

PEACE MOVES MAY CURB EUROPEAN CLASH

GERMANY, RUSSIA SIGN NEW TRADE PACT WITH LOAN

MOSCOW, Aug. 21 (UP)—A new Russian-German trade agreement may prove a substantial step for further improvement not only of economic but also of political relations between the Soviet Union and Germany, the newspaper Pravda, official organ of the Communist party, said today.

"It can be safely said that the new agreement is a turning point in the business relations of the two countries," said Ivestia, official newspaper organ of the government.

Announcement of the Russian-German agreement came at a time when it had been admitted that differences had arisen in the negotiations with Russia by Britain and French military missions for an anti-aggression military alliance.

Negotiations resumed between the British and French military missions, in recess during the week-end pending receipt by them of fresh instructions, were resumed today.

Initially, the trade agreement was important enough, involving an $80,000,000 credit by Germany to Russia and purchase by Russia of $75,000,000 of German goods.

The terms of the two official newspapers, however, gave it even additional moment.

Pravda reviewed at length the history of negotiations for the trade agreement and said in conclusion:

Believes War Atmosphere

"The new trade and credit agreement between the Soviet Union and Germany, born in an atmosphere of tense political conditions, is called upon to relieve this atmosphere. It may prove a substantial step for further improvement not only of economic but also of political relations between the Soviet Union and Germany."

Ivestia said in part:

"It should be noted that in course of prolonged negotiations there arose a number of difficulties which were due chiefly to the tense atmosphere between Germany and the Soviet Union."

Neither side was willing to make concessions which would mean a weakening of its position.

"Nevertheless negotiations were successfully concluded since both sides displayed sufficient willingness to improve their trade relations it was this striving that helped to solve all difficulties."

The trade and credit agreement may undoubtedly substantially even the exchange of commodities between the two countries.

As regards the new agreement, it said the German government undertakes to assist Russian trade delegates in placing orders in the German market with individual firms. As it is possible that Russia may pay for some of the goods purchased, Ivestia said, the grant of a credit by Germany becomes in a way a financial credit rather than a trade one.

At Battle of Bund Quiz

Routine questioning nearly turned to violence as Dies committee on un-American activities opened Washington summer session. Rep. Joe Starnes of Alabama, left, asked Fritz Kuhn if purpose of his German-American Bund was to establish Nazi government in America. "That's a lie," roared Kuhn, as shown at right. Starnes leaped to his feet, advanced. "You can't call me a liar!" he bellowed. But reporters, other committee members cooled them off.

Bored or weary? It's none other than Rep. Martin Dies, chairman of house committee on un-American activities, during questioning of Fritz Kuhn, leader of German-American Bund.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (UP)—Rep. Martin Dies, chairman of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, today opened his Washington summer session by questioning Fritz Kuhn, leader of the German-American Bund.

Kuhn, a German-born American, was asked if the purpose of his organization was to establish a Nazi government in America. Kuhn, who was seated at a table, roared "That's a lie!" and leaped to his feet, advancing toward Dies.

Dies, who was seated at the head of the table, leaped to his feet and bellowed "You can't call me a liar!" Kuhn, who was now standing, bellowed back "You can't call me a liar!" and the two men were surrounded by reporters and other committee members who tried to cool them off.

DAIRYMEN OFFER DIRECT DELIVERY FOR CONSUMERS

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (UP)—The dairy farmers union offered today to supply consumers directly with milk for the duration of the New York milk strike which has cut the metropolitan area's supply almost in half.

The offer was made by Archie Wright, president of the union, just before he went into conference at the world's fair city hall with Mayor F. H. LaGuardia and all groups involved in the milk tieup, which has caused clashes between pickets and police.

The city's milk supply today was reported at about half the normal 4,000,000 quart requirement. Many sections of the city were virtually without milk after the first few hours of business when shoppers thronged neighborhood stores to get their supplies early. Hundreds of retailers had adopted a policy of selling only to their regular customers. Some instances of price hiking were reported. One dealer was said to be charging 11 cents a pint for grade A milk, nearly twice the normal figure.

Oslo Powers, Pope Pius Start Negotiations for Halting "World" War

Success Nearer for Salvagers

Oslo, Norway, Aug. 21 (UP)—The Oslo powers, so called because they entered into a neutrality pact at Oslo, Norway, decided to appeal to the great powers to reach settlement and avoid bringing on a conflict which would bring suffering not only on their own peoples but on those of smaller countries not directly involved in their quarrels.

The foreign ministers of the Oslo powers—Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, The Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg—were invited by King Leopold of the Belgians to meet in Brussels on Wednesday and draft an appeal.

While the military importance of the seven powers is negligible, their stand is not without significance. During the World War, the neutrals were the life line for Germany cut from the great agricultural and mineral resources of Scandinavia and Central Europe.

The peace move followed one from Rome, said Pope Pius XII, issued a strong plea for peace on Saturday and was understood to have been a special envoy to Warsaw to discuss the possibility of mediation in the Polish dispute.

Still another move was reported at Bucharest, Rumania, where a reliable informant said the visit last week of Count Stephen Poni, Rumanian foreign minister to Germany and Italy were more in the nature of an attempt to mediate between Berlin and Rome than a serious effort by Rome and Berlin to force Hungary into the axis for war.

The other side of the picture, Britain and France were fully on the alert for trouble. It was announced in London that British troops would be placed around strategic harbors on the coast. The nature of the "obstructions" was not stated but a few days ago a mine bearing this year's date was washed up on the Ayrshire coast.

Booms to obstruct submarines were visible even in Scotland at important British ports.

France called Caspell.

The cabinet of both Britain and France were called into session for tomorrow to consider the situation. The French in addition called a full council of ministers for Thursday.

President Albert Lebrun is interrupting his vacation for the Thursday session. French foreign secretary, Paul Reynaud, and Viscount Halifax, British foreign secretary, returned to London ahead of time from their vacation.

Troop movements on both sides of the Polish border increased, according to reports from British and French fronts, and was understood to have moved almost all its forces from the eastern border facing Russia.

PATROL HIGHWAYS

UTICA, N. Y., Aug. 21 (UP)—State troopers and deputy sheriffs patrolled highways throughout upper New York state today to prevent milk dumping and to curb clashes between striking milk producers and non-unionists.

At Hammond, 15 state police fought 1,500 pickets yesterday in a riot that began when a kerosene-filled bottle was hurled against the head of a trooper. Five strikers were arrested and later freed on bail. Hundreds of gallons of milk were dumped, dairymen burned tires, kerosene, and police wore steel helmets.

State police said a deputy sheriff injured at Heuvelton was beaten by pickets. Ten troopers were placed on duty there after two pickets were injured in rioting.

Bandit Gets $175 in Armed Robbery Here

Local police and sheriff's officers today were cooperating in an extensive search for an armed man who Sunday night held up H. R. Pettijohn, owner of the Pettijohn Drive-In market at 635 Main avenue east, and escaped with approximately $175 in cash.

The stickup occurred at about 8:45, Pettijohn told police, and the man's loot consisted of $125 in currency as well as 40 or 50 silver dollars. He did not take any small change.

According to Mrs. Pettijohn, her husband and son Bill were in the front of the store at the time the man entered. He stood around a few minutes until some customers had left and then asked for a package of cigarettes. As Mr. Pettijohn opened the cash drawer to hand the man his change he pulled out a gun and said "dash it out."

In fear of harm to her husband and son, Mrs. Pettijohn told police, she went to the back of the store to get a package of cigarettes. She returned to find the man standing in the front of the store, holding a gun and saying "dash it out."

The man, police were informed, carried a small blue steel revolver, probably a .32 He was from 30 to 35 years of age, five feet five inches tall and weighing about 135 pounds. His complexion was medium dark and he had a very serious expression. He wore a dark, dirty cap, a brownish tan shirt, green pants and dark shoes. He wore a direct and was baggy and appeared to be too big for him. It is possible that it contained pin stripes.

Raver will assume his duties on Sept. 15, relieving acting Administrator Frank A. Banks. Banks has served as temporary administrator since May 4 shortly after the death of J. D. Henry Horner of Illinois for "releasing" Dr. Raver who is especially well qualified as a result of his long and brilliant record to do the important job of administering the project.

Raver was born at Logansport, Ind., on August 1, 1904. He was graduated in civil engineering from the University of Nebraska in 1927. He received a degree of master of science in engineering from Northwestern University in 1932 and a degree of doctor of philosophy from the same school in 1933.

The hearing was conducted in secrecy, but unofficial reports indicated the company was seeking to strengthen its claim that the wreck was the result of a defective boiler.

Among those testifying yesterday was Herschel D. Smyth, member of the coroner's jury which ruled the cause of the disaster a few hours after the wreck and fixed the blame on saboteurs. The hearing also brought in photographers who were present shortly after the train piled up at the Humboldt river bridge.

WHEELER DOUBTS FOR THIRD TERM

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 21 (UP)—Burton K. Wheeler, veteran Republican presidential candidate, today said he doubted he would seek a third term and added he thought it would be a mistake for him to do so.

"If he becomes a candidate," Wheeler said, "the most outstanding issue would be the third term." He said Mr. Roosevelt could have his party's nomination if he sought it, but that he was not nominated and elected in 1936 was "a repetition of the Democratic party of Mr. Roosevelt himself and everything he has accomplished."

Wheeler said the Democratic party next year are "reactionaries" who would undo the party's record.

"I have not the slightest desire to pose in any manner in my official department," she said heatedly. And she put the badly disappointed photographer off the train.

Six Die When Fishing Party Boat Capsizes

RYE BEACH, N. Y., Aug. 21 (UP)—A tragedy which overlooked a Sunday deep-sea fishing party was revealed here today when six bodies were washed ashore on a rocky strand within sight of the submarine Squid salvage scene.

The victims, five men and a girl, had put out from Dover Point, five miles north of Port Jervis, at 8:30 a. m. yesterday to fish far out at sea and to visit the salvage scene four miles off this beach.

Heavy seas kicked up by a 9-mile gale apparently swamped their craft, the 26-foot cabin cruiser L-206, coast guards said.

Though coast guards, who discovered the bodies, said there were five men and a girl, relatives of the victims believed the party included four men and two girls. They said the Maersk Kildy and Corine Cutler of Newmarket, N.Y., were to have gone with the party.

The dead men were said to be Ralph Pryor of Dover, Clarence Yeaton, a neighbor, two Newmarket men and another man.

STAR LOUISIANA OIL SCANDAL WITNESS COMMITS SUICIDE

PROBE DEEPENS AS G-MEN ENTER SOUTHERN CASES

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 21 (U.P.)—Federal agents intensified their investigation of the Louisiana oil scandal today following the suicide of Dr. J. A. Shaw, state official charged with conserving the state's oil resources.

The federal grand jury was meeting again today and it was widely reported in political quarters it would hand down more indictments. It already has indicted former Governor Richard Leche and Seymour Weiss, two of the three men to whom the late Huey P. Long willed his empire.

"Hot Oil" Case
Shaw was concerned only with the "hot oil" phase of the federal investigations which have convulsed the state. He was castigated by a federal judge in Dallas on Thursday for his part in an arrangement whereby hundreds of thousands of gallons of Louisiana oil entered interstate commerce illegally. Returning to Louisiana, he was involved in an automobile accident on Saturday and last night, in his home here, he fired a bullet through his brain.

It was the second suicide among workers in the Long political fields. On Aug. 16, George Heidelberg, national youth administrator at Louisiana State university and husband of Dr. James Monroe Smith's private secretary, killed himself. Dr. Smith is the much indicted former president of LSU who is charged with having embezzled hundreds of thousands of dollars of university funds.

More FBI Men
Already scores of federal agents were at work in Louisiana, but seven more came in this week to intensify the federal investigations. Five were agents of the Internal Revenue bureau. They were working on income tax cases. The other two were postal inspectors.

Assistant U. S. Attorney-General O. John Rogge, whose star witness Shaw was to have been in the prosecution of Leche and Weiss, was interested in his suicide, but made no comment.

Leche and Weiss were indicted with Freeman W. Burford, millionaire Texas oil man, on charges of conspiring to violate the federal hot oil law.

Former Apple Peddler Leaves Estate Valued at Half Million

CHICAGO, Aug. 21 (U.P.)—A battered traveling bag left by a man who died apparently penniless in a "loophole" hotel put authorities today on the trail of a half million dollar estate hidden in half a dozen cities under as many aliases by a former railroad station apple peddler.

Jack Rubens, chief investigator for the Chicago public administrator's office, discovered evidence of the estate in the bag which was the only property held in the real name of the deceased—Frederick D. Michaels.

Michals died in a loop hotel last December at 76. The bag contained a will bequeathing his estate to a grand-nephew, Frederick D. Michaels of Greenvboro, N. C.

Rubens wrote the nephew but told him there was no estate to inherit. Young Michaels replied Rubens was wrong and predicted, "You're going to find a lot of money."

Further correspondence brought Rubens a list of aliases which young Michaels said his uncle used "because his brother was suing him." He submitted the names of Daniel Bartok, Robert S. Radford, Frederick Dalton, Nathaniel Bartok and M. D. Federick.

Rubens found Daniel Bartok and Robert S. Radford living at South Bend, Ind., and evidence that Michaels had used their names with forged credentials. He wrote 500 letters to banks in cities Michaels was known to have visited. Today he recapitulated his findings.

He included: A $25,000 account with a Chicago brokerage firm. A $5,000 bank account at Seattle. Evidence of between $75,000 and $100,000 worth of real estate holdings in North Carolina and Los Angeles suburbs.

Old Settlers' Contributions to Idaho Recalled at Annual Picnic

By MRS. RUPERT WILLIAMSON
Times Correspondent, Filer

Annually the first homemakers of Twin Falls county and surrounding territory assemble to recall their "trail-blazing" days of yesterday, and to renew friendships. Sunday more than 300 of the Old Settlers, as they call themselves, gathered at the Twin Falls county fairgrounds, Filer, for a no-host picnic dinner.

The up-to-date automobiles fairgrounds were in marked buggies which were their means of transportation when they first came to Idaho. Some of them came to Twin Falls county on the first train to enter the tract.

All officers were re-elected during the business session as follows: President, J. L. Barnes, Hansen; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. O. J. Childs, Filer; first vice-president, Mrs. Lucy Stricker, Rock Creek; second vice-president, Francis Johnson, Murtaugh; third vice-president, Ray Overbaugh, Buhl; fourth vice-president, Mrs. J. M. Pierce, Berger, and fifth vice-president, I. W. Oeger, Caldwell.

Empty Spirit of '98
Among some of the oldest settlers at the picnic were Mr. and Mrs. John Blase who came here to establish their home in 1898, when they lived for a time in a three-room dugout near Snake river where Mr. Blase mined for coal. Most of his children were made from willows with canvas seats. Later when her house was constructed, furniture was shipped from her former home.

Mrs. Blase used her lovely rug for wall partitions and also papered some of the outer walls with newspapers which at that time were more precious than our wallpaper of modern times. Most of her children were made from willows with canvas seats. Later when her house was constructed, furniture was shipped from her former home.

Mrs. Blase, besides being housekeeper, mother, community nurse and dairy, carried the mail three times a week across the Snake river by boat to Clear Lake where it was picked up by a horseback rider and taken to Blagden, the nearest town on the west. Rattlesnakes were so numerous that Mrs. Blase many times had to hide under her bed at night before entering her home.

Many good times were enjoyed, especially in the winter when the country was covered with snow. With the cattle, dances were held weekly which was the center of social activity. People came by horseback and on foot. Immediately after supper, dancing to a two or three piece violin orchestra until midnight when it was time to go home and milk the cows.

During the winter of 1898 the weather was so cold that Snake river was completely frozen over and cattle froze to death by the hundreds.

A large celebration in the form of a barbecue was held at the Perrine hotel when the first train came to Twin Falls in 1906. Everyone from far and near, totaling about 300, came. On this train were many of the wives of the pioneers and their families who came out to join their husbands. Among those at the picnic who said they were on that train were Mrs. P. J. Costello, Twin Falls, and Mrs. W. F. Shinn, Filer.

Among First Juniors
John Day and John Blase were the only two living who were among the first men to serve on the jury at Twin Falls. Mr. Day said he was the first to really walk down what is now the main street of Twin Falls, which was nothing but sage brush then, as he carried the chain with which they were surveying the town site. John Hayes, L. Rickell and Mr. Kierstead were engineers who planned the town of Twin Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Tarr are two of the most charming old settlers of Twin Falls, who came to Rock Creek, which was at that time a leading town, driving a wagon with four team horses hitched to it, and bringing their six children and all their possessions. In 1904 they arrived, establishing the first mercantile store. A few other people who were already living in the vicinity were so thrilled over a place to buy supplies, and recalled at the picnic how excited they were, seeing the Tarrs arriving.

The first Christmas tree used as a community one was an eight-foot sage brush and placed in the center of the town by Mr. Tarr. Needless to say, a large celebration followed, with presents for all.

About this time the little community was saddened by the first death. Mrs. Ward Cager and baby died. Since no doctor or undertaker were available, Mr. and Mrs. Tarr, Mrs. Hoops and some others had to prepare and bury the two bodies as best they could.

Take Over Mail
At first the only postoffice was a restaurant. The mail was merely brought in and dumped on the counter of the saloon. The saloon owner was scrambling for his own mail, under an Arbuckle coffee box was used as a mailbox until Mrs. R. O. Milner served as the first post mistress. She was introduced by the preiding officer, J. L. Barnes.

End bothered some, especially during the hunting season. Bands of them would come a month or so earlier in order to fatten their horses and then come to the outfitman for their cattle in the winter. Mrs. Mary T. Norton told of old Indian Mary who served as a postmistress for many of the settlers along Rock Creek in 1898, making the clothing Indian fashion, and making it on rods and in the fire. She served people foods for wages, and churches were established.

Fidelity Class Entertains at Overnight Camp

Pitching camp over-night; cooking meals over camp fires, and climbing mountains, hiking or just relaxing, such was the recreational program of the members of the Fidelity class of the Methodist church when they and their families attended the annual over-night outing last week-end.

Late Saturday afternoon, the celebrants departed, "bag and baggage" for a picture camp site up Rock Creek canyon. Steaks and wieners were cooked over camp fires for the community evening meal, after the tents and portable auto trailers had been set up.

A song fest around a mammoth bonfire, with Dr. Orrin Fuller playing the cornet accompaniment, brought to a finale the Saturday evening's entertainment.

Sunday morning after breakfast, the group scattered, some to climb mountains, others to hike over the canyon paths, and others to rest beneath the shade of the aspen and pine trees.

Lunch was served in pot-luck fashion, and just before the party assembled for the break-up of camp and the return to Twin Falls, watermelons were served as a farewell treat.

Committee members on arrangements were Dr. and Mrs. Orrin Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Joell and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Parker.

READING GIVEN AT RIVERTOWN MEET
Mrs. Luella Combs and Mrs. Bernice McKillip were in charge of the program presented last week at a meeting of the Rivertown Social club.

Mrs. Hazel Weller and Mrs. Blanche Hamilton were hostesses at the P. H. Weller home. A short business session preceded a program of readings by Mrs. Anna Quisenberry, Mrs. Luella Combs and Mrs. McKillip.

Mrs. Lois Pyke, Kimberly; Mrs. Lillian Miller and Mrs. Minnetta Modlin, Twin Falls, were guests. Whetters members were also present. Refreshments were served.

Pioneer Contributions
The pioneers of this locality made three important contributions to civilization. J. C. Werner, founder of the faculty of Albion State Normal school, told the pioneers.

"The men who dared to bring their families out here and to establish homes, gave the world a new outlet, opening up a great expanse of land west of the Mississippi river."

"Their second contribution is the democracy which comes from reaping from the land a livelihood."

"And their third gift is a wholesome philosophy of life."

He called attention to the fact that pioneering is not over, and added that there are still many new fields for young America to explore in the way of agriculture, science, education and politics, as well as other fields.

The meeting was closed with a trio musical by Rheta DeVries, Alfred and Leo Laid, all of Twin Falls.

Climbing Cardinals. Defeat Reds Twice to Slice Lead

Mize Leads Teammates to Two Important Victories

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (UP)—The big mace of Johnny Mize today was beating a pennant tom-tom for the Red Birds—the unwanted Cardinals of St. Louis.

A month ago there was a hue and cry about moving the Cardinals away from St. Louis. The club wasn't drawing and the situation seemed hopeless. Today the Cards were only 3½ games behind the league-leading Reds and closing in fast.

Mize, the National league batting leader, who was turned down by the Reds in 1935, struck the vital blow Sunday as the Red Birds trounced Cincinnati 7-1 and 5-3. It was St. Louis' 18th victory in 21 games, and their 7th straight, barring a tie.

Reds' Infield Explodes
After the Reds' infield had exploded and tossed the first game to the Cards, Mize personally excited the Red Birds to triumph in the nightcap with two homers—his third and 22nd. Altogether, the Georgia League-leader Mize and his teammates bludgeoned six of his team's seven runs.

With the first game scored tied, 1-1, in the eighth and Buck Walters and Bob Wetland locked in a hurling duel, the Red infield blew sky high. McCormick played on an attempt at a trick double play, and Bill Werber was late in covering third on a force play. The Cards made four runs.

In the nightcap, Mize hit his first homer with two men on base off the White Sox, and the third then with the score tied, 5-5, he hit his second off Lefty Grisham with Blougher, who had scored, on base.

Move to East
Both contenders moved into the east today, the Reds opening in Philadelphia and the Cards in Brooklyn. The Reds have lost 11 of their last 20 games.

Pittsburgh finally broke its losing streak after setting the year's record with 12 straight. The Cubs handed the Pirates setback No. 12 in the opener, 9-5. In the six-inning nightcap the Pirates won, 3-0.

The Giants and Phillies split, with New York winning the opener, 8-4, on 15 hits and the Phils taking the nightcap, 3-2.

It was lit for lit in the American league with the leading Yankees and Red Sox each dividing twin bills. The Athletics beat the Yankees, 5-4, but the Bronx Bombers won the second game, 6-1.

Leonard Wins
Dutch Leonard scored his 14th victory as he pitched Washington to a 2-0 victory over Boston in the opener. The Red Sox won the nightcap, 10-3.

Eric McNair's single with two out and two on in the 10th scored the two runs which enabled the White Sox to beat the Indians, 6-5, for their seventh straight win. Vernon Kennedy outpitched Buck Newcom to give the Browns a 6-2 win over the Tigers.

Chicago Ace Wins Tennis Crown

Boisean Defeats Idaho Golf Champ
McCALLI, Ida., Aug. 21 (UP)—Walter Smith, Boise, made a successful defense of his McCalli amateur golf title when he defeated Bill Hayhouse, Idaho amateur champion, one up in a close final match Sunday.

Smith led throughout the match until the 17th hole when they were all even. Smith took the eighteenth and the match.

Mac Lists Choice Group of Alibis Used By World's Tennis Greats

By HENRY McLEMORE
CHESTNUT HILL, Mass., Aug. 21 (UP)—The alibi is part of the tennis player's life, just as the carburetor is of an automobile and buck teeth of a beaver. It is required quickly that many students better tennis players are born with alibi, just as they are born with ears, legs and the ability to pad expensive accounts.

The alibi is noticeable in a tennis player long before he develops a forehand or a backhand or a serve. When a tennis player is barely able to knock a ball over the net he is capable of telling all concerned that he is no good and so withdrawing himself or whole team from the straight sets.

Every time he becomes a tennis teacher, which was long ago when party champions were yards and yards of skirt and did their hair in pompous style, Mace has been a devoted collector of tennis alibis.

One by one through the years, he has added to his collection until today there isn't one in the world that can match it.

Mr. Maclear let me study his collection yesterday and it was a treat. There, in black and white, prefaced for all time, were the alibis of the great, the near-great, the average, and the sub-normal tennis players of all time. Some of them I had heard, some I hadn't heard. I won't try to list them all to you because this is not a continuing serial, but I would like to set down the most common. Here they are:

At too much. Did not eat enough. Drank too much water. It was too hot. It was too cold. No sleep night before. It was too windy. Broke favorite racket. Riffles too loose. Strikes too tight. Needed new balls. Balls too light. Balls too heavy. Ball boys no good. Official was blind. Official was prejudiced. Lineamen no good. But laid in eyes. Played too early. Played too late. Didn't practice enough. Practice kept waiting for opponent. Net was too high. Net was too low. Opponent got all the breaks.

Not used to (a) grass court (b) clay court. Gallery was unimportant.

Got cramp in (a) leg (b) arm, ankle, shoulder, back, hurt, heart, gut, dizziness. Pulled a muscle. Blister on hand, foot. Too keyed up. Needed a rest, vigor. Hair kept falling in eyes. People moved and talked too much. Annoyed by match on next court. Didn't like doubles partner. Wanted to get out of tournament and go home. Played too many rounds in one day. Shorter were too short. Too windy. Riffles shoulder straps. Made nervous by family. Mental worries. Should have been three of five sets instead of two of three. Over confidence. Opponent was terrible. Can't understand it.

BUILDING BOUGHT BY STORE CHAIN

Purchase of the Boyd building in downtown Twin Falls, by the J. J. Newberry company at a reported price of $110,000, had been announced here today.

Fact that the purchase had been announced was learned Saturday through Truman O. Boyd, Jr., who has returned to his home in Los Angeles after completing the transaction. The Newberry company operates a chain of 5-10-15 and 25 cent stores on a nationwide scale. Whether or not they would establish one here was not learned although observers could see no other reason for the firm buying the structure.

At the present time the ground floor of the building, which was constructed in 1906, is occupied by Kingsbury's drug store, the Hudson-Clark shoe company and the Town Tavern. Another space, formerly occupied by Buhler's Grill, is vacant. Business offices are on the second floor.

The building was the property of Mr. Boyd, Jr. and T. O. Boyd, Inc. The elder Boyd died last month. Mr. Boyd would not state the exact price involved but he did not deny rumors that $110,000 had been paid for the structure, mostly in cash.

The Public Forum

BETTER LAWNS AND WET SIDEWALKS

Editor, Evening Times: After reading Mr. G. P. Adams' Forum article today I feel that a few comments are in order regardless of whose foot the shoe may pinch. There are but two general classes of citizens in Twin Falls whether they be tenants or property owners:

1. Those having civic pride.
2. Those who have absolutely none.

If Mr. Adams will walk around the streets of our city, (and I suggest that he walk in the middle of the street so that he will be in no danger from lawn sprinklers), he will notice that some homes have well kept lawns and terraces while others allow their terrace to become a weed patch and their lawn a broad expanse of bare ground decorated here and there by a few struggling dandelions.

I know from experience that in order to maintain a good looking lawn and terrace it is necessary to water the edges as much or more than in the centers and that it is next to impossible to water the edges without watering the sidewalks also.

I really feel sorry for those of Mr. Adams' ilk who, under the guise of resentment to encroachments of their personal rights and privileges, find that they cannot without humiliating themselves step out into the street or cross over to the opposite side if necessary in order to avoid walking through someone's lawn spray.

Any right thinking person would gladly make this small sacrifice as a token of appreciation for the civic minded citizen who is conscientious in trying to beautify his premises.

It might be well if all those who feel as Mr. Adams does in this matter were to get a good soaking from someone's lawn spray. This might possibly loosen the barnacles with which they are apparently encrusted.

Yours for better lawns and wet sidewalks if and when necessary.

CAT STALKS RATTLESNAKE
UKIAH, Calif. (AP)—The family cat of Surveyor Raymond J. Pearl has been elevated to the rank of the bird-dog peerage on the strength of its performance in a crisis. Pearl discovered a rattlesnake curled up on his porch with the cat about a foot away. Pearl dashed to the rear of the house for a shovel while the cat in the meantime, taking up bird-dog tactics, stalked the snake until Pearl could get back and give the "coup de grace."

Wanted: Expert Spud Pickers to Assist Governors

SUN VALLEY, Aug. 21 (Special).—Wanted: Two champion spud pickers who will donate their services as trainers to two state governors as they set up training camps at Sun Valley Sept. 18 and 19 preparatory to the waterweight east-west spud championship scheduled at Blackfoot, Ida., Sept. 21. Defending champion from the east will be Gov. Lewis O. Barrows of Maine; challenger from the west will be Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen of Idaho who vows to recover this title lost in 1938 in Maine by former Gov. Barry W. Clark. The hitch in the whole thing comes from the unavoidable fact that neither governor has too much background in the sport in question. Though Barrows defeated Clark last year, it was reported to be a match that any Idaho farm boy would consider no great shakes for performance. Bottolfsen, however, looks to be in great shape and may give the defender some unlooked for feinting and footwork. The management of Sun Valley will take all applications for training jobs providing such are accompanied by proper credentials. Trainees will also be expected to act as sparring partners. For the sake of both contestants, all workouts will be secret.

Wages, Not Hour, Provision Covers Beet Plant Work

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP).—Wage-hour Deputy Administrator Paul Sifton said today that workers processing beet sugar are exempted from the hours provision but not the minimum wage section of the wages and hours act. Sifton's assertion followed an earlier announcement in which he had been quoted as saying that both the wages and the hours sections applied to workers employed in the processing of sugar beets.
