RESTRICTION ON AMERICAN SHIPS MAY BE SLASHED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (UP)—The administration, dodging one senate showdown by abandoning the 90-day credit provision of the neutrality bill, prepared today to avoid another by agreeing to modifications of the bill's restrictions on shipping.

The shipping modifications are in the process of being worked out. Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley, Ky., announced the look for something to be said on the subject soon.

Chairman Key Pittman, D., Nev., of the foreign relations committee, who announced the abandonment of the credit provision yesterday, agreed that a compromise on shipping restrictions was imminent.

Trade Zone

It was expected the agreement would permit American merchant vessels to trade with countries only "nominally" at war, such as Australia and New Zealand in the Pacific, and possibly, Trinidad and Martinique in the Atlantic.

Pittman, who said he would not agree to any plan that would permit American ships to enter actual war zones, was expected to summon Democratic members of the committee soon to consider various shipping amendments proposed by leaders on both sides of the neutrality issue. Administration leaders preferred to have the amendment, if one is informally agreed upon, come from Sen. Hiram W. Johnson, R., Calif., leader of the isolationist bloc and advocate of modifying the shipping restrictions.

Debate Shortened

Abandonment of the 90-day credit clause was expected to shorten the senate debate on the neutrality bill.

Copposing leaders stuck to their predictions that the crucial test would come on the administration's proposal to repeal the arms embargo. But the vessel was heavily reinforced for habs corpus hearings.

Adolf Hitler's "war in earnest" is raining aerial and submarine blows at British sea power in an effort to break the allied blockade of Germany.

A spectacular U-boat raid into the British lion's den at Scapa Flow on Saturday when the battleship Royal Oak was sunk; an aerial attack on the same great naval base today when the battleship Iron Duke was damaged; yesterday's aerial attacks on the Firth of Forth naval yards where three warships were damaged and air raid alarms along the entire east coast of England today indicated the intensity of the conflict.

The German lost at least five bombing planes in two days of raiding the Scottish bases and First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill reported 13 to 20 U-boats were active in the North Sea since the start of the war. But the Nazi victories were spectacular demonstrations of what might happen if 200 instead of a dozen planes crossed the North sea.

The British navy's sea power is the greatest in the world, and the weakness of the German navy becomes obvious and greater as the allies find a decisive factor in the war.

Frenches Greater Threats

Thus, with Hitler's possible move to a failure, the Nazi strategy in seeking a spectacular demonstration of the vulnerability of the British navy becomes obvious and greater as the allies find a decisive factor in the war.

At the same time, it was expected that allied counter-blows by air would be forthcoming. The first already may have been undertaken, as a Danish report said, of a German naval base at Emden and that heavy explosions were heard from that direction.

Drive Back French

The Nazis also were fighting back on the western front. Powerful thrusts by Heer and forces on the Saar and Moselle sectors of the Rhineland front drove back allied troops.

The German high command reported the French had retired from almost all occupied territory. The French said that 76,000 German troops had pushed forward, but the French said that they had been thrown back with heavy losses by concentrated fire from the allied positions.

A new series of air raid alarms aroused the English east coast at 11:30 p. m. today, extending from Grimsby southward to the Kentish coast, in an area dotted with shipping and fishing centers and dock yards.

Spectacular U-Boat Work Described at Scapa Flow

LONDON, Oct. 17 (UP)—A spectacular invasion of the great British naval base at Scapa Flow by a Nazi U-boat which sank the battleship Royal Oak was described to parliament today by First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill and Defense Coordinator Lord Chatfield.

The submarine escaped after slipping into the famous naval base and firing its torpedoes in the heart of naval defense positions.

Lord Chatfield, speaking in the house of lords, also revealed that the Germans made an air raid over Scapa Flow—north of Scotland—at 10:30 a. m. today.

Chatfield said the Royal Oak was sunk at 1:30 a. m. Saturday. He said it remained a matter of conjecture how a U-boat was able to penetrate the harbor defenses at Scapa Flow.

The entry of the U-boat must be considered a remarkable exploit of professional skill and daring, Chatfield said.

Probe Nazis

Chatfield added that a board of inquiry was still at Scapa Flow. He said the U-boat apparently fired two starboard torpedoes at the Royal Oak. One of these hit the vessel in the bow.

A muffled explosion followed and the ship's store of inflammables was flooded.

Twenty minutes later the U-boat fired three or four torpedoes and (Continued on Page 2, Column 2)

S. S. Athenia Carried Guns, Says U. S. Man

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17 (UP)—Quincy A. Anderson, travel bureau operator at Evanston, Ill., who was the S. S. Athenia when it was sunk last Sept. 3, has filed an affidavit with the state department stating that the vessel was heavily armed with guns.

In his affidavit Anderson told of the sinking of the Athenia immediately after the outbreak of the Panzer attack and said Chief Officer Copeland told him there were "plenty" of guns on board. There were no guns mounted on the Athenia, but the vessel was heavily reinforced for gun mountings, he said.

Know Officers Personally

Three emigrants interviewed Anderson, according to statements in the affidavit. They were Mrs. Francis H. Case, R. S. D. Overton, Brooks, D. C., and Walter M. Pierce, D. Ore.

Anderson said he knew personally the officers and men of the Athenia. He talked with Chief Officer Copeland and asked him where the guns were. He related and said there were "plenty of them" in the hold of the ship.

For Coastal Defenses

Copeland, Anderson testified, said the guns were to be used for coastal defenses at Halifax and Quebec.

Pierce wanted to know if the vessel was to be outfitted as a raider. Anderson said Copeland advised him the ship was to be outfitted as a raider for the return trip to England.

Chest Drive Gets $1,003 In Opening Three Hours

Fortified with a breakfast consisting of bacon, scrambled eggs, orange juice and coffee, more than 40 local businessmen today inaugurated the annual Community Chest drive, seeking $9,000 for use of eight participating organizations during the coming year.

Fact that the drive was on in earnest was shown in first Mrs. Dorothy Reynolds, secretary, showing collections and pledges amounting to $1,003.25 had been received at that time, three and one-half hours after the start of actual solicitation.

The "kick-off" breakfast was held at 7:30 a. m. at the Park hotel with 47 workers present. The workers were escorted to the breakfast by Boy Scouts, who met them at their homes.

Patriotic Duty

Speaker for the session was R. B. Tofflemire, publisher, who declared that working for and contributing to the Chest this year "is a patriotic duty."

"If Germany or any of those foreign powers can spend vast amounts to influence some of our people, situated across the waters from them, surely we can find the money to aid in the fight against the enemy," Tofflemire said.

He pointed out that "the money we will contribute to the Chest" is small compared to the amount those other people would contribute if they could get our people to act their way.

The speaker continued by saying that Communism, German Bunds and other such creeds and organizations usually spread where there is discontent and where poverty exists.

Helps Americanism

"The least we can do to contribute to a cause which will aid in providing some aid to those who are wondering if Americanism really is what it is declared to be," Tofflemire said.

"America is still one country where we can print what we want to say what we want to do and what we want to do is a job."

Speaking at this morning's session was Ralph Pink, Chest president.

In his opening remarks Mr. Pink said that he thought "our budget is very, very modest."

He said that every organization in the Chest is a worthwhile project. He said, "I don't believe we can measure in dollars and cents the first official act in assembling office."

RULING REFUSES SENTENCE SLASH

Justice of the peace has no legal right to impose a jail sentence with the reservation that they may modify the sentence later, District Judge J. W. Porter ruled here today in a habeas corpus test case carrying wide interest for Idaho law enforcement officers.

Judge Porter quashed a writ of habeas corpus granted yesterday in the case of Ralph Jensen Alvord, Orange, Calif. Justice H. M. Holler had sentenced Alvord Oct. 3 to 90 days in jail for speeding, reserving the right to modify the sentence later. After Alvord served 10 days Justice Holler ordered his release.

Parker Forces Test

Sheriff Art C. Parker refused to free the Californian on the ground that Holler's reservation was illegal. On advice of County Attorney Everett M. Sweetley, Parker stood pat and Mrs. Alvord filed petition yesterday for habeas corpus to force a hearing.

Witnesses for the petitioner at today's hearing in district court were Justice Holler and the prisoner, Sheriff Parker and the only witness called by Prosecutor Everett M. Sweetley for the state.

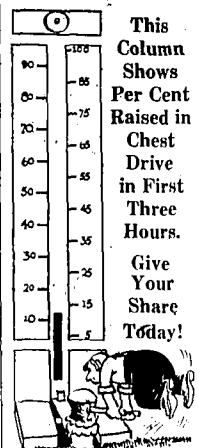

After presentation of arguments by Sweetley and F. J. Hyburn, petitioner's counsel, Judge Porter held that a justice of the peace has no legal authority to make the reservation attempted in the test case.

Back to Jail

The district judge then quashed the writ and remanded the prisoner to custody of the sheriff to finish his 90-day sentence.

Alvord was arrested after his machine struck a car containing the Clarence E. Sweet family, overturning the Sweet machine three times. Alvord and a companion allegedly were fleeing at high speed from a gasoline station where they allegedly had not paid for fuel. The companion later paid and was released.

Billings leaves Coastal Prison

PHOENIX PRISON, Calif., Oct. 17 (UP)—Warden K. Billings walked through gates of Phoenix prison today, a free man after serving 22 years for complicity with Tom Mooney in San Francisco's 1916 Preparedness day bombings.

Gov. Culbert Olson ordered Billings' term commuted to time served after the state supreme court gave its favorable recommendation last night. Olson said he hoped a full pardon would follow, the same action he took for Mooney in his first official act in assuming office last January.

Billings said he will be married to a woman who has been visiting and corresponding with him at the prison for 15 years. He identified her as "Josephine," but refused to tell her full name or address.

DEATH RAY REPORTED GIVEN TO GOVERNMENT

HALE LAKE CITY, Oct. 17 (UP)—President Albert G. Burns of the National Inventors' congress said today he believes Dr. Antonio Longato, who claimed to have invented a "death ray," has given the secret of his mysterious and controversial device to the United States government.

However, the doctor, an outstanding scientist, has not admitted publicly that this is the case. Burns, who gives both Alabama, Calif., and Chicago as his homes, said Longato, a Lakeland, Fla., scientist, had made the death ray discovery six years ago.

Burns said he had been the ray demonstrated. He explained it ac-

Stratoliner's Scheduled for Air Transport

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 17 (UP)—Transcontinental & Western Air, Inc., asserted today that its search department had proved the efficiency of transporting passengers through the sub-stratosphere and announced that five 33-passenger "stratoliners" would be placed in transcontinental service early next season.

Jack Frye, president of the airline, said the planes constituted an initial order now under construction by Boeing and would be the first sub-stratosphere aircraft for commercial use in the world. The first five, he said, will be delivered between February and April and immediately thereafter put on regular schedules between California and New York.

Taylor Rules State Must Divert $300,000 to Public School Fund

OPINION SEEN AS DISASTROUS FOR PRESENT BUDGET

BOISE, Oct. 17 (AP)—Atty. Gen. J. W. Taylor today has ruled the state administration must divert more than $300,000 of liquor monopoly profits from the general fund into the public school equalization fund.

Administration attorneys said the diversion would prove disastrous to the present budget. The general fund already had $750,000 in bonds issued against anticipated tax receipts. State Treasurer Myron Eaking reported loss of the $300,000 would further unbalance the fund, the attorneys said.

The bill passed by the 1938 legislature revising distribution of profits of the state liquor control system became law on March 7 when signed by the governor, just three days ahead of a new liquor control law.

The attorney general cited supreme court decisions holding that in case of conflicting laws, the law which went into effect at a later date would prevail. This would deliver 25 percent of the liquor profits to the school fund, Taylor added.

State Auditor Calvin E. Wright, who requested the opinion said $325,000, representing 25 percent of the 1939-40 fiscal year's receipts, was ready for distribution to the school fund immediately. He estimated another $250,000 would be required to school for the remainder of the biennium.

The administration indicated a test of the attorney general's opinion probably would be brought before the state supreme court.

National Fame

Rev. Franklin Norris, new pastor of the United Brethren church in Twin Falls, won national fame as result of an unusual operation that saved a bone from his leg, had it sent to his spine. He is now conducting revival services at his church here.

Thousands of people in cities involved in today's alarms took shelter and there was no panic, officials reported. All traffic was at a standstill and the air raid precautions corps functioned "flawlessly," according to officials.

Among the cities involved in today's warnings were Grizzly, Hull, Bridlington, Driffield, Cleethorpe, Hamgate, Margate, Ipswich, South and Bournemouth. At no point were enemy raiders sighted, although several sections reported R.A.F. planes patrolling in sunny skies.

The minister is Rev. Franklin Norris, who came here from Greenfield, O., to accept the local pastorate. His revival series opened Sunday night and will continue indefinitely.

Rev. Norris, who finished his seminary work at the age of 19, has been in evangelism for seven years. Two years ago he underwent a spinal operation that received wide notice. He had received a broken back in an accidental fall. Surgeons took a bone 11 inches long from his leg, then grafted this into his spine.

The young evangelist was bedridden and in a cast for five months. His health necessitated his coming west from Ohio. Twin Falls, he said today, "gave me a hearty welcome."

AIR RAID ALARMS SOUND IN BRITAIN

LONDON, Oct. 17 (AP)—Air raid alarms were sounded over a wide area on the east coast of England today when an unidentified war plane was reported near Hull, but the "all clear" signal at noon relieved fears of a new attack.

A German air raid was reported sighted over the Firth of Forth, where Nazi planes attacked yesterday. That is almost 200 miles north of the area in which the English coast alarms were sounded. The report of today's sighting caused an air raid warning in the Edinburgh area, but the all clear signal was sounded soon after.

The English warnings covered an area inhabited by many millions and embracing shipping, fishing and dockyard centers.

The air ministry announced an unidentified plane was reported near Hull and Grimsby shortly before 11 a. m. as a precautionary measure, a warning was sounded but no enemy craft was definitely identified.

Yesterday during the German attack on the Firth of Forth, the air raid alarm was not sounded, apparently due to confusion.

Charm of Gardening Reflected in Program

An especially engaging program, augmented by an exciting flower arrangements contest, auspiciously opened the season for the Home and Garden department of the Twentieth Century club this afternoon at the American Legion Memorial hall. Mrs. J. H. Barnes, department chairman, presided, and Mrs. George Warberg, chairman of the day, conducted a symposium on "How Does Your Garden Grow?"

Department members brought attractively arranged baskets of flowers which were judged by Miss Agnes Schubert, assisted by Mrs. F. R. Lawson and Mrs. Warberg. To establish the mood for the afternoon, Mrs. Warberg read a chapter from the book, "Grandma Called It Carnal," by Bertha Damon, entitled "Love, love, love, God," with delightful reference to gardening.

She also reviewed two garden articles, "Flowers and Enjoy Your Garden" and "Would You Like to See the Garden?" or "A Complete Course in Garden Etiquette." Mrs. Warberg, who is a successful florist, also told of the culture of roses and pansies. Mrs. Ronald Graves, whose garden specialty is the cultivation of marigolds, spoke on that species.

Mrs. Barnes, whose chrysanthemums are among the choicest grown in this section of the country, told of their culture.

Other members of the department made pertinent suggestions concerning gardening.

Musical Numbers
Mrs. J. E. Crisp presented vocal music accompanied by Mrs. Edith Schroeder Jackson.

Mrs. C. T. Burt was official hostess of the afternoon. Members of the refreshment committee were Mrs. William Baker, Mrs. W. B. Brooks, Mrs. Metta Batsch, Mrs. R. W. Graham and Mrs. Virgil Leach.

The twenty tones of late autumn were reflected in the smart appointments of the tea table. Several chrysanthemums and autumn foliage were featured, and the lace-covered table was appointed in gaily-hued settings.

The flowers used in the contest were redistributed at the close of the session.

It has a figure-hugging bodice with a dropped waistline and a twin-tucked skirt—a model certain to influence the winter mode.

1830 Styles Live Again In High School Drama

By MARGARET ELLSWORTH
Voluntarily hoop skirts, dainty waistlines, demure poke bonnet, ruffled pantaloons, all combine in the costume of the 1830s to make the dress of Ann Rutledge, Lincoln's sweetheart, so utterly charming that one high school boy told her, "If girls just dressed like that today, we couldn't help falling in love with them."

Ann Rutledge, played by Beth Shively and Betty Durling, appears in the Twin Falls high school school play, "Prologue to Glory," Thursday and Friday nights. Dress rehearsal for the play was held last night.

The Men, Too!
With the ladies will be gentlemen dressed in the suits of a very early ago, with their claw hammer coats, tight fitting trousers, ruffled shirts, a fancy vest and broad-brimmed hats, or in work clothes of homespun.

Even the everyday dress of the decade of that day had the full hoop skirt, which modern girls decided was beautiful, but not very practical. Everyday dresses, perhaps in gingham, were plain, with the special occasion dress, and with them worn a simple sun bonnet of the same material, tied under the chin with long ties.

Beneath all dresses were worn the petticoats, measuring 10 yards around the bottom, to hold over the skirt, over the hoops which fasten around the waist.

One dress which Ann Rutledge will wear is a white sheer, with four wide ruffles banded with blue satin ribbon forming the skirt. The bodice is long and pointed, and the neckline low and trimmed with the same.

Why Let Yourself Get Contaminated?
Why endure those dull headache days due to constipation, plus the inevitable trip to the medicine chest, if you can avoid both by getting at the cause of the trouble? The answer is simple. It is a lack of "bulk" in the diet, the "better way" to avoid constipation is to eat a diet that is high in fiber.

CHILDREN'S FREQUENT COLDS
For relieving discomforts of chest colds and night coughs, rub VapoRub on throat, chest and back at bedtime. VapoRub's powerful vapor action relieves congestion of upper air passages, loosens mucus of chest and back muscles—helps the youngster relax into healing sleep.

Jack Dempsey, Broke Nearly Six Years Ago, Makes Greatest Comeback of Career

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (U.P.)—Within 18 months he'll be a millionaire again—the great Jack Dempsey. Right now he's worth more than $500,000.

MR. AND MRS. JACK DEMPSEY

Therefore Dempsey has made the greatest comeback in the history of pugilism.

Six years ago he was broke. He and his manager, Jack Kearns, had blown between three and five million dollars the Max Baer fight had earned with his explosive fight during the day-day of Tex Rickard.

He lost his world heavyweight crown in September, 1936, to Gene Tunney. He tried to take it from Tunney in September, 37, at Chicago, but failed. Later he tried a comeback campaign that wound up when he was licked by Kingfish Levinsky.

Like all other ex-heavyweights, Dempsey failed to regain the crown. But differing from other ex-champs and ex-fighters in virtually every division, Dempsey is rehabilitating himself financially. And that is a greater comeback than any he could have pounced out in the ring. This is impressively true when one recalls that the most hopeless and most helpless felon of any sport are the ex-pugs, who were good fellows when they had dough, but who haven't got it now and who lack the intelligence and education to make even a livelihood, once they hang up their gloves.

Dempsey was broke six years ago, but like most ex-pugs, but today he is marching toward another million dollars.

The man who gives this figure is the little fellow you never hear about—his restaurant partner, Jacob Amron. "Jack" didn't have Dempsey's financial affluence with reluctance, because Dempsey is making money beyond the Amron sphere of influence.

Amron says: "Dempsey is in the cloak and suit business with Billy Tauh. He's in the liquor business with somebody else. And he jumps around the country like a flea refereeing boxing and wrestling bouts. Sure, he's making money in those things, but I don't like it. If he'd only stick in New York, he'd make money twice as fast in our restaurants—on Eighth avenue and on Broadway—and in the new $250,000 tavern in the Grand Central district for which he'll sign the lease next week. He's getting nearly $100,000 a year off the restaurants, and he could make a lot more. Yes—he owns half of each restaurant in New York and cents. He's not fringing for me or anyone else."

UTAH FAVORED TO WIN OVER VANDALS... AND BRUINS

PICKED TO DEFEAT POCATELLO IN SATURDAY HEADLINERS

On opposite sides of the state this week-end gridiron fans are going to see just about the best football they will witness during the 1939 season.

No attraction for all of south Idaho will be the University of Idaho vs. University of Utah contest at Boise. Personally, we expect to see the Vandals routed in this game by the high-scoring Utes.

Year-in and year-out we believe that the Gem state club has the stronger team, despite the fact that its record is never quite as good, due to the difference in caliber of opposition. The Vandals always have, in the past at least, played such tough clubs from the Pacific Coast conference as University of Washington and Washington State. Add to these possibly one schedule that is many times tougher than that the Redskins tackle.

On an average Utah plays only one (two at the most) games as tough as the Vandals' five named above.

However, this year the Idaho club has been scheduled on a schedule with the population of the school and its financial standing and most on the correct road to winning season.

Be that as it may, we look to see the Vandals trounced by the southerners this year because Coach Ted Bank's club is just about the weakest it has been in years, while the Utes are much tougher than usual—in fact, they are one of the outstanding clubs of the west.

Three out of four years, we believe, Idaho could beat Utah on the gridiron—but this looks

California to Witness Its Own 'Big Game'

STOCKTON, Calif., Oct. 17 (U.P.)

The east can have its Yale-Harvard and Army-Navy classics. Central California football fans will be satisfied to witness what to them ranks easily as the "big game" of the year next Friday night.

The participants are College of the Pacific, coached by the aggressive Alonzo Stagg, and San Jose State college, of which Glenn Scooby (Pop) Warner, is the advisory coach.

This year, little Pacific has defeated University of California and University of South Dakota by scores of 6 to 0, and earned a 13 to 13 tie with Loyola of Los Angeles.

San Jose State, which last year ranked as the highest scoring team of the country, has rolled over six opponents this season.

Southern Idaho Homecoming Set in Boise

MOSECOE, Oct. 17 (Special)

More than a football game is scheduled for Boise on Oct. 21 when the Idaho Vandals and the Utah Redskins tangle in their annual football battle on Public School field in the capital city.

In addition to the football game, the school and former students of the university will stage a southern Idaho Homecoming with a banquet and dance following the game. The Idaho band, under the direction of Jack Fitzpatrick, Anaconda, Mont., will be in Boise for all of the festivities and will furnish music for the dance.

Ticket sales for the game are nearing the sell-out mark, according to Ole L. M. M. graduate manager, who has been in Boise all week making arrangements for the game. The ticket sale started in Boise, Twin Falls and Nampa Oct. 10, with many reserving as high as 50 tickets on the first day.

"We are pleased with the response to the football game of southern Idaho," said the manager. "The fans are giving the Idaho-Utah game." Mix said. "For the first time in history I feel that we will have sold all the tickets before game time."

Coach Ted Bank and his squad of 33 Vandal gridlers will leave Moscow Thursday evening and will arrive in Boise Friday noon. A short workout to iron out the travel kinks is set for sometime Friday afternoon. The game is set for 2 p.m. on Friday.

The Utah Redskins under the direction of Coach Ike Armstrong are to arrive in Boise about on Friday and will take a workout on the Public School field the same afternoon as the Vandals.

Followers Compare Young Star With Immortal Red Grange

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 17 (U.P.)—Michigan's Wolverines heralded halfback Tom Harmon today as another "Galloping Ghost," equalling Red Grange, the greatest collegiate football player, who left the game 14 years ago.

Harmon, said to break faster than a greyhound, has scored 34 points in two games. He ran wild in Saturday's game against Iowa, scoring four touchdowns, one of them a 91-yard run, and kicked three-goals to tally all of Michigan's 27 points.

Michigan is a co-favorite with Ohio State to take their first Big Ten title in several seasons, but Coach Fritz Crisler took time to eulogize Harmon.

"He's a great player," Crisler said. "He's best known as a runner, but I'd say his blocking and defensive work are equally as good."

"If he's an all-American in quality right now and he hasn't reached his peak yet, Grange was a great runner, but Harmon has all the qualities of a great player, offensively as well as defensively."

Harmon is a junior. He came to Michigan from Horace Mann high at Gary, Ind., where he was all-state and the nation's leading scorer. Last year, he gained 460 yards for an average of 11.5 yards a try. He lost only seven yards all season and completed 21 out of 45 passes for 310 yards. Only one was intercepted.

After successive attempts to get the ball off of a rushing attack as seems to be the tendency in the east. He believes a well-balanced running and passing game is the answer to a successful season year after year.

Only a year ago Davey O'Brien was the toast of collegiate football, but with the weak Philadelphia Eagles he passed has been anything but professional this year. Against the Giants Sunday he had two aerial interceptions and was thrown for 35 yards on three

to the SPORTS WORLD

By LESLIE AVERY

NEW YORK, Oct. 17 (U.P.)—Notes from a football press box:

The fans are wondering why so many ball carriers slip or stumble and fall with nothing but the chalk lines between them and the goal posts. . . . Alabama Coach Frank Thomas blames it on the new cleat rule which calls for cleats to be at least a half inch in diameter at the tip. . . . They won't bite into a hard field and when a player tries to cut back his feet go right out from under him. . . . Thomas attributes the strength in the south to the fact that passing has not been stressed as much as in the southwest and yet the aerial game has not been overlooked for a running attack as seems to be the tendency in the east. . . . He believes a well-balanced running and passing game is the answer to a successful season year after year.

Tex Oliver's University of Oregon variety continued its forward march by scoring a 6-0 win over the University of California. Having tied U.C. and Boston Stanford, the Ducks kept up their championship challenge against U.C.'s hard-tipping Bears. Here is Oregon Halfback John Berry (with ball) being stopped on the Cal three-yard line after making a first down. The Ducks scored two plays later. He made eight yards.

Coaches Worry as Former Pitt Head Stays Unsigned

By HENRY McLEMORE
NEW YORK, Oct. 17. (U.P.)—Breathes the coach with curiosity, who never to himself hath said—I am sure do wonder where that Sutherland is going next year.

No, I don't think you'd find such a coach anywhere in the country, and for two reasons. In the first place, a jobless Jack Sutherland is a menace to any football coach who has a job, but who last doing a particularly brilliant piece of work. The standard of aggression greatness that Sutherland maintained at Pittsburgh before that school went pure heart. Heart is in secret. It is known to every alumnus and athlete board of control from the Atlantic seaboard to the Pacific coast. And don't you think that the minds of alumni and the men who hire football coaches won't turn to Sutherland and his efficiency when they see their teams missing blocks, dropping punts, stalling in midfield and generally playing poor football.

That's His Business

And don't you think the coaches who are not getting the most out of their material won't give Sutherland a thought or two, either. He is not a pleasant man to have around without a job. Doing a bad job of coaching when he is available is like courting your girl with Clark Gable watching from the couch across the room.

Not that Sutherland would ever try to get a fellow coach's job, or Gable another man's girl. Sutherland is not that type. But no one could blame him for taking a spot of work if a contract were handed him. After all, coaching is his business.

Stanford, Navy

Even some coaches, working under long contracts, are curious to know where Sutherland will land next year. They would like to know if he is going to a school that is on their schedule and if they are going to have to play him. It is nice to know as far in advance as possible when you are going to meet a Sutherland coached machine, because you don't prepare for it overnight.

There are many knowing football heads around who say Sutherland already has been signed for next year, and there are a few others who say he will not. Sutherland has admitted as much. These latter say he won't let where for fear of embarrassing the coach now on duty. There have been many guesses as to where Sutherland will go. Right now the two schools in the lead in the guessing are Navy and Stanford. But those are guesses, nothing else, and those as anyone knows the good doctor may align himself with North Buffalo School of Applied Design.

STRIKES to SPARE With Fred Stone

Della, with a revamped lineup, took three out of four from the Elks. Ray Freia, Walt Riggert and Elmore Hager were the new faces in the Elks' lineup.

Riggert, with 531, was tops for the winners, but George Hof, with 571, took home the good doctor may align himself with North Buffalo School of Applied Design.

O. H. Colman has always said his two ambitions were to roll a 300 and pick up the Big Four split or the 4-0-7-10 plus. Well, he picked the Big Four split the second time it has been done on these alleys.

In 1939 years truly, then bowling with the Tinglew department store team, made the same split. Freia, Johnson, Riggert and Hof were the only players to break pair. The rest were all down.

Perrine hotel took three out of four from Orange Transportation. The only time their handicap helped them was in total pins. Perrine had a handicap of 10 pins per game.

Clyde Ross, another man for the Transport club, was high man with a 326. He also had high single with 246. Sutherland, a new bowler with the Bell-Stingers, with 306, was the top Perrine man.

No dollar for Jimmie Mullins this week. His best single was 231.

200 stars the week for the City League and Riggert's 218 is the best for the Commercial.

Dell's, Perrine Bowling Clubs Chalk Up Wins

Led by a new member on the club, Walt Riggert, who moved over from the Schultz team, Dell's last night took three out of four counters from the Elks.

Riggert rolled a three-game total of 531 and a single of 212 to take the evening's high honors for his team. Other new bowlers on the Dell's club were Ray Freia and Elmore Hager.

For the losers, high individual score went to George Hof, who had a three-game total of 571.

Perrine hotel, with the assistance of a 15-pin handicap, took three out of four from Orange Transportation. However, the handicap only aided in the pin total—not in the game scores. High scoring for the evening in the City league went to Ross with a 206 single and a three-game total of 539. Sutherland led the winners with a three-game series of 506.
