CONSERVATION OF WATER SEEN AS ECONOMIC HELP

DENVER, Nov. 14 (UP)—O. S. Warden of Great Falls, Mont., president of the National Reclamation association, told the organization's eighth annual convention here today that conservation of water in western United States will "solve the greatest problem of national self-sufficiency this country ever had."

Addressing 1,500 delegates at the opening session, Warden compared water conservation and irrigation of the past with possibilities in the future. Reclamation, he promised, would answer almost every problem confronting the government today.

He saw the end of direct relief and unemployment through use of water conservation and irrigation in reclamation projects. Completion of extensive reclamation operations, he said, would permit resettlement of wandering, poverty-stricken families on fertile and productive lands.

Strong in Peace

Warden emphasized the importance of matching reclamation appropriations against expenditures for arms and munitions.

"To make a nation strong in peace and invincible in war—this is where reclamation and the west come in to the national defense formula," the association president said.

The convention opened with the selection of various legislative committees and general mapping of policy.

After a Round-table Discussion

After a round-table discussion with water users tonight, L. H. Mitchell, irrigation adviser of the bureau of reclamation at Washington, D. C., will address the delegates on the subject "New Ideas in the Use of Water." Other speakers will include C. C. Conner, Wyoming engineer, and W. H. Robinson, manager of the Oem Irrigation district, Homedale, Idaho.

SPUD ESTIMATE TOPS PREDICTION

BOISE, Nov. 14 (UP)—Idaho's 1939 potato crop was estimated today at 25,870,000 bushels, or 600,000 bushels greater than the Oct. 1 forecast, said the federal agricultural marketing service.

The yields were spotted this year with both extremely high and extremely low yields reported. The crop, of the average, was about 14 per cent lower than last year and equal to the 10-year average.

October weather was favorable for harvesting operations and no frost damage was reported as the potatoes went into storage.

There were complaints that considerable quantities of immature potatoes went into storage in some areas and frost damage may result in heavy storage losses in some areas.

The officials said the U. S. No. 1 and No. 2 grade potato yields were estimated at 1,000,000 bushels.

A preliminary estimate of bean production was 21,000 bushels larger than the Oct. 1 forecast. Sugarbeet did not yield as well as expected and the crop was estimated at 180,000 tons.

Commercial apple crop was estimated at 2,150,000 bushels but heavy worm damage resulted in diversion of considerable quantities to other than fresh fruit consumption.

Dobbin Helps Belligerents Get Airplanes

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Nov. 14 (UP)—These may not be horse-and-buggy days, but horses still play their part in world affairs—even in assisting in the delivery of airplanes to belligerents.

It happens this way:

A state department ruling forbids Americans from flying airplanes to belligerent nations, and likewise citizens of belligerent nations to fly them from the United States.

Since early last summer, Great Falls has been the "jumping off" place for airplanes bound for England from southern California factories. In the past—with the exception of the period when the previous neutrality law forbade their export—planes halted at Great Falls for a final load of gas before flying to Lehigh.

Hereafter the planes will be landed at Sweet Grass, Mont., by American pilots, and hauled—by horse teams—three miles across the border to Coeur, Alberta. There Canadian pilots will take them.

LETTERS GIVE CLUE TO SLAYING OF RACE TRACK BO

CAPONE BLAMED FOR MURDER IN NOTE TO YOUTH

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN
CHICAGO, Nov. 14 (U.P.)—Two letters, one uncovered at Los Angeles, the other at Chicago, gave police their first definite leads today in the grand assassination of Edward J. O'Hare, millionaire race track impresario. One gave clues to the actual killers, the other said Scarface Al Capone had sworn to kill O'Hare and indicated he still is overlord of the Chicago underworld.

Both letters were unsubstantiated. Police at Los Angeles and Chicago began immediate investigations to ascertain their authenticity.

Police found one letter on the person of Russell Stoddard, 21, who was attacked and stabbed six times on a Los Angeles street late last night by two unidentified men. He said he was a former jockey at the Santa Anita track and had been O'Hare's bodyguard until recently. The letter indicated the writer knew the identity of assassins who shot and killed O'Hare last Wednesday as he drove toward Chicago from Sportsman's park race track, of which he was president. Stoddard was held as a material witness.

Second letter

The second letter was found among O'Hare's effects by Chief Deputy Coroner Anthony Prusinski. It said two convicts released from a prison had heard Capone, while still in Alcatraz, made threats against O'Hare and that "the big dog" would be going to have O'Hare, or will see that some of his friends score for Eddie. (In underworld argot "scoring" means killing.)

After eight years in prison, Al Capone, one time ruler of the Chicago underworld, will take up life again as a free man. He is shown here with his wife, Mae, and his son, Capone was taken to Terminal Island prison, Calif., to spend a year after four years at Alcatraz.

MERCHANTS WILL BOOST GRID-DUEL

Twin Falls merchants had agreed today to boost the Bruin-Nampa championship football game with every means at their command.

The merchants' bureau of the Chamber of Commerce, at its Monday session, decided to have all establishments boost the game in their regular newspaper advertisements. The merchants will urge attendance at the football title battle for all who can possibly go.

State title at stake

The game, scheduled here Friday afternoon, offers the Bruins a chance to win the state "big school" crown by defeating Nampa. Victory for the western Idaho squad would clinch the crown for Nampa.

Chairman Al Gilbert of the Christmas decorations committee reported that his group has ordered the garlands which will form a new feature this year. Remainder of the project now awaits completion of the Christmas tree under R. S. Hoffmire.

M. Hoffmire advised the bureau that response to this drive is "very gratifying." He indicated that his committee hopes to have sufficient funds by the end of this week.

Bearded Alaskan

Jud Clark, bureau chairman, introduced bewhiskered Earl Hammond, Alaskan whose dog-team troupe travels about the country enacting Santa Claus roles. Because Hammond won't be in this part of the country until the end of the Christmas season this year, and because Twin Falls merchants already have outlined their Yule program, it was decided to recommend Hammond for employment here during the Christmas season of 1940 instead of this year. The bearded visitor assured the bureau that in 1940 he will be in this region at the start rather than the end of the holiday period.

In HOLLYWOOD Today

Producer Sam Goldwyn has a town in Arizona named after him now. Goldwyn, Ariz., will be a permanent motion picture set for filming historical western pictures. It is built on the desert outside Tucson. It was incorporated because as a town it can keep away power lines, modern highways and other modern features that would ruin it for so pictures.

Mickey Rooney's contract was adjusted today so he is now earning a reported $5,000 a week. He used to get $1,000 a week, plus a bonus for each picture.

Baby Sandy is now an honorary captain of M. battery, artillery. Virginia Polytechnic Institute, first movie actress to be appointed to the staff of the famed institute.

A "dead man's law" gives Ben Bard, movie producer and second husband of the late actress Ruth Roland, a $22,400 judgment against Miss Roland's first husband, L. A. Kent, in litigation over her $1,000,000 estate. Bard contends Miss Roland's gift of the $22,400 to Kent was made via a telephone shortly before her death and such gifts are illegal and the judge agreed.

The first woman director of the film industry, Lois Weber, 66, died today. She was credited with steering Billie Dove, Anita Stewart and Hedy Lamarr to stardom. She made her last picture in 1934.

Film actor Rodney Panjaca continued his tanning in court today in his divorce suit against Mrs. Beatrice Panjaca and described how he and private detectives found his wife keeping company with a young bartender named Peter Bedwell.

BOTT REVERSES WRIGHT CHARGES

BOISE, Nov. 14 (U.P.)—The present Idaho administration has spent $688,000 less in its first nine months than did its Democratic predecessor, Gov. C. A. Bottolfsen said today in answer to accusations of excessive expenditures made recently by State Auditor Calvin E. Wright.

Wright accused the administration of making expenditures of $1,440,894 in excess of those of the previous administration of former Gov. Bardella Clark. Bottolfsen accused Wright of deliberate inaccuracies in concealing a changed method of handling relief expenditures in the state accounts.

ENGLAND PLANS SEIZING OF SHIPS

LONDON, Nov. 14 (U.P.)—There were indications today that Great Britain might soon start seizing neutral ships from operators who persist in carrying contraband destined for Germany.

The British have that right under international law but have not invoked it so far on the theory that during the first few weeks of war, ship owners often did not know the contraband list. It was said, however, that henceforth there will be increasing grounds to suspect increasing grounds to suspect that their ships as well as their cargoes will be in danger.

Neutralists have complained over the delay caused by the contraband control and it was explained the British are attempting to speed up this work and are asking owners to co-operate by supplying manifests in advance.

Britain lost another merchant ship yesterday—the Pennant, of 1,346 tons. It went down off the northeast coast 90 minutes after an explosion of undetermined origin. Three passengers and the crew reached land in lifeboats.

More than compensating for the loss, however, was the admiralty announcement that the German steamers Mecklenburg, of 8,000 tons, and the Parana, of 8,000 tons, had been sunk by British warships. The German crews took to lifeboats. The warships rescued the crews and sunk both ships with shells.

A direct hit on a German submarine with airplane bombs also was reported.

Benjamin Franklin never requested nor received a patent for any of his inventions or discoveries, although he is ranked as the greatest inventive genius of his age.

SOLONS FIRING AT TARIFF REDUCING

Both Idaho congressmen have flung vigorous protests against proposed reduction of Chinese bean tariffs, according to replies received today by the Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce. The chamber had dispatched copies of its protest resolution to the congressional delegation and to other federal officials.

Rep. Henry Dworshak protested to the committee for reciprocity information and pointed to the "ruinous effects" on Idaho agriculture and interests if the bean tariff is cut for Chile. The reduction would automatically apply to many other nations under the "most favored" clause.

Rep. Compton I. White advised the C. of C. that he will present to the committee at its hearing Nov. 27 a flood of protests he has received from Idaho. He said he will press for action to "afford protection to the farming interests of our state."

Others indefinite

Other replies received today far are more non-committal. John P. Gregg, secretary to the committee which will hold the Chilean trade pact hearing Nov. 27, said that he will bring the Twin Falls protest resolution (plus others from Jerome and additional Magic Valley interests) to the committee during the forthcoming negotiations.

J. D. LeCris, secretary to Henry A. Wallace, the nation's agricultural chief, promised that no decision will be made until after all interested parties have been given an opportunity to present their claims at the hearing.

Psychology Prof Gets Weird Replies From U. of I. Youths

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Nov. 14 (Special)—"Prove Everything" is the motto above the entrance to the science building on the campus of the University of Idaho. Yet, in a recent quiz conducted to determine students' gullibility asserted that "it is unlikely to have anything to do with the number 13" and 37 other fallacious statements.

Quizzes were given to students taking psychology by Dr. Allan C. Lemon, psychology professor. Results proved that gullibility of students decreases with more education. Graduate students fell for the smallest number of the common fallacious superstitions, with only five per cent; while the freshmen accepted 25 per cent of the statements.

Receiving widest acceptance as being the truth was the statement that a high forehead indicates intelligence. This superstition was closely followed by "long, slim fingers indicate an artistic nature." A large number of men believed that brains and beauty rarely go together, while many girls asserted that silent men are usually deep thinkers.

These same questions were given to a faculty member group, but it would be too "revealing" to give any figures on the gullibility of the professors, Dr. Lemon said.

Speaker Sees Warning In 'Grapes of Wrath'

John Steinbeck's novel, "The Grapes of Wrath," one of the most controversial books of the past few years, "is a very unpleasant, sad book, and a great book," Mrs. J. H. Seaver believes. Mrs. Seaver reviewed the book, with its social implications, at a meeting of the Drama and Literature department of the Twentieth Century club this afternoon at the American Legion Memorial hall.

"If that condition described by the author exists, and it probably does, it is a condition about which we should know, do something about, and guard against it in Idaho," Mrs. Seaver stressed.

Family of Migrants
The book, which has been hailed and condemned with equal intensity, concerns the trek of a migrant family of "Okies" and their contemporaries from the dust bowl to the "promised land" that is California.

Mrs. Seaver predicted literary immortality for "Ma," the most profoundly moving character in the book, and particularly commended the word picture sketched by Steinbeck of the blinding of Old, the bus driver and the hamburger stand encountered on the Oklahoma "line of march."

Mrs. Seaver's excellent review, Mrs. Virgil Lesells gave a brief biography of the California writer whose book has commanded such widely diverse points of view. Mrs. Lesells also enumerated other writings of Steinbeck.

Wife of a Character
Mrs. Lesells pointed out that some critics say that his writing is "surface" and "consequential," but instead he treats of that which is at the root of all human happiness and misery, all class struggle and social injustice—human character. Steinbeck, only 34 years old, lives at Los Olivos, Calif. Born in Florida, he has spent much of his life in California, and was graduated from Stanford University. He is described as a man whose eyes are "as blue as the Pacific on a sunny day; a giant of a man; fair-haired, blond-mustached, a man who does not like to read fiction, and whose philosophy, biology and physics."

Mrs. A. J. Peavey, department chairman, presided at the meeting, and announced that Mrs. E. Fraser would present a Christmas book list at the December meeting of the department.

Girls Entertain At Indoor Picnic
"The good old summertime" isn't essential to picnics, girls of the Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church proved Sunday evening when they entertained the boys of the group at a picnic supper. The party was held in the church parlors.

Forty members of the organization sat cross-legged on the floor and ate the picnic menu, including hot buttered biscuits, from paper plates, and later enjoyed a hilarious program of games in the rummup room.

Conestalks, pumpkins, an imitation bonfire, artificially illuminated, contributed a realistic "outdoor" setting to the occasion.

At the close of an attendance contest, the boys, who lost, gave a harvest dinner to the girls. It was so successful that the girls thought they owed a return courtesy to the boys and Sunday night's party, in charge of Miss Betty Brinegar, was the satisfactory result.

Mrs. Gerald Wallace and Miss Dorothy Hall supervised the cooking and Miss Florence Rees and Gerald Wallace assisted in the rummup room.

The Christian Endeavor society is already rehearsing the Christmas play, has raised practically the entire sum to purchase new hymn books; will help the women of the church with a Thanksgiving offering and will purchase new games for the rummup room.

COACHES OPPOSE NIGHT GRID COLLEGE TILTS

Babe Hollingbery Sees Color Drop In Nocturnal Play

By HOWARD J. BRICE
SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 14 (UP)—Coaches of Pacific Coast conference schools, northern division, are lined up against night football simply because they believe bad weather makes it impractical, according to a survey.

Not one of the mentors of the five institutions thought game receipts would be boosted appreciably by night games, and Babe Hollingbery of Washington State had the temerity to doubt that the co-eds would get their usual stadium thrills if they had to cover their eyes with heavy coats.

Coach Len Stener of Oregon State, who experimented with night games several seasons ago, flatly turned down the idea, using the "beavers' experience" as a basis for his opinion. Cold rain and fog didn't find favor with the spectators at Corvallis, Stener said.

Some Popularity
"You can be sure that if night games attracted larger crowds and increased gate take we would have continued them," Stener said. "Most of the night games now being played in Oregon, Washington and Idaho resulted from conflicts in teams' schedules."

Coach Jimmy Phelan of Washington said night play might cost him popularity in California in the near future, but he couldn't see it for the northwest. Washington hasn't discussed lighting its stadium although it has needed a stadium for crowds the last few seasons.

Besides his concern for the co-eds, Hollingbery believed night games would necessarily result in transferring contests from small towns to large cities because the former would be too dark to see. He cited the reaction of Oregon State as an example.

"No," Hollingbery said, "I don't think night would be feasible. Cold-weather play is the usual rather than the exception. And we've had to play our home games in nearby Spokane to attract our normal crowds."

"Another thing—the color of the crowd, which would be missing, and so would the grandstand stunts of the student body."

Coach Ted Bank of Idaho thought the point that players are more vulnerable to injury while playing in the cold night air.

Fewer Passes
"The added degree of cold between afternoon and night would be a telling factor in the condition of the student body."

Coach Ted Bank of Idaho thought the point that players are more vulnerable to injury while playing in the cold night air.

Iowa 'Pitching' Star Once Caught Bob Feller

Nile Kinick, Iowa's great triple-threat halfback, gets a workout at the training table, devotes a lengthy session to the books and checks in on the scales which show him barely at 170.

By JERRY BRONFELD (NEA Service)
Nile Kinick, Jr., once was battery mate of famed Bob Feller in Adel, Ia., where he was born. Now Iowa's amazing quintuple-threat pitches instead of catches, and is generally acknowledged as best passer in Big Ten.

Kinick is 21 years old, stands five feet eight inches and weighs 170 pounds. Father, who is in real estate department of federal land bank of Omaha, played football and basketball at Iowa State.

A brilliant student and almost certain Phi Beta Kappa nominee, Kinick was likely Rhodes scholar until European war temporarily cancelled future appointments.

Senior, majoring in economics and plans to enter college of law next fall. Does about two hours of janitor and janitor's work for partial self-support.

Of Scotch-Irish ancestry. Member of Phi Kappa Psi, Order of Arcturion, honor society group and senior men's honorary society. Generally considered finest combination of athlete-student in modern Iowa history.

Got football start as mere lad when father kicked pigskin to him in back yard. Family moved to New York at annual dinner sponsored there for the winner.

We weren't on the picking list for the first year, but in 1936 we sided with the Bruins. In 1937 we wanted Bunchy or Frank, but last year we were again on the right side.

Two 1938 things do not look nearly as easy in the picking line. We believe there are five outstanding candidates: Paul Christman of Minnesota, Dick Cassiano of Pittsburgh, George Gage of Tennessee, Nile Kinick of Iowa and Tom Harmon of Michigan.

Harmon is a man on the west coast to figure high in the balloting at all. Harry Smith, a Southern California lineman, would probably have the best chance, but playing in the line never earns a man much publicity—especially at the grand pick.

For our choices we picked Cato for the No. 1 post; Kinick for the No. 2 and Christian for the No. 3. We don't know why—we just did it. They look like the best of the lot and we can't see where any one of them comes near to being day-in-and-day-out shining performer as previous Heisman winners.

Maybe the last two or three games of the season will establish some other players who have failed to reach the spotlight. If so, then our guesses will go blousy.

Michigan State Coach Raps Rule Allowing Call for 'Fair Catch'

By MAX HENKEL
EAST LANSING, Mich., Nov. 14 (UP)—Charles Bachman, head football coach at Michigan State college, is gunning for the "fairy" rule that hands the Spartans a 17-14 defeat by Marquette in a one-in-a-lifetime intercollegiate.

When the intercollegiate football rules committee meets this winter, Bachman will be there to ask annulment or new interpretation of a rule governing "the opportunity for a fair catch."

Here's the Play
Here's what happened to Bachman's team: With the score tied at 14 points in the last quarter, a State punter got off a high kick from behind his own goal-line. As it came down to Judge Richardson, Marquette's safety man, on State's 30, Richardson sidestepped. State's center, Bill Batchelor, tried to catch the ball and then fumbled it before it hit the ground.

Richardson at no time had signaled for a fair catch, but Field Richardson, Marquette's safety man, had interfered with his opportunity to make one, and the penalty gave Marquette the ball and a free kick on State's 15. A field goal followed.

Ruling Was Fair
"The ruling by the officials was fair and strictly according to the rules of the game," Bachman says. "But the rule itself is unfair and should be dropped from the book."

He emphasized that a literal interpretation of such rules would complicate the game. "I have no quarrel with the officials, but as long as these 'fairy' rules are on the books, we'll have officials who will stretch them to the limit," Bachman added.

The stretch, Bachman contended, was fair and strictly according to the rules of the game. "But the rule itself is unfair and should be dropped from the book."

Minors Will Ponder 44 Rule Changes

DURHAM, N. C., Nov. 14 (UP)—The annual minor league baseball convention, opening in Cincinnati, Dec. 4, will consider 44 amendments to minor league laws, it was announced today.

Most important proposed amendments: To prevent the home club from calling off a game because of ground conditions more than 15 minutes before scheduled game time unless agreed to in writing by the visiting club.

One aimed at preventing affiliated clubs from exchanging players in the closing stages of a pennant race by prohibiting such transfers after Aug. 1.

More leniency in signing, recommending and re-acquiring players.

POCATELLO SET-BACK MAKES TWIN FALLS-NAMPA GAME HERE A "NATURAL" FOR IDAHO STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

That crushing defeat handed the Pocatello Indians by an Idaho Falls club that hadn't won a conference game all season makes the Nampa-Twin Falls contest here on Friday a "natural" for the state championship.

A victory for either club will clinch an undisputed state crown, despite the fact that Nampa has only a tie to make a perfect record while the Bruins already have one defeat.

The fact that Nampa has lost a game and that Idaho Falls has won one is considered as half a game won and half a game lost.

Nampa tied for second in the Idaho conference, while Idaho Falls was second in the Northwest.

However, a Bruins victory would not be too surprising and on top of that it would make Twin Falls the apocryphal champion of the state of Idaho.

The Twin Falls Cowboys have already tucked away a Pioneer League pennant that included opposition from Utah, now if the Bruins could come through with a gridiron title things would indeed look rosy in local sports followers.

If Coach Hank Powers can turn out a state championship football team to go with that baseball title, then will expect Coach H. V. Jones to come through with the same sort of a thing on the cage floor.

Nice assignment, eh H. V.?

Allison Guns For Junior College Title

ALBION, Nov. 14 (Special)—There is a very good possibility that the virtual championship of the Intercollegiate Junior college football conference may be determined here this week-end when the Albion Normal Panthers meet on the Howard field gridiron with the powerful Mesa Junior college eleven from Grand Junction, Colo.

Idaho college at St. George, Utah, with another conference win Saturday over the Branch Agriculture college of Cedar City, Utah, continued to hold the league spotlight with a perfect conference record.

Albion Normal, however, also has a record of 100 per cent. According to league regulations, the 6-0 tie game the Panthers played with Weber State last week either for or against this club's rating. If the Panthers succeed in knocking over the powerful Mesa outfit here Friday afternoon, Nov. 17, it will put the local machine in a very likely spot to finish the season on the big end of the post-off.

On the other hand, if the Albion Normal machine is defeated by a win over the normal in Friday's games, it will put them in favorable position along with Weber to take top place, since Dixie has games yet this year with Mesa Junior and the Panthers.

Reveries of the league-wide possibilities of the Mesa-Albion contest here Friday, the game promises to be an exciting affair from first to last. The two clubs are almost identical in both speed and weight.

Reports from Rexburg, Idaho, state Mesa hammered Richa college into a 12-0 submission on Saturday day indicate that the Coloreds are plenty powerful and tough.

Ovile Hills Panther crew is looking its best of the season. In future conservative scrimmages last week they showed up better than at any other time this year. "Disparaging a few minor scratches and haves," said Monday, "the team is in excellent physical condition and in the right mental attitude to take on the power of the Albion first, second and third teams to be very much the same."

The game is slated to start at 2 p. m. Friday.

In England, hospitals containing 100,000 beds are supported by voluntary contributions.

Louis Plans Five or Six Battles And Then He Will Hang Up Gloves

By HENRY McLEMORE
NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (UP)—"Chewie" will fight five or six more times and then retire undefeated."

Jack Blackburn, the animated trainer near who trains Joe Louis, says a particularly thoughtful reason for this announcement is the plans of the heavyweight boxing champion. At least, so it seems to him. Louis, with a close of bright smile and brighter shoes, with money in the bank, and power in his fists, can't better to pay any mind to the future.

Joe Louis, I mean, King and Queens burn midnight oil to save their country. Dictators froth, Statesmen steel themselves and their people for a war of nerves, but Louis, with a close of bright smile and brighter shoes, with money in the bank, and power in his fists, can't better to pay any mind to the future.

All the rest of the world may be unsure of itself, uncertain of the future, but Louis, with a close of bright smile and brighter shoes, with money in the bank, and power in his fists, can't better to pay any mind to the future.

Godoy Expects To K. O. Louis

NEW YORK, Nov. 14 (UP)—Arturo Godoy, Chile, arrived aboard the liner Uruguay today and said he would knock out Joe Louis with a left hook when they fight for the heavyweight championship in Madison Square Garden Feb. 9.

Godoy, former South American titleholder, came here with his wife after an 18-day voyage from Buenos Aires. He appeared in excellent physical shape. He said he would weigh in at 200 pounds to get in trim for Louis.

He expressed supreme confidence he would be able to wrest the championship from Louis.

Godoy expects to K. O. Louis.

Idaho Harriers Lose to WSC

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Nov. 14 (Special)—University of Idaho cross-country team lost its first meet in five years Saturday morning in Washington State, 20-20. Dixon Garner, Pacific coast champion, paced the Cougar harriers, who were trailed by Bill Dale, ace half-miler.

Phil Lalowita and Dick Dale, Idaho standbys, finished third and fourth ahead of WSC's occasional sophomore, Noel Williams.

Saturday's defeat was the first time since Coach Mike Ryan came to Idaho five years ago that the Vandal harriers have dropped a dual match.

Idaho's runners will go to Portland, Ore., Nov. 20 to defend the Pacific championship they won last year.

C. of I. Works On Plays for Homecoming

CALDWELL, Nov. 14 (Special).—Preparations for the homecoming of Idaho Homecoming celebration Nov. 18 are getting under way with both student body and alumni officers and chairmen planning to make the 28th annual homecoming the biggest and best yet seen on the C. of I. campus.

Main feature of the day's events will probably be the gridiron battle with Willamette university in which the football team will have an opportunity to show the splendid form used against Boise State college in the last home game.

Other homecoming attractions are the annual dance, the Homecoming banquet at which alumni and students can get acquainted all over again, and the competitive window, campus and home decorating contests between campus groups.

C. of I. huckies are having a good time of these days as some of the "it" club did not make whicker growing mandarin and the "it" club of the C. of I. men began to grow their beards a week or ten days before homecoming.

Student chairman appointed by A.S.C.I. President Reed Bowler to take charge of the affair are Jack Jackson, Jerome and Edna, Edna Wendell, and Mark Joelyn, Twin Falls. Subchairmen are: Publicity, Bill Hankin, Caldwell; dance, Bill Skinner, Jordan Valley, Ore.; and Marjory Mahbott, Nampa; competitive window decorations, Lawrence Conley, Nampa; and Edna Darling, Caldwell; campus decorations, Elizabeth Hawken, Boise, and Esther Mills, Nampa. The yell squad, Jack Bob and Betty Nelson from Nampa, and Roberta Kirkpatrick and Helen Sayre from Caldwell, will have charge of stunts in the between-halves period of the football game.

CHICAGO — "Hold onto your seats" results make collegiate football the greatest of sports. Gridiron followers held onto their seats when displaced Illinois trounced a supposedly invincible Michigan array, 14-0.

They stood up and cheered when an underdog Cornell club came from the ruck with a rush to overwhelm mighty Ohio State.

Little College of the Pacific, under Old Man Stagg, electrified the coast by trouncing California.

Wesleyan University, coached by the old Notre Damer, Matty Matthews, gave the golden soles another thrill by quick-kicking on first down and passing on fourth to edge Saint Mary's.

Sam Houston Teachers made the southwest sit up and take notice by beating Rice.

So it has gone down through the years. Nothing can be taken for granted in college football.

An imaginative coach, psychology, morale, fight and the will to win in the clutches accomplish wonders.

Illinois beat Michigan because the players refused to give up although all the breaks had gone against them in previous games.

The Illinois worked harder than ever before the Michigan game although it is known to the world as if they had not the slightest chance.

Bound to Win
Robert C. Zupke says his victory was the result of this never-say-die attitude.

Bob Zupke kept telling the Illinois that they kept fighting their way to win would count. He pleaded with his boys not to let hope elude them because it would prove the costliest tumble not only of the season but of their football lives.

"You've been outkicked in the last two games," Zupke told his men, "but this cannot happen forever if you fight. Don't howl about not getting the breaks. A good team makes breaks. Go out and make them."

Zupke points out that the reason of the Illinois-Michigan game is to have a plan and to stick to it if you want to prevail.

"It takes heart and mental attitude as well as physical ability to win," says the veteran drillmaster. "No human being is insignificant all the time. A man is the least dangerous when he has his back to the wall."

"I'm not interested in old people, who have already made a success of the life they live," Zupke says to young people: Stay in there and use judgment. Don't listen to a freestone board of strategy.

"We did not have much in the way of talent but we did have one great asset... spirit."

Zupke also had an unheralded sophomore fullback named Jimmy Smith.

Dell's Bowlers Win Over Power Pinmen

Dell's bowlers came through with three out of four points in the 10th Power last night as all five men rolled steady ball.

High honors for the Commercial league went to Walt Ruggert who had a three-game total of 551. Top single for the Dell's players went to Bill McDonald with a 128.

For the losers Carl had a three-game series of 522 and a top single of 211.

In the City league, Twin Falls Lumber and Perrine hotel split even on four points, with the Perrine team taking total pins and one game. Jimmie Mullins had a 216.

The single game, however, went to Riecke, who got a 220 his last game for the Lumber bowlers.

Finland Risks Security in Belief Soviet Russia Will Not Attack

THE COUNTRY GETS READY FOR 'WAR OF NERVES'

HELSINKI, Finland, Nov. 14 (Special).—Finland risked her security today in the belief Russia would not attack to gain new territory. The Finnish negotiators were homebound from Moscow with nothing settled, and the people here prepared to endure the "war of nerves" they believed was forthcoming.

They had not long to wait. The Soviet radio at Moscow was heard broadcasting that the Finns had withheld vital meteorological information about a cyclone in the gulf of Finland. The cyclone swept quickly up to the Gulf of Bothnia and threatened to flood Leningrad, the broadcaster said, and if the Finns had not violated the international convention by withholding weather information Leningrad residents could have taken precautions.

Nothing Official
Diplomats of the Russian press and radio were ignored in official quarters here, however, because as Foreign Minister Eljas Erko said, "We are not dealing with the press, even if it is official," but with responsible government representatives of the Soviet Union.

Nothing was said officially of the negotiations in Moscow but it was believed the Finns had agreed to give Russia some territory on the Karelian isthmus, near Leningrad, and some islands in the gulf of Finland near the Russian naval base at Kronstadt, but they had refused to cede the important port of Hangö, at the entrance to the gulf of Finland, or Petsamo, in the north.

Negotiations Deadlock
On that point, it was believed, the negotiations had become deadlocked and Finland called its mission home.

To the best of her ability, Finland was ready to defend herself. Her 300,000 troops were in position near the Russian border; her water lanes were mined and naval defenses organized.

But all the preparations, few Finns believed the Russians would attack. Most believed the government would work out a solution eventually, and that world opinion was on their side and would help preserve them.

INVASION FEARS DROP IN HOLLAND

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Nov. 14 (Special).—Netherlands' fears of a German invasion had subsided today but reports from Venlo said a fully-equipped German army was still concentrated on the border.

Premier D. J. de Graaf's radio speech yesterday announcing the government had full faith in the settlement of the crisis, had calmed the nation and revived hopes for the joint Dutch-Belgian peace mediation effort.

British and French replies to the offer of good offices in mediation by Queen Wilhelmina and Belgium's King Leopold had been encouraging, but it was hoped the German reply, expected today, might provide a basis for negotiations.

A United Press correspondent who toured the border yesterday reported from Venlo that the German military machine seemed to be in a state of instant readiness.

Rupert Boy Joins University Group

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Nov. 14 (Special).—Wayne Taylor, Rupert, was recently selected as Idaho club's representative in the newly-organized Crutcher club at the University of Idaho. The Crutcher club is an organization of Episcopalian university students in which the membership is limited to 25.

Rev. Alden D. Kelly, D.D., national secretary for college work in the Episcopal church, addressing the Crutcher club members at the University of Idaho, was recently selected as Idaho club's representative in the newly-organized Crutcher club at the University of Idaho.

Only one per cent of the United States is church members, Rev. Kelly declared, while five per cent of the world's population are members of the church. He said the church is the only organization which is being recruited by popular demand as a result of a program of social service.

Warner indicated that a number of talented new members will be included in the membership this year and urged that anyone interested in playing in the orchestra contact Christianism, who is the director of the Kimberly high school band and orchestra.

In cooperation with the movement the Kimberly school board will furnish without charge the auditorium, lights and heat.
