

BURLEY HITS AT SALE OF LIQUOR

BURLEY, June 24 (Special).—Five burley establishments had been hit today by criminal and civil complaints filed against them in district court on charges of alleged sale of liquor by the drink.

Prosecutor Adolph E. Nielson filed the complaints Friday. He seeks abatement as "public nuisances."

Criminal charges against the five places call for misdemeanor prosecution. Civil suits seek abatement of the nuisances by issuance of temporary restraining orders to close the clubs. Operations are named in both criminal and civil suits; property owners only in the civil.

The defendants with property owners listed are A. J. Gaw, Rex Snow and Martin. Ben P. Sprague, proprietor of the Blue Goose club; George L. Nelson and William Nelson, proprietors of the operator and landowner for Nelson cafe; Craig Coleman, Rex Snow and Charles P. Chadwick; Ham Blander and Harold Volter.

Warrants were served on Gaw and Sprague, and they were given until July 1 at 2 p. m. by Judge T. B. Bailey to enter their pleas in the criminal cases. Warrants on operators of the other three places were to be served today or later. Bonds for Gaw and Sprague was set at $500 and deadline was 4 p. m. today.

Group Hearing. The prosecutor is hearing on the civil suits, asking restraining orders, for the same time for all defendants.

Mr. Nielson, at striking at asserted open sale of liquor, went directly into district court because of the criminal and civil suits.

W. R. Lane and Robert Scott, both of Boise, special investigators for the prosecutor's office, signed the complaints. The documents claim buying of drinks between May 28 and June 12.

Fun Predicted in National Race as Giants and Cubs Press Reds

$350,000 Total Still Above Predictions; "Riot" Seen If Galento Gets Too Rough

Bad as He Is, Tony Doesn't Fear Anyone

By HARRY GRAYSON.
NEA Service Sports Editor.

ASSURU PARK, M. J., June 24.—If Antonio Galento can fight a lick and if he is permitted to get away with the roughhouse tactics he is practicing in training, there is likely to be a riot when he tackles Joe Louis at Yankee stadium, June 25.

Galento is doing everything in the book that is foul.

That seems to be the Orange Oval's only chance, and the signed proceeds on the idea that a fight is just that... a fight, not to be hampered by any of the pussyfoot rules framed by the long-departed Marquis of Queensberry.

One thing is true, Galento is training perhaps for the first time in his checkered career.

He fears No One.

As bad as he may be, he is not afraid of anyone.

He can hit a little.

Not a few, including Prof. Billy McCarney, a fair to middling judge, are of the opinion that Louis must get rid of the barbs in a hurry.

Galento is as outspoken as he is outrageous, and everything he says isn't in jest.

Tell Off Jacobs.

Bumping into Mike Jacobs in Joe Jacobs' hotel suite at this cashmere resort, Two-Ton Tony led with: "Mike, I know you think Louis is gonna beat me, but I'll bet $10,000 I'll knock him out."

"You can get $10,000 for your money on that," replied the promoter.

"I'll take 10 to 1 from you," countered the corpulent clown, "and I'll make believe that you're in the line of the welfare of anybody but Louis. I know you are pulling for Joe. You always have."

"I'm kidding you. I'm not looking for Joe or expecting any favors from you."

And you're not doing boxing any good with the kind of stuff you're pulling.

"Just wait until I win the title," naturally, Galento's blunt talk doesn't make Mike Jacobs any founder of the Battling Belts.

Galento's idols are Gene Tunney, Edley enough, and Babe Ruth. Tunney was the very antithesis of the man who walks like a bear, and Two-Ton Tony has no intention of going in for Shakespeare.

Mad at Dempsey.

Galento is very mad at Jack Dempsey, who has made ugly cracks about his pugilistic capabilities. He professes to be unable to understand why people make such a fuss about Dempsey... points out that the old Mauler was twice defeated by Tunney.

"Two-Ton likes to talk of his losing days and how he developed his left hook and natural strength. He packed one cake on his back and another hooked in under his left hand. He never employed a tailboard holder, but preferred to do the work alone... required no assistance in putting his foot in the refrigerator."

Galento has a younger sister and brother, Jennie and Russell, and an older sister.

The Galento kids were brought up in an Irish neighborhood in Orange, but no one ever bothered them.

Galento's plan is to go to New York, where he will fight Tony, who wouldn't take a back step for the devil. There were few stronger opponents than the signer who has been ballyhooed into a world heavyweight championship match.

In it, Tony Galento has strength and courage, if nothing else.

The U. S. Golf association announced that the 1940 women's national golf championship will be held at San Jose, Calif., dates to be set later.

Townsend Martin's Cravat renews his drive toward the national hand-dance championship today by competing in the final round of the seven-day in the final planning of the Brooklyn handicap at Aqueduct park.

Angelo Rossi of San Francisco drew on his city's advertising budget to furnish $1,000 to the Olympic club to help sponsor an 18-man team in the national A. A. U. track meet at Lincoln, Neb., July 3 and 4.

Frankie O'Brien, who has been absent for the first time in 15 years.

As bad as he may be, he is not afraid of anyone.

He can hit a little.

Not a few, including Prof. Billy McCarney, a fair to middling judge, are of the opinion that Louis must get rid of the barbs in a hurry.

Galento is as outspoken as he is outrageous, and everything he says isn't in jest.

Tell Off Jacobs.

Bumping into Mike Jacobs in Joe Jacobs' hotel suite at this cashmere resort, Two-Ton Tony led with: "Mike, I know you think Louis is gonna beat me, but I'll bet $10,000 I'll knock him out."

"You can get $10,000 for your money on that," replied the promoter.

"I'll take 10 to 1 from you," countered the corpulent clown, "and I'll make believe that you're in the line of the welfare of anybody but Louis. I know you are pulling for Joe. You always have."

"I'm kidding you. I'm not looking for Joe or expecting any favors from you."

And you're not doing boxing any good with the kind of stuff you're pulling.

"Just wait until I win the title," naturally, Galento's blunt talk doesn't make Mike Jacobs any founder of the Battling Belts.

Galento's idols are Gene Tunney, Edley enough, and Babe Ruth. Tunney was the very antithesis of the man who walks like a bear, and Two-Ton Tony has no intention of going in for Shakespeare.

Mad at Dempsey.

Galento is very mad at Jack Dempsey, who has made ugly cracks about his pugilistic capabilities. He professes to be unable to understand why people make such a fuss about Dempsey... points out that the old Mauler was twice defeated by Tunney.

"Two-Ton likes to talk of his losing days and how he developed his left hook and natural strength. He packed one cake on his back and another hooked in under his left hand. He never employed a tailboard holder, but preferred to do the work alone... required no assistance in putting his foot in the refrigerator."

Galento has a younger sister and brother, Jennie and Russell, and an older sister.

The Galento kids were brought up in an Irish neighborhood in Orange, but no one ever bothered them.

Galento's plan is to go to New York, where he will fight Tony, who wouldn't take a back step for the devil. There were few stronger opponents than the signer who has been ballyhooed into a world heavyweight championship match.

In it, Tony Galento has strength and courage, if nothing else.

Big Odds for Joe Despite Tony's Change

By LESLIE AVERY

NEW YORK, June 24 (U.P.)—The Joe Louis-Tony Galento heavyweight title fight that started out to be a $1,000,000 attraction when the papers were signed in Miami last February, has faded to a $350,000 show today, but the latter figure is almost double what some were predicting a week ago.

If the fight had been held a month after Promoter Mike Jacobs first signed the fight, it might have gone for a million, but Galento and his manager, Joe Jacobs, were out to pick up a few quick bucks and make a fatal cross-country tour, Galento took his own sparring partners along for the exhibitions, but he looked so bad that he was a transatlantic litter.

Picture Changes.

Two weeks ago there was some discussion as to whether the Henry Armstrong-Lou Ambers lightweight title fight in August might be drawn Louis-Galento. The picture has changed, however, in the last week—since Galento moved his training camp from Ashbury Park to Summit, N. J., where he looked 100 per cent better in training.

Jacobs hit the headlines from Times Square to New York with the "smoking" charges about Louis, which he quickly withdrew. Then the sagacious little manager let it be known Galento would ask for $100,000 to referee the fight because Donovan would interfere with Tony's tactics.

It began to look like a good old fight, but when the Louis camp replied that Joe was prepared to fight "fire with fire" and that he would be just a little bit rougher and tougher than Tony.

Even money right now that Louis will knock Tony out in three rounds, 10 to 1 on Louis to win, 2 to 1 that he will win the first round, 3 to 1 that he will win the second round, 4 to 1 that he will win the third round, 5 to 1 that he will win the fourth round, 6 to 1 that he will win the fifth round, 7 to 1 that he will win the sixth round, 8 to 1 that he will win the seventh round, 9 to 1 that he NAZI TROOPS CONCENTRATE FOR SUMMER MANEUVERS

FRENCH EYE NEW GERMAN MOVE NEXT TO BORDER

PARIS, June 24 (AP)—Big scale German troop movements along the French frontier in preparation for summer maneuvers and intensive fortification of the mountain zone where France, Germany and Switzerland meet, were reported today in French dispatches.

Troop concentrations were observed especially between Trier and Saarbrücken, in "Alsace" opposite the big French fortified zone between Bitch and Wissembourg on the northeast frontier. It was said that the German army had already reformed the 1st Infantry Division opposite Belfort, where France and Germany join Switzerland, and that the Germans intended to make the area one of the strongest in Europe.

At Strasbourg today, a formal council of ministers under President Albert Lebrun to bring the negotiations to a close and into the British-French anti-aggression bloc.

He has resigned his post here and will move to Berlin mid-July. Prior to coming to Eden he was British superintendent one year and was a teacher at Harnett for five years. He holds an M. A. degree from the University of Washington and a teaching certificate in Idaho and in Washington.

The school board has not yet named a successor. It must also select an instructor for the English teaching and girls' glee club post.

The new air conditioned funeral home will be approximately 48x80 feet with the surrounding lot landscaped with lawns and shrubbery. Planned to be used exclusively as a funeral home, the building is being designed along modern lines and will incorporate many of the desirable features found in the newer parlors.

FDR LOAN PLAN FACING DELAYS

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—The first reaction in congress today to President Roosevelt's new $3,850,000 extra-budgetary lending program indicated a growing disposition to postpone his consideration until next session.

Legislation for the self-liquidating public works and loan program was ready for introduction, however, and administration sources said every effort would be made to obtain enactment before congress adjourns. Delay would prevent the program from getting started until next spring.

See Swift Action

Administration leaders believed that little time would be consumed in consideration of the program because of the simplicity of the enactment.

Chairmen of interested committees in both the house and senate declined comment on the prospects of immediate action.

The point most likely to cause disagreement appeared to be the section providing for loans to foreign countries. There were rumblings of opposition to any enlargement of the authority now held by the export-import bank.

Two New Corporations

The legislation, which the administration is prepared to submit when congress calls for it, proposes to create two new corporations, one to finance purchase of railroads, equipment, and the other to finance self-liquidating toll roads, bridges, high-speed highways and city by-passes. Other existing agencies would be authorized to borrow directly from the new corporations.

The new corporations would be guaranteed obligations which would not be reflected in the public debt.

Shock-Proof Jurors View Films Again

LOS ANGELES, June 24 (AP)—Motion pictures of immoral acts which the jury saw twice in a darkened courtroom were entered as an important exhibit today in the trial of the Rev. Joe Jeffers and his wife, Zella Joy.

The "shock-proof" jury of six men and six women saw the pictures once and asked to see them again. The jurors were told that the nude couple staging the exhibition before two guests were the evangelist and his attractive brunette wife.

A district attorney's raiding party allegedly took the pictures when it burst into the Jeffers apartment in response to the signal of an undercover agent.

Most of the movie were hazy but others were clear. The face of a man identified as the Rev. Jeffers was visible but the woman's face was not shown clearly.

The Jeffers are charged with four felony moral counts. Their trial will continue Monday in superior court.

3-DAY SCHEDULE FOR HOPPER BAIT

Schedule by which poison bait for grasshoppers will be available three days a week at the W. B. Savage apud warehouse in Kimberly was announced today by County Agent Bert Bollingbrook.

Stewart Severns, Kimberly, is handling mixing and distribution. He will be at the Savage warehouse each Monday, Wednesday and Friday to take care of poison bait requests. Farmers may notify him in advance and Severns will have their bait ready.

The bait costs 10 cents per bag and farmers are to provide their own sacks.

Increase in number of the hoppers in parts of the Hansen and Rock creek areas was noted in a survey this week by A. Zinkel, entomology expert with the extension service.

Bollingbrook pointed out that ranchers should note feeding habits of the grasshoppers in placing bait. The pests feed with temperatures from 65 to 85 degrees, making morning distribution of the poison the most effective.

FDR WOULD TAX FEDERAL BONDS

WASHINGTON, June 24 (AP)—President Roosevelt today said he hoped that congress would remove the tax exemption feature from the coupons issued to finance his proposed new $3,850,000 extra-budgetary lending program.

Mr. Roosevelt discussed the proposed program in detail at his regular press conference. He said he believed the new securities should not be tax exempt and renewed his previous recommendation that congress end the tax exemption of all source government bond issues.

The president said it was proposed to keep the interest rates on the self-liquidating loans at the lowest possible level. However, he emphasized that the government expected to obtain full repayment of all the loans as well as full payment of whatever interest was charged.

He said there were a great many projects that did not interest private bankers because of lack of profit opportunities and that consequently it is up to the government to step into the picture.

In that section of the program calling for express highways the president was asked whether the government would bear a share of their cost in view of their military value. He said the government would not, adding also that speculation was too ephemeral for specific discussion.

What Authorities Say . . .

Many leading financial and economic authorities throughout the nation give warning that it is not wise to combine life insurance, THE MOST IMPORTANT KIND OF INSURANCE, with any type of investment. For instance, a nationally famous financial analyst advises, "Insure your life as you would your automobile or your property. CARRY YOUR INSURANCE FOR PROTECTION AND NOT AS AN INVESTMENT."

Avoid Risk of Losing Policy

Those learned men are guided by the realization that life insurance should be arranged for in such a manner that it may be maintained right to the very end, despite possible financial reverses which would make the abandonment of investments a necessity. Sound investing is wise, but when combined with insurance it makes the latter unduly expensive and often endangers its very existence. That condition certainly should be avoided.
