FRENCH WAR CHIEF WILL CONFER WITH BRITISHERS

EYES PLANS FOR COOPERATION IN ANY EMERGENCY

By FREDERICK KUIH

LONDON, June 1 (AP) — Gen. Maurice Gamelin, chief of the French fighting forces, will negotiate with British staff officers next week an agreement on British and French cooperation in any emergency which might arise under the new "security front" commitments, it was understood today.

Gamelin's visit will be the first of a series of high scale military conferences designed to put teeth into anti-aggression arrangements. It was understood that in advance of the formal opening of negotiations, four separate French military missions had visited London secretly within the last week.

Include Russia
It was proposed to bring Russia into the negotiations upon the expected conclusion of a defensive agreement with her.

As regards the speech at Moscow yesterday of Premier-Foreign Minister Vichnevsky, Molotov of Russia, Soviet quarters here said that it was not a rejection but a "conditional acceptance" of British proposals for a security pact.

These sources said Russia would insist on clarification of the British proposals. Russia fears a situation in which Britain might return to an "appeasement" policy with Germany and leave Russia isolated.

Agreement Possible
The view of Russian here seemed to be that agreement was possible and that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain would not be able to risk at this stage a breakdown in negotiations.

It was evident that importance was attached to the visit of Gen. Gamelin and was being particularly to see the new British military divisions formed to strike a powerful compact blow instead of attacking in the defensive. He wants to see how these divisions will fit into French plans for the western front.

A Turkish military mission is understood to be on the way to London to discuss eastern Mediterranean strategy.

Britain is understood to have invited Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz, inspector general of the Polish army, to come here for staff talks and Marshal Klement Voroshilov, Russian war commissar, is expected to visit London also.

Budget-Balance, Economy, Tariff Background of Vandenberg Boom

MICHIGAN SOLON CALLED DEFINITE FACTOR IN RACE

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, June 1 (UP)—A look at the record of Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R. Mich., who has revealed that he would accept the 1940 Republican presidential nomination with a one-term pledge, shows today that the backbone of his platform would be budget balancing, economy and a protective tariff.

It is a political certainty now that the Vandenberg-for-President movement will be a major factor in the 1940 pre-convention campaign. Today the name is bracketed with Sen. Robert A. Taft, R. Ohio, and District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey of New York, as the leading contenders.

Favors Coalition
Vandenberg has advocated Republican-Democratic coalition against the "Roosevelt party."

Unlike Dewey and Taft, Vandenberg's years in the senate have placed him publicly on record on practically every political issue. Here is a thumbnail platform he proposed in November, 1937.

Stop governmental waste of huge business.

Balance the budget as soon as possible.

Substitute incentive taxation, to encourage profit sharing, for punitive taxes and modify or repeal corporation surplus and capital gain taxes.

Stop "Needless Drain"
Amend the social security act to stop the "needless drain" on both labor and industry.

Revise the Wagner labor relations act.

Abandon the fight for a wage-hour bill and enact legislation to encourage profit sharing, for punitive taxes and modify or repeal corporation surplus and capital gain taxes.

Eliminate "executive despotism" through repeal of many of the President's emergency powers.

Enact farm relief without bureaucratic control.

Keep America out of war through an "insulating" neutrality policy.

Abandon "all anti-constitutional activities."

Local Merchants Get Big Share of Wages

Paid to PWA Workers

WASHINGTON, June 1 (UP)—Public Works Administrator Harold L. Ickes advised President Roosevelt today that 59 percent of the $1,005,452,000 in wages paid to workers on PWA projects during the past six years has gone to the grocer, clothes and landlady in the local communities.

The balance went for transportation, medical care, household operations, furnishings, recreation and other items that have a "direct effect" on the national income, he said.

Gooding C. of C. Fetes Camas Men

FAIRFIELD, June 1 (Special)—Approximately 200 Camas private members were entertained at a "good will" banquet at the Maunahall last week. The banquet was sponsored by the Gooding Chamber of Commerce, under the chairmanship of Leo Rice, commerce president.

Preceding the banquet was a parade of the caravan of Gooding business men.

The dinner was prepared and served under the direction of the Ladies Aid societies.

THRONES ATTEND MEMORIAL RITES

JEROME, June 1 (Special)—Hundreds of Jerome citizens gathered Sunday at noon at the Jerome cemetery to participate in the impressive Memorial day services which were under the sponsorship of the Jerome American Legion post. The services were the most largely attended in many years.

Principal speaker was Rev. Earle G. Miller, pastor of the Jerome Christian church, who chose as the theme for his address, "Memorial day, a day of recollection, a day of devotion and a day of resolution."

Rev. Miller delivered an appropriate address and spoke first of those dead who served and sacrificed their lives that we might have liberty and freedom. He spoke of the universal custom of decorating the graves of the loved ones who have passed on and of the American custom of planting flowers as a type of the resurrection. Concluding, he spoke of Memorial day as a day of resolution.

"There is," he said, "always a tomorrow following hard on the heels of today, and we need to be resolved to stand behind our leaders who stand for the liberty and the freedom which has cost us so much to attain."

The high school band members under the direction of Gustav G. Pfeichtner, instructor of instrument music at the Jerome schools, played "The Star Spangled Banner," followed by the pronouncing of the benediction by Rev. Miller.

Members of the Re-Organized L. D. Ladies Aid society met Monday at the home of Mrs. William Hendrickson and a business meeting.

WATER LACK MAY BE COSTLY TO IDAHO, DWORSHAK WARNS

WASHINGTON, June 1 (UP)—Idaho farmers will suffer millions of dollars in losses this year if water storage is inadequate to mature late crops—and the loss could be avoided with construction of additional storage dams, Representative Henry Dworshak, R. Ida., said today in a letter to Reclamation Commissioner John Page.

"I appreciate your sympathetic attitude toward reclamation development in Idaho," Dworshak wrote. "But I should like to call your attention at this time to the drastic need for additional storage facilities."

See Big Loss
"Millions of dollars in losses will be suffered by Idaho producers this year if storage is inadequate to mature late crops. This loss is devastating when it is considered that water has spilled over Millner dam early in the season. If these crop losses could be averted, the resultant savings could be applied to construction costs of reservoirs, and therefore it is economically sound to urge construction of dams to compound water otherwise lost."

Dworshak pointed out that a shortage of water was expected on the Snake river and its tributaries this summer because of extremely dry weather. With the exception of the Island park development on the north fork of the Snake river, there has not been an irrigation development on the river during the past 12 years, he asserted.

Idaho Hasn't Shared
"During this period, many millions of dollars have been provided by the bureau of reclamation for development in many states, and I fail to comprehend why Idaho has not shared in this development," he wrote.

The congressman pointed to surveys for reservoirs ranging up to 1,500,000 acre feet in Idaho. As an alternative, consideration has been given to a plan to raise the American Falls dam and increase the size of this reservoir to its originally intended capacity of 3,000,000 acre feet.

Dworshak asked Page for an early reply outlining the bureau's position in regard to future development of the Snake river valley.

Comment on Pageant Offers U. of I. Feature

MOSCOW, June 1 (Special).—Highlights from Idaho's romantic past will be portrayed in drama, dance and song in "The Light on the Mountains," two-hour historical pageant to be presented Saturday evening, June 3, as a semi-annual year feature in connection with the University of Idaho's 44th annual commencement.

The pageant was last presented at the 1927 commencement, and previously in Moscow and Boise in 1923. It was written by Talbot Jennings while he was a student on the campus. He now is one of Hollywood's leading scenario writers, and has been called back to the campus as speaker for this year's record-breaking graduating class of nearly 500 students. Commencement exercises will be held Monday morning in the Memorial gymnasium.

The pageant requires a cast of nearly 200 actors, singers and workers. It will be held on MacLean field, beginning at 9 p. m. The same man who directed the three previous presentations, Prof. John Cushman, head of the English department, again has charge of its production.

"The Light on the Mountains" opens with the old Indian prophecy of the coming of the white man. The first episode deals with Lewis and Clark, Sacajawea, the early trappers and missionaries. Later episodes tell of Idaho's gold rush days and the Nez Perce war of 1877. The finale ties together the state's past with the future.

Irene Parrott Becomes Bride at Charming High Noon Ceremony

Gowned in traditional white satin and carrying calla lilies, Miss Irene Parrott at high noon today progressed down a lane of deep green woodwardia and white peonies to be met at the altar by her bridegroom, J. Paul Fuller, Sprague River, Ore.

First Methodist church was starry with taperlight and resonant with nuptial music for the wedding, one of the loveliest in several seasons, which was attended by 75 friends and relatives.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. A. Parrott, pioneer Twin Falls family, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fuller, Sprague River, who were among the wedding guests. Also here for the wedding was Mrs. C. A. Fuller, jr., likewise of Sprague River.

Wears Heirloom Pearls
Representing the "something old" in her wedding trousseau, the bride wore a strand of pearls, heirloom of the Parrott family, which complemented the pearls she wore in place her finger-ring veil.

The wedding gown of slipper satin was fashioned with a high, ruffled collar, long sleeves, slightly puffed at the shoulder, and a clinging skirt ending in a slight choker train. The gown was worn by her sister, Mrs. H. Miller Proctor, Kimberly, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, Dr. R. A. Parrott, who was seated in the front row of the wedding party.

The groom wore a tuxedo of black and white, and the wedding march from "Lohengrin" played on the organ by Mrs. C. H. Silston.

The groom of the bride was seated in a floor-length redingote of blue and green silk and narrow banding, and wore a Howard Hodge hat of moss green straw caught at the back of the head with taffeta flowers in white and blue.

A Colonial bouquet of pastel sweet peas and fern completed the ensemble of the groom, who was seated in a floor-length redingote of blue and green silk and narrow banding, and wore a Howard Hodge hat of moss green straw caught at the back of the head with taffeta flowers in white and blue.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Parrott wore a navy blue silk crepe suit with white details and a corsage of Tallman roses. The bridegroom's mother was gowned in an afternoon frock of light blue crepe and also wore Tallman roses.

Effective Decor
The lowering of the woodwardia and the white peonies, either side of the two central aisles, were caught with luster cloth ribbons and single peonies, and pointed the way to an arch of woodwardia, woodwardia, Oregon grape and white peonies, in front of the altar, beneath which the bride and groom were seated.

The same greenery and flowers formed a background for the arch.

Rev. H. G. McCallister, pastor of the church, read the ring ceremony. Four bouquets of the springtime blossoms, including the white peonies, the green and white color scheme of the wedding.

Two floor candlesticks each holding a dozen twinkling white candles, tapered, were placed directly in front of the archway, and further candle illumination was afforded in the organ loft.

Candelabra standards, copied from those used in a famous old English mansion, Wickham, England, Ky., holding dozens of candles, lighted the organ loft. White tapers burned in the central candelabra and in green in the four other candelabra, two flanking either side.

The unusually effective setting was arranged under the personal direction of Wilton Peck.

Nuptial Music
While the guests were assembling, Mrs. Silston played a medley of romantic air, including "Dearie", an original composition of Sarah Weather, Pasadena, sent by the composer to Mrs. Parrott expressly to be played at her wedding.

Mrs. C. P. Duvall, of "Hecanua", to complete the program of nuptial music.

After the exchange of vows, the bride made an exit from the church auditorium as Mrs. Silston played the Mendelssohn wedding march.

Mr. and Mrs. Fuller received the congratulations of their friends in the vestibule of the church following the ceremony.

Islands of woodwardia, peonies and huckleberry, and a single gold standard, cupriferous of those used in the organ loft, bearing a constellation of white tapers, based with the selected flowers and greenery, formed a background for the informal reception.

Wedding Breakfast
A specially appointed wedding breakfast was served later to 21 guests at the Victor party house. The bride's table was centered with a wedding cake topped with three holding a silver bell, and garlanded at the base with white-lilac blossoms.

Miss Alice Perrine To Wed J. T. Phipps

The engagement of Miss Alice Perrine, member of the Twin Falls public library staff, to J. T. Phipps, jr., was announced in a clever manner last evening when Mrs. Howard J. Larsen and Mrs. Flora Anderson entertained at an evening of bridge and Chinese checkers in honor of Miss Perrine.

CRISIS LOOMS TO TEST IDAHO'S G. O. P. ADMINISTRATION

TEST CASE AND GAME FIGHT ARE DANGER POINTS

By WILLIAM McHENAMIN
BOISE, June 1 (Special)—A crisis in the administration of Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen is being created by the test case and game fight which will determine the success or failure of the Republican administration that displaced an extensive Democratic reform was approaching rapidly in the capital city today.

Set by powers beyond his control, the administration of Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen is being tested by two of the most important legislative sessions of the 1939 legislature, controlled by the GOP, and endangered by the test case and game fight.

Whether the administration can surmount these difficulties without a complete legislative session will be determined by a number of factors which are expected to reach a head within the next few weeks or months. These factors are:

Highway Test Suit
1. A test suit heard in the state supreme court, in which the state attempts to determine validity of the allocation of $1,000,000 annually in highway funds to counties to be used by them for the purpose of the legislature reduced auto license fees to a flat $5. The state supreme court is expected to hand down a decision on the case in about two weeks.

Dispute Over Veto
2. A dispute over veto by Gov. Bottolfsen of the bills passed by the 1939 legislature, which Secretary of State George Curtis said came too late to be legal. The state cattle and horse growers association has decided to test the governor's veto of one of these bills in court. It dealt with creation of a state bureau of brands to curb cattle rustling.

Prison Increases
3. An alarming increase in the population of the state penitentiary which Warden P. C. Meredith fears will overtax the institution with the largest number of inmates in state history. This coming winter, with public indignation and protest against purportedly too-early paroles that followed the slaying of a Twin Falls policeman by two parolees convicted in a recent gun battle, construction of new, modern cell blocks will be necessary, authorized today.

Antiquated Cell Bars
Antiquated cell bars passed through by four convicts who escaped from the prison and were recaptured last week after a months' escape near Canyon Valley demonstrates the prison needs new cell blocks with new hard steel bars that cannot be cut easily with a hack saw.

Game Commission
4. A political upheaval before Gov. Bottolfsen in the hearing of Fish and Game Commissioner Bird N. Hawley of Meba on charges of misconduct in office and attempts to make a political machine out of the fish and game department. The governor may, in a few days, retain or dismiss Hawley or he may fire the entire commission and replace it. Any action he takes will bring fire from a disappointed group.

State Government Economy
5. State government economy—accusations that the present state government is more expensive than the previous one in spite of Republican platform economy promises and denials by the administration.

Split in the Republican Party
6. A split in the Republican party itself which may or may not result within the next few months enough to allow Bottolfsen to seek a second term in office.

New Disgruntled
This is discounted by loyal party members who assert it is engendered by a few disgruntled office seekers who are far in the minority.

Appointments Hanging Fire
7. Appointments hanging fire which must be made including a commissioner of public works and a safety director.

The Appointment of Glenn Hatch
8. The appointment of Glenn Hatch as new secretary to the governor, replacing Earl Johnson, resigned. The conservatism of opinion was that Hatch's personality and knowledge of the state political situation and acquaintance with party leaders will make him a valuable aid to the governor.

The general consensus of opinion among political observers is that the $1,000,000 highway suit which threatens a crisis in county financial affairs is the only one which could cripple the administration completely and would necessitate a special session immediately.

There is a growing feeling that the governor will call a special session to clean up the mess created by the 1939 legislature and its omnibus action vital to the state welfare. This session would come probably in November of this year.

A firm stand by Gov. Bottolfsen on the game issue, in either way, would do much to clear up that situation, observers believe. A sure vote, firm stand by the parole and board will strengthen public opinion of that body.

TETANUS

Tetanus is caused by the contamination of wounds with soil containing animal or human excrement. Puncture wounds, such as those made with nails, and lacerations, such as those made with wire, are especially dangerous, as such wounds made by blunt cartridges, are especially dangerous.

Although only two cases were reported in Idaho in 1938, tetanus is always a menace in a state where many people live and work on farms. What happens?

Symptoms do not develop until the toxin (poison) of the tetanus germs reach the nervous system. As soon as the germs start to multiply in the contaminated wound the patient begins to be septic, but it must travel up along the nerves from the injury to the spinal cord and so there is a period without symptoms between the infection of the wound and the appearance of the characteristic spasms. This usually lasts about 12 days but may sometimes be as long as four or five weeks.

Once the toxin reaches the spinal cord, muscular spasms set in; the muscles of the neck, back, jaw and neck are locked in a rigid position and his neck and back become stiff. Painful convulsions occur; the jaws are locked by spasms of the muscles used in chewing. Formerly death usually relieved the sufferer by the third or fourth day of his agony.

Treatment
Once the certain outlook, death is by no means inevitable today. An

GARNER SEES BAN ON WPA POLITICS

WASHINGTON, June 1 (Special)—Vice-president John N. Garner predicted today that the Hatch bill to prohibit politics in relief which is bottled up in the house judiciary committee, will be enacted before congress adjourns.

Sen. Carl A. Hatch, D. N. M., is author of the measure which already has been approved by the senate. He will introduce the bill with President Roosevelt at the White House early today.

When reporters asked Garner about the bill's chances, he replied: "You can write that that bill will be law when we quit."

Garner summed up Hatch from the senate chamber and told him what he had said.

I agree with what the vice-president told you," Hatch said. "I am confident that the bill will be enacted into law before we quit."

Hatch said his confidence with Mr. Roosevelt was "most satisfactory."

KNOLL
Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mendler have left for Oklahoma and Mexico. While in Mexico they will visit the Anderson family, and church will be discontinued during the summer months until Mr. Mendler returns.

Miss Ruth Hoyt and Mrs. George Harris, Beech Creek, Ore., are visiting at the Hugh Holloway home. Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Baird are home after a visit to Boulder.

Bott Urges Idahoans To Ride Idaho Route

By GOV. C. A. BOTTOLFSSEN
BOISE, June 1 (Special)—It has been brought to my attention that Idaho people, when traveling between northern and southern parts of the state, are prone to take the long way around, through Washington and Oregon. This is the result of a habit formed before our own North-and-South highway was improved.

Oregon and Washington are fine hospitable states, but I would like to call to the attention of the Idaho motorists that there is no longer any necessity to "take the long way around."

Good Shape
The North-and-South highway is now in good shape. Its scenery will compare favorably with that of our neighbors, and the business establishments along it are competent and courteous. Time and money can be saved by traveling the North-and-South route.

Leaving Boise there are two available routes, both in excellent condition. One, by Horseshoe Bend, Banks and Payette, Idaho, through the beautiful Payette river canyon and past the lovely lakes. The other includes the towns of Nampa, Caldwell, Payette, Weiler, Cambridge, Midvale and Council. Along this route there is some of the most productive agricultural land in the state and the scenery is impressive. You will see, for instance, the huge Mesa orchards with their rolling acres of fruit trees.

The two alternate routes come together again at New Meadows. North of this junction the highway threads its way through a high mountain valley of beautiful scenery. Then there is the deep canyon of the Snake river, with its great main Salmon flowing smoothly out of its great wild canyon to the right.

Mill Now Safe.
On to Rigins. Through the sculptured canyon to White Bird. Up the famous but now safe and easy White Bird hill. Over a timbered ridge and northern Idaho. If you have never been this way, you've missed something. And if you have been over it a dozen times, it's still new.
