House Group Votes $100,000,000 Added Relief Fund

50 MILLION CUT FROM REQUESTED APPROPRIATIONS

WASHINGTON, March 29 (U.P.)—The house deficiency appropriations committee, cutting $50,000,000 from President Roosevelt's request for relief funds, agreed today to report a bill granting WPA an additional $100,000,000 for use until June 30.

The committee vote was 8 to 4, with four Republicans opposing reporting any bill at all.

The bill will go to the full appropriations committee, where little opposition to the $100,000,000 figure is anticipated, and will be called up for action in the house tomorrow.

The decision to report a $100,000,000 bill represented a reduction of two urgent requests from President Roosevelt for $150,000,000. The figure, however, marked a record from congressional action earlier this year in cutting Mr. Roosevelt's original relief request.

If the $100,000,000 bill is passed, WPA will have received $225,000,000 of the $275,000,000 that Mr. Roosevelt asked.

Farm Aid Rejected
Linked with house rejection of an unbudgeted $250,000,000 appropriation for farm parity payments yesterday, the committee decision indicated that the economy bloc still is somewhat effective in the house.

Only two of the eight Democrats on the subcommittee were reported in favor of Mr. Roosevelt's $150,000,000 figure at the time of the final vote. On the motion to report the bill as $100,000,000, however, they sided with the majority.

Action Forecast
The subcommittee's action was forecast last night after house members from urban sections voted against the $250,000,000 farm parity fund. Farm legislators vowed vengeance and some members of the conservative economic bloc predicted that the house would accept whatever figure the committee reported.

The house eliminated the unbudgeted parity payment fund from the 1940 agriculture department appropriation bill by a vote of 204 to 172. The bill as sent to the senate carried $181,513,113 for the department's activities.

Fought "Farm Boys"
Votes of house members from industrial districts, where relief needs are greatest, more than accounted for the 132-vote margin by which the parity payment amendment was defeated.

City legislators apparently decided after tentative efforts at logrolling to get farm urban support for both appropriations, that they could not rely on the farm parity relief bill once the parity payment issue had been decided.

Rep. Leon Sacks, D., of Philadelphia, said: "We know that the farm boys were against us, and we decided to let them have it."

House Approves Bill For Reorganization

WASHINGTON, March 29 (U.P.)—The house today climaxed a two-year fight over government reorganization by completing congressional action on a greatly modified bill giving President Roosevelt power to shift and realign executive agencies.

The bill now goes to President Roosevelt for signature. It will permit him to issue reorganization orders which would become effective unless both houses disapproved them in 60 days.

When the house acted on the final draft of the bill, Rep. John Taber, R., N. Y., said that because of the prohibitions against abolition of any government functions, the bill would only "increase overhead and decrease efficiency." He voted against it.

Virtuality Meaningless
Rep. Everett Dirksen, R., Ill., said that modifications in the measure since the house defeated the original bill last year made it virtually meaningless.

"The bill," he said, "is an authorization to rearrange the flowers in the governmental vase, but no flowers shall be removed, even though a bit droopy."

Can't Extend Functions
Under the new bill the President may not extend the functions or lines of agencies beyond the time specified by existing law—a provision intended to prevent any executive order from continuing the emergency agencies beyond legal authorization, nor permitting any agency to exercise functions not expressly authorized by law.

The bill gives the President six administrative assistants at $10,000 a year, popularly termed "assistant presidents."

Names in Today's News
Premier Benito Mussolini sent a telegram of congratulation to Gen. Francisco Franco today, declaring that he considers "indissoluble" the ties between Italy and nationalist Spain.

Gen. H. DeMille, Hollywood producer-director, suggested that President Roosevelt visit the forward to his latest movie, "Union Pacific," as a gesture of friendliness to the railroads.

President William Green of the A.F.L. appealed to all citizens of the United States to join in an iron-clad boycott of German-made goods.

EX-PARTNER OF MICKEY ROONEY STRUCK ON HEAD

HOLLYWOOD, March 29 (U.P.)—Delia Bogart, the pig-tailed tomboy who played pranks with Mickey Rooney in the old "Mickey Maguire" comedies, was struck down early today apparently by the same slugger who killed a young dancer a month ago.

A blow from his club fractured the 17-year-old actress' skull and she may die. He leaped at her from the shadow of a building as the girl walked home from a motion picture show.

Police believe she fell victim to the slugger who struck down Anya Sooyeva, a Russian dancer and singer, on the wooded campus of Los Angeles City College last Feb. 25. The dancer died a few hours later, and her assailant has never been identified.

The attacks were markedly similar, police said. The club was the same—a section of 2 by 4 inch scantling. The girl was struck in the forehead from the darkness, hammered the girl over the head, and fled without attempting a criminal attack.

Tomboy Taylor
Miss Bogart, a pretty brunette, in her earlier years was like rollicking Tomboy Taylor in the comedies starring young Rooney in the lead role of Mickey Maguire, the tough kid of the comic strips. Grown to an age for more grown-up roles, she has been working in Jackie Cooper's latest picture of high school days, "A Life Size Boy."

Early today she was walking home from a motion picture theater on Sunset avenue in Hollywood when the clubber leaped on her from the shadow of an apartment building on Wilton place. She fell under the blow without gaining a glimpse of her attacker.

Grabs Golf Club
Her screams brought residents running from neighboring apartment houses. Mrs. Laura Lee, before whose residence the attack occurred, grabbed a golf club and rushed out to land, and ran to the rescue. Waving the club, she rushed out and drove off a man she said was "about 6 feet tall."

"He was wearing a light tan topcoat and felt hat," she looked up, saw me, and ran down the street."

Find Heavy Club
A few feet from the girl police found the heavy club. A similar time, stained with blood, was left at the scene of the fatal attack upon the girl, who is in college campus several miles away.

At the Hollywood receiving hospital Miss Bogart was given a fifty-cent bandage on her forehead. Later, after being removed to the county general hospital, her condition was "fair."

County Board may Shift Relief Handling Methods

Complete change in the handling of relief requests in Twin Falls county loomed here this afternoon as the board of county commissioners contemplated a proposal to turn relief administration over to the department of public assistance.

Action on the proposal awaits advice of County Attorney Everett M. Stetley, according to the board members, Chairman George R. Hart, C. B. Lindsey and Ben E. Potter.

Confers with Supervisor
The board conferred today with H. N. Padlock, acting county supervisor for the department of public assistance.

The contemplated move, if approved, would be set up as provided for by H. B. 373 passed by the last legislature. The system would have the public assistance set-up handling disbursement of all county relief funds, including emergency cases.

"The action would mean," said Commissioner Lindsey, "that the commissioners would discontinue issuance of grocery orders from this office."

Madrid, Valencia Fail into Hands Of Franco Army

MADRID, March 29 (U.P.)—Republican Spain crumbled today and the nationalists took over every large city as the war was officially proclaimed ended.

Valencia, third largest city, fell 24 hours after Madrid. In rapid succession, the nationalist falangists took over such key towns as Ciudad Real, Cuenca, Murcia, Almeria, Guadalajara, Jaen, Alicante, Albeñete and the naval base at Cartagena.

There was no late news from Gandia but it was believed thousands of popular front leaders, including such big men as Gen. Jose Miaja, may have been trapped there before they could leave the country.

The end of the war was proclaimed in an official broadcast from Burgos, the nationalist capital. The capital now will be moved to Madrid. The fall of Valencia and the other cities occurred without resistance.

Facists Appear
Automobiles bearing members of the nationalist Falangist (Facist) organization appeared suddenly in the streets and entered the Plaza Castelar, in the center of Valencia, at 1 p. m. (5 a. m. MST).

In an instant, dispatches from Valencia reported, thousands of flags appeared in the hands of people in the plaza and all hands were raised in the Facist salute.

After the Facist salute, other republican leaders were reported to have fled at dawn, bound for Alicante or Gandia.

Print Contract Holds Spotlight In Veto Battle
BOISE, March 29 (U.P.)—The Idaho statehouse "battle of the vetoes" took a new turn today as Democratic leaders suggested a new obstacle to legality of the Symms-York Printing company contract to print the 1939 Idaho session laws.

Mason Greenfield, a member of the state liquor board, is also vice president of the Symms-York printing company. He is still associated with the firm, they declare, and therefore, under Idaho statutes, he is forbidden to enter into a contract for sale of anything to the state.

They quote the Idaho codes annotated 88-1913 which state: "No member of the legislature or any head or member of the executive departments of the state shall directly, himself, or by any other person in trust, for him, or for his use or benefit, or on his account, undertake, execute, hold or enjoy, in whole or in part, any contract or agreement made or entered into by or on behalf of the state of Idaho, any person who violates the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000."

Republican leaders reply that the statute does not apply to the case because: 1. Greenfield was not appointed a member of the liquor board until after the contract with Symms-York had already been approved by joint resolution of the legislature.

2. Greenfield is paid on a per diem basis as a member of a policy board and therefore is not a regular executive of the state.

"Interesting Point"
Atty-Gen. J. W. Taylor said it was an "interesting point" but that he would not comment because it was not called to his attention and he had not investigated it.

In an opinion bearing on a similar case issued recently by the attorney general, and quoted by the Democrats the statement is made: "There is no question of authority upon the part of the general principal that such contracts offend against public policy."

Quarantined on the matter, Secretary of State George Curtis said he "knew nothing about it" and that it was an "interesting point" but that he would not comment because it was questioned on other grounds.

Meanwhile, legal trends were puzzling over the question and seeking a solution.

Forecast Points To Lamb Profit
Careful omens for southern Idaho sheep producers who will market early lambs late in May and during June should find the lambs bringing a good market because of light receipts, Wood said.

Although the Idaho growers who sell at that time should find a profitable market, Wood warned that July probably will find a "depressed" condition because California lambs will reach the stock markets by then. "Normally there are 450,000 California lambs moving forward in April and May," the stock expert said. "This year, because of drought, cold weather and winds, instead of about 75 per cent of the California lambs being fed, probably only 30 to 35 per cent is in shape."

"As a result, instead of California lambs being fed to be slaughtered, probably 250,000 head will be forced to move out of the state to (Continued on Page 2, Column 1)

Corset Models Disappoint Big Chicago Crowd

CHICAGO, March 29 (U.P.)—Judge John Barry U. S. district court filled rapidly with men today as the federal building grapevine spread word that one corset company was suing another.

"And three beautiful brunettes are going to model the corsets," Judge Barry said. "I heard Hugh M. Norris, attorney for it, W. Gossard Co., describe the 'foundation garment,' the patent for which W. Gossard company charges Loebers, Inc. of O. H. copied."

Norris drew a vivid picture of what performance was expected of the foundation garment. He called the models, spectators and the crowd forward and three girls arose and gracefully resumed their kimono.

The spectators' collapse was genuine, the stock forward and three girls arose and gracefully resumed their kimono.

Bomb Damages Big London Span
LONDON, March 29 (U.P.)—The Hamstead, London, bridge over the Thames, one of London's principal traffic arteries, was damaged early today by two terrific explosions.

Scotland Yard officials said it was the most serious bomb outrage since the outbreak of the war. The principal traffic artery was damaged early today by two terrific explosions.

Police closed the bridge in both directions until engineers could determine the extent of damage. Two men found in an automobile on the bridge were questioned, none was injured.

COMPROMISE PREDICTED ON LABOR AND WAGE POLICY

CHANGES LOOM ON GOVERNMENT SOCIAL SECURITY

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP)—Compromise adjustment of New Deal labor and wage policies seemed likely today to develop in the wake of proposed changes in social security legislation.

So far as those issues are concerned the so-called business adjustment program is making considerable progress, although not always with White House support. The administration took the initiative on social security with endorsement of alternative methods of preventing a 1940 payroll tax increase and avoiding the collection of $1,000,000,000 or greater reserve fund.

It may be modified. It appears likely now that both the wage-hour and national labor relations act may be modified at this session. No change now in prospect would sacrifice fundamentals of either act.

Friends of the labor relations act in congress seem now to be reconciled to amendment in some degree. Reliable information indicates there are committee and floor majorities assured for moderate amendment in the senate along the lines of changes proposed by the AFL and opposed by the CIO.

The wage-hour act, under the direction of Administrator Elmer F. Andrews, also is in for amendment. Chairman Mary L. Norton, D. N. J., of the house labor committee, announced she would offer a bill to exempt $2,000 a year white collar workers from wage-hour provisions. Her amendments were prepared with Andrews' assistance.

Amendments Proposed. National labor relations act amendments have been proposed from many directions and repeat efforts also are pending. Friends of the act are avoiding public discussion of problems posed by criticism of the national labor relations board. But it is known efforts have been made to meet some objections raised by inducing one or more national business industrial figures to accept board membership.

Staunch New Dealers assert in private that one of the major NLRB problems has been personnel and that addition of one person with tremendous national prestige to the board might even prevent amendment of the act.

Tickets Offered for First Opera. Tickets are now on sale for the first opera ever to be given in Twin Falls high school. "The Pirates of Penzance," by Gilbert and Sullivan, will be presented Friday at 8:15 p. m. by the high school chorus classes in the high school auditorium.

Stage setting will be a rocky shore for the first act, where the pirates have landed. Stage crew is Larry Armita, John Balch and Junior Stearns. Electrician is Dick Shinn.

Tickets and programs are in charge of the business manager John Smith, and his assistant, Shirley Hutchinson. Miss Helen Borden and art classes will do publicity work. Properties are being handled by the boys' glee club, and costumes by the girls' league and Mrs. Rose M. North. Makeup will be done by Miss Florence Rees and assistants. Accompanist is Irene Davidson. Incidental music will be furnished by Melba Holmes.

In HOLLYWOOD Today. Baron Haren Erik Angus Barnickow, who may soon become Francis' fifth husband, charged he had been called a "Nazi spy" and announced he would seek legal redress from Countess Dorothy di Frasso, one of the film colony's most popular hostesses. Barnickow charged the countess with the name-calling and said such remarks may damage his motor manufacturing business. Barnickow said he was about to become an American citizen. Countess di Frasso, who was born in America, made a vigorous, unofficial denial.

Mrs. Alexander Fisk, mother of Anna Fisk, who died last week, has arrived from Poland to live with her daughter.

Gun Confiscated. HARRY, 29, (Special)—Clad in civilian, found guilty of killing a duck out of season by Ted Davis, deputy game warden, was fined $35 and sent to jail. His gun was confiscated last week.

Match for Tweed Suits

Anybody owning a rough-finished suit like the tweed job at left, above, should get a bonnet like the one the well-advised young man wears. It is of pebble or rough chamotte finish, has a leather-strap-and-button for a "band." His pal has an urge for verve for he bought himself a Tyrolean with self-braided band, badge tail and feather for decoration.

AND HATS, MEN, MUST BE PERSONALLY RIGHT

If the hat isn't becoming to the man who wears it, he might as well toss it into the ashcan. The hat is a vital factor, and the new modes offer wide choice for south central Idaho's men.

And survey of Twin Falls stores shows that the 1939 spring hat styles are most becoming to the male physiognomy.

Wide Choice. The shape of the brim and height of the crown are vital factors, and the new modes offer wide choice for south central Idaho's men.

Narrower Well Edge. For spring, narrower well edges are preferred with a tendency toward narrower ribbon bands. These features are suitable with the lighter weight felt worn in spring and in warmer weather.

As for colors, the dusty shades are

EIGHT QUESTIONS BEFORE MARRIAGE

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Knight Dunlap, professor of psychology at the University of California, has prepared a series of eight questions on pending marriage, a negative answer to any of which, he believes, calls for an immediate reconsideration of the situation.

The basis of Dr. Dunlap's introspective questionnaire is the old adage of "marry in haste, repent at leisure."

Dr. Dunlap has found, over a long period of experience in marital adjustment that couples contemplating marriage are inclined to postpone key questions of compatibility until after the ceremony.

Determine Success. "The reason we have so much marital unhappiness," he said, "is that so many people marry before they have determined whether they are really suited to each other. Marriage is difficult enough at its best, without the handicap of misunderstanding and misadjustment. The essence of marriage is sacrifice and both partners must understand this if the marriage is to be a success."

Dr. Dunlap has found, over a long period of experience in marital adjustment that couples contemplating marriage are inclined to postpone key questions of compatibility until after the ceremony.

The eight questions a person should answer before marrying were listed by Dr. Dunlap as follows:

- 1—Am I happy in the presence of my intended mate?
- 2—When not with her, am I persistently wishing I were?
- 3—Would I be not only willing but glad to spend my life with her, sacrificing all activities not compatible with married life for her?
- 4—Is she the woman I would choose as the mother of my children?
- 5—Do I love her just as she is, with all her faults included?
- 6—Are we both open to improvement and adaptation to each other?
- 7—Do we have similar interests and cultural levels up to the point where we both on the same intellectual level?
- 8—Do I like her family, or if not, is it certain that I shall not have to associate with them?

Snap Models

College men and other style-conscious males go for this chestnut brown model. It boasts a slightly wider brim, a rather low crown and a decided tendency to snap up and down in the right places.

Here the classic snap-down, kick-up bonnet appears in its spring 1939 form—with brim wider and edge-welved, crown looking lower and finish rough. The pug-nose band is in a matching shade.

CONFLICTS MAR RUMANIAN SCENE

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 29 (AP)—Serious separatist incidents were reported today in Cluj and other Transylvanian towns, where Hungarian minorities form a large percentage of the population.

The reports indicated high tension, which political circles here feared might lead to international complications.

Reports that Hungary is continuing to call up new classes to the colors caused great apprehension in Rumania, where military precautions likewise continue "according to pre-established plan."

A government spokesman said so far no negotiations are in progress between Bucharest and Budapest, and that no other sign of tension is noticeable.

Masonic Mardi Gras Costume Ball Gets Social Spotlight

No details have been overlooked by the committee on arrangements to make Friday night's Masonic costume ball at Radio-land one of the most outstanding events of the spring season. Twin Falls Masonic lodge will be host, and Masons and their partners from Buhl, Gooding, Hollister, Filer, Gooding, Rupert, Burley and Jerome will be present. All sojourning Masons are invited to attend.

Because of the popularity of last year's costume dance, it was decided to make the event an annual affair. A Mardi Gras theme will be featured in the favors and decorations, and carnival favors, noise-makers, serpentine and "gadgets" will be distributed.

Handsome Prizes
Six exceptionally attractive prizes will be awarded by a committee of judges whose names will be kept secret until after the dance. Costume may range from the "ridiculous to the sublime," according to Bob Baker, general chairman of arrangements.

Costumes will be judged in three classifications, and three winners will be awarded to women dancers and three to men.
Awards will be made for the most striking and outstanding costumes; for the costumes showing the most originality; and for the most authentic costumes portraying well-known personages or depicting foreign countries.

Showers of Balloons
A shower of vividly-hued balloons will be released during the dance. Ray Jennings and his orchestra will play the music of the evening.

Dancing will begin at 8:15 o'clock, and a grand march will figure in the event, so that the judges may observe the costumes most advantageously.

Punch will be served throughout the Mardi Gras.

En route from Ord, Neb., where they had attended the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. Trout's sister, they spent a few days here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Donaldson. Mrs. Trout and Mrs. Donaldson are sisters.

Mr. Trout and Mrs. Donaldson were partners in the contracting and building business in the pioneer days of Rupert, and erected some of the first buildings of the village, one of which still stands. It is the one-story frame building at the southeast corner of the city park and is occupied by the McDonald Produce company.

As young men Mr. Trout, Mr. Donaldson and his two brothers, James and Charles, each home-steaded a section of land at the edge of town when the project was first opened. All of three men played an important part in the development of the community.

First Sunday school on the project, an interdenominational organization, was held in the Donaldson and Trout carpenter shop, where the Wilsons then lived. Each Saturday night the builders placed smooth planks across nail kegs and saw horses to provide pews for the Sunday worshippers, and the busy week-day shop was transformed into a chapel for Sunday.

This was Mr. Trout's first visit to Rupert in about 20 years. In company with his family and hosts he visited many of his old friends, and the former and his wife knew well when he lived here during Rupert's infancy.

GERMANY, ITALY OPEN SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE OFFENSIVE

DICTATORS JOSE FALL OF MADRID TO OPEN WEDGE

WASHINGTON, March 29 (AP)—Germany and Italy were reported today to be embarking on a "post Madrid" trade offensive in South America.

Political information that Germany and Italy would use the triumph of the nationalists in Spain to attempt to strengthen their economic and political influence in the western hemisphere, increased concern here.

The announcement of an Argentine-German barter deal whereby Germany traded 6 locomotives and many railway cars for 100,000 tons of wheat and 8,000 tons of wool had a disquieting effect. There were reports other barter deals were pending.

U. S. Encounters Trouble

Meanwhile, the United States counter-offensive in Latin America, marked by recent success in negotiations with Brazil, encountered congressional difficulties.

1. The house appropriations committee knocked out a $250,000 item in the agriculture department appropriations bill, intended for use in strengthening agricultural representation throughout Latin America and to inaugurate scientific research programs to encourage development of inter-American commerce in non-competitive commodities such as rubber, guanine, and hardwoods, now supplied by the United States.

2. Senate passage of a sugar bill for the primary benefit of mainland producers was regarded as a "damage Cuba" and proved an obstacle to revision of the present United States-Cuban agreement.

Amendment Considered

3. The drive of domestic vegetable oil interests for higher export taxes worried several trade-agreement countries, an amendment to defer the proposed increases when in conflict with trade agreements, will be considered by the senate finance committee Thursday.

Practical effect of these developments has been to arouse uncertainty in Latin America as to how far the United States will "follow through" on its trade program.

WAR MAPPED ON WORK DISEASES

BOISE, March 29 (AP)—Dr. Samuel Watson, director of the state health department, today opened a campaign to control occupational diseases through the new industrial hygiene service, created by the 1938 legislature.

He outlined a program which included:

1. Control of ailments which arise from exposure to silica dust, mostly in mining.
2. Control of hazards due to lead compounds, mineral acids, dermatitis, extremes of temperature and humidity.
3. Cooperation with other state agencies, the medical profession, industry, labor and non-official organizations to stamp out health nuisances.
4. Educational work to acquaint the industrial population with hazards and how to avoid them and the conservation of health of the worker.

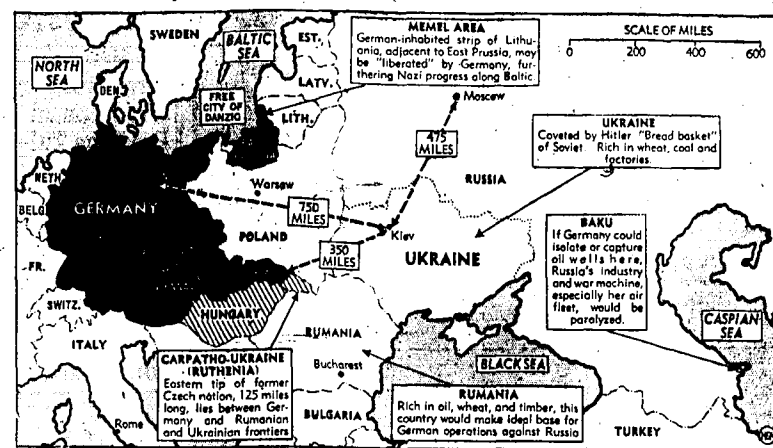

FLINT, WOOD TO BATTLE FLOODS

BOISE, March 29 (AP)—Highway Director H. R. Flint said today that planning board consultant engineers, today were designated by Gov. C. A. Bottoliver to deal with the most serious flood threat along the Snake river on the upper Snake river.

The governor made the appointment after a conference of federal and state authorities held yesterday.

"The extent of the flood is dependent upon the extent and date of either hot weather or heavy rainfall or both," the governor said. "But I am informed the possibilities of a much greater runoff than for the past several years is in prospect."

How Germany Brought Coveted Ukraine to Her Front Door

With Hitler master of most of what was Czechoslovakia, with Germany's eastern frontier identical with eastern boundary of Slovakia and adjoining Ukraine, the German drive is with striking distance of the Soviet Russia. Ukraine, above, has eastern borders from Ukrainian capital of Kiev to Berlin, before Nazi annihilation of Czechoslovakia and distance from Slovakia to Kiev after conquest of Czech state, Ukraine, in less than a week. Hitler extended his authority almost to the Ukrainian border. Only tiny Rumania, now part of Hungary which is friendly to Germany, lies between Hitler and the Ukrainian and Rumanian frontiers. Black areas in Rumania or controlled by Germany. Lighter shading is Hungary.

LECTURE SERIES FREE SINCE 1914

The McBride Lecture Foundation of Western Reserve University sponsors the talks, for many of which audiences pay season fees in other cities.

The series this year is observing its 25th anniversary, with an enthusiasm given seldom to the pioneer side of the spoken word.

An audience assembles an hour early at a McBride lecture. A person must arrive at the lecture to be sure of a seat. Many remain after the doors are closed in the hope that someone will leave and make room for another.

Held in "University Circle"

The lectures are held in Severance hall, an elaborate church-like building given by the late John D. Severance, a Cleveland industrialist, to be the home of the Cleveland orchestra. The hall is near the center of the city's "University Circle," the site of a college and a university, the Cleveland museum of art, a park and several churches.

A gift of $2,500 to Western Reserve University in 1906 by the late J. H. McBride, in memory of his son, Howard, formed the best-gest of which the lecture-series idea sprang.

McBride did not specify how the fund was to be used. But six years later, his surviving sons and daughters dedicated it to the memory of their father, mother and brother and increased it to $30,000.

Then they stipulated that it be used in presenting prominent lecturers free to the public.

British Lecture First

The first speaker, in the fall of 1914, was Sir Harry Hamilton Johnston. He spoke in five lectures on "The British Empire and Its Problems."

Lectures since have been made by such authorities as Prof. John B. Moore, Dr. William Cunningham, Dr. R. S. S. N. N. Argentine ambassador to the United States, and Prof. Arthur Keith.

This year the series has brought Henry C. Wolfe, foreign correspondent and author, who spoke on the Czechoslovak crisis, and Harry Hansen, New York literary critic.

Other lectures this year have included Thoreau, Bernard, explorer; Gordon, author; Dr. Ender, and Dr. Theodor Wilhelm, professor of education at Oldenburg, Germany, discussing German youth of today.

Fitted and Flared Lines Top Paris Silhouette Forecasts

In the general silhouette themes as revealed in the dispatch reports of the Paris openings for spring, there is evidence of general agreement on the plan of carrying on with the silhouette of fitted and flared lines as it has been promoted in America.

However, there is frequent intonation revealed, especially in the collections of certain houses of indicating the next step in fashion. This is in accordance with the Paris couture habit of blurring or playing with new ideas for the spring season by way of preparing the world for a more definite change in the fall.

First, by way of checking on the fundamental silhouette points, skirt lengths remain short, there is variation from 15 to 18 inches from the ground but there is still decided emphasis on brevity. And fullness in skirts is definitely a feature of many of the new French fashions just as it is in American—gathered, pleated, pleated, circular cuts and gores. So in the new Paris broadcasts there is nothing indicated to disturb the carry-through of spring modes on this silhouette.

As a natural silhouette companion of the flared or full skirt, there is continued emphasis on the slim, fitted or sometimes draped.

A McBride lecture audience is a cross-section of the nation's sixth city. Present are professional men and women, shop workers, students, the old and the young. Prayed coat sleeves rub elbows with milk wraps.

ENGLAND WANTS CANADIAN NAVY

LONDON (AP)—The question of cruisers for Canada's defense again has been raised in British naval circles.

It is admitted that the Dominion is in a comparatively happy position, with the powerful United States fleet as a bulwark. It is believed here, however, that increased naval defenses by Canada would be as welcome in Washington as London.

As far as the Pacific coast defense is concerned, it is admitted much must depend on the American fleet. The nearest British stronghold is the Singapore base or Hong Kong, and in event of war in the Pacific, Japan would be sitting astride the British lines of communication across the Pacific ocean.

Canada Depends on Experts

Should the British navy be defeated and overwhelmed by some chance that at present seems remote, the British would be in a bad position. Much of the Dominion's prosperity depends upon the export of primary products. Should it be deprived of the protection of export routes by the British navy, Canada's economic stability would be threatened.

Taking a long view, the defeat of the British navy undoubtedly would mean ruin of Canada with the American lines of communication in the hands of the enemy.

Canada's attitude toward naval defense has long been an irritating factor to other Dominions. Australia have protested that while they, with their smaller population and slightly less natural wealth, have built a fleet to help in empire defense, Canada has been content with a few destroyers and other odd units.

Australians Resent Tactics

As the most isolated unit of the Empire, Australia has needed more naval defense, but the Australians have nevertheless long resented the way in which the Canadians have looked to the British and American navies for defense, knowing that neither London nor Washington can afford to let Canada be overwhelmed.

Naval experts in London, however, point out that naval expansion by Canada was not particularly desired as long as the restrictive quantitative naval treaties were in existence. These specified a total naval tonnage of the British Empire, and it is felt in London that such tonnage could usually be better employed for developing the Royal Navy.

FOR LEAVES FOR 10-DAY VACATION

He will drive the 75 miles to Warm Springs late in the afternoon, stopping on the way at Opelika, Ala.

SHRINE TYPIFIES CZECHOSLOVAKIA

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The University of Pittsburgh has assumed possession of the Czechoslovak shrine in the university's 30-story Cathedral of Learning.

In dedication ceremonies attended by Jan Masaryk, former Czechoslovakian foreign minister to Great Britain and the son of the late Thomas G. Masaryk, founder of the republic, the university was presented the room, which contains a shrine to "Thomas Masaryk," first president of the post-war republic.

The room is the result of 15 years work on part of the university committee to create it. Donors were persons of Czechoslovak origin in the Pittsburgh district.

"Pravda Vitez"—"Truth Conquers"—this motto of the Czechoslovak republic, appears high on the wall on either side of the shrine.

Eight Noted Men Honored

Overlaid in panels forming one end of the ceiling are portraits of eight outstanding men of Czech and Slovak history. They are: Cyril and Method, Byzantine priests with first converted eastern Europe to Christianity.

"Slavak"—"The good King Venceslas" of the Christmas carol, is a mellow portrait of Venceslas, the Czech leader of the Reformation.

Stur and Moyzes, Stur, the writer and originator of Slovak grammar, founder of Slovak art, letters and science.

With woodwork of larch, a wood native to the Carpathian mountain valleys in Slovakia and polished with linseed oil to bring out the rosy hue and fine grain, the beamed ceiling is decorated in the fashion of the old Slovak churches with native flowers of the High Tatras mountains.

Perian Origin Shown

In a niche at the rear of the room painted decorations form a tree of life design showing the ancient Perian origin of Czechoslovak art. Other branches of the tree is an illuminated parchment, framed and imbedded in the wall. This manuscript, the Proclamation of Charles IV, King of Bohemia and Emperor of the Holy Roman Empire, when he founded the University of Prague in 1284, was translated into English from the original Latin and then transcribed by Vincent Solar of the Academy of Graphical Arts in Prague.

In the wall opposite the door is a shrine. The wrought iron doors carry the initials T. G. M. N. In the shrine was a letter to students of the university from Thomas Masaryk. The letter, bearing a dedicatory message, was written by Masaryk in 1929.

Architectural plans for the room were drawn by Subimil Slama, of Prague. Others who did work in the room were O. Spaniel, one time rector of the National Academy of Art in Prague. Members of the operating committee in Prague include Dr. Jaroslav Preisa, president of the Zivnostenska bank, Dr. Alice Masaryk, honorary president of the Czechoslovak Red Cross, and Prof. Imrich Karvas of the Comenius university in Bratislava.

13 More Units Face Cameras

Pictures of 13 organizations were taken yesterday at Twin Falls high school for the "Oyoote" school annual, leaving only five more group pictures to be taken.

CLASS A DECLAM PLANS COMPLETE

District declamation will be in Kimberly April 5, with only Class A schools participating.

Picture of the mixed chorus, the orchestra, the senior band and track are yet to be taken.

In the evening, beginning at 8 p. m., the "Oyoote" school annual will be presented in the Kimberly high school auditorium. Twin Falls is entering a burlesque, "The Tiddlers of the King." The play will be "The Happy Journey," and Kimberly "The Man Who Died at Twelve O'Clock." The name of the play to be staged by Rupert has not been entered yet.

Season tickets for the 1939 play will cost 35 cents and for the plays only 25 cents.

British Order Army Built Up to War-Time Strength

New Gesture Made Against Totalitarians

By FREDERICK KUH
LONDON, March 28 (U.P.)—Great Britain ordered her territorial army increased to a war-time basis of 340,000 men today as diplomatic gestures against Europe's dictators gave way to military precautions.

With British and French general staffs in close consultation and the government reported seeking a secret agreement among key nations opposed to Nazi expansion in Europe, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain announced in the house of commons that the territorial or national guard would be almost tripled by a voluntary enlistment campaign.

The territorial army, as distinguished from Britain's regular army of 218,000 at home and overseas, would form the backbone of fighting forces in event of conflict.

Already completed plans provide for a British expeditionary force to go immediately on outbreak of war to France.

Doubles Strength
Chamberlain announced that the increase in the territorial army means that the number of divisions available for overseas service (in France) would be doubled. This apparently meant that henceforth Britain will have 38 divisions or around 650,000 men available for an expeditionary force to France in event of war, as compared with the 19 divisions recently announced in that category by War Secretary Leslie Hore-Bliss.

The British army strength in peace time is distributed as follows:

Regular army:
At home	114,000
In India	57,000
Overseas	47,000
Reserve:
Army	115,000
Supplementary	25,000
Territorial	150,000
Total	488,000

Chamberlain indicated the government immediately would open a great recruiting campaign to supply the increased territorial army, which will require more instructors, equipment, reserves and war materials.

Further Effort
"Further and much augmented effort is required to bring home to the nation the need for obtaining the numbers aimed at in the shortest possible time," he said.

The prime minister said the government's decision to increase the territorial army by voluntary enlistment meant that the cabinet believes that voluntary service instead of conscription will meet the present needs of the nation.

Previously, the cabinet had been reported considering inauguration of conscription in some form as a result of assistance by France and Poland that such action was necessary to strengthen the anti-Nazi front.

Idaho's Exhibit for Fair Opens Thursday

SAN FRANCISCO, March 28 (U.P.)—Finishing touches were placed today on the state of Idaho's exhibit at the Golden Gate International exposition—last of the group of exhibits by 11 western states and the District of Columbia to be opened on Treasure Island.

Cross-sections of Idaho's agricultural, forest and scenic wonders had been transported to the island to form the state's $35,000 exhibit. It will be opened formally tomorrow.

The exhibit, arranged under supervision of Mrs. Margaret Cobb Allshie, publisher of the Boise Idaho Statesman and member of the state's commission to the exposition, features gigantic Arrowrock dam. A miniature is reproduced at the exhibit which is realistic to the last detail.

Alongside the dam are two transplanted five-foot trees, specimens of the white pine for which Idaho is famed.

Photo murals also enhance attractiveness of the exhibit. These depict pastoral scenes and skiing at Sun Valley and are flanked by wood carvings depicting phases of the Idaho lumber industry.

A robot talking machine voices the story of the founding of Idaho, and explains features of the individual exhibits. A lantern slide presentation of Idaho industry and agriculture adds the finishing touch.

SPRING REDUCES SAWTOOTH SNOW

Even the ski country can't defy spring.

Halley's snow had entirely disappeared and the depth reading was registered as zero Monday, according to the report of P. S. Moore, Sawtooth national forest, supervisor.

Ketchum showed only three inches, a drop of 13 inches in one week. Halley's decline was 10 inches in seven days. Both areas are far behind the depth on the same date in 1938, when Ketchum still had 40 inches and Halley 22.

Melita Rapidly
Snow melted away rapidly in other Sawtooth areas. Mr. Moore's report showed, Galena still had 28 inches Monday, a drop of eight inches. But it's nearly 50 inches because of the rain on this date last year. Only the No. 3 station on Old Baldy showed considerable depth Monday—the figure was 48 inches, one inch less than on March 28 but exactly one-half of the 96-inch total last year.

Williams ranch in Sawtooth valley had 22 inches this week, a decline of only four inches.

Melita at Fairfield
No reading was reported for Fairfield where swiftly melting snows are sending water levels higher. Cumulative snow figure for the Halley area since Oct. 1 indicates, with the end near at hand, that this season will wind up well below average and considerably behind a year ago. Total now is 72.40 inches; average is 81.88; last year, 112.23 inches.

The Hollister Art class met Friday at the home of Mrs. Ella Abbott.

One hundred fifty from all over the county attended Grange here last week when Pomona Grange started the traveling gavel on its second round. Hollister Grange will present the gavel to Mountain Rock Grange.

Ketchum showed only three inches, a drop of 13 inches in one week. Halley's decline was 10 inches in seven days. Both areas are far behind the depth on the same date in 1938, when Ketchum still had 40 inches and Halley 22.

Melita Rapidly
Snow melted away rapidly in other Sawtooth areas. Mr. Moore's report showed, Galena still had 28 inches Monday, a drop of eight inches. But it's nearly 50 inches because of the rain on this date last year. Only the No. 3 station on Old Baldy showed considerable depth Monday—the figure was 48 inches, one inch less than on March 28 but exactly one-half of the 96-inch total last year.

Williams ranch in Sawtooth valley had 22 inches this week, a decline of only four inches.

Melita at Fairfield
No reading was reported for Fairfield where swiftly melting snows are sending water levels higher. Cumulative snow figure for the Halley area since Oct. 1 indicates, with the end near at hand, that this season will wind up well below average and considerably behind a year ago. Total now is 72.40 inches; average is 81.88; last year, 112.23 inches.
