Workers Return to Jobs as Guards are Put Down in Insurrection

MILITIAMEN IN COLORADO HALT STRIKE RIOTING

GREEN MOUNTAIN DAM, Colo., Aug. 4 (UP)—Long lines of workmen moved through the main gate of this reopened $4,000,000 federal-state project today under the guns of national guardsmen who had put down a strikers' "insurrection," evacuated a 100 square-mile area of strikers and anti-strike vigilantes and established military rule. Not all of them were to be put to work immediately, but it is certain that full operations would be resumed at once. A. K. Anderson, project boss, said he probably would have only maintenance workers at first to repair equipment damaged during a 24-hour siege by strikers. The project ordinarily employs about 250 men.

Lines Policed
Helmeted guardsmen, their rifles bayoneted, policed the lines at the entrance and patrolled the entire area from temporary bases scattered for 50 miles up and down the Blue river valley, a deep gorge through the mountains which it contains but is not a part of. It is certain that full operations would be resumed at once. A. K. Anderson, project boss, said he probably would have only maintenance workers at first to repair equipment damaged during a 24-hour siege by strikers. The project ordinarily employs about 250 men.

Guns of 1811 Expedition Found Along Snake River

By O. A. KEELEY

Old flint-lock guns, a hand forged axe head and several hand forged traps, believed to be relics of the famous and historically important Hunt expedition which traveled the waters of the Snake river to the sea in 1811, had been discovered by a Murtaugh farmer today.

The farmer is Cliff Stary who owns a place located five and one-half miles east of Murtaugh on the Shoshone river, and his "find" may prove to be one of the most important, historically speaking, ever made in the state.

History records the trip of the Hunt expedition, which is known to have camped on the banks of the Snake river relatively near to the present location of the Milner dam. The same summaries of the trip also recall the difficult time the party had negotiating the river in the area where the relics were discovered, being a point below the dam itself.

Stary's discovery resulted in the following items being taken from the bed of the mighty Snake, probably after resting there for 128 years:

Flint-Lock Guns
Two flint-lock guns with most of the stock and barrel still intact and with a piece of flint still remaining in the breech.

Finds Expedition Relics

Cliff Stary, Murtaugh farmer, displays relics believed to have been lost in the Snake river when the Hunt expedition traveled the stream in 1811. Across his chest rests an old flint-lock rifle, the flint still serviceable; in one hand he holds a hand made axe head, while resting against his leg are two more flint-lock gun barrels. On and in front of the box in the picture are three traps, also hand forged. Feet that the relics had been discovered by Stary was learned only today. (Evening Times Photo)

Four animal traps with at least three of them still retaining the chain (hand forged) wrapped around them.

An axe head, also hand forged, with part of the wooden handle still in the socket.

Stary believes, and probably rightly so, that what he has discovered is to date is only a part of what the expedition had in the vicinity which all items found to date are heavy, the powder with rust and at least one of the traps, having been in the river for so long, has a rock formation formed inside it.

river rise only another foot, then water would cover the spot.

Near Mid-Stream
In the early days, when the Hunt expedition went down the river back in 1811, there were no dams to divert the natural flow of the stream with the result it probably never receded to the point to which it recedes today. Because of this the spot of location was, in all probability, the near-middle of the river in 1811 and for years afterward.

Because of this fact anything which fell into the river at that time would remain entirely covered by water and thus, because air would be kept from it, would not rot or decay. It is a fact that the guns, traps and axe were found within a few feet of each other indicating they probably entered the water at the same instant.

Man Lost Life
Because history records the difficult time the Hunt expedition had making this particular stretch of the river it is written that one of the group lost his life when a boat struck a huge rock and toppled over. Supplies including guns and traps were in the boat and as it went to the bottom, only a few items were recovered by the surviving members of the crew. The rest were covered by the water.

Thus it is reasonable to assume, because the swamping of the boat resulted in the death of one man, a historic fact, that the articles recovered by Stary were part of the lost equipment.

And again Stary found the articles near a huge boulder which, at high water in the river, would be covered but not exposed. In cause of a heavily laden boat to meet disaster should the boat strike it.

If the traps, guns and the axe were found in the same place, a part of the Hunt expedition equipment their weight would force them down to the bottom of the stream soon after they entered the water.

Adjournment of Congress Looms Saturday Night

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (UP)—The senate today voted $119,000,000 for crop loans to be made by the commodity credit corporation. The senate put the funds back into the year's final deficiency bill by vote of 60 to 1. The house had eliminated the money, bringing violent protests from Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace.

By RONALD G. VAN TINE
WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (UP)—A senate appropriations subcommittee restored a $119,000,000 farm fund to the third deficiency bill today. It sent the measure to the full committee with a request for the fastest action to expedite congressional adjournment.

The full committee and the senate were expected to accept the farm fund, which the house rejected earlier this week. It was believed the house would yield on the issue.

Prospective senate efforts to soften the WPA's wage and layoff policies loomed, however, as a cause of major dispute that made adjournment tonight most unlikely.

Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley of the senate, who had hoped to be able to quit tonight, still probably would not reach the capital until late Saturday at the earliest.

The appropriations subcommittee, which met this morning in an effort to dispose of the deficiency bill, the "last" measure—completed its work shortly after 1 a. m. The full committee prepared to meet immediately to act on the subcommittee's recommendations.

Subcommittee Chairman Alben W. Barkley, D., Colo., declined to discuss the bill with reporters, but it was learned that funds for the commodity credit corporation, which were stricken from the bill by the house, had been restored. The funds would replenish the corporation's capital.

Large Sum
As it came from the house, the measure included an extra $60,000,000 as compared with an original estimate of close to $120,000,000. Barkley said that the deficiency would probably have saved employers $65,000,000 a year.

Decline to Sign
It was understood that Sen. Connally and Mr. Harrison, D., Miss., declined to sign the conference report.

Chairman Robert L. Doughton, D., N. C., of the house ways and means committee said the house receded on three of the four amendments in dispute when the conference report was passed.

In addition to the McCormack amendment affecting state payroll taxes, the house yielded the senate on a measure making eligible to old age benefits next year persons who reached the age of 55 after Jan. 1 last and who could qualify for annuities.

The third amendment on which the house receded was a minor technical one.

Liberalizes Payments
Rep. Jerry Cooper, D., Tenn., estimated that the new law would save employers and workers under the act a total of $900,000,000 over a period of the next three years.

The bill liberalizes benefit payments by an estimated $1,800,000,000 over the next 15 years.

It increases from $15 to $20 the minimum amount the federal government will pay toward state old age pension on a dollar-for-dollar matching basis.

It advances two years the start of old age annuity payments. Persons covered by the social security act will begin receiving checks next January instead of having to wait until 1943.

PLAN SUBMITTED TO HALT STRIKE

DETROIT, Aug. 4 (UP)—

A plan for settling the strike at 12 General Motors plants, that has killed 8,000 men for a month, cost them almost $1,000,000 in wages and caused the company to suspend its employees' security program, will be submitted today to officials of the National Industrial Organizations' United Automobile Workers union.

James R. Dewey, federal labor relations director, said the plan had been drafted. He had just left a conference with representatives of the company and the union.

This would mean ordinarily it would be the company and the union would submit the plan to the federal government for approval. It would be submitted to the rank and file tomorrow.

Women, Girls Enjoy Outing at Penstamen

So successful was the two-day mother-daughter outing of Kimberly ward of the Latter Day Saints church this week at Penstamen camp, up Rock Creek canyon, that it will be made an annual event, according to leaders of the group.

Fifty-five women and girls left Kimberly Tuesday in time to reach the camp for an al fresco dinner at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon. They broke up camp and returned to Kimberly about 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

A highlight of the trip was the inspection of the CCC camp nearby. It was the first large group to be escorted over the CCC camp grounds. Supervisor Bernard told the women.

The tour of the camp Wednesday morning was in recognition of the good three shown a number of the New York and New Jersey enrolling the evening before.

Tuesday evening's activities, following a camp fire supper at 6:30 o'clock, included a taffy pull and a song fest around a mammoth bonfire.

Many of the CCC boys joined in the music, and the "Garden of the CCC camp," singing several songs in Italian, was the star performer of the evening. Another boy won sincere plaudits for his winning solos.

The educational and vocational advantages given the boys; the discipline and routine of camp life; and other items of interest, were explained to the women guests by Lieut. Anthony Quesada, second in command. Supervisor Bernard, Superintendent Ramage, and Mr. Vanorum, educational adviser.

Lunch guests Wednesday of the L. D. S. women were Mrs. Bernard and daughters and Mrs. Hodgson and son.

For those who had no objection for unusually early morning rising, a hike started off Wednesday's activities.

CARDINALS LOOM AS ONLY THREAT TO REDS

St. Louis Outfit Takes Two Titts From Boston Bees

(By GEORGE KIRKSEY)
NEW YORK, Aug. 4 (U.P.)—Even with talk of rebellion in their ranks, the St. Louis Cardinals remain the favorites of the press box to challenge the Cincinnati Reds for the National league pennant—that is, if any club is able to get within hailing distance of the men of McKechnie.

The Cards made hay while the sun shone yesterday by clicking off a double victory over the Boston Bees, 6-1 and 4-3, and trimmed the Reds, 4-3, in the third game of the double-header.

Pocatello Club Returns to First Place

(By United Press)

Pocatello Cardinals scooped back into first place in the Pioneer league today, having a three percentage point lead over Twin Falls.

The Cards defeated Ogden, 9 to 7, last night, while the Cowboys were idle.

Tom Rabello's sluggers got to Pitcher Orrell for 10 hits, getting most of them when they counted. The Reds gave Orrell ragged support, chalking up six errors. Bees, Pocatello hurler, was in hot water most of the evening, and his team was being by one run in the ninth.

A hot-minute two-run rally enabled him to register his 10th victory in the 10th inning.

In the only other game, Boise Pilots made it two out of three from the Salt Lake Bees, 8 to 6. Pocatello had the Pilots well in hand, and enjoyed a 4 to lead until the seventh, when the home club pushed across six runs. In that inning, Manager Andy Harrington tripled with the bases loaded. Mentez pitched fairly good ball after a bad first inning, in which he was found for three runs.

New series, starting today, finds Lewiston at Salt Lake, Boise at Pocatello, and Twin Falls at Ogden.

QUAKERS AIDING FLEEING GERMANS

WEST BRANCH, Ia., Aug. 4.—Quakers are lending a helping hand to refugees from Germany.

In an abandoned boarding school not far from the birthplace of former President Herbert Hoover, they have established a hostel to accommodate between 30 and 40 guests.

Five Nazi refugees are already here and are helping conditionally to help for arrival of other guests. None of the five previously met.

The initial group includes Kurt Roedel, 34, of Berlin, 24, of Vienna; Karl Giam, 26, of Czechoslovakia; Kurt Schaefer, 34, Berlin; and George Lurie, 28, of Germany.

J. J. Nevill, Grimsby, Ia., chairman of the Iowa branch of the American Friends Service, said everything would be in good order when other refugees arrive.

"We want to have everything ready; everything that they will need for comfort and happiness," he said. Nevill pointed out that the guests at the house would be trained in American ways and as soon as they were ready for absorption in normal life other refugees would move into the house to take their place.

An old-fashioned "housewarming" will be held for the guests after the entire group arrives.

The five who first arrived at the home apparently enjoyed their new mode of living. They attended Quaker church services and were guests in Quaker homes in this vicinity.

Reich Business Moves To U. S. With Refugees

By MADELIN BLITZSTEIN (News Service)

PHILADELPHIA—A German who used to own a shirt factory in Germany and sell his product to South America has emigrated to this country, has opened a factory and is employing American labor.

Practically all our harmonicas and accordions used to come from Germany; now a refugee has set up a shop for the making of these instruments and he employs American workers.

A certain German firm used to send fine woolen hose to this country. Now the three members of that firm, refugees, have re-established it in Massachusetts where they are employing 39 American workers to manufacture the same type of goods.

Still another refugee brought with him from Germany a patented process used in the manufacture of gloves; the business he established here is doing an annual business of $100,000.

Wants Public to Know
These are just a few of the facts on refugees revealed by the American Friends Service Committee (Quakers), who are doing yeoman service in helping refugees from Germany and Italy.

Clarence E. Pickett, executive secretary of the Friends, and winner of this year's Rorabach award for his "Private Service Committee" work, is particularly anxious that the public at large be apprised of the true facts about refugees, to counteract unfavorable publicity and false rumors.

"Consider the following summary of the refugee problem," explains Pickett. "Every refugee is a consumer. He eats; he wears clothes; he requires a place to live. Every immigrant who comes to this country is as much a consumer as anyone else, and his wants have to be supplied by American business and industry."

"In this sense the refugees are actually providing work for American labor. This is especially true of the women of children among the refugees. Perhaps about a third of them will become wage earners. This number must be reduced still further, however. Many of the refugees are intellectuals—writers, scientists, scholars. They will help to make the American culture more of the modern world by their presence here."

"The larger proportion of them are of course working businessmen and manufacturers. Of these individuals there will be quite a few who will bring to our country new businesses and skills which we have lacked."

Taxation Legality Worries Idaho Statehouse Occupants

DISTRIBUTION OF GAS TAX CAUSES TAYLOR CONCERN

By MURRAY M. MOLE

BOISE, Aug. 4 (UP)—Monetary matters are worrying the statehouse occupants this week with the workability of two 1939 laws involving distribution of $2,000,000 this fiscal year under fire and probably in need of special legislative action or supreme court interpretation.

The problems:

1. The ad valorem levy that is supposed to raise $1,000,000 this year for the school fund to replace monies formerly gained from store, mine, beer and liquor taxes. The constitutionality of this law has been questioned by Atty.-Gen. J. W. Taylor.
2. The law providing distribution of $1,000,000 to counties from a one-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax, placed to make up for losses incurred by introduction of the flat $5 license fee. About half this money has been sent but there is a wide difference of opinion on who is to have the final say-so.

Funds May Be Short

Just how things are with the depleted school fund was illustrated when Comptroller Dan Callahan told the state board of education there may not be enough funds in the general fund to meet the $500,000 payment due Sept. 30.

The board declined to take action in the matter, rejecting Callahan's suggestion that collection be deferred until after Dec. 1, when money from the special ad valorem school support tax will come in.

The catch is that the legislature deflected store, mine, liquor and beer tax revenue from the school to the general fund, provided a payment of the half million for the end of September and then forgot to put an emergency clause on the ad valorem tax. Thus instead of collections starting with the July 1 fiscal year, they start in December.

Observers say a special, early fall legislature could remedy this.

Mails Checked

On the gas tax, the state board of examiners took a look at the disturbance and left hands off. State Auditor Calvin E. Wright then went over the mailed checks for $450,000 to the counties.

Here is the mixup: The money, although spent by the counties, is state money. The constitution provides the board of examiners shall pass on all bills dealing with state expenditures. Although there has been no formal ruling yet, the consensus of opinion is that the expenditures of the counties out of the fund must in turn be looked over by the state board.

Taylor has entered the picture prominently in both tangles. He filed suit questioning the constitutionality of the gas tax law but the supreme court upheld the act.

Now he has pointed out possible illegalities in the school fund bill.

In the first place, he said, the act providing the ad valorem tax shall be paid with other taxes, despite constitutional provision for acts to deal with only one subject.

See Violation

Then he pointed out that there is a strong legal possibility that the constitution was violated when the legislature passed amendments to the bill before it became law.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction John W. Connor, meanwhile, declared that revenues from the state for support of the schools during the next year will be about $300,000 less than for the last year.

"This shortage will have to be picked up by the county school funds," Connor said. "These will contribute about $1,930,000 to the support of the minimum program in the 1939-40 year, compared with $1,430,000 for the 1938-39 year. County levies will not only increase but the increase will fall heaviest on counties of low valuation in comparison with the number of children to be educated."

FREE TRIP FOR RULES OBSERVER

LEWISTON, Id., Aug. 4 (UP)—A free trip to the December annual convention of the Eastern Oregon wheat league will be awarded a representative of the county in Idaho with the best record of compliance with its 1939 wheat acreage allotment.

Manager John W. Shepard of the Lewiston Grain Growers' association announced today.

Shepard said "we feel that wheat growers all over the nation realize the need for studying, discussing through some such cooperative means as the AAA allotment system now is giving us."

Other similar organizations throughout the country will also award free trips to the convention. That means representatives of wheat growers from all over the nation will get together to talk over problems which affect our industry," Shepard said. "We think a great deal of good may come from such a conference."

Turned to Use

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—A construction blunder will be turned into a recreation center for New Orleans' youth. The city purchased an immense unused street (travel garage from the Public Storage, Inc. The site will be made into a huge skating rink and playground, one of the largest in the United States.

HOTEL MEN MEET

MONTREAL (UP)—"Hoteliers' union to the community—a service to the public" will be the keynote of the seven-day convention of the American Hotel association of the United States and Canada convention which will be held in Montreal from Oct. 8-14.

DESPERADO FAILS IN ESCAPE LEAP

SANTA BARBARA, Calif., Aug. 4 (UP)—James O'Connell, fugitive desperado who escaped from a moving train at Santa Barbara, failed through a window, was captured today by Santa Barbara police.

He was apprehended only a block and a half from the place where he made his leap last night. A posse of 120 officers had surrounded the northern section of the city.

O'Connell was unarmed except for a cardboard replica of a gun which he had stuck in his belt. He survived without a scratch, a struggle, snarling at officers, "You'd never have got me if I had a gun."

He was taken to city jail and booked temporarily as a fugitive prisoner.

Aside from a few minor cuts, O'Connell apparently was unharmed as a result of his leaping through a double glass window of the train after he had tossed his coat over Inspector Marshall's head.

O'Connell, 33-year-old robber and burglar, was being returned from Texas to Oakland to face trial for a spate of holdups and kidnappings he allegedly committed after he fled a San Quentin road camp in June. He had been sentenced for a series of Los Angeles crimes for which he was to serve virtually the rest of his life.

Wheat Forecast Reported Higher

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (UP)—An average private estimate of the U. S. wheat crop released Thursday was raised 2,000,000 bushels to 712,000,000 bushels today when an error was discovered in one of the reports.

C. E. Galvin said his forecast of winter wheat yields in Idaho was based on 1,220,000 bushels instead of 12,200,000 bushels. This raised his figure on winter wheat from 323,000,000 to 335,000,000 bushels with a consequent boost in the average.
