is making receiving sets required for the new system, the university announced, and when they are put into production in large quantities they will cost not much more than the types in current use. The new sets will be able to receive both the new and old types of broadcasts, although it would be impossible to receive the new programs on the short wave bands in current use.

Frequency Modulation
The new method is known technically as frequency modulation. The one now in use is called the amplitude modulating system. To the industry, it represents as radical a departure as the substitution of alternating for direct current. To the common man, it means the elimination of all static, tube noises or other interference, regardless of weather conditions.

In effect, Maj. Armstrong has injected into the radio wave a characteristic that is not in waves produced by nature. The receiving sets will respond to this special characteristic and not to any characteristic in natural waves.

New System
Station W2XNN, in the woods near Alpine, N. J., has a special aerial designed by Maj. Armstrong. Instead of the customary antenna strung between supports, there are a 400-foot tower and three 150-foot cross-arms from which a series of copper-plated steel rods radiate. They are fastened to a boom suspended between the cross-arms.

The result is that waves sent out from the tower and rods are concentrated near the ground, instead of shooting off in all directions.
