

SHORTAGE FOUND IN STATE HOSPITAL BUILDING FUNDS

BOARD PROBING LACK OF MONEY FOR STRUCTURE

BOISE, June 7 (U.P.)—A shortage of approximately $40,000 in the appropriation needed to complete the new administration building at the state hospital at Blackfoot was disclosed today by Gov. C. A. Bottorff and Atty.-Gen. J. W. Taylor returned from an investigation.

The contracts for construction of the building were let during the previous administration, headed by Gov. Barzilla Clark. When bills were being paid, the discovery was made that approximately $20,000 in bills remained and only $4,000 in cash remained from the appropriation to pay them.

The state board of examiners, of which the governor and attorney general are members, went to Blackfoot to investigate the situation. The architectural firm of Richardson and Richardson, which planned the building had been paid for its contract. The assertion was made that the work was not up to requirements.

The board of examiners must pass on validity of the architect's claim at the next meeting.

Assertions were made that the over-expenditure was due to the purchase of equipment. A fully-equipped dental office was installed with no appropriation to pay a dentist, and the same was indicated.

Under a recent state supreme court decision, no disbursements of funds can be made in excess of legislative appropriation for the specific purpose involved. The appropriation did not specify how much should be paid for plans, construction and equipment.

tender refused and ran out of the building to call police. Huckerov fired through the saloon door and hit Jones, who was passing in the leg.

While officers were hurrying to the first saloon to arrest Huckerov, moved to another about a block away.

He shot Oldhaber, a former deputy sheriff of Deer Lodge county, as Oldhaber opened the door of the saloon. Witnesses said Huckerov should be paid for plans, construction and equipment.

Huckerov whirled and aimed at Mahoney, his gun jammed and Mahoney arrested him.

Fearing mob action, authorities immediately removed Huckerov to the state prison. He said a crowd of about 1,000 persons gathered at the scene of the shooting and threats of violence were heard.

Huckerov was born in Lincoln, Wyo., but had lived at Anacostia for many years, at one time working in a copper reduction plant.

presented to the council as a whole for consideration before such purchase is made. He said that "five heads are better than one" in determining expenditures of this sort.

Budget Approval

Approval of the budget for the fiscal year will also come before the council at Friday's session, which goes underway at 7 p. m. and will probably end at 8:15 p. m. before start of the Pioneer league baseball game at 8:30.

KoeHLer today pointed out that pending approval of the budget, the only way city employees have been able to cash their May salary checks was because officials of the fidelity National bank cashed the warrants without any interest charge to the city. Under the local form of government the city is not allowed to pay any bills until the budget for the next fiscal year is formally approved.

POLICE ARREST 'MARS' AVIATOR

by the crew of the tawler Villanova.

Charge Plane Theft

The arrest warrant, sworn out by counsel for Edward W. W. of Ardmore, Penn., charged Eshelman with theft of Wala's $2,500 all-metal, four-engine biplane, which was equipped with radio and blind flying instruments. Later Eshelman was expected to face charges brought by the civil aeronautics authority.

Eshelman told newsmen in the cabin of the plane that he had rented the plane late Monday at Camden airport for a solo flight.

"I started to take lessons about two months ago," he said, "but I only had about four hours solo and I wanted to get more time in the air. After taking off, I circled around for while and then headed for the Pilem airport 18 miles north of Philadelphia."

"I previously had taken 63 gallons of gasoline to Pilem airport in my car and I refueled there, with that gasoline, I had about 63 gallons of fuel."

That Mars Business!

"All I intended to do was some extended local flying; that's why I put in the extra gas," he said.

"What about Mars?" he was asked. "Just what I said," Eshelman said with a grin. "My only destination was Mars."

"I flew around Pennsylvania for a while, but before I could get down, the weather closed in and I was forced to land," Eshelman said. "There was nothing but a deep, black fog. I couldn't even see lights on the ground."

"At dawn I looked out and all I could see was water. I guess I must have misinterpreted the instruments. It was a little while I flew over the lake, then I dropped my message down to one of the ships, but I didn't see any reply, so I flew off over some other ships."

I Didn't Wait

The ship which Eshelman dropped a message asking directions to shore was the Boston tawler Slip, which was on a mission to the auxiliary to the main fuel tank had broken."

"My motor quit," Eshelman said, "so I tried to parachute near one of the vessels in hopes they would rescue me. I tried the door open as I fell, but the plane stayed aloft. I hung on to the nose for a while until it began to sink and I crawled along the water to the tail. Finally that went down, too, just as the men came along in a dory."

Eshelman is on vacation from his $30 a week job as an airplane mechanic.

The plane that he "borrowed" from Wals was down in 39 fathoms of the Atlantic.

Social Security Changes Would Ease Tax Burden

Definite easing of the employer burden as well as the worker load under proposed changes to the social security and now being debated in congress, Charles H. Cannon, manager of the Pocatello field office for the bureau of old-age insurance, said here this afternoon.

The social security board representative was in Twin Falls today on his regular monthly visit.

Discussing the proposed changes, Cannon said that on May 24, 1940, Cannon introduced H. R. 8497, a bill to amend the social security act.

Tax "Frozen" Low

"Some of the main provisions of the bill," he explained, "are that the taxes under Title VIII will remain at one per cent during 1940, 1941 and 1942; that states may reduce their contribution to the federal fund by one per cent; that by employers—if a certain reserve fund has been established and minimum benefit standards have been provided, the bill also provides that the tax levies in Title XII shall apply only to the first $3,000 of each worker's annual salary and not to the total payroll. Old-age benefits would be liberalized under the proposed amendment with provisions for aged wives, widows, orphans and dependent parents."

Date of monthly benefits. If the amendment is passed by congress, would be advanced to Jan. 1, 1940.

World Aid Idaho

The prospective easing of the employer load as regards unemployment insurance probably would apply to Idaho, since the Idaho fund is understood to be able to meet the requirements stipulated in the bill. Cannon explained that changes in coverage, as now proposed, would exclude certain groups such as fraternalists, student nurses, fraternal benefit associations, voluntary employees, bank employees and students, in addition to all persons earning less than $45 per quarter in non-profit institutions.

More Persons Covered

If the bill is passed, he said, about 1,100,000 additional persons—including seamen, bank employees and employed persons aged 65 or over—would be brought under the old-age insurance system. About 200,000 more, chiefly bank employees, would come under unemployment insurance.

Cannon will visit Twin Falls on the first Wednesday after the 1st of August. He will be available at the U. S. employment office to assist Twin Falls employers and workers who have problems in connection with the bureau of old-age insurance.

In making announcement of the session, Eldridge urged all contributors to attend the session. Fifty persons must be present before the voting can take place, it was pointed out.

I would point out that a motion picture soon to be shown in this city brings home to us the whole shocking story of Nazi espionage activity in this country.

WORKERS NEEDED FOR HOUSE OBS

A shortage of day workers for general household work in Twin Falls was noted here this afternoon by W. Clyde Williams, office manager of the Idaho State Employment service, and announced that he had made that those interested in such employment should register at the unit immediately.

In a majority of the cases, Williams pointed out, women workers are needed. He stressed the fact, however, that this did not mean that such workers should come into Twin Falls with the expectation of finding such work. The local supply is adequate if such workers would register at the employment office located in the Rogerson hotel building.

A need was also cited for good housekeepers to work for salary and board and room or salary and board.

JAPANESE SENTRY STRIKES AMERICAN MISSION WOMAN

BRITISH CITIZEN DIES OF WOUNDS FROM NIPPONESE

SHANGHAI, June 7 (Special)—An American woman was killed today when she was struck by a Japanese sentry while walking through a Japanese camp.

The woman, the dispatches said, is Miss Anderson, attached to a Swedish mission in the Japanese camp. She was struck by a Japanese sentry who was on duty at the time.

The sentry was struck on the head with a rifle butt and was bayoneted. Japanese took him to their hospital and held him incommunicado until his death.

On May 25, Japanese complained that a British sentry had killed at the bayonet point and wounded slightly, Japanese Lt. Comdr. Munesuke Noji, commanding a landing party, and his Japanese interpreter.

The sentry was one of a British party sent to a British owned mill, against Japanese opposition, after strike leaders which British alleged were fomented by Japanese agents.

British consular officials said Tinkler was involved in a riot. "Later it was alleged Tinkler 'wrestled' with Japanese navy men and threatened to kill their commander when they attacked a group of strike breakers through the mill on their way to headquarters. The Japanese said a Japanese sailor was finally 'forced' to club Tinkler with the butt of his rifle."

Japanese authorities said they intended to send "a most energetic protest" to the British consulate general.

The British consulate general made representations to the Japanese regarding Tinkler's killing.

Thetis Survivor Tells Of Submarine Tragedy

LIVERPOOL, England, June 7 (AP)—F. Shaw, one of the few survivors of the sunken submarine Thetis, had described today what happened inside the doomed craft as it lay at the bottom of Liverpool bay, to become the tomb of 99 men.

Reporting to his chief, R. S. Johnson, managing director of Cammell Laird, builders of the Thetis, Shaw, a technician sent to observe the Thetis's diving test—said: "I was not in the fore part of the Thetis when it dived. But it was quickly clear that something was wrong."

No Panic
"I could feel the submarine dipping. There was no panic. The call to stand to stations came and every man took his post."

"It did not seem long before the nose of the Thetis went into the mud. I am certain there was not the slightest doubt in all our minds that if we could not right ourselves we should get out without much trouble."

"We sat around and chatted. 'Eventually, after a conference, it was decided that Capt. H. K. Oran, commanding the fifth submarine flotilla, who came to observe the test, and Lieut. H. G. Woods of the Thetis, should go through the after-Davis escape hatch with messages to them, describing our position and stating that two forward compartments were flooded."

Oran and Woods volunteered to make the ascent, not knowing they would be picked up alive and intending to let their floating bodies act as buoys to ships that might sight their floating bodies."

Half Stopping
"At that time we had not heard any sounds from above indicating rescue vessels had located us. Our hull was sloping 42 degrees and it was a terrible job for Oran and Woods to scramble up the escape hatch."

"As the Thetis was tilted over, lying at a sharp angle, it took longer for the escape chamber to fill with water than it would have done normally."

"After these two had gone we stood around with our Davis escape apparatus in gas-mask-like arrangement combining an air chamber apparatus with a life belt on. It was possible for us to talk but most of us were saving our breath. It was getting thick."

Two Die in Escape
"Two more had a shot at getting away through the hatch. They failed to make it and we brought them back into the Thetis, dead."

"Then two more tried. The same thing happened except that this time one of the two was still alive."

Our Friends, Southern Idaho.

We've found the checks!

The gentleman who entered our store Sunday night did an excellent job of hiding the checks after finding where we placed them... in fact, it has taken us much longer to locate his hiding place than it took him to find ours... but we found them, badly mused up and with plenty of finger prints.

Now, we wish to ask your further cooperation.

All persons who have stopped payment on these checks are requested to call their bank and have these checks honored when properly endorsed by Van Engelen.

All persons who issued us duplicate checks to cover the missing ones will have their original checks returned within the next few days.

We do thank the good people of this area who reported nearly $1,000.00 in checks, and who in many other ways assisted both ourselves and the officers. We doubt if any other area in the United States could boast such a record.

Sincerely,
Van Engelen

SCHUBEL'S AS COWBOYS SEEK REVENGE

Leishman outfit Seeks Victory After 4-0 Loss

Big Bill Schubel will take over the burden tonight as Eddie Leishman's Twin Falls Cowboys seek to even the series with Boise and gain a notch on Pocatello's league-leading Cardinals. Manager Andy Harrington of the Pilots will send Fields against the cowboys in an effort to duplicate the 4-0 shutout the airmen handed the Cowboys at Jaycee park here last night.

Cowboy Loss Keeps Margin For Cards

By United Press

Eddie Mulligan's Salt Lake Bees defeated the league-leading Pocatello Cardinals at Salt Lake Tuesday, 10 to 4.

The Lewiston-Garden game was called because of cold and wet grounds. The Bees' victory sent them just a half game behind the third-place Lewiston team.

Larry Rene, Boise left hander, held the Cowboys to five hits, and was never in trouble. He whiffed 11 for his fifth win of the season against one defeat.

Mel Marlowe, former Washington State college, was nearly the whole show in the Salt Lake-Pocatello game. The left-hander held the Cardinals to three hits, and the Cardinals hit three runs, when the Cards hit across three of their runs, was never in danger.

Marlowe allowed but one hit for six innings, struck out 10, and drove in two runs. It was his fourth win in five starts. He pitched the left field with one on.

Oakland Uses "Mirrors"; Beats Padres

By United Press

Maybe it was with mirrors, but Oakland won a ball game from San Francisco yesterday by a score of three runs in the ninth inning without a hit.

Although Oakland won that game, 5 to 4, it dropped a nightcap, 1 to 0 to the Padres. Fred Gray, who has just come to the A's from Kansas City, scored and drove in two runs, and a mirror, escape. The Padres got to him for four runs in the seventh when Don Dilettandro walked with the bases full. Three walks, an error and a sacrifice gave Oakland its hitless winning margin in the ninth.

Way Herbert invited Oakland to four hits to win the seventh game of the season in the ninth-inning hit. Jackie Jack Salomon was charged with the defeat.

Babe Herman had a field day in leading Hollywood to a 4 to 1 victory over Los Angeles. The former daffy-dandy from Brooklyn got four hits in six trips, including a home run and a sacrifice. He also knocked his 15th homer of the season in the ninth.

Tony Freitas pitched Sacramento to a 4 to 1 victory over Portland. The Cards scored all their runs in the fourth inning when they landed on homers and doubles.

San Francisco gained a half game on Seattle in its fight for second place by thumping the Rainiers, 3 to 1, through some fancy pitching by Bill Shores.

YANKS AS COWBOYS SECOND STRAIGHT LET-DOWN

Bookies Favor Guldahl 6 to 1 To Win 3rd National Open

By HENRY McLEMORE

PHILADELPHIA, June 7 (AP)—Bookmakers with loud voices and vests to match today paid Ralph Guldahl the highest compliment ever tendered a golfer. With the national open golf championship at odds of only 6 to 1 to win his third successive open title.

These odds are not based on sentiment or old school tie rubrics. They are based on past performances alone, and the fact that the bookies, as much as they want bets, cannot quite see more attractive play on Guldahl's high, high right hander, indeed to the best of the book-keepers' knowledge, no other player has ever won three open titles.

Unless you have travelled with, played with, and been beaten by as many of the top golfers as I have, I don't know if you can have a full realization of what the open championship means to any one of them. From the first time a professional swings a club for money, the open becomes his goal. First he dreams of becoming good enough to play in it, and then he dreams of winning it. As a professional golfer, he knows what an open victory will do for him. He can make a lot of ready cash during the year he holds the title. After that—and this is the real importance of a win in the No. 1 golf tournament of the world—it pays dividends for him the rest of his life. With his name on the big silver trophy, he can always get a job. There is a glamour that stays with an open golf champion and makes him attractive to good golf clubs as long as he can get around a course.

No wonder that the wives of the professionals cry and come close to hysteria while their men are competing in the open. It means so much to them. It is security for them and their children, and security in the golf game is rare. There are few golfers who themselves don't get the thrill playing for the open title. The few who don't are nearly always the winners, and the coldest blooded, least jittery man of them all is Ralph Guldahl.

Even more than his ability to make great golf shots, the bookies respect his amazing calmness under pressure.

Undoubtedly this confidence, in sports' greatest gamble-scramble, is one of the reasons he is being quoted at 6 to 1.

Row, and that man was Willie Anderson, who played in the long, long ago. When winning success in the open of his time would not even qualify him for the open now.

No other game offers the stirring competition that modern day golf does. There was a time, not many years ago, when you could name the great golfers on the fingers of your two hands. Today, you can borrow the fingers of your friends and still not have enough counters to name all of the men who have a good chance to win the open.

Never Sick
"Sick? Say, I never was sick," asserted the man who has kept the Red Birds flying high. "Only thing ever wrong with me was a bad ankle and it threw my whole delivery out of gear when I favored it."

Barring accidents, the erstwhile "invalid" says he'll win 20 games this season, and probably more. "I don't mind my iron man's relief tactics, for which he won't get credit."

Loop Mystery
Howard Jones started his summer vacation with good news following doctors' announcement that "Scraper" Southern's "pass" smasher de luxe, will be able to play again. The Trojan end who was on crutches for months was sent to the hospital for an operation to correct a cartilage ailment in his leg. "I had 30-50 chances to get out of the game, but I was told to stay in it. I was told to stay in it. I was told to stay in it."

Work at Columbia
Jimmy Dykes thinks Joe Kuhel's success this year comes from relaxation of pressure that goes with the second year of a trade. "Kuhel was pressing too hard last year trying to replace Rex Bonura. Now he's relaxed, and he's hitting the ball in and out of the park. I think he's doing it because he's relaxed."

Buck Newsom Joins Bridges to Stop Leaders of League

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, June 7 (AP)—Buck Newsom did it too—he let the New York Yankees down with four hits and throttled the club that some said should be broken up because it was too good.

In two days the Yanks have lost as many games as they lost during their entire western trip. Tommy Bridges stopped them Monday with four hits. Buck Newsom stopped them Tuesday with four hits.

The New Yorkers moved into Chicago today with an 8½ game lead. Get Two in Fifth
The Yanks clipped Newsom for two runs in the fifth inning yesterday, but, wound up losing, 6-2. The Tigers kept hitting despite their two-run deficit and pushed over six runs in the sixth inning. Dixie Walker doubled with the bases loaded and Newsom pitched into a scoring position.

As far as the American league race was concerned the Yanks' defeat seven homers to the major league record, and hit five in one inning to set a new mark.

Cardinals Sink Bees
The Cardinals beat the Boston Bees, 5-3, in 10 innings to reduce the Reds' lead to 3½ games. Brooklyn moved into third place with a 5-2 victory over Pittsburgh. Pinky Whitney's pinch single in the ninth clinched a three-run rally and enabled the Phillies to beat the Cubs, 5-3.

White Sox Win
The White Sox moved to within half a game of second place by pounding out a 7-4 victory over the Athletics.

Scoring six runs in the ninth, Washington triumphed over the Browns, 10-7.

Cincinnati had one of those days when everything went wrong and took a 17-3 shattering from the New York Giants. The Giants hit seven homers to the major league record, and hit five in one inning to set a new mark.

Giants Smash New Record
NEW YORK, June 7 (AP)—The record for home runs in a single inning in the major leagues today stood at five after the performance of the New York Giants yesterday when five circuit clouts were poked out in one inning off Peaches Davis, Cincinnati Reds' pitcher.

Previously, the record had stood at four home runs, a mark set May 12 when the Chicago Cubs tallied four homers in the eighth inning.

The Giants' assault came in the fourth inning after two were out. Harry Danning, Giants' catcher, hit a homer into the right field stands. Mel Ott walked, Gene Bonura singled and then Frank Demaree hit a homer into the right field stands. Liversedge replaced Davis as the Cincinnati pitcher and Tony Lazzeri walked. Burgess Whitehead hit a homer into the right field wall. Joe Moore, up for the second time in the inning, hit a homer into the upper tier of the right field stands at the Polo grounds.

Bill Jurges walked and then the inning ended when Danning struck out—eight runs.

Curt Davis Wasn't an Invalid; He Just Didn't Work Enough

By JERRY BROWNFIELD (NBA Sports Writer)

For the last few years he called Curt Davis a chronic invalid. He claimed he was allergic to everything but basketball. Now, however, the Cardinals' lean right-hander is well on his way to becoming the National league's pitcher of the year.

"Never was anything wrong with me," asserts Davis. "I didn't get enough work when I was with the Cubs. Didn't get enough last year when I won 12 and lost 8 for St. Louis. Ray Blalock works me just about every four days now, and that goes swell with me."

Third Term Move Gathers Weight

ASSUMES ASPECT OF FULL-FLEDGED BOOM FOR F. D. R.

WASHINGTON, June 7 (AP)—The third term movement for President Roosevelt today assumed some earmarks of a full-fledged boom for his reelection in 1940.

Third term talk echoed from the floor of congress to the White House steps and cabinet circles, with these developments:

Ellis "Myth"
1. Rep. Martin J. Kennedy, D. N. J., in a speech on the house floor, called on Democrats to renominate Mr. Roosevelt and "ignore the third term myth."

A Workers' Alliance Convention
2. A Workers' Alliance convention adopted a resolution opposing Vice-President John Nance Garner as a presidential candidate and urging relief workers to "keep the New Deal in the White House."

Mr. Roosevelt
3. Mr. Roosevelt was informed by E. H. Birmingham, chairman of the Iowa state Democratic executive committee, that Iowa would support him if he is prevailed upon to seek a third term.

A mass meeting
4. A mass meeting attended by labor leaders, senators, congressmen and workmen hiked the mention of Garner's name by Tom Mooney, the famous California labor prisoner. Mooney charged Garner had been selected as the "apitome of the Democratic party in order to make possible the return of the days of the great engineer, Herbert Hoover."

F. D. R. Silent
The central figure in the third term talk, Mr. Roosevelt, remained silent. He parried reporters' questions at a press conference, and said he was not responsible for remarks like those of Birmingham and Secretary of Interior Harold I. Ickes who, in a current issue of a weekly magazine, said: "I want Roosevelt for a third term."

The trouble started when Warner Bros. announced it would not sell its pictures to the 280 Fox-Warner Coast theaters because of the chain's policy of double-billing outstanding films. Skouras said if Warner wanted to be "absorbed" he would have to abolish the double feature. They said they should abolish them in their own theaters.
