

FINNS LOOK TO EARLY SETTLEMENT OF RUSSIAN SQUABBLE

ALLIANCE WITH SOVIET TERMED OUT OF QUESTION

By NORMAN E. DEUEL
HELENSBORO, Finland, Oct. 14 (AP)—Foreign Minister J. E. Erkkila today expressed confidence that a "peaceful solution" of problems between Finland and Soviet Russia would be achieved shortly.

Erkkila told United Press that Finland—which has strong defense lines facing the Soviet frontier—has determined to preserve peace and has believed Russia had the same desire.

"A peaceful solution of the Soviet-Finnish question will be reached within a few days," he said, "and Finland will do everything within her power to preserve peace and I have a firm belief the Soviet government also will do this."

Alliance Out of Question
Erkkila said a defensive alliance of any kind or an alliance with any power was out of the question for Finland, regardless of its provisions. Such an alliance, he said, would have any idea of concluding with Russia a treaty similar to the Soviet-Finnish trade treaties, would be opposed to Finland's policy of complete neutrality.

Finland has a non-aggression pact with Russia, he pointed out.

Negotiations between the two countries are continuing, he said, and the present negotiations, Erkkila said, are of such a delicate nature that only the special ambassador, chief of the general staff, know the details of the negotiations.

Itinerant Wants March to Force Anti-War Votes

Expressing dark fear that the king of England is the most powerful man in the world and is scuttling America's neutrality hopes, an itinerant, who is apparently wherever he hangs his hat—when he wears a hat, which he doesn't.

"Real Americans," "Different senators and representatives at Washington," he said, "tell me that the only way to stop this thing called into European war step by step, is by a march on the capital by real Americans."

"We are a 'huh-huh' sort of attitude, he wouldn't say who the senators and representatives were. "Real Americans," he defined as people like himself, who indicated that was a fine definition.

Spencer got very vigorous in demanding that America stop taking orders from a foreign general in London.

Freight Train

The itinerant campaigner said that "my idea for the march on Washington would be by auto caravans, or even freight trains if necessary."

He modestly disclaimed any desire to lead such a march. He disclaimed lead the inference that if he were drafted, he would, of course, he might feel obliged to accept.

Spencer stalked grimly out of the Evening Times office when informed bluntly that British capital hasn't got a thing to do with Twin Falls newspapers, that every nickel of the ownership is local.

Florists Schedule Trip to Convention

Plans to attend the state convention in Nanaimo in November were charted by 15 members of the Southern Idaho Florists' club at a dinner meeting Thursday evening at the Rogers hotel. The state picnic is set for Nov. 7-9 and the club group decided to combine efforts on a group exhibit.

The florists in this area will be no son in November, but will get together at the state session.

COASTAL YOUTH ADMITS SLAYING

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 14 (AP)—Murderer De Witt Clinton Cook's one villainous moment under the klieg lights and movie camera was his confession to the slaying of a young woman.

He had, with the brazenness of a small town criminal, suddenly admitted the slaying of a young woman.

His victim was beautiful Anna Sooyeva, one-time Polish dancer, a student in the college dramatic school. She was one of a number of Hollywood young women Cook assaulted over a period of months. Some of the others were seriously injured.

The record of his unusual confession was flashed on the wall of his trial courtroom. It was a confession of a verdict of guilty without recommendation of mercy. The death sentence is mandatory. Judge at 10 p. m. yesterday said he would set the date for execution in the chamber on Tuesday.

The jury took the picture of this evidence into their quarters last night and emerged in 40 minutes to announce a verdict of guilty without recommendation of mercy. The death sentence is mandatory. Judge at 10 p. m. yesterday said he would set the date for execution in the chamber on Tuesday.

NAZI-SOVIET-FASCIST PARLEY SET, GERMANS CLAIM

3 POWERS WILL DISCUSS ALLIES' PEACE REJECTION

By FREDERICK O. SCHNEIDER
BERLIN, Oct. 14 (Special)—German, Russian and Italian leaders may meet somewhere in Italy to discuss the allied refusal to end the war on Adolf Hitler's terms, usually well informed Nazi quarters reported today.

It was indicated no meeting had yet been decided upon, but that the question was being discussed in negotiations through diplomatic channels on what the Nazis called the impending British rejection of Hitler's peace ultimatum.

Point to Hitler
Nazis attached increasing importance to the talk to Italy of Benito Mussolini, chief of the Gestapo, the "Nazi" secret police. Hitler was said to be planning to leave Germany to meet Mussolini in Italy to discuss the evacuation of German-blooded people from the Italian Tyrol, but Nazis pointed out such a visit would be made if Hitler proposed to go to Italy. Hitler's visit to Lake Como, often the scene of international conferences, increased Nazi interest in the possibility of a three-power meeting in Italy.

In any event, Nazis said a three-power conference would be held there soon, in addition to the present negotiations through diplomatic channels. They said "common defense measures" would be discussed.

There has been no indication from Italy either that a three-power meeting would be held there or that meetings were held in Italy or elsewhere, that Benito Mussolini intended to discuss any "common defense measure."

Seek Soviet Aid
Nazis seemed to believe that Premier-Forerunner V. M. Molotov or Vladimir Potemkin, vice foreign minister, might come to Berlin to represent Russia in negotiations. If no meeting was arranged in Italy, Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian foreign minister, might come to Berlin.

The Nazis seemed confident that if Hitler asked, Italy would give military aid to Germany. But at the same time there was a belief in well informed quarters that Germany attached more importance to seeking the utmost aid from Russia. Russia is not believed to have promised Germany any military aid so far.

Senator Tells Factors In Low Return on Sugar

(Editor's note: The following article, written by Sen. E. C. Barker, senior, a leader in efforts to improve the position of the sugar farmers, is published in the Idaho Statesman.)

Since the recent announcement by sugar companies that there would be no further payment to the farmers on the final settlement day of Oct. 20, on beets delivered from the 1938 crop, the Cassia County Beet Growers' association has made a rather comprehensive study of the above conditions.

The association has found that the farmers received $4.40 from the sugar company for their 1938 beets. This payment was made on the basis of $4.60 per hundred weight of sugar. The actual average in price received by the sugar company was $3.23 per hundred weight.

Low Price Factors
In light of the recent price increase on sugar incident to the outbreak of the war, farmers are rather disturbed over the low average net return for the 1938 sugar. After gathering all the information possible, the above association found the following factors to be contributing to the low net return of sugar sales for 1938:

1. The national administration at Washington penalized sugar sales by requiring all unsold current allotment sugar to be carried into the next quota year and that the carry-over be made a part of the allotment for the subsequent year. From the fact there was a great deal of domestic sugar carried over, it is evident that the consumer estimate as fixed by the sugar section of the department of agriculture, Washington, D. C., was exceedingly high.

This could and should be remedied by placing the responsibility and the authority of fixing the consumer estimate in the hands of a sugar board of three, that would be fair and impartial in the administration of this part of the sugar act.

"Corrupt Practices"
2. "Corrupt sales practices" of some of the domestic companies, themselves, is also a major contributing factor to the low net return of sugar. Since the production and processing of sugar has been an industry, it has been common practice to sell sugar on a guaranteed basis, that is those purchasing sugar from the processors have been and are now protected from price declines through the system of refunds and rebates.

This protection usually runs 30 days, however, during that time, some of the large domestic sugar companies extended this protection as much as 90 days, which included the period of the outbreak of war, at which time large price increases occurred. This 90 day concession to sugar companies was advertised by large domestic companies in Lamson and company's Sugar Market Report under the heading of "Guaranteed Basis."

It is also reported that some sugar companies (not Amalgams, Inc., however) use all kinds of unfair schemes as a pretext for rebates and refunds that are held out to the purchaser as an inducement to buy sugar. These unfair tactics affect the price of all other sugars, especially when a surplus of sugar is facing the market. If such practices cannot be eliminated permanently through agreement, then the matter properly becomes a subject of legislation under the "corrupt practices act."

Lost 50c Per Ton
It is reliably and authoritatively estimated that because of sugar sales methods now practiced, it cost the domestic industry between five and six million dollars in the 1938-39 sugar year, or a loss of 50c per ton for every ton of beets produced in continental United States.

It is also reported that some sugar companies have allowed to be sold a good share of their 1939 sugar production at low prices previous to the starting of the war period. It is understood that local companies have not done this.

Never before was the value of the domestic industry better demonstrated than at the outbreak of the present war, when Cuban sugar imports were immediately withdrawn from the market and forced a $1.50 per hundred weight rise in the sugar market, and at the present time are still withdrawn, trying to force the United States to reduce the tariff on Cuban sugar from $1.50 to 75c per hundred weight. One only has to use his common sense to know what would happen to the American consumer of sugar if there was no domestic sugar industry to protect his interest.

This year the farmers are fortunate in having a contract, whose upper brackets have given to him that share of the sugar dollar to which he is entitled. This is the first time in the history of beet industry that he will receive such a large proportion of the sugar dollar in the upper brackets.

The present contract in Idaho was negotiated and accepted at Boise by the Cassia, Jerome, Lincoln and Gooding counties, Nye, Ore., and five other southwestern county beet growers' organizations. Singularly with minor changes, other beet organizations accepted the like contract.

ACA HEADS WILL BE CHOSEN SOON

JEROME, Oct. 14 (Special)—Announcement that Jerome county farmers later this month will select community committee members for the county agricultural conservation program for the 1940 crop year gave today to a statement from J. H. Hender, chairman of the Jerome county ACA.

Membership in the Jerome county ACA embraces 1,068 families and approximately 87 per cent of all the farms in the county. That fact alone makes election of capable persons vitally necessary to efficient, effective leadership," Hender stated.

Jerome Vote
Hender announced that selection of community ACA committee members will take place during the week of Oct. 23 to 26 at community meetings which all Jerome county farmers who cooperate in the ACA farm program are urged to attend.

"Community committee members whose duty it will be to carry farm program information back to their neighbors at the next meeting, will be selected to represent the communities at the county convention for choosing county ACA committee members for the next year."

"County committee members directly are in charge of administering the farm program, seeing that it is adapted to agricultural conditions in the county, and helping cooperating farmers to comply with program requirements."

Many Phases
Hender pointed out that county and community committees in Jerome county are in charge of a farm enterprise which embraces many phases of agriculture, including growing wheat, potatoes, sugar beets and commercial vegetables, federal crop insurance and commodity loans on wheat, a conservation program for range lands and the direction of a definite plan for conserving and improving fertility of the agricultural land.

In Jerome county, these features cover the agricultural output of 65,723 acres of farmland. They are also responsible for proper distribution of payments for conservation practices.

Business meeting will include plans for the annual music festival and spelling bee sponsored by the association. Calendar committee members, Miss Irene Studvin, Miss Mary Bradley, Miss Florence Heckl, Miss Virginia Budd and Miss Hazel Kleinkopf, will be in charge.

Patrician music by the high school band, plus melodies of Lincoln's ode including his campaign song, will add to the atmosphere of the play.

Instructors Speak At Jerome Meeting

JEROME, Oct. 14 (Special)—"How the home and the school may cooperate," was the subject of two talks, Tuesday at P. T. A. meeting by Miss Leah Dungan, first grade instructor, and Arthur Chaburn, principal and teacher of social studies at Washington.

Miss M. P. Sheldon gave a report of the recent P. T. A. convention at Twin Falls and an account of Supl. Homer M. Davis' address at the south side city. Miss Lucille Webster played a number of folk songs.

Filer Masons Look Back To Start 30 Years Ago

By MRS. RUPERT WILLIAMSON
FILER, Oct. 14 (Special)—Thirty years ago on Oct. 14, 1909, decided that what the town of Filer then in its infancy, needed most, was a Masonic lodge.

They petitioned for a charter at meeting of the Grand lodge, then in session. For a time the group was known as the Filer lodge U. D. (under dispensation) and the charter was granted in November, 1910, when George F. Gagon issued a dispensation for them to meet as Filer Masonic lodge A. F. and A. M. No. 55.

Anniversary Party
In celebration of the 30th anniversary of the lodge, a venison and pheasant dinner will be served Tuesday, Oct. 17, at 3:30 p. m. at the Masonic temple.

Claude Oliver, worshipful master, announced today that the party will be informal, and that it is hoped many of the charter members and other early pioneer members will be present and relate their early struggles and experiences.

Included on the program of entertainment will be musical selections by Bull Masonic lodge. The 13 men responsible for the founding of the Filer Masonic lodge were the late George L. Crocker, first worshipful master; M. O. Ripley and Charles Spencer, both deceased, and their whereabouts unknown at present; the late Dr. Charles Weatherbee, first secretary for a few months, until he moved from the city.

The late Thomas E. Moore, first treasurer; R. A. Reynolds, first senior deacon; now living in Twin Falls; E. J. Price, J. Socaleo, and H. L. Daigh, whereabouts unknown; William Spencer, living on a ranch near Filer; the late W. W. Shaffner, A. A. Thum, Twin Falls, who substituted as secretary for Dr. Weatherbee; Richard Elder, whereabouts unknown; Charles M. Stroud, living on a ranch near Filer.

First Roster
Names on the first official roster were George L. Crocker, worshipful master; F. C. Graves, senior warden; R. A. Reynolds, junior warden; T. E. Moore, treasurer; A. A. Thum, secretary; W. P. Shinn, and when I told the wife how much I paid for it—she asked if that was the down payment.

APPEAL FILED IN TEST ON BRIDGE

BOISE, Oct. 14 (Special)—A transcript of appeal in the suit to test constitutionality of the 1935 toll bridge purchase act was filed Friday in the Idaho supreme court clerk's office.

Attorneys moved swiftly to break the official red tape surrounding an appeal in an effort to get a decision quickly. The state wishes to test validity of the act in order to place on sale $500,000 in bonds for the purchase of the Twin Falls-Jerome intercounty toll bridge.

Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen, as chairman of the state toll bridge committee; Highway Director H. R. Flint; Treasurer Myrtle P. Shink and Auditor Calvin E. Wright were named defendants.

The appeal was filed by Floyd W. Lyons, Twin Falls, who made the original complaint. He was represented by James H. Boydell and Harry Povey, Twin Falls attorneys. The state was represented by Atty.-Gen. J. W. Taylor and R. P. Parry and Harry Benoit, both of Twin Falls, special assistants.

With Planes, It's the Upkeep

After five weeks of war in Europe, it seems likely that the actual, as well as the relative strength of the opposing forces in the air is about the same as it was on Sept. 1. That is, except for the Polish air force, such as it was, which has been completely washed out of the picture.

The German air strength, and that of the French and British, are probably just about what they were when the war began, since the best guesses it is possible to make indicate that losses of planes on both sides have just about balanced new production.

Britain probably lost 30 or more planes when the Courageous went down, and Germany claims to have brought down some 47 other British ships, a total of around 80. The Germans claim to have brought down some 50 French ships.

The Germans themselves, on the other hand, can scarcely have lost fewer than 250 planes themselves on both the Polish and the Franco-British front.

To these figures must be added the continual crack-ups which occur in all air forces all the time, but which increases in wartime when there is more flying to be done, and when it is done in more reckless manner.

No doubt more planes have been "washed up" by all air forces during the first five weeks' operations than have been actually shot down in battle. It is estimated, for instance, that Britain is losing 150 planes a month in this way, France 50, and Germany perhaps 200. The German rate always was high, even in peacetime, because a certain recklessness has always been encouraged.

Thus, allowing for new production, the chances are that the relative strength of the German and the allied air forces are about as they were on Sept. 1. They may be a little higher all around, but not much.

The air war problem is as much a problem of the rate of production of planes as it is of the number available for flight at any given moment.

People who think of high speed production of planes as a new development, forget that during the World War Britain was producing 1,500 planes a month to keep 1,800 active on the western front, and that France was turning out 2,400 a month to keep 4,000 in the air.

Thus, should large-scale air war break out, it will be even more important to destroy the enemy's plane factories than to destroy his existing planes, for sheer wear and tear will soon reduce any air force to impotence if new ships are not constantly supplied.

Democracy Gains

The strange and not yet completely explained suicide of Dictator German Busch in Bolivia has had an unexpected and unforeseen aftermath. Already Busch's totalitarian principles have been dropped overboard by Provisional President Quintanilla. Press censorship has been abolished and preparations made for an election, with a return to constitutionalism in full view.

At the same time in an interview, President Vargas of Brazil has reaffirmed his intention to increase democratic procedures in that great country as soon as internal conditions permit.

Both developments are heartening. In the most despotic of South American regimes, the democratic dream has never died. These new developments are a renewed inspiration for the democratic future of the western world.

New Record

On Nov. 11, 1918, when the fighting stopped on the European front, the United States had broken a number of records. One of them was that it had amassed an all-time high record of federal employees.

This great civil army began to be demobilized even sooner than the fighting forces, and for some years declined steadily. Then it began to rise again, and now, 20 years later, it is bigger than ever. June 30 of this year it totaled 920,310, which is 2,550 more than the World War peak.

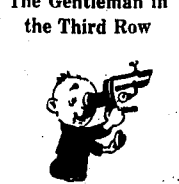

In short, in peace time we are already beyond the wartime peak in federal civil employment. The length of the federal civil payroll if another war should come is something best left to the imagination.

Winston Churchill refers to Russia's position as "a riddle wrapped in mystery inside an enigma," and thus clears things up considerably for those of us who only read the papers.

If rain didn't return water taken from oceans by evaporation, science reports, they would dry up in 8,000 years. Here, at last, is the solution to the submarine problem.

BIRTHDAY DEFT.

Joe Koehler, the mayor of our fair city, will be 62 years old Monday, Oct. 16.

We mention this just in case you want to do him for cigars or something.

Also, we thought the boys up at the Elks club might be able to do something with it. They can usually do something with anything.

THEY FIGURE THAT'S OUR PROBLEM

After a careful glance at these 1940 motor cars displayed over here in Burley, I've reached the conclusion that the manufacturers are marvelous fellows—except for one thing.

They turned their attention to making everything about the 1940 car easy to manage... except for that monthly payment.

THERE'D BE SOME ODD PEOPLE AROUND!

Dear Pot Shots:
I think you should sponsor a masquerade party for the contributors to your column. The season is appropriate. We could have a grand time with everyone hiding behind a mask. No names or faces mentioned. Of course you would have the key to the whole situation by seeing that all signatures tally with names of plumes.

I know some swell games and practical jokes we might play to pass the evening. We could answer roll call with original contributions by putting them all in a sack and each one taking a pick. We would still be a mystery to one another. I think you'd have a riotous time. If it could be of any help in the matter my cooperation would be forthcoming at anytime. How about it, old top? Your boss could furnish the beer and cheese as an appreciation of our free lanceing that has pulled the Times out of the red. Even Hitler can't overharden the Pot Shots column.

Yours for bigger and better boy.

Anent Sarongs

Dear Mister Shots:
I see in a Hollywood headline, by way of the Evening Times, that shapely Dorothy Lamour wears a sarong that will stay up. She says that all the time she's filming a picture, she's worried about her sarong falling down.

Tell me, old top, the time they're making her pictures, 25,000,000 men are worried just the opposite way.

JOAN OF ARKANSAS

BY JERRY BRONDFIELD
COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

CHAPTER III
THEY regarded Joan quizzically as she supervised the job of dragging her belongings upstairs.

"If you don't mind me asking," said Kay, "just what do you have in all those cases?"

Joan registered surprise. "Why, there isn't much here at all. Had to leave a lot of stuff at home because I didn't think there'd be enough room for everything."

"You mean you had more than this at Northwestern?" Bonnie Harris inquired incredulously.

"Sure," Joan struggled with a lock. "But there were only two in a room there."

"Oh!" Kay said significantly. Joan caught the note. "But don't get me wrong," she added hastily. "There ought to be plenty of room here."

"Of course," Carol cut in. Then, glancing at her watch, "Just about time to unpack before dinner, Joan."

"I'll help you," Marianne offered brightly. "Let about unpacking suitcases."

For more than a half hour Marianne "soothed" and "showered" at each thing they huddled away or placed in cramped drawer space.

There were six formal gowns, when no one else in the house had more than three... tricky sweater sets and sportswear of every description... and Marianne counted 11 pairs of shoes.

"Gee," she said breathlessly. "Where we going to put all this? The room is bulging at the seams already."

Joan looked up, her face flushed. "I give up," she replied modestly. "Guess I'll have to ship some of this junk back home."

There was a sacrifice in Marianne's voice. "Junk! I wish I had junk like this."

Carol met Joan at the foot of the stairs after she had showered and changed clothes. She ushered her into the living room for more introductions.

Freshmen were required to live in university dormitories, but there were about a dozen girls who had not yet met.

It wasn't instinct which told Joan she was the center of all eyes. It was all too apparent. Suddenly she wished her arrival hadn't been quite so theatrical.

Not that she had meant it that way—but as far back as she could remember, everything she did was along the lines of the spectacular.

As graciously as possible she set about making through their remarks. "Have any trouble with diet?" she asked Carol.

Carol laughed. "Oh, once in a while some of the girls start counting calories, but for the most part we manage to please everyone."

She looked at Joan for a moment and then continued. "Why—anything in particular to which you're allergic?"

"Absolutely nothing. I'm one of those fortunate souls who can eat anything."

"I'm glad," Carol said simply, and Joan knew exactly what she meant.

"Better pick up to me at the administration building. I've got to pay my bills."

"It's a date," she promised, and waved a goodby salute to them all.

"Our great Master Rhodes is wasting little time," Marianne observed as they walked back to the house. "But if you're smart you'll discount that grin of his about 70 per cent. Three dates with one girl is just about par for the course with him."

She wore a sweater set in two shades of blue next morning. And no one could wear blue the way Joan Johnson did.

Walking up to a steps at the administration building she almost bumped into Dan Webster.

"Hi, there," she cried. "What're you trying to do—block me out of the play?"

For the briefest second—but not too brief for her to notice—he too in the glory of two shades of blue.

"Looked to me as though you were doing the blocking. Anyhow, what're you doing here?"

"Paying my fees," she told him as they walked through the double doors.

"Will it?" Her tone was challenging, conspiring. She walked over to a pay station by the wall. He followed more out of curiosity than anything else.

"Going to call Prexy and tell him what you think of the nasty way he treats newcomers, no doubt?"

"You sure picked the right pew. Couldn't do better myself if I'd ushered you over here."

"It's simply awful how that man plugs us," Chesbro sighed.

He sneezed her straw in the middle, cutting off the flow of

BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

By BRUCE CATTON
(Washington Times-Herald Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—President Roosevelt may not care to accept the German hint that he act as mediator to help restore peace to Europe—but for two previous months he has been in the act of doing so.

These two communications were, in fact, the message sent to Hitler in September of 1938, when the Munich agreement was in the making, and, according to the report, he dispatched last April.

In the April appeal, President Roosevelt told Hitler:

"It is still clear to me that international problems can be solved at the council table."

It is to be noted in the answer to the plea for peaceful discussion for one side to plead that unless they receive assurances beforehand that the United States will be neutral, they will not lay aside their arms. In conference rooms, as in courts, it is necessary to have the other side upon the discussion in good faith, assuming that substantial justice will accrue to both.

That paragraph has been pounded upon by the organized peace societies, which have been urging ever since the first of September that America try to mediate the war.

"The President has an opportunity now such as has never been given any man in the world," says Mr. Libby. "He can bring this war to an end if he will act. If he doesn't the blood of millions will be on his head."

In the April message, Roosevelt asked Hitler to give pledges of non-aggression to the other European nations and offered to transmit such pledges to the nations involved and to get similar pledges from them in return.

Mr. Libby also said that a two-fold offer to summon a world conference to discuss arms reduction and the abolition of trade barriers and pledges the United States to take part in it.

Activities Resumed By University Group

Twin Falls public library building—dreamed about, talked about and planned for years by organizations and individuals—became something very real for the members and guests of Twin Falls chapter, American Association of University Women, this afternoon.

Miss Jessie Fraser, Twin Falls librarian, conducted a clever library quiz on the new building, library facilities and other items of interest, and gave a short talk on the library, at the initial luncheon of the season this afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. A. Van Engelen, Blue Lakes boulevard north.

The library building was opened Thursday evening, and the official dedication will take place in several weeks.

Twin Falls, Buhl B.P.W. Clubs Sponsor Idaho Products Dinner

Products of Southern Idaho manufacturers and producers were featured as favors, decorations, signs on the menu, special gifts and merchandise displays at the second annual Idaho Products-Idaho Talent banquet last evening at the Presbyterian church, sponsored by the Twin Falls Business and Professional Women's club, in cooperation with the Buhl Business and Professional Women's club.

The event marked the major observance of National Business Women's week in this immediate locality, and more than 175 members and guests assembled to do justice to Idaho products and to applaud the variety program which contributed interest to the evening.

These Were Lucky
Taking advantage of Friday the 13th, the club proved the good luck of the day by awarding special favors to Mrs. Lora Doss, a sack of flour; D. R. Young, a ham; Mrs. Huntington, a sack of onions; Miss Gela Miller, five pounds of butter; Mrs. K. K. Shott, Buhl, half-bushel basket of a new variety of Roman Beauty apples; Miss Wray, Kimberly, three pounds of cheese.

A special table was arranged for those who wished to dine early, and on the stage behind the speakers' table were softly shaded lamps and jars of various fruits.

Individual favors were small boxes of cake flour and miniature white satin lines of sugar, sounds of twinkling silver glaze, onions, squash in variety of shapes and colors, red and white cubes, Idaho Beefed Ground potatoes, combined with bright harvest of autumnal vine, tied a harvest-bunch touch to the table decorations.

Reception and Dinner Compliment Pioneers

Assisted by all of their sons and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Tarr, Twin Falls residents since 1904, received dozens of friends this afternoon at a reception in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary. "Open house" was observed from 2 to 5 o'clock at the home of a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Tarr, 328 Third avenue east.

Telegrams, greetings, gifts and floral messages of congratulation were added to the personal felicitations of the couple who have truly been "builders of Twin Falls."

Sent from Los Angeles for the reception was a mammoth three-tiered wedding cake, a caterer's masterpiece, bearing the slogan in red and white frosting, "Fiftieth Anniversary to Mother and Son."

The anniversary cake centered the ice-cream refreshment table, flanked on either side by gold tapers in crystal holders. Gold-centered Talmans roses in formal arrangements formed the decor for the room.

Mrs. H. L. Calkins, Hollywood, and Mrs. Elva Sower, Nampa, the two older daughters, presided at the silver urns during the afternoon.

As a brilliant finale to the celebration, Mr. and Mrs. Tarr will be honored guests at a formal dinner in the private dining room of the Rogers hotel this evening.

Covers will be marked for 35 members of the family and intimate friends. The dinner will be served at the game course, a special treat to the out-of-staters numbered among the guests.

Place cards in gold and white will mark each cover, and the nuts cup will also be in gold and white. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock in the flower-decked dining room.

The event is commemorating the wedding Oct. 17, 1889, of Miss Laura Horley and G. W. Tarr at Grange town, Idaho, 18 miles from Soda Springs, the bride's home city. The anniversary celebration was advanced in attendance and quite a number of the family to be present.

Join in Festivities
Sons, selected daughters and their wives and husbands who are participating in the gaieties of the day are Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Calkins, Hollywood, Calif.; Mrs. Elva Sower, Nampa; Mrs. Frank Stager, Seattle, Wash.; G. W. Tarr, Jr., Twin Falls; Thelma and Elmer, El Paso, Santa Monica, Calif.; Mrs. Elva Sower, Nampa; Mrs. Frank Stager, Seattle, Wash.; G. W. Tarr, Jr., Twin Falls; Thelma and Elmer, El Paso, Santa Monica, Calif.

Grandchildren attending are Mrs. Dorothy Hall, Seattle; Betty June Tarr, Twin Falls; and Billy Lee Skinner, Santa Monica, Calif.

Likewise assisting in the celebration are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Moore, Soda Springs, brother-in-law and sister of Mrs. Tarr; Mrs. Hattie Montrose, Logan, Utah, another sister of Mrs. Tarr, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Tarr, Jr., Pocatello, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Tarr.

Coming from Baker City, Ore., for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Fryer, intimate friends of the pioneers for a number of years.

Dr. Ellis Hinkley, Soda Springs, a long-time friend of Mr. and Mrs. Tarr, sent a telegram regretting that he was unable to be present as planned.

SPEECH CANCELLED

LINDBERGH BACKS ISOLATIONISTS IN EMBARGO FIGHT

SENATE LEADERS CHEERED AS AGE MAPS PROGRAM

By RONALD G. VAN TINE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 14 (UP)—Isolationist senators, encouraged by the support of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, prepared today for a "tremendous fight" against repeal of the arms embargo.

Lindbergh made a speech on the United States' position in the European war. Lindbergh last night aligned himself with the opponents of embargo repeal to the extent of advocating a modified embargo on arms and munitions. He favored the unlimited export of defensive weapons.

"If we repeal the arms embargo with the idea of assisting one of the warring sides to overcome the other," he said, "then why mislead ourselves by talk of neutrality? Those who advance this argument should admit openly that they are a step toward war. The next step would be the extension of credit, and the next would be the sending of American troops."

Isolationists Encouraged
Lindbergh's statements were greatly encouraged and cheered the isolationists' reaction to Lindbergh's argument would win them more votes in the Senate.

Administration leaders doubted that it would and still claimed 65 votes, more than necessary to pass the embargo program. It was pointed out that the vast majority of those supporting embargo repeal are in the position of not being able to aid on the side in the war, but on the contention that the embargo is unnecessary and could involve this country in war. In short, both sides claim they are motivated only by the desire to keep the United States out of war.

"This fight is not hopeless by any means," said Sen. Robert M. La Follette, W. Va., a leader of the opposition. "There is going to be a tremendous fight for cash instead of credit and for retention of the arms embargo in the bill."

La Follette and Lindbergh's fathers were among the 56 members of congress who voted against American entrance into the World war in 1917.

La Follette said several weeks ago, Lindbergh did not mention the neutrality bill. He confined his remarks to a plea for this country to stay out of the European war. Last night he concluded his address with the following program which he said "we should adopt as our program of American neutrality, as our contribution to western civilization."

An embargo on offensive weapons and munitions.
The prohibition of American shipping from the belligerent countries of Europe and their danger zones.
The refusal of credit to belligerent nations or their agents.

Visit to Jerome
Made by Official
JEROME, Oct. 14 (Special)—Worthy grand marshal of Eastern Star, Mrs. Magda Stocker, paid her official visit to the local O. E. S. chapter Tuesday and was honored guest at a banquet arranged by the members of the Past Master's club.

Mrs. Stocker was introduced by Mrs. Violet K. Francon, worthy matron. A number of guests from Gooding and Richfield chapters were also welcomed and offered responses. During the evening the local order extolled the ballot and initiation work of the organization. Worthy patron also offered a brief welcome during the evening. Mrs. Stocker was presented with a gift from the Jerome lodge.

Refreshments were served with Mrs. Woodland, Mrs. H. Maize Shoun, Miss Dorothy Wilson and Mrs. Tom Cooke, serving a buffet luncheon, preceded on by Mrs. Irl Wallington and Mrs. Francon.

NOW you can select the tractor YOU NEED from our stock which features a complete SELECTION of 8 MODELS PLUS MANY MORE MODELS AVAILABLE ON ORDER

Choose Minneapolis, Moline or Cletrac
Cletrac Crawlers are built to save you money from every angle. Three great features distinguish the Cletrac line. OVERTROLLED DIFFERENTIAL STEERING gives power on both tracks on turns; smooth, even steering, shorter turning radius. LIGHT-WEIGHT decreases wear and tear, gives better than 50 per cent of weight in drawbar pull lightness that handles all jobs. PROTECTED MOVING PARTS insure longer life for every Cletrac.

2 GREAT MAKES!—8 DIFFERENT MODELS!

- CLETRAC MODEL GG
This is a new member of the Cletrac family—a small one priced at only $1,000. It sells at the remarkably low price of $950 delivered in Twin Falls.
- CLETRAC MODEL HG
Crawler model with 42 inch tread, also a new member of the Cletrac family designed especially for best lifting and spud digging. A 12 inch tread is designed as the ideal crawler type tractor for the small farm and sells for only $950 delivered in Twin Falls.
- CLETRAC MODEL E
Crawler model adapted to row crop work in a 2-3 plow size. This tractor is the ideal all around tractor for medium size farms in the field or on the belt. It has a 68 inch tread.
- MINNEAPOLIS-MOLINE Model R
A one plow tractor for row crop work, it sells for a price of $850 delivered in Twin Falls, low for a tractor with its economy and features, and is available with cab for working under adverse weather conditions.
- CLETRAC MODELS ED AND ADH DIESEL
The ED has 42 inch tread and is a 2-3 plow tractor. The ADH is a 4 plow tractor for farm and light construction work. Diesel powered, they offer the economy of diesel operation combined with the power of a gas engine.
- MINNEAPOLIS-MOLINE UNIVERSAL Z
The average farmer needs this 2-3 plow tractor on his farm. It has 5 forward speeds up to 20 MPH.
- MINNEAPOLIS-MOLINE DELUXE
This is the comfort tractor, 3-4 plow also. It affords the larger farmer just what he needs in the field with its enclosed cab. On the belt it has plenty of power to run any farm machinery.
