

15 SUSPENDED AUTOMOBILE WORKERS "SUSPENDED" A NEW LEADER

HOMER MARTIN GETS COMMAND TO STAND TRIAL

DETROIT, Jan. 21. (AP) Fifteen suspended members of the executive board of the United Automobile Workers union suspended President Homer Martin today and ordered him to stand trial.

The action seemed to complete the division of the leadership of the union which has 500,000 members and contracts with every automobile manufacturer except Henry Ford. The two factions, Martin's and the suspended members, are now in a bitter struggle for control of the union.

Based on Martin's Action

The impeachment was based on Martin's action of suspending the board members. They claimed they were acting in accordance with the union's constitution. They ignored Martin's suspension order. The board members called Martin a "madman surrounded by gangsters," and sent a message to all members in the Detroit area declaring that the board was in control.

The board is confident that UAW can be split into two groups. The board members called Martin a "madman surrounded by gangsters," and sent a message to all members in the Detroit area declaring that the board was in control.

Lady Graduate of Mail Course Seeks Twin Falls Fingerprint 'Expert' Job

"Are you in need of a fingerprint expert?" Such was the question which greeted Chief of Police Howard Olette's eyes as he opened a letter at the station this morning.

The letter came from a Miss Charlene Inez Cue, rural route two, Frankfort, Ind.

In offering her services to the local police department much to the surprise of Miss Cue she had completed a practical course in identification work by mail.

The course comprised an exhaustive study and practical work in the taking, classifying and filing of ten finger sets of prints, according to the Henry method, the woman wrote. "It includes the extension system used in government bureaus and instruction on the Bailey and Pratt system."

"I have also studied the rudiments of photography as applied to the science of preparing evidence for court work."

"I averaged 98 percent on the above course," she concluded. "As has just been reported the above has been 'filed' by the chief."

One officer, on her letter, suggested that the application not end in that way, however his comment:

"We ought to tell her to send a picture of herself, and not one of her cousin, either."

Huge Power Program Outlined By Ross in Bonneville Report

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 21. (AP) D. Ross came forward today with a master plan to unite the entire Pacific northwest in a giant power network.

In his first annual report to Congress since his appointment by President Roosevelt as administrator of the Bonneville dam and "co-ordinator" of vast new western power projects, Ross outlined his theories of a "super" states.

He said third of the nation's hydro-electric power could be generated in the northwest and if properly developed would solve some of the nation's pressing economic ills.

Power lines linking the Bonneville dam to the Columbia river with the Grand Coulee dam in the state of Washington will result, he said, in exploitation of vast mineral resources, including aluminum, copper, chrome, lead, zinc, magnesium, manganese, phosphate and lime.

Hopes for Dust Bowl Refuges

He also envisaged new hopes for the dust bowl refugees when cheap power and irrigation would open new areas of agricultural land. Depletion of "timber resources would be stopped," he said, through

OFFICERS ARREST MAN FOR THEFTS

Lawrence (Smoky) Gabhart, about 35, married and the father of a daughter, was under arrest this afternoon charged with first degree burglary.

Gabhart was arrested by local police. Records show he has confessed to one burglary and police announced that various articles found in his home were identified as having come from five other Twin Falls homes which have been burglarized in past weeks.

Among articles found in his home, and identified as the same which were taken in the burglaries, were lamps, clocks, clothing and radios.

Police have been investigating a series of burglaries in Twin Falls for the past several weeks and the arrest of Gabhart, as well as the fact that stolen articles were found at his home, is believed to have partially solved at least some of them.

Glamor of Naughty Nineties Revived for OAO Club Dance

Shades of the Mauve Decade! The fashions and foibles of the Naughty Nineties are due for a glorious come-back when members of the O. A. O. Dancing club bloom forth in bustles, low-cut and what-nots at the next dancing party of the club, Friday, Jan. 27, at the Elks ballroom. Date of the dance, originally planned for Feb. 10, has been advanced to that night in deference to the Percy Grainger concert.

Particularly clever is the means employed by the committee in announcing the event. Heralding the third of the series of winter parties for the group, the invitations have been written in verse.

"Hail the attic, ransack the old trunk, snatch the headdress, and the dress of the evening."

Dance date, according to the invitations compiled by the committee, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Chapman, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Valtion, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benoit, Mr. and Mrs. J. Blandford and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shilling, includes:

On a balmy winter's evening, OAOs will all be there, And well-nigh fill the Elks hall On the corner of the square.

Friday the twenty-seventh, Will be the meeting date, The committee on preparations Says: "Do not be late!"

Put on a "hard time" costume, Or dress in "Gay Ninety" style; It makes no difference how you come, Just so you wear a smile.

There'll be two-steps, tags and waltzes, And others by the score; From eighteen hundred ninety To nineteen twenty-four.

A great quartette has been engaged, To "Sweet Adeline," And other acts have been arranged, To while away your time.

So put on your hoops and bustles, Anything will do, And be there promptly at half past eight.

We'll be there to welcome you, Apparently there will be no "jittering," If the doors are going to range from those popular from 1890 to 1924. Another innovation is noted for this occasion. The time is 8:30 o'clock, instead of the customary later hour.

Winter Royalty Presides During Snow Festival

Following the grand march as the opening event of the snow festival, arranged last evening by the girls of Twin Falls high school, was the annual ball, Mrs. Virginia.

Chase, snow queen and Verne Bunn, king winter, escorted by Jacky Beymer as snowflake, broke through an igloo arch to occupy the throne.

A spotlight picked up each couple as it followed the queen and king through the arch. Leaders of the march other than Miss Chase and Mr. Bunn were: Bill Moon and Miss Joyce Miller, Mrs. John and Miss Mary Johnson, Miss Loren Filler and Bob Pence.

Dancing progressed during the evening. The orchestra presided against a background of northern lights.

The 300 guests expressed delight at the transformation effected by the geysering through the use of a false ceiling of blue, green, red, orange, yellow, and white.

Guests were received by the presidents of the units in the Girls' and Boys' Clubs. The orchestra presided against a background of northern lights.

At both sessions, Prof. Brady emceed the less-used cuts of meat, which were moved more slowly to the butcher establishments and consequently raised the price of all cuts.

Miss Hephworth said that the home demonstration division will "continue to work with the fore-halves of lamb" and will combine its future club programs into meat demonstrations and wool dress style shows.

At the session, held at the Elks hall, she said, to show that Idaho lamb is valuable both as food and as fabric.

ONE YEAR'S WORK ENDED ON BASEBALL LOOP

Ground Nearly Ready for Playing Field

By HAL WOOD

Evening Times Sports Editor

Along about Jan. 15 of 1938—last year a young gentleman by the name of Herb Saunders of Lewiston dropped in this office and suggested to us the possibility that this area was about ripe for the return of professional baseball.

Being an old baseball fan, we readily agreed, not without some skepticism, however, on the probable attendance at a regulation league game during a full season. But we jumped on the band wagon, along with sports followers in five other cities of the intermountain area and after a year of negotiations, $5000 in forfeits has been posted to assure the return of professional ball to this section of the country after an absence of some 10 years.

Six Cities

The six towns will be Twin Falls, Osgood, Pocatello, Salt Lake City, Boise and Lewiston—six of the largest cities in the Rockies. And every one of these municipalities today is going forward with the erection of a new baseball park, looking to the opening of the season—now less than four months away.

Like the other cities in the league, Twin Falls has had a long, hard, uphill struggle to get suitable playing quarters. In fact, it was so tough, local backers of the club had at one time considered complete withdrawal of the loop.

Credit for original interest in the league here goes to the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce. But this organization found it could not get the proper backing and support, despite the fact that it owned a fine 26-acre tract of land for a playing field. So the club withdrew its aid. Another group of fans, headed by A. B. (Bert) Offwell and Frank Mangel, immediately jumped into the breach, and working in conjunction with the Junior Chamber president and the members of the city council, rekindled the flame that finally resulted in the retention of the local franchise.

During these long negotiations various high classification teams had expressed an interest in the local club and there loomed dark with the St. Louis Cardinals; then

New Ball Club Owner Maintains Largest Restaurant in Spokane

By HAL WOOD

Evening Times Sports Editor

Paying off on bets that were lost, and keeping men working when there are no jobs to be had, may be an unwarlike pastime to many, but to William P. Ulrich these are every day occurrences. Deeds of generosity like these are typical of the kindness and honesty of the new owner of the Spokane and Twin Falls baseball teams.

Colonel Ruppert had his brewery, Mr. Crowley his radio, and Mr. Ulrich has the largest restaurant and recreation room in the city of Spokane.

At the height of the chain letter craze, Mr. Ulrich, at the urging of his customers and employees, started a brokerage. He practically had to. So many came to him with their money to bet on that elusive chance of their names being picked as the fortunate winners. All day long, the dollars of the anxious plungers rolled into the safe. The very next day, the chain letter "racket" folded up. It certainly is not news when a man runs off with money. Many of the other brokers did.

WILLIAM PENN. ULRICH

Quaintance, a cattleman from the Canadian prairies. It is the mecca of the working classes, the sports fans, the business and professional men of the city.

There they will find Mr. Ulrich, the proprietor, mingling with the crowd, stopping here and there to chat with some friend, and waving a greeting to another. He calls his friends by their first names, and they in turn call him Bill. Conversation is chiefly confined to the great game of baseball.

Bill is known and respected throughout the Inland Empire as a lover of clean sport, upright and honest in business, and a friend of the working classes.

Retained Employees

"A little less of me and you, a little more of us," could well be his slogan.

During the years of the depression, in which he lost thousands of dollars, not a single person in Bill's employ was laid off. The entire personnel, numbering about 40, was kept working.

Bill came to Spokane 35 years ago from Buffalo, N. Y. He joined the police department. It was during the time that he was a detective sergeant on the force that he saw the business possibilities in the Main avenue establishment. He has had several partners during the time that he has been in business. Perhaps the best known of them was Jimmy Durkin. The business grew and prospered. A few years later, in 1934, Mr. Durkin passed away, and the next year, Harry, Bill's younger brother, came into the business, and now the two brothers have complete charge. The restaurant, booth, lunch and beverage counters, billiard and card tables, cashier's and bookkeeper's desks occupy the main floor. Harry Ulrich has joint command of the bookkeeping, checking and banking business of the company, and the paying of the 40 men and women employed.

1,000 Meals Per Day

Over 1,000 meals a day are served in the restaurant. Every month, the brothers buy over two tons of potatoes, 4,000 pounds of meat, 200 gallons of milk, and 300 pounds of butter.

Such quantities of foodstuffs as these must be stored until needed, and kept as fresh and wholesome as they were when received. The huge basement, therefore, completely air-conditioned and modern, housing the latest methods of refrigeration and cooling systems, house the spacious kitchens and storage rooms. Bill allows his friends through this edifice with pride, and many a lady visitor has marvelled at the spotless steel and woodwork, and the efficient manner in which the kitchens and storage rooms are operated.

Bill's business takes up a great deal of his time, but he also is not too busy to interest himself in civic affairs, belongs to the Shriners and Masons, and to hold a life membership in the Elks' lodge.

His interest in children has been exemplified many times. Children of the various children's homes of the city have been his guests at the city league ball games at Natatorium park, going there and back in busses chartered by him.

Can't Wait

Bill seldom talks about these acts of kindness. Or the many meals that he has given the unfortunate. Or the thousands of pay checks that the establishment cashes annually, with no commission or gratuity asked or expected. Or of the praise and esteem that all who are in his employ render him. And the high regard that fellow business men have for him. Bill would rather talk about base ball, contracts of players, and his hopes of a permanent teaming Spokane and Twin Falls ballclubs.

"The season doesn't open until April," said Bill. "Gosh! Doesn't that seem like a long way off?" In closing, it is not only fitting

Great Names Lose in Golf Matches

By HAL WOOD

Evening Times Sports Editor

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 21 (AP)—Many of the great names of golf were on the sidelines as eight outsiders in the early betting met today to decide which pair shall advance into the final round of the $5,000 San Francisco match play tournament.

The survivors meet in two "sudden death" matches.

Among the spectators were Harry Cooper, Sammy Snead, Jimmy Demaret, winner last year; Lawson Little and Johnny Revolta.

All were victims of yesterday's first and second round play.

Cooper was eliminated, 3 and 2, by Harold Gugi McSpadden. Snead fell 1 up, before Leonard Dodson of Springfield, Mass. Three of their contemporaries—Demaret, Little and Revolta—survived the first round but were lopped off in the second.

Revolta bowed, 3 and 2, to Ben Coltrin, San Francisco. Demaret was licked by McSpadden, 5 and 4, and Little lost to Marvin (Bud) Ward, the amateur from Olympia, Wash., 3 and 1.

The line-up for the third round: McSpadden vs. Coltrin; Smith vs. Dodson; Metz vs. Sammy Byrd, Philadelphia, former American league outfielder; and Ward vs. Benny Hogan of White Plains, N. Y.

Tight Hagerman Defense Turns Back Shoshone

By HAL WOOD

Evening Times Sports Editor

HAGERMAN, Jan. 21 (Special)—Hagerman's cage quintet last night turned back the invading Shoshone Indian basketball club by a count of 23-16.

The local team held the invaders to three field goals during the entire contest. The Pirates were ahead 10-5 at the quarter, 12-8 at the half, and 15-11 at the third period.

Scoring honors went to J. More, Hagerman guard, who had 11 points and Tucker, who had eight.

In a preliminary contest, Jean Parsons, the all-state forward, paced her team to a 35-26 victory over the Shoshone lassies' Miss Parsons had 20 points.

and proper but well worth mentioning another who was an important factor in the purchase of the baseball club—Mrs. Ulrich. It was by her urging that Bill Ulrich negotiated and bought the team.

Star Hawk Hurler Expected To Play in Exhibition Here

By HAL WOOD

Evening Times Sports Editor

Announcement of the signing of Ira Scribner, star right hander of the Spokane Hawks of the Western International league, had been made here today by J. J. (Monty) Montgomery, business manager for that club and the Twin Falls entry in the new Pioneer league.

Scribner, voted the "most popular" player on the Hawks' team last year, is expected to be an outstanding performer this year, according to Montgomery, and Twin Falls fans are expected to get a chance to see him perform in one of the exhibition games the Hawks will play with their Twin Falls farm team.

Born on Island

Ira was born in the little coast town of Friday Harbor, in the San Juan Islands a little over 20 years ago.

He started playing ball in grammar school in Seattle. Third base was chiefly his position, but an interested spectator noticed the fine way that he fired the ball to first base, and from his first year in West Seattle high school until now, Ira has occupied the pitching mound.

After leaving West Seattle high, Ira pitched and worked for the American Can company in the fast Class A Commercial league. Bobby Hornik, John and Felix Penso, and Bob Snyder, with the Hawks early last season, were fellow players.

Won 13 Games

Ira graduated into the Northwest league in 1934. He was a leading hurler with the Shelton club, and pitched against many of the boys that now play for the various Western International league teams.

The league disbanded with the forming of the faster professional W. I. league, and Ira signed with the Hawks. He was troubled with a sore arm early in the season, and appeared in very few contests. An operation on the injury, however, restored the old time cunning to the famous right arm, and last season, Ira won 13 games with the cellar flouting Hawks.

Goats the Goats

UKIAH, Calif., (AP)—Goats were made the goat of an animal farm experiment here. The Spring brothers installed a goat ranch near here, but when the goats failed to make it a paying investment, they turned it into a milk ranch. However, they are still raising enough goats to provide food for their carnivorous fur bearers.

Vandal Cagers Defeated by Oregon Quint

By HAL WOOD

Evening Times Sports Editor

MOSCOW, Jan. 21 (Special)—University of Oregon's speedy basketball club turned on the heat in the last half here last night to hand the University of Idaho Vandals their third conference defeat of the season by a count of 38-30.

The two teams met tonight in the second game of a two-game series with the Webbet highly favored to win.

The invaders led 19-15 at the half time. But the Oregon team didn't extend itself any time during the game and Idaho was strictly on the defensive throughout the contest.

Accurate shooting by the all-Pacific coast forward, Laddie Gale, aided by Wintermute and Vick, was too much for the Idaho club and the team blew up in the final minutes of the play and bounced long shots from the middle of the floor off the backboard.

GRAIN CONTINUES IN CLOSE RANGE

CHICAGO, Jan. 21 (UP)—Wheat prices continued to move in a narrow range around yesterday's closing levels in light trading on the Chicago board of trade today. Corn was off fractionally.

At the close wheat was unchanged to off 1/4, corn off 1/4 to 1/2, and oats unchanged to 1/2 lower.

There was a lack of news to influence the wheat market, although the dollar, and most traders were inclined to believe the dollar would continue to rise.

Outside markets offered little encouragement. Liverpool wheat closed 1/2 higher, lower on calling, while milling interests and pressure of Australian wheat.

Winnipeg wheat gained fractions in early trading only to slip lower near the close.

Hitler CONTINUES REORGANIZATION OF REICHSBANK

GOEBBELS RAPS U.S. ON RETURN TO REGULAR JOB

BERLIN, Jan. 21 (Special).—Adolf Hitler followed up his dismissal of Dr. Heinrich Schacht as president of the Reichsbank today by removing Dr. Frederick Drexler from the bank's vice presidency and Dr. Ernst Hutter from his place on the bank's directorate.

It was the second blow in two days to the outside banking element in the Nazi Reich.

These changes, and perhaps more, had been forecast as the sequel to the dismissal of Schacht and his replacement by Walther Funk, veteran Nazi and economic minister.

Dr. Hutter was president of the Reichsbank since 1933, in an executive capacity, except for the years 1936 to 1938, when he was assistant general manager of the bank for international settlements at Basel, Switzerland.

A Bit of Backward Art

Dorothy Drew, one of the dancers in Sally Rand's show, has become a patron of art. A native of San Francisco, she is a staunch supporter of the Golden Gate International exposition. She liked so well the idea of Leland Clifford, the artist, to paint the tower of the fair across from the exposition grounds, that she volunteered as his first patron. Here the artist has reproduced the famed Tower of the Sun on Dorothy's lovely back.

TWIN FALLS 1938 WATER USE WOULD FILL POOL 919 TIMES

Domestic water consumption in Twin Falls during 1938 amounted to enough gallons to fill the Harmon park swimming pool 919 times, water is hoarded or so hoarsely, in a couple of wading ponds, and still have enough left over for the "driest" man in town to take a good bath.

Fact that such water was used for domestic purposes in the city during the last year was revealed here this afternoon in a report from the Twin Falls water department.

During the year, the official records show, a total of 919,751 gallons was used in the city, all being delivered through the city system. This amount is in addition to that delivered through districts to certain sections of the city.

Bean Pact, Educational Drive Voted by Growers

Series of educational meetings to disseminate information on a suggested marketing agreement for beans had been decided on today by bean growers of Twin Falls county.

Endorsing a resolution in favor of such a bean marketing move, the ranchers at a countywide parley here Friday afternoon in L. O. O. F. hall, requested the meeting to acquire all growers with the proposition.

Most Likely Aid

The marketing plan was termed the "bean pact" and was approved after thorough discussion of the present low level of market prices. Although discussion indicated many earnest doubts as to such an agreement, it was agreed that no other sound proposal had been advanced to assist the bean grower.

C. H. Tolley, assistant marketing expert of the AAA, mapped for approximately 200 ranchers the plan suggested by the national bean committee. The tentative proposal would mean bean regulation, with such regulation controlled by growers and not by the dealer.

He explained that a grower-dealer committee would rule on what portion of the bean crop would be sold on the open market annually. The figure would be set at a point according to a good price return. If the bean yield would be put into a "growers' pool," and would be disposed of as determined by a grower-dealer control.

Farmer Explains It

His outline brought this comment from one rancher in the audience: "Wouldn't it be better for us to get 25 cents a bushel for our beans at $2.50 a hundred and the other 15 per cent at what the surplus pool could get, rather than to keep the present way of selling the bean crop for a price like $1.75?"

Tolley explained his outline with the assurance that such control very definitely means control by the farmers.

He showed that the surplus portion of the bean crop for given years could either be exported, sold in the U. S. if the price still remained good or could be used as stock feed.

Needs All Areas

Such an agreement, however, requires cooperation of all bean-producing areas. Tolley warned that farmers could either be placed in effect, violators could be prosecuted.

As explained at the meeting, the agreement would have no connection with the federal government.

There is no bean marketing system now in operation, other than from sale when and at whatever price farmers can get.

The bean outlook is "average" and the low $1.75 price seems about the level. Growers of all annuals except the alfalfa.

SHELL MANAGER GOES TO PARLEY

Summoned to attend the annual sales conference and discuss with executives plans for 1939, R. J. Holmes, local manager for Shell Oil company, leaves Monday for division headquarters at Salt Lake City. He expects to return to his home in a few days.

"I have received word that Shell is looking forward to one of the best years in the company's history," he said. "Advertising will be continued on the same broad scale as last year, with newspapers forming the backbone of the program and tying in with national magazines, outdoor posters and direct mail."

Prominent executives from the local office in San Francisco, who will be present at the conference include L. G. McLaughlin, vice president in charge of marketing; R. F. Schroeder, general sales manager; L. E. Davis, operations manager, and a number of various departments.

Mr. Holmes will also attend a luncheon with visiting executives, and business conferences in the afternoon.

OPEN LETTER ON AMENDED UNIVERSITY BILL

Editor, Evening Times

Will appreciate this open letter appearing in the Evening Times.

Mr. Gale Mix, Moscow, Idaho

Dear Mr. Mix:

By this time you are no doubt familiar with the changes made in the Four Year Bill. Note the request for advanced engineering courses has been dropped and upon the urgent request of many interested parties the first two years in agriculture has been included. This agriculture however is provided in the present setup but has not been carried out.

The bill now calls for degree granting courses such in the school of Letters and Science and Pharmacy; and two years only in Engineering, Agriculture and Forestry as in the present setup. This should eliminate the objection in a large degree with regard to cost, especially in view of the fact that the effective date has been changed to 1940 in lieu of 1939.

After this change of date was made I remember what you said at Twin Falls that you opposed the bill this year on account of the cost and the inability of the state to afford it, but that in 1940 you would favor the passage of such a bill. I felt then that you were sincere in engineering I am writing to you this favor; that you lend your support to the passage of this bill.

This is important to the North and South to bring order and harmony out of chaos and strife and the point to be better relations and a more mutual understanding. This could and should result in the solidification of all interests in Idaho in IDAHO.

May we count on you?

Very sincerely yours,

Idaho Southern University
Four Year Committee

INDEPENDENT GROCERS A VITAL ELEMENT

Editor, Evening Times

Do you know that approximately 75 per cent of the retail grocery business is done by independent merchants?

Do you know that there are about 20 independent grocery stores to each chain store?

Most guess is that you have about 10 independent grocery store subscribers to one chain store and also that independent grocery stores pay you at least three times as much for advertising as grocery chains do. Regularly in your paper there is a big write-up about what the chain stores are doing to help sell our produce.

That is good, but all of us independent grocers are putting everything we have into our business and each and every one of us is trying to sell just as many of Idaho's own crops as we can besides furnishing the farmer with all his groceries on credit until his crop is sold, in a good many cases.

I don't know if it is ignorance on your part or you think you are getting on the right bandwagon to run these free ads.

Did you ever stop to think where your money would be if all retail outlets were controlled by chain monopolies?

They could quote the prices they pay for the produce and keep the prices up. It's about the time the independent stores got a break.

We sell just as cheap—and just as much—for man and pet as dollar invested.

If you want your farm crops all controlled by a Wall Street banker and his cronies, then let the chain stores control all the retail outlets.

Yours for a lift to the independent merchant.

W. B. CAZIER.

HEROME'S WEED FIGURES LISTED

HEROME, Jan. 21 (Special).—Five crews have been maintained in Jerome county for the past year and chemical treatment was applied to 306 acres of 343 farms under the weed control program. L. P. Odium, county weed supervisor, reported in his annual report.

Details in the report show that 120 acres were under the cultivation system of control; carbon bisulphide was used on 67 acres and sodium chlorate brought the chemical treatment to 186 acres. There were 677 farms signed up under the program.

Mr. Odium states in his annual report concerning the weed control program that a very favorable reaction to the actual control methods and their results is noticeable and that is shown, in particular by the fact that the greatest interest and the demand for the continuation of the program has come from individuals who have cooperated with the program during previous years.

He further stated that it is apparent that the general farm public would prefer a weed program instituted as such and not governed by the emergency regulations prevalent in relief programs. It seems to be the general opinion that the success of the program is hindered by the fact that it operates under unnecessary red tape and regulation.
