SPANISH REBELS OPEN NEW CATALONIAN OFFENSIVE

NATIONAL ARMY ONLY 32 MILES FROM OBJECTIVE

HENDAYE, Jan. 19 (UP)—Spanish nationalist forces opened a new phase of the Catalan offensive today with a three-point drive aimed at Igualada, Villafraanca and Vendrell, key towns in their path toward Barcelona.

The nationalists asserted they were but 32 miles from Barcelona at the nearest point.

At the north end of the attacking line, they were 8 1/2 miles from Igualada. At the center, they were about 15 miles west of Villafraanca, after taking the villages of Eblada and Las Pobias in the Font de Armentera sector. At the south end of the line, they were about 11 miles from Vendrell.

Second Phase

Dispatches from nationalist general headquarters said the second phase of the offensive had opened with the new operation.

In preliminary operations, the nationalists said, the insurgents had straightened out their line and were bringing it up to within striking distances of the nearest of the three "iron belts" of defense that lie between them and Barcelona. This defense line runs through the hills from northwest of Igualada to Vendrell on the coast.

The nationalist troops which took the villages of Eblada and Las Pobias were the first to effect contact with the defense line, it was asserted.

Dispatches said that the nationalists intended to break the line and believed that, if they did so, they would thereafter face only sporadic and disorganized resistance even at the gates of Barcelona.

Different Story

The story from the loyalist side was naturally different.

A United Press dispatch from Barcelona quoted Gen. Juan Sarrabian, nationalist commander in chief on the Catalan front, as saying after a tour of the front lines:

"We can await the results of this battle with confidence. Obviously the situation is difficult. At the same time the strain of three and a half weeks of fighting is leaving the invaders exhausted. We are determined to fight to the last breath, with the immortal example of Madrid before us."

JAPANESE OPPOSE GUAM FORTIFYING

TOKYO, Jan. 19 (UP)—Fortification of Guam by the United States would be an unfriendly gesture toward Japan, "comparable to placing a gun against a neighbor's door," a navy spokesman said today.

"We do not understand the necessity for the expansion of the United States navy," the spokesman said. "From the viewpoint of a navy expert, the establishment of a submarine base at Guam is a great distance from the American mainland could mean only the establishment of bases for long distance attacks on Japan."

The spokesman said the Japanese navy would like to conduct a long distance offensive, and was able only to defend the western Pacific.

Fortification of the western Pacific, he said, would benefit the United States strategically because the Japanese mandated islands were not fortified.

As the navy spokesman made his statement, the French embassy delivered a note to the foreign office supporting the United States and Great Britain in opposition to any fortification of the island-power territory governing China or any violations of the treaty's provisions. It has been understood France would join with the United States and Britain in opposing Japan's "new order" program in China, including its direct interference with the trade of foreign nations.

They arrive on the night that old Bluebeard Bronson, who once committed a murder in the house, is supposed to revisit the scene of his crimes.

Ability to Work Typewriter Seen As 'Must' Course

MOSCOW, Jan. 19 (Special)—Latest graduation requirement for business students at the University of Idaho is ability to operate a typewriter and "other business machines."

Recognizing the importance of at least a minimum of skill in the operation of the typewriter and of other mechanical aids now so universally used in business offices, the school of business last year adopted a rule requiring some proficiency in the operation of such business machines of all its graduates.

In the past practically all the women students have been trained in shorthand and typing, but only a small number of the men have taken these courses. In the future all must be able to type at a fair speed and must understand the fundamentals of such other devices as accounting and calculating machines, dictating machines, and similar equipment.

IT'S NO JOKE, IT'S FIRE COLUMBIA, Mo. (UP)—"Pardon me for being ignorant," said a University of Missouri girl to the sleepy Alpha Tau Omega fraternity member who answered the telephone, "but I think your house is on fire."

ARMY SET-UP IS EXPLAINED HERE

Advantages to be found in the new set-up concerning the regular army reserve were outlined here this afternoon by Sgt. Frank Morris, local recruiting officer.

Many inquiries the officer said, have been received both here and in Salt Lake City and prompted him to explain the requirements necessary to meet this service.

Early in 1938 the 75th congress enacted into law the reestablishment of the regular army reserve, thereby restoring an essential element of the national defense structure and filling a vital need in providing a trained reserve upon which to draw in time of actual national emergency.

Defense Week Coming
As a new organization, comparatively little is known of the reserve, the organization of it or the objectives, and with the approach of national defense week, which is annually observed throughout the United States, it seems most appropriate that some word of introduction and explanation be given this new and important adjunct to our system of national defense.

The regular army reserve will extend opportunities for enlistment to all former regular army enlisted men who have been separated from the service, who are citizens of the United States and who have not reached their 36th year. Sgt. Morris said, "They may enlist in the reserve, whether they are married or single, providing they have served at least one year in the United States army." No military duty will be required from those who are accepted but all would be subject to call to active duty during an emergency declared by the President. While on inactive status, a reservist will be paid at the rate of $24 a year, payable every four months in installments of $6. Since 1920 these splendidly trained regular army men, many of them highly qualified in aviation, automotive, radio and other work, have had no opportunity to remain in official contact with the army after accepting their honorable discharges. By enlistment in the regular army reserve this is made possible, and every former regular army man is urged to enlist in the regular army reserve.

Voluntary Continuation
"Voluntary continuation of their membership in the regular army but on an inactive status, is made possible for the thousands of regular army soldiers returning each year to civil life, by terms of the legislation creating the regular army reserve. Since 1920 these splendidly trained regular army men, many of them highly qualified in aviation, automotive, radio and other work, have had no opportunity to remain in official contact with the army after accepting their honorable discharges. By enlistment in the regular army reserve this is made possible, and every former regular army man is urged to enlist in the regular army reserve."

Written application or a visit to the recruiting office, located in the city hall, will bring full particulars, Sgt. Morris said.

SENATE DETERMINED TO CUT RELIEF APPROPRIATION

NATIONAL COSTS REACH OVER FIVE BILLION IN YEAR

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Treasury figures revealing that government spending since July 1 is approaching $5,000,000,000, sufficient to determine today to cut President Roosevelt's new relief appropriation by at least $150,000,000.

The house already has agreed that amount from the $775,000,000 sought by the President to continue work relief for the next five months. The senate evidently is determined to support the house and might even cut further.

Government spending in this fiscal year, begun by July 1, was expected to go beyond $5,000,000,000 within a week. The national debt already exceeds $29,500,000,000 and will exceed $30,000,000,000 by April 1.

Asks Re-Study
An informal poll of the senate appropriations subcommittee, which concluded hearings on the deficiency relief bill yesterday, showed little inclination to restore the house reduction.

Chairman Alva B. Adams, D. Colo., an influential member of the senate economy bloc, was summoned to the White House late yesterday for a conference on the relief situation. It was understood that President Roosevelt was deeply concerned over the proposed cut, and suggested the senate re-study figures submitted by the work progress administration in support of the $775,000,000 request.

Sen. William E. Borah, R. Ida., was among a group which contended federal expenses could be shared elsewhere. Borah said "hundreds of thousands" of persons throughout the country were "already living like beasts" and might "starve" unless the President's figures were restored.

Up to Congress
Mr. Roosevelt put the economy question directly to congress in his annual address. The President said that to effect real economy it would be necessary to cut deeply into such appropriations as those for farm relief, national defense, unemployment relief or road building. Congressmen felt silent on that.

But some conservative Democrats are friendly to the administration. They have been considering the President's proposition and are coming around to the conclusion that the only place where real economies can be effected is in appropriations for relief of the unemployed.

But if the decision is cut heavily into relief spending, it probably will serve to consolidated Roosevelt forces on the left wing, notably to bring Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York, first statesman of the American Labor party, and others like him into fairly solid alliance with the administration. That would be for immediate strategy and for purposes of the 1940 presidential campaign.

SHOSHONE, Jan. 19 (Special)—Mary Joyce, Alaska's famed 29-year-old woman "musher," has arrived at Sun Valley with her dog team.

The intrepid Alaska girl "mushed" her team 1,000 miles back in 1926.

Other arrivals here for Sun Valley included a party of 20 tourists from Wisconsin and other midwestern points. They came from Chicago on a personally conducted tour.

SLUMMING PARTY FOR TWIN FALLS

Preliminary plans for formation of a "slumming party," at which time all local citizens would be invited to join in a tour of the city to inspect low income housing districts, have been made here today by members of the American Citizens Protective association.

Date of the tour, as set last night at regular session in the probate court rooms of the court house, will be Sunday, Jan. 22. At the present time various city officials and prominent local civic and business leaders are being contacted to head the group on the tour. Leaders thus selected will serve as committee in charge of the tour.

Stresses Housing Needs
One of the tour will be to bring to mind the need for low-cost housing legislation in Idaho, permitting these persons of the extreme low-income group to build homes which will be both sanitary and comfortable. Homes would be constructed on a loan basis, with payments being made each month in the form of rent. Such payments would be low enough, including interest, that even those of the low-income group could meet them. Such a move, it is explained, would do away with the so-called "slum districts" of Twin Falls and other Idaho cities.

A similar "slumming party" was held at Boise last Sunday. It was termed highly successful and nearly 100 citizens joined in the tour.

Committee Named
A committee of ACPA members was named last night to complete arrangements for the local tour. Members of the committee are Bruce Newman, chairman; Ralph Uhler, Connie Schill, Harry Hult, Lee Houtley, R. E. Jones and R. E. Killinger. Those who will be members of the tour committee will be announced Jan. 20.

Members of the association last night also voted to write to members of the state legislature urging them to pass the low-cost housing legislation when it is introduced. The legislation would allow Idaho to cooperate with the federal government in the matter of slum clearance.

Next steps were also taken to adopt a policy of cooperating with the WPA administration.

Next meeting of the group will be at the court house on Feb. 1 at 8 p. m.

This Ought to Convince Georgians As to How Cold it Gets in Idaho!

Various members of the "rambling" student body of the Georgia Tech. at Atlanta, Ga., must have been in Missouri—at least so far as Missouri on the weather are concerned—because of their "you've got to know me" attitude.

Such is the gist of a letter received by the Evening Times from Mrs. Hopkins, Twin Falls youth who is a student at that school.

Hopkins writes the Times telling of the fact his "word was doubted" when he started to tell some of his student friends how cold it got out here in Twin Falls and over Idaho.

They wouldn't believe him, and so he asked cooperation of this newspaper in backing him up.

Here's Letter
Hopkins's letter follows:

A brief and mild cold wave here in Atlanta brought the subject of conversation among a few of my Georgia acquaintances to the subject of the inclemencies of the weather. In the midst of this conversation I was questioned as to the relative coldness of Idaho weather.

An erstwhile inhabitant of Twin Falls, Idaho born, I naturally waxed enthusiastic on the matter, but my word was doubted. So in order to vindicate myself I am asking you to find for me the coldest temperature reached in the vicinity of Twin Falls in the last 15 years. I would also like to learn the coldest temperature in all Idaho during that period.

"P. S. Be truthful—but please find some nice cold temperatures. Otherwise I am sunk."

30 Below Here
In cooperation with the local bureau of entomology the Evening Times found that the coldest temperature ever recorded in Twin Falls during observations started in 1904 was 30 below zero. This record was hung up on Jan. 19, 1922, according to the official reports. And, the records showed, it gets nearly that cold many times. Following are the official "lows" for each year, 1922 to 1938:

57 Below at Teton
And, so far as the state is concerned, official records show that during February of 1923 at Teton in Teton county the mercury plummeted down to 57 below zero. It must be remembered that Teton is in a farming center, which makes the record all the more unique.

Other low readings throughout the state show that the temperature reached 54 below zero on Dec. 19, 1924, at Felt, also in Teton county.

On Jan. 19, 1922, also at Felt, and on Dec. 12, 1919, at Stanley in Custer county the mercury was officially recorded at 53 below.

All of which wouldn't be conducive to a bit of a swim in Snake river.
