parties that war would not mean profit to any American.

WANTS PROFIT MOTIVE REMOVED

It does not seem in a fair position to demand neutrality if the motive to war we remove the motive of self interest," says Senator Lee. "With the motive removed, the question of neutrality to the United States that we'd have no opportunity to profit, would be a time of war. Then, I think we would be in the question of neutrality without the profit motive entering our consideration."

President Roosevelt's plan for removing the arm's embargo; but he says he is getting into a sticky situation because of people who want that embargo removed on the ground that the revision urged by the President is sure to pass, or if it actually does pass, then the plan now on the way for passage of the Jones bill—on the theory that if selling munitions to China and Europe should be an American entrance into the war more likely, this measure would be passed and Europe would be the danger would be unprofitable.

Just incidentally, it might be remembered that the Jones bill was passed by a vote of 221 to 197, a clear majority—so that unless some of them have changed their minds, it is practically certain to pass. It is a strong support in the house.

The treaty of 1846, establishing the Canadian boundary west of the Rockies, provided that the United States should reimburse the London & Northwestern for the loss of its property south of the line. The company filed a claim for $4,000,000, including

Senator Lee's bill, commonly called the "draft capital bill," would pick up any loose change that the Bone bill chanced to miss. In its essentials, it would do these things:
$24,000 for Fort Hall and
$17,000 for Fort Boise.
Twenty-three years later
the U. S. paid the company

I favor a "cash and carry" plan.....

WAR MAY CURB CITRUS EXPORTS

LAKELAND, Tex., Sept. 22.—The Florida citrus industry has geared itself for another shipping season uncertain about one of its best customers—Great Britain.

England is the largest consumer of citrus fruit, and the industry is taking yearly three out of every four cases packed to the state. Owners believe the British ability to desire to import large quantities during the current year would be known before the season gets underway.

The domestic market also will be affected by the war, it was feared. Most growers looked for at least a temporary business boom occasioned by European hostilities and expected good opening prices.

First carload shipment of a crop which it is hoped will equal the 100,000 carloads expected northward last year was expected shortly after mid-September.

Size of the crop, however, remained uncertain except for private estimates. The first U. S. government report will be issued in October.

Private sources predicted a drastically reduced grapefruit crop, about the same quantity of oranges and a slightly smaller tangerine output.

Meanwhile, the industry watched with interest for results of the recent reauthorizing given it by the state legislature. Henceforward fruit must show a "natural break in color" before it can be shipped.

Rains throughout the belt have delayed ripening.

The citrus commission's new advertising and sales promotional program is ready to go into operation. Competition from Texas seedless grapefruit will be one of the first problems for the advertising bureau to handle. Last year the Texas product edged Florida grapefruit out of many western markets and made noticeable headway in New York.

In 1938, Florida shipped out 70,000 carloads of oranges, 26,500 carloads of grapefruit and 7,500 carloads of tangerines.

War in Europe Will Alter Shape Of Average American Pocketbook

By JOHN T. FLANN

(Written for Mrs. Harford)

NEW YORK.—The effect of the war upon the world's currencies is certain in time to alter the size and shape of the average American's pocketbook.

There is nothing older than the practice of governments going to war, borrowing money to fight the war, getting themselves loaded with debt—and then repudiating the debt by the simple process of devaluation.

The American, accustomed as he is to the debt of our depression era, can have no conception of the staggering burden under which every European government labors even before the war gets well under way. Yet as the war starts new plans for new and even more fantastic debts are arranged.

Repercussions

The moment the war ends, however, every country will find these debts completely beyond its power to manage.

One of two things will happen. Either a runaway inflation will set in which will be followed by a swift devaluation, or, if the governments manage to check the inflation, the devaluation will be forced, if possible even more swiftly.

These devaluations cannot very well take place without some measure of devaluation here. Certainly there will be fears of devaluation, rumors about it, discussions of it. And this will have a bad effect on our economic condition.

Debtors Get Break

The moment the war ends, however, every country will find these debts completely beyond its power to manage.

One of two things will happen. Either a runaway inflation will set in which will be followed by a swift devaluation, or, if the governments manage to check the inflation, the devaluation will be forced, if possible even more swiftly.

These devaluations cannot very well take place without some measure of devaluation here. Certainly there will be fears of devaluation, rumors about it, discussions of it. And this will have a bad effect on our economic condition.

But the government, foreseeing this sort of thing, must take whatever measures are possible to prove the necessary currency and to protect the economic systems abroad.

The war touches an American industry—Withdrawal of British buyers, because of the war in Europe, forced temporary closure of tobacco markets. Here farmers are shown rushing their tobacco into warehouses at Lonsburg before the deadline shutting the doors of all North Carolina markets.

ANCIENT HOMES FOUND IN IOWA

OLENTWOOD, Ia.—Evidence that at least some forerunners of the white man in Iowa possessed a fairly well developed culture has been uncovered through recent excavations by the Iowa archaeological survey.

Sites of 12 aboriginal homes were uncovered by WPA workers under the direction of Ellison Orr. They were located on bluffs along the Missouri river in southwestern Iowa.

Dr. Charles R. Keyes, director of the survey, said well-preserved foundations and relics definitely showed that the occupants had an advanced culture compared with other prehistoric inhabitants of Iowa.

Keyes said this was a matter of conjecture when this culture flourished, but he was positive the people had no contact with the white man.

The typical ancient house, as reconstructed from evidence uncovered, was from 25 to 30 feet square and about 20 feet high. Closely set posts, 8 to 14 inches in diameter, covered with clay plaster formed the walls. The roof was a thatch of prairie grass plastered with clay and covered with a foot of earth.

"Built partly underground," Dr. Keyes said, "the interior was reached by a long ramp of the same wall and roof construction as the house. The roof was insulated so that it was warm in winter and cool in summer. The vent in the roof for the fireplace gave ventilation for the occupants."

These early people stored large quantities of food in pits in the floors of their houses, Keyes said, and some charred corn was found. Pottery, implements and ornaments of bone, antlers, shell and stone also were uncovered.

The sites of the early dwellings were filled in again and returned to agriculture when the work was completed.

Rule Broken

LONDON (AP)—The rule that says that a guards officer mentioned in a divorce case must resign his commission has been broken for the first time in the history of the regiment. The earl of Devon, who resigned his commission in the Coldstream guards after he was named as co-respondent in a divorce suit, has returned to the regiment as a reserve.

GERMANS CLAIM WARSAW FORT READY TO SURRENDER

STRICT JUSTICE TO BE SET UP IN CAPTURED AREA

By JOSEPH E. GRIGG, Jr.
BERLIN, Sept. 22 (AP)—The army high command announced today that the Poles had offered to surrender Modlin, ancient, fortified city commanding the north entrance to Warsaw.

The Modlin fortress, built at the time of Napoleon's invasion, is 10 miles northwest of Warsaw at the confluence of the Bug and Vistula rivers. It had contributed much to the defense of Warsaw and had held out 24 hours longer.

Next newspapers today discussed without elation the fall of Warsaw, fifth largest city of Europe, which had been reduced to a 19-day siege to a city of death, ruin, hunger and disease.

"No Glorious Act"
The defense of Warsaw was no glorious act bringing honor also to the opponent rising above the sad spectacle of general catastrophe," said Volksbecher-Berliner, organ of the Nazi party. "What occurred in Warsaw the past fortnight was not a nation's battle of desperation but the unleashing of madness and barbarism."

The Lokalesieger threatened: "It remains to be seen whether Warsaw's discipline is sufficient to enforce the cessation of fighting at all points."

(Refugees reaching Bucharest from Warsaw by airplane reported extensive guerrilla fighting in woods and hills behind the German lines in west Poland, which the Germans had failed to "mop up" in their lightning advance.)

Strict Justice
"If this is not the case," Lokalesieger continued, "then it will be forced by the German armed forces."

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung spoke of what was to come: "Strict justice will be enforced in occupied territory by Rundstedt (Col. Gen. Gerd von Rundstedt, named military administrator of occupied territory) and Frank (Graf Hans Frank, civil administrator of occupied territory). It is understandably self-evident that it will be administered according to the principles which characterize the reich and its political maxima."

Respected Citizens
The newspapers agreed Warsaw's capitulation marked the end of the Polish campaign and deprecated the Warsaw resistance, saying German troops could have captured the city sooner had they not "respected the civilian there."

There had been no further word of conditions in Warsaw since it was reported that an armistice had been called yesterday noon; that German and Polish military authorities were working out details of the "unconditional capitulation" and that Germans would formally occupy the city Friday.

London Shops Carry on Business With Extra Wartime Precautions

By MILTON BRONNER

NBA Service Staff Correspondent
LONDON—The big London shops are trying to carry on business as usual, but they have the government's blessing.

Many of the eligible men clerks will be called to the colors as the war goes on, but if the shops were to close now, it would throw out of employment many males under 18 and thousands of women. Such a situation, of course, is to be avoided.

Establishment
The snag is that people have been advised to keep off the streets as much as possible, due to the danger of air raids. To meet this, many of the big shops have established their own air raid quarters where both clerks and customers can take shelter in case of an air raid during shopping hours.

Articles in demand are electric flash lamps (and extra batteries), containers to carry gas masks, dark cloth, black-out curtains, first aid kits, safety pins. There is no extra run on the food shops, because storing up more food than usual is now forbidden.

Early Closing
In many cases the bigger firms have agreed, for the time being, that their places of business shall be kept open on week-days from 9 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. A fair number, however, have already agreed they will close all day Saturday.

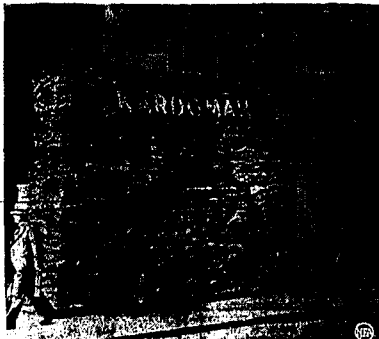

When the early dusk of later autumn and winter comes, the shops will restrict their closing hours. They may even shut as early as 4 p. m. This would enable shopkeepers and clerks to leave before the intense blackout occurs.

Another reason for early closing is that bus, underground, street car and taxi services will be curtailed as much as possible. It would be undesirable to have long queues of people waiting for transport accommodations long after dark.

Cheerful Places
The brightest spots in town are the restaurants and cocktail bars of the big hotels. Outside, all is blackness when night falls. Inside, far away from the street, all is brightness and cheer. Service is as usual, but with properly curtailed menus to discourage wastefulness.

News items recently announced most of the big hotels had made extensive preparations for the safety of their patrons in case of air raids. They have fire wardens on every floor, signs indicating the way to shelters and special strong rooms rigged up for shelter. In some hotels nurses and doctors are also standing by.

Because of the dearth of advertisements and also because of the government's desire to conserve supplies of print, very few of the newspapers have already cut down their size to a standard eight pages.

Behind its heavily sand-bagged front this London cafe goes on dispensing bottles here in September, 1939.

JOB OFFICES TO ASSIST FARMERS

Starting next Monday, as an accommodation to farmers of the section, the Twin Falls and Burley offices of the Idaho state employment service will open each morning at 9 a. m. It was announced here this afternoon by W. Clyde Williams, local office manager.

Williams said the move was being made in order that farmers, engaged in harvest, could call into or visit the offices at an earlier hour in order to secure field working crews. It was pointed out that the offices will close each day at the regular hour, which is 4 p. m.

"We urge all farmers to contact the offices for field crews," Williams said. He stressed the fact that there was no charge for the service either to the employer or the employee.

The telephone in Twin Falls is 2140 and in Burley 196.

Various organizations will choose their candidates. The organization making the most money and selling the most tickets before the dance will have its couple elected.

JEFFERS SEEKING EMBARGO REPEAL

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 22 (AP)—William A. Jeffers, president of the Union Pacific Railroad company, has joined business leaders who favor repeal of the arms embargo act.

Stopping here on his way to Los Angeles, Jeffers said, "repeal of the arms embargo act will make the United States less liable to get into the European conflict."

Jeffers said his company was making every effort to get its power and equipment into condition to meet any emergency.

GUILTY VERDICT FOR GIRL KILLER

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 22 (AP)—Thomas McBride Cochran, 20, in and out of trouble with the law for offenses against women since he was 16, may hear himself sentenced to death today.

A jury convicted him last night of murdering Frances Ruth Dunn, 17, a Miami high school girl. He kidnapped Miss Dunn and Jean Bolton, 17, her schoolmate, Aug. 7, took them to a swamp, raped them, and killed Miss Dunn.

The jury deliberated six hours and found him guilty of first degree murder. His failure to recommend mercy made the death sentence mandatory.

A radio actor, playwright, and dramatist director, Cochran played on the ambitions of two stage-struck high school girls, posing as a movie talent scout.

School, Community Obligations To Youth Outlined by Speakers

Methods of dispelling the indifference and cynicism of youth toward democratic institutions, and agencies engaged in preparing youth for social competence and civic responsibility were graphically portrayed by Mrs. Rose M. North, dean of girls of the Twin Falls high school, and Lionel T. Campbell, one of the vice-presidents of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, at the convention banquet of the Idaho Federation of Women's Clubs last evening at the Park hotel.

"It is the boring within rather than the boring without, that this democracy has to fear, and it is more serious than foreign wars," Mr. Campbell stated, referring to the attitude of unemployed adults, as revealed in the Maryland survey.

School's Obligation
The modern school is the chief instrument in clarifying the fact that democracy is a way of living, and if the schools cannot tell the boys and girls the idea of democracy, then it is a failure, said Mrs. North.

Authorities on the subject of juvenile delinquency have pointed out that lack of planning of youth activities, money not being directed where it could do the most good for the greatest number, and the absence of civic responsibility, are often the environmental factors responsible for youthful criminals, according to Mr. Campbell.

Quoting a noted youth problemist, Mrs. North reiterated the universal interests and needs of all boys and girls as follows: Sex or her own physical well-being; economic security, home and family relationships and friendships; patriotism and recreation.

Twins Falls Answer
How Twin Falls is attempting to solve the problems of youth, was told by Mr. Campbell, who directed the Mammock peak swimming pool and playground project as a community undertaking, sponsored by the Jaycees and supported by civic groups and individuals, and Mrs. North, who told of the range of diversified activities of the Boys' club and the Girls' league in the Twin Falls high school, which helps the student body attain social and civic competence.

The audience was invited to participate in a round table discussion on the subject, "Know Your Community," following the speeches.

Mrs. D. L. Alexander, convention program chairman, presided at the luncheon, introducing the speakers. Mrs. Nellie Ostrom, and "Lady Moon," John Allan Ostrom, accompanied by Mrs. Alexander, played "Stelliana and Hilarious," Kreier, on the violin and the "Are Maria," as a solo selection.

Export of U. S. Airplanes to Europe Awaits Congress Action

By NEA Service

Fifty million dollars worth of American airplanes—made to join the air battle over Europe—have been stored, abandoned, and left in storage hangars, are just one of the problems staring Congress in the face.

They are planes ordered for delivery to countries over for war during the last five months of 1938, but which could not be delivered. The neutrality law forbids.

Plane Delivered

During the first seven months of the year, 244,000 worth of airplanes were completed and delivered for combat in the war now started. The remainder on order will be finished, and either stored waiting a change in the law, or sold to some country able to accept them legally.

For 1938 manufacture, Britain and France had ordered almost 1,500 American planes. Just before they were finished and delivered before the declaration of war, and the automatic action of the neutrality act shut off further delivery and further orders, is not known. But apparently, judging from the money involved, at least half are already in Europe, to fight the Germans in the air.

Orders

Here are the orders listed by leading European countries:

BRITAIN: 200 Lockheed twin-engine bombers made at Burbank, Calif., delivery of which order is "in progress," and 50 more for Australia; 400 North American single-engine basic combat planes, part of them delivered, and 15 of the same for Canada; 50 for Australia.

FRANCE: 200 Curtiss P-36 single-engine pursuit planes built at Buffalo, and all delivered; 218 Martin twin-engine attack bombers built at Baltimore, part of them delivered; 40 Vought single-engine fighters built at Springfield, Conn.; 50 North American basic combat planes similar to those ordered by the British, built at Inglewood, Calif.; partly delivered; and 100 Douglas twin-engine attack bombers built at Santa Monica, Calif., in the same status.

Up to Congress

Since all these orders were rushed from the start, and delivery was known to be ahead of schedule, it is possible that at least 800 of these American planes are now in Europe. The fate of the remainder, after they are completed, rests with Congress.

The American aircraft industry is operating today at about 65 per cent of capacity, estimates John H. Johnson, president of the American Chamber of Commerce. Stimulating production of the large foreign orders have enabled it to increase production greatly, he indicated.

This suggests that the new American army orders now coming in, and any orders which might be received from countries cut off from European plane-builders, could be filled promptly and easily by the industry, leaving the American airplane industry.

Officials

The performance of these planes in Europe may give some hint as to American progress in aviation; and serve as a device for some plane built by the U. S. Army, perhaps agree, however, that today's plane begins to be obsolete the moment it is rolled out of the factory, and that even ships for the American army which directly follow these European orders of the ship, will be greatly superior to them.

Of the six models of planes made for sale by the U. S. Army, the U. S. Army will use three. The American air force has in service Douglas twin-engine attack bombers and Curtiss P-36 pursuit ships.

Wheat Quotas Told Farmers

JEROME, Sept. 24 (Special)—According to an announcement made this week by J. H. Handy, president of the Jerome county A. A. A. association, allotments of wheat, allocated for individual farmers in Jerome county were mailed out on Sept. 23.

Wheat growers throughout the county will have until Oct. 8 in which to submit written requests to the county A. A. A. committee for adjustments in their allotments.

Based on History

"The average allotment for wheat accorded for harvest in 1940 were set by community A. A. A. committees with the aid of the county committee on the basis of the wheat growing history in individual farmers," Handy said.

"If any farmer feel that their allotment is not correct, they should notify the county committee in writing to state belief that their allotment should be adjusted."

Farmers who did not grow wheat in 1939, 1938 and 1940 but who intend to plant wheat for harvest in 1940 are classified as "new" wheat farmers. They should apply in writing to the county committee for an allotment of a specified acreage before the end of the 15 day appeal period, or Oct. 8, 1939.

FRENCH SAY 20 NAZI SUBS LOST

PARIS, Sept. 24 (AP)—An authoritative informant said today that according to unofficial and unconfirmed reports only seven German submarines of an original wave of 27 sent to prey on allied merchantmen had returned to their bases.

The informant said the French and British authorities were certain that 20 submarines had been destroyed.

In the war, the French high command said:

"There was a quiet night in all sectors. An enemy attack west of Scarborough failed."

"Commercial sea navigation had resumed its normal rhythm, thanks to convoy organization and aerial and naval patrols."

Burley, Rupert Golfers Start Play for Crown

BURLEY, Sept. 28 (Special)—Ace golfers of Burley and Rupert will open chase here Sunday for the 1939 Burley municipal golf course championship.

Jim Edwards, pro at the club, announced that the tournament will follow P.G.A. and national open style and will be entirely medal play, with no match duels on the card. The route will be 36 holes in medal play with the low scorer capturing the 1939 championship.

The journey will not be divided into flights, Edwards said. Instead, it will consist entirely of the total entry list battling for in one great flight. Trophies will be awarded by Rogers' store.

Major Contenders
Major contenders for the title include Jack Roper, I. H. Harris, L. Culbertson, Glen Hunter, Harry Caldwell, Fred Lewis, Fred Luderer, Dr. Hugh E. Dean, Jose Black, Bryan Casper and Jim Roper who is 27 years of age is the youngest of the group.

At the end of the first nine, Harris and Brooks had marched into a 4 up lead but Roper and Kelley staged a comeback on the last nine to deadlock matters and then capturing the final hole in a clutching finish.

Bengals Open Year Against Greeley State

POCAATELLO, Sept. 28 (Special)—Idaho Southern University meets its first foe of the 1939 football season Saturday when the widely known Greeley State gridders show for the first time on the local campus. Game time is set for 3:30 p. m. and in the next hour of play the local team will be under a severe test.

Athletic Director Guy Wicks thinks his team will be lucky to get over the Greeley boys, and if they do Idaho Southern can be counted on to turn in another fine season. It looks like Wicks will have to start rebuilding for a second start.

No Practice Letups
There has been no letup in practices since the initial turnout of two score men on September 14, and with about 20 plays assigned, the Idaho Southern gridders will continue drills until the day before the game. About 45 are in suit, and from this number Wicks will pick the most outstanding for the starting lineup.

Likely to see action in the starting lineup are the following line men: Stanley Grier of Pocatello, Emmett Gibb of Twin Falls, ends; Bill Locke and Cliff Patterson of McCammon, tackle; Roy Roper, McCammon and Albert Olson, Wilder, guards; Ray Turner, center. Others certain to be called upon for service are: Lyle Beck of Pocatello, Wayne Turner and Bob O'Connell, Twin Falls, Roland Kramer, American Falls, Everett Scott, Idaho Falls, Dean Geddes, Port Hall, and Ray Jorgensen, St. Anthony.

Backfield Ace
Backfield ace Woody Lundberg of Idaho Falls who will do a great deal of ball carrying, passing and kicking, opened Kiewitson, McCammon, Norman, Port Hall, Wash. Jim Eley, Coeur d'Alene, Cliff Brandel, Boise, Wayne Dentry, Piner, and John Worthington, Pocatello.

Worthington is the outstanding prospect among the new men, being able to perform in several backfield assignments, a big factor when considering the lack of reserve backfield men.

Mac Is Indignant About World Series Set-Up on Ticket Sales

By HENRY McLEMORE
NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (UP)—There are several things concerning the world series that I would like to see intelligent readers clear up for me.

First, who was the inspired man, woman, or child who thought up the name for the yearly battle between the National and American league winners, and what was his justification for such an all-inclusive title?

As a matter of fact it is as exclusive as Bailey's beach, with teams from only 10 American cities permitted to contest for a right to play in it. There might be terrific teams in Tulsa, Tokyo or Timbuktu, but you can imagine the reaction if they got it they showed up at the scene of the world series early in October and said they thought they were the best baseball players in the world and would like to play for the championship of the world. Being liberal minded, I suggest that in the future it be referred

WAR AIDS DRIVE FRUIT BUSINESS

BOISE, Sept. 24 (UP)—The fruit business and new plantations springing up in Idaho are pouring into the war aid drive. The fruit and other fruit or produce, produce men disclosed today. Two plants anticipating a production of 550 tons of dried grapes, season are in operation in Meridian. Preparations for apple drying, apricots, raisins, figs, and other centers are under way.
Because dried fruit is not perishable and can be shipped on slow, cheap, winter carriers, it is an important food product in war time. It can be held for several years without spoiling.
In the process employed, orchard fruit is brought straight from the orchard to the receiving plant. The fruit is then processed into an automatic machine which carried it through a boiling bath. It is placed in drying trays, carried to the upper end of an inclined tunnel which is kept at a temperature of 160 to 180 degrees by coal fires. The fruit is then dried for 24 hours receiving the heat treatment. The dried prunes are taken from the lower end of the tunnel and unloaded into bins. The fruit is then replacing some of the moisture while the fruit is cleaned for packing.

NAZIS SAY SHIP HIT BY BOMBERS

BERLIN, Sept. 24 (UP)—The German high command asserted today that a German ship, the Weser, had struck a British heavy bomber on the mouth of the North Sea, on the 23rd.

An official communiqué said the German bomb hit the cruiser's bow. The point of attack, it was said, was near the town of Maastricht, from the Rhine coast of Holland and only 75 miles from Rotterdam.

The communiqué said the attack was "successful." No mention was made of any casualties to the German planes.

In the communiqué the high command repeated its assertion of yesterday that in an attack in the night, the Weser was hit by a German aircraft carrier with a 1,100 pound bomb and hit a British battleship with 550 pound bombs forward and amidships.
