Are You a 'Screwdriver'?

Dr. Miller McClintock, member of the Yale university faculty, vice president of the National Safety Council, and leading authority on traffic and highways, advises motorists to have better manners on streets and highways if they want to reduce traffic congestion.

Favorable Balance?

A rather remarkable thing happened to United States foreign trade in 1938. In 1937 we sent abroad, according to the Alexander Hamilton Institute, $3,349,000,000 worth of goods. In 1938, this fell off only to $3,094,000,000, a rather small drop considering the general state of world business.

What's favorable about it?

We received, instead of things people could eat and wear, gold and silver of which we have too much already. We brought closer the day when the other countries will have run out of gold and silver, at which time they will have nothing to send in exchange for our exports, since we take less and less import goods all the time. And that is the day when our export will fail to hold up as it did between 1937 and 1938, and we will all wonder "what has become of our export trade?" and "How did Germany get it?"

PLAY GETS UNDERWAY AT CLASS B TOURNEY

All Clubs See Action On Opening Day

SHOSHONE, March 2 (Special)—Teams gathered here this morning from seven other south central Idaho cities for annual participation in the Class B district tournament. The meet opened officially this afternoon at 2 p. m. with Carey taking on Glenns Ferry in the first tilt.

Played on a double elimination basis, the final contest will be staged on Saturday night at 8:30 p. m. Preliminary tilt to the championship game will see the Shoshone and Pullman teams, who meet today in the first of the district tournament, tonight at 7:30 p. m.

One of the finest trophies ever to be presented to a championship club will be given the winner of this meet. The victor automatically becomes qualified for entrance in the state tournament at Lewiston on March 16, 17 and 18.

Second game this afternoon was Adison, runner-up of the 1938 Cassia sub-district, take on Kimberly, runner-up for the South Side sub-district.

Two more games will be played Friday night and two more on Saturday morning. There are no games scheduled for Saturday afternoon.

Steffi Duna, "Native Gal," To Get Drama Ability Test

By PAUL HARRISON (INEA Service)

HOLLYWOOD—The movies have been quite a lot of Steffi Duna, but not very often—do you know what I mean. What I mean is that sometimes she dances, with no more than a few costumes, and it takes to blindfold a censor. Miss Duna also acts, when given a chance, and looks very fetching and sultry while at it. Many a great glamor star has been hocus-pocused into popularity with far fewer advantages, but this actress somehow has always missed the bandwagon.

She has missed it until now, anyway, but it's likely that Hollywood's determined conquest of South and Central America will change her fortunes. All the time she is making or planning pictures with locales in the tangle belt, and Latin types are at a premium. Of course, Miss Duna (pronounced "Doo-na") is just a Latin type, and typing has been one of her most serious handicaps. She is an Hungarian ballerina, who never set toe in Spain or Mexico. She has been almost everywhere else, and she speaks a few languages, but no Spanish. All this is incredible to Latin-American fans, including the Cuban, who applaud her execution of their dances.

It was "La Cucaracha," a Technicolor short of 1935, that gave her a false start, but this actress' dance film did more than anything else to sell color to the industry and the public, but it also sold its 15-year-old star down the river.

Hungarian Mexican

Down the Rio Grande, to be explicit. Theater producers thought of Miss Duna as "that little Mexican cutie."

"Dancing Pirate," a color feature about early California in light music, was her first big picture. It is possibly because it had no script, nobody seemed to like it except the critics.

When yet another picture about Miss Duna had been a little hard to manage. Fact was that for five weeks, under the blazing, irritating light of color films of that day, she was scarcely able to stand on her feet without almost continuous treatment by a masseuse.

In "Anthony Adverse" she played the torrid, homicidal half-caste in the African sequence, and in a few subsequent pictures has been a native girl of one nationality or another. Right now she's a native dancer in a South American picture, and with a pretty good part as the second feminine lead who's in love with Lloyd Nolan. Trouble with her is that she's a native girl of one Hollywood formula. Is that she never gets her man.

She's Extra Modest. She dances, though, she dances like nobody's business, unless it may turn out to be some business of the Hay's office. Miss Duna wears a little slit something here and a little slit something there, and in the middle of her bare middle she wears a rose.

This floral item is intended as a device of concealment, and it actually was suggested by the man who is long after 40. The problem of censorship, I guess the floor never has been to burlesque show or he would know that a strategically-placed rose is, by itself, a focal index of abdominal mobility.

I forgot to mention that Miss Duna wears a skirt, but it's a negligible and gauzy garment. They had a hard time getting her into this costume because she was tested in a less revealing one. Although she has danced all over Europe from the age of 14, Miss Duna is shy about her legs. They're very fine, less, too, from any point of view. It's just that she's unwilling to be stared at.

She said: "Never in my life have I put on a bathing suit and gone out."

STEFFI DUNA

to be seen in public. In dancing I do not mind the exposure because I love dancing! But to take off something so I can be looked at makes me feel naked! "Never yet have I used in a bathing suit for what is called 'leg art.' Even if I want to be in the sand I go to the women's side of a swimming pool. My mother says I'm always like this. She says that once when I was 10 we were on a holiday in Italy and swimming in the Adriatic and I got into the water and wouldn't come out until everybody else had left the beach. You think this is a funny thing, but I really wish I were not so shy."

SHOSHONE

Water users of the Big Wood and Little Wood river districts will meet March 3 at the Halley and Shoshone court houses respectively. Election of watermaster is the business of the board of both districts, and the budget and salaries for 1939 remain the same as in the previous year. To provide office room for Harry Gault's agricultural conservation and extension work, improvements are under way at the county building. The room is being prepared from that occupied by the county agent. Gault now divides his energies in Lincoln and Blaine counties.

Judge of the Peter S. E. Land power resident, Fortuna, yesterday celebrated his 77th birthday. Sunday when a number of people gathered at the home to extend felicitations. Cards and refreshments were the evening's diversion. Mrs. C. W. Hill, jr., wife of the Lincoln county representative, entertained at bridge Saturday. Refreshments were served at a local cafe later. Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Howard entertained at bridge Monday evening with honors going to Mr. and Mrs. Howard Adams.

15 Dead, 10 Missing in Hotel Fire

Halifax, N. S. Blaze Takes 3 Structures

HALIFAX, N. S., March 2 (AP)—Fire claimed by 25-mile wind dispersed the old Queen Hotel and other buildings and destroyed a fourth today.

After the flames had burned out, leaving the hotel a smoldering skeleton, firemen estimated that 15 persons were dead, 10 missing and 22 injured. Twenty others who were in the building when the fire started at 6:14 a. m. escaped.

The fire raged for nearly three hours, supported by an ocean wind which made it impossible for firemen to check it. The flames quickly spread to the adjacent Nova Scotia legion commission building and the Greek Orthodox church, to bring them to ashes. The classical five-story concrete building was destroyed.

$250,000 Loss

Authorities estimated the total cost at more than $250,000. One of the 117 persons in the hotel, one of the oldest and finest in Halifax, 87 were guests and 30 were employees. The flames spread so rapidly many had no chance to escape. Others jumped from windows.

Every available piece of fire equipment in the city was rushed to the scene in an effort to contain the flames, which threatened the Halifax hotel across the street.

Many of those saved from the Queen were taken down fire ladders to the street or caught in the flames. Floors began to collapse before the building could be evacuated, and a fireman said he saw the bodies of two children plunge into the flames.

Crowded Sector

The hotel is in the crowded downtown section, near the waterfront. Among the missing was Mrs. Sadie Byrd, 75-year-old widow who had lived at the hotel since the death of her wealthy husband several years ago.

One of the rescued was Douglas Duffly, Waterville, Me., acrobatic star appearing in an ice extravaganza here. He hung for 20 minutes from a fish-fish window until firemen saw him. He dropped safely into a net.

Here's Legal Way To Give Car Signals

BOISE, March 2 (AP)—The hazardous variety of arm signals now used by Idaho motorists in a more or less vague attempt to inform driver behind, must be thrown into the ashcan.

Specific sets of signals which motorists may use under law is provided in two bills signed late yesterday by Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen.

And here are the signals: ... so you might as well learn them now.

Left turn—Hand and arm extended horizontally.

Right turn—Hand and arm extended upward.

Stop or decrease speed—Hand and arm extended downward.

The signals are to be made from the left side of the car.

The legislature also made it unlawful to drive a vehicle with defective windshield wiper, and stipulated that after next July 1 all new motor vehicles must have two wipers, one for the left and one for the right side of the windshield.

Benoit Raps Groups Seeking To Bring 'Isms' to America

Expressing the belief that Americans are not violating the rights of free speech when "we condemn men or women who advocate the coming of our form of government," Hon. Benoit today at a meeting of the national American Legion committee on constitution and by-laws said that he gave the keynote address marking opening of American week.

American week is sponsored by the Elk lodge over the nation. It is conducted through the Elk lodge circuit exercises here being a parade through the downtown area. Benoit's address was given over the local radio station during a special program.

Speaking on the right of freedom of speech as provided in the constitution, Benoit said:

Europe Different

"Should an American citizen go in Germany, Italy or Russia and publicly denounce their form of government I shudder at the result he would soon be either executed or placed in a concentration camp. Yet people of these nations are coming to America advocating Communism, Fascism or Nazism and becoming very vocal in their denunciation of these forms of government."

"Many of those saved from the Queen were taken down fire ladders to the street or caught in the flames. Floors began to collapse before the building could be evacuated, and a fireman said he saw the bodies of two children plunge into the flames."

Retain Basic Principles

"It must be conceded that every man who is able and willing to do an honest day's work is justly entitled to a living wage for himself and his family, and it is sincerely hoped that such a condition may be obtained, but only through such channels as will not crumble the basic principles upon which our government is founded."

"Those who come to the United States from their native lands are welcome to enjoy its many liberties and privileges, but it would seem that their welcome should continue only so long as they are willing to adhere to our laws, and just so long as they are content with the principles of our form of government."

Let Them Go Back!

"If they are discontented here, let them go back to that country from whence they came. There is room for just one 'ism' in this country and that is Americanism, and the only red that we want is that which strictly harmonizes with the blue and the white. We Americans are still of the opinion that this country and its form of government is the best and the finest on the face of the globe," Benoit said.

In commenting on American week, Mr. Benoit said "the observance of the week is a fine and splendid thing. It should serve the purpose of calling to our attention the fact that most of us merely take for granted and that is that we are privileged to live in a country where men and women are not bound by the shackles of a dictatorship. During this week we can well afford to take a few minutes time to offer a prayer of thanks that we are

GRANGE TO JOIN CHEMURGIC BODY

BOISE, March 2 (Special)—Both Grange voted at their business meeting Tuesday to join the National Chemurgic council which is organized for the purpose of promoting laboratory work to find new industrial uses for commercial and industrial farm products.

A George Washington holiday program which followed the general business session included a song by the Grange quartet, composed of Mrs. E. E. Stansell, Mrs. Lashlie Curragion, Arnold Tamplin and Harry Barry, accompanied by Mr. Tamplin.

Talk on the subject of Grange and the subject of the month, Mrs. Elmer Phillips was followed by current events by the congregation. Elmer Phillips gave an interesting talk on "If Washington Should Come Back" stressing the importance of maintaining recent traditions and discoveries.

A radio skit "Washington at the World's Fair" was given by Paul Southwick as announcer, Harry Barry as George Washington, and Henry Herman as George Washington. Mrs. Stanley Webber gave an account of the Pan-American conference, which was held at Laurel Park. Refreshments were served on a committee and the next meeting announced for March 14.

INDEPENDENTS Open Grocery Drive in U. S.

BOISE, March 2 (Special)—Retail food merchants the length and breadth of the nation today were prepared to launch their first major campaign to preserve the independence of their business.

Enrolled by the National Association of Retail Grocers in a publicity drive to retain the individuality on which American business has been built, the organized retailers were ready to carry their message into every corner of the land through four mediums:

1. Newspaper display advertising
2. Radio programs.
3. A comprehensive publicity campaign.
4. Efficient coverage of key cities and towns by informed speakers to establish personal contact between independent businessmen.

First presented to retailers and wholesalers attending eight recent food industries conventions in Chicago, the campaign had immediate repercussions throughout the country.

And within a week after the initial announcement, 10 national independent food groups had pledged maximum support to George Vander Hooning, president of the National Association of Retail Grocers.

"Every day," Vander Hooning said, "the interest in the campaign becomes greater until I am convinced it will soon embrace not only food retailers and wholesalers but independent dealers in many other lines."

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of these painful, nagging, painful backaches which follow the use of the back are often caused by spinal injuries and may be relieved by the use of the backache relief cream.

The cream is a unique relief of taking pains and discomfort made out of the back. Most people have about 12 vertebrae in their back. If one of these vertebrae is injured, it will cause a great deal of pain and suffering.
