

BRITISH PLAN PEACE REPLY TO HITLER ON THURSDAY

CHAMBERLAIN TO GIVE STATEMENT ON AIMS OF WAR

LONDON, Oct. 10 (UP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's statement on the war will be made Thursday instead of Wednesday.

The British statement was delayed in order to permit further consultation with the Dominions.

It was reported that Britain (and France) would make a clear statement of their aims in such form as Adolf Hitler, if he really wants peace, can consider them counterproductive to those he made in his recent speech.

Most members of the chief political parties, Conservative, Liberal and Labor, held that Hitler's own terms were absolutely unacceptable. But there was a strong feeling that if Hitler wanted to submit a reasonable offer—one which would be recognized by the world as involving no allied surrender and offering hope for a lasting, honorable peace—the allies naturally would be glad to accept it.

Chamberlain, long an "appeaser," was now among the firmest advocates of a strong British policy. It was understood to be working harmoniously with Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty and architect of the "commonwealth" line.

Chamberlain was said to have written personally some of the most biting passages in a ministerial statement on the subject of the night on Hitler's speech, a commentary which contemptuously dismissed the Nazi peace bid as hardly worth considering.

HOME BURNED BY MORNING BLAZE

Of control, threatened the entire neighborhood. The fire, soon extinguished after the department's arrival but the Laraby home was in ruins.

Mrs. Laraby told firemen that she had built a fire shortly after 4 a. m., awaiting the arrival home of her husband, who was working at the New plant on the night shift. She then went to bed.

Spark from Chimney

A spark from the chimney evidently started the fire on the garage roof, connected with the house. It spread rapidly and by the time Mrs. Laraby learned that the structure was on fire it was too late to save anything. She ran from the burning house.

DESTITUTE

Townpeople this afternoon asked public cooperation in a drive to raise funds to aid Mr. and Mrs. John W. Higney, elderly couple whose home was badly damaged by flames this morning which destroyed another house.

Mr. Higney is 67 and Mrs. Higney is 65. Both were left destitute as a result of the fire.

Donations will be accepted by Joe K. Koehler, at the Royal Theater or at his home and will be turned over to the elderly couple.

Mr. Koehler announced this afternoon that a special showing of the picture, "Man of Conquest," would be given starting at 11:30 p. m. today and that all proceeds from the show would be given to the Higney's.

house and awakened the Sturgis who immediately moved their trailer.

In the meantime Mr. Higney made a futile effort to keep the fire from spreading to his house. He played a stream of water from a garden hose over it but when water piled in the Laraby home burst the pressure gave out. The local department arrived in time to stop spread of the flames through the Higney house.

Higney Damage $250

Rigney this afternoon estimated damage to his home at approximately $200. He said he had no furniture in the house, but that the loss to the Laraby home, burned to the ground, was not estimated.

The Higney's were informed that they would be given a few tools which would help them to get on their feet.

In addition to the house on the Laraby lot, the garage and also a shed which was filled with stored articles were destroyed. Only things salvagable were a few tools which withstood the terrific heat.

CAR OVERTURNS, WOMAN INJURED

A Hagerman woman was slightly injured here this morning when the car in which she was a passenger overturned as a result of a crash at the intersection of Front and Fifth avenues north, police records show.

Injured was Mrs. Nettie Lowenthal, Hagerman. She received a bruised leg. Driver of the machine in which the woman was a passenger was her husband, Roy Lowenthal.

The Hagerman car and a Marketa grocery truck being operated by Richard A. Morley crashed, police said, and the 300-lb. woman was injured.

Principal damage to the Lowenthal machine consisted of a broken wheel and a broken axle. Police pointed out that although the car turned over, no glass was broken.

No arrests were made in connection with the mishap. The crash occurred at 10:15 a. m.

American factories produced 600,000,000 yards of cotton yarn and 10,000,000,000 yards of cotton cloth in 1937.

SUIT FILED OVER EJECTED FROM DITCH

Argument of neighboring ranchers over asserted closing of a ditch vital to three of the four men flared into a district court suit today.

Walter Norris filed action against William Weckert asking the court to:

1. To decree that they own title to the ditch right-of-way, carrying water from a Twin Falls Canal company pipeline to their property.
2. To order Weckert to rebuild the ditch he assertedly filled in.
3. To perpetually enjoin and restrain Weckert from interfering with the ditch.
4. To order the defendant to pay $100 damages.

Complaint against Weckert recites the ranch property owned by the three plaintiffs adjoining the defendant's land, points out they have held for many years an easement and right of way for the ditch running from the pipeline, and says that on Oct. 5 Weckert filled in the ditch.

The three ranchers assert they now cannot get water for land or for domestic use.

Bothwell and Povey are attorneys for the plaintiffs.

LONG CASE GOES TO THIRD TRIAL

Trial of a damage action which has faced a district court jury twice and the Idaho supreme court three times got underway slowly here today before Judge T. Bailey Lee, Burley.

The case is that of L. E. Joslin and his wife, Sarah M. Joslin, against the Idaho Times Publishing company. Joslin seeks damages for injuries he suffered when struck by a motorcycle driven by a youth he claims was an employee of the publishing firm. The defense has contended throughout that the cyclist was an independent contractor.

Jury Selection

Task of jury selection was still unfinished as court recessed at noon today. It was taken up again this afternoon and was expected to be completed before the end of the day.

Joslin won a verdict once in district court; the defense then won a supreme court on two different hearings; the case came back to district bench here, where the defense was victorious when Judge C. E. Winstead, Boise, approved a non-suit motion; Joslin appealed that and won reversal by the supreme court with remanding to Twin Falls for the third trial here.

Amended complaint filed by Joslin's counsel, Bothwell and Povey, has amended the original damage amount requested. The total is now approximately $5,000.

More than 5 years ago the case first filed April 7, 1934, more than five years ago.

Defense counsel for the publishing concern are Chapman and Chappell.

Chronology of the prolonged legal battle, as listed on the entry books of district court in Twin Falls, shows:

Damages action filed April 7, 1934. Verdict for plaintiff June 13, 1934. Notice of move for new trial by defense, March 1, 1935. Overruled, July 14, 1934. Notice of supreme court appeal, July 28, 1934. Reversed and remanded by supreme court, certified copy filed here Oct. 8, 1935.

GERMANY TO WITHDRAW 100,000 FROM RUSSIAN POLAND

NAZIS MOVE ALL NATIONALS INTO POLISH CORRIDOR

BERLIN, Oct. 10 (Special).—Germany intends to withdraw 100,000 Germans from Russia's portion of Poland and in addition to the 120,000 to be moved from Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, it was understood today. The Polish Germans would be driven from Galicia and like those from the Baltic provinces, would be settled in what was the Polish corridor.

Estonians Arrive
Gdynia dispatches reported that the first Germans from Estonia already had arrived. Shins were loading Germans at Riga, Latvia. It was estimated that all among the 80,000 Latvian and Estonian Germans who are willing to leave—of whom not for various reasons remain where they are—would be repatriated within one month. Germans who elect to remain in the Baltic countries will be told that Germany can not guarantee to protect their interests. Russia is the protector now.

Reverts to Nazis
It was reported that property which the Germans leave behind would revert to the Nazi government and that former owners would be compensated by land grants and money payments in their new homes.

For years the Nazi movement had been strong among the once-powerful German-speaking Baltic republics. Many of them had fought the bolsheviks. They had hoped the Nazis would help them regain their status. It was reported some of them were shocked to find that they were being moved to Germany instead of Germany moving up to them.

MOSCOW, Oct. 10 (Special).—War in Europe has directly affected at least six University of Idaho students this fall. Marie Hansen, who also majored in modern languages and was graduated from Idaho last June, had planned to study in Germany this year. War changed her plans. Enrollment at George Washington university, Washington, D. C., instead. Her home is in Juneau, Alaska.

In Switzerland
Fred Pickel, who went to Germany as an exchange student two years ago, was reported last month in Switzerland trying to book passage back to the United States and the University of Idaho. Last year he worked in an American consular office in southern Germany. He is from Anacostia, Mont.

Lillian Mueller, a sophomore at Idaho last year, crossed the Atlantic shortly before hostilities opened and registered at a university in Geneva, Switzerland, to study art and languages.

Two young Jewish refugees from the expanding German reich are expected to register not later than this week. Walter Orstein, who emigrated six months ago from Czechoslovakia to Ecuador, will be a junior in bacteriology, contributing work he was doing at a medical school in Prague. He will enter this country as a student visa as a subject of Ecuador.

Studies Geology
Charles Storer (Stietzschneider) who was in Germany, admitted to the United States a year ago as a quota immigrant from Hamburg, Germany, will study geology. His transcript shows he has attended schools in Germany, Switzerland and England. He attended New York university last year.

Nothing has been heard from Wolf Steuer, who was to have entered Idaho this fall as an exchange student in forestry from Munich, Germany.

The men are alleged to have stolen 18 head of sheep from Alex Rigley, View stockman, removed the brand and substituted another brand on each sheep.

Both are free under $500 bond pending preliminary hearing on the theft charge. They were arraigned Friday before Judge Henry W. Tucker last week, and reserved their pleas until a preliminary hearing. Crost was arrested last Thursday by Sheriff P. D. Pace and questioned. He was alleged to have said that Hill at first said that his children had changed the brands on the sheep, but later had changed his story and said that he had done it. Hill voluntarily surrendered to officers here, after Crost had revealed the information.

ARMY RECRUITING HITS NEW MARK

Army enlistments in the eighth month of the year came to 1,311, a new high record, during the month of September, it was announced here this afternoon by Sgt. Frank Morris, local recruiting officer, after receipt of word to this effect from headquarters at San Francisco.

This number, Sgt. Morris said, brings to 4,500 the number recruited in the first quarter of the fiscal year. The previous record was established during August when 1,435 enlistments were made in this area.

Recruitments and original enlistments both showed a marked increase over the previous record month, with 984 men recruiting and 827 men enlisting for the first time.

With a wide choice of branch and station, the greater part of the men were selected and were assigned to stations within the area. However, enlistments were accomplished for service in other corps areas including Alaska, Hawaii, Panama and the Philippine Islands.

Full particulars regarding the present enlistment drive can be had by consulting Sgt. Morris at the city hall in Twin Falls.

Wool Price Up But War Will Decide Future, Co-Op Hears

Wool prices climbed in the United States after declaration of the European war and the domestic wool manufacturing situation will be greatly affected in coming months by those war conditions, directors of the Pacific Wool Growers were told at Portland Saturday, according to Harvey S. Hale, Twin Falls, the only Idaho member of the directors.

The co-op chiefs met at Portland Friday and Saturday. Mr. Hale was named on the auditing committee.

Better Prices
R. A. Ward, manager of the wide-spread Pacific wool group, told directors that some range wool sold in original packs brought prices through the co-op eight to 15 cents above those offered for the same wool in the country this spring and summer. Mr. Hale said that Ward produced figures showing that farm stock pools are also being sold at top prices.

The co-op directors reviewed the wool market since the last meeting. Summary of the wool market, as outlined at the meeting, showed the prices advanced sharply after declaration of war in Europe. Prices that were selling at 67 to 68 cents clean basis in Boston the last week

IDAHO PROFESSOR PUBLISHES BOOK

MOSCOW, Oct. 10 (Special).—The first American text on mine surveying in 25 years, written by W. W. Staley, assistant professor of mining at the University of Idaho, has just been issued by the Stanford university press.

Title of the 275-page volume, bound in small handbook style with flexible covers, is "Introduction to Mine Surveying." Its avowed purpose is to put into print a summary of progress in terms of tested present-day practice.

As a check on his own field and classroom experience, Professor Staley sent a lengthy questionnaire to mining companies large and small in the United States, Canada and Mexico before he began writing. He chose illustrations and examples of a practical nature. His material is suitable for the classroom or in the field at an operating mine.

Three years ago the McGraw-Hill Book company came out with a similar text by Professor Staley on "Mine Plant Design," another course he has taught at Idaho since he joined the school of mines faculty in 1928. He spent the past summer working in the Sunstone mine at Kellogg.

ONION PURCHASE PARLEY TONIGHT

One hundred ears of onions to be purchased by the federal surplus commodities corporation will be allotted to growers of southwestern Idaho and eastern Oregon this evening Wednesday, Oct. 11, at 8 p. m. It was announced here today by Ralph A. Bacon, dealer.

Bacon made the announcement after his return from Boise last evening where he and other dealers met with Chester F. Gibbons, SSC representative. The meeting in Twin Falls will be held in the R. A. Bacon warehouse on the truck lane one block east of Shoshone street.

He said that at the Boise meeting 30 cars were allotted to the district east of Mountain Home, 30 to eastern Oregon and 40 to Boise valley and western Idaho. Aside from the Twin Falls session Wednesday, similar meetings will be held at the Ontario, Ore., city hall and the Dalrymple's creamery at Caldwell.

Bacon urged all growers to be present at the local session in order that a "proper allotment can be made." The 100-car purchase will be at a price of 30 cents per sack for 50-pound open mesh sacks, fab. the cars, two-inch minimum.

Bacon said that purchase by the SSC was necessary to reduce the present surplus and secure better prices.

And Now It Is Lloyd George!

Nobody is likely to argue that Prime Minister Chamberlain of the United Kingdom, on his record, is one who is likely to turn heedlessly aside from any honest offer of peace that really promises a civilized Europe. It was Chamberlain who sacrificed so much (that did not belong to England) to the cause of "peace in our time."

So it seems strange indeed to see a figure rising in the House of Commons and demanding that Chamberlain give fullest consideration to any offer of peace coming from neutrals. And stranger still that this figure should be that of the stocky little Welshman, David Lloyd George.

It is 20 years ago, true, but the world can scarcely have forgotten that this is the same Lloyd George who was so great a factor in forcing through the Versailles mill the treaty whose failure put the world where it is today.

Was it not this same Lloyd George who went before his electorate just before the peace conference opened, with a program of "hang the Kaiser and make Germany pay the full cost of the war?"

Was it not this same Lloyd George who won his election on that platform and then returned to Versailles in such a position that he could accept little less than his election platform called for?

Was it not this same Lloyd George who, with implacable Clemenceau, jammed through the peace negotiations impossible reparations demands on Germany, and who helped to jettison President Wilson's Fourteen Points?

Was it not this same Lloyd George who pushed aside the advice of the American negotiators when they said that the harshness of the Versailles terms would inevitably lead to the rise of a German leader who would seek to throw off the oppressive treaty?

Yes, it was the same man, and not one whose record would seem to argue that he is best qualified to contribute to the question of a 1939 peace. Such a peace must be better than the peace of 1919, or it will have been scarcely worth the making.

Lloyd George wants the United States dealt a hand in any new peace conference "because you have there a great power whose interests are not European interests and which has not been involved in any of these disputes and quarrels."

Whether the United States might have any interest in the making of a general peace in Europe would depend largely on whether it proved to be a mere military armistice or a real settlement going to the root of economic, colonial, financial and armament problems in a truly international way.

That Woodrow Wilson once envisioned such a world settlement, and what happened to his hopes, and why it happened, no one is in a better position to remember than David Lloyd George. And if there should appear in the United States a certain reluctance to take another hand in that game, especially if there are any duces wild, again Lloyd George is in the best possible position to understand.

In the Stars

It seems that in the great city there was a wise astrologer, who by cabalistic calculations could foresee the future. The stars revealed to him the fate of mankind.

Does this call to your mind a medieval city, with a tower reached by winding stairs, and a wizened man in peaked cap poring over volumes of necromancy? Not at all. This is Paris, 1939, and there is one Dom Neroman who is a professor in the school of mines and who claims to be able to read in the stars the secrets of the future. He is now busy with observations which, he claims, will disclose the duration and the winner of the present European war.

If that is true, it opens up a great vista. Hitler is supposed to be not unimpressed by stargazers and astrologists. Why not appoint an official universal astrologer on whom all rulers think they can depend? Let him tell how the war must inevitably come out, as governed by the stars. Then just call off the war and go on from there, accepting the astrologer's version of the inevitable.

Silly? Well, how do you like the way things are done now?

On the Rumanian border, private homes must be camouflaged. It must be disturbing to arrive home a little bit on the high side and find what appears to be only a vacant lot.

A London paper predicts Hitler will offer to quit. This puts British prognostications about on a level with forecasts that Brooklyn would win the pennant this year.

Hitler finds his peace offers have little effect in ending the war. Of course he could go climb his mountain and just ignore the whole thing.

The Ladies and Civilization

A vital dispatch has just reached the Pot Shots desk. It was rushed to us with all the speed that a mimeograph machine and second class postage envelope unassisted.

"Women Are Less Civilized Than Men," says Science.

It seems that at the New York World's fair exhibit of the company (that they don't get their publicity after all) it was discovered that women's hair is coarser than men's.

On the average, that is.

The company also found that primitive races like the Eskimos and Indians have the coarsest hair. So the company concludes that women are less civilized than men.

Personally, we think the company is wasting a lot of time. It could have sent out a few $18 per week observers to watch a bargain shopping crowd, for instance. Or to study a neighborhood brawl in which mothers stood up for their brats.

Or to a contract bridge party.

Or to a sign-along corner where a lady motorist is talking back to a male cop.

Or to lover's lane, where the ladies are engaged in eliciting the matrimonial hook into the male fish.

Or to a telephone, when a woman gets two wrong numbers in a row.

Hair-measuring machine... is dead.

Style Parade by Mr. Lackey

Dear Sir:

And now Harold Lackey has decided by gum he's gonna buy the most impressive colored pajamas and robe he can find.

Why?

Well, when that roof fire hit his house Monday, Harold was taking his bath and wearing frayed blue pajamas. And he had to get out into the front yard, displaying pajamas and a towel. He was a sight. About the middle of the day, too, when sunlight shows all the colors in anybody's pajamas.

P.S.—Here's a hint, Harold. Look up that brand of pajamas called "Romance"—they get the colors!

P.P.S.—Remember to Mr. Lackey's style parade as presented Wednesday it was "Average Average," according to two young ladies of my acquaintance.

WORKING WIVES

BY LOUISE HOLMES

Copyright, 1939, N.E.A. Service, Inc.

Yesterday's Daily Express carried a letter from a woman who wrote to the editor, saying that she was a working wife and that she was tired of the housework. She said that she was tired of the housework and that she was tired of the housework.

CHAPTER XXXX

It was after midnight. The house was dark except for the light from the lamp on the table. The woman was sitting at the table, looking at the clock. The clock showed that it was twelve o'clock.

"You'll go with me!"

Dolly raised her eyes to the still genial face of Dr. Moss. "May I?"

He nodded.

Marian said, "But I should be getting myself. If I should be for Dan, don't you think I should be for him? I've explained how I feel about Dan. I want to be ready for him. Promise me."

"I promise."

"And if anything should happen, she bit a quivering lip. 'Yes, dear.'"

"Tell him that I was brave. Tell him that I was happy to have my baby. Try to make him understand how much I love him—how much I have always loved him."

"You'll tell him yourself, darling. Dolly held her hand as the car was trundled down the quiet hall. She stood by staunchly. When Marian cried out, "Dan!" she was there. She was there. After that there was blessed oblivion for Marian.

The sun was making a rectangular patch on the carpet when she awoke. She stirred and Dolly went to the bed. She kissed Marian's white cheek, her eyes were closed. "It's all over, darling," she said. "A girl!"

"Yes, Dr. Moss says that she is the most beautiful little girl. Her name is Glad—Glad Harkness." Marian's long lashes fell. She was asleep. She looked young and small in the high white bed.

They took Glad home after two weeks. Randy and Dolly and a strangely shaken Dr. Moss went home. Randy had been doubtful about the small apartment. He had suggested larger quarters and a nurse. But Dr. Moss, he said, Marian had refused.

"No," she had said. "Glad's father is supporting her."

TRYING weeks followed. Marian's strength was slow in returning; the baby's food formula had to be changed and changed again.

You May Not Know That—

By H. L. CRAIG

The first theatrical performance in the Pacific Northwest was given Feb. 8, 1840, aboard the British man-of-war Modeste, at anchor in the Columbia off Point Vancouver. Under the deepening shadow of the threat of war between the United States and England over Oregon, a cast composed of daughters of Oregon immigrants and British naval officers presented to a mixed audience from the American and British settlements the comedy "Three Weeks After Marriage."

again. The summer heat came early, long scorching days, humid nights. Steadfastly, Marian cared for the baby, letting the housewife rest, resting when the baby slept.

Her love for the child was something like worship; she watched her development with awe and fear. She was a mother, a mother, a mother. She was a mother, a mother, a mother.

Randy and Dolly came every day. They quietly installed comfort in the electric refrigerator which the apartment did not afford, fans, linen sheets, which were cooler than anything Marian grew thin, blue shadows made her eyes enormous, her hands were rough from daily laundry work.

Dolly expatiated, she begged, she even became angry. Randy talked earnestly to Marian. They were friends. What were friends for, anyway? But if she should be for Dan, don't you think I should be for him? I've explained how I feel about Dan. I want to be ready for him. Promise me.

"Tell him that I was brave. Tell him that I was happy to have my baby. Try to make him understand how much I love him—how much I have always loved him."

"You'll tell him yourself, darling. Dolly held her hand as the car was trundled down the quiet hall. She stood by staunchly. When Marian cried out, "Dan!" she was there. She was there. After that there was blessed oblivion for Marian.

ON Sept. 10, Marian's chauffeur took them both to the city. Dolly had made it ready. There was food in the refrigerator. The rooms had been cleaned and aired.

Marian set a day for her leaving and she worked toward it feverishly. A few new clothes for Glad, a new outfit for everything, a few conveniences for travel. She had her own ideas of dress changed and all owned. She had a straight, shining head left but a bed and one chair, there to be called for on the morrow, Marian sat in the bare emptiness, she was alone.

"We're going to see your daddy, Glad," she said softly.

The baby cowered and kicked and threw her little arms about. She had a straight, shining head left but a bed and one chair, there to be called for on the morrow, Marian sat in the bare emptiness, she was alone.

'American Way' Given Comprehensive Review

"The American Way," is as exciting and as beautiful as the American flag—long may it run.

Such is the manner in which Alexander Woolcott regards the Kaufman and Hart Broadway success, starring Fredric March and Florence Eldridge, which Mrs. George Warburg reviewed this afternoon for the Drama and Literature department of the Twentieth Century club. Her discussion of the drama was enthusiastically received by the large group assembled at the American Legion Memorial hall.

Mrs. A. J. Peavey, chairman, presided at the opening program of the season.

In Praise of Democracy

Declaring the timely, significant play to be a "rousing cry on behalf of the American manner of democratic life," Mrs. Warburg commended it.

"It is a reply and a challenge to the brutal crushing of human life abroad, and the insidious methods of subversive groups at home."

"The play is an essentially vivid and inspiring picture of America before 1918, when the issue was Bryan's 'Free Silver' or McKinley's 'Full Dinner Pail' and in 1939 when the issue is 'Democracy or Autocracy'."

Mrs. C. R. Fox assisted Mrs. Warburg, presenting illustrative music.

Miss Ruby Carlson of the Twin Falls high school, told briefly of the all-school play "Prologue to Glory," to be presented Oct. 19 and 20 at the Twin Falls high school auditorium.

Stirring Decor

Decorations of the afternoon were Mrs. Roy Palmer, Mrs. C. C. Kingsbury, Mrs. R. V. Jones, Mrs. S. H. Kayler and Mrs. Robert Helfrecht.

Especially striking was the centerpiece for the tea table, a sterling silver bowl filled with French marigolds flanked by matching silver holders in which blending tapers burned.

"The bowl was designed and molded by Mrs. Helfrecht's father-in-law as a wedding present, and then the mold was destroyed, making it the only one of its kind in the world. He also designed the matching candle holders."

Dorothy, taken by Miss Mickey Humphrey, sang "Over the Rainbow," and gave an inspirational talk on what the girls might find "over the rainbow." Concluding the skit, girls attending sang the song "Somewhere Over the Rainbow."

Costumes were directed by Miss Margaret Chevalier, Miss Verna Simms and Miss Vera Babbel.

RECORD ENTRIES LOOM FOR FIELD TRIALS

Gooding to Play Host at Annual Event Oct. 12-14

By HAL WOOD
Evening Times Sports Editor

GOODING, Oct. 10 (Special)—This town was agog today as it prepared for the annual Idaho State Field trials here, which get underway on Thursday morning and which annually attract ace bird dog trainers from throughout the western states.

Indications today pointed to the biggest field of entries in the history of the meet and starting times will be at 7 a. m. daily to allow for the completion of each day's events. If necessary, this time may be moved up to 6 a. m.

"I believe we're going to have a bigger field trial entry list than last year," stated Secretary T. W. White today. "While entries are not necessarily listed until the final night before the opening event, we have indications of an ever increasing list of participants."

Last year among the entries was a group of 30 dogs brought here by Dr. E. V. Falk of Modesto, Calif. Mr. Falk's dogs have been in Washington, D. C., last week and may be here again this year.

Fee splitting will be used all through the meet.

Friday will mark the open derby stake, with an entrance fee of $3 and the open puppy stake, one year and under, with a fee of $2.

Saturday will witness the Western States Pheasant Dog championship stake with an entrance fee of $10, with all the entrance fees divided up among the winners, 75 per cent to the champion and 25 per cent to the runner-up.

Stunt Assembly Set Just Before Nampa Grid Duel

Decision to hold the first stunt assembly just before the game with Nampa, Nov. 17, and appointment of a budget committee were important business for the student council of Twin Falls high school at a meeting yesterday.

The budget committee will meet with a faculty committee to budget finances for the year on the basis of receipts from the sale of student body activity tickets. The drive to sell tickets closed last week, although they are still available.

Included in the budget are such activities as football, basketball and track, the school newspaper, and other special activities which vary from year to year.

On the student committee are Herbert Larsen, student body president, Helen Thomas and Bruce Evans. On the faculty committee are Leroy Hughes, Dale Wakem, Gerald Wallace and Edward Rogel.

The stunt assembly will be held with classes competing to put on the best stunt to arouse school pep for the football game. The winning class will be awarded points toward the citizenship cup. Two of the assemblies will be held during the year, one during football and one during basketball season.

BRUINS STILL HAVE LOTS OF WORK TO DO BEFORE COLLECTING THAT STATE CHAMPIONSHIP... PLANTING COLLEGE MATERIAL

Coch Hank Powers and his Twin Falls Bruins got off to a good start in their quest for a state high school championship here on Friday night by knocking the Boise Braves out of the playoffs.

However, this reporter believes that there is going to be a lot of work required to get the Bruins into the playoffs. The Bruins might be able to go through an undefeated season — a record required to claim the crown.

At even Coach Darwin Burger admits, the Braves didn't offer too tough a test here and their peak record this season verifies that talk—defeat by little Meridian, Ida., high school, and another by Ontario, Ore.

We're not attempting to detract from the local team's feat by crushing the Boiseans, because it always takes a good team to win over the Braves. But the Bruins might show more than they did Friday night to turn back such potentially powerful teams as Nampa and Pocatello, both reported to be exceptionally strong this year.

As yet, the Bruins attack has been restricted mostly to straight line—smashing ground, mostly off-tackle. Of course, we'll admit that it's the proper thing to do to continue along that line as long as they are successful. But it should become necessary to take to the air to make room for the Bruins might in a bad way. Friday they attempted only four passes—conceded for a net gain of 18 yards for the evening via the aerial route.

Maybe there is a better air attack there than this signifies—possibly Coach Powers is holding that back—but as we stated above, the team will have to show considerably more than it did in the Boise game if it expects to stop the coveted crown.

This reporter believes Coach Powers has the material and will develop

Oregon Webfeet Halt Big Red Machine

Losing their second game in two weeks, the Stanford Indians bowed to Oregon's Webfeet, 10 to 0. Here is Frankie Albert, Stanford left half, snapping a pass to Jim Tatrov who completed it for an 11 1/2-yard gain in the first quarter of the game at Portland.

U. S. C. Swamps Cougars

Stars three deep in every position gave the U.S.C. Trojans, Rose Bowl favorite, plenty of cause to tear down the grid hopes of the hapless Washington State team as they trimmed them 27 to 0. However in the picture above, Guard James Moody (24) of Washington State seems to be quite pleased about stopping S. C. Quarterback Doyle Nave.

Wilson's and Idaho Power Pin Clubs Win

Wilson's store bowling club of Kimberly's last night swamped the Hille's Conoco team in the City league for a four-point total, taking all three games and the high-point score.

The winners were led by Frank Vonka who chalked up a three-game score of 551. Paul Callis was high single-game pinman with an even 200.

Commercial league activity saw Idaho Power score a 3-1 victory over Zip-Way. Sherrett Reed led the winners with a 570 total for three games, while Al Norton got a high single of 214.

Joe Louis Sets Title Defense Against Godoy

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (U.P.)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis will make his ninth title defense against Arturo Godoy of Chile—a rough, tough mountain Indian—at Madison Square Garden on Feb. 9.

Promoter Mike Jacobs announced this bout last night, emphasizing that Godoy, best Tony "Roll Out the Barrel" Calento twice during Godoy's United States campaign in 1937.

"Uncle Mike" picked Godoy as the heavyweight challenger after failing to come to terms with young Lou Nova of Los Angeles. It seems that Nova, after getting a bloody beating by Calento at Philadelphia, wanted too much money to take another from Louis.

At the same time Jacobs announced that Tony Canzoneri, former lightweight champion, would fight 10 rounds with young Al Davis of Brooklyn at Madison Square Garden on Nov. 1. Billy Conn will defend his light heavyweight championship against Gus Lernerich of New Jersey at the Garden on Nov. 17. Armstrong will defend his welter crown against Lou Ambers at the Garden on Dec. 1. Fred Apolloni and Mello Bettina will tangle in a light heavy contenders' battle at the Garden on Jan. 5.

STRIKES to SPARE With Fred Stone

Well, well, well! Believe it or not, Zip-Way won a game—and by the top-sliced score of 848 to 846!

Read at anchor for the Power company demonstrated that he was not out of position as he rolled a 970 total, good for tops for the night.

His teammate, Al Norton, with 214, took the single game honors. Tanner, Nease and Self were just so-so.

W. I. Tanner and his even ball didn't get along too good. Either Mr. Tanner didn't look where he was shooting or shoot where he was looking.

Vey Glah and his even ball didn't get along too good. Either Mr. Tanner didn't look where he was shooting or shoot where he was looking.

Norton's 214 starts out for the weekly prize in the Commercial league.

Wilson's store of Kimberly made a grand slam in City league competition, taking all four points from Hille's Conoco.

Wilson's 902 middle game is a new season high in the City loop. The old score was 886 set by Perrie Hille.

Frank Vonka with a 551 took high total for the east-enders.

Just like the Yankees—always in the limelight!

"Flash" Callis, with an even 200, took high single game—the lucky stuff!

Kilbourn and Pails were the only Kimberly bowlers under the 500 mark, with 486 and 480, respectively, were the best for the Conoco boys. K. Coleman's 167 took their top single.

Callis and his 500 mark start the battle for the City league prize.

STOCKS GAIN ON DALADIER SPEECH

DALADIER SPEECH

NEW YORK, Oct. 16 (UP).—Premier Daladier's statement of the French attitude toward Adolf Hitler's latest peace bid brought only a moderate rise into the stock market today.

Preceding Daladier's broadcast prices moved up to gains extending more than three points. During the speaker's early remarks stocks moved up briskly. U. S. Steel gaining more than three points, but after digestion of the speech the list edged off a point and more from the tops. Ac-live profit-taking appeared in some issues. Commodities met better demand. Wheat ran up to gains of 10 cents a bushel. Cotton set up to gains.

Government bonds dropped irregularly, foreigners were mixed and domestic corporates were firmer.

Business news continued favorable, but was overshadowed by foreign developments. Steel shares were aided by the U. S. Steel report of September shipments which showed total for month at a 25% level for year similar period, with extraordinary 1932, since 1929.

Coppers were helped by reports that smelters were planning to step up output.

and rails were given a fair whirl on indications that car-loadings last week were around the best level since 1930.

Automobile shares were hurt to some extent by labor trouble in the Dodge division of Chrysler.

and Brothers: 331. It is a running fire of anecdotes with a human touch and a highly entertaining one. Here is a sample: One of my fellow Americans made frequent business trips into the interior provinces . . .

are veteran travelers in the hinterlands of China, he had developed a certain method of procedure in order to smooth out the rough places and make life as comfortable as possible. Chinese

He carried with him one of the light folding cots with which every traveler in China equipped. After supper his servant would set up the cot in the middle of the room with each leg immersed in a shallow tin of kerosene, thereby effectively insulating it.

With a candle at the head of his cot, my friend would read until he fell asleep. . . . One night, during the early stages of one of his long journeys, his pleasant evening was disturbed by an impudent rat which scampered around the floor and sniffed at the kerosene in the insulation tins. He stood this for a half hour and then in a fit of Nordic anger threw the book the rat. . . .

When daylight came he found the rat was gone and so was the book, except for those indigestible portions which the rat had not eaten. This was the last book he had with him and he made the rest of the two weeks' journey with nothing to read.

A Chinese employe of mine was making a trip through the beautiful Yellow Mountain and on night in a Chinese inn he found not one rat, but a half dozen scampering about his room. But he didn't throw his book at the pests. Instead he paid one of the servants a few coppers for the loan of a cat for the night, shut the cat up in the room with himself and the rats, and so read and slept in peace and carried his book away with him.
