SNOW, BLIZZARDS LASH SOUTHERN IDAHO COUNTIES

Foot of Snow Falls At Sun Valley; All Highways Stay Open

Snow, driven by a wind of almost gale force in many instances, spread over the Magic valley this morning, caused snowplows to be dispatched immediately from the state highway office at Shoshone, made main road traffic dangerous and threatened for a while to block secondary roads.

Snow depths, a survey of the area made by the Evening Times showed, ranged from approximately an inch in Twin Falls to more than a foot at Sun Valley. In Ketchum, Hailey and Sun Valley, however, the wind which accompanied the storm in other sections was relatively mild and no roads were blocked.

Officials of the state highway office announced the road to the Craters of the Moon was closed. They said plows were working north of Shoshone toward Sun Valley where the deep snow had fallen and where roads were slippery. A plow was also working on the main highway south of Shoshone toward Twin Falls but traffic was progressing, although slowly. All other main roads, officials said, were open.

A. D. Shema, Twin Falls highway district engineer, announced no reports of blocked roads had reached his office.

"In this section," he said, "there was little snow with the heavy wind. It was because of this fact that the roads were not closed."

Bus Leaves Highway
Near Shoshone this morning a Sun Valley bus is reported to have left the highway but no passengers were injured. The bus was "cranking along" at the time and poor visibility made it impossible for the driver to stay on the road. Various reports were also reported to have left the highway but in each case apparently no damages resulted. Passing motorists aided the cars in regaining the roadway.

Following is the community-by-community survey data as gathered by the Evening Times:
Sun Valley: Very little wind and no drifting. Twelve inches of snow added to that already on the ground.
Ketchum: Only a slight wind. Nine to 10 inches of new snow.

Hailey: General storm this morning leaving 11 or 12 inches of new snow on the ground. Roads slippery in some cases but open. Snowplows aiding.

Heavy Wind
Goodhue: Heavy wind threatened to block roads but subsided before noon. Four inches of new snow on the ground. All roads open.

SENATE REJECTS FLOYD ROBERTS AS U. S. JURIST

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—The senate today rejected President Roosevelt's nomination of Floyd H. Roberts to be a federal judge for the western district of Virginia. The nomination was rejected by 72 to 0.

By its vote, the senate sustained the charge of Sens. Carter Glass and Harry Flood Byrd, Virginia Democrats, that the choice was personally objectionable to them.

During a hearing before the senate judiciary committee, Glass had charged that President Roosevelt nominated Roberts in a conspiracy to give Gov. James H. Price of Virginia a veto power over the recommendations of Virginia senators because of their opposition to New Deal measures.

The only senators who voted to confirm, Roberts, were: Chairman Henry F. Ashurst, D., Ariz., of the judiciary committee; and Aiken W. Barkley, D., Ky.; Theodore G. Bilbo, D., Miss.; John Lee, D., Okla.; M. M. Neely, D., W. Va.; George W. Norris, Ind. Rep.; Claude Pepper, D., Fla.; William H. Smithers, D., N. C.; and H. Schwartz, D., Wyo.

Social Security Card Asked for 13-Day-Old Baby
HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 6 (AP)—A request for a social security number for a 13-day-old baby was sent to Washington today for Dorothy Elizabeth Black who now became the youngest holder of such a card.

The baby was used in a few scenes for "Invitation to a Beheading" at Paramount studio and earned $75. Her clerk was based under a temporary permit granted by local social security officials but a permanent number was requested for her as required by law.

NEWEST CAPITAL STORM PICKS OUT THOMAS AMLIE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—The capital's newest human storm center is a muscular ex-congressman named Thomas R. Amlie, who sits alone in a remote office here and communes with his own melancholy while the senate tries to decide whether he is too radical to be a member of the interstate commerce commission.

Huntington, W. Va., Under Water

This is how the southern section of the city of Huntington, W. Va., looked from the air when the Ohio river overflowed its banks and surged through the streets.

Rising Temperatures Send Ohio River to Flood Stage

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 6 (AP)—Rising temperatures sent the Ohio river surging over flood stages in Kentucky today as the crest of a seasonal flood sweeping down from the Alleghenies moved rapidly toward Louisville.

Officials estimated 7,000 families already had been forced to flee their homes in sections of West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio and Tennessee, where tributaries choked by melting snows and rains had sent the Ohio and Tennessee rivers over their banks.

The Ohio had risen here today to a stage of 28.6 feet, six inches over flood stage and U. S. Forecast James J. Kendall predicted another rain tonight and tomorrow. He predicted the river would reach a crest of 35 feet by tomorrow night.

Crowd Waterfront
His forecast added to the apprehension of residents. Several hundred crowded the waterfront and extra police were assigned to duty to keep traffic moving at the scene.

Joseph D. Schultz, city ward warden, said he saw a crowd of citizens against fears of a disastrous flood. He said there was no indication the flood would reach even half the proportion of one which devastated the city in 1937.

Police estimated about 200 persons had left their homes in the west end section of the city where water had washed over roadways.

Red Cross reports showed Kentucky to be the hardest hit area with 3,200 families homeless. West Virginia was second with 1,200 while Ohio had an estimated 1,000 families resulting homeless. Travelers had approximately 200 homeless families in need.

Andrews' Son Returns Home

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—William R. Andrews, 18, son of Wayne-Administrator Elmer J. Andrews, was home today after a week's absence, surprised by the excitement created when he left the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance last Monday to seek a job.

Andrews, after discussing the matter with his son, said the boy had changed his mind and would return to the university immediately.

7,000 Families Flee Homes in 4 States

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 6 (AP)—Rising temperatures sent the Ohio river surging over flood stages in Kentucky today as the crest of a seasonal flood sweeping down from the Alleghenies moved rapidly toward Louisville.

Thousands Cross Border to Escape Insurgent Army

PERPIGNAN, French-Spanish Frontier, Feb. 6 (AP)—Thousands of Spanish loyalist defectors in Catalonia became a debacle today. The rich province was lost. The government had fled to the safety of France and the main body of the army began a mass retreat over the frontier, surrendering its arms to French troops.

Fleets of loyalist fighting planes landed at French airports. Long columns of artillery, tanks and munitions trains sought retreating troops and civilian refugees on the crowded highways at the frontier.

There were persistent reports that the republican government sought an armistice. From nationalist territory came back word that unconditional surrender alone would be accepted.

Thousands of French troops along the frontier were on war footing. They mounted field guns and machine guns at commanding points in the Pyrenees, ready to repel any nationalist on the march.

French anti-aircraft guns already had gone into action against poaching airplanes which flew over French territory.

President Manuel Azana of the loyalist government was expected in Paris today after crossing the frontier about yesterday. President Luis Companys of the Catalanist autonomous republic entered Franco with all members of his government, and it was announced that for Catalonia the civil war was over. Jose Antonio Aguirre, president of the Basque autonomous public likewise arrived in France.

Premier Azana arrived in France after crossing the 2,000-foot mountain pass to La Liza during the night. Six cabinet ministers arrived at La Perthus four hours later.

At dawn today, with the jubilation of nationalists marching in the border and hardly 10 miles away at some points, French authorities invited the first 42,000 of some 140,000 loyalist troops waiting in the frontier area to enter the country and surrender their arms.

Three thousand motor cars crossed the border during the night at La Perthus along with men, women and children refugees.

More than 100,000 soldiers who had retreated all the way from Barcelona, including 1,000 cavalrymen with their horses, crossed in the early hours of the morning and were sent to one of the new concentration camps at Arles. At the village of Le Mouron 1,300 men entered and were disbanded.

No Loyal Government
Three hundred loyalists who tried to cross at Las Llas refused to surrender their arms. French troops trained rifles and machine guns on the border line and laid down a warning barrage to prevent them from crossing.

There was no more loyalist government in Catalonia, Gen. Enr (Continued on Page 2, Column 3)

Members of the academy, including virtually everybody of importance in the movie industry, even now are making their ballots and the proceedings are being held in secrecy, but the dinner certainly will be in the nature of an anti-climax.

Clubs with producers, directors and performers indicate that they already have decided upon the best actor, actress, director, best picture, best story, best script, best editing, best cinematography, best music, best sound, best costume design, best hairdressing, best makeup, best special effects, best production design, best art direction, best set design, best production office, best production office, best production office, best production office.

The 11th annual nominations for best acting performance included Charles Boyer in "Algiers", Robert Donat in "The Citadel", Leslie Howard in "Paganini", Spencer Tracy in "Boys Town", and Cagney in "Angels with Dirty Faces."

The committee listed as possible best actresses: Fay Bainter in "White House", Wendy Hiller in "Reverie", Norma Shearer in "Marie Antoinette", Margaret Sullivan in "Three Crowns", and Miss Davis in "Jezebel."

"Jezebel" may never win a prize as a new movie, the picture colony agreed, but Miss Davis' picture performance as the southern belle who didn't give a hoot for southern tradition (Continued on Page 2, Column 4)

HOUSE GROUP VOTES HUGE FUND FOR AVIATION RESEARCH

SOLONS TOLD OF PLANES THAT GO TERRIFIC SPEEDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6 (AP)—The House appropriations committee today voted larger funds for aviation research to make possible development of fighting planes equal to types being manufactured by certain foreign powers.

Impressed by testimony that an unidentified foreign power has developed "the fastest military plane in history"—capable of 400 miles an hour—and reports of intensive airplane production in Europe, the committee recommended increased appropriations for the civil aeronautics authority and the national advisory committee on aeronautics.

The advisory committee is the leading aviation experimenting agency. Its director believed it would be possible to develop planes that could fly 500 miles an hour. He did not exceed the maximum speed of present U. S. planes.

Britisher Coming

Sir Charles Morgan-Webb, famed British economist, will address the Twin Falls Town Hall club Saturday night, Feb. 11, at the L. D. S. church. He will survey the European situation.

NOTED BRITON ON TOWN HALL LIST

An expert view of international money matters—plus survey of behind-the-scenes jostling in Europe for the prospect of war or peace, Germany's dreams of expansion and the British-Italian accord—will be offered to Twin Falls Town Hall members here next Saturday night by Sir Charles Morgan-Webb, world-known economist.

He will speak at 8 p. m. Saturday at the L. D. S. church.

Morgan-Webb's books on "The Rise and Fall of the Gold Standard," "The Money Revolution" and "Three Million Houses" are regarded as virtual text books for bankers, economists and statesmen throughout the world.

Congress Knows Him

When the noted Britisher spoke at a Washington dinner recently, U. S. House officers were informed, more than one-third the members of Congress attended. He was invited to address the Byrns committee in the U. S. senate investigating unemployment. He discussed, on a nationwide radio hook-up, the British handling of the monetary problem.

Morgan-Webb was appointed last year in England as honorary secretary to the monetary of the British house of commons. He was knighted for his service in transforming Rangoon, Burma, from a sprawling, disease-ridden oriental swamp city into a clean, healthful and modern metropolis.

Money Topic

In his address in Twin Falls, Sir Charles will discuss the question "What Will Happen to Your Money?" as one phase of his topic: "An Englishman Discusses Family Matters with His American Cousins."

The Briton, in surveying the international diplomatic picture, will offer Twin Falls an optimistic but hard-headed forecast in the matter of war or peace.

The speaker is on his third transcontinental lecture tour of America in three years. He came first two years ago to address Canadian bankers and one or two elect gatherings of America's financial and political leaders. He was pressed into talks in several midwestern cities before returning to England. Last year he received so many invitations that he returned and spoke in 10 U. S. cities from coast to coast.

He is termed the world's greatest authority on managed currency.

Farming Practices on Beets About Same in '39 AAA List

BURLEY, Feb. 6 (Special)—Farming practices for 1939 in connection with sugar beet production and under the 1937 sugar act, will remain the same as for 1938. With the exception that if one seeds alfalfa, one acre will offset two acres of sugar beets, according to W. W. Palmer, secretary of the county Agricultural Conservation association.

By reason of a clause in the sugar act that soil conservation shall be required on a farm where government beet payments are to be made, it has been necessary for the secretary to establish conservation requirements each year.

Here are Rules

With this recent change, farmers will be required to comply for their sugar beet acreage the coming year with one of the following requirements or a combination of two or more of such requirements for each acre of beets produced:

- (1) Maintain until after July 1, 1939, one acre of protective coverage of adapted perennial or biennial legumes, adapted perennial grasses or mixtures of such legumes and grasses for each acre of beets.
- (2) Seedling in 1939 one acre of land to adapted perennial or biennial legumes, adapted perennial grasses or mixtures of such legumes and grasses for each acre of beets planted, with the exception that if one acre of alfalfa is seeded, one acre shall offset two acres of beets.
- (3) Seedling and maintaining until after Dec. 31, 1939, one acre of adapted cereal pasture crop or plowing under in 1939 one acre of a good stand and a good growth of an adapted grain pasture crop.
- (4) Applying in 1939 to the land on the farm adapted to the production of sugar beets, eight short tons of animal manure or the amount of manure normally produced in one year by any of the following: two head of cattle or more than one year of beef, two horses, two mules, four calves, four colts or 10 sheep.
- (5) Applying in 1939 to land on which sugar beets are planted for harvest in 1939 an amount of commercial chemical fertilizing material, the potential constituents of value of which are any form or combination of nitrogen, phosphoric acid, or potash and which contain 75 pounds of such constituents in the form of net available plant food.

REPORT OUTLINES BEET WAGE DATA

Applications Soon

Mr. Palmer states that it is expected in the very near future that farmers will be called to the county office to sign applications for payment under the sugar act for 1938. To date the local office has not received from the state office the tentative figures of beet wages and the per cent sugar in beets for 1938.

The amount of payment which a grower will receive per ton will be in accordance with the sugar content this year. Growers are paid under the act at the rate of 50 per cent of the net sugar content of the beet delivered to the factory.

This year the sugar content of beets has reduced, it is believed, the payment will be in the neighborhood of $1.80 as compared with a payment last year per ton of $1.95.

Methodist Women Plan Doll Display for Fellowship Tea

Twin Falls will have a share in the "largest tea party in history" tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Methodist women throughout the world will take part in the third International Fellowship Tea, sponsored by the woman's department of the Methodist Episcopal church. Local participation has been arranged to conform with observances elsewhere, and all Twin Falls Methodist women have been invited to assemble tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. G. McCallister, 516 Second street east.

An impressive devotional ceremony, similar to that used at the other international teas, with responsive reading a feature, will be conducted by Mrs. Alva Pickett and Mrs. F. A. Goodykoontz. Mrs. T. F. Warner is arranging the program.

International Dolls
Contributing to the international theme will be more than 50 dolls, representing different nations, assembled by Miss Margaret Seethoff, local high school instructor.

Masque flags of many nations, including the Christian flag, will be featured in the central decoration for the tea table.

Special music will also have a role on the program which is being arranged by Mrs. William Baker. Mrs. Scott Ellsworth is chairman of the serving committee, assisted by Mrs. J. O. Barnard and Mrs. C. E. Jacoby.

Others assisting Mrs. Ellsworth's committee are Mrs. P. T. Kellogg, Mrs. C. C. Dudley, Mrs. S. P. Yanis and Mrs. J. R. Johnson.

Historic Significance
This year the tea takes on greater significance because it is one of the last great events on the calendar of the Methodist Episcopal church before the unification of that branch with the Methodist Episcopal church south and the Methodist Protestant church.

This year's Fellowship tea has been expanded to include Methodist women throughout the world. The first two teas, while having world fellowship as their theme, were participated in by women of this country only.

Emphasis is placed on Christian faith as a means of international understanding, according to Mrs. J. M. Arvin, national director of the women's department.

A similar event will take place tomorrow at Twin Falls, as a fellowship tea was held last week at Castelford.

Buhl Couple Weds At State Capital

BUHL, Feb. 6 (Special)—Miss Velva Bechtam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Bechtam, McCollum, Idaho, became the bride of Frank Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Baker, also of Buhl, at a simple ceremony read last Monday in Boise.

The bride wore a white afternoon dress with black accessories. Since her graduation from the Buhl high school and the class of 1931 she has been employed at the M. H. King store here. The bridegroom is also a graduate of the Buhl school.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker plan to make their home in Buhl.

HAILEY

Mrs. Lena Harris went to Boise to attend a hardware convention. She is expected to return today.

The President's ball for this district was held in the Duchin room at Sun Valley lodge.

Margaret Venahie, Ketchum, received the trophy game award in the special event that was played to raise money for the Idahoan parade fund. The total raised by the fund by the game and the benefit bingo event was $10, and according to Peter Hanson, chairman of the committee with contributions still coming, it will probably be a few before the full amount is known.

Two parties of week-end skiers were Hailey guests over Saturday and Sunday.

Alfred Holm, Herbert Larsen, John Mills and George Davidson, all of Twin Falls, were guests of Father L. M. Daugherty this week-end. The group arrived in Hailey on Saturday night and Sunday morning. They spent Sunday skiing on Sun Valley slopes.

SUN VALLEY

Mrs. Hal Rouch, wife of Hal Rouch of this country lane, arrived at Sun Valley Sunday with Mrs. Milton Rouch to spend quite some time. They are staying at the lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Van Halder left for Salt Lake City Sunday. They will be gone several days.
