Further Complaint Filed Against Williams and Hale

2 Gunmen will Face Court for Shooting Of Local Policeman

By O. A. KELKER

Complaint, charging Dan Williams, 20, and William Hale, 21, with the murder of Craig T. Bracken, local police officer, was filed here this afternoon by County Prosecutor M. Sweeney. The charge claims murder in the first degree.

The complaint was filed with Probate Judge C. A. Bailey after Sweeney and Chief of Police Howard Gillette had conferred regarding the case this morning. Gillette signed the complaint, the second to which he has attached his name since he became head of the local department. Last June, Gillette signed his first complaint of that nature, at that time charging former Mayor Duncan McD. Johnston with the murder of Officer Gillette. Johnston was later acquitted.

Meanwhile, Williams, shot in the hip and lower back by Kenneth Barclay, police officer who was with Bracken at the time of the complaint, Sunday morning, was reported to be in "fairly good" shape at the county general hospital. His complaint, filed yesterday afternoon, was that he was shot in the head by Barclay but the bullet hit a glancing blow and resulted in a flesh wound.

Unsettled shot. Bracken was shot by Williams as he and Barclay stopped the stolen car in which they were riding in the 400 block on Fourth avenue west Sunday shortly after 3 a. m. As Barclay, who had been driving the car, turned right on Fourth, Williams shot him, using a .28 pistol. Hale was driving the stolen machine.

The two had just held up the service station one mile west of the city on highway 30 which is operated by O. T. Hart, Jr. They called the police on the hold up and the two officers started to the scene.

After Bracken fell to the ground, Barclay shot Hale, who collapsed against the steering wheel. The officer then ran around to the side of the car where Bracken was lying on the ground and shot Williams, who had left the car and started to run between two houses toward an alley. While Barclay and Sheriff A. C. Barker, who had been arrested, were adding Bracken's name to the list of the stolen car, Bracken died Monday at 5:55 a. m.

Funeral services for Bracken, who had been on the force for three years and was a former city councilman, will be held Thursday at 2:30 p. m. in the Presbyterian church with Rev. O. J. Clark officiating. Interment will be in the Twin Falls cemetery. The casket will be in the care of the funeral home.

Palmer, all members of the Twin Falls police department, will wear black armbands. Kenneth Bracken died Monday at 5:55 a. m.

COAL OPERATORS, UNION AGREE TO CONTINUE PARLEY

By WILLIAM R. LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 9 (U.P.)—Coal operators and United Mine Workers officials at a "5-minute" conference with President Roosevelt today agreed to resume negotiations in New York tomorrow in an effort to settle the tie-up of bituminous mines.

U.M.W. President John L. Lewis and Charles F. O'Neill, spokesman for the operators, attended jointly that any statement concerning the conference with Mr. Roosevelt would have to come from the White House.

Resume Tomorrow. W. L. Robinson, Cleveland, chairman of the joint conference, today announced the joint negotiations would resume tomorrow in the Bituminous Coal Commission in New York. Participants declined any further comment, but it was understood Mr. Roosevelt had made an urgent plea that they settle their dispute, which has caused idleness of 450,000 miners and an alarming coal shortage.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins attended the White House conference, but did not leave with the others. She was closeted in a secretary's office with James Dewey, a federal conciliator who has been in close touch with the long and inconclusive negotiations in New York.

Talk 30 Minutes. The coal operators and union officials retired into an anteroom where they talked for nearly 30 minutes more after the conference with Mr. Roosevelt.

With 60,000 miners idle, Mr. Roosevelt believed he had told both groups that their dispute was impairing business recovery, and threatening a complete shutdown of industries and vital transportation facilities which depend on coal.

Annexation to the corporate limits of Twin Falls of all the territory lying contiguous and adjacent, which can be lawfully annexed, had been agreed today by Mayor K. E. R. Koehler in an ordinance introduced at the regular council session last night and placed on first reading.

In suggesting the broad annexation move, Mayor Koehler declared that the city would be benefited by the inclusion of the territory of our city upwards of 2,000 people, enabling Twin Falls to be a more important city in the state.

Increased Power. "In addition to many other benefits, this would increase the power and privileges of our municipal government and give to us a more efficient vehicle to accomplish the program of our city," he said.

The assessed valuation of the city will be increased in excess of $22,000, resulting in additional receipts from taxes of at least $200,000 based upon a 10 mill levy, and at least $45,000 upon the special two mill levy for the city and alley. For this preliminary benefit, the city would have the responsibility to furnish power, water, sewerage, and other services.

This is a step that must be taken, said Koehler, if the city is to be able to take advantage of the opportunity to improve its water supply. Further, this would insure employment for a great many of our citizens. It is felt that this ordinance should be given careful and deliberate consideration, without resorting to the opportunity to any property owner having property entitled to be annexed to call to the city.

Peace Officers Pay for Soft-Hearted Paroles

EDITORIAL

Idaho is known as a "weak state" when it comes to dealing with criminals, and as such has been criticized not only by law enforcement officials of adjoining states, but by the federal bureau of investigation as well.

For some strange reason our pardon boards persist in being chicken-hearted and time and time again hardened criminals have been permitted to return to the streets of crime with a clean slate.

Now one of these cases has been brought home to us in the form of a desperate gun battle which resulted in the killing of a local police officer and the wounding of two former Idaho penitentiary convicts.

Craig Bracken, the unfortunate patrolman, paid with his life in what might truthfully be described as a valiant attempt to "cover up" for the pardon board that permitted his slayer to go free instead of keeping him behind prison bars where he belonged.

Let's review the history of Danny Williams, the 20-year-old ex-convict, "the kid who thought he was a big-time," the felon who shot Craig Bracken. Let us look into the record of William Hale, his companion in crime and also an ex-convict.

Williams began serving his penitentiary sentence in Idaho on May 5, 1936. It was a sentence of from 2 to 14 years, imposed for grand larceny in Shoshone county. He was accused of stealing an automobile there, driving into Kootenai county, and resisting officers when he was arrested. Before Williams was committed and detained in a gun battle near Coeur d'Alene, a deputy narrowly escaped losing his life.

Had Williams' record in prison warranted any particular consideration it might have been a different story, but records show that on Jan. 28, 1938 he and another prisoner unsuccessfully attempted to break prison.

By forcing a guard to escort them to the main gate at the point of a dummy gun carved from wood.

Williams was given a conditional pardon from the penitentiary Oct. 7, 1938, when he was immediately taken into custody by Kootenai county officials who tried and convicted him of resisting an officer. The charge was reduced to assault and he served a jail term.

Hale was pardoned from the Idaho penitentiary June 1, 1936, after serving three years and five months of a 5-to-15 year sentence for robbery in Blaine county. Prison records show that Williams previously had been arrested for investigation at Trinidad, Colo., and Salt Lake City, and that Hale was arrested in Chicago in 1931 on a robbery charge.

Yet, despite all this background which would indicate to any layman that Williams and Hale are dangerous characters, these men were released to pursue their criminal careers which unfortunately terminated in a shocking tragedy at our own doorstep.

Public opinion will determine whether or not our soft-hearted parole boards are really serving the public interest. Those boards members who have been moved by the tears and piteous of such criminals and their relatives have been only one side of the picture. They have lost sight of what may be the ultimate consequences.

In Twin Falls we now have an outstanding example of such folly, codding—the home of Craig Bracken—the father dead, a paroled convict victim, and a widow and three children, wracked and grief-stricken over a tragedy which might have been avoided.

This nation's policy in dealing with criminals is something the people of Idaho should no longer tolerate. If something we should bring in mind the next time any such case comes before the pardon board. A united protest will put an end to this nation's sentimentalism. If that's what has caused our pardon boards to turn these criminals loose.

It's unfair for our police officers to pay with their lives in "covering up" for such folly.

POPE PROPOSES EUROPEAN MEET TO END DISPUTE

By RALPH HEINZEN

PARIS, May 8 (U.P.)—Pope Pius has proposed a five-power conference to settle the Polish-German differences and has offered direct Vatican mediation of the French-Italian dispute. It was learned today.

News came from which diplomatic sources that the pope had:

1. Invited the governments of France, Great Britain, Poland, Germany and Italy to a conference at the Vatican to seek a settlement of the dispute between Germany and Poland, centering on Danzig.

2. Offered his own good offices and those of Cardinal Maglione, his secretary of state, to mediate in the French-Italian dispute arising from Benito Mussolini's "aspirations" in the Mediterranean.

Negotiations were proceeding among the powers concerned—between France and Great Britain and between them jointly and Poland and Germany—and Italy, the "axis" powers, now committed to a definite military pact.

For the moment, the position was said to be as follows:

1. France and Great Britain were particularly favorable to the conference on Polish-German differences. But it was understood negotiations had been turned toward the idea of direct Vatican mediation between Poland and Germany.

2. France was inclined to decline the offer of mediation in the French-Italian dispute. The French government felt it was in a position to be made by Italy through regular diplomatic channels.

Move Expected. News of the pope's move gave importance to government statements in the house of commons yesterday.

General Chamberlain, in a statement, said that the British government was prepared to be agreeable provided Poland's consent could be obtained.

Robbseyvelt Says Program Would Save $1,250,000

By FREDERICK A. STORM

WASHINGTON, May 9 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt today submitted to congress another comprehensive plan for re-aligning government agencies which he said should reduce federal costs by $1,250,000 a year.

An outstanding feature of the plan was the complete abolition of the much criticized national bituminous coal commission and the transfer of all of its functions to the interior department.

Mr. Roosevelt's reorganization plan, second to be submitted to congress since approval of the government reorganization act, is the last to be presented at this session, he said. A third reorganization program will be drafted for submission early in the next session of congress, he said.

Highlights of reorganization plan No. 2:

1. Transfer of the reorganization act, is the last to be presented at this session, he said. A third reorganization program will be drafted for submission early in the next session of congress, he said.

2. Transfer of the bureau of light-houses from commerce to the treasury and its merger with the coast guard.

3. Abolition of the virtually defunct war-time agencies of the War Relocation Authority, and the director-general of railroads.

4. Transfer of the Federal Prison Industries, Inc., and the national training school for boys to the justice department.

5. Abolition of the bituminous coal commission and transfer of all its functions to the secretary of interior.

6. Transfer of the bureau of inland fisheries from the war department to the interior department.

7. Transfer of the bureau of fisheries from the commerce department to the interior department.

8. Transfer of the rural electrification administration to the agriculture department.

9. Transfer of the Federal highway work to the war department.

10. Abolition of the national emergency council and incorporation of its functions in the War Relocation Authority.

Changes outlined today, Mr. Roosevelt said, are "necessary for the better purpose of proving the administrative management of the executive branch by a more logical grouping of agencies and functions and by a further reduction in the number of independent agencies."

BEET FLY TOTAL FORECAST SMALL

The statement, as compiled and released by Mr. Douglas, follows: "A preliminary survey of the Russian beetle fly in southern Idaho in 1938 showed the lowest beet fly population recorded during the past five years."

High Winter Survival. "Late fall and winter host plants such as green manure, alfalfa, and clover, germinated freely as a result of the precipitation which occurred during October and early November. Consequently the comparatively small number of beet flies produced during the summer on Russian thistle found in the fall and winter host plants and entered the winter under favorable conditions. The winter was a dry one, and the weather was favorable for survival of over 90 percent."

PIONEER THEME PICKED ON GIRLS' CAMP; SITE CHANGED

Pioneering was selected as the theme for the Camp Fire Girls summer camp to be held at the Pioneer camp grounds July 30 through Aug. 13, by the guardians of this south central Idaho district meeting yesterday at the Camp Fire office.

This theme was chosen by the group after several ideas had been offered by Mrs. Gordon Day, chairman in charge of naming a theme.

Change Site
Major change this year is placing the site of the camp on the Pioneer camp grounds in Wood river country. Previously the Baptist grounds had been used for the camp grounds at all times.

Tents will be erected on the grounds for the girls' living quarters during their stay. Kitchens and their room facilities of the camp will be used. Reports on housing was made by Mrs. C. O. Thomas, Pilot. Guardians are planning to erect a shower. A caretaker will be on the camp grounds at all times.

Girls who will be divided into two groups, the younger girls and the older girls, ninth grade and over, will go one week and younger girls the other.

Discount Plan
A discount is being worked out for early registration by the girls who intend to go. Girls who register their guardians previously fees have been paid. This year a plan is being worked out whereby girls will turn in savings on camp fees to their guardians from now until they are ready to go.

It was stated by Mrs. H. A. Ball, secretary of the Camp Fire office, that many girls desire work to earn their fees, and that anyone who will have work they might do should contact the Camp Fire office.

Mrs. Vivian Hansen, Shoshone, will again be nurse for the camp. At the meeting yesterday she spoke on camp morale and gave suggestions for making the camp a success.

Warm Clothing
She made a plea to mothers and guardians to see that girls going to camp are properly equipped with warm clothing, stating that often girls are not warmly equipped. She emphasized the need of sweaters and warm pajamas and substantial sleeping shoes.

Health certificates for girls must be in the office a week before going to camp, statement was made.

Mrs. Edward Regal offered ideas for honors in music and dramatics to be earned in camp, emphasizing the use of ukuleles and harmonicas to give programs there. Mrs. Archie Bowman, camp on dramatics and folk songs.

In planning games and sports for camp, Mrs. Floyd Campbell told that sportsmanship should be emphasized, and that girls should be taught the right way to hike and play.

Foundamentals of lettering will probably be taught in handicraft, due to the suggestion of Mrs. S. C. Orr, Buhl, chairman in charge. Dorothy Van Engelen told crafts which could be taught in camp, such as outdoor cooking, knapsack, making bedrolls and putting up tents.

In nature craft, Mrs. Clyde Urban, Kimberly, outlined four divisions in which girls could work, such as flowers, insects, geology and astronomy.

Mrs. L. V. Morgan, president of the district, closed the meeting.

Prankers Get Wrong Pair—Two Officers!

Three Salmon tract youths picked the wrong men as the object of an old trick last night.

As a result the trio received a "salt" lecture from sheriff's officers and opted their quick quitting jokes.

The prank was the old stunt of putting a stick in the back of the highway, hiding at the side of the road—then jerking the sack away by a rope when motorists stop to investigate.

But Harold Lammers, 18, Merrill Parrott, 23, and Dewitt Parrott, 19, didn't know that the men in a tree and brought them back to Twin Falls.

Scene of the prank was U. S. 93 just across the high line canal.

Mr. Roosevelt said he would be able to make certain additional transfers, consolidations and abolitions by use of his executive powers. Meantime, he said he had directed the budget bureau to undertake studies of further changes to be proposed to the House.

GIRL HAS CHANGE AT POETRY TITLE

Miss Wanda Hawkins, Twin Falls Camp Fire girl, still has a chance to attend the World's Fair in New York City, and to receive a medal award and the title of Camp Fire Girl poet laureate.

Wanda has done her part in earning the coveted goal, by writing "To Malabar," one of the 10 winning poems in the Camp Fire Girls' Fourth National poetry broadcast, read on Ted Malone's "Between the Bookends," April 14.

"Poetry," of Wanda and persons who have admired her poem, are asked to vote for her in the contest to determine the winner of the trip and subsequent honor. Mrs. Mary A. Brannin, local Camp Fire secretary, announced today.

"Send a postal card to Ted Malone, in care of the National Broadcasting company, New York City, announcing that you vote for her poem in the recent Camp Fire Girls' contest, but do it this week, because the time is short in which votes can still be counted," Mrs. Brannin urged.

Hughes Means and Robert Frost, two of the poet-judges of the contest, were particularly favorable in their comments on the local girl's poem, and Means will send Miss Hawkins an autographed copy of one of his books.

Mrs. Mary A. Brannin, Camp Fire Girls secretary, has placed a Children's Spring book festival poster on the bulletin board of the local girls' library, and late today or tomorrow will add a bulletin containing the 10 winning poems of Camp Fire girls.

Monsignor Cesare Orsenigo, the minister to Berlin, talked to Adolf Hitler last Friday and was expected to go to Vatican City personally to report to the pope. Monsignor Filippo Gualini, minister to Poland, saw Col. Josef Beck, Polish foreign minister, yesterday.

The pope, in his message to the five big powers, was understood to have emphasized that the urgency of the European situation, and particularly of Polish-German differences, had prompted him to his initiative.

He explained the interests of civilized humanity.

Paralysis Foundation Appears Like Big Resort, Says Twin Falls Nurse

By DAN ROGERS

The famous Warm Springs, Ga., foundation established for treatment of persons suffering from infantile paralysis, impresses a visitor as being a large resort.

This Miss Tracy Knapp, registered nurse of Twin Falls who has just returned from there, described the foundation to an Evening Times reporter. Miss Knapp accompanied Mrs. Rose Moldenhauer Lundy, 23, to the foundation.

The young mother is suffering from infantile paralysis and through efforts of her husband, Jack Lundy, and local groups and individuals it was possible to gain admittance for her at the Warm Springs institution.

After accompanying Mrs. Lundy, Miss Knapp remained in the Warm Springs for two days before returning to Chicago, where she visited friends, and then came back to Twin Falls.

"The foundation gives the visitor the impression of being a resort," Miss Knapp said. "There is no hospital building, as we know one, at the resort although a 250 bed hospital building is under construction for occupancy on July 1."

"At the present time the foundation is able to care for 100 persons at one time and the completion of the new hospital building will raise this number to 350. At the present time surgery cases are taken in a hospital in Atlanta, a distance of 72 miles."

"The foundation is a large, open pool with swimming pool, tennis courts, and other recreational facilities. The patients are housed in cottages while the balance are in a large ward, broken up with private rooms. There is also an infirmary for those individuals who are 'sicker' than the others and a place for younger children. Motion pictures are shown three times a week."

Two staff doctors and eight staff nurses are employed at the foundation at the present time. In addition to these there are on the average of three more attendants for each patient including pool attendants (both male and female) and colored help.

The foundation group is located in a valley, Miss Knapp said, and is surrounded by mountains of various types and sizes. These great homes, she said, have been erected by wealthy individuals who have some member of their family suffering from the disease and who wish them to have the benefits to be found at the foundation without the necessity of entering and crowding out some more needy patient.

Formal approval has been voted today by the Twin Falls school board for operation of the annual summer school session here by Mrs. J. D. Barnhart.

Mrs. Barnhart, who has headed the summer term for a number of years, was authorized to conduct the 1939 session at Washington school. She will select her own staff, and will offer varied courses for youths wishing to make up studies, for those seeking to advance more swiftly, and for those desiring to take studies they could not fit into their regular school year schedule.

Trustees took action on one call for bids and delayed vote on another pending advice from R. P. Parry, the attorney for the district. Bids next year's contract supply were authorized. Concerning transportation bids, Mr. Parry will advise the board as to placing of a bid call which would cover both new buses and vehicles now in use with a small fraction of their life expectancy.

If bids are asked with specifications which include offers on "old" buses, provision would be made for constant safety checkup. Purpose of the move, discussion indicated, would be to effect an economy in the present cost of $175 per bus per day without lessening of safety and efficiency.

Starts Sept. 5 School in Twin Falls will resume for 1939-40 next Sept. 5, the Tuesday after Labor day, the board voted.

Superintendent M. Davis, in his monthly report, sketched briefly the summer improvement work planned in the school buildings. This includes seal on floors, painting of lavatories, varnishing of desks, shower room painting, bankster retouching, check-up and other routine maintenance tasks. The program, Mr. Davis said, would be carried out with the school maintenance force by NTA help.

Emphasizing growth of visual education in the system, Mr. Davis pointed out that between 50 and 60 educational films have been viewed thus far this year, with 2,500 children viewing some of those in one day.

No More Land Because no funds are available and because the district already owns nearly two acres of land at Elizabeth and Locust streets, the board went on record as declaring itself "not interested" in buying any additional property for future school erection. The unused land the district already owns is across the street from the comprehensive new recreation grounds, destined in future to become a focal point for Twin Falls.

Resolution disavowing any land purchase plans was offered after A. L. Swin and W. G. Getty Swin advised the board that owners of lots in a five-acre tract facing Addison avenue between Polk and Tyler streets wish to begin private disposal of their land if the school system does not intend to build in that area. The block is the only one in Blue Lake addition in which no buildings have yet been erected.

Throng Flocks to See Parade Here

With several thousand persons lining the route, a parade, featuring a miniature Union Pacific train, railroad workers in old time costumes, and floats of various natures yesterday comprised Twin Falls' observance of the "joining of the rails" of the Union Pacific and Central Pacific in Utah 70 years ago, marking completion of the first transcontinental line.

The parade started at the Union Pacific depot, swung from Shoshone to Main avenue and then went down Main street to the Union Motor company corner where it ended.

The march was headed by the color guard followed by the Twin Falls high school band. Other musical organizations included the American Legion and auxiliary drum and bugle corps and the Boy Scouts drum and bugle corps. Cowboys, cowgirls, old vehicles, both horse drawn and motor propelled, floats, a stage coach and other entries were noted.

Scheduled time of the parade, plus an "over-the-hill" walk, permitted hundreds of students to view it. Members of the Twin Falls police force handled the traffic situation during the time the parade was in motion. It was several city blocks in length.

About the rooms were baskets of tulips, narcissi and lilacs.

During the business session, an election was conducted, all officers except the secretary, being resigned.

Mrs. Nesby led the devotional; Mrs. Raymond Dunahoe, in charge of the program, presented Dr. W. O. Rose, who read a paper on "Healing the World."

Mrs. Dunahoe distributed the Master keys, and discussed the church in India, in connection with the significance of the gold keys.

Mrs. Howard Mills read a letter from Miss Lucile Ford, a missionary for the Christian church, living at Kulpahar, U. P., India. The group has conducted a project of writing to missionaries in India, and Mrs. Mills was the first to receive a reply.

Mary-Martha Event Favors Springtime

Literally transformed into a garden of springtime loveliness, the Baptist bungalow was the setting for the annual Mary-Martha class of the Baptist Sunday school this morning at 11 o'clock. Forty-five members and guests were seated at tables beautifully appointed with the season's flowers.

Many of the blooms came from the fast-furmed garden of the class president, Mrs. B. N. Holt, who, with Mrs. B. O. Kuykendall, arranged the decorations for the occasion.

"Spring" Forms Theme

The toast program was based on the theme-word, "Spring," and Mrs. C. O. Olson presided as toastmaster. Mrs. Holt brought a gracious greeting of welcome to the assembled women.

Centering the speakers' table was an ornate Maypole in pastel shades, banked with flowers.

Additional color was afforded by the deftly-shaped programs at each cover. Favors were attractive May baskets.

Initial number on the program was the song, "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us," led by Mrs. O. Ratschewsky and sung by the assembly. Mrs. Roy Barnett offered prayer.
