GERMANY BLOCKADED

1,400 Passengers Aboard Torpedoed Ship Are Rescued

By WEBB MILLER

LONDON, Sept. 4 (UP)—The British government today announced the rescue of approximately 1,400 persons aboard the torpedoed liner Athenia, including 314 Americans, except those killed by the explosion, and denounced the attack as a violation of Adolf Hitler's pledged word.

Although a radio broadcast in Berlin denied that a German submarine had torpedoed the British liner 250 miles off the Irish coast, First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill told the house of commons that the ship "was certainly torpedoed without the slightest warning."

He announced that the liner was being assisted before action was taken to protect the "outgoing" to Berlin through the good offices of the American embassy there.

The Athenia sinking was denounced in the house of lords as "an act of piracy" if the first reports of the circumstances are correct and both houses of parliament rebuffed the "disgust and indignation" of the British people.

Meanwhile, French, Belgian and Russian plunged into the war to aid Poland.

Break Solemn Pledges
A speech by Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to the German people telling them that the word of Adolf Hitler was "not worth the paper it is written on" and listing charges that he had broken solemn pledges time and again was broadcast over and over to Germany.

The government announced that the status of all Germans and Austrians in the British Isles would be reviewed with a view of detaining them if they proved to be enemy aliens. It was promised that German refugees would be given full protection.

Churchill announced that warship convoys were being provided as quickly as possible for all British merchant ships and that since Aug. 26 all British merchant ships in the Atlantic ocean had been diverted from normal courses. The Athenia had been instructed to steer a course well off her normal track.

The London stock exchange was closed pending further notice. The British press began denouncing Hitler as "a murderer" and "a dangerous criminal."

Air Raid Alarms
Two air raid alarms caused millions of persons to rush from their beds in London, the eastern counties and the Midlands in fear of Nazi bombing attacks.

Overhauling all developments in the Athenia outrage, which the government's spokesmen sought to put directly on a German submarine attack.

COUNTER ATTACK RE-TAKES CITIES FROM GERMANS

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE, JR.

WARSAW, Sept. 4 (UP)—An official war communique reported successful counter-attacks on the invading German army today as the capital jubilantly celebrated entry of Great Britain and France into the war.

One report reached Warsaw that the Poles had recaptured the important city of Czesochowa, a famous religious shrine and an important junction on the southwestern front. This report lacked any official confirmation, but government announcements said that:

"Polish counter-attacks had retaken Orlow and Kark in the Gdansk-Danzig sector."

Zabrzez was stormed and retaken from the Germans.

Positions remained unchanged after heavy fighting on the east Prussian frontier.

Garrison Holds Out
The small Polish garrison in the Westerplatte fort near Danzig is still holding out.

Polish cavalry drove the Germans back at one point on the east Prussian frontier and destroyed into German territory in a counter-attack.

At least 64 German planes were shot down, including six by anti-aircraft, nine by Polish planes at Bydgoszcz and six at Poznan.

The government charged that German aircraft were dropping gas.

NOVOT UNINTERRUPTED
MOSCOW, Sept. 4 (UP)—The Soviet capital took small notice of the European war today. Dispatches of two official Russian news agencies on European events, were published without editorials or comment.

England Joins France to Aid Poles in Fight Against Nazis LATE FLASHES

LONDON, Sept. 4 (UP)—The Exchange Telegraph agency reported from Moscow today that civilian reservists in the army reserve had been ordered to present themselves at their appointed station.

The dispatch said the order was known to apply to all of Moscow and was believed to apply elsewhere, but no information was available regarding classes or the number of men affected.

GLASGOW, Sept. 4 (UP)—It was reported this afternoon that the British liner Athenia sank at 5 a. m. today.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 (UP)—The state department said today that it is investigating circumstances surrounding the bombing of Ambassador Anthony Biddle's home near Warsaw, Poland, and the sinking of the S. S. Athenia.

PARIS, Sept. 4 (UP)—The radio agency reported from Zurich today that Polish bombers had reached Frankfurt-on-Order, more than half way between the Polish frontier and Berlin. Air raid sirens sounded in Berlin and German planes "engaged" the Polish craft, the dispatch said.

Frankfurt-on-Order is only 47 miles from Berlin by air.

County Fair Swings Gates Open Tuesday

FLIER, Sept. 4 (Special)—The farmers and the buckeroos, the death-dodgers and the midway bunnies—they'll all take over here Tuesday as the annual Twin Falls county fair, agricultural and rodeo classic of Magic Valley, swings wide its gates for inaugural day.

There will be no admission charges Tuesday, said Manager Tom Parks. Also, there will be no rodeo and no "cavalcade of thrills" program in the afternoon, since these two events will not get underway until Wednesday.

All roads will lead to the fairgrounds here as the Twin Falls county event officially commences. When the gates are thrown wide open tomorrow morning, it will be 21 times they have opened for the first day of the county fair.

Outstanding program of special events, 4-11 club style show, 4-11 club livestock judging and special marching and playing exhibitions by the Twin Falls high school band and bugle corps will comprise the opening day program. The Twin Falls Sons and Daughters of the American Legion and auxiliary drum and bugle corps also will participate.

War Rages on Land, Sea And Air Through Europe

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
United Press Foreign News Editor

Great Britain's war fleet today strung out across the North sea and clamped a tight blockade around Germany as the major powers of Europe engaged in a locked combat that will see millions of men killed and hundreds of millions of dollars worth of property destroyed before its end.

The great war raged today on land, on sea and in the air.

France opened general land, sea and air operations against the reich's armies, but reports of actual fighting were censored.

The big British liner Athenia was sunk 250 miles off the Irish coast by what Great Britain officially charged was a German submarine torpedo, but all of the 1,400 persons aboard took to the boats and were picked up except those killed in the explosion.

British "propaganda" planes dropped leaflets on German cities urging the German people to give up faith in Adolf Hitler. A speech by British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, broadcast periodically to Germany, denounced the fuhrer as a breaker of pledges and said Britain was not fighting the German people.

Winston Churchill, first lord of the British admiralty, announced that warship convoys were being provided as quickly as possible for all merchant vessels.

Successful Counter-Attacks
In the theater of most active warfare, Poland's government announced that Polish troops were successfully counter-attacking German forces at several points and the population of Warsaw wildly celebrated the entry of Britain and France into the conflict.

Although German communiques had announced the Nazi forces were pushing more deeply into Poland, the announcements from Warsaw said that Orlow and Kark in the corridor, had been recaptured by the Poles and that the East Prussian front was holding firm.

In the Polish fort of Westerplatte, near Danzig, a small garrison was reported holding out against repeated sea and air bombardment by the Germans.

France announced the start of land, sea and air operations against Germany this morning, but the military action was censored.

DUTCH PROTEST BRITISH PLANES

By H. C. BURMAN

AMSTERDAM, Sept. 4 (UP)—The Dutch government today protested to both London and Berlin against flight of unidentified war planes over Holland, where they dropped leaflets printed in German.

The planes, flying northwest in Germany, apparently mistook Holland for German soil.

In Berlin, it was reported British "propaganda" planes were driven away from a German city.

The leaflets explained to the German population the general war situation and said that "your government fails to keep you informed."

"We are at war with the present government but not with the German people," the leaflets said. "We

NAZIS SMASH WAY INTO POLAND IN UNDECLARED WAR.

FOUR RAINLOADS OF INJURED MEN GO TO SLOVAKIA

BERLIN, Sept. 4 (AP)—German troops smashed their way deeper into Poland today, still without a declaration of war, and protesting that Polish civilians had started guerrilla fighting.

New drastic measures were decreed, including the death penalty for avoiding military service, following the declarations of war against Germany by Great Britain and France. But for the moment, Germany remained on the defensive behind her Siegfried line on the western frontier, and concentrated everything on a quick decisive victory over Poland.

Admit Loss of Planes

Four rainloads of wounded German soldiers were reported to have arrived at Bratislava, Slovakia, from the Polish front. The loss of 21 German planes in Poland was admitted officially, but it was claimed that 120 Polish planes had been shot down or destroyed by bombs.

The capture of the important Polish towns, Cieszostowo and Radomsko, was announced here.

Adolf Hitler had gone to the eastern front to direct the campaign. He left the chancellery last night in a touring car, with four bodyguards riding on the running boards.

Germana Nervous

The announced capture of Cieszostowo and Radomsko ended any hopes that Germany might confine the invasion to districts of Poland that had been German before the war. Both cities are removed from the German frontier.

The war which Germany has not yet declared against anybody was brought home forcefully to Berlin residents when gangs of men began hurriedly digging bomb shelters.

The tension was fraying German nerves, as was demonstrated at a restaurant last night when a bicyclist jammed on his brakes, causing a screech that brought most of the diners to their feet.

FACULTY CHARTS PLANS FOR YEAR

Approximately 112 instructors, principals and supervisors met at 1:30 p. m. today and Sup. H. M. Davis for the annual faculty meeting preceding opening of the Twin Falls public school system.

The session, held in room 201 of the high school, was to be followed by individual parleys conducted by the principals with the principals of the high school faculty sections. Edward Rogel was to preside at the high school faculty section. Mrs. Vera C. O'Leary at Junior High, and Mrs. W. J. Lincoln at the high school.

Mrs. Ethel Gray at Bickel, and Mrs. Nora Pritchard at Washington.

At the general meeting, Sup. Davis outlined general policies and arrangements, and discussed changes enacted for the coming year.

Approximately 3,000 students will return to classrooms Tuesday morning, with hundreds of first-graders starting Wednesday morning, bringing the total to an estimated 3,500 to start the year.

HURTS FATAL TO JOSEPH YBARGUEN

Joseph Ybarguen, 35, resident of Buhl who was critically injured Aug. 15 in an automobile accident, died at 2:45 a. m. today at the Twin Falls county general hospital.

Mr. Ybarguen, native of Spain, who came to the United States at the age of 17, and received his citizenship papers in 1919, had been a resident of Buhl for the past five years. He was manager of the Palmer Livestock company ranch at Clark, Idaho.

He and his family first located in Belmont City, after coming to Idaho, and moved to become better established in the town of Buhl. He was born Sept. 15, 1892 in Spain.

The body rests at the White mortuary here, pending funeral arrangements.

Mr. Ybarguen is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ventura Ybarguen; five sons, Rafael, John, Lewis, Joseph and David Ybarguen; all of Buhl; one daughter, two brothers, Daniel Ybarguen, Mendon, Argentina, and Francisco Ybarguen, and a sister, also living in Spain.

WAVE OF THEFTS HITS MOTORISTS

A wave of thefts involving autos and articles left in them swept Twin Falls over the week-end.

Mrs. Charles B. Jank, 401 Fourth avenue north, reported her car stolen on Saturday night. Police recovered the machine early Sunday morning and returned it to her.

Police records show that the car had been jacked up with a jack taken from the car and that after the two wheels were removed, the car was pushed off the jack. A pocketbook belonging to Mrs. Jank was also missing from the machine.

G. A. Clements of route 2 reported $5.00 worth of groceries, socks and pair of leather gloves was taken from his car between 9:30 p. m. and midnight Saturday. He had parked the auto in the 100 block on Second avenue north.

On Funk, residing on Kimberly road, told police that a wool auto robe was taken from his car in the 200 block on Second street north between 9 p. m. and 11:30 p. m. Saturday night.

Bed Roll Taken
A. H. Bradford, 161 Ninth avenue north, reported the theft of a bed roll from his car some time Sunday night. The car was parked in front of his home.

W. C. Davis, 280 Pierce street, Sunday reported the theft of a two-wheel trailer from his residence.

Sheriff Art O. Parker informed local police of the theft of a car belonging to Wayne Walker of Buhl. The car was stolen Saturday afternoon. Description given by the sheriff said the missing car is a black Chevrolet four-door sedan, 1933 model, carrying license plates 6H-4250.

COUNTY FAIR SET TO OPEN TUESDAY

After "bumping" Tuesday, the fair will pop into full bloom Wednesday for "Twin Falls day." Activities will boom into full swing, with the first section of the rodeo being held in the night after a day crammed with shows, exhibitions and special events.

Gov. C. A. Bottelstein will attend "Twin Falls day" and will ride in the grand entry parade on the evening night of the four-night rodeo show.

Buhl Thursday

"Buhl and west and day" will be observed at the fair on Thursday. No special children's day has been scheduled for this year, said Manager Frank Jank, but all children 12 years of age or under will be admitted to the grounds every day without charge.

Reduced rates for the Twin Falls-Jerome Intercity bridge have been announced by Bruce G. Short, president of the bridge company, although the rates will not be in effect until Wednesday. Round trip tickets from the north side will be sold by the bridge company for 50 cents per car, regardless of the number of passengers in the machine.

Four Rodeos

Four rodeo performances planned for the county fair will feature some of the best stock and rodeo riders in the nation, reports Harry Rowell, stock contractor for the rodeo.

Some of the outstanding riders who will attempt to ride some of the toughest broke known to the arena are Buel Mulvey, Duff Aber, Fritz Truan, Paul Carthy, Dick Griffiths, Rick Rippe, Jackie Cooper and Brock Cox. Among the other riders to ride include Tombsen, Can't Do It, Gas Tank, Treasure, Island, Brown Bomber, Midnight and Pale Face.

The corral angle of the rodeo will be handled by Jack Fulkerson and Homer Holcomb. Rex and Margie Gorenough of Red Lodge, Mont., will appear as feminine bronc riders.

Auto Hits Girl Riding Bicycle

John Steber, 552 1/2 Fourth avenue north, reported to police that he struck a girl riding a bicycle at Addison avenue and Van Buren Saturday.

The police report stated that the girl, a daughter of Jake Reiman of 129 Fourth avenue north, had been taken to a physician who reported her not seriously injured.

Merchants Plan Tuesday Meeting

Commerce bureau meeting at 9 a. m. Thursday will be held in the conference room of Chamber of Commerce headquarters, according to Chairman Jack Clark.

Topics for the session Tuesday, announced in Saturday's Evening Times, will be the matter of approving the "Aberdeen law" regulating peddlers, and the matter of closing stores for Wednesday, Twin Falls day at the county fair.

Water Shut-Off SLATED TUESDAY

WATER, Sept. 4 (Special)—Water in the low line canal will be shut off tomorrow to permit the construction of a new bridge by the Hoop Construction company, reports N. V. Sharp, member of the board of directors of the Twin Falls Canal company.

Original plans called for the water to be shut off on Aug. 22, but a protest from farmers caused directors to postpone the matter until the company to postpone action.

Fred Hoop, official of the construction company, has reported he will be able to complete the bridge by Oct. 15.

HEN TOTAL GAINS ON IDAHO FARMS

BOISE, Sept. 4 (Special).—According to the estimate of a considerable group of people cooperating in the poultry survey, in counties representing 82.23 per cent of the chickens of the state, there will be 13.5 per cent more hens in laying houses in the fall of 1939 than there were for the same period in 1938, according to Fren Moore, extension poultryman.

There are 11 per cent more people in the business, 8.8 per cent more people cutting out and selling old stock and 5.9 per cent less disease problems indicated. Forty-seven per cent of the farmers use home mixed feeds.

Disease Control
From the reports of the co-operators, it is indicative that progress is being made with disease control. Since mortality constitutes a large factor in profits and losses, it is quite encouraging to note that progress is being made in this phase of the industry.

"It is not to be presumed that these estimates are entirely accurate," Mr. Moore said. "However, they are based upon the opinions of a sufficient number of people, from which this estimate has been made as to the trend of the industry in Idaho. The census report released in 1938 is being used as the basis by which to calculate the poultry population in each county. There is a possibility that there has been some shift in poultry population within the state during the last five years. Therefore, it is quite obvious that there has been an increase in some sections, while in others the population seems to remain relatively stationary. Whether or not this estimate is accurate, it is evident that there will be a substantial increase in the poultry laying stock for Idaho this year."

Turkeys Indefinite
Since the census report released in 1938 includes only those turkeys on the farms on Jan. 1 and does not include the total turkey crop, no basis is afforded by which to determine the turkey population in each county. The turkey census released in 1938 included turkeys raised, and this was set up by co-operators. There has undoubtedly been a considerable shift in the turkey industry since 1938. Therefore, it is not possible to make accurate estimates because of the shift in turkey population, Moore said.

However, according to the estimates made by co-operators, it would appear that the turkey crop for 1939 will be about the same in Idaho as in 1938. According to the reports, turkey losses are less this year, by a small margin, than they were in 1938. About 50 per cent of the turkey growers are using home mixed feeds. It is apparent that because of better breeding and better feeding practices, somewhat better turkeys are being raised. Therefore, with about the same number of turkeys raised in 1939, it is likely that the turkey crop will be somewhat increased.

Dispersing the Fog

By CHARLES MICHELSON
Director of Publicity,
Democratic National Committee

In the present welter of world affairs it is a relief to turn to newspaper headlines on such prosaic subjects as business.

It is doubly pleasant to find them referring to increasing prosperity in our own country. For example, I note in the papers of the morning on which this is written that "the bureau of agricultural economics yesterday estimated that farmers' income from marketing in July totaled $534,000,000, an increase of seven per cent above the estimate for June."

On the same day the New York Times announced that "four railroads show 42.2 per cent rise in income." From a New York state publication comes the tidings that "properly headlines are milling out from Rochester, N. Y., and facsimiles of headlines in the Rochester Times-Union and Chronicle reproduce that 'Power Sale Hits Record for Month,' and 'Department Store Sales Up,' and 'Business Chain on Three Fronts,' and various other evidences of what the paper refers to as 'thrifty business.'"

Just a few days before, Frank Cannett, chairman of the national committee to uphold constitutional government, announced that the Roosevelt administration had "buried all business activity, checked recovery, and endangered the whole future of our constitutional government."

Continuing enough, Frank Cannett is the editor and publisher of the Rochester Times-Union and Chronicle, from the advertisement of which were culled the headlines noted above.

Profits vs. Politics
Incidentally, the most recent report of the earnings of the Cannett company, Inc., of Rochester, N. Y., publishers of 16 papers, showed a net profit of $1,164,000 for last year, an increase of $40,000 over the net of the year before.

Moreover, Roger Babson, Wall Street's pet economist, has just issued a statement that the new papers headline in this way: "Business Near Heat of 20," etc. "Security holders are tugging bigger checks, their dividend envelopes this August than a year ago; the total of dividends paid were 40 per cent greater for the first six months of 1939 than for the same period in 1938." He notes that payrolls are up 20 per cent, etc. And he concludes thus: "So as the situation stands today—more workers have confidence, they must to spend; investors have a little more money to spend; farm-

Council Meet Only Activity On Labor Day

Twin Falls businessmen observed their "second Sunday" this week as stores, city, county and federal offices remained closed in observation of Labor day.

Despite the double holiday, there were plenty of long faces in Twin Falls today as hundreds of children prepared to return to school tomorrow morning. To many children, today is the last day for freedom.

Tomorrow morning that daily scrubbing of hands, necks and ears will commence.

The state liquor store also will remain closed today. Both the Twin Falls Bank and Trust company and the Fidelity National bank are closed. No mail deliveries are being made, and windows at the postoffice are closed.

Despite the general shut-down of all activity, regular meeting of the city council will be held at 7:30 p. m.

ACTORS' UNIONS SETTLE TROUBLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 4 (U.P.).—Peace between actors and stagehands replaced months of inter-union warfare in the amusement industry today as the two sides of a threatened nationwide strike.

President Frank Gilmore of the Associated Actors and Artists of America announced an agreement had been reached between heads of the stagehands' union and his organization by which the scheduled Broadway and Hollywood walkout had been averted.

Mass meetings of actors and stagehands in New York and California voted almost immediately to accept the peace terms. More than 5,000 attended the New York meeting.

By the terms of the peace, the American Federation of Actors, headed by Sophie Tucker, will be disbanded and members will be transferred into the American Guild of Variety Artists, an affiliate of the four-group.

Miss Tucker and Harry Richman, heads of the A. F. A., who were suspended from the A. A. V. for accepting a charter from the stagehands' union, were reinstated. Ralph Whitehead, executive secretary of the A. F. A., whose administration precipitated the inter-union battle, was not mentioned in the peace pact.

Kangaroos

SYDNEY, Australia (U.P.).—Two hundred kangaroos, wallaroos and wallabies are being fed daily at Koolah park here. However, to get their hand-served meat they have to hop from all corners of the 40-acre park and keep themselves nicely balanced on their tails while the food is being handed out.

Child Strikes Fan

KINGSTREE, S. C. (U.P.).—Ronnie Miller's father was a bit too strong when he picked up his son in the air. The youngster was struck by a revolving ceiling fan. His skull was fractured.

Texas produced more than 36 per cent of all the natural gas marketed in the United States in 1938.

Drive on Old Cars Succeeds

ELIZABIA, O. (U.P.).—Drivers of dilapidated automobiles aren't venturing out much since Sheriff Carl R. Flanagan started a drive to junk "rotters." The sheriff's method has been effective. He stops the car and informs the driver that he will be arrested for reckless operation unless he junks his car immediately.

NEUTRALITY EMBARGO PROCLAMATION MATTER OF HOURS

PRESIDENT MAY ORDER CALL FOR SPECIAL SESSION

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 (AP)—Proclamation of arms-embargo neutrality and summons of congress to special session were judged today to be but matters of hours after President Roosevelt's appeal for national unity and adjournment of parliament.

Mr. Roosevelt warned in his national unity radio address last night that our peace is endangered. Within minutes he was informed that the British liner Athenia was torpedoed 200 miles off the coast of Ireland with 1,400 passengers, including many Americans, aboard.

Isolation Impossible
The President implied that isolation from world events was impossible but renewed his pledge to make every effort to "keep out of this war."

His address seemed also to suggest similar protection to 21 sister American republics of the western hemisphere on the theory that our safety is dependent on theirs.

"As long as it remains in my power to prevent," he said, "there will be no blackout of peace in the United States."

"Let no man or woman thoughtlessly or falsely talk of America sending its armies to European fields."

In Six Languages
The President's speech, short-wave to the world in six languages, followed a Sunday of anxious official activity.

The question of a special session probably will not be disposed of until after proclamation of the neutrality act and of our neutrality objectives. Congress refused last session to consider administration amendments to the act to enable any customer with money and a ship to transport to purchase munitions of all kinds here. Such amendment in practice would be assumed to favor nations controlled by the axis.

—France, Great Britain and their ally, Poland, in this instance.

7,000 ACRE FIRE UNDER CONTROL

BOISE, Sept. 4 (AP)—Payette national forest officials announced today they held under control a fire that burned more than 7,000 acres of timber along both sides of the North-South highway, four miles north of Banks.

They began to release the 1,300 men who fought the blaze four days but still kept a guard on the fire.

Idaho national forest officials reported under control a fire on Camp creek north of Knox that burned over 800 acres.

PERRINE

Miss Cleo Munger, Jerome, is a visitor at the L. H. Abbott home. Maud Wildman was a business visitor in Jerome Friday.

Letitia Thomas, small daughter of Ted Thomas, was burned quite badly about the mouth and throat recently but is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gomer, Jerome, were visitors at the home of Mrs. Ann Brown last week.

Perrine club meets at the home of Mrs. Emma Abbott, Sept. 13, unless notified otherwise.

W. B. Wildman received word that his skater, Mrs. Addie Watson, Salt Lake, Utah, is critically ill at that place.

One of the newest Packer fighting planes has landed tonight. The plane has engines mounted fore and aft and doubles the horsepower of the warplanes in the class.

This Was Unusual Sight at Kimberly

A sight that's termed highly unusual was glimpsed by Kimberly residents last week when flowers bloomed on James E. Halferty's "night blooming cereus." Here is Mr. Halferty holding two of the partly-open buds. Five flowers appeared on the plant during two nights. (Evening Times Photo)

Buhl, Rupert Boys Achieve Farm Degree

Buhl and Rupert youths received the State Farmer degree at the state convention of the Idaho association of Future Farmers of America. It was announced here this afternoon. The two who received the degree in Magic Valley are Donald Hicks, Buhl F.F.A. chapter, and Leo Van Avery, Rupert. They were honored in recognition of their accomplishments in school and project programs, including leadership activities. Seven other youths, from Ammon, Madison, Malheur, Preston and Shelley, also won the degrees.

One Graduated
Van Avery graduated from high school this year and Hicks will be a senior in high school next year. Van Avery had previously won a Union Pacific scholarship in vocational agriculture in Minidoka county.

In order to qualify for this degree, a student must have completed at least two years of instruction in vocational agriculture and active membership in the local F.F.A. chapter; demonstrate proficiency in parliamentary procedure; lead group discussion; hold responsible positions with student or chapter activities; and rank in the top 40 per cent of his class in scholarship throughout his high school course.

He must have earned and profitably invested at least $250; and at least two-thirds of his minimum earnings must come from his project program of supervised agriculture.

Their Records
Donald Hicks—Started with five acres of beans, and the following year added two acres and 10 ewes. Last year he had a chance to take over the herd of 12 cows, manage and do the work on it, and in return received one-fourth of the milk, half of the calves, and at the same time keep two cows of his own.

In addition to this, he is carrying three acres of cabbage. Donald earned $195.17 in projects carried over this year, and at the time of submitting his application, had $451 invested or in savings.

Leo Van Avery—Has raised seed or commercial potatoes for four years with a definite program for carrying out improved practices. For three years Leo has been developing a herd of Holstein cows, some Duroc Jersey hogs, and has been raising alfalfa, barley and wheat as contributory enterprises. He has earned $576.91 from his project program, and has $369.55 in savings or invested in agriculture. He played on the variety-basketball team, represented the F.F.A. in livestock and crop judging, served as secretary and president of the local chapter, and reporter of the district.

Better than one out of every 10 tax dollars collected in the United States in 1938 were levied on petroleum and its products, and paid largely by the consumers.

BOURBONS HEAR YOUNG ATTORNEY

SUN VALLEY, Id., Sept. 4 (AP)—William S. Hawkins, Coeur d'Alene attorney, keynoteed a young-Democratic convention here Sunday with an accusation the Republican state administration was placing patronage above sound policy in operation of state government.

Hawkins led other Democrats attending the convention, many of them other party leaders, in criticizing the administration of Gov. C. A. Bottoliver.

Chase Clark, Idaho Falls mayor, denounced in a banquet speech the Idaho legislature be called immediately into special session to readjust the state tax structure.

Clark asserted special taxes were placed in effect first to remove the burden from general property and then the last legislature made a 25 per cent increase in property and personal taxes, still keeping the special taxes.

Prominently mentioned as gubernatorial candidates for 1940 at the convention were Guy Stevens, Blackfoot; E. H. Carter, assistant U. S. district attorney, Boise; Chase Clark, Atty.-Gen. J. W. Taylor; Al Davis, Boise; Al Newman, Young Democrats president.

Whitesel-Haasch Rite Solemnized at Church

Charming in its dignified simplicity was the marriage at 12:30 o'clock today of Miss Marie Haasch, Twin Falls, and Glen M. Whitesel, Spokane, Wash., both University of Idaho graduates.

The ceremony took place at Ascension Episcopal church. Rev. L. L. Jenkins, new vicar of the church, reading the marriage service. Several out-of-town relatives and friends of the couple were among the wedding guests.

Glowing altar tapers and baskets of gladioli in flesh and white, combined with greenery, formed a striking background for the ceremony.

Clergy Attend
Miss Beth Hess, Boise, a sorority sister of Miss Haasch, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Haasch, was maid of honor.

Stanley Hume, Spokane, a college classmate of Mr. Whitesel, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Whitesel, was best man.

The wedding march was played by Miss Janet Fell, as the bride entered the church, escorted by her father, and proceeded by her attendant.

The bride wore a smart afternoon model of medium blue silk crepe, with cross-bands of tulle, and fashioned with a tight-fitting bodice and a full skirt.

Her accessories were wine, and a corsage of gardenias and white roses completed her ensemble.

Miss Hess wore a becoming frock in the new wine shade, with black accessories and her corsage was of rosebuds.

Reception Follows
Mr. and Mrs. Whitesel received the best wishes of their relatives and friends at a reception at the P. E. Haasch home, 211 Ninth avenue north, following the ceremony.

Miss Hess presided at the coffee service. The bride cut and served the tiered wedding cake. The dining room and refreshment table were charmingly arranged with seasonal flowers.

The bridal couple left later in the day for Chicago, where Mr. Whitesel will attend the University of Chicago medical school.

Mrs. Whitesel's residence during her attendance at the state university was the Alpha Chi Omega sorority house. She was prominent in Spurs, Cardinal Key, Mortar Board honoraries, and student activities.

Following her graduation, she received her master's degree from the University of Iowa, where she studied art and a scholarship.

Mr. Whitesel was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity at Moscow. He directed the U. of I. pep band, as well as his own private dance band and was a member of Blue Key and Silver Lance.

Out-of-Town Guests
Mr. and Mrs. Whitesel were here from Spokane for their son's marriage.

Miss Haasch, brother of the bride, came from Payette for the wedding ceremony.

From Boise were Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Burns, Miss Fern Lucille Burns, Mrs. Boyd Burns, Miss Marilyn Burke, Dr. and Mrs. Abraham D. Fredline and Miss Barbara Mockler.

Also guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Burke and Ed Burke, Meridian.

TITLE DECREE GRANTED
Decree clearing title to lot 10, block 83, Twin Falls, has been granted in district court by W. H. Gilman. Defendants were the unknown heirs of James M. Jones, the original owner. Mr. Jones died in June of 1908.

Stanley-Tate Nuptial Read

Miss Frances L. Tate, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tully Tate, Kimberly, and Charles T. Stanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stanley, Twin Falls, were united in marriage at 8 o'clock Saturday evening at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Tate, Kimberly.

Rev. Olive Williams, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, officiated. Twenty guests were present, including the immediate families. Rev. Williams and Mrs. Rachel Glens, long-time friends of the couple.

The bride wore a smart autumn afternoon frock in the new shade of wine, and her maid of honor, Miss Irene Tate, a cousin, wore a full skirt dress in orange. The bride's accessories were navy blue.

Edward Tate, brother of the bride, was best man.

A prettily appointed wedding dinner was served following the ceremony. Pink gladioli and asters formed the background for the ceremony and were also used as dinner table decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley are at home to their friends on a farm near Twin Falls.

HONESTY COURSE PUT IN SCHOOLS

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Pittsburgh school children, in regular classes this fall, will learn the consequences of dropping slugs in parking meters, dodging income tax returns, playing hooky and other common delinquencies.

The course material will be part of regular classes in character guidance, to be given to local grade school children during the first term beginning in September. Classes will be held once a week.

Organized along lines recommended by the National Character Education Council, the course is, however, a continuation of similar classes started in high schools here in 1937.

The Cleveland jurors urged that crime could be reduced and public order improved if such courses were introduced in the schools, especially for impressionable children in the eighth and ninth grades.

Honesty Teaching Strengthened
The teaching of honesty ranks high in Pittsburgh's plan of character guidance. Students and teachers discuss all sorts of common infractions as changing reports on grades, misrepresenting ages, deceiving parents, forging excuses, and even "passing" on relief.

Teachers are not expected to tell their pupils what is right and wrong. Instead, they are to manipulate the facts so the student will decide, from their own discussion.

A special lesson prepared for this fall deals with the practice of dropping slugs in parking meters. The lesson, prepared by H. L. Cleland, director of guidance for the board of public education, will contain copies of newspaper editorials deploring the fact that the slugs nearly ruined Pittsburgh's newly-installed meters.

To Form Own Opinions
Classes will be asked to decide whether slugs were inserted in the machines as a joke, because motorists were too poor, or because of resentment against police, or any number of other possible reasons.

In making a conclusion, pupils will be urged to consider the question, "What is the best method of educating the public in the proper care and protection of all public property?"

The character guidance program is arranged in each school by a committee of faculty and students and is built around peculiar neighborhood problems.

WORK HARD
GERALDINE, Ala. (UP)—If you can be a creditation, work hard and never speak lightly of your neighbors, advises Mrs. Sarah E. Baker, who already has celebrated her 102nd birthday. At the age of 100, Mrs. Baker had 421 direct descendants.

Cleaning Up for School

Evelyn Dean (right) knows the ropes of this school business and because of this believes that on opening day all faces should be wiped and span. She is shown above as she prepares to wash the face of her sister, Afton, 6, who enters school for the first time tomorrow. From the expression on the younger sister's face she can think of many other things she'd rather have done. Evelyn, who is nine, entered the fourth grade at Washington, the same school to which her sister will report. They are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel A. Dean. (Evening Times Photo)

Colors of Fraternity
Featured at Wedding

Cherry and silver, colors of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, figured effectively in the decor for the marriage of Miss Aya Rose Maupin, Weiser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Maupin, Oregon, and George B. Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Evans, Twin Falls, at the Evans home here Saturday evening.

Thirty-six relatives and intimate friends were guests at the 8 o'clock ceremony and at the informal reception following. Rev. E. L. White, Methodist minister, and friend of the Evans family for a number of years, officiated.

Fraternity Song
As an appropriate procession, the bride and groom, escorted by the bride's father, entered the living room. The Tau Kappa Epsilon shield, placed in the center of a refectory table, covered with lace, and arranged before the larger triple silver tapers, flanked by a single silver taper on either side, was a point of interest in the background decoration.

Gladioli and phlox in floor baskets marked either end of the table. Further emphasizing the chosen color theme, punch in deep cherry hue was served at the reception from a silver bowl on a mirror platter, flecked with minute cherry colored dahlias. Silver tapers were of either side of the punch server.

To Live in Moscow
Mrs. Evans was chief officer of the Bell Telephone company at Weiser prior to her marriage. She is a graduate of Weiser high school. Mr. Evans was graduated from the University of Idaho.

The couple left Monday for Weiser to visit until the fall term opened at Moscow. They will then go to the university city, where Mr. Evans will continue his studies.

"Iron Man"
COLUMBIA, S. C. (UP)—Jack the Giant Killer, had nothing on Sam Daniel, Columbia, who won three state tennis tournaments in one day. Daniel won the men's singles in straight sets, teamed with Jack Joyce, Spartanburg, to take the men's doubles, and played with Sara Ruhlert, Columbia, to win the mixed doubles title.

For her wedding, the bride wore a smart navy blue silk frock, designed with a pleated jacket, and trimmed with yellow tulle at the throat and belt, and carried a cream bouquet of cherry red roses and yellow lilies.

Dale Reese, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor wore a silver rose wood afternoon frock with blue accessories.

Mr. Reese was in the role of best man for his brother-in-law. The bride cut and served the tiered white wedding cake. Out-of-

Appetites Sharpened By Kitchen Exhibits

By JEAN DINKELACKER
Give us this day our daily bread—and vegetables, fruit and meat, cake, pickles and all things good to eat. It is with undiminished gusto that the spectator remains a law-abiding citizen, staying on the other side of the rail, when confronted with all the goodness that greets him in the kitchen and pantry department of the Twin Falls county fair.

Probably the busiest women in Twin Falls county today are Mrs. F. S. Campbell, Knoll, and Mrs. Willard McMaster, Hansen, for, up until 8 o'clock this evening they will be receiving the county's choicest canned products, preserved for winter use, and bread and cakes of the "meat in your mouth variety," that are destined for earlier consumption.

Department Expands
This is the fourth year that Mrs. Campbell has been superintendent of the kitchen and pantry department, and each year has become larger. More interest has been created. This is the first year Mrs. McMaster has served as assistant superintendent.

One of the most interesting and worthwhile additions to the exhibits in the department, is the balanced lunch box, an inspiration to the mothers who are faced with the problem of putting up lunches of nutritious value and variety, and a boon to the children, who grow weary of peanut butter sandwiches, apples and cookies as a fall merger into winter.

It may be true that a way to a man's heart is through his stomach, but a sure cure into the good cooking of a woman is to praise her cooking.

Twin Falls county fair board, Mrs. F. S. Campbell, Knoll, and the Kerr Glass Manufacturing corporation have become experts in the art of culinary appreciation—as witnesses to the ribbon, the cash prizes and the commodities prize—awarded annually to the women of Twin Falls county for their adeptness in converting Idaho products into even more edible forms.

Boosta Appetites
The kitchen and pantry department is housed in the first building you come to along the row of exhibit structures, and a great advantage to the exhibitors is the "lamburge" that line the fairgrounds a little farther to the left. After seeing all those rows of "mustn't touch" appetizers, the next thing that suggests itself is something to eat at one of the concessions.

It is housed in the same building with the antique department, and what a feast for the eyes is that! Steeped with sentiment, the antiques department has a nostalgic message for all; it is a pictorialization of the American home of other days.

Four rooms, outfitted with the furniture of other eras, completely furnished with the glassware, pictures, and other appurtenances that were so much a part of the home background of earlier Americans, have been arranged as an effective way of displaying the family treasures of southern Idaho.

Mrs. Emma Blodgett and Mrs. Everett J. Hays, superintendent and assistant superintendent, working diligently Saturday and Sunday, received entries in this department up until 10:30 o'clock today.

Entry List
Mrs. W. C. Brown, Castelford, superintendent of the fine arts and textile department of the fair, expressed gratification at the fine quality of this year's exhibits in her section, and also at the number of displays.

To her and Mrs. A. J. Wilson, Kimberly, assistant superintendent.

Denies He's Slow
SAN JOSE, Calif. (UP)—Mrs. L. Marie Quick has asked for divorce from her husband, John Quick, on the grounds that he failed to live up to his name. She charged that he was slow about getting home at night. It only took Quick 10 minutes, however, to find an answer denying the charge.

Knocked Out
COLUMBIA, S. C. (UP)—Whitton Williams of Wagoner was practicing his strokes by driving golf balls against a wall 40 yards away. One ball he struck too hard. It bounced back, struck him between the eyes and knocked him out.

Ladies and Gentlemen
Me and my gang personally invite you to take advantage of our lounging quarters at our booth in the merchants' display building. I plan to be there every day during the Twin Falls County Fair and hope to meet you in person.

Come and see what we have on display. Unusual entertainment!

Orson Welles Gets Lots of Cooperation in Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON, NEA Service
HOLLYWOOD—Orson Welles, the wonder-boy of radio and the theater, sat in his rented mansion by the sea, twined his new beard and talked eagerly about his one-man assault on the citadel of the cinema.

He is unashamedly aware that his position here is utterly without precedent. Until now, only Charlie Chaplin ever had the authority—or the audacity, either—to try to produce, write, cast, direct and play a leading role in a picture. But Chaplin had a lot of experience. The 25-year-old Welles came here about a month ago an absolute stranger to the myriad complications of the movie.

According to all the rules, he hasn't got a chance. That's why the "minor Hollywood hierarchy," with its patterned plots and ponderous, factory methods of production, is watching him with alarm. And for the same reason, all the real creators in town whose efforts and dreams are squelched by executive interference are rooting for "Heart of Darkness," to be a smash piece of cinema.

"I've known for a long time that I'd come out here eventually," Welles said. "Four years ago, after I put on 'Macbeth,' I began talking with studios. But I had to have full authority—nobody telling me what to do; no story conferences with producers, who somehow seem to regard themselves as endowed by God to make decisions."

"Of course I'm a producer now, but I can't see that it means anything except that I have a desk and an office, and now then I can call myself 'in' and give myself hell."

Wanted Orson for Hunchback? Each of the major studios approached Welles for acting, writing or directing assignments, but not until he talked with George Schaefer at RKO—a studio which has been giving more and more authority to its directors—did he get what he wanted—which was everything. That agreement was made a year ago, and Welles didn't have a story in mind at the time. Recently the studio wanted him to play "The Hunchback of Notre Dame." He declined, saying that instead he would like to come out and make a movie version of Conrad's "Heart of Darkness."

"What happens from now on is entirely up to me," Welles admitted. "Nobody can cut my picture. They can't even come to see the rushes."

"I'm scared, but not as scared as I was. Because I find that although nobody is trying to boss me, everyone is trying to help me. The theater is full of complacent men who believe the artistic and technical millennium has been reached. But pictures are a young business and most of its people are not yet bored or spoiled."

"Almost every evening I've been seeing three or four hours of selected pictures, from silent to the newest epic, to study film technique. A director, cameraman or cutter goes into the projection room with me and they explain different phases of production. Most of 'em have theories of their own, ideas they'd like to try, and you ought to see their eyes light up when they talk. With that sort of vitality and interest, the movies can do anything."

Beard Draws Stars
Welles grew his beard for a play, "Five Kings," and kept it for this picture. "I figured Hollywood was one place in the world where it wouldn't be noticed," he said, "because I knew that players often went around in whiskers and long hair. But I can't get by with it. People seem to think it's an affectation or an insulting gesture, or something; they attack me in restaurants and hoot at me on the streets."

Besides himself, Welles cast in "Heart of Darkness" will be made up of actors strange to Hollywood. The members of his Mercury theater will come here in October to

REMOVAL SLATED FOR ROAD SIGNS

JEROME, Sept. 4 (Special)—Because all private directional signs on Idaho highways must be removed by state order, the Jerome Chamber of Commerce received word this week from the Cogswell Outdoor Advertising Co., Inc., located in Twin Falls, that it would be necessary for them to take down the highway signs located at the Bliss and Rupert junctions of highway 30 and state highway 25. The Cogswell company has been maintaining these signs for the last two years for the Cogswell, Wendell, Jerome, Eden, Hazelton and Rupert Chambers of Commerce.

The necessity for removal of the signs arose when the Cogswell firm was told that unless these signs were down within five days, a complaint would be filed against them under a statute providing that no person shall erect or maintain, or cause to be erected or maintained, upon or along any highway, any sign intended for the advice or direction of traffic, or purporting to give the distances between towns on state highways, or conditions of travel on alternate routes. The law is ICA section 48-555.

In the opinion of the Jerome Chamber of Commerce, threat of this action is apparently caused by the large amount of traffic now using the north side route from Bliss to Rupert and avoiding the longer route on the south side of the Snake river, through Hagerman valley, and Twin Falls. The exact difference in mileage between these two routes, according to official map published by the department of public works, is 13 miles.

work in the picture. His company doesn't include a suitable leading woman, but whatever one he hires will be imported from the stage or foreign films.

Just now he's concentrating on the story. Two secretaries are kept busy eight hours a day recording his rapid dictation and character development. Five literary volumes of manuscript represent his efforts to get everything thoroughly in mind. The actual script hasn't been begun yet.

Geographers believe that Ararat, now mostly desert, was well watered and fertile in early times.

Jack Tidball, Frank Mehner In State Net Meet Finals

Salt Lake Boy Plays for Two Crowns

BOISE, Sept. 4 (Special)—Jack Tidball, 18, Salt Lake City youth, went into the finals of the Idaho tennis tournament men's singles today on the Julia Davis park courts. Tidball coasted through two rounds Sunday to reach the finals. He ousted Lloyd Hagar, Portland, 6-1, 6-2 and then eliminated Dan Price, Salt Lake, 1-6, 6-4, 6-4. Mehner eliminated Al Davis, Portland, 7-5, 2-6, 6-2, 6-4 to reach the finals.

In Junior Finals Mehner also won his way to the finals of junior singles by defeating Manning Lundy, 6-1, 6-0. He went on to play Cio Sinnard of Salt Lake City for the title. Sinnard ousted Irvin Parker of Portland, 6-2, 6-3.

6 Titles Given In Kimberly Net Tournney

KIMBERLY, Sept. 4 (Special)—Six championships have been decided today and ten trophies and 13 medals awarded as the Kimberly Tennis club wound up its mixed doubles, junior, boys and girls tournaments. Titles were decided in all divisions Sunday, except the feminine singles, which was settled Saturday afternoon.

The champions: Bob Packard and Dorothy Dean Huddleston, mixed doubles' tourney; Jack Hardin, junior champion; Carol Norse, boys' champion; Mrs. Ellen Miller, 17-year-old former Hagar girl, champion in girls' and women's singles; Hardin and Seymour Alban, junior doubles; C. Hardin and Art Rathbun, boys' doubles.

The mixed doubles tournament was won by Claude Cain and Mrs. JES Brown forfeited to Art Walker and Laura Le Henderson, son, and the Walker-Henderson duo marched into the finals only to lose to Packard and Miss Huddleston, who had previously conquered Bud Warner and Ann Striffler, 7-5, 7-3. Les Huff and Norel Douglas had gone down before Warner-Striffler in the opening round, 6-0, 8-0.

Final Score
6-0, 6-4 for Packard-Huddleston over Walker-Henderson.
In the junior tournament for boys, Jack Hardin, 16-year-old Kempton, 6-2, 6-1 in one semi-final and Seymour Alban, Chicago, 16-year-old Jack Norse, 6-3, 6-1. Hardin then defeated Alban, 6-0, 6-4 for the crown.

The boys' semi-final saw Charles Urban, the barefooted young player who won the sportsmanship medal, defeating Art Rathbun 6-4, 4-6, 6-4. Carl Norse, however, conquered Urban, 6-2, 6-2, for the boys' title.

Jack Hardin and Seymour Alban battled through three sets to take the junior doubles crown from Murray and Kempton, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.
Boys' Doubles
C. Hardin and Art Rathbun took home honors by edging Norse and Heddeman, 5-2, 3-6, 6-4.
Mrs. Miller won the combined girls-women's singles crown Saturday by winning over Norel Douglas, 6-1, 6-1 after downing Mrs. Brown, 6-2, 6-3. Mrs. Brown won the women's sportsmanship medal and Miss Dopson the runner-up medal.

Cox Leads Qualifiers In Lefthanded Meet

BUHL, Sept. 4 (Special)—Webb Cox, defending champion, brooked two rounds of 33 for a total of 96, to lead the way for medalists honors today in the annual Idaho state left-handed tournament—on the Clear Lakes Country club course.

However, he did not have the medalist honors clinched, as slugs from Pocatello and Boise were to post scores this morning for the grassy course that is termed one of the finest and best layouts in the state.

Yesterday's score saw Jess O. Eastman, another local portlander, shoot an 84 while H. J. Larson, Twin Falls, had an 86 and Ken Curtis, Buhl, an 87.

Other first day scores posted included Dick Whitley of Rupert, with a 92, and Bob Halbrecht, Twin Falls, with a 102.

After conclusion of qualifying play this morning, match rounds will start with the finals scheduled to be completed before nightfall.

Other activities on the day's program include the formation of the Idaho State Lefthanded Golfers' association. Selection of the city for the tournament will also be considered at the meeting.

Last year's tournament was held at Pocatello and it is possible that Boise may be made the selection for next season.

Entries from Pocatello and Boise are expected to swell the ranks to more than double that which competed for the coveted title last year.

Leonard would have made short work of both. It is hard to conceive of Leonard or Armstrong going 15 rounds with Kid Lavigne or J. J. Wolf. Clever and elusive Frank Ernie would have played him with either Henry or Lou and the Chicago left-hander, Charley White, was in the habit of flattening the fellow who crowded him.

Speaking of great fighters comes plat, Benny Leonard and Abe Attell, stood chatting following the Amberg-Armstrong affair.

Leonard never saw Attell box. "I've always thought you were a great fighter," told Attell. "I know you were," retorted Abe. "I saw you."

Looking at them from all angles, Leonard and Henry Armstrong can thank their lucky stars that they did not strive for ring fame during the ring lives of first-flight lightweight of the past.

TOWN CONQUERS 58-YEAR DROUTH
FREDONIA, Ariz., Sept. 4.—For 58 years Fredonia, a village of 300 persons which claims to be farthest from a railroad of any city or town in the United States, has existed in a state of desperate want.

Citizens now are celebrating completion of a pipe line which runs through 16 miles of barren desert to five springs located on the base of an 800-foot cliff. The pipe line will furnish adequate water for all needs.

When pioneers first settled in Fredonia, located in the extreme north central section of the state, they found the water supply from nearby Kanab Creek. Ranchers watering cattle north of the range polluted the water.

Five Worried Australians Make Final Attempt for Cup Today

By HENRY McLEMORE
HAYFORD, Penn., Sept. 4 (AP)—Five men sat with grim lips and worried eyes behind closed doors yesterday morning, five men from Australia, with but one thought. In a brief hour or two of them would go out on the "suicide" trip of the Merion Cricket club. And unless a third desperate attempt to break America's defense of the Davis cup.

With high hopes animating almost to complete confidence they had journeyed across the sea, won their way into the challenge round and then audaciously, surprisingly, met a defense in the first two stanzas which left them almost stunned. One more defeat and their quest would be in vain. Their efforts futile, their great hopes vanished.

And so, the head shouldered, and batted his Norman Brookes, who had helped capture the cup for the first time in 25 years ago; the slender, dapper Harry Hopman who had brought his team on disappointing quests for the cup before; tall, tennis-wise Jack Crawford who had captained through the years; stocky, bronzed Adrian Quist; and the wisest of all, together with grim lips and worried eyes.

But their thoughts were not of the desperate and disappointing situation in which they found themselves through the triumph of the English, Rign and Frankie Parker of the United States in the angles matches Saturday. Their thoughts were not of the at all, but of the desperate and disappointing situation in which they found themselves through the triumph of the English, Rign and Frankie Parker of the United States in the angles matches Saturday.

They sat silently yesterday and listened to the radio, and then, as the news came over the radio and filled the room with and, significantly, the voice of their king, George VI, calling his subjects to a bigger battle—a war.

But the other two of the five who sat together knew their course. Harry Hopman and Adrian Quist were being called to their tennis water compound as surely as they though they had received written orders. This could mean only one thing for the five.

The king ceased speaking and over the air, into the little room where the five men sat together, came the inspiring strains of "God Save the King."

They mechanically rose to their feet without a word, without even a look, simply through emotion. And then they stood with slumped heads, their heads bowed and their faces grim. As the last note died away only silence filled the room. And instantly the five men sat down. They took the court against Jack Kramer and Joe Hunt, the youthful American doubles team.

There was no time for a fight talk. There had been enough talk of fighting already. No one had to tell Quist and Hopman who had brought his team on disappointing quests for the cup before; tall, tennis-bombs on civil populations which also were being bombed and machine gunned.

One village was destroyed and two others near Tarnobrzeg, in the southern province of Poland, were badly damaged and had many casualties, the government reported.

Fighting Severe
The fighting around Gzesczowa was described officially as severe after Polish aviation had attacked a large enemy land force, breaking up two columns of tanks and generally clearing the way for the Polish forces in that sector at a cost of four Polish planes.

Another government dispatch said that the Germans shelled Gdansk where it was alleged gas also was used by the invaders.

Eleven incendiary bombs were dropped on the Wroclaw railway station, near Poznan, killing two persons and gas bombs were used by the Nazis at Wroclaw, Wloclaw and Rogoznica, the government charged.

There were reported air raids on Warsaw with Nazi planes flying over the outskirts amid heavy anti-aircraft fire. Polish planes took to the air and pursued the Nazi craft.

Warsaw celebrated the entry of Britain and France into the war with carnival spirit. Cheering crowds streamed past the British and French embassies, singing their national anthems. They also cheered outside the American embassy, where U. S. Ambassador Anthony J. Drexel Biddle was using as paper weights several captured splinters recovered after the bombing of his country home.

Saboteurs Taken
"If anybody is disillusioned in this war it will not be us," Foreign Minister Josef Beck told a crowd that gathered before the British embassy. Newspapers said that German planes were dropping soldiers in parachutes behind the Polish lines in upper Silesia to cut communication lines, and that all parachute jumpers had been captured.

The government announced that 28 German divers and saboteurs had been executed at Bydgoszcz and six at Poznan after drum head courts martial.

PASSENGERS ON LINER RESCUED
The fact that the Athens was bound for America and thus could not be carrying even supplies for England was cited as increasing public indignation which Churchill said could not be lessened by the fact that most of the passengers were rescued.

As Britain organized for war, Gen. Viscount Gort, World war hero and chief of the imperial general staff, was named to the new post of "commander in chief of the expeditionary force of overseas forces." Gen. Sir Edmund Ironside, who had been in command of the expeditionary force, was named chief of the general staff and Gen. Sir Walter Kirke was named chief of home forces. He had been named inspector general of home forces when two inspector generalships were created recently.

New War Cabinet
The new war cabinet took over prosecution of the war as soon as it was named yesterday.

Lord Halifax, Churchill was taken by the public to mean that the war would be waged vigorously and to the end.

Churchill was given the important post of first lord of the admiralty, which he held in 1914 when, on his own authority, he sent out ships to mobilize the British fleet days before the World war started.

Anthony Eden was given the post of minister of dominions secretary but was not included in the inner or war cabinet.

LONDON, Sept. 4 (U.P.)—The liner Athens, torpedoed during the first 24 hours of the British German war, was left to sink today when rescue ships started for Scotland and Irish ports with the survivors among its 1,400 passengers and crew including hundreds of Americans and Canadians.

A ministry of information statement said: "Reports indicate that the Athens was torpedoed without warning in position at least 200 miles from land."
Capt. James Cook, master of the 12,881 ton British liner, which was left to sink today when rescue ships started for Scotland and Irish ports with the survivors among its 1,400 passengers and crew including hundreds of Americans and Canadians.

This news came hours after the first word from the ship that it had been torpedoed and was sinking rapidly.

It was about 1,100 passengers and a crew of about 250.

Latest figures compiled by the London Admiralty show that the American passenger total at 314, including 104 embarked at Liverpool, 140 at Southampton, 45 at Glasgow and 20 at Belfast.

All figures were tentative pending final checks, which might take days if it was indicated, survivors were being taken to scattered ports.

It was hoped that the death toll would prove comparatively small.

Town Crimeless
MALIN, Ore. (U.P.)—This city has not had a single arrest, crime or even fracture of the law for two years. Some people give City Marshal Dick Williamson credit for scaring people out of the idea of breaking the law, but Mayor A. Kalish says, "We just don't have any trouble here, that's all."

No War Panic for U. S. This Time As European Nations Start Battle

By BRUCE CATTON
Idaho Evening Times
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4 (U.P.)—In August of 1914 the world came to an end of a clear sky. One week people were moving along on a path that looked fixed, settled and ordered for generations to come; the next week it had broken up under them, and a thousand years of development revolved in a thundering climax that was as unexpected as it was disastrous.

August of 1939 was different. Europe again was groping on the edge of a precipice—and only a little more than two days after August ended, its maddest powers went over the precipice.

The world that blew up in 1914 was never put back together again. The disaster of this August has been on the horizon for years, and everyone has seen it.

These stories are about America and its two "war-Augusts"—1914 and 1939. The contrast between these two Augusts is the contrast between the world that went away forever 25 years ago and the confused, uncertain world which is trying to take its place. The contrast goes to the roots of everything in our national life and in the world which conditions that life.

War Looked Uneral
The outbreak of the 1914 war looked unneral, over here. It was very quiet, something fascinating, rather appalling to look at, but nothing that could mean much to people on this side of the Atlantic. Europe was so very far away and its quarrels were so very hard to understand.

Yet it did affect us, and that right quickly. It left us between the eyes with a short-lived but acute financial panic. Stock exchanges closed, all trading in securities was suspended, America's export trade to Europe dropped abruptly, commodity prices fell, trade fell off. America was a debtor nation then. Its great industrial expansion of the previous half century had been pretty much financed with European money, and the Europeans were in a scramble to get their money back. British investors had better than $4,000,000,000 in American securities. They rushed to dump them; before the war had ended, they had disposed of some $5,000,000,000.

War Setup Markets
For a month or two months, longer—this depression lasted piled right on top of a more or less serious domestic depression. Then the trend of everything was reversed. For if the war cut off old markets and disrupted old buying habits, it suddenly began to open new markets and new buying habits on a greater scale than ever before.

England and France needed all sorts of things and needed them badly. War orders began to come in. Month by month they grew in volume. By mid-July the war was over; by the end of the year things were humming—and through the next two years a boom such as America had never experienced grew and expanded.

When war overseas, and oil, and money, America became a banker and warehouse for the Allies, without realizing that it was happening.

The boom was a runaway boom. So much for August, 1914, and what it brought. Now for August, 1939.

The industry and remoteness of the 1914 picture is gone. There was no surprise in this war crisis; it was planned to be in the telescope for years. Nor did any Americans have any illusions about the whole business being so far away that it couldn't affect them.

And as the crisis had a different psychological effect, its material effect had to be different, too.

Credit Nation
America is a credit nation, now, not a debtor. Foreign holdings of American securities are less now. England and France combined hold only between $2,800,000,000 and $3,000,000,000 worth of American paper. Making allowance for investments not likely to be liquidated even under war pressure, the British could hardly throw more than a billion dollars worth of American securities on the market.

Arrival of a general European boom and now will also open American business, but it will not—in the judgment of government experts here—cause anything like the sharp boom of 1914.

Panic or Boom
And if the war-panic is milder, so too should be the resulting boom. The machinery is at hand to control a boom as well as to cushion a panic. Unless and until the neutrality act is modified, actual war materials could not be delivered to any warring nation. The Johnson act forbidding the extension of credits to any nation which has defaulted on its debts to this country is still in effect.

Furthermore, if war-time inflation should start, price skyrocketing, the federal reserve system is equipped to meet the situation. Banks have easy reserves for Federal reserve could cause big differences, if money got "tight."

There is still another contrast. In August of 1914 the American people had hardly the remotest notion that they could ever be drawn into the war. It took time for their emotions to get worked. They wound up by hating the Kaiser quite effectively, but in that first month they were not ready for war.

Today they know all too well that they may very easily get involved. They don't want to—and yet, in August of 1939, they had already taken sides, overwhelmingly. They despise Hitler today as they did then in despite the Kaiser until 1917.

America—1914 to 1939: All is changed, transportation, war plans, leadership, even Milady's hair dress

What were they doing 25 years ago? In 1914, Germany's Adolf Hitler, left, was a Bavarian house and poster painter, who dropped his brush to join the army. Britain's Neville Chamberlain, center, was a member of the House of Commons, and Italy's Benito Mussolini, right, was a socialist, founder of a socialist daily which urged Italian entry into the war against Germany. Today these men, who rose from the ashes of the last war as leaders making—or averting—the next one. What figures of the war of tomorrow now are hidden in Europe's armies or obscure political circles?

A grey, white-faced old man who was driven into exile by the last great European war sat today before his radio today to listen to developments of World War II.

He is William of Hohenzollern, now 80 years old, and is in exile at Doorn, Holland.

The possibility of Byron "Whit" White, Rhodes scholarship student, returning from England to join the Pittsburgh Pirates pro football team was increased by Britain's declaration of a state of war with Germany.

An official spokesman at Cannes, France, said the duke of Windsor expects to return to England, possibly tomorrow, and await definite orders from the British government. The spokesman did not say if his duchess would accompany him.

King Leopold of Belgium assumed personal command of his army and said it is certain that "in all circumstances the army will prove by bravery and self-denial the worth of the confidence the entire nation puts in it" during the country's "state of defence."

Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., returned to his Washington duties today after a curtailed vacation in Europe. He flew to the capital in a coast guard cutter which had brought him from Norway.

The German-American bond leader, Fritz Kuhn, asserted that Adolf Hitler and Germany can "lick the whole world." Kuhn said he didn't believe reports of Britain's and France's war declaration, terming them merely "propaganda."

The turkey is a native of America.

DENY TORPEDO

BERLIN, Sept. 4 (U.P.)—The German radio denied today that a German submarine had sunk the British liner Athens, asserting that such an act would be "against strict orders."

It is more probable that the liner struck a mine, the radio broadcast said.

Battery Charge Trial Scheduled
George Boos was being held in the Twin Falls county jail today under $100 bond after he pleaded not guilty to a charge of battery and his trial was set for 10 a. m. Thursday by Probate Judge O. M. Bailey.

Boos was arrested on a complaint which alleged that Boos struck him with heavy stones. The attack assertedly occurred at the Wooden Shoe beer parlor.

MISPLACED
Bob Jennings of route 1 parked his car on Shoshone street west Sunday about 9:20 p. m.

About two hours later he returned for the machine. It wasn't to be found. He reported to the police that his car had been stolen.

Later he found the vehicle—on Shoshone street. Police confirm on the blotter was "Misplaced."

WORLD MARKETS CLOSED ALL DAY

Great Britain today closed all its markets except cotton and began enforcement of decrees designed to place the entire economic life of the nation on a war basis.

All markets and banks in the United States and Canada were closed because of Labor day.

Prices of stocks soared on the Tokyo and Amsterdam exchanges, notably American issues on the latter, and weakened in Paris under close scrutiny of house officials.

Gold and foreign exchange trading was suspended today in London and it was believed gold dealings would be banned for the duration of the war, although silver trading may be resumed.

FOREIGN LEGION OF CZECHS MARCHES ON GERMANS

2,000 OFFICERS TO LEAD TROOPS AGAINST ENEMY

By W. A. BERTMAN

WARSAW, Sept. 4 (U.P.)—A foreign legion of Czechs and Slovaks is fighting under the red and white barred flag of Poland, the government announced today.

A government proclamation called on former citizens of Czechoslovakia, the nation dismembered by Adolf Hitler, to take up arms against their "hereditary enemy"—Germany. The proclamation urged Czechs and Slovaks still under domination of the swastika to do everything in their power to sabotage the German war machine.

Already Under Fire
President Ignacy Moscicki of Poland and Marshal Edward Smigly-Rydz signed the proclamation and announced that the first units of Czechs and Slovaks already were under Nazi fire.

(From his place of exile in London, Edward Benes, former president of Czechoslovakia, telegraphed British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain that his people "shall march with your people until final victory and the liberation of our fatherland.")

The proclamation placed Gen. Lev Prchala, former military leader in Czechoslovakia, at the head of the legions.

2,000 Officers

Polish leaders said Czech and Slovak soldiers who fled before the German occupation of Czechoslovakia last March, augmented by new refugees, formed the nucleus of 2,000 officers to lead the new legions under Prchala, whose role became similar to that of the late Josef Pilsudski for Poland during the World war.

Poles saw in the closing by Germany of the protectorate border to all traffic by Germans an indication that Nazi leaders feared sabotage, rioting and unrest in what once was Czechoslovakia.

BEES ON CITY'S DOORSTEP

SADENA, Calif. (U.P.)—While some people find a baby on their doorstep, Pasadena found two hives of bees on its. Somebody left the two hives on a table in the city's picnic grounds. The case is without precedent and the city has no provisions for taking care of bees.

1,165 Pounds from Eight Pounds!

Herman Giese, rancher southwest of Twin Falls, is among the first to climb aboard the bandwagon of "Michele's hybrid grass"—termed the answer to the range forage problem in the west. Mr. Giese is shown with some of the 1,165 pounds of seed he produced from an original eight pounds.

8 Pounds of Seed Produces 1,165 Pounds in Forage Crop

He sowed just eight pounds of seed — and produced a yield of 1,165 pounds in the dirt.

Harvested and sacked now, the seed will re-clean as much as 1,000 pounds from that original eight pounds—and we'll be more, the seed is that of a hybrid grass for which a nationwide demand seems to be on the near horizon.

The man is Herman A. Giese, whose ranch is two miles south and five miles west of Twin Falls.

"Brouth-Proof" Forage
The crop is Michele's hybrid grass, developed by a University of Idaho professor and named as the "brouth-proof" forage which soon may be sought by all of America's stockmen.

Mr. Giese's seed plot for the Michele's grass is one of only a few in southern Idaho. John Remberg at Rupert has another, but hasn't yet threshed.

And what is this Michele's grass? In a nutshell, here's what is claimed for it: A perennial grass that produces plants big enough to graze within 30 days after seed goes into nearly dry ground in the autumn, that's ready to receive livestock as soon as the snow melts in spring that produces a forage growth so substantial a binder can just about handle it, that without added moisture sends out generous re-growth right after cutting, that isn't affected by freezing winters or hot summers, that grows in almost any kind of soil.

Answer to Prayers?

Now you see why, as word filters into the far corners of the western livestock states, stockmen feel that this grass may be the answer to their prayers. If it achieves half of what it's claimed, it would still be that answer.

Prof. C. A. Michele, assistant agronomist at the U. of I. experiment station developed it. The grass is a hybrid from a cross between Molle wheat, a winter type developed years ago by the Idaho station, and a forage native grass, technically termed climacis condensatus.

Prof. Michele had a tedious job in crossing these growths. He started in 1931. Although the grass is now in its third generation, Prof. Michele refuses to predict anything.

But the value of his hybrid is now apparent for range and desert country, and on farms it has possibilities as green manure crop. Experiments show it should yield more hay than wheat.

All these facts—plus the constant growing demand for the seed—led Mr. Giese and a few others to climb on the bandwagon.

Planted Sept. 28
In achieving his 1,165 pounds of grass seed in the dirt from his original eight pounds, Mr. Giese planted last Sept. 28, just a year ago. He advises, however, a planting two weeks earlier than that date.

He planted his seed in rows 30 inches apart in a portion of his plot, and then tried double-row on the rest of it. It is inches apart. Eight inches was left between plantings lengthwise.

Giese suggests use of a garden planter.

And if Michele's hybrid grass does what experts believe it will, many more Magic Valley ranchers will grow it for seed—with that seed going toward solving the range problem in sagebrush and desert areas throughout the west.

Snapshot and book covers were made by members of Humming Bird group of Blue Bird when they met with their guardian, Mrs. N. O. Johnson, Friday in the recreational hall to work with cork.

Later in the afternoon they went to the home of Evelyn Dean. Refreshments were served and games played on the lawn. Mrs. M. P. Ocheltree and Mary Lou Ocheltree were guests.

DIRECTORS TALK OF WATER PACT

Discussion of a proposed pact between Wyoming and Idaho for use of Snake river waters was the principal business being considered today at Idaho Falls, reports James R. Bohlwell, attorney for the Twin Falls Canal company.

Several directors of the Twin Falls Canal company are attending the meeting with a primary purpose of protecting Twin Falls water rights, said Bohlwell.

N. V. Sharp of Piler, J. P. Cordes of Twin Falls, and W. R. Hatfield of Buhl are reported to be attending the meeting at Idaho Falls.

Mr. Sharp is a member of the committee of nine which arranged the Idaho Falls meeting.

GLENNS FERRY

Atlie Bryant, for several months stationed here as state traffic officer, has tendered his resignation to the state department, effective immediately. He, with his wife, will leave soon for Orofino, where they will make their home.

Jack Reisel and Junior Gunson left several days ago to visit the San Francisco fair.

Ed Hull and Melvin Paschke returned Wednesday from Idaho City where they have been mining this summer.

Alison Rebekah lodge will convene tonight for the first meeting following the summer vacation period.

Miss Dorothy Walker left Tuesday for Centralia, Wash., where she will teach.

Gene Cooper, formerly of Glenns Ferry, has been hired as assistant coach in Buhl schools.

Girl Wins Award On Speeds Essay

A "speed changer" unit which will enable her to change her bicycle to a two-speed drive today had been won by Helen Stephens, 16, of 614 Fourth avenue east for her prize winning essay on "Why I want two speeds on my bicycle."

The essay contest was conducted by the new departure division of the General Motors corporation. Local bicycle stores cooperated.
