Repeal of Emargo Will Place U. S. on Path to War, Says Sen. Johnson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (U.P.)—Sen. Hiram W. Johnson, R., Ohio, a former member of the League of Nations, today told the senate that repeal of the existing arms embargo would "place us in the shadow, walking down the bloody path of war."

"We gamble with fate if we enter another war," Johnson shouted as the senate neared the end of three weeks' debate on the administration's neutrality program.

"If we enter war from emotionalism from propaganda from the silly arguments that have been made, we risk all as certain as the sun rises, and in seeking to save the democracies of Europe we will have lost our own. Stay out, Americans!"

"Idiotic Assumption"
Johnson, who with Sen. William E. Borah, R., Ida., his partner in the League of Nations fight, is leading the opposition to arms embargo repeal, said that senators who argue that Adolf Hitler will conquer Europe and then turn to the United States are guilty of "an idiotic assumption."

"If we were not afflicted with a warped psychology we would not listen to this reason for repeal of the arms embargo for one-quarter of a second," he said.

"Hitler will never conquer Europe. It has never been done by anyone yet. The closest approach to any was by Napoleon, and he compared Hitler to Napoleon is absurd."

"Again, England in the play of power politics has no equal, and here this war is going to be decided at the same old game at which ambitious and ambitious Americans will be trying their hand."

Johnson said that after listening to hours and hours of debate, he had found that "some truths are self-evident."

"I think that the arms embargo favors the Axis."

"That such people accomplished after the beginning of the war would be unneutral."

Johnson said he desired to "congratulate" Democratic members of the foreign relations committee for agreeing on amendments to the bill to tighten the arms and carry provisions and to ease some of the shipping restrictions, and added:

"Let us hope they will strike out the repeal of the arms embargo."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (U.P.)—Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D., La., calling himself a member of the "pop gun corps," made a stinging attack on Adolf Hitler today, denouncing the Nazi fuhrer as a "power-crazed madman," an "insatiable brute," a "mad dictator" and a "despoiler of men and nations."

Ellender's attack was made in the senate during neutrality debate.

"What do we owe this violator of treaties that we must tread on tiptoe to spare him displeasure?" Ellender asked, demanding repeal of the embargo as a means of moving "in the direction of a lasting peace."

"I can see no early peace for Europe," he said. "In fact, I can visualize no peace for our neighbors across the seas as long as this insatiable brute is permitted to rule over Germany. Better that we attend to our own business and hope that England and France and their allies will conquer this foe of human liberties, and restore peace among themselves and their neighbors."

German Air Craft Make New Attack on Scotland

Destroyer to the Rescue of German Plane

A British destroyer, foreground, steams to the rescue of the crew of one of the British bombers shot down in the Firth of Forth, northern Scotland, during a Nazi raid. This radiophoto is one of the first pictures showing actual scenes from the war as it came to British shores.

LONDON, Oct. 20 (U.P.)—Air raid alarms sounded time after time over a wide area of eastern and southern Scotland today, including the Edinburgh-Firth of Forth naval base district. Anti-aircraft gun fire sounded, planes so high as to be invisible were heard, and British planes were seen darting over the North sea as if pursuing or intercepting German raiders.

As in previous raids, most people in the raid area, including Edinburgh, instead of taking to shelter, grouped in streets and in the countryside, eager for a sight of German planes or a dog fight.

Alarm Sounded
The first alarms were sounded shortly before 11:30 a. m., immediately after the first burst from anti-aircraft guns and the racing eastward of British fighter planes. Edinburgh people heard the drone of planes but could not see them because they were so high. Experts said that the planes were German, identified by the pulse of their motors.

Air raid wardens induced most Edinburgh people, finally, to take shelter.

Soon after the all clear signal was given at Edinburgh there was a second alarm. This time two planes could be seen thousands of feet high. The all-clear was sounded again and then there was a third alarm.

British Planes Seen
The British planes could be seen speeding out over the North sea as if they had turned back and were pursuing German raiders or were going out to intercept a new wave of them.

During the alarm period, the air ministry said that there had been no sighting of British fighters. Early this morning, Scotland in the area said guns were fired on the southeast coast of Scotland and that British planes flew out over the sea.

As no bomb explosions were heard anywhere the belief spread that British fighter planes had repulsed an attack on a considerable scale, and one in which the Germans had taken aim and again to penetrate the coastal defense.

hold. But it must always be kept in mind that the German military mind is traditionally fond of great flanking turning movements.

Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German command of the German armed forces, is well known to adhere to this plan.

Judging by the progress of the war thus far and the lines of Hitler's dispatches, it never is up to now, it is my opinion that the most likely course of events in the next few months is a comparative stalemate on the western front.

Hitler concentrates his efforts by submarine and bombing attack on the British navy and merchant marine.

But there is no doubt that both British and French troops would be fighting better movements.

Yeaman left Burley July 17 on a mission for the Latter Day Saints church, arriving in the South American republic Aug. 10. His parents said he had had symptoms of heart trouble previously, but seemed in good physical condition when he left.

Husband Chased His Wife With Ax; Judge Decries Ninety Days

Burley, Oct. 20 (Special)—A husband who chased his wife with an ax, threatening to kill her, P. F. Boyle, 39, Burley farmer, had been sentenced today to serve 90 days in the county jail.

Sentence was decreed on a assault claim by Justice R. H. Stewart at Burley last night.

Officers said Mrs. Boyle told them her husband, while chasing her with the ax, fell down in trying to go around a hay stack. She said she escaped from him then.

HOUSE FAVORS EMBARGO REPEAL, SURVEY DISCLOSES

15 TO 20 COUNT MARGIN SEEN IF VOTE IS TAKEN

By RONALD G. VAN TINE
WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—A check of the house produced today a measure of support for the claims of leaders that it would support, if it voted now, the administration's neutrality program by a margin of 15 to 20 votes.

An incomplete United Press check among 60 house Democrats who voted against repealing the embargo that session showed at least 18 favor President Roosevelt's proposal to lift the ban on shipping of arms, ammunition and implements of war.

House leaders, outwardly confident of victory, have delayed a formal poll until the senate bill is put in final form.

New and influential support for neutrality revision came as "the non-partisan committee" through revision of the neutrality law claimed that a poll of American Legionnaires at their Chicago convention last month showed 70 per cent favor change in the present law. The Legion convention itself took no position on the neutrality.

Stretches Constitution
On the senate side, meanwhile, Sen. Alva B. Adams, D. Colo., arms embargo repeal supporter, charged the administration is "stretching the constitution" in attempting to prohibit American ships from stopping at belligerent ports in Europe.

"I do not find this power in the constitution," Adams said. "How can we assume jurisdiction over the destination of a ship on the high seas and make it a crime for that ship to go to a certain port?"

The isolationists gained a vote when Sen. Rufus C. Holman, R. Ore., making the first public announcement of his position, said he intended to vote against repeal.

1940 AID LOOMS ON LITTLE WOOD

MOSCOW, Oct. 20 (Special)—Assurance that every effort will be made to rehabilitate the Little Wood River canal system in time for Carey valley farmers to benefit during the 1940 irrigation season has been given at Boise area headquarters of the soil conservation service as the agency that will direct construction activities.

Conservationist Fred A. Mark pointed out that the emergency nature of the Blaine county project, arising from 1938 flood damage to ditches and canals serving 124 acres, already had been reflected in prompt Washington approval of the work under the water facilities program.

The water facilities board approved Blaine county as a water facilities area, and ruled that work might be started on the Little Wood development, though other possible water facilities projects in the new area will await later determination.

The making of a detailed survey, drafting of working plans and letting of contract for the construction must precede action on the project, Mark explained. In planning tentatively to do the job by the 1940 irrigation season, he said, early freezing weather conditions as fall freeze-up and early spring melt weather have to be taken into account.

The water facilities plan calls for building of a single permanent diversion structure with control gates for the two canals, for some relocation of one or both ditches, and for necessary repair of the canal systems to insure full service from them. This development, the service official pointed out, is separate from any projects designed to give supplemental water through storage.

Blaine county previously was selected as a water facilities demonstration county, along with nine other Idaho counties, with up to four irrigation, pump and windmill, water pump or other work on developments permitted. The Little Wood project does not interfere with the demonstration phase of the program, Mark said.

Other counties approved for water facilities demonstrations include Boundary, Kootenai, Idaho, Washington, Dwyer, Clark, Jefferson, Bannock and Franklin.

Reception for the new teachers, with the home room mothers as hostesses, will follow the opening program for the year of the Twin Falls Junior-Senior high school. Parent-Teacher association, Mrs. W. R. Chase announced today. The program will begin promptly at 7:30 p. m. Monday, Oct. 23, in the high school auditorium.

Patrons will visit home rooms and meet their children's teachers after the closing of the program. Mrs. Lyle Gardner is in charge of the refreshment table arrangements for the reception. Mrs. Gerald Wallace is chairman of the program.

No More U. S. Income Tax Freedom For State Employees and Teachers

BOISE, Oct. 20 (Special)—Hundred—of Idaho—citizens whose salaries have previously been exempt from federal income tax must file returns for the calendar year of 1939 as the result of the action of Congress in passing the public law of 1939, which eliminated the exemption formerly enjoyed by state, county and city employees, school teachers and others paid from public funds.

In fact, all salaries are now taxable regardless of the source, with the exception of salaries paid by foreign governments to certain of their representatives stationed in the United States, according to John R. Wiley, collector of internal revenue for the district of Idaho.

Federal employees, who have always been subject to federal income tax, must also file state returns for 1939.

Otherwise the federal income tax law regarding the individual's return must be substantially the same as in 1938, Wiley stated, the big change is that no resident of the United States is now exempt because he is a public employee.

The internal revenue office in Boise has sent instructions to all county auditors, county school superintendents, clerks of independent schools and highway districts, city clerks and others who prepare public payrolls in Idaho, to submit information concerning the salaries of all public employees.

The exact number of formerly exempt persons who must pay federal income tax for 1939 has not yet been determined, but one of the larger groups in Idaho, the school teachers, numbers more than 1,700. However, some of these will have no federal tax to pay because their salaries may be less than the personal exemption of $1,000 for single persons or $2,500 for married couples.

Those desiring further information are invited by Wiley to call on his deputy collectors located at Coeur d'Alene, Lewiston, Boise, Twin Falls, Pocatello and Idaho Falls.

Practical Work Urged in School
The modern high school curriculum must be based on life experience rather than on preparation for college, because 80 to 85 per cent of the students do not go on to schools of higher learning, Mrs. Rose M. March, dean of girls at the Twin Falls high school, told the Kiwanis club Thursday.

In discussing "Knowledge for Citizenship," Mrs. March stressed the universal interests of youth. She was introduced by William H. Barnard, program chairman.

SUGAR DELIVERY HIGH SINCE 1937

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20 (AP)—Sugar deliveries of 1,193,202 tons in September to American distributors were the largest for any month since March, 1937, the agriculture department reported.

The department said the September figures reflected the large movement of sugar into consuming channels following the outbreak of war in Europe and the lifting of all quota restrictions on marketings by President Roosevelt.

The deliveries by refiners, best processors and importers were at most double the September, 1938, total of 702,176 tons. Deliveries from Jan. 1 to Oct. 1 of this year were 5,436,018 tons compared with 4,683,840 tons in the same months of 1938.

M-J-B WHY?

"We learned the answer from the Sarah B..."

1 The wife and I were cruising up the river when the coffee gave out two days from the coast landing. That was mean much to you unless you've run out of coffee on a cruise. It's just about as serious as running out of fuel! But luck was with us. Along about evening we sighted the Sarah B.

2 "Get some coffee you can spare!" I yelled, recognizing my friend Bill Robinson. "Send me a pound!" We came alongside and Bill tossed overboard. That night we had the sweetest coffee I ever tasted. Even in our battered old tin pot it had a full, rich flavor. The wife was impressed.

3 "Why didn't we know about M-J-B before?" she asks. "Search me," I said. "I've read about its Richer Roast but I never dreamed it'd make such a difference. We'll stock up on M-J-B at the next landing."

P. S. When we got home we sent Bill a present and enclosed this note: "One good turn deserves another." Guess he's still wondering what we meant!

Local Housewives "Thumbs Down" Cleaning of Pheasants and Ducks

By JEAN DINKELACKER

"Shoot if you must those old gray birds, But you'll have to clean them afterwards."

Tallyho, the hunt is on, and Twin Falls homemakers have plenty of opinions concerning "Cleaning Pheasants and Ducks as a Home Project for Women."

The majority of Twin Falls housewives are of the opinion that if the hunters jolly get such a relish out of shooting the birds, they can clean, pick, skin, joint and put them in the refrigerator.

Not Picking Chefs

But not a woman suggested that the cooking and serving of pheasants and ducks, when in season, should be left to manhandling.

"I told my husband daily 15 years ago that I wouldn't clean his pheasants," said Mrs. Edna Tomlin, who remarked a local resident who has a son about ready to follow in his father's footsteps as a hunter who always gets his birds.

That young man should make a ideal husband someday—if he pays attention to the cooking his mother-in-law has been giving him.

"Good heavens, I wouldn't clean any bird—not even a chicken!" was the little horrified reply of one of the young matrons of the city when approached this morning.

"What I just got up," she apologized, and the thought of cutting up a pheasant seemed to be as distasteful as if she had just emerged from a nightmare.

Her Husband's "Angel"

Most kindly was the attitude of one well-known Twin Falls hostess who said, "Pheasants aren't hard to clean. Besides, they wouldn't be taken care of if I didn't do it. And as for ducks, that's simple. I plunge them into boiling water for one minute, and then wash them in newspapers for 10 minutes, and all the down comes off."

And that was from an ethereal-looking blond person with slender, well-groomed hands of the "talent variety." Women are just unpredictable.

In contrast was the robust laugh of another local woman when approached as to her attitude concerning the matter under discussion.

"What I have to say is that I don't drive the game out of the stable for my husband to shoot at—and frequently miss—why should I be expected to fill the role of the family carter, too?"

Not too complimentary to her husband's expert marksmanship was the first woman queried. "My husband never gets any birds, even

All Clubs on Schedule Point To Win Over Notre Dame

By JERRY BRONFIELD
(Tribune Staff)
SOUTH BEND, Oct. 20.—Don't take it too badly if you're riding with Notre Dame all season and the Irish should happen to take it on the chin.

They might go into every game as the favorite but they're up against something no other team in the land must contend with.

Not only do the South Bendians play one of the most murderous schedules in the business but every one on their nine-game program points for them. Beating the Irish is synonymous with a successful season.

The Irish, say those close to Notre Dame football affairs, is terrific. Never has comparative football strength been on the level it is today. Only three or four out of three score major teams figure to go through undefeated.

Notre Dame may sneak by but it's extremely doubtful.

Line Problem
Elmer Layden's backs can more than carry the load but the Irish man doubts that he has the reserve line strength which is so vitally necessary.

Sliver Dicks—A great blocker and defensive man, closely approaches the perfect quarterback. His general play is the best a Notre Dame has had since Frank Carideo called plays.

But behind these men the material drops off from typical Notre Dame reserve strength. The shortbacks are likely to be the direct cause of what sooner or later will be dubbed an upset.

In Joe Boland the Irish have one of the best line teachers extant. If they can outlast Navy in Cleveland's huge municipal stadium, Oct. 21, and get by a power-laden Carnegie Tech squad in Pittsburgh the following week, they can go into November with a little more hope.

That is, if Army, Iowa, Northwestern and Southern California can give much hope to any club.

Practice Well Organized
When Notre Dame teams can't get by on physical power they let their spirit take up the slack. Layden is a master organizer. He holds staff meetings every day of the week.

Players and coaches lunch together. Football is a team sport, and next to the football fieldmen.

Notre Dame teams practice not less than an hour and a half a day but probably get more accomplished than most squads who are on the field two hours or more.

Layden and his assistants have everything streamlined. Every man on the squad is constantly doing something. No one stands around watching someone else.

The Notre Dame system in the final analysis is to keep moving and hit the other guy first.

Armstrong Heavy Favorite to Defeat Fontaine

SEATTLE, Oct. 20 (UP)—Henry Armstrong, world welterweight champion, ruled an odds-on favorite over Richie Fontaine of Hollywood in his 19-round title bout here tonight.

Absence of betting reflected general belief the American would have little trouble disposing of his rival, who scored a decision over the champion in 1935.

Armstrong was expected to hold a four-pound weight advantage.

McLemore Interviews the Sphinx Of the South—Learns Nothing

By HENRY McLEMORE
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 20.—This is a transcript of an interview between the Louisville Courier-Journal's "Sphinx" and the only living Dixie-grown sphinx in or out of captivity.

Sphinx: At this time of the year the south is lovely. You know when the fall comes to the Smokies. Well there's something about it that just gets you. Now—

S. W.: How about the Tennessee-Alabama game? It came all the way down here from the big great small town in the world, and I'd like to tell my readers what's going to happen in this game.

Sphinx: You speak of the big great small town in the world. Now let me tell you something—

S. W.: That's just what I want you to do. Tell me something. I want to know what you think of the football game. You know, Tennessee against Alabama.

Sphinx: Could it so happen you are a newspaper man? Now, I want to tell you about newspaper men. You're back in the south right now, young fellow, and the south has produced some great newspaper men. I want to tell you—

S. W.: Please, I'm really interested in this game. To me, speaking just as a fan, it is the biggest game of the year. I'd like to tell the people what's going to happen, or just as a guess, what might happen, and I don't know who could give me a better line on the game.

Sphinx: Now don't get it into your head. It so happens I know about you. I want to tell you what our people down here think about that big small town stuff. I want to tell you this—

S. W.: Please, number 1, I just want to know what you think of the Tennessee-Alabama game?

Sphinx: All right, McLemore. You have just called me the sphinx all night and I have been watching you write. Of course, I'm Nayland (editor's note: Major Bob Nayland, coach of the Tennessee football team) and you are trying to put me on the spot. How do I know whether we can win or not? Wouldn't I be an awful man to come out and say a lot of people things just to make a lot of people happy in advance, and then get beaten?

S. W.: (Big pardon, McLemore)—Now listen Major Nayland, you coach Tennessee and since Jack Southland quit coaching, all I've heard are nice things about you; what I hear is, when you add it up, that you are the No. 1 coach of America today. I'm beginning to suspect you don't know how good you are—and how is your wife?

Nayland: My wife has nothing to do with this ball game but since you have put me on the spot I want to say—

McLemore: There's one important thing I want to know. Does your lovely wife still cook good biscuits and another thing—

Nayland: So you call me a sphinx all night and you're trying to allow a person up in print. Well, now I want to tell you something. Mr. McLemore—

McLemore: (breathlessly): Just tell me the one little thing I should know.

Nayland: Why don't you go to sleep?

End—Both McLemore and Nayland went to sleep. And if we know our readers, so did they.

Doctoring Derelict Ducks

Whatever is in store for these quackers when the duck season opens on the Pacific coast Oct. 22, they're getting good attention at the Tule Lake, Calif., bird refuge now. Biological survey workers are treating thousands of ducks for botulism, which stills the bird's wings and causes drowning.

Buffalo Meat Served to Grid Buffaloes

BOULDER, Colo., Oct. 20 (UP)—Buffalo for the Buffaloes was the main course today as the annual University of Colorado homecoming celebration opened.

A 500-pound yearling bison was roasted over glowing applewood coals for the yearly barbecue to-night in honor of the institution's football team.

The Colorado university-Coronado State football game Saturday will end the observance.

Cards Offer Joe Medwick In Trade Deal

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20 (UP)—Outfielder Joe Medwick, highest paid player on the St. Louis Cardinals roster, was on the trading block today, according to Sam Breadon.

"I wouldn't hesitate to trade him," Breadon said, "as long as the deal would strengthen the cardinals."

Breadon indicated trade proposals have been made for Medwick.

Pocatello Hunt Party Pays For Trespassing

JEROME, Oct. 20 (Special)—Making unlawful entry by trespassing on the property of Harold D. Cook, Jerome farmer, whose place had been posted against hunters, proved an expensive venture for two Pocatello couples Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Christensen and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Daniels, all of Pocatello, who trespassed on the posted property to hunt pheasants, brought before Probate Judge Heber N. Polkman this week, consideration was given the party following withdrawal of the complaint made out by Cook, and only court costs which amounted to $12.10 was charged.

CASUALTIES

BOHARTON, Penn., Oct. 20 (UP)—Football casualty list showed a marked increase today.

Reason: A hawk swooped low over the local field yesterday during the football game, Frank Loney of Lakeland fired at it and missed—the bird, eight players, all about 12, required medical attention.

Gambler donated 40 acres of land on which to erect the United States of Arizona in 1885. The territorial legislature had offered to appropriate $25,000 for the institution if the site was provided.

Group singing was led by Miss Lois Slusher, Greenwood school, followed by program demonstrations presented by various teachers of the county schools.

The pupils of the Russell Lane school presented a movie showing the history and progress made in water transportation. Pictures depicting the various types of motorboats of transportation from the canoe to steamships and pleasure yachts, were made entirely by hand by the children. Ernest Albertson, principal of the Hazelton grade school, presented a list of the free material magazines which may be secured by any teacher. The group of teachers together with their principals, and a group of parents, were entertained for a banquet served them by the Hazelton club of Hazelton Lane.

Ship traffic used to be so frequent around Diamond Light ship, off Diamond Shoals, N. C., that sailors living on the light-house were used to the United States Navy had to haul passing freighters, ride to Boston or Miami, and catch trains to Hazelton—a trip of perhaps 2,000 miles to cover 20.
