POLICE, PICKETS BATTLE IN CLEVELAND

A JOURNMENT PLANS JEOPARDIZED BY LENDING BATTLE

ECONOMY GROUP IN SENATE CUTS BUDGET IN HALF

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON, July 31 (U.P.)—Congressional adjournment plans were jeopardized and President Roosevelt's $3,060,000,000 lending bill was being cut to half size today as congress entered what was to have been the last week of this session.

Leaders were pessimistic of adjournment by Aug. 5. Some of them believed at least another week would be necessary to complete the session's labors. But limitation of senate debate effective today may enable a lending vote before midnight.

Independent temper which led congress to reject the administration's neutrality bill, revise the tax structure, challenge presidential nominations and frequently indulge in coalition opposition to the New Deal has hit the lending bill with a vengeance. Senators almost halved the proposed program, reducing it in committee and on the floor from $3,060,000,000 to $1,530,000,000. The house banking and currency committee was scarcely less hostile, trimming $850,000,000 from the measure and then voting to report it favorably for consideration on the floor.

Committee Must Act
But the house (the measure still must act before the measure can be considered and there is substantial opposition in that anti-New Deal group to the measure even as now modified. However, house leaders said they did not expect to have any trouble getting it on the floor once the bill was acted on by the senate.

The senate has so vastly diminished the bill that it is almost impossible to compile may ultimately develop. If it carries, the lending issue would be buried for this session and congress probably would get away on time next Saturday.

Speeched Limited
An agreement limiting speeches to 15 minutes on any amendments, however, would not apply to debate on a motion to recommend and report. It exempted a possible amendment relating to the roads, tunnels and bridges section of the original bill. The $500,000,000 and the roads and bridges section was killed by the senate Friday. It was defeated by only two votes. The bill was then returned to the administration would attempt to restore it.

It attempts to attach "riders" to the bill and cut out some of the items some believe that congress may be here another two weeks, before action on the bill is definitely the key to adjournment. House leaders are marking time until then.

Oppose Competition
Rebellious senators voted into the bill a policy declaration against government competition with private industry specifically forbidding use of any of the $300,000,000 public works fund for public power plants in competition with private enterprise.

Sen. Millard E. Tydings, D., Md., put in a rider prohibiting corporations, fraternal organizations and labor unions to make contributions unless the persons from whom the money was collected knew it was for the purpose of such purpose. Tydings said he was aiming at John L. Lewis, of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, by charging that Vice-President John N. Garner was a labor-baiting, whiskey-drinking, poker-playing evil old man.

Dismissals for Workers Halted
Dismissal of workers in this zone was halted under a new (provision) that required termination of relief for clients on rolls longer than 16 months, has been halted. This was announced this afternoon by local WPA officials.

An announcement was made after receipt of word from O. K. Hulse, state administrator, that this provision would be followed.

It was said the order would be in effect "pending word from Washington."

He pointed out that "less than 100 persons had been dismissed because of the provision."

"The big terminations were to have come this week," Hulse told local officials. "About 1,000 persons got under the wire. However, I have been advised many of these had accepted other employment in anticipation of the terminations."

A rider repealing the 16-month termination has been attached to the Roosevelt lending bill by the senate, and is now being considered by the house.

Barns, Wheat, in Path of Washington Blaze

One farmer lost his life and six others shared his loss of more than 4,000 acres of wheat in a series of fires which swept southeastern Washington. This barn, in the path of one blaze near Walla Walla, went up like tinder.

The police went was discovered back of the residence of John Grimes, 72, twin falls county weed control man, on Eleventh avenue east. J. P. Hunt, weed control director, and Art Siffer, clerk, were thumbing through a weed identification book looking for a description of water hemlock found along a canal bank near Burley when they noticed a picture and description of poison hemlock.

"I think there's some of that growing behind my house," said Grimes. He dashed out of the county commissioners' office and returned in a short time with a five-foot weed.

Comparison with pictures and descriptions served to identify the weed as a poison hemlock, the plant that the famed philosopher, Socrates, ancient Greece made famous. History reports that Socrates met his death by drinking poison hemlock juice.

After the discovery, Hunt, director of weed control work in Twin Falls county, said he believed the plant may be growing in other parts of the county. The two weeds found this morning were the first ever reported in this region.

Only the juice of the plant is poisonous.

70-Year-Old Eccentric Kills One, Wounds Nine

CYNTHIANA, Ky., July 31 (U.P.)—Charles Allen, 70-year-old eccentric, who shot and killed Police Chief George M. Dickey and wounded nine others in a battle with possumen Saturday night, surrendered to police at Jacksonville, Ky., today.

Assistant Police Chief Roy Allen said Allen had called him from the home of his brother, Alvin Allen, a farmer at Jacksonville, and said: "Come and get me."

"We went over there," Fightmaster said, "and he and his brother met us at the door. We took him to the Fayette county jail at Lexington."

Fightmaster said Allen admitted he shot Dickey but explained he thought "Dickey" was a chicken thief.

Dickey, 77, was slain when Fightmaster and another officer summoned him to the Allen home because they had found Allen in his barn with a 10-year-old girl.

Fightmaster said Allen was standing on the porch of his home when Dickey arrived in his automobile. As Dickey stepped from the car, Fightmaster said, "Allen fired one shot at him with a shotgun, Dickey fell dead."

At Lexington, Fightmaster said, Allen denied he had had a girl in the barn.

"But I saw you with the girl," Fightmaster said.

Allen did not answer for a moment. Then he said:

"Not afraid."

"I didn't want to hurt you fellow, Dickey had his gun out."

"No," Fightmaster said, "he didn't. I was there."

"Well," Allen said, "Dickey was followed me around for a year. I didn't intend for him to arrest me."

BRITAIN, FRANCE SPEED UP PLANS OF WAR DEFENSE

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
United Press Foreign News Editor
Great Britain and France speed up security measures in Europe and the far east today on the eve of the 25th anniversary of World war.

With military preparations of every big power approaching a maximum in August — the World war started in the first week of August, 1914 — both London and Paris concentrated on completing their security front by bringing Soviet Russia into a three-power political and military alliance intended to offset the threat of a new war. Developments included:

Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain announced in the house of commons that a British-French military mission would leave probably this week for Moscow to consult on mutual defense and to acknowledge the determination of the two powers to carry through their proposals by sending high military and naval figures to the Soviet capital. Gen. Joseph Doumenc of the French superior war council, and Admiral the Hon. Sir Reginald Assiner Ransley Plunkett-Erle-Beane-Drax of Britain, will head the mission.

Agitation against Americans as well as Britons flared over a wider area in the far east as Tokyo police guarded the embassies of both powers during a big demonstration denouncing "British, American and Russian" as "our common enemy."

Japanese bombed American hospitals, missions and schools in two Chinese cities, and poured explosives into Chinese sectors near the mouth of the Pearl river in what appeared to be an attempt to isolate Hong Kong and thus cut off the big artery of British trade with Canton. American buildings were bombed at Kiohnan and Wuchow.

Japanese military authorities in Shanghai charged that the "support of British authorities," was financing a Chinese guerrilla campaign against Japanese troops and supply depots, deep in Japanese-controlled territory around Shanghai and Nanking. British officials denied the charge as "a tale of lies."

Discus Breakdown
Many sources in London were discussing the possibility of breakdown in the Japanese-British negotiations at Tokyo for settlement of the incident. Japan's plan to use them as a lever to force Britain to cooperate with the Japanese program in China.

Japanese, having claimed an initial victory in the French negotiations, have sought to use them as a lever to force Britain to cooperate with the Japanese program in China.

23 Injured as Strikers Block Work at Factory; Stones, Clubs, Bricks Fly

Gang Mouthpiece Goes Free

The freedom that most boycotts know at prison doors is not for Dixie Davis. The one-time "honorary general" of New York's gangland emerges (center foreground) from men's detention prison — only to be surrounded immediately by uniformed police and plainclothesmen assigned to protect him against underworld revenge.

Police said a picket leader stood on the roof of one of the plant's buildings and directed the slugs through a loudspeaker. Others were arrested.

Patrolman Injured
Police said they had to use gas also to cut off the picket line. A picket of a non-striking worker whose car had been overturned. At least one other automobile was pushed over.

Police said the picket line was broken up by a police officer, Joseph Palaty, 35, was injured by a swinging club.

Police said the announcer at the picket's loudspeaker yelled at the crowd: "We're not going to let those other 'finks' through."

Fisher is Cleveland's largest manufacturer, employing normally more than 8,000 men. Usually during the summer only tool and die workers are laid off. Their strike has lasted several weeks ago in sympathy with the walkouts against Fisher in Michigan.

Police were forced to fire several shots into the air to hold back the crowd. Firemen aided them by pouring water over the crowd.

Police Chief George J. Matolya appeared personally at the scene and asked the crowd to disperse and go home.

Chamberlain Sees Peace if Nations Halt "Word War"

LONDON, July 31 (U.P.)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the house of commons today that if the world could halt this "war of words" a long period of prosperity and peace might be expected.

Concluding a long declaration on foreign policy, the prime minister declined again to draw a definite line at Danzig on which Great Britain would consider aggression had been committed by Germany and caused a renewal of speculation in opposition circles that he still hoped for European appeasement.

"It is difficult to see what the resolution of this problem of increasing armaments can be unless it is to be resolved by war itself," he declared.

Poisonous Propaganda
"Unhappily had feeling between nations had been fomented daily by poisonous propaganda in the press and by other means," Chamberlain said. "I cannot help feeling that if we could halt this war of words and, in addition, some action could be taken which would tend to restore confidence of the people in the peaceful intentions of all states in Europe if only that could be done — then I would still feel I know of no question that could not and should not be solved by peaceful discussion."

"It was wrong the victor and vanquished alike will reap suffering and misery," he declared. "I believe that this great and profound fundamental truth is beginning to get down to the minds of rulers and peoples alike."

Might Escape
"It is on that belief that I have my hope we may yet see the end of this war of words and our course again into sunlight and peace."

Chamberlain's remarks came after a movement had been started by a group of conservative members of parliament in sound out the possibility of extending the life of parliament for another two years — was done in France last week — and thus avoiding general elections this autumn.

Fish Elude FDR's Line

WASHINGTON, July 31 (U.P.)—President Roosevelt returned empty-handed today from a week-end marlin fishing expedition off Ocean City, Md.

Although one of the heaviest runs of marlin in years was reported at the fishing spot over Jackson shore, Mr. Roosevelt had no luck during the hour or two which he devoted to rod and reel during the cruise.

His companions were more lucky. Secretary of Commerce Henry H. Hopkins landed a 65-pound marlin; Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, navy surgeon-general, hooked a 55-pounder and Bill Green, Edwin C. Watson, white house secretary, pulled in a 45-pounder.

NEW MISHAP IN SQUALUS LIFTING

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., July 31 (U.P.)—Navy divers waited for fog to lift as they tried to survey damage yesterday in a new mishap which again delayed delivery operations on the submarine squalus at its 26 dead.

As winches tugged on cables to the seventh and last of the pontoons, resting in and since it plunged with the submarine back to the ocean floor July 21, a heavy wire snapped along the cable. The cable whipped along the deck of the rescue ship Falcon with deadly force.

The wire caused no injury, however.

Diver G. F. Crocker descended and, peering through cloud-laden waters, found that the pontoon apparently had dropped to the bottom from its position in which it earlier had laid, across the submarine's bow.

NEW YORK, July 31 (U.P.)—Sugar quota requirements for the free market for the third year of 1939 have been established at 2,210,000 metric tons by delegates to the international sugar conference at London according to cable advice from the New York office and sugar officials.

In order that effective measures may be easily adopted, the dominions and possessions have been divided into three groups, each with its own quota. The amounts which are to be allocated to each group will be determined by the conference.

He waited for the water before a fat fish bubbled up. He caught 11 nine German brown trout, some 18 inches long.

Then the game warden came along.

The judge gave Albert 80 days in jail or a $100 fine for fishing in the state fish hatchery.

NORTHERN FIRES UNDER CONTROL

SPOKANE, Wash., July 31 (U.P.)—The U. S. forest service reported all blazes in eastern Washington, northern Idaho and western Montana under control today but warned a dangerous condition continued to exist.

Thirteen new fires were reported. The largest covered 800 acres in the Lolo national forest in Montana and was instead of timber for the flames.

Airplanes were successful for the first time in dropping 10-gallon cans of water to fire fighters at the Cole creek basin. Food and equipment also were parachuted to the 400-mail crew over the week-end.

SENATE BLOC CONTINUES SLASHING OF LENDING BILL

BARKLEY AGREES TO $25,000,000 ADDITIONAL CUT

WASHINGTON, July 31 (UP)—The Senate today agreed to a further reduction of $25,000,000 in President Roosevelt's lending bill, cutting it to $1,615,000,000 from an original request of $1,640,000,000.

The reduction was in the proposed additional lending authority for the export-import bank. It was cut from $100,000,000 to $75,000,000. The action was proposed by Democratic Senate Leader Alben W. Barkley after a bipartisan coalition of economy-minded senators had threatened to trim the authority to $25,000,000. Barkley's amendment was adopted 44 to 35.

WASHINGTON, July 31 (UP)—The Senate today agreed to an amendment to the lending bill giving federal loan administrator Jesse Jones " veto" power over $30,000,000 in loans to be made by the public works administration.

The amendment was offered by Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., Ohio, and accepted by Democratic leader Alben W. Barkley. It provides that all loans made for public works projects must be subject to Jones' approval.

See Dictators Coming
The measure has been reduced to $1,640,000,000, compared with the $1,680,000,000 that the President originally asked.

An attempt was made today to cut it still further. The measure was amended to trim $75,000,000 from the proposed $100,000,000 additional lending authority for the export-import bank.

"Every dictator in South America is planning a trip to the United States to pick up some of the millions of dollars lying around here," Taft said.

Taft and Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, R. Mich., charged the "real purpose" behind the export-import bank program was to make loans to foreign governments. That was the charge of the Senate Republican majority.

"I am satisfied that if this program is left under Mr. Jones' discretion, the money will be loaned to foreign governments," Borah said.

"If anything can be called 'dollar diplomacy,' this is it," Taft shouted. "You'll get exactly what you pay for—an obligation on paper and no good with it."

"If you don't want to let anything abroad, then you ought to abolish the export-import bank altogether," Barkley replied.

James Agnew With Borah
Sen. William E. Borah, R. Idaho, said he conferred recently with Jones and found him "as much opposed to loans to foreign governments as I was."

"I am satisfied that if this program is left under Mr. Jones' discretion, the money will be loaned to foreign governments," Borah said.

JAPAN CLAIMS ENGLAND AIDING SABOTAGE ACTIVITY

NIPPONESE SEE SOVIET-BRITISH ESPIONAGE TIE

By ROBERT BELLARIE

SHANGHAI, July 31 (AP)—Japanese army authorities alleged today that Russia was financing a Chinese guerrilla campaign against Japanese airdrops and supply depots in the Shanghai-Nanking area.

"With the support of British authorities," the British consulate general reported that the entire statement in which the charge was made "is full of lies from beginning to end."

A statement issued by the Japanese army press bureau said: "As adverse British feeling toward Japan has been aggravated, the British consul general has been watching for an opportunity to instigate retaliatory action against Japan."

"Recently British consular authorities succeeded in establishing close contact with the Soviet consulate at Shanghai with a view to exchanging information regarding Japan."

"Attacks Contemplated"

"Consequently it has been learned that surprise attacks against Japanese airdrops and arms supply depots in the Shanghai-Nanking area, by making use of Chinese Communist guerrilla forces, are contemplated."

"According to reliable information the sum appropriated for required expenditures amounts to about 10,000 yuan ($1,300) a month, which is to be given the Chinese Communist party through the Soviet consul general."

The British consulate general, informed of the charge, said: "The entire statement is full of lies from beginning to end. The British consul general has not had any relations whatsoever with the Soviet and also is not attempting to instigate retaliatory measures against Japan, since that does not concern Shanghai authorities."

Japanese bombing attacks on American hospitals, missions and schools in two Chinese cities were reported in dispatches today.

The Japanese opened up a big bombardment near the mouth of the Pearl river. British sources interpreted it as an attempt to isolate Hong Kong from its principal trading points.

Missions Attacked

The American embassy at Chungking was notified by Dr. Casper G. Skidmore, of St. Paul, Minn., that Japanese airplanes dropped six bombs on the hospital and courtyard of the Lutheran mission at Koshan, in Honan province. One bomb hit the hospital directly causing severe damage and killing six Chinese and wounding two, Skidmore reported.

Five Japanese airplanes bombed Shumchun, near Hong Kong, this morning, dispatches said.

Chinese sources said seven Japanese gunboats and 30 launches were concentrated off Wangmoo and belief was expressed the Japanese sought to sever Hong Kong's trade routes to Portuguese Macao and to Chungking.

Approximately 300,000,000 gallons of tax-exempt gasoline are consumed annually by motor vehicles operated by the federal, state and local governments.

POLITICAL GLAMOR GIRLS

Ann, standing, and Betty Farley: father's fans

(By NEA Service)

Betty Farley is so fond, so imitative of her dad that a newspaper story once described her as "just like the old man."

And did that burn Ann up! Ann is just as crazy about her father and she didn't see why Betty should get all the credit.

This intense admiration is mutual. Postmaster General Jim is mighty proud of the sisters Farley. He was more pleased than if he had picked up a pocketful of electoral votes when Betty was graduated from Mount St. Mary's academy 16 two years ago, then became one of the youngest girls ever to enter Wellesley college.

When Betty was 11 last winter, Jim worried himself sick. Everything came out all right, though, and father's taking her and Ann to Europe this summer. In the summer of 1938 the two girls traveled to the Pacific coast with their dad.

It was only his belief that the girl would mean more to a boy that induced Farley to present 11-year-old James, Jr., with the prize horse which the postmaster general received from admiring Texans. There had been a friendly family dispute about the matter; Betty had wanted to turn equine.

Little girls in half-sock when their father dedicated the new post office department building five years ago, the sisters haven't lived in Washington, Mrs. Farley has stayed in New York with the children, sending them to school there, and her husband has gone up for week-ends with them.

A junior miss of 13, Ann is now attending Mount St. Mary's.

AUG. 28 SET AS SCHOOL OPENING

BURLEY, July 31 (Special)—Burley schools will open Monday, Aug. 28. It was decided at a school board meeting Wednesday. Teachers will meet Monday and students begin classes Tuesday.

Earl Carlson, Murtaugh, was elected as new junior high school science teacher to replace Carl Warner, who resigned to teach in California. Mr. Carlson is a graduate of Albion State Normal school, and received his degree in education from Colorado State Teachers' college. He has taught at Rocky Bar and Murtaugh.

Miss Freda Anderson was elected to fill the elementary school vacancy caused by resignation of Miss Lucille McMillan, who was recently married. Miss Anderson has been special music training at Albion State Normal school, and will take a position at the Overland school to provide that school with a special music teacher. A teacher from Overland school will be shifted to Miller school.

Hired as new shop instructor for junior high school was V. E. Cowles, Kimberly.

No one was elected to fill the junior high school home economics vacancy caused by resignation of Miss Gertrude Horvath, who will teach at Pocatello high school this year. Resignations of Miss Horvath, Miss McMillan and Mr. Warner were accepted. The board decided to employ one additional teacher in the junior high school to reduce the teaching load and to give junior high boys an opportunity to take shop work.

Leola Booth was hired to fill the junior vacancy in the high school building to replace George Henderson, who was killed in an automobile accident this spring.

Requests for supplies were approved for August. Board members decided to put a small stage in the basement room at the Overland school. Plans for installing heating systems in the Southwest school and in the new shop building were discussed and approved.

A resolution was passed against teachers accepting outside employment during the school year, except during vacations. In the interests of conserving teacher health and efficiency.

COWBOYS CAPTURE TENTH STRAIGHT, 4 TO 0

Yanks and White Sox Divide; Cincinnati Reds Win Doubleheader

Bill Schubel Hurls 3-Hit Ball in Final Ogden Tilt

With Bill Schubel pitching three-hit ball and Steve Bogdanoff and Frank Falconi connecting for home runs, the Twin Falls Cowboys last night won their tenth consecutive game by a score of 4-0 over the Ogden Reds.

The victory gave Manager Charlie Wry's team a record of nine straight wins on the home lot, plus a game at Pocatello before they returned to the Joyce park.

The win enabled the Twin Falls crew to hang on to first place in the Pioneer league—slightly less than a full game ahead of the Pocatello Cardinals.

In coping the 10 straight wins—far and away the longest winning streak of any team in the Pioneer league this year—the Cowboys started by taking one from Pocatello and then three each from Lewiston, Boise and Ogden.

Attendance

Attendance for the first 43 games of the home season totaled 46,727 paid admissions, according to a release today by Business Manager Hugh Pace of the Twin Falls Cowboys.

This included grandstand, bleachers and children's tickets since the start of the season and does not include the SCI All Star vs. the Cowboys, or the Bull vs. Cowboys contests which were not regulation league contests.

There are 17 remaining home games on the schedule and of these six will be with the second-place arch enemies of the Twin Falls club, the Pocatello Cardinals.

Leave for Lewiston

The Cowboys left after last night's game for Lewiston where they open a three-game series with the tough Lewiston Indians. From there they go to Ogden for a series, then to Salt Lake City. Following that they return to Twin Falls to open a series with the Pocatello Cardinals (that should attract a record-breaking turnout of south central Idaho fans).

Last night's tilt saw Bill Schubel turn in the nearest mound performance of any Twin Falls pitcher this season. The big right-hander was in excellent form, with one of the three hits made off his delivery being a "blooper" by Pete Hughes, the league's leading slugger, in the first inning. Only two men reached third base all evening—Davis after hitting a double in the fifth, and Deas after a walk and two outs in the eighth inning.

Ogden Hurlers Good Ball

Meanwhile, towering Joe Orrell was pitching a good game for the Ogden club. The Cowboys bunched four hits, including Falconi's double in the second inning, but some sloppy base running held the Twin Falls team to one run in the eighth. Steve Bogdanoff, first man up, hit a home run. Then in the seventh inning a home run by Bogdanoff singled, went to third on an error on a ball hit by Joe McNamee and then came in on a fly by Deas. The hit ended the scoring for the evening.

Orrell struck out nine men during the fray to lead the Ogden hurler, for 14, with the only extra-base blow being a double by Falconi.

Score in Fourth

The Cowboys got two runs on three hits and in the fourth added four more on five hits. All singles. They added one more in the eighth on three singles.

Stats of the day

Steve Bogdanoff and Junior McNamee, each with three singles in four trips to the plate, while George Pace got two for two.

Box scores for the two games were as follows:

Gooding won 6 to 0 over Kimberly yesterday, and Tuttle eked out a narrow 8 to 7 victory over the Burley team.

Monday's game was a slugfest, with Hagerman's batsmen being loaded by Hagerman errors. Malloy had four misplays charged against him, and Covey was responsible for the other three local errors.

Haddock slammed out a two-bagger for Shoshone in the sixth inning, and Hagerman, also got a double for the only other extra base hits of the game.

Buhl Clear Lakes Golf Course
LAUDED FOR GROWTH—AND TWIN FALLS COUNTRY CLUB RAPPED FOR LACK OF PROGRESSIVENESS...

Mrs. Leonard Almquist, probably one of the greatest feminine golfers in the history of south central Idaho, deserves a lot of tribute for her achievement in winning the state amateur crown.

There are apparently two outstanding reasons why Mrs. Almquist has developed such a superior golfer. First, she has the persistence, form and temperament that naturally make an excellent golfer. Second, most of her playing associations have been with an unusually successful golf club—the Clear Lakes Country Club at Buhl.

Starting out with a small membership and a rugged stretch of unimproved land bordering Snake river, the Clear Lakes club has developed into one of the best organizations in south central Idaho, with a much better-kept average course of the same green type.

Coupled with that is the enthusiasm in the Buhl area, which results in a continuous round of golf parties, picnics, competition and match plays with other clubs.

It is interesting to contrast all this with golfing in Twin Falls where the sport has about as much life as a salted herring. The old enthusiasm just isn't there and interest has waned until relatively few ever think of playing golf in the Magic City. Particularly is this noticeable in team members from Burley, Rupert, Gooding, Jerome and Buhl when they play on the Twin Falls course in inter-city matches.

When most of these other clubs get together for a round of competition, there are always more than enough players on hand to make the visiting team, whether it be 10 or 30 contestants. But in Twin Falls a week ago Sunday the local club didn't have enough players to match the 18 they had asked Buhl and Jerome to bring down, with the result that the visitors had to lend some of their team to the host club. Several local players were on hand, but declined to participate even though they knew their club's representation.

Not only that, it has been the custom among golfers of the surrounding towns to get together for the home team to really act the part of host, including a courtesy lunch at the half-way mark. But not so in Twin Falls. There wasn't even a place where the visiting players could buy their own sandwiches.

Of course, not all of the members of the Twin Falls club are responsible for this condition, because we know of numerous players who are just as good sports as you'll find anywhere, and they realize this situation thoroughly. But apparently the majority of the membership is little better than the development of golfing in Twin Falls as a sport and prefers to maintain the club only for its own selfish entertainment.

If that is the case it would be better to make no pretense of entering into the inter-city meets at least until such time as the guests can be shown the courtesies they have every reason to expect.

Perhaps the best solution to a situation of this kind is a bang-up municipal golf course similar in those several other southern Idaho cities are now building. There would be plenty of enthusiasm and good sportsmanship if a course of that kind were available. Apparently it's something Twin Falls really needs!

Safeway Tops Gooding Loop

GOODING, July 31 (Special)—Safeway's Orange team and the groceryman of Wall and Rawlins were tied for first place in the city softball league here this week as the mid-way mark in the final schedule drew near. Each team has three wins and two losses.

Central Market, in third place, with three wins and two losses was rated a chance to finish at the top but the Jaycees fourth team in the circuit, word out of the stadium for the permanent playoff.

The W. and R. team captured the first half of the schedule and won the right to enter the playoff Saturday and W. and R. tied in the second schedule with the Orange team.

Veteran Seal Hurlers Tip Angels Twice

(By United Press)

A couple of veterans sunk the Los Angeles club just a little deeper in second place today as San Francisco's Seal shut out the Angels twice yesterday.

Sam Gibson turned back the Seraphs 1 to 0 in the opening encounter while Win (Old Paul) Ballou whitewashed them 2 to 0 in the seven-inning finale.

Inasmuch as Seattle and Sacramento split a pair, the Angels now are four and a half games out of first place. The Seals took the series four games to three, while Sacramento was breaking the same way in its series with the Rainiers.

Rainiers Win First

Seattle won the first game from the Solons 7 to 5, but Sacramento rubbed it in properly in the closing frame, 10 to 2. Dick Barrett turned in his 100th victory as a Rainier and his 18th of the season, although he was yanked in the fifth of the game.

Tony Freitas turned the Sudsers back with two hits in the nightcap. Oakland thumped Hollywood 16 to 7 in the first game yesterday, but dropped the second, 4 to 3. The Acorns, behind Jack Salvo's seventh-inning, outlasted the Seals, 5 to 4. Fittingly, Charlie Moncrief and Chet Johnson for 20 hits. Lou Toot, who recently underwent an operation, was credited with victory in the nightcap, though relieved by Bob Moncrief. The Stars took the series, four games to three.

Padres, Beavers Divide

At San Diego, the Padres and Portland divided. San Diego took the opener, 3 to 2, behind Wally Hebert's six-hit pitching, but the Beavers captured the nightcap, 5 to 2. Oakland, in the series, five games to four. This week San Francisco posted at Oakland, Los Angeles at Sacramento, Portland at Hollywood and Seattle at San Diego.

Mac Can't Find Anyone Who Will Put Out $8,000,000 for Yanks

By HENRY McLEMORE
NEW YORK, July 31 (UP)—All I know about the report that the Yankees baseball empire is going to be sold is that it can be had—for a price. The asking price would be around $10,000,000 but if anybody came along and laid $8,000,000 on the line in ready money, the heirs would wrap the whole thing up in tinoli and say, "Take it, mister."

You must keep in mind that when Jake Ruppert was alive the Yankees were his pride and joy and about the only hobby he knew in his late years. Today the Yankees may be a pride and joy to the heirs but they are no hobby, and if the heirs are to get any substantial dough out of the estate of the late brewer it must come from the sales of property, and the Yankees with their far-flung chain system represent a rich property indeed.

Now where are you going to find anybody around today with sufficient money and sufficient interest in baseball to lay $8,000,000 on the line? Don't wear your eyes out looking because there isn't any such animal. If the Yankees are sold—and some day they will be—it will be piece by piece, club by club and perhaps, in the end, even player by player.

This brings me up to what I think may eventually be the solution to the baseball situation which exists in St. Louis, which is strictly a one-club city, but which tries with commendable industry to support two major league clubs—the Cards and Browns.

I happen to know the Yankees have not been selling their Kansas City club, which is in the process of building up an enviable attendance and article record. What's more, Kansas City itself has major league aspirations. The team as it stands probably could perform creditably in either of the big leagues. It wouldn't win pennants but it would do all right.

I happen to know that if Sam Breadon, who owns the Cards, wants to buy the Kansas City club he will not have the door slammed in his face. And this is true because the bunch of St. Louis business men who are behind the Browns, who are trying to get it that if either Breadon or the Browns group wants to move, the Yankees will listen to a proposition concerning Kansas City.

Everybody in baseball knows the St. Louis situation has reached such a state that something must be done and that something amounts to moving one of the clubs either the Browns or the Cards, out of town. Breadon has his home there and doesn't want to move; the people back of the Browns think that in time they can put their enterprise over successfully.

My guess is that when the final answer is written the American league will dominate St. Louis baseball. First, because it is traditionally an American league city. Second, I have reason to believe that the group back of the Browns has received assurances from the American league directors that they are in their corner.

Of course, Breadon could take his Cards to Columbus, where he owns a franchise, and maybe in the end he will. But Kansas City seems to be more of a major league prospect, and potentially it promises greater financial returns.

What would happen to the American association if Kansas City became a major league unit? To which I say that it is wrong with Omaha? That's one of the best sporting towns in the country and the people out there have been crying for a club in the association.

Therefore my platform is this: Let Breadon go to the Yankees and buy Kansas City and then move Omaha into the association.

Twin Falls Net Aces Score Wins

BOISE, July 31 (UP)—Three of five championships in Boise's annual tennis tournament today were held by Twin Falls tennis aces, and a single City woman player shared a fourth title with a Nampa player. The championship list reads like this:

Men's singles—Arthur N. Walker, Twin Falls.

Men's doubles—Arthur N. Walker and Buell Wynn, both Twin Falls.

Women's singles—Helen Martin of Boise.

Women's doubles—Jo Fox, Twin Falls, and Vera Ingerson of Nampa.

Mixed doubles—Jo Fox and Arthur N. Walker of Twin Falls.

Art Walker had a busy day, Sunday. To start things out, he defeated Dr. H. C. Mannung, Boise physician, 7-5, 6-2. Then after lunch he went out on the court with Buell Wynn, Twin Falls, and when the match had cleared away Walker and Wynn had won the doubles title by defeating Branch Bird and Dr. E. S. Robinson of Gooding, 9-7, 6-4, 6-3.

During the afternoon hours, Walker rested a little, and then paired with Jo Fox to defeat Dr. Mannung and Vera Ingerson of Nampa, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2, in a mixed doubles semifinal. He clinaxed his day's labor in the twilight when he and Miss Fox stroked their way to a 6-2, 6-4 victory over Helen Martin and Dou Chapman of Boise in the mixed doubles final.

Results of 1938: Helen Martin's 6-1, 3-6, 6-3 defeat of Jo Fox was almost an exact duplicate of last year's final for the women's single crown. Control displayed by Miss Martin was the deciding factor in the match, although it appeared for a time that Miss Fox'sizzling smashes might pay dividends.

Jo Fox got partial revenge in the doubles in which she teamed with Miss Ingerson of Nampa, who gave ample support to Miss Fox's hot racket. The pair scored a 6-2, 3-7, 6-4 victory over Helen Martin and Dou Chapman of Boise. It was a two-up until the last two games of the desired set.

FRANCE, BRITAIN SEND MILITARY MISSIONS TO SOVIET

THREE NATIONS STUDY PROGRAM OF COOPERATION

By FREDERICK KUH
LONDON, July 31 (UP)—French-British military missions will leave for Moscow probably this week, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain announced today in the house of commons.
The missions will discuss military, naval and air co-operation by the three powers if they achieve a defensive alliance and are forced into war to carry it out.
Chamberlain said discussions are proceeding in Moscow with the aim of reaching a political agreement. Chamberlain said the British mission would be headed by Admiral the Hon. Sir Reginald Aylmer Ransley, Pimblett-Smith-Evans.
The French are sending Gen. Joseph Doumenc, of the superior war council. Thus it was indicated that in any alliance, Britain would concentrate on naval matters and the French on land action.
Chamberlain said the mission also would include Air Marshal Sir Charles Burnett and Major General Thomas G. Heywood.
In reply to a question by Hugh Dalton, Laborite, the prime minister told the house:
"The Soviet government has proposed at the present stage of negotiations that it would be of advantage to have military conversations forthwith."
"His majesty's government concurred and arrangements are being made to send British and French military representatives to Moscow as soon as possible."
Start This Week
"It is proposed that concurrently with the military conversations, political discussions shall continue to be held in Moscow, with a view to the conclusion of a political agreement."
Answering Eleanor Rathbone, Independent, Chamberlain said the mission possibly would start for Moscow this week.
Chamberlain's announcement of these three prominent military men for the Moscow mission was expected to go far towards allaying criticisms that William Strang, political negotiator now in Moscow, is merely a "foreign office clerk" and beneath the dignity of such an important task.

Your Health

Diet
Food fads probably do more harm today than patent medicines. Advertisers on all sides urge us to eat our way to success and health via bran or prepared cereals or somebody's soup or fruit juice. What really is a diet fit for ordinary people?

Fuel Requirements
Food is to the body what fuel is to an engine. We measure food values in calories. A calorie is the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of 1 kilogram of water 1 degree Centigrade.
The average man of 150 pounds needs 2500-3000 calories a day, according to his exertions. A larger man doing heavy labor needs more; a smaller person doing desk work needs less. Ordinarily an adult should have from 15 to 20 calories a day per pound of body-weight.
The rapidly growing child needs more, probably 35-40 calories per pound each day. And a baby during his first year must have about 50.

DEATH SUMMONS MORMON APOSTLE

SALT LAKE CITY, July 31 (UP)—Melvin J. Ballard, 65-year-old member of the Mormon church, died last night in a Salt Lake City hospital after a month's illness.
Ballard had returned from a trip to the eastern states mission a month ago because of illness and was following the hospital eight days ago following a stroke of the heart. His condition was reported critical since that time. His physicians said he was conscious of his bad condition during "most of the day" before his death.
Born Feb. 8, 1875, in Logan, Utah, the son of Henry and Margaret McNeill Ballard, he attended high school there. He graduated from Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah, in 1904. After teaching music at B. Y. U. for two years, he dedicated his life to missionary and organization work for the Mormon church.

OFFICIALS HUNT MISSING BEAUTY

SAN FRANCISCO, July 31 (UP)—Peace officers between Salt Lake City and San Francisco were asked today to search for Rosalind Johnson, Utah blond recently named "Miss Salt Lake City," who disappeared from a beauty contest train en route to participate in the Swedish day celebration at the San Francisco exposition.
Miss Johnson, 20, was put aboard the train at Salt Lake City last Saturday night and was due here last evening. A delegation headed by Daniel Birgers, secretary of the exposition committee arranging for her appearance, inquired among other passengers and learned she had been seen aboard the train, but no definite time could be determined.
Birgers informed the police missing persons detail and the Travelers Aid society, and a statewide telegraph and radio description of Miss Johnson was broadcast.
Miss Johnson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Johnson, was to have participated in a beauty contest to select the most beautiful Swedish-American girl of the west at the exposition on Aug. 5. She had planned to come to San Francisco early for several days of sight-seeing.

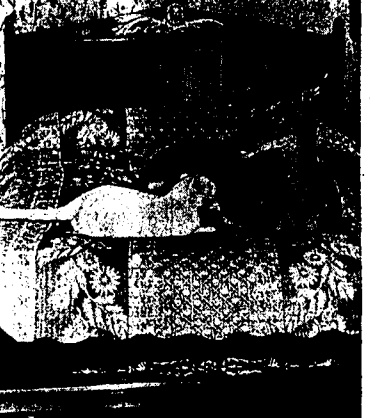

She believed she had left the train en route although advised from Salt Lake City that she had planned to come straight through.
She had been a student at the University of Utah and at Woodbury Business college in Los Angeles. Miss Johnson also is a member of the Mormon church and president of the Wells Letter Day Saints class Glenair girls.

Drunks Mar Staging of "Rain Dance" by Indians in Wyoming

FORT WASHAKIE, Wyo., July 31 (UP)—The "great spirit" beyond the sun sent rain and a paleface audience provided a bountiful feast, but the ceremonial rain dance of the Shoshones and Arapahoes was rudely decorated today by two recalcitrant young braves who showed up drunk.
They wound up in the house.
Hundreds of braves, their seminude bodies daubed with red, white, black and yellow paints, their heads plumed with dyed turkey feathers, entered the 46th hour of their traditional dance at dawn with a spirit of joyful thanksgiving. Their prayers went up the rays of the sun to the "great spirit" had brought rain to the yellowing wheat and corn of the reservation—the first in 30 days.
But all was not so well with the leathery-faced old medicine men who squatted on the edge of the muddy circle made by the stamping, chanting, tom-tom thumping braves. Two incidents in the early hours of last night had offended them—the appearance of the two inebriated braves, and a group of paleface spectators who came, watched, and laughed at what they saw.
The medicine men, in solemn pow-wow, took immediate steps to protect the sanctity of the ceremony's last hours, which will be climaxed with a feast tonight of stewed prairie dog, soda pop and candy purchased with funds taken at the gate. They threatened to two braves to 25 days in the reservation jail, and put them there; and they announced to the admission-paying spectators their money would be refunded and they would be summarily ejected with a recurrence of "sacriligious" behavior such as laughter.
