OPENING OF OLD ALLEY IS URGED

Four property owners in the Beuna Vista addition of the city today had asked members of the city council to cause the opening of the alley between Beuna Vista and Canyon avenues to be reopened after being closed to public traffic some 20 years ago.

The alley is located on and near property owned by George Ranch and Harry A. Ball at the Palace and Gravel company, the Idaho bean warehouse and coal yard.

Records show that the alley was closed to public traffic in 1919.

Members of the delegation asking that the alley be opened were O. L. Johnson, J. W. Carroll, J. V. Sweet and Clifford Bullock.

Because of the lack of actual facts the council took no action last night but City Clerk W. H. Edridge was asked to scan past records of the city in an effort to find some record of the permission given.

Commissioner Leonard Avant will assist in the search.

Councilmen also voted last night to name J. O. Humphrey as assistant registrar for the April city election.

A report of Jesse Fraser, librarian, showed collections for the month of February amounting to $8.40.

The report further showed books purchased during the period totaled 164 while five were donated. New readers registered numbered 155 while number of books issued came to 12,811. Average daily circulation was 534; largest daily circulation, 732 and smallest, 424.

A report of Dr. E. R. Price, city meat and dairy inspector, showed 245 animals were killed during February including 369 calves, 122 veal, 787 hogs and 76 sheep. Carcasses condemned totaled six.

Backward Program

BUHL, March 7 (Special)—J. C. Jacobsen, Jr., was given the third and fourth degree work at the Fairview Grange meeting Friday. At the close of the regular business session, Mrs. O. C. Brooks, the lecturer, conducted the "Backward Program."

A good attendance responded to the roll call by answering the multiplication tables backwards. O. C. Brooks, J. C. Jacobsen, Anton Suran, J. R. Crawford, Charles Brandon and Alvin Noh sang "Good Night Ladies," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Frank Atkins. A group of men stood, and each in turn told a narrative the whole of which made a complete story.

An impromptu debate was given on the subject, Resolved: That mind is more desirable than dust. The affirmative was taken by Mrs. Alvin Noh and Mrs. Thorn Jensen, the negative by Mrs. Sally Brandon and Mrs. Jack Campbell. The decision by the judges was a tie. A farm stunt, conducted by Mrs. Brooks, concluded the program and refreshments were served by the committee in charge of Mrs. Frank Atkins.

JEROME

Mrs. Homer Robertson entertained the members of the Thursday afternoon bridge club. High score was won by Mrs. Betty Smith.

Mrs. Maude Knobel entertained the members of the Golden Rod club Thursday. Members answered the roll call by telling "windy stories."

Mrs. Richard Hand read a number of eleven poems and two humorous readings were given by Mrs. Gertrude Chubb.

June Meyers, Josephine Conklin, Norma Pines and Clara Lou Meuser were hostesses at Mrs. Meuser's home Wednesday to the members of the newly organized Campfire group, Anawaka. The party was given by the four girls as part of the requirements in becoming trail-seekers. Miss Edna Mattine is leader for the new group.

Rupert Grangers Elect Candidates

RUPERT, March 7 (Special)—Forty-five members of the Rupert Grange met Friday at the Christian church annex.

The business session, in charge of Grange Master L. A. French, included the election into membership of three new candidates, Mr. and Mrs. John West and James Conaway, and the presentation of seven additional names proposed for membership.

A general discussion of the Pennsylvania plan was led by George B. Fiescher. A resolution of regret was passed over the loss from the local organization of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. B. Roberts, pioneer residents of Rupert and Grange members of long standing, who recently sold their farm and plan to leave soon for southern California where they will make their home.

Lynn Carpenter, manager of the Grange Supply company, reported the sale of a carload of farm machinery. The lecturer's hour consisted of a talk on "The Sugar Beet Industry" and a report of the National Beet Growers' meeting in Chicago by Maurice E. Willis, president of the Minidoka County Beet Growers' association; a reading, "Today," by Mrs. Peter Boyd and group singing with Miss Doris Maricle at the piano.

The evening closed with a social hour and refreshments served by Mr. and Mrs. George Donaldson, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Dunlap, Mr. and Mrs. William Douglas and Mrs. L. L. Parabe.

ATTORNEY DRAWS TAXI ORDINANCE

Harry Bennett, city attorney, today was drafting an ordinance for presentation to the city council next Monday night which would make it mandatory that all taxi cabs carry property damage and public liability insurance as well as pay a set fee for an operating license.

Bennett was drafting the ordinance under instructions from members of the council at regular meeting last night. Those backing the proposal pointed out that citizens are entitled to protection when riding in taxi cabs. Several Idaho cities have an ordinance covering this type of transportation. It was pointed out at the meeting last night.

Probability was seen that the license fee for taxi cabs would be placed at $20 for the first cab and $5 for each additional cab operated by the same company. The insurance would be taken out with a recognized company.

A delegation of cab owners and operators is expected to meet with the council next Monday night as the ordinance is introduced. At least two local firms have expressed the desire for passage of the law. Attorneys are expected to appear at the meeting.

CLASS A TEENIS GIRD FOR CAGE TOURNAMENT

Buhl, Twin Falls Are Favored to Take First Place

Eight coaches and some 80 basketball players rested today for the annual Class A cage tournament set to start tomorrow night at 7 o'clock with a clash between Twin Falls Bruins and Rupert Pirates as the first tilt of the season.

Differing from anything in previous tournaments, the meet this year will be on an all-night session, with all tournament games to be played in the evenings except Saturday, when two tilts will be played in the morning.

First games are scheduled for Wednesday and Thursday evenings, three for Friday night, two Saturday morning and the championship tilt Saturday night—provided the two finalists have one defeat each. If a club enters the Saturday tilt without a loss, but loses then, another game will be played on Monday night to decide the championship.

Probably never in the history of Class A basketball have eight teams been as evenly matched as the clubs competing in this tournament. While the general observation is that Twin Falls and the Bruins most likely will battle for the crown, the other six entries would easily dispose of the two or both these two teams without too much surprise to the spectators.

But coming along last in the last weeks of play is a district threat, as it is Rupert, a power in Class A circles all season. The two northern clubs are far from being out of the race, as the Jerome quint showed great power in a pair of starts in the last 10 days, although they took a drubbing from a good Gooding quint in a Friday night engagement.

Molding the bottom rung in the betting, but distinctly dark-horses are Filer and Oakley. Both these quintets have put up great battles all season, despite the fact that they have won very few games. The Wildcats have proved particularly troublesome to the Twin Falls and the Bruins have edged them out in a pair of games by four or five points. Coach M. C. Cranny's Hornets are always tough in tournament competition and will be the team that "lets up" in any contest where the high is being played.

Most of the clubs have been playing very little basketball during the past week, allowing injured players to catch up on the team for the tournament. It is possible that Twin Falls may go into the first couple of days of the tournament without the likes of Lee Carney, scrappy forward, who is on the sick and injured list. Only a Junior, Carney has been a regular high for two years.

Following the Twin Falls-Rupert cage Wednesday night, Jerome, May Gooding, Buhl, Merle Oakley and Filer take the floor.

The team members, their number and coaches, are as follows:

"Foot step out where angle is to be made."
So says an old proverb. And as we have been referred to as a "foot" upon more than one occasion, we'll get out with our regular limb and give you the winners for the 1939 Class A basketball tournament, which opens here on Wednesday night.

Of course, there's the possibility we may be wrong—we have been wrong before. But if you will recall, we picked the Gooding Senators as a 1-10 shot to get a place in the finals of this meet last year and a 2-5 shot to win the crown after gaining the finals. As it happened, Gooding didn't even reach the finals.

However, we've yet to meet the great outside of Henry McMeier, who can pick an wrong every time, so the law of averages should give us something better this year. So here it is:

Did we hear a dissenting voice? Especially from Coach Floyd Lutz of the Indians, who hails to have his team picked with a regular season game, let alone a tournament championship?

However, we don't look to see the Indians go through this tournament undefeated. We'll take the Twin Falls Bruins to give the Indians the toughest competition. The Bruins and Indians can't meet until well along in the tournament and when it does, it should be a humdinger of a battle. The two clubs haven't clashed before this season and we don't think the Bruins played against a club that displays so much slam-bang basketball, with shots bombarding the backboard from all angles. However, a second game between the two clubs might tilt a different story.

There is no team in the meet that can possibly enter a game with any of the other clubs with better odds of the point advantage—and that's a mighty slim margin in the game of basketball.

Class A basketball only eight teams competing for places in the tournament, we've never seen a year when the clubs were so evenly matched.

And if some of the lower classification quints don't put up a better fight than the ones they over, we'll be greatly surprised—along with the losing coaches.

ULTIMATUMS FLY On Plans for Coast Play-Off

BERKELEY, Calif. March 7 (AP)—Kenneth Priestly, graduate manager of the University of California, handed "ultimatums" today to the University of Oregon's athletic board over the question of postponing the Pacific Coast conference basketball championship play-off.

As a result of a tie for first place in the southern division between California and USC, Priestly announced the coast play-offs would be held March 16, 17 and 18 after the California-USC play-off March 12.

The coast championship play-off between Oregon, northern division winner, and the southern division champion, had been scheduled for March 11, 13 and 14 at Eugene, Ore.

Priestly's announcement of the postponement was followed immediately by charges from the Oregon athletic board of "dictatorial tactics of California officials."

The board refused to approve postponement of the championships and announced that the southern division winner would meet the Oregon squad March 11, 13 and 14, or not at all.

Priestly replied that conference rules provide for postponement and said "it appears Oregon doesn't know anything about the rules and that can mean only that they don't want to play us or USC."

ULTIMATUMS FLY On Plans for Coast Play-Off

BERKELEY, Calif. March 7 (AP)—Kenneth Priestly, graduate manager of the University of California, handed "ultimatums" today to the University of Oregon's athletic board over the question of postponing the Pacific Coast conference basketball championship play-off.

As a result of a tie for first place in the southern division between California and USC, Priestly announced the coast play-offs would be held March 16, 17 and 18 after the California-USC play-off March 12.

The coast championship play-off between Oregon, northern division winner, and the southern division champion, had been scheduled for March 11, 13 and 14 at Eugene, Ore.

Priestly's announcement of the postponement was followed immediately by charges from the Oregon athletic board of "dictatorial tactics of California officials."

The board refused to approve postponement of the championships and announced that the southern division winner would meet the Oregon squad March 11, 13 and 14, or not at all.

Priestly replied that conference rules provide for postponement and said "it appears Oregon doesn't know anything about the rules and that can mean only that they don't want to play us or USC."

Just for a Change Mac Writes About Sports and Not About Himself

By HENRY McMEIER.
(Copyright by United Press.)
NEW YORK, March 7 (Special)—This is a story about the Chicago Cubs, and I'll tell you why.

Almost every day I get a letter from some alarm, late reader demanding to know why I don't write more about sports, and some, a chatter box, suggest I write about my own experiences.

I save these letters diligently, and at the end of months their cumulative effect is enough to make me run screaming to the typewriter and write just the sort of thing I am about to do.

Naturally, I would rather tell about myself, as who wouldn't? Take look at the record. I spent most of it at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, watching Woody Van Dyke direct Claudette Colbert and Jimmy Stewart, and I would love to tell you what Claudette said to me and what I said to her. But no. I'll tell you about the Cubs, and how their charity bureau are coming along, and a chatter box, suggest I write about my own experiences.

Heath is chewing this year, and how the cookies are standing the reputation from the loved ones down on the farm.

Heath is played with the general outlook of the Cubs on today. He is a player, and his change is the result of that time with the Cubs. Mainly, Bartlett and Litter are so delighted to be removed from the team, they are acting like schoolboys and likely to play the last ball of their career.

Chicago has added the proven infield punch by getting Woody English from Cincinnati. New pitcher who ought to help me, Mac, in a tight-handed manner from the Cardinals, veteran Earl Whiteaker, who came over from the American League. At Kasperly and Walter Hight, right-handed pitcher, who came over from the Yankees. Hight had turned out. The extra outfielder team and his celebrated right arm are better than at any time since the Cubs down on the farm.

Heath will be glad to know that he is a noisy, brash and cocky as ever.

Heath is speaking, the Cubs' squad will be made up of: Catcher, Heinie, Maines, Caskar, Litter, favor, the latter being from Indianapolis. Infield: Phil Cavasani, first base, replacing Ray Collins, who remains on squad; Phil has a splendid record in the past, and Alan Mack, third, the infield reserves will be English and Steve Meador, unless a Villanova boy, Leonard Merullo, is as good as bought. Hight, who is the outfielder, will be Augie Olson, Litter, and Jim Olson, the latter purchased from the Yankees. Newark farm.

SIDE GLANCES

By George Clark

"Now don't take any more short cuts—we're already late as it is."

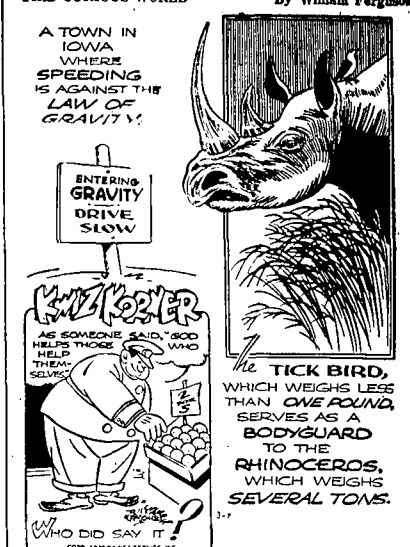

Uncle Si Says . . .

It's getting mighty near time to begin to think about seed for this year's crops. If you're going to have some seed potatoes, grain for seed or anything else along the seed line, advertise it in Classified now and get in on the early market. You'll find that the market covered by the 15,000 circulation of the Times and News in eight counties will provide a lot of buyers for your seed.

GANDHI FINISHES FAST AS GOVERNMENT INTERVENES

ENGLISH, INDIAN LEADERS ASSURE LIBERAL RULING

RAJOKOT, India, March 7 (UP)—Mahatma Gandhi ended his "fast unto death" today when the Indian and British governments intervened to have him released from the point of collapse when he broke his fast at 2:30 p. m. He had been without food for 98½ hours since noon Feb. 23.

E. C. Gibson, British government resident for Rajkot state, had visited Gandhi yesterday seeking to find a way to settle the Indian claim that the young Thakore Saheb, ruler of the state, had violated a solemn contract to liberalize his government.

It was understood Gandhi's fast was victorious and he won the promise that the original agreement with the ruler of Rajkot will be carried out and prisoners whom Gandhi considered unjustly held will be freed.

The terms of settlement were reported to envisage an inquiry by the chief justice of India into the charges against Rajkot's ruler.

It was understood Gibson handed Gandhi a personal letter from Lord Linlithgow, viceroy of India, and Gandhi at once gave Gibson his reply.

A group of British cabinet ministers held an emergency meeting at No. 10 Downing street, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's official residence, in London late last night.

Unrest in Rajkot

It was reported their meeting was called because Lord Linlithgow sent urgent representations that a basis for settlement must be found, because of unrest in Rajkot and possible repercussions elsewhere in India as the result of the fast.

Gandhi spent a restless night and looked exhausted this morning. He suffered from persistent nausea and had considerable difficulty in drinking water. Usually Gandhi drinks four quarts of water a day. Since 10 o'clock last night he had been able to drink only four ounces.

The little Nationalist leader had been seeking specifically to force the young Thakore Saheb to carry out reforms. The fast, also, was a part of Gandhi's long fight for Indian nationalism.

Signed Pact

Last December, the Thakore Saheb signed a pact with Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, ambassador to the India national congress, which in Gandhi's interpretation, promised the 75,000 subjects of Rajkot state the widest powers of responsible government. The pact was not carried out, Gandhi, whose father was prime minister of Rajkot, went to see the Thakore and pleaded with him to go through with the pact. It was asserted the Thakore treated him contemptuously. Then Gandhi announced his fast.

Lieut. Col. A. J. Muirhead, parliamentary under-secretary of state of the India office, said in the house of commons at London yesterday that the Thakore had broken his word and broken any understanding.

Nevertheless, because strikes had started in India in protest against the Thakore's attitude, and because considerable anxiety was felt for Gandhi, the government intervened.

PRICE OF MEATS HITS HIGH LEVEL

BOISE, March 7 (UP)—The Idaho prices of meat animals were at the highest level since July of last year, despite production increases, Statistics Richard O. Ross of the bureau of agricultural economics said today.

The livestock and products index stood at 100 per cent of the pre-war level and two per cent higher than a month ago and equal to the high mark reached in December and January of 1938, Ross said.

Dairy and poultry products continued to decline as did fruit products. Other farm commodity prices remained unchanged.

Continuing the high production level of 1938, the Idaho output of cranberry butter in January, 1939, was estimated by the bureau at 128,303,000 pounds.

This was an increase of 10 per cent over that of January, 1938, and 11 per cent larger than the January average of the eight year, 1930-37.

"It is the highest output for any January with the exception of 1935 in the 21 years of record," said Ross.

"Mild weather, liberal feed supplies and some increase in the number of milk cows have kept the milk production at a high level since the beginning of the year."
