MURDER TRIAL JURYMEN ORDERED NOT TO READ PAPERS

Defense Attorneys Object to Stories Published in Press

By O. A. KELKER
Expressing the opinion that a request made by attorneys for the defense in the Daniel Williams-William Hale murder trial here this morning was "reasonable, under the circumstances," District Judge J. W. Porter informed prospective jurorsmen that as long as they were there they are not to read any of the current newspapers.

The order was given to the prospective jurorsmen by the judge after J. M. Lampert, Boise, attorney for Hale, had at the start of the session today asked permission to question the men in the jury box as to whether or not they had read last night's Evening Times or this morning's Twin Falls News, and also after E. V. Larson, one of the attorneys for Williams, had made a direct request that this procedure be followed. Larson's request was made just as court prepared to recess from 12 to 1:30 p. m.

Williams, 19, and Hale, 29, are charged with the murder of Craig T. Bracken, Twin Falls policeman, last May.

Lampert, as court opened this morning, indicated that he had taken exception to certain statements in stories of the progress of the trial which were printed in the two newspapers.

Immediately after court started, Lampert addressed the judge as follows:

Murder Trial Defendant, 19, Writes Verse

A poem titled "My Song," and a series of thoughts bearing the title "My Story," both written by Daniel Williams, 19, now on trial here and charged with the murder of Craig T. Bracken, local policeman, were handed by the youth to his mother, Mrs. C. H. Chester.

Mr. Chester, in turn, handed the two items to the Idaho Evening Times reporter, with the request that, if possible, they could be printed in the paper.

The poem and the other material were as follows:

My Song
In my garden of tomorrow,
Will my tree drop vanilla there?
Will I still there with my sweetest,
When my cares all fade away?
And the sunshine of our laughter
Bring new blossoms to gather
About us?

My Story
To a garden of a bygone day,
Is there for me no garden of to-morrow?
Is it just a shining promise, that
Tonight will fade away?
Or should I, like withered flowers
Die, in my garden of today?
The group of thoughts was titled "My Story" and they follow:
There are three gardens in life—the yesterday, today and tomorrow; infancy, youth and age. There are beautiful things all about us, in all walks of life, but sometimes we find the beautiful flowers and sometimes we gather only the weeds. We forget sometimes that God planted only the flowers for us and sated doted the weeds!
And when we forget about sated we blame God. We forget that GOD

Asserted Hold-up Car; Slaying Victim

The automobile which the state will contend was stolen from Spencer M. Robinson, Twin Falls, by Daniel Williams, 19, and William Hale, 29, which they assertedly used in a slugging of the Home service station west of the city and in which they were riding at the time of the fatal shooting of Craig T. Bracken, city patrolman (right), is shown above in a police photo. Patrolman Kenneth Barclay, who was with Bracken at the time of the fatal shooting last May, is shown below in a police photo. The bullet making the hole in the car window is said by police to have been the one which struck Hale. The late police officer is shown in the only photograph which was available of him. It was taken during the World war, at a time he was serving with the United States army. (Times Engravings)

KUHN ON STAND IN OWN DEFENSE

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 (AP)—Fritz Kuhn, called as a surprise witness in his own defense, testified today at his trial "to use" funds of the German-American fund "as I saw fit."

The "bundestuecher," who is accused of appropriating the fund money to his own uses, which allegedly included paying the moving costs and medical bills of women friends—testified that the fund's "leadership principle" gave him supreme authority.

Questioned by Defense Attorney Peter L. Sabatino, who previously had indicated the defendant probably would not be called, Kuhn spoke in almost inaudible voice.

"Under the leadership principle," Sabatino asked, "what authority did you have over the funds of the fund?"

"I had the right to use them," Kuhn replied.

He testified that at that he allotted himself a salary of only $500 a month but that, in the bundle

Japanese Liner Goes Down Off English Coast

By WALLACE CARROLL
LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP)—The toll of four days of intensified German mine and torpedo warfare was raised to 15 ships today as a British mine sweeper, a Japanese liner and two British trawlers were sent to the bottom near the English coast.

Britons say German mines were responsible for the sinkings.

The Japanese victim was the liner Terukuni Maru, 11,980 tons. It went down off the east British coast. Details of the sinking were meager but it was indicated it hit a mine in the same area where the Dutch steamer Simon Bolivar was sunk Saturday with a loss of 84 lives.

The Terukuni carried 180 crew members and 25 passengers.

Nazis, Soviet Consider Use Of Zeppelins

BERLIN, Nov. 21 (AP)—Germany and Russia are toying with the idea of using Zeppelins as "freight steamers of the air," it was reported today by reliable quarters.

It was pointed out that a Zeppelin, filled with hydrogen gas, which although inflammable given great buoyancy than helium, could take German goods to Russia and return with high grade ores such as manganese and copper, vital to the German war machine.

Russia is said to be keenly interested in the airship construction technique perfected in Germany after long experience, and it is understood that next January Russian troops will come to army headquarters of Zeppelin transport.

It is even reported Russia is showing some interest in purchasing a German Zeppelin.

Zeppelin shipments, it was said, would consist of lighter, more expensive and more intricate products, which would be the only load profitable. The speed in such shipments would do much to offset the cost of the large amounts of fuel that Zeppelin would require, it was said.

HARPER STARTS PRISON SENTENCE

BOISE, Nov. 21 (AP)—Donald Harper, alias Hopper, 35, Jefferson City, Mo., today began serving a 10-year-to-life sentence in the Idaho penitentiary for armed robbery after an escape that included kidnapping, car theft and a service station hold-up.

Harper stole a car from John De Velder of Meridian, an acquaintance of Leona McElchick, 17, Star 104, high school girl, to accompany him, and abducted Darrell Ornes, 25, Caldwell service station attendant, after robbing the station, July 9.

Harper drove around all night with the girl and released her unharmed at noon the following day. A posse of state, county and city peace officers captured him in the desert near Owyhee, a small road town south of Boise.

Harper was found to be a former inmate of the Missouri penitentiary.

BRITISH ARMEN TURN BACK NAZIS

LONDON, Nov. 21 (AP)—Nazi planes roared over England, Scotland and the Orkney Islands today but Royal Air Force fighters craft shot down one—making a total of 20 German planes brought down in seven weeks—off the east coast.

The plane shot down was understood to have fallen into the sea.

Other planes were reported over Scotland, off the coast of Scotland and over the Orkney Islands. The bombing craft over Scotland was flying low enough to show the German markings.

It was the second day of increasingly intense German aerial reconnaissance and increased fears of an impending bombing attack.

Witnesses from Scotland reported considerable air activity off the east coast.

2-Gun Girl Slayer Wrote Poem of Hate to Attorney

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 21 (AP)—Patsy Corbin Maddox last night wrote Brooks Coffman an intensely hate-filled poem of hate to the attorney who had been riddling him with the bullets of two pistols, she composed a letter up on one sheet of paper, his dying moments, police revealed today.

Mrs. Maddox, 26, member of a Dallas family, was shot by Brooks Coffman, possibly in the back first, and continued to shoot him while he lay on the sidewalk, supposing to be dead. She then fled, begging for mercy. He died from the wound in the back. Four other wounds were minor.

Police today appeared much concerned about the identity of a woman who was with Coffman when Mrs. Maddox approached him. She was an attractive young woman believed to have once been an employee of his law office. A newspaper photographer who did not know her told police that while Coffman lay in his death agony on the sidewalk, blood streaming from his wounds, she came up to him and began to sob, and exclaimed:

"Don't take Brooks' picture—my sake. She immediately disappeared. She said, 'Police were hunting her today.'

Mrs. Maddox left her brother, William, who crossed the street to a telephone booth, and then fled, sending a messenger to deliver her poem of hate to the attorney.

IDAHO'S POTATO PRICES HOLD UP

BOISE, Nov. 21 (AP)—The price of Idaho potatoes on eastern markets has held firm in spite of heavy shipments, proving the effectiveness of the state advertising program, which has been in effect since the summer of agriculture, said today.

Pettygrove said the Chicago market recovered rapidly from a softening that resulted from an over-shipment of 302 cars on Nov. 19, and advanced in the face of further heavy shipments. Shipments have fallen off this week to about 100 cars a day.

Pity Sally Rand: She Hasn't Even Got a Balloon Left to Hide Behind

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21 (AP)—All in all, it is a pity that the mind of Sally Rand, the famous burlesque dancer, who has been in a mental hospital since she was 19, is not a little more sane. She has not even got a balloon left to hide behind.

Billy kept a date with Harry Hopper, referee Thurston J. Wyman, and into his car, she sadly confessed.

"Oh, it's all such a mess," said Sally Rand, the famous burlesque dancer, who has been in a mental hospital since she was 19, is not a little more sane. She has not even got a balloon left to hide behind.

"But it's all gone now," she sighed. "I paid good salaries to my body. I consumed them in Jewish outfits. And coming to pay that when her only assets are $8,000."

Oh, sure, she still has her fans

BRITAIN PLOTS RETALIATION AGAINST NAZIS ON SEA

LEADERS WOULD ASK SEIZURE OF GERMAN EXPORTS

LONDON, Nov. 21 (U.P.)—Great Britain will retaliate against Nazi sea warfare which has sunk 14 ships off the English coast since Saturday by seizing German exports on the high seas, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain announced today in the house of commons.

Chamberlain recalled that during the World war the allies had seized German exports on the high seas in retaliation for U-boat attacks on merchant ships.

There had been reports last week that Britain was considering such a move, but Chamberlain said that German exports in addition to the blockade of German imports—but Chamberlain's announcement was surprising because of its serious effect on such neutral countries as Italy.

"Many violations of international law and the utter brutality of German methods have decided our government to follow a similar course," Chamberlain said in reference to the allied action in the World war.

Neutral Ships Sunk

"An order in council will shortly be issued giving effect to this decision," he said.

"In the last three days upwards of ten ships of which some were neutral have been sunk with serious loss of life by German mines."

He charged Germany with violation of the Hague convention regarding use of mines, which in that convention provided that floating mines could be used only if they become dangerous after a short period.

Chamberlain, who appeared in the house for the first time in two weeks due to an attack of gout, was cheered as he announced the plans for reprisals.

Seeks Peaceful Navigation

Chamberlain said that the Hague convention to which Germany was a party provided that, when anchored mines are used every precaution must be taken for security of peaceful navigation. The British for instance assert that the mines they place are so arranged that, if they break loose, they are automatically rendered harmless.

"This is the very essence of the convention as a mine cannot discriminate between a warship and a merchant ship; between a belligerent and a neutral," the prime minister said.

Chamberlain said that the convention provided that a danger zone must be announced as soon as military exigencies permit, once the mines have ceased to be under observation of those who laid them.

The prime minister said it was unfortunate that the mines used by the British are used by those who laid them have lost control over them.

Provisions Not Followed

"None of these provisions has been observed by the German government in laying mines which occasioned the losses I mentioned and this is the outrage to which the continuation of a series of violations of agreements to which Germany set her hand," he said, citing the sinking of the British liner Athenia with a loss of 112 lives on the first day of the war.

"These attacks have been made often without warning and to an increasing extent in complete disregard of the rules laid down in the submarine protocol to which Germany subscribed or to the elementary dictates of humanity."

"The government is not prepared to allow these methods of warfare to continue without retaliation."

"I may remind the house that in the last war as a measure of justice for submarine attacks on merchant shipping, exports of German origin or ownership were made subject to seizure on the high seas," the prime minister said.

The sheriff's office reported the car failed to make a curve, hit an abutment on the bridge and rolled into the creek. The hood of the car was thrown 112 feet from the wreck.

The Haddon girl was pinned beneath the car and apparently was injured in the creek since her only injury was a broken leg. The two couples were returning from a dance in the early morning when the wreck occurred.

SURVEY SHOWS NATION SPLIT ON THANKSGIVING DAY

TRANSPORTATION GROUPS PLAN TO OBSERVE 1 WEEK

By United Press
It will be a Thanksgiving week this year, not just a day.
A survey showed today that 23 states, according to proclamations by governors, will observe Thanksgiving Thursday, the 23rd, in support of President Roosevelt, and 21 states will observe the traditional date of the last Thursday of the month, Four states—Nebraska, Colorado, Texas, and New Mexico—will observe both days.

It's Uncertain
The "both days" observance, however, was apparently a cloudy matter, since in two or three states the residents actually plan a widespread observance on both days while in other states including Idaho the observance lies in how you look at it.

Such states, for instance, have laws which say that any proclamation by the President makes a legal holiday. Thus, while Nov. 23 is a legal holiday in such areas, the populace as a whole doesn't have to observe it although state officials, banks, etc., must.

Many cities in states which officially have designated the 23rd, planned to have observed the traditional day for sentimental reasons. Other cities announced they would observe both days and some families, unmoved by tradition or proclamations and mindful of economy, planned to have their turkey for dinner on Sunday, the 26th.

Retailers Confused
Turkey retailers and railroad and airline officials were confused in ordering supplies and planning for traffic but both groups believed revenues would be increased over that year by the double holiday.

Wholesalers reported turkey orders following the trend, with sales good in states observing Thanksgiving the 23rd and normal in others; railroads and airlines expected a similar reaction in their traffic; turkey prices were one to five cents a pound lower than a year ago.

There were a few individuals but no organized protests against the President's proclamation observing this holiday a week. One group at Los Angeles urged Gov. Culbert L. Olson to proclaim Nov. 24 a holiday also because "we Americans have so much to be thankful for we should have an extra day."

Full Week's Stock
Many dealers stocked enough turkeys to carry them through the entire week, from Thursday to Thursday. Airlines and railroads planned to serve turkey dinners on both days. The commissary of one transcontinental airline, with 11 of the 18 states over which its planes fly, observed Thanksgiving on the 23rd, the others on the 30th, solved its problem of when to serve turkey by proclaiming a "Thanksgiving week."

The division of states did not follow political lines faithfully as some Republican governors and some Democratic did not.

RECREATION UNIT STAGES 'SCHOOL'

State and Boise recreational leaders were chief figures at the first of the one-day training schools yesterday at the recreation center in Twin Falls. Director Vernis Richards said this afternoon.

Willis Smith, Boise, state supervisor; Mrs. Gwendolyn Stevens, Boise, city supervisor; and Keith Hart, art and craft consultant, Boise, attended the parley. "Students" at the training session included the recreation workers from area three, which ranges from Oakley to Glenn Ferry.

Mr. Smith reported on the talk made recently at the Boise meeting of area recreation chiefs by C. R. Roomey, former B. Y. U. athletic coach and now national director of W. A. Recreation, Washington, D. C. The meeting then worked on Christmas crafts to be offered in the Twin Falls department starting today and the social recreation plans for Christmas.

ELK BAGGED AT POCATELLO HUNT

Many of the local hunters had returned today from the elk hunt in the Pocatello reserve and all those bagged reported kills by nightfall on Sunday. However, some had not yet come back and it was not known whether the kill would reach 150—the total of the applicants allowed to hunt in the reserve.

Among those reporting back to this city were Charles Russell and A. W. McConnell who bagged a cow and a bull elk, weighing 275 and 400 pounds respectively. R. B. Beatty and H. L. Hammond came back with the same tie-up. McConnell and Russell had their kill by 10:30 a. m. on Sunday, while Beatty and Hammond were back in Pocatello with theirs before noon. E. E. Ziegler also got his elk without any too great difficulty.

Apparently some of the local hunters were to have a little trouble. L. L. Langdon and W. R. Fitzwater were among those not yet returned from the reserve.

Farmer Does Deep Plowing; Gets Skeleton

Bones of an unidentified skeleton had been unearthed today as the result of Clyde Hart's deep plowing. Hart is a farmer northwest of Caldwell, whose plow disturbed a shallow grave and brought to light a skull and other human remains, a finding which has caused a search for officers of the sheriff in a field that had been plowed five times before.

Dead more than 20 years was the estimate of Dr. James W. Speed, Twin Falls county coroner, as he surveyed the find at the scene of its uncovering.

W. W. Lowery, deputy sheriff, who conducted the investigation, said that the skeleton was apparently that of a young man.

In the absence of evidence of foul play, officers conjectured that the man had died a natural death. A sapling hole in the skull had probably been made by the plow, they surmised.

Another question was raised as to whether the bones were those of a white man or an Indian, because the grave near Castleford Crossing, Idaho, where an old trail through south central Idaho.

Now at the sheriff's office, bones recovered included ribs, vertebrae, legs, arms and skull.

No Favoritism by Telegraph Firms On Thanksgiving

All this talk about a double Thanksgiving hasn't mollified two organizations that found the matter a pretty ticklish affair. These are the nation's telegraph communication systems, which always carry thousands of Thanksgiving greetings.

So today the Twin Falls managers for both concerns stepped up and said that they'll play no favorites—both will deliver their Thanksgiving greeting form on both days, depending on what's wanted.

Jim Groll, manager for Western Union, announced that his concern will operate like this: Greetings filed before and on Nov. 23 will be delivered on the first of the two Thanksgivings.

Greetings filed afterward will be delivered Nov. 30, on the assumption that folks sending them intend to observe the traditional last Thursday. Senders, of course, can specify either day if they desire.

According to Sender C. J. Ballard, manager of Postal Telegraph, said that his firm will deliver Thanksgiving greetings according to the day specified by the sender.

If no day is specified, the delivery will be made according to the official Thanksgiving list showing on which day each of the states is observing the holiday.

There's a Good Reason You're Constipated!
When there's something wrong with you, the first rule is: get at the cause. If you are constipated, don't fiddle around with makeshift remedies. Find out what's giving you the trouble.

Chances are it's simple if you eat only what most people do: meat, bread, potatoes. You likely don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't contained in the body but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If that fits you, your ticket is a crisp cranberry breakfast cereal Kellogg's All-Bran. It contains the "bulk" you need plus the great intestinal tonic, Vitamin B.

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and just watch the old world grow brighter! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

GROUP TO STUDY ROAD JUNCTIONS

SHOSHONE, Nov. 21 (Special)—Southern Idaho, Inc., at its November meeting held at the Maxine cafe here designated a committee made up of chairman of roads committees of each member organization to report on junction markings on main south central highways, according to J. H. Harris, Burley, president of the regional Chamber of Commerce.

All regional roads will be charted and at the next session of the organization, at Rupert, Dec. 11, recommendations will be made with regard to the type and size of directional markers to be placed at junctions.

Date Moved Up
The date of the next meeting, formerly set for Dec. 18, was moved up because of the Christmas holidays.

C. A. Kelly, Shoshone, district highway engineer, stated that safety flashers, a new type of warning signal, will be placed at 14 perilous railroad crossings.

He also commented on the Shoshone-Arco road, the foremost project of Southern Idaho, Inc., and made mention of highway junction markers.

The National Reclamation association convention, held in Denver last week, was reported by Ben Darrah, Shoshone.

Virge Slogan
J. A. Cederquist, Twin Falls, suggested a contest with awards made for a slogan for the regional Chamber of Commerce. Plans for the event will be worked out by a committee appointed by Harris.

It was his hope, stated A. W. Tingwall, Jerome, that the part of the Snake river canyon from Blue lakes to Clearlakes and Hagerman valley might be set aside as a state park and made into a recreational center.

About 80 members were in attendance at yesterday's meeting.

Idaho Police Plan Test of Drunkometer

BOISE, Nov. 21 (AP)—The "drunkometer" device to test the alcohol content of an intoxicant, will be put to an acid test by the Idaho department of law enforcement, Dan W. Banks, safety council director, said today.

A subject selected by Banks whose identity he would not reveal, will submit to a reactionometer test cold sober. Then for 24 hours or longer he will take on all the liquor he desires, keeping the amount a secret from the testers.

The man will be tested again at the end of the period. The officers will attempt to determine exactly how much he drank. To prove it, they will analyze a blood sample of the "victim."

"We believe the test will establish the reliability of the device beyond the doubt of even the most skeptical," Banks said.

Colorful Buhl Couple Has 58th Anniversary

BUHL, Nov. 21 (Special).—Rev. and Mrs. Philo E. Bartlett, one of the oldest and most colorful pioneer couples of Buhl, celebrated their 58th wedding anniversary last week with a family dinner at their home, 330 Eleventh avenue north.

The couple was married at Odessa, Ia., Nov. 16, 1881, and has lived in the west 34 years, coming here in 1905 to live on a 40 acre tract northwest of Buhl. Mr. Bartlett cleared the place of sagebrush and erected a small dwelling and moved his family here in 1909, from Albion, Wash.

They laughed heartily when telling of their early experiences in farming and irrigation. For months they carried water in pails from a distant lateral for all household uses, not thinking of digging a ditch that would bring the water near the house. During their early pioneering days on the farm, Mr. Bartlett helped in the field during haying season, did all her sewing, laundry, baking and household work.

In 1908 there was one small house between their home and the village of Buhl, which consisted of a few buildings, including the original Buhl hotel, in and around which the Buhl Methodist church, the Odd Fellows hall, the Osgood drug store, the Elson drug store and the Marshall hardware.

Preaches First Sermon. One hot Sunday in July, 1906, Rev. Bartlett, a retired Methodist minister, let his horse rest from their heavy field work and walked the miles into Buhl to attend the Sunday school services being held in one wing of the Buhl hotel, across from the popular saloon.

The saloon people, he said, were courteous enough not to disturb or make undue noise when the Sunday school was in session. B. H. Stinson, Sunday school superintendent, at the close of the lesson, asked Rev. Bartlett if he would preach the small group with a short morning church service.

That was the first sermon to be preached in the town of Buhl. Both Rev. and Mrs. Bartlett are still active workers in the Buhl Methodist church. From the years 1909 to 1912 Sunday was not a day of complete rest for the Bartlett family, for there were many groups of people seeking for a Sunday school and church service to be held in their communities. Arriving at a place to complete his necessary farm duties before church time, he then drove for miles over the hot dusty roads with his work team to conduct and preaching service during the forenoon in some of the rural school districts. It might be Oatfield, Poplar, or Deep Creek, Willow or Lucerne. In the afternoon he would hold another meeting at some of the saloons.

Students Plan Club to Help Idaho Athletes

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Nov. 21 (Special)—A plan proposing that a Special Vandal Booster club be organized on the University of Idaho campus was suggested at an independent council meeting of non-fraternity students last week.

Purpose of the club would be to raise money for the now defunct athletic fund to keep several of the outstanding freshman athletes in school.

Under the plan presented to the council, buttons indicating membership in the organization would be sold at all houses, and dormitories on the campus for a nominal sum in order to raise money for the athletes.

Similar plans are now in effect on the campuses at University of Montana and Oregon State college.

HERE and THERE In the SPORTS WORLD

By United Press

What's wrong with Georgetown vs. Bradley Tech for one of the minor bowl games? ... Those clubs are undefeated over two seasons and are well matched. ... There aren't going to be enough under-rated major teams left to go around for the big bowl games if they keep dropping off as they have the past few Saturdays.

Tennessee vs. Texas A. M. would be a better New Year's day game if it could be arranged, but doesn't appear likely because either would go to the Rose Bowl if invited. ... However, it is a possibility because Tulane, a team that can have the Sugar bowl anytime it is ready, is reported as a strong favorite for the eastern bowl nomination.

This would leave the New Orleans enterprise a clear field for Texas A. M. and the Aggies. ... They can make more money than playing in Miami's Orange bowl.

After question: ... What is the record "southern" football crowd? ... Alabama and Tulane were reported to have broken it with 35,000 two Saturdays ago. ... Duke and North Carolina claimed it with 36,000 last week. ... Little Davey O'Brien finally has hit his stride in the pro game. He's completed 40 aerials in Philadelphia's last two games, creating new records of 19 and 21 completions on successive Sundays. ... Art Rooney likes Walter Kirschling as coach of the Pittsburgh Pirates and will retain him next year. ... Green Bay Coach Curley Lambeau denies Don Hutson is slipping and would be replaced.

The Amateur Athletic Union will consider 118 new records when it convenes for its 81st annual convention in Florida Dec. 8-14. High man this year with six new marks is his credit was Allan Tolesch, Detroit boxer. ... Green Bay Coach Curley Lambeau denies Don Hutson is slipping and would be replaced.

They're praying for Michigan victory Saturday over Ohio State to open up a chance for Iowa to tie for the title by sweeping Northwestern. The Buckeyes have won five straight in the Big Ten, Iowa has four victories and one defeat and is the only remaining challenger.

Kimberly Girls At 'Play Day' Here Thursday

A play day with Kimberly high school girls as guests will be held by Twin Falls high school's Girls' Athletic association Thursday in the first of a series of play days with girls of other towns.

Object of the meetings is to give girls athletic participation with girls of other schools in other sports than basketball, and to help their organization Girls' Athletic associations in their schools.

Among the towns which will be invited in the future to participate in a play day are Piler, Buhl, Jerome, Rupert and Burley. Twenty girls were invited to attend from Kimberly high school Thursday, with Miss Isabelle Stokesberry, sponsor.

According to plans made at a meeting of the Twin Falls girls yesterday, those attending will be divided into four teams. Play is expected to start about 3:30 p. m. and continue until 5 p. m., when the girls will adjourn to the home economics rooms of the high school for refreshments and entertainment to be furnished by the Kimberly group.

Games played will be volleyball, basketball, and leisure time sports such as badminton, table tennis, deck tennis, loop tennis and shuffleboard.

Committees include the registration committee, Betty Lou Cardwell and Lola Stearns; games, Charlotte Miller, Violet Bell and Dolores Williams; and refreshments, Mildred Patterson.

Presiding at the meeting yesterday was Miss Irma Goodnight, president. Plans were also made for a cornpopper to be held tonight at her home to make pop corn balls.

STRIKES to SPARE With Fred Stone

Two for two in the Commercial league last night between Zip-Way and Slidebaker. High honors went to Vey Gish who had a single game of 217 and three games of 62. Vey was the only Zip-Way player to reach the 500-mark.

Next high honors went to Ted Emerick, who had a three-game total of 555. Gail Fargo checked in with 512. Cox 517. Bob McCracken couldn't reach the 500-mark.

Fargo got 302 his last game and he and Gish were the only 200 bowlers.

Both teams rolled with a dummy. Gish's 211 starts the weekly prize in the Commercial league.

Perrine hotel really tore into Wilson stars, taking all three games and total pins, topping Wilson's from first to fourth place and themselves going from fourth to first.

Jimmie Mullins, with 526, led both teams for high total. He was the only one out of both teams to reach the 500-mark. His 123 last game was Perrine's best single.

Roy Weller, with 490, was high man for Wilson's. Paul Callis was right behind him with 497. Roy's 198 first game was the best single for both teams.

Perrine's 3,421 starts off the week for free bowling. Weller's 198 isn't too good for the City League's weekly prize.

Mac Would Shorten 6-Day Race to One Second

By HENRY McLEMORE
NEW YORK, Nov. 21 U.P.—If they haven't run out of Nobel prizes by this time we would like to use that can be given to Mr. Henry (Handicapper) Mendel for what is surely the most humanitarian act of the year.

Out of the kindness of his heart, while most throw like a hangover head for all mankind, Mr. Mendel has created the five-day six-day bicycle race. It began in Madison Square Garden last night, and what is being advertised as a six-day race it will actually last but five.

Ronald M. Mendel is given a prize there is the chance that the recognition of his services would spur him to even greater deeds. Who knows but what next year he would promote a four-day six-day race, and the year after that a three-day six-day race? And then—ah. How sweet to even dream of it—he might continue reducing the event until nothing would be left but a one-second six-day race.

Perfect Time

A one-second six-day race would be ideal. It would be a money-making thing, too. We know thousands of persons who would pay their money to see it if they knew it would end almost instantaneously. The one thing that prevented six-day bike racing from sweeping the country is that its name was on the level. As a patriot we would be the last to say that this country hasn't as many gluttons for punishment as any other nation. But no nation has enough of that breed to support a sport that starts on a Sunday and can't be stopped, even by the police, until the following Saturday.

Now that Promoter Mendel has taken the first step in shortening sports events that take up too much time, we hope the operators of other such events will follow his lead.

Cut Marathon

That track event, the marathon, could be reduced by 15 or 20 miles without hurting any feelings, unless you count the feelings of marathon runners themselves, and we don't. There is nothing much dumber than to run three hours of a marathon, as the hardy ones wear out their feet and the patience of the folk waiting for them at the finish line. The cross country run could stand a little reducing, too. Start the fellows behind a big tree around a bend in the road, throw buckets of water over them to simulate weariness, and let 'em run for it. Something could be cut off the 500-mile race at Indianapolis. Most of the action is packed in the last 100 miles or so, so why make the drivers and the spectators suffer an extra 400 miles?

Yacht Racing

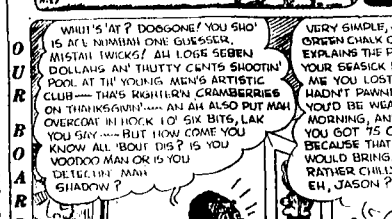

Yacht racing, of course, we'd leave alone. In fact, yachts don't race far enough. Our idea of the perfect yacht race would be one that took the boats around the world 17 times, with the finish in a permanently ice-logged harbor in Little America, or much do in the middle of the Bermuda sea. Come to think of it, it might be a good idea to shorten sports events, too. Or have you a new kind of thinking, and just let the various quip experts of the air do your thinking for you?

M'NARY SUGGESTS PROGRAM TO WIN WEST STATES FOR GOP

GIVES 3 POINTS NEEDED TO HELP ELECT PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (UP)—Senate Minority Leader Charles McNary, R. Ore., proposed a three-point farm program today with which, he said, the Republican party could win western states and elect a President in 1940.

"After considerable thought," he said, "I have arrived at the conclusion that the Republican party can be successful if it demonstrates to the farm voters and those dependent on the farmers that the party is interested, as formerly, in their welfare."

McNary recommended that the following program be written into the party's 1940 platform in "simple language so that all can understand."

1. Equalization of benefit payments under the AAA soil conservation program.
 2. Repeal of the reciprocal trade agreement act.
 3. Liberalization of the public land policy to give the public lands a greater share of revenues from sale of forests and grazing on the public domain.
- "In my opinion," McNary said, "the party must support a practicable plan covering soil conservation with benefit payments justifying the continuation of that practice. All benefits and privileges must accrue alike to all producers irrespective of crops produced."

WAR WRITER ON CLUB LIST DEC. 7

Because conflicting engagements prevented a change in date, Arno Doeh-Fluor, noted American war correspondent and the first to return from European battle fronts, will address the Twin Falls Town Hall club Thursday, Dec. 7, President J. A. Cederquist announced this afternoon.

Doeh-Fluor will speak to the Town Hall group at the L. D. S. church since the high school auditorium had been previously booked for other use. Cederquist wired New York City in an effort to change the war correspondent's lecture date here to permit use of the high school. But Doeh-Fluor is scheduled to address Boise's Knife and Fork club Friday, Dec. 8, and a change in date was found to be impossible.

The noted correspondent will be the third lecturer on the 1939-40 series, since Dr. Morris H. H. and Dr. Gerald Wendt have already appeared in Twin Falls.

YULE DECORATION WILL OPEN SOON

Downtown decorations for the 1939 Christmas holiday season will probably be completed by the first or middle of next week, merchants' bureau members had been advised today by A. S. Ollbert, decorations committee chairman.

Gilbert, at Monday's session of the board in the Progress hotel, reported that the Yule garlands have arrived and are ready to be put up. The crew of decorators is prepared to start.

Finance collections to underwrite the decorations "are practically completed," Chairman R. S. Tuffin reported. The bureau passed a motion granting the decorations committee authority to pay the bills and then to proceed with the work of transforming the everyday atmosphere of the downtown area into a festive Yuletide appearance.

which is expected to be considerably more impressive than in 1938. The decorations this season, according to Mr. Ollbert's plans, were designed to be attractive by day as well as by night when lights are glowing.

Concerning Christmas opening plans, J. H. Clark, head of the merchants' bureau, appointed a two-man committee to work with the decorations group in arranging for formal start of the Yule shopping season. R. H. Jensen was named chairman and Grant Thomas associate.

Buhl Banks Will Have 2 Holidays

BUHL, Nov. 21 (Special)—According to an announcement made this week the Farmers National and the Idaho First National banks of Buhl will observe both Thanksgiving, Nov. 23, and Dec. 30.

The attorney for the State Bankers' association strongly recommended that the banks close for "all legal holidays" because of the legal danger of transacting banking business on a recognized holiday.

The Buhl postoffice and the state liquor store will also be closed next Thursday, Nov. 23. Other business houses plan to follow the Idaho Thanksgiving and celebrate on Nov. 30 only.
