

Solon Calls for Parallel Action by U. S., England and France

SEEKING URGES MARCH BY HITLER, DUCE

WASHINGTON, March 17 (UPI)—William H. King, D. Utah, called today for concentrated, parallel action by the United States, France, and Great Britain to halt the further march of the dictatorships.

He emphasized he did not mean that this country should become involved in entangling alliances abroad, but that he favored the use of joint diplomatic pressure by the three major democracies.

His statement on the absorption of Czechoslovakia by Germany was a contrast to the more moderate reaction. Other senators and congressmen who would comment contended that this country's attitude should be one of further isolation from European affairs.

Sen. William E. Borah, R., Idaho, ranking minority member of the senate foreign affairs committee, and a veteran advocate of isolation policies, said the disappearance of the Czechoslovakian government was "inevitable after the Munich pact."

No Meeting
Sen. Hiram Johnson, D., Calif., an isolationist colleague of Borah's on the foreign affairs committee declined comment except to say:

"I do not want to meddle in their affairs and I don't want them to meddle in ours."

Sen. Elton D. Smith, D., S. C., agreed that the Czech situation was "European baby, not ours."

But King insisted that democratic nations must act to prevent their own destruction.

"It is evident that they (dictators) have conspired to destroy the world's democracies," King said, "and they will succeed unless the democracies arouse themselves."

"We are in for a long, dark night of international savagery, the darkest since the World war. All democracies have cause to fear and tremble."

Paralleled Action
"I strongly favor concerted parallel action by the United States with Great Britain and France to stop the further march of the dictatorships—not entangling alliances, but joint diplomatic pressure to call a halt."

Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers, R., Maine, introduced a resolution in the house yesterday that would declare it to be the opinion of congress that the reciprocal trade treaty with Czechoslovakia was abrogated by Adolf Hitler's assumption of a protectorate over the country and calling on the President to demand that the Czech government assume the Czechoslovakian debt of $15,000,000 to the United States.

John M. Jones, 204 S. Delaware, said that all city groups and the town hall will be invited to join in the meeting. Mr. Bammons is also on the board of directors of the U. S. National Bank, Portland.

Airport Work
Lionel D. Atwill, director and head of the aviation commission, announced that if weather permits on Monday, work will get actively underway at the airport.

Rep. Ralph E. Leighton discussed the toll bridge measure and presented Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen's pen to the chamber.

Because the miniature truck display of Convey Freight lines did not arrive from Boise, Swift and company staged the exhibit at today's meeting. George Seidel, local manager, spoke briefly. Samples of processed cheese were given out.

TEXT GIVEN FOR NAZI STATEMENT

WASHINGTON, March 17 (UPI)—Here is the text of the statement made today by Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles:

"The government of the United States has on frequent occasions stated its conviction that only through international support of a program of order based upon law can world peace be assured."

"This government, founded upon and dedicated to the principles of human liberty and of democracy, cannot refrain from making known this country's condemnation of the act which resulted in the temporary extinguishment of the liberty of a free and independent people with whom, within a few days when the republic of Czechoslovakia attained its independence, the people of the United States have maintained especially close and friendly relations."

"The position of the government of the United States has been made consistently clear. It has maintained the need for respect for the sanctity of treaties and of the pledged word, and of the pledged neutrality by any nation in the domestic affairs of other nations; it has on repeated occasions expressed its condemnation of a policy of military aggression."

"It is manifest that acts of wanton lawlessness and of arbitrary force are threatening world peace and the very structure of modern civilization."

"The imperative need for the observance of the principle advocated by this government has been clearly demonstrated by the developments which have taken place during the past few days."

CZECHS HALTED IN ATTEMPT TO FLEE NAZIS' RULE

GERMAN POLICE STOP PLANS TO ESCAPE NATION

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE, JR.
PRAGUE, March 17 (AP)—Riots have occurred at numerous frontier points as Czechs and others sought to escape the new German Nazi regime, it was reported today.

All means of escape were closed, and it was understood that persons who sought to cross the frontier had been turned back by German Nazi and military guards.

Agents of the secret police, the dread Gestapo, swept down on houses all over Prague in raids such as those Germany, Austria and Sudetenland in turn had experienced, and persons regarded as "enemies of the regime" had their first taste of the methods of the Gestapo and of the black uniformed "SS" Nazi bodyguard troops who cooperate with them.

Thousands of persons were understood to have been arrested, and many apparently had been sent already to Germany and concentration camps.

Cart Gold Away
Nazi "SS" and "SA" troops visited the Czech National bank yesterday and took away 16 truck-loads of gold. The bank's assets, which go to Hitler, include about $81,500,000 in gold and $38,500,000 in foreign currency holdings.

The Nazis made their first connection to the bitter Czechs today when they canceled an edict requiring all traffic to use the keep-right system which is used in Germany. Czechs drive to the left, it was expected, however, that the German system would be enforced soon.

Emil Hacha, last president of the Czechoslovak republic, made a speech in which he referred to the republic as "only a short episode in our history." Describing a visit he made to Adolf Hitler yesterday, he said Hitler received him with "all honor." He asked the people to preserve order and cooperate with the Nazi state.

People of Prague settled down under Nazi rule but there was every indication that their bitter resentment remained unchanged.

Hitler Leaves Prague
Hitler had left Prague yesterday without showing himself to the people who had booed and hissed his troops and spat on the windows of a German travel agency which showed his picture. It was the first time he had left a newly won city without driving slowly through the streets acknowledging the cheers of the welcoming throngs. His entry and his departure were unnoted. And not more than 1,000 Germans even had gathered before the Brazilian castle, where he remained during his brief visit, to cheer him when he appeared briefly on a balcony.

Hitler was supposed to have said before he left:

"There shall be no pogrom in Prague and with the exception of doctors, lawyers, officials and army officers, Jews shall be allowed a certain amount of freedom."

Jews were not impressed. In some towns, the word "Zid"—Jew—already had been smeared across windows of many shops in the Nazi capital, and Prague Jews feared they had little hope of continuing business long under Nazi pressure.

Gold Boom
SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—With gold commanding a higher market price than ever before, thanks to the United States' arbitrary valuation of it, Australia is enjoying a real gold boom. In New South Wales alone $125,000 worth at present prices was extracted in the past year. The yield of 21,000 ounces was the highest since 1918. Two newly opened mines are now averaging 1,000 ounces weekly.

BUILD, March 17 (Special)—One of the first building activities for the 1939 season was started Monday when workmen began tearing down the L. P. Runyon building between the Farmers National bank and the Idaho Grocery on Main street, preparatory to erecting a new building in the business block.

The new building is being constructed for Mrs. J. M. Gibbs, a widow, and will be used by the Gibbs Cigar store when structure is completed.

Hoover Suggests Youth Attention

LOS ANGELES, March 17 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover last night urged America to take a lesson from the Nazis and concentrate attention upon its youth.

"Just as Nazis build their boys to support a Spartan state, we want to build our boys to support a representative state," he told 1,500 persons at a Boys Club of America dinner.

Mr. Hoover urged greater recreational and training facilities for the "pavement boys" of the cities.

ONE DISTRICT IN "ANNEXED" CLASS

One Twin Falls county common school district will be affected by the new Idaho law declaring that unorganized territory shall be annexed to the nearest active district. Mrs. Doris Stradley, county superintendent of public instruction, said today.

The lone district in this county is the St. Patrick's, which has lapsed as a school unit. Rookerson is the probable common district to which St. Patrick's will be annexed.

Soldier Creek now has no school board and operates no school. Under those conditions, it is classed as unorganized.

The new law becomes effective April 1. Mrs. Stradley said. The board of county commissioners is the agency which, under the law, takes the formal action ordering annexation.

The story probably never would have appeared if the recipient of the Chi Theta invitation to a tea hadn't been "Orie" mistake for the college paper. "Orie" a junior accepted and attended the tea.

In HOLLYWOOD Today

By United Press
Actress Anna Sheridan has been chosen America's "lump girl" by a committee of men-and-boys. She received eight first-place votes against five for Alice Faye. Others voted upon were Betty LaVarr, Marlene Dietrich, Carole Lombard, Dolores del Rio and Norma Shearer. Judges were Dudley Field Malone, Westcott Davis Leavine, Coach Howard Jones, Earl Carroll, Otto Kruger, Rudy Vallee and the Earl of Warwick.

Two actresses, Marion Martin and Anna Evers, suffered slight burns by gas stove explosions.

Billie Burke, film actress, was confined to a hospital by an attack of influenza.

Anna May Wong, Los Angeles-born Chinese actress, is planning a 20-week tour of Australia, South Africa and England.

John Barrymore, who made his stage debut in 1903 and 20 years later quit the boards for Hollywood, is going back to Broadway after 16 years in films. He will appear in "My Dear Children" with his wife, the former Elaine Barrie.

Gaby Hartnett and Dix Dean paid $27 each to the Radio Artists of America so as to be able to participate in a radio baseball play last night. They received $1,000 each for the performance. After the broadcast, Mrs. Dix, who had watched the performance, sniffed: "I see I married a ball player."

INA CLAIRE WEDS AT UTAH CAPITAL

SALT LAKE CITY, March 17 (UP)—A romance which began 21 years ago when Ina Claire, star of stage and screen, was a Ziegfeld Follies girl and William R. Wallace, Jr., San Francisco steamship company agent, was a student at Harvard today had culminated in their marriage.

Miss Claire and Wallace were married last night at the suburban home of Mayor John M. Wallace of Salt Lake City. Mayor Wallace and the bridegroom are brothers, sons of William R. Wallace, Jr., of this city, vice-president of the Utah Oil Refining company.

The couple said their plans were indefinite but that they would probably stay in Salt Lake City for a day or two. They will make their home in San Francisco.

Among those at the airport to greet Miss Claire and Wallace when they landed after a surprise flight from San Francisco was the Salt Lake county clerk, who issued the marriage license at the field.

The marriage was the Salt Lake City's third. Her first husband was James Whitaker, Chicago newspaperman. John Gilbert, star of silent pictures, was her second.

The state of Utah has several times played a prominent part in Miss Claire's life. One of her early stage successes was "The Girl from Utah." Gilbert, her second husband, was a native of Logan, Utah.

Recently her name was linked with that of a former Utah newspaperman, Harold Ross, editor of the New York Herald Tribune.

Wallace is a native of Utah and was educated in Salt Lake City schools and at the University of Utah. He attended Harvard university and Oxford and was prominent in Utah politics before he began practicing law in San Francisco.

Corrigan Again

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Douglas Corrigan, who stands alone as the "crazy" in which he flew to Ireland at the Golden Gate exposition, has devised a wrong way of shaking hands, to avoid fatigue he shakes the morning and his left hand in the afternoon.

Now being manufactured is a car that is insulated against poison gas. The car has successfully passed all tests, and is being produced in quantities in event of war.

MOODS TERMED AS NORMAL TRAIT

ST. LOUIS (UP)—Readers of psychology books—even the good ones—who take them too seriously are likely to believe they are afflicted with everything they read about, according to Dr. Robert E. Britt, instructor in psychiatry at the St. Louis university medical school.

Dr. Britt declared that those who worry about their own mental processes usually have little difficulty in working up a good case of jitter or some other irregularity for themselves.

Over-accutention of abnormality either in the book or reader interest, Dr. Britt explained, may lead an introspective individual to look with terror at tendencies previously taken for granted and "thus propensate in broad strokes of whimsy might become a relatively serious handicap."

Various Attitudes Explained
He pointed out that a certain amount of moodiness is normal in all persons. Elation or euphoria, and depression are fundamentally normal, he said. They are not in frank, open personalities, who are inclined to make light of trifling irritants but moody in more serious ones.

An individual's mood rises out of a situation as a direct and ordinary and appropriate response, Dr. Britt said a depressive mood is nothing to worry about even when it goes as far as extreme "making mountains out of molehills," unless it persists in refusing to change with the situation.

Always Inevitably Fears
Dr. Britt said that while mental diseases "are merely exaggerations of the so-called normal personality traits, the possession of a certain personality pattern is by no means an indication that the individual in question is likely to go insane."

The psychiatrist explained that almost every medical student goes through a phase of symptoms "when he feels every disease in his textbooks."

However, he realizes that it would be impossible to suffer from all those diseases at once, Dr. Britt said. "At the same time he realizes how ridiculous his fears were and promptly dismisses disease as therefore no concern of his, but, rather, something which he has to contend with in others."

ANCIENT FARMS PRIDE OF CHINA

CHUNGKING (UP)—On the rich western plain, where China's western agricultural area fades into mountainous Szechwan, oranges and apples grow in areas not 50 miles apart and in between, from wheat and other agricultural products. Native call it China's "garden of Eden."

The secret is in climate and soil conditions. There is a year-around growing season, just warm enough in the winter to permit corn and wheat to grow. There is a great depth of fertile soil, built up by centuries of irrigation and fertilized with care that only a Chinese farmer can exercise.

Pride of the Chinese farmers, however, is the irrigation system, constructed during the Chin dynasty, in 200 B. C. There are 180 dams and 180 miles of canals (the Wangchiao (outer river), built of egg-shaped gravel stones.

These stones are contained in bamboo baskets, enabling them to be removed during certain seasons in the winter to permit corn and wheat to grow. There is a great depth of fertile soil, built up by centuries of irrigation and fertilized with care that only a Chinese farmer can exercise.

The dams along the inner river are operated during certain seasons, and are closed during other seasons, to divert the water into the outer river, which meets the Min river, and finally empties into the Yangtze. It is a cooperative system, in which the Chinese farmer utilizes every particle of water in the irrigation system.

The all placed on the fields by the irrigation water annually remains in the water, and is not lost on one field to another along with the water, through gravitational irrigation. In addition, the Chinese farmer utilizes every particle of fertilizer obtainable. There are 60,000 oxen in Szechwan province, and each ox is used in the irrigation system, to collect and send out 1200 times to the farms.

Many Experiments Tried
Experimentation is carried on all the time. A United Press correspondent, touring the province's experiment station, reported that lemon trees, only 9 years old, now producing fruit as large and fine as any from California. One farmer proudly showed a grape vine, transplanted from the nursery last March when only 8 years old, now bearing large fruit.

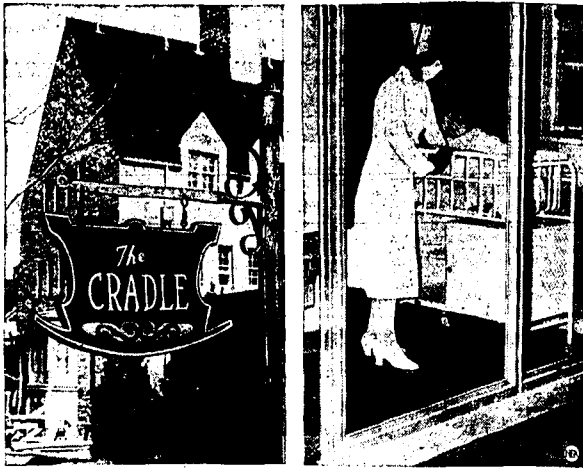

Great seed is being introduced, wherever the farmers have been educated to adopt new methods. In fact, a grape vine, transplanted in some cases as much as 35 per cent.

Artificial fertilizer is being tested. The growing of Irish potatoes is being increased. New varieties of cotton are being introduced—all in an effort to bring the production of the chief granaries of the men under arms.

Germes at The Cradle Travel Through Ozone with Greatest of Difficulties

Cradle-shaped sign, above, hangs at entrance to Evanston's famous adoption center.

(By NEA Service)
EVANSTON, Ill.—In this Chicago suburb, "Cradle," where many couples have become parents by adoption, science is throwing light on germs—and killing them in the process.

The light, invisible, but impenetrable to bacteria, is ultra-violet rays, projected to form protective walls in and around babies' cribs. It is hard for a germ to get through one of these light barriers as for a mosquito to bite through steel.

Likely result of the experiment will be a significant contribution to the field of infant care—elimination of transfer of infection from baby to baby through germs borne by air.

In a "ward" on the second floor of The Cradle's new $150,000 structure, 12 cubicles, divisions are arranged in two rows of six. Between the cubicles runs a corridor. Each cubicle contains a baby's crib; each is doorless, opening directly into the corridor.

Bacteria shall not pass. A single wall of light provides the protection between the rows. The sheet-like shaft comes from a fluorescent tube which is stretched along the ceiling. The ray either snuffs out or repels any germ which attempts to pass from one side of the room to the other.

But how much protection, exactly, does the light alone afford? That's the question which has brought about the establishment of two different technique divisions in the same experiment.

In what might be called the "A" technique, cubicles at one side of the corridor are arranged in pairs, each two being separated from the others by a glass wall. Down the center of each cubicle, between the two baby beds, more ultra-violet rays set up a shield, separating the two infant occupants of the same quarters.

Individual cubicles at the other side of the room are divided by glass alone in the "B" technique. A comparison of results of both these methods will show just how much protection is necessary for absolute immunity.

A window brings light to each cubicle. But the pane must not be opened to admit outside air. Airplane in the cubicle is completely changed each 20 minutes—by ventilation. Humidity and temperature are automatically controlled.

The ultra-violet "screens" are not an entirely new idea. At the Henry Phipps Institute in Philadelphia, W. F. Wells, assistant professor of sanitary engineering at the air-borne infection laboratories on the University of Pennsylvania, conducted experiments with a similar grouping of eight cubicles.

Germany End

The scientist got germ-free within the cubicles—then set about to protect occupants with an ultra-violet defense. It worked. The light walls were found to be practically impervious to bacteria carried by ordinary venting and temperature.

It was the Wells findings which led to the tests at The Cradle. Result is that the famous baby nursery may be cradling a system which will soon be used to protect precious little lives in maternally wards throughout the world.

In two other tests, also under way on The Cradle's second story, varying protective methods are being tried. The first of these more or less a duplication of the ultra-violet wall—cubicles are separated only by glass partitions. Air conditioning gives the only protection.

In another ward, each baby is isolated in a glass enclosed, air conditioned space within the cubicle. Both of these latter, however, are regarded largely as "control experiments" to definitely establish the outstanding value of the light method.

POSSE SEARCHES WYOMING MOUNTAINS FOR MURDERER

WOODSMAN HIDES IN HILLS AFTER KILLING OF TWO

POWELL, Wyo., March 17 (AP)—East Durand, 26, fugitive who fled through a driving blizzard toward the rugged mountains west of here today while shoot-down sheriff posse, state troopers and forest rangers tracked in pursuit with orders to take him "dead or alive."

Durand, woodsman and a crack shot with either rifle or bow and arrow, was armed with two long-range hunting rifles, carried a quantity of ammunition and was obviously determined not to be taken alive. With one of the rifles he had killed Deputy Sheriff D. M. Baker and Marshal Charles Lewis last night in escaping jail. The other rifle he had used to kill a ranchman while he was in flight.

The killer was on foot, authorities said, and apparently was headed for a remote section of the Hart mountain range, 20 miles west, where he had earned his livelihood for years off the game animals and fowl often telling his prey with bow and arrow.

Killed Elk

He pleaded guilty Wednesday to a charge of killing elk out of season, was fined $100 and sentenced to six months in the imprisonment.

He was late yesterday that County Attorney Oliver Steadman had obtained a warrant charging he had killed cattle owned by a rancher.

Last night, when Jailer Noah Riley entered his cell with him, Durand seized a small milk bottle from the tray and struck him on the head, dazing him. He disarmed Riley, took a rifle from the sheriff's office and fled the jail.

He was in a car commanded at the jail, to the home of his parents two miles north of here.

Deputy Sheriff Baker led a posse to the farmhouse. As he stepped from one of several automobiles surrounding the house, Durand opened fire. Baker fell mortally wounded, and a second later Marshal Lewis was down with a bullet in his abdomen. Only two shots had been fired.

Posse members put Lewis in a car which sped him to a hospital where he died. They dared not immediately approach Baker's body for fear of themselves being killed. When they finally closed in, Durand had escaped on foot.

A. A. Glasgow, a rancher, later telephoned that Durand had fired his ranchhouse, forced him to surrender a high caliber rifle and two boxes of ammunition. The dispatch of his rifle was established, several small posses started in pursuit.

Because Miss Kathleen Coleman was out of the city, her mother represented her at the session here last night and was presented with a national citation for winning the state American Legion essay contest last year.

At conclusion of the meet, Williams said: "Residents of this section of Idaho should be proud of these speakers. The subjects were well presented and their methods of delivery were excellent. By all rights, oratory should become one of the leading methods of competition among youth. America's future lies in her youth and we of the past generation should listen attentively to what they have to say."

New Law Forbids Merchants Using "Loss Leader" System

BOISE, March 17 (AP)—The "anti-loss leader" bill passed by the 25th Idaho legislature will become law May 8 to eliminate one phase of "unfair competition" in the state.

W. E. Henke, president of the Retail Food Dealers' association, said today Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen signed the bill March 8.

The meat of the bill is the clause which decrees a retailer must take six per cent profit above cost in addition to any freight and cartage on his product. Henke said: "Whole-sale merchants must take two per cent profit in excess of freight and cartage. It does not figure cash discounts which are in addition."

Henke said the primary purpose of the bill was to stop loss leader selling whereby a merchant takes a loan on one product in order to advertise it, attract customers to his store and then sell them other products at higher prices.

"It worked in California," Henke said, "it is an almost identical duplicate of legislation passed in 32 other states including Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Oregon and Washington."

The California law has been tested and approved by the United States supreme court. We anticipate that it will work smoothly here. It is not price fixing in nature as some of its critics contend, because no merchant on earth could fairly expect to sell a commodity for less than six per cent markup. Those who do, commonly take the difference onto the price of some other product."

Henke pointed out there were loopholes in the act in the exemptions provided for in Section 7 which says that not included under its provisions are:

1. Perishable merchandise which must be sold promptly in order to forestall loss.
2. Merchandise that is imperfect or damaged or is being discontinued and is advertised, marked or sold as such.
3. Where merchandise is sold upon the final liquidation of any business.

Where merchandise is sold for charitable purposes or to relief agencies or is sold on contract to departments of the government.

5. Where merchandise is sold by any officer acting under order or direction of any court.
