VIE STARS' LOT TRACED HERE GINFIRE TEISES EUROPEAN SITUATION

Polish Frontier Watch Is Killed By Danzig Guard

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
United Press Foreign News Editor

A blaze of gunfire today punctuated with new dangers the deadlock between Poland and Germany over the free city of Danzig.

With the free city a sore spot surrounded by the massed armies of Europe's big powers, a Polish customs guard was shot and perhaps killed by a Danzig official at a time when authorities everywhere were nervous lest a moment of carelessness or hysteria set off a conflagration.

There were two versions of the shooting. From Danzig the story was that a Danzig customs official fired on a Polish guard without warning by a Polish guard, who was standing in Polish territory at Postelau. The Danzig official returned the fire and wounded the Pole, according to the Danzig, and started to go across the frontier to aid his victim. The approach of two Polish officials caused the Danzig to retire.

Another version of the shooting. From Danzig the story was that a Danzig customs official fired on a Polish guard without warning by a Polish guard, who was standing in Polish territory at Postelau. The Danzig official returned the fire and wounded the Pole, according to the Danzig, and started to go across the frontier to aid his victim. The approach of two Polish officials caused the Danzig to retire.

But from Warsaw reliable reports gave another version of the incident. They said that the Polish frontier guard had been shot and killed by a Danzig customs officer at Trzebnica. Although there was a possibility that there were two incidents instead of one, Polish officials said they believed that only one shooting had occurred and that it was Trzebnica. They said there is no Polish customs office at Postelau and that the Danzig version appeared to be a Polish version of the incident.

Purportedly, they asserted, the shooting occurred when a Danzig customs officer, accompanied by storm troops, crossed the Polish frontier and was challenged by a Polish guard named Witold Brudowski. Immediately upon being challenged, the Danzig troops shot and killed the Polish guard about 100 feet inside the Polish border.

Ready to Fight
Even as the incident—which will be only as important as either side may desire to make it appear in the international tension—was reported, Nazi gave great publicity to a speech by Gen. Walter von Brauchitsch at the historic town of Tannenberg in which he declared that Germany is "not looking for a fight but we are not afraid to fight."

While the Danzig incident created new nervousness in European capitals because of definite indications that the Reich will move on its preparations to a new high in mid-August, there were new indications of a possible threat by the totalitarian powers in southern Europe—toward Rumania—if the free city sector proves less inviting than expected.

In Hungary, suddenly renewed their agitation for greater autonomous rights for the German minority and there was a resurgence of propaganda against Rumania, which Hungary would like to regain territory lost in the World war.

PRESIDENT SIGNS BRIDGE BILL

The way was cleared today for the state of Idaho to receive up to 80 per cent reimbursement from the federal government for purchase of the Twin Falls-Jerome Intercounty bridge.

While the bridge transaction languished dormant under plans for a supreme court test, word came today from Rep. Henry C. Dowd that President Roosevelt yesterday signed the federal toll bridge bill.

The measure extends until July 1, 1941 the deadline for bridge acquisition in which the federal government will offer assistance.

The bill permits the secretary of agriculture, as distributor of federal aid road funds, to repay a state "not to exceed 80 per cent of the value of a toll bridge acquired by the state."

The act previously had set July 1 of the present year as the deadline. Amendment to which both houses of congress concurred passed back the date for two more years.

Present prospects for state removal of tolls from the structure span now point to a date around Oct. 15 for a "free" bridge. Because the lowest two bidders on the $425,000 bond issue rejected the acquisition until court clarification is achieved, Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen ordered that a supreme court test case be instituted.

Attorney J. W. Taylor, in an opinion pointing out flaws in the bridge bill and procedure used in selling the bonds, indicated that the high court would "probably" approve the law.

Negroes Plan Big Revival at Huge Mansion

NEWPORT, R. I., July 20 (U.P.)—Two thousand shouting Harlem Negroes will break the annual serenity of this swank society summer colony next week or the following one with an open air revival meeting on the lawn of Mrs. Angela C. Kaufman's mansion, scheduled for July 27.

The gathering to mark the opening of Father Divine's Newport Heaven will be within easy earshot of neighbors who had sought to protect their privacy by keeping her from getting a liquor license. Baked in her attempt to turn her home into a hotel, she turned it over to the Negro cult leader.

Mrs. Kaufman was busy today arranging for the construction of bleachers on the lawn to hold the 2,000 and for a steamboat large enough to bring them from New York. She also said she was ordering engraved invitations for the barbecue picnic and fish fry to be held on Father Divine's arrival. They will be mailed to all her neighbors.

Mrs. Kaufman said she was not worried regarding threatened court action to prevent her from turning her home into a heaven. A lien against the property has been obtained by Countess Dorothy P. Lipponi, widow of Richard Washburn Child, the former owner.

FOREIGN WHEAT
AT RECORD LOW

LIVERPOOL, July 20 (U.P.)—Wheat reached an all-time low on the Liverpool market today at 3 shillings 8 pence a cwt., one farthing lower than Tuesday's record. The decline was attributed to efforts to unload huge stocks of Argentine wheat.

W. S. Morrison, chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster and house of commons spokesman for Agriculture, Lord Chalfont, minister for defense coordination, told the house of commons at London yesterday that the government had added substantially to its "war reserve" food supplies by heavy purchases of wheat at the current low prices.

RUSSIAN-BRITISH PLANS FOR PACT MAY BREAK DOWN

LONDON, July 20 (U.P.)—The government is considering the results of negotiations to bring Russia into the British-French peace front, it was understood today.

In Paris, though official quarters still professed optimism, diplomatic quarters were even more frank than those in London in discussing the possibility that after three months of tedious bargaining, negotiations might break down.

The British cabinet was believed to have devoted considerable time to a discussion of the Russian negotiations at its regular weekly meeting yesterday. France's interest was shown by reports from Paris that Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet kept in telephonic touch with Charles Corbin, its ambassador here, to get full reports of the cabinet's discussion.

British Exasperated
Government quarters here showed increasing exasperation at what they regarded as Russian intransigence.

A report circulated in diplomatic quarters that after the adjournment of parliament Aug. 4 Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain might even break off negotiations unless he was given some real hope of effecting an agreement. It was pointed out that in such an event Chamberlain might first make a firm, then offer to Russia.

By continuing the negotiations until after the adjournment, the government would avoid a chorus of protest in the house of commons. It would be subjected to criticism anyway, of course, but it was reported that Chamberlain believed he could answer his critics by saying that Britain and France alike had made big concessions to Russia and had expiated patience throughout.

From the Russian side, the Paris newspaper Midi reported that Premier Vichnevskiy Molotov, who has headed the negotiations for Russia, planned to take a three weeks vacation—perhaps a sign that Russia, likewise, took none too happy a view of the situation.

It was on the question of defining "indirect" aggression that the negotiations were most difficult.

FIVE ARABS KILLED
JERUSALEM, July 20 (U.P.)—Five Arabs were killed and four wounded almost simultaneously today at various points in the vicinity of Tel-Aviv. The military commander of the British zone in Palestine issued a curfew on surrounding roads.

There can be strikes and there ought not to be strikes against the government," Murphy said at his press conference. "I don't know of anything that would build up a peace policy any quicker in this country."

He said that he was reluctant to step into any local situation unless it was "utterly overcast" because of the dangerous precedents that it might set. He referred to requests from local authorities in Minneapolis for federal protection.

Good Strategy
Murphy said he believed that his action in calling a grand jury investigation of the WPA strike violence in Minneapolis was good strategy.

"The way to handle something like this is to act on time and get to the bottom of it," he said. "I can do no harm. We have sympathy and understanding for people on strike, but we have to protect the public interest."

Fail to Check In
At New York thousands of workers' alliance members failed to check in at WPA projects here, breaking a gathering at Columbus circle for a mass project and Willis Morgan, chairman of the alliance there, estimated that 4,000 would participate in burning off of the city of New York.

WPA officials in Pennsylvania said that about 1,200 of the strike 142,000 WPA workers observed the protest call. But in other cities and states, workers' alliance officials themselves instructed their members to ignore the one-day work stoppage call.

Political Heir Indicted

The younger in the picture above gazes in awe at Seymour Weiss, foreground, Louisiana political big shot, shown leaving New Orleans federal court after his indictment for alleged complicity in a $75,000 fraud against Louisiana State university.

WASHINGTON, July 20 (U.P.)—Attorney-General Frank Murphy reiterated today that the government could not permit strikes against it, and said that such strikes might lay a foundation for "Fascism in this country."

Murphy made the statement while the Workers Alliance, a union of relief workers, conducted protest demonstrations in several cities against provisions of the new relief act which abolished the prevailing wage and exacted "vacations" from relief rolls for those who have received benefits for 18 months.

David Lasser, workers' alliance president, said the demonstrations were not a strike and that most of them would be held in the afternoon. Reports on noon pickets that scattered localities had the demonstrations occurred.

"There can be strikes and there ought not to be strikes against the government," Murphy said at his press conference. "I don't know of anything that would build up a peace policy any quicker in this country."

Capes and Coats Sent by Express To Local Woman

HOLLYWOOD, July 20 (U.P.)—Disclosure that much of the $100,000 lot of Frank J. Fuller, "Deaf Eddie," the Sunday afternoon burglar, had been shipped to Twin Falls, Idaho, today caused police to check all local express offices in the hope of tracing our loot.

From Fuller's effects, detectives obtained the name and address of a woman in Twin Falls and asked police of that city to investigate.

The response was that the woman, an old-time, highly-respected resident of Twin Falls, had received shipments from Fuller, including five fur coats and an assortment of fur capes, all valued at $20,000.

Detective Verne Rasmussen said Twin Falls authorities apparently had not been able to ascertain what disposition was made of the furs or of Fuller's purpose in sending them to the woman in view of the fact the woman was not suspected of any complicity in the burglaries or as a possible "fence."

The shipments to Twin Falls covered a period of several weeks, Rasmussen said.

While express offices were being checked, Fuller remained in his cell awaiting officers who were to take him on a tour of the houses he had robbed.

Chief of Police Howard Gillette this afternoon said that "we are working with Los Angeles and Hollywood police on this case."

Other than this fact Gillette said: "There is no comment to be made at this time."

EXPERT ADVICE
HOLLYWOOD, July 20 (U.P.)—Claiming to be an expert on the value of furs, Frank J. Fuller, 54, accused of the theft of $200,000 worth of valuables from Hollywood movie stars, today offered Mrs. Huby Edith, niece of Mary Pickford, some advice.

Mrs. Edith was asked to identify some furs found in Fuller's possession. "How much did you pay for it?" Fuller, who was present, asked. "Why, $3,000," Mrs. Edith replied. "Well, you paid too darn much," he replied. "Next time take me along."

Hold-Up, Car Theft Cures
Filer Man of Hitchhikers

W. C. Hunter, 21-year-old Filer youth, today said he would "never again" pick up anybody on the highway and give them a "lift."

Reason was that Hunter did just that last night and for his favor he had his car stolen, his money taken, and was forced to walk more than a mile down a dark country lane before he could reach a telephone and tell local police and sheriff's officers of his plight.

Hunter told an Evening Times reporter this morning that he was leaving Twin Falls and starting the car the night before. He was yesterday when he noticed a youth standing near the Five Points intersection. He thought the youth was a friend and he called him, asking him if he wanted a ride.

Youth Accepts Ride
Finding that he was mistaken and that the youth was a stranger, Hunter, nevertheless, offered a ride and the youth accepted.

Until the Curry school house was reached on the old Oregon Trail everything went well. From there on things began to happen and Hunter describes the experience as follows:

"About the time we reached the school house the fellow rolled down the door window and his side arm and threw out his cigarette. He then, at least I thought he was doing it, started to search his chest."

"But when he called me out of the car and into the back seat, he had a gun in it and in no uncertain terms he told me to slow down. I put on the brake and he said: 'You should know better than that. I said slow down, not stop.'"

Kept Gun in Hands
"All the time he kept the gun in my left hand. He instructed me to turn left just before the Curry road was reached and then he told me to turn the car into the back seat and get out of the car and when I started to get out on the driver's side he gave me a good poke in the ribs with the gun. I got out on the other side."

"He searched me at the side of the car and then in front of the schoolhouse, instructing me to keep my back toward him. He cursed violently when he found I didn't have much money on me."

"He then cursed and he promised me he would take good care of the machine. He also told me to walk down the road and call him. He said: 'You should know better than that. I said slow down, not stop.'"

GOV. DICKINSON Campaign Against "Sin"

CHARLOTTE, Mich., July 20 (U.P.)—Gov. Leland Dickinson's neighbors thought today, having listened with attention to his newest attack on the youth who were in social life, "hadn't been around much."

The radio brought the voice of this town's most prominent citizen every day for the last night. The 60-year-old governor was extending his recent dissertation on the temptations of "high life" and the methods whereby they work for the benefit of his home state.

He declared that women and girls were drinking more than they had and wondered if they learned the lessons advised by a prominent lady of our nation. He said that the broadcast that the "prominent lady" was Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Mrs. Roosevelt in the fall of 1932 said in a radio speech that when she was a girl, young women were asked to "be good" if they were to do it, but that prohibition had changed that. Therefore, she continued, the young woman had a different problem. She said: "I face the problem of learning very young how much she can drink of such things as whisky and gin and sticking to the proper quantity, she said."

Hert Collins, the town's druggist who has been in the business for 20 years, thought he reflected not only his own opinion but that

REPUBLICANS REFUSE ACCEPTANCE OF LENDING PROGRAM

FIGHT MAY KEEP CONGRESS UNTIL AFTER AUGUST 5

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)—President Roosevelt's $3,460,000,000 lending program met continued opposition in the senate today despite last minute revisions.

Senate leaders said the difficulties might delay congressional adjournment until Aug. 6 or 7.

The Republican membership indicated strong opposition to the program in its present form and proposed further amendments to modify it drastically.

There is a universal feeling among Republicans that the program would push private capital further back in the field of investment and that it would substitute government control of business, which in former times was conducted by private enterprise.

Offer Amendments
The Republicans will offer amendments calculated to remove some of the unusual provisions contained in the program, and there is no need for further appropriations.

McNary said the Republicans were "pleased" with the modifications of the program by Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, but that even more drastic amendments would be necessary before they could vote for it.

Partisanship
Barkley agreed to strike out all references to self-liquidating projects and to the "debtless" assets. The bill now would be known as the works financing act instead of the self-liquidating project act.

The banking and currency committee, thus confronted with virtually a new bill, decided to meet tomorrow and Wednesday in the hope of sending the program to the senate before Monday, but such speed was considered doubtful.

Reaches Floor Wednesday
Senate leaders said that the bill probably would not reach the floor before next Wednesday, which would make adjournment July 20 impossible.

Sen. John G. Townsend, R. Del., said he intended to try to amend the bill by attaching to it the proposed bill to ban foreign purchases. He has asked the committee to summon Secretary of State Cordell Hull to testify on the proposal.

7 LAKES TO GET FISH FROM AIR

Two Twin Falls aviators next weekend will inaugurate the first wide-spread aerial fish planting operation in the history of Idaho.

The two are Edson A. Dean, local "flying ranchman," and Lamorne Stevens. Both are commercial pilots. Dean's ship will be used in the operation and the pilots will take turns in flying it.

At least seven primitive lakes in the Stanley basin region will be stocked from 4,500 ft. during the flights, which are expected to take two days to complete against weeks of work by ground crews.

During the planning session, the fliers will base at the Rocky Mountain club living field. On each trip approximately 4,500 ft. will be carried in a specially constructed tank which has been placed in the front cockpit of Dean's plane.

Flying low over the lakes to be stocked, the pilot will be able to release the fish through a vent in the bottom of the tank at anytime he wishes. The fish will be carried in a specially constructed tank which has been placed in the front cockpit of Dean's plane.

Lakes to be stocked next week will include Imogene, Toxaway, Alice, Fourth of July, Yellowbelly, Champagne and Washington.

The flights are being sponsored by the Frontier club with Jack Tink, Buhl, in charge of arrangements.

The plane will leave here early next Wednesday morning for the base at the Rocky Mountain club.

WEED WAR HELP ALLOTTED COUNTY

The Twin Falls county share in state allocation of weed eradication funds will come in the form of materials, J. P. Hunt, director of the county noxious weed bureau, said this afternoon after receiving notice that $11,427 has been apportioned to his unit.

The allocation, he said, is under the $150,000 appropriated by the last state legislature for a two-year period. Since the $11,427 will come in the form of materials and will be gotten by the county as the chemical materials are used—bulk of the materials will await resumption of WPA labor on the weed program.

At present the only use of chemicals comes in cases where farmers apply the material themselves or hire it done. The county weed eradication phase of the set-up is proceeding unhindered.

The state appropriation, however, does not have to be used this year and the funds can wait in event the materials are not utilized at once.

The allocation of weed funds was announced by W. W. Deal, former state game master and now secretary of the state noxious weed control commission. Canyon county ranked last in Twin Falls with $4,481; Latah gets $3,417; Blaine, $2,127; Nez Perce, $1,708; Ada, $1,297.

RAM SALE LURES TOTAL OVER 900

Number of rams entered in the 18th annual ram sale of the Idaho Wool Growers association at Piler Aug. 9 is larger than a year ago and may set a record. It was announced here yesterday afternoon by M. C. Claar, Boise, secretary of the association.

Claar, on a trip to Piler, completed final arrangements with committeemen for the big sale which annually draws the finest ram stock in Idaho. Buyers from various parts of the Intermountain west will throng Piler fairgrounds to buy the breed stock.

There will be 896 range bucks and 13 studs offered at the Aug. 9 sale, according to Mr. Claar. Entries closed July 9 and all rams have now been reviewed by the sale committee consisting of Robert S. Blaisdell, Piler; E. P. Rinehart, Boise; Dr. S. W. McClure, Bliss, and H. L. Phipps, Soda Springs.

Col. E. O. Walker, Piler, will be calling his 18th state ram sale. He will be assisted by Dean Sullivan, Naupaku, who will be calling his 15th.

The rams to be offered are top selections from among the flocks of 39 breeders.

Labor Supply Over Average

BOISE, July 20 (UP)—The supply of Idaho farm labor now is 103 per cent above average while demand is 86 per cent of average, federal statistician Richard C. Ross said today.

Based on statistics compiled July 15, Ross said farm wages average $39.50 per month with board; $54.50 without. This compares with $32.75 and $46.75 on Jan. 1 and $49.25 and $55.50 on July 1, 1938.

Legless Beauty Will Marry

For two years Miss Jessie Simpson, "Miss New Jersey" of 1936, said "no" to advertising executive James Steward because she felt she would be a burden as a wife after losing her legs under a train. The other night she danced with Steward at a New York hotel, decided she wouldn't be a burden and said "yes." Above, she pours coffee for her fiancé.

HITLER ARRANGES DANZIG MEETING

BERLIN, July 20 (UP)—Adolf Hitler was understood today to have arranged for another conference next week with Nazi leaders of Danzig on what is now popularly termed "the Hitler plan" for peaceful solution of the free city problem.

The Nazi leader, who met with the Danzig party leaders last week, was said to have summoned them back to his retreat at Berchtesgaden for further conference as a result of developments in the free city quarrel.

Albert Forster, leader of the Danzig Nazis, presumably would head the visiting delegation.

The expression "Hitler plan" for solution of Danzig's troubles over returning the free city to the reich despite Poland's objections cropped up repeatedly in well-informed circles but Nazis were vague about details.

The plan supposedly envisages liquidating the Danzig question independently of the problem of regaining the Polish corridor for the reich.

Hitler at present is at Berchtesgaden with a few intimate advisers. Translations of editorials, news stories and articles dealing with Danzig from newspapers all over the world have been provided for him in large numbers recently.

American Answer is Right

It is a commonplace saying today that democracy is under attack all over the world. It is freely said that it is on trial for its life; and it is certainly clear that the German, Italian and Russian state philosophies have condemned it as an antiquated relic in a world they believe to be inevitably striding on to new techniques of public administration.

How best answer these attacks? By bitter words condemning in turn the systems and beliefs of others? By military alliances aimed at curbing them by force? No. There is only one sure defense of democracy, at home and before the whole world, and that is a ringing and convincing demonstration that it works and that life is better when lived in the democratic way.

How answer the religious and minority persecutions abroad? By checking resolutely the growth of any such feelings here, and by achieving constantly broader freedom at home to worship God as one wills, and to hold against no man his race, his color, his external circumstances.

How answer the regimented labor of totalitarian countries, whose appointed-from-above leaders boast that they tolerate no labor disturbances to interrupt production? By showing that a free labor movement can accept responsibility, and that free employers can deal with it smoothly and justly.

How answer the reputed centralized efficiency of one-man countries? By showing that a government responsive to the people's will is still more efficient.

How answer the propaganda flooding in from totalitarian lands? By creating such achievements in this one that their sheer glory will be its own propaganda.

How answer the threat of aggression and military might? By calmly and effectively taking measures making our own land secure, and then observing good faith and justice toward all nations, cultivating peace and harmony with all. (Those last are George Washington's words).

In short, how answer threats to democracy? By achieving more and better democracy. How answer threats to freedom? By achieving more freedom, and such conditions as will show the world this way is best.

That is why it is good to read the annual report of the Civil Liberties Union, titled "The Bill of Rights—150 Years After." This careful survey shows in detail "unprecedented support of our constitutional guarantees," "a more favorable interpretation by the courts in general of civil rights," "mob violence at a new low," "extraordinarily little interference" with public meetings, and a decline of censorship of movies, radio, theater and literature.

Keep up the good work, America! That is the right answer, and the only answer, to the challenge!

Government Profits

One gets so accustomed to the government's these days as a sort of universal and cosmic bag-holder for all the losing propositions an ingenious country can toss into its lap, that it is a pleasure to record a venture which netted the government a cool million or more in net profits.

This was the philatelic agency of the postoffice department, which reports that it sold $1,312,016 worth of stamps in the year ended June 30.

These were not stamps for which the government had to provide postal service in return. They were sold to stamp collectors who, for some reason that must remain forever inscrutable to non-collectors, were willing to pay well for them and never use them.

Such sales are practically 100 per cent profit for the government. In his own way Postmaster General Jim Farley is evidently doing his best to stand out the deficit by keeping cool—and collected.

Why was never cease. As soon as one heat wave moves east, the weather man informs us another's coming from the west.

They're talking about moving the St. Louis Browns to another city. What are those 16 fans going to do with their afternoons?

Mary Martin, Hollywood-bound, says she's tired of singing: "My Heart Belongs to Daddy." Just wait, Mary, until you try to get away with just one, or two renditions before a temperamental director.

Two air passengers had breakfast one day in Lisbon, Portugal, the next morning in Cleveland, Ohio. Regardless of the scene, well bet it was eggs, buttered toast and coffee.

Counterfeiting has increased 400 per cent in the United States during recent years. Lots of dollars did it the only way left to make money.

POT SHOTS

The Gentleman in the Third Row

Memo to Mister Heywood Brown of New York

Pot Shots are, in an item from Stamford, Conn., that Heywood Brown, the nationally known columnist of the New York World-Telegram and Advertiser, for the "situations wanted" column of the New York Post.

Some famed Mr. Brown writes some pretty good stuff, and would be considered an asset even without some of Idaho's potatoes, beans, sugar and lamb. Pot Shots hereby offer Mr. Brown a job. We haven't consulted the publisher about this, but we're assuming that even a publisher with his eye on the budget would recognize Mr. Brown's capabilities.

We trust Mr. Brown's present employers will renew his contract, thus keeping him in Gotham where he can stir up the things he likes to stir up. If not, he'll be glad to come out to Magic Valley, Idaho.

Two-thirds of the farmers are college trained and most of the other one-third are smarter than college. But before you come, Heywood, we have a bit of explaining to do. Pot Shots is one department on a daily newspaper with slightly more than 8,000 paid subscribers. The World-Telegram has a little more than that, which means that here you won't have a private office with a plush-lined easy chair. You won't sit with feet on a glass-topped desk and read the news in intervals into a dictaphone.

We don't have glass tops on our desks. Few business folks out here go in for such gadgets. If we did, the editor would shoot you any way for putting your feet up when you're supposed to be working. Besides, you wouldn't have time to elevate your feet. Because we'd expect you to write a book of a couple of hundred columns, no matter how good it is.

We'd expect you to be a reporter too, and a damned busy one. Not one of two major cities, day after day, or 50, large and small. Even society items. We'd expect you to fill in at writing headlines. New York copyedit staff, with a dozen and a half, and one passing a yarn to the next if the headline doesn't cut it for such editors. If we did, you'd be the head and write it fairly well or else.

Maybe we'd need some editorials. And we don't stand fences out here. It's either yes or no and say it so your readers can understand it.

We make deadlines on time, too. And the deadline is no joke, because with the sparse number of trains and buses, you don't miss one and stay around to tell the tale to time.

Twenty minutes before that deadline, chances are, an irate reader will be waiting for you to come to see him because out here they regard the newspaperman as a human guy like themselves, and there's no time to waste. No time to waste behind a big newspaper, telegraph room and whatnot.

Like us, well, send you out to bring judge a taste of hot and heavy copy. Maybe the paper on the United Press teletypes will break. Don't take a look at nothing. The ribbons on the teletypes need changing. Do it and get back here in a hurry to write that page one copy on a point line.

The proofreaders' a little behind by now, half a dozen galley of proof and correct. An Accutype operator. Then take a run out into the country to pick up a story about a golden wedding anniversary of some old fellow. They'd need you to find chicken, but not a chicken.

There's some country correspondence that's got to be edited and handled. Make by then you can go home to supper. It all depends. Come on out to Idaho. Mr. Brown we've got a job for you!

SIGHT OF THE WEEK

CHAPTER XIII

A MAN can grow a very good beard in three to five months. Mr. John Sawyer, formerly known as Carl Quill, No. 32183, spent almost four months growing his after he got a job with the Imperial Feldspar Corporation near Kingman, Ariz. The Imperial was handling 600 tons of feldspar and silica per month, and John, or Carl, worked with 20 other men in an isolated canyon with scarcely no chance to come to town.

Sawyer's top hair grew too; it had been cut very short in January, but by summer it was scraggly again. Both his long hair and his beard combined to make him a very different man from what he had appeared at, say, Christmas time.

On a day early in the summer the town boss rode out with a few "comforts" for the men up in the canyon. Included was a batch of newspapers. Sawyer was keen to read them. When bedtime came he was suddenly excited. In one of the Sunday papers more than a week old was a full-page feature article, with five good photographs and a most interesting text. Oddly Mr. Sawyer went right then and there to his boss and told him he'd have to quit.

"Um. Hitt you all at once, didn't it, Sawyer?" the boss asked, curiously. "You could write you're here."

"Yep. But I got to go for a spell. I might come back later, if you need me."

"Well, you done all right here. I'll have to put on another man now, but I could write you if you want me to, when there's another opening. Where you from? Your address? You never did give me a place, when you come here."

"Reckon I'll be around Tucson," Sawyer suggested. "Home country for me, there. Never been out of Arizona, matter of fact."

"You're a Tucson boy, then? You stick to business. It's a lot of tourists come in. Hundred-odd at times here day after day tomorrow. Here comes a car in now, too."

Mr. Sawyer paid the old fellow, but loitered a half an hour longer chinning. Then he got in his hat and drove on. Down the road two miles he halted and waited an hour. Then he turned back, driving a motor car that he had read a vendor would recognize his car if he just spun on by, returning to Kingman. Mr. Sawyer had done a double plan, and he waited having to wait two days to put it into operation.

When he got back to Kingman he turned in his rented car, took a quiet hotel room, then went to a barber shop.

"I'm getting too gray," he mentioned in the chair. "Can't you just—uh—blacken it?"

"I can touch it up and take 15 years off," the barber said. "What about the whiskers? They got blackened up, too. Make it good."

The barber wasn't rushed. He did a good job. Mr. Sawyer, or John, or Carl, even recognized his handsome when he was done.

He bought a new suit of clothes and other articles to dress himself in. He was a new man. He set out to buy a new car. But first town the size of Kingman there are no bookstores. He did manage, however, to acquire plain spectacles, a new position, and a suitcase. He went back to his hotel and sat down to be patient.

The thought worried him all the night and into next day when he kept his room, but he was not to be reading. So the second afternoon he set out abruptly to go buy himself a pistol and some extra ammunition.

He was already in the hardware store before he remembered that, in his present pose, he would look like a fool. He had to be diplomatic and excused himself. He had seen a heavy 44 calibre pistol under the hotel.

"Um. Hitt you all at once, didn't it, Sawyer?" the boss asked, curiously. "You could write you're here."

"Yep. But I got to go for a spell. I might come back later, if you need me."

"Well, you done all right here. I'll have to put on another man now, but I could write you if you want me to, when there's another opening. Where you from? Your address? You never did give me a place, when you come here."

"Reckon I'll be around Tucson," Sawyer suggested. "Home country for me, there. Never been out of Arizona, matter of fact."

"You're a Tucson boy, then? You stick to business. It's a lot of tourists come in. Hundred-odd at times here day after day tomorrow. Here comes a car in now, too."

Mr. Sawyer paid the old fellow, but loitered a half an hour longer chinning. Then he got in his hat and drove on. Down the road two miles he halted and waited an hour. Then he turned back, driving a motor car that he had read a vendor would recognize his car if he just spun on by, returning to Kingman. Mr. Sawyer had done a double plan, and he waited having to wait two days to put it into operation.

When he got back to Kingman he turned in his rented car, took a quiet hotel room, then went to a barber shop.

"I'm getting too gray," he mentioned in the chair. "Can't you just—uh—blacken it?"

"I can touch it up and take 15 years off," the barber said. "What about the whiskers? They got blackened up, too. Make it good."

The barber wasn't rushed. He did a good job. Mr. Sawyer, or John, or Carl, even recognized his handsome when he was done.

He bought a new suit of clothes and other articles to dress himself in. He was a new man. He set out to buy a new car. But first town the size of Kingman there are no bookstores. He did manage, however, to acquire plain spectacles, a new position, and a suitcase. He went back to his hotel and sat down to be patient.

The thought worried him all the night and into next day when he kept his room, but he was not to be reading. So the second afternoon he set out abruptly to go buy himself a pistol and some extra ammunition.

He was already in the hardware store before he remembered that, in his present pose, he would look like a fool. He had to be diplomatic and excused himself. He had seen a heavy 44 calibre pistol under the hotel.

A MAN can grow a very good beard in three to five months. Mr. John Sawyer, formerly known as Carl Quill, No. 32183, spent almost four months growing his after he got a job with the Imperial Feldspar Corporation near Kingman, Ariz. The Imperial was handling 600 tons of feldspar and silica per month, and John, or Carl, worked with 20 other men in an isolated canyon with scarcely no chance to come to town.

Sawyer's top hair grew too; it had been cut very short in January, but by summer it was scraggly again. Both his long hair and his beard combined to make him a very different man from what he had appeared at, say, Christmas time.

On a day early in the summer the town boss rode out with a few "comforts" for the men up in the canyon. Included was a batch of newspapers. Sawyer was keen to read them. When bedtime came he was suddenly excited. In one of the Sunday papers more than a week old was a full-page feature article, with five good photographs and a most interesting text. Oddly Mr. Sawyer went right then and there to his boss and told him he'd have to quit.

"Um. Hitt you all at once, didn't it, Sawyer?" the boss asked, curiously. "You could write you're here."

ROSS SAYS HEAT AIDS SOUTH AREA

BOISE, July 20 (AP)—Federal statistician Richard C. Ross this week was attending a conference of western leaders of the farm credit administration at Ponds Lake, Mont.

Ross was scheduled to be one of the featured speakers at the meeting, purpose of which is to outline an F. C. A. program for 1940 in the western area.

The federal crop statistician planned to return to his Boise headquarters late Saturday, then leave for Washington, D. C., early Sunday for a general conference at the department of agriculture, Ross told the United Press, he expected to be in the national capital about three weeks.

Ross said that recent warm weather has proved beneficial to many agricultural regions in Idaho.

"This is particularly true along the Snake river in the vicinity of Twin Falls," Ross said. "There they have plenty of irrigation water and the heat makes the young crops mature rapidly. Before the weather started, young beans were badly behind in their normal growth."

However, the dry and windy weather has been harmful to onion growers, Ross said, many onion farmers had abandoned parts of their crops and stands still being cultivated were estimated at between 40 and 45 per cent of that planted last spring.

Ross estimated total acreage this year at 2,200 acres, compared with 2,000 acres last year and a 10-year average of 1,800. Damage to onions from weeds, maggots and wireworms has also been high in some places.

Audit for City Reveals Pay-As-You-Go Program

Expenditures of the city of Twin Falls during the past fiscal year have been well within appropriations and are being kept within a cash ability to pay, a study of the recent audit of city accounts revealed this afternoon.

The audit was presented to the council last Monday evening and was formally accepted at that time. It was shown in the study of the audit, that the officials could have spent up to the amount appropriated for each department, issuing warrants for later payment as necessary. Rather they spent conservatively and, as has been the case during the past several years, the city was operated on a "pay as you go" basis.

Here is Comparison

Amounts in the general fund which were appropriated and which were expended during the past fiscal year, as taken from the audit, follow:	Appro.	Exp.
City buildings	$3,255	$1,879.06
Police	21,000	19,913.82
Fire	11,111	13,470.63
Parks	11,920	12,559.80
Administration	11,070	10,274.44
Street	31,180	25,251.75
Meat-Daily	2,500	2,373.98
Airport	6,500	$4,849.42

A study of the section of the audit dealing with the bond redemption and interest requirements shows that at the end of 1931, should no more special bond issue be voted, all bonds will have been retired.

Dealing with the lighting, library and bond funds, the balance sheet shows that appropriation for the street lighting during the last fiscal year came to $13,500 while the amount expended was $12,009.17. The bond fund appropriation amounted to $13,500 while only $9,763.72 was spent and bond fund appropriation came to $1,350 with nothing expended standing at $1,393.55 for the fiscal year.

Spent Less

The waterworks fund balance sheet shows an appropriation of $70,000 for the fiscal year with expenditures amounting to $41,829.88, or an amount expended under appropriation of $28,120.12.

Since private investors have indicated they will buy some of the Bellevue bonds, the land board decided action until further inquiry is made.

Relief Fund Shortage Seen as Only Threat for Special Session

IDAHO DEMOCRAT OFFICE HOLDERS RAP BOTT WORK

By WILLIAM MCENAMIN

BOISE, July 20 (UP)—Relief fund shortages caused by an unexpected heavy load thrown on state and county relief agencies by curtailment of federal work relief is the immediate threat, strong enough to force the Idaho legislature into a special session, Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen indicated today.

The Idaho chief executive surveyed the state administrative situation, the results of recent supreme court decisions favorable to the administration and predicted another sailing between now and 1940 — unless the relief shortage specter again arises in connection with the 1939 legislature.

The 1939 legislature appropriated $800,000 more than the 1937 session for direct relief. But in doing so, it disregarded a law from Gov. Bottolfsen that it appropriate another additional $200,000, just in case it was needed.

Ad Valorem Levy

The legislature changed the whole relief administration picture. It decided to levy the ad valorem tax for relief only and to take the major relief burden from the counties, reduce the county levy from three and one half to two mills.

The result will be that the relief load will be spread more evenly over the state. In the past the big counties carried most of the load, with persons without funds flocking from thinly populated counties to the cities in search of work. Now the cost of that relief, through the ad valorem levy, is spread equally over the state.

Hard to Explain

But the political results may be a little difficult for the Republican party to explain to the voters in 1940. The state ad valorem levy will be one of the highest in the state's history when the board of equalization sets it, about Aug. 2.

During the previous (Democratic) administration of Gov. Barzilla Clark, it was down to less than one mill, lowest in state history.

The governor explained this is because the ad valorem levy is being levied for the first time in state history to meet relief costs.

A general fund shortage. It is accompanied by a reduction in the county levy, mandatory by legislative act, thus leveling off to a total levy about the same as usual.

But administration critics in Democratic offices in the state house say the causes are:

1. Income tax receipts are down because of exemptions allowed under the Twin Falls bridge special tax.

2. The gas tax transfer to counties to make possible the $5 automobile license fee cost the state $1,000,000 in revenue.

3. Loss of revenue from the license reduction to $5 itself made the state lose money.

4. Relief administration costs are up.

5. State administration costs in general are up because of the creation of new offices and boards, the tax commissioner, board of public welfare, comptroller, etc.

Would Call Session

The governor said he hoped the state would be able to tide over the relief burden until next April at least, this getting through the winter months. But if a shortage results that would bring about an actual relief fund shortage, the governor said he would not hesitate to call a special session.

Curtailment of federal work relief, WPA, etc., throw these families on state and county direct relief rolls. The federal government has been cutting down its aid to the county and state direct relief set-up.

Due to the influx of immigrants from the middle west have poured into Idaho, many going for relief. The administration is meeting the situation as best it can.

Idaho Sugar Crop Vital, Gov. Bottolfsen Asserts

BOISE, July 20 (Special)—With Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen and other officials leaving today for the Idaho tour to the Golden Gate International exposition, the governor's executive office released the text of his address here in connection with Idaho Sugar time July 17-20.

"No other major agricultural crop in America produces as many jobs of work per acre, and as much direct and indirect benefits to a more diversified group of people, than the sugar beet industry," the governor said.

Highlights of his sugar address:

"First, the American attempt to make sugar from beets was at Philadelphia in 1830. By 1851 the Utah pioneers brought machinery for this purpose from France but the industry did not succeed in the intermountain west until much later. Not until 1868 was the first successful American beet sugar factory operated. This was at Alvarado, Calif.

Not until 1868 was the first successful American beet sugar factory operated. This was at Alvarado, Calif.

"But the industry has not always enjoyed smooth sailing here. It has encountered and overcome from time to time the hazards of drought and insect pests. By the withdrawal of tariff protection against foreign sugars produced by peon labor paid one-tenth or less wages paid to American field and factory laborers, and by the limitation of acreage allocations and sales quotas to American beet sugar farmers and processors, the industry has been seriously threatened and its growth retarded. Only a few years ago, for example, the sugar industry of this state was almost completely destroyed through the coming of hordes of a tiny, white fly or 'leaf hopper' which injected its virus in the tender young beet leaves in their early stages of growth and prevented the development of the plant.

Twin Falls Story

"Here is the story in figures as it applied to the Twin Falls region. In 1928 the Idaho Sugar company disbursed more than three and one quarter millions of dollars in cash to farmers and others in this area. Then the white fly struck and in 1928 the cash disbursements of the same company in the same area had dropped to less than $100,000.

"Then the sugar companies and the U. S. department of agriculture decided to do something about it. Through a long and expensive breeding program these scientists developed a new type of beet seed that not only made America independent of Europe for this essential factor in sugar beet culture but also gave us an American grown seed that produced a plant that resisted to a very high degree attacks from the white fly which had almost destroyed our Idaho sugar industry.

"Largely as a result of this discovery, in which some prominent Idaho agriculturists played an important part, the industry in this state has been rejuvenated, until last year it exceeded all previous records in volume of production.

"This is an additional reason why I proclaimed Idaho Sugar time this week and next throughout the state.

Profitable Crop

"Our Idaho farmers grow the sugar beets in our fertile soil. They find it one of their most profitable

Greatest Cobalt Mine Discovered In Central Idaho

SALMON, Ida., July 20 (UP)—What may be the richest cobalt mine yet discovered in the United States is undergoing development in the central part of Idaho, 36 miles southwest of here, Howard Sims, Idaho state senator from Lemhi county said today.

Sims said a sample of ore taken from the mine assayed two per cent cobalt, 28 in gold to the ton and 15 to 18 per cent copper, plus a quantity of nickel.

We regard the mine as one of the three great cobalt sources in America and it may be the greatest," Sims said.

"Refined cobalt is worth more than gold it contains. It is worth $2 a pound when pure. Shipments to a smelter near the mine are being made. It is not practicable at present because the smelter cannot save the cobalt in extracting the gold and copper, not being equipped to do so. But it is likely the cobalt can be sent to a refinery at either Buffalo or Cleveland," Sims added.

The Uncle Sam Mining and Milling company is developing the property which is in a rugged section of the state.

Durocher Sent From Game as Dodgers Lose

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
NEW YORK, July 20 (UP)—These are stormy days for National league umpires. Dolly Stark, carrying on with a brace on his knee from an earlier season's injury, was caught in the vortex of an enraged group of Brooklyn players in the Dodgers-Reds game last night at Ebbets field.

Stark gave the "thumb" to Manager Leo Durocher, who was ejected from the game. The umpires lost after the Billy Jurges-George Magruth "spitting incident" in the Polo Grounds last Saturday. Pops bottles, thrown by Plathaus fans, caused the rioting, and we've heard of die-hard fans to be called to prevent any trouble.

BUHL, July 20 (Special)—Twin Falls today had earned the right to play Burley for the district American Legion championship by virtue of an easy 28-6 victory chalked up over Buhl here yesterday afternoon.

The play-off with the two-time state champions had not been set this afternoon, but will probably be held in the very near future, according to Manager Judy Rash of the Twin Falls club.

Yesterday the Twin Falls youngsters pounded out 18 hits, which added to nine Buhl errors, made the scoring easy. Smith in left field led the Twin Falls attack with four safe singles in five trips to the plate. Junior Schnell, winning hurler, and Orville Tetz, catcher, each scored five runs in the onslaught. Beyer, Buhl pitcher, was the only player able to get more than a single hit off Schnell—getting two safe singles in three trips to the plate.

CITY BUILDS TWO WELLS
PASADENA, Calif., July 20.—When Pasadena built a reinforced concrete incinerator, it built entirely too well. Now the city council wants to take it and clear the property for other purposes. Only the incinerator was built on a solidly that it cannot even be blown up with dynamite.

European Trouble Center May Move to Rumania

GERMAN LEADER LISTS DEMANDS TO HUNGARIANS

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 20 (AP)—New manifestations of ill feeling between Hungary and Rumania, and publication of a list of 13 demands on Hungary by the leader of the German minority in Hungary, caused diplomatic observers to recall today the recent predictions that southeastern Europe might soon replace Danzig as a center of interest.

Rumanian and Hungarian newspapers exchanged angry charges; Rumanian-Hungarian trade negotiations, scheduled to start yesterday, were postponed. To Hungarian newspaper charges of ill-treatment of the Hungarian minority in Rumania, Rumanian newspapers retorted that Hungary was intentionally aggravating the diplomatic situation.

In Budapest, the Hungarian National association published the following demands by Franz Basch, leader of the German minority in Hungary:

- German Schools
- Administrative but political autonomy for the German minority.
- Purely German schools in German districts and mixed German-Hungarian schools in mixed population districts.
- Autonomous training institution, headed by a Hungarian government commissioner, for German teachers.
- German secondary schools.
- A German girls' high school.
- A German agricultural training college.
- Six or seven German grammar schools.
- Exempt seats for German minority deputies in parliament, instead of the present three.
- German Teachers
- German teachers in German minority schools.
- Permission for German athletic associations to form a central organization.
- Similar permission for German youth associations to form a central body.
- Abandonment of German symbols.
- Abandonment of the policy of seeking to assimilate the German population.
- Similar permission for German youth associations to form a central body.
- German newspapers in Hungary at once rejected Basch's program.

BUTLER PREDICTS U. S. TO JOIN WAR

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—President Nicholas Butler of Columbia university said today that if a general war begins, "we inevitably become involved in it, and if the isolationists have their way, we shall be drawn into it on the side of the aggressor nations."

He expressed these views in a letter to Chairman Earl B. Bland, D. N. Y., of the house foreign affairs committee.

Butler wrote that the neutrality program advanced by President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull and approved by congress, was "in our highest national interest, and also is the policy which alone can prevent another world war."

"Our whole country and indeed the whole world are watching the scene and the house of representatives at this critical moment, and are astounded at the wide-spread lack of understanding which seems to prevail," Butler wrote.

Butler has just returned from a short tour of Europe.

STORES JOINING IN SUGAR EMPHASIS

Cooperating with Gov. C. A. Holt's proclamation for "Idaho sugar time" observance until July 29, Twin Falls merchants and others in south central communities throughout Magic Valley were offering fine state sugar today.

Many of the merchants arranged close displays, and many others planned to highlight Idaho sugar time in their regular newspaper advertisements.

Vital importance of the sugar belt industry to Idaho farmers and businessmen alike led to the governor's proclamation. Everywhere in today's Evening Times the chief executive outlines the tremendous value of the industry to the Gem state.

SHOSHONE

J. H. Huntley, A. F. and R. A. Blaker of Twin Falls were in Shoshone Monday and were headed for the Big Smokey, where they will fish for a week, they stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parris, Long Beach, and Mr. and Mrs. William Polk, Los Angeles, are here for a short visit with old-time friends, both the ladies having been former residents of Shoshone. They were reared here, the family at one time owning the tract comprising the Christian service station and cabins. They were Minnie and Gertrude Yaden. The party, joined by Mrs. A. E. Vredenburg of this town, left Tuesday morning for Graters of the Moon, and returning will go to Sun Valley for a short trip, and take the ice cave on the way home.

The visitors will then go on to Yakima, Wash., for a family reunion, the parents of the two former Yaden girls residing at that point.

Several brush fires were in evidence Tuesday night, one northeast of town reaching considerable proportion. Otis Root, in charge of fire fighters, called for the Hagerman CCO boys and the blaze was well under control early in the evening, back fires having been started. In some manner trash at the city dump also caught fire and cleared things up a bit.

DECLINE IN MEAT PRICE FORECAST

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—Lower meat prices were forecast today by a department of agriculture report showing prospective substantial increases in meat supplies this fall, particularly in pork.

A six-year record crop of hogs will move to market within the next few months, the report said. Supplies of pork and other hog products will be 15 to 20 per cent larger than last year.

Prices of slaughter hogs, cattle and lambs have dipped sharply since mid-April supplies of hogs on farms are the largest since 1933. Cattle supplies are only slightly larger than last year, while lamb supplies are about the same.

The department estimated the spring pig crop which will go to market this fall at $2,300,000 head, about 400,000 head larger than the 1938 spring crop.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Caution—And You'll Enjoy Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile does not flow freely, your food does not digest. It just sits in the bowels, then it rots and your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel poor.

A liver bowel movement doesn't get at the source of the trouble. It just moves the bile down your bowels. It just moves the bile down your bowels. It just moves the bile down your bowels.

COUNTY OFFICERS PICK TEXAS MAN

OGDEN, Utah, July 20 (AP)—Judge Jake I. Loy of Sherman, Tex., was elected to succeed Commissioner George F. Simmons, Ogden, as the head of the National County Officers' association at the closing session of their convention Wednesday.

Houston, Tex., was named the 1940 convention city.

Other officers appointed were E. H. Beckett, Tappan Springs, Fla.; Carl W. Chambers, Fendleton, Ore.; Pete Hughes, Pueblo, Colo.; W. A. Smith, Whittier, Calif.; Patrick H. Bupple, New Bedford, Mass.; Austin Moore, Lexington, Ky.; C. E. Roy, Fort Wayne, Ind.; and W. C. Shaw, Greenboro, N. C., vice-presidents. Retiring President Simmons was made executive director, and George F. Breitbach, Milwaukee, Wis., was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

The delegates passed a resolution endorsing congressional and presidential action in extending WPA working hours. They believed the new system will discourage a government-supported dole and cause workers to be absorbed into private industry.

A loom demonstrated at the Saint John, N. H., exhibition this year and owned by Mrs. C. H. Clarke, Ottawa, was shown at Sussex in 1893 at the first exhibition to be held in New Brunswick.

BUHL HUNTS FOR FORGERY SUSPECT

BUHL, July 20 (Special)—Buhl police and officers of other communities are looking for Allen Adams, 61, wanted on a charge of forging checks on J. J. Brennan, owner of the Buhl Floral Co. Brennan, who is also master of the Buhl Orange, and a past president of the Idaho Floral association, told police that Adams came to Buhl about a month ago. He was an excellent florist and horticulturist, and was employed by Brennan at the floral company. Last Saturday, his employer said, Adams cashed four checks with the merchant, totalling about $130, and left town. He also took with him the Ford delivery truck belonging to Brennan.

Mr. Brennan said Adams was well educated, could speak four languages fluently, German, French, Spanish and English, and was also a fine musician on the piano. Adams with his pleasant personality was readily accepted as a member of the family. Sometime Saturday he is alleged to have taken six blank checks from the check book, four of which he is claimed to have forged and passed among Buhl merchants Saturday night. Checks were cashed at the American market, Gibbs Cigar store, the Sport shop and Davy Berenter's clothing store. The checks were all for either $34 or $38. To date Adams has not been located. He is reported to have formerly lived in Vincennes, Ind.

Fire Spreads In Park Area

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo., July 20 (AP)—A forest fire in Yellowstone national park spread rapidly through the timber on Monday today, defying the efforts of 600 volunteers, civilian conservation corps enrollees and forest service employees to contain it.

The fire, which broke out Saturday, was under control until a heavy wind fanned it into activity late yesterday and whipped the flames into the virgin tree tops. The blaze was burning around White lake and advancing toward Terra lake in a remote section of the park as additional equipment was rushed from Seattle and Missoula, Mont.

TIME

IDAHO FALLS, Ida., July 20 (AP)—The Idaho time trials against the new WPA working regulations was exhibited today by Glen Clark of Idaho Falls. He had quit shaving his chin and intended to keep the beard until the new hours provision was changed, said Clark. "Because of the added hours, we don't even have time to shave."
