Thanksgiving Observed at State Offices

By United Press
A majority of Idaho citizens followed the proclamation of Gov. O. A. Bottolfsen and tradition today in celebrating Thanksgiving with their customary holiday, although a few took their observance on Nov. 23.

Thanksgiving was observed by the closing of city governmental institutions, state offices, businesses and all but federal offices and the offices of Democratic office holders in the Idaho statehouse.

Closed Two Days
The offices of Secretary of State George Curtis, Atty. Gen. J. W. Taylor, Superintendent of Public Instruction J. W. Condie, Auditor Calvin E. Wright, Treasurer Myrtle P. Bixling, State Mines Inspector Arthur Campbell and Warden P. C. Meredith closed both Nov. 23 and 24, observing the day as a state holiday.

The split over Thanksgiving was precipitated by President Roosevelt's decision that an earlier Thanksgiving would help the Christmas shopping period another week and thus stimulate business.

House Divided
The capital was a house divided against itself on Nov. 23 when Democratic office holders took the day off for Thanksgiving feasts and Republican administration followed and employees remained at their posts.

The state banks closed on both Nov. 23 and Nov. 24. Many business institutions and the city of Idaho Falls followed a similar policy. Coeur d'Alene celebrated on Nov. 24 and the remaining cities chose Nov. 30.

IDAHO FORESTS' DAMAGE SLIGHT
BOISE, Nov. 30 (AP)—Southern Idaho forests sustained less fire damage during 1939 than in previous years when similar hazards were present, the southern Idaho board of forestry review determined last night.

The total acreage burned was considerably less than in 1931 and 1932, years of comparable danger, in spite of drought that kept forests tinder dry during summer months, the report said.

O. N. Woods, regional forester, and John Kinney, regional chief of operations, left to conduct a review of northern Nevada fires at Elko, Friday and Saturday before returning to Ogden for a meeting next week.

4 Filer Dairymen Conform to Rule
FILER, Nov. 30 (Special)—Meeting Monday in special session to approve the commencement of enforcement of the recently enacted milk ordinance, the Filer city council announced the names of four dairymen who have complied with regulations and are eligible to sell milk.

The four are O. F. Schnell, Fred Munyon, W. G. Housely and Dennis Stewart. Others selling milk will be prosecuted, it was announced under the new ordinance, unless they comply with the rules prior to beginning sales.

It was emphasized that milk selling in Filer was not a closed proposition. Anyone wishing to sell milk can do so by getting a permit from the city clerk, to be issued only after approval of dairy facilities by R. D. Bovey, inspector for the district health unit.

Bovey will inspect Filer milk from time to time and make reports on bacteria count.

SPANISH LEARNS TO COUNT
CHATHAM, Ont. (AP)—Bosco is a cocker spaniel, but not of the ordinary type. His owner, Ira I. Brisco, has spent many patient hours with Bosco in order to teach him how to recognize numbers. At last, with the dog able to add, subtract, multiply and count to 10, he believes he has succeeded.

A "bumper" crop of game fish eggs is being "harvested" in Wyoming this year. The state game and fish department expects to gather 12,000,000. The eggs are hatched in state fish hatcheries and the fish are released in Wyoming lakes and streams.

Europe's War To Help U. S. Tourist Spots
NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP)—You can quit searching for the good being blown somebody by that ill wind in Europe. It has been found, and preliminary estimates are that it will shower down something like $122,000,000 for the Americas, possibly a seasonal high in 11 weeks. It is all very simple. There is a war in Europe. Congress says Americans may not travel where there is a war. Ergo, the $122,000,000 normally spent abroad each year by Americans on vacation in Europe will be spent this season in the western hemisphere.

The argument breaks down only if you believe these 170,000 Americans will stay at home and play solitaire just because there's a war in Europe. But the federal government, the travel agencies, the scores of resorts from Alaska to Patagonia, railways, bus companies and airlines are committed to the principle that an American can't sit still when vacation time comes around.

These agencies and industries are practically pop-eyed at the possibilities suggested by the cessation of travel to Europe and already have taken out the old slogan, "See America first," and revised it to read, "See the Americas Now."

And it's high time, promoters of American travel feel. What has St. Moritz got that Sun Valley hasn't got, they ask, and the same goes for Cannes vs. Catalina and Capri vs. any good island in the Caribbean.

WILL PROTECT PATIENTS
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The will of Dr. C. Calvin Smith, a heart specialist, ruled that his case histories of patients should be burned one week after his death. "I direct that within one week following my demise each and every case history of each and every patient shall be burned," he wrote.

Pennington-McMaster Wedding Solemnized

Selecting Thanksgiving as her wedding day, Miss Charlotte Janet McMaster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard T. McMaster, became the bride of Ross M. Pennington, son of Matt Pennington, shortly before noon today at the home of her parents, near Hansen. The bridegroom is also a resident of the Hansen vicinity.

Taken of sentiment for her bridal ensemble was a cameo locket belonging to her mother. Miss McMaster's wedding gown was a gray crepe afternoon black, with which she wore black accessories, and her shoulder corsage was of roses and gardenias.

Hundred Couples Attend League's Jumble Boree

In lathered and patched raincoats and with faces so begrimed and bewhiskered as to make identification almost impossible, the "Knights of the Open Road" staged a "jumble boree" last evening at the Elks hall. Approximately 100 couples were present.

The maid of honor wore an afternoon gown of deep blue, and a single red rose.

Those were pledged before the fireplace in the living room, the mantle banked with white and brown chrysanthemums and greenery.

A wedding dinner was served following the ceremony, covers being marked for 11 guests at a table centered with a formal arrangement of brown chrysanthemums.

After a brief wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Pennington will be at home on the bridegroom's farm near Hansen.

The bride was graduated from the Hansen high school, and later attended the University of Idaho, Moscow, for one year. The bridegroom is a graduate of Hansen high school.

Calling attention to the annual Christmas seal sale sponsored by the Idaho Anti-Tuberculosis association, which opened Thanksgiving day in Twin Falls county, as in all counties of the state, Mayor Joe Koehler today issued the following proclamation:

"The approach of the holiday season once again brings the simple, direct appeal of Christmas seals to the citizens of Twin Falls.

Protection of Homes

"To protect homes from the tragedy caused by the dread ravages of tuberculosis is the never-ending objective of the Christmas seal campaign. In the final analysis, ours is a community of homes and what could be more vital than the unceasing vigilance and protection of these homes?

"As mayor of Twin Falls, Ida., it gives me great pleasure and a sense of fulfilling official duty to endorse wholeheartedly the purchase of Christmas seals as a method of raising funds for the fight against tuberculosis. As mayor and as a private citizen I hope that all our citizens will buy as many seals as possible and that every greeting card and gift package going forth from the community will carry this decoration, attesting that Twin Falls, Ida., is doing its part in a great drive.

Mrs. Orr Chapman, chairman of the Twin Falls county Anti-Tuberculosis association; Mrs. H. E. Deiss, who has been county seal sale chairman for the past 15 years; and Mrs. R. A. THREAT OF SPECIAL SESSION FOR IDAHO VANISHES

DECISIONS FROM SUPREME COURT HALT NECESSITY

BOISE, Nov. 30 (AP) — The state administration is free of the last remaining threat of a special legislative session, an administration spokesman said today.

When the state supreme court handed down a decision in which it refused to declare invalid the 1935 state liquor monopoly law, it removed the last remaining threat of a crisis which would have forced the state into an extraordinary session of the legislative body, the spokesman indicated.

A test suit on the constitutionality of transfer of many duties and powers of the state auditor to the state comptroller still is pending before the high tribunal. But no matter which way it is decided, it will not force a special session, the administration believes.

No Financial Crisis
The allocation of $1,000,000 annually of highway funds to counties is not of sufficient importance from a financial standpoint to precipitate a financial crisis the way it was decided. If the courts had declared the transfer of funds illegal, then a possible shortage of funds at the state penitentiary because of the size of the prison population, hovering around an all-time high, might develop into a financial crisis, but the administration feels this is not its responsibility, the spokesman said.

World Call Session
The governor would not hesitate to call a special legislative session to appropriate funds to relieve a shortage which threatened starvation to prisoners in the state penitentiary, he concluded. But the responsibility for that would fall upon the shoulders of the state prison and parole board, a majority of the members of which are Democrats, and upon Warden P. C. Meredith, who also is a Democrat, he pointed out.

Indications are that at the present rate the penitentiary funds will be exhausted by the middle of next summer unless a greater number of prisoners are released than have been. The prison population is about 410 and the all-time high is 425.

Santa Comes to Town—And Lights Twinkle

Santa Claus had heard plenty today about the myriad size, type and variety of toys that Twin Falls youngsters want for Christmas. They practically mobbed him as part of the fun at last night's ceremony downtown. Above, Santa (Mayor Joe Koehler in disguise) in midst of part of the crowd. Bottom photo, night view of the "four corners" after the elaborate decoration and light system was formally inaugurated. Twin Falls merchants donated funds for the decorations, designed by A. S. Gilbert and installed by Merrill Shottwell and his aides. (Times Photos and Appearances)

Santa Roars Into Town Aboard Red Fire Truck

Heralded by blasts from the high school band and a fanfare from the Boy Scout drum and bugle corps, Santa Claus roared into Twin Falls on a bright red fire truck at 8:00 p. m. last night.

"We've got lots to be thankful for," said the jolly gentleman from the north as he had puffed up onto the special raised platform at Main and Shoshone.

He Phoned "Pals"

After professing surprise that Christmas was coming on Dec. 25, Santa immediately got in touch with headquarters at the North Pole and asked if something might not be done about the Christmas lights in Twin Falls. The powers that be in the upper reaches of the Arctic circle roared back that all was ready.

Mr. Claus then threw a switch, and, behold, the streets of Twin Falls were aglow with the gay colors of myriad lights swung overhead.

With this the ceremonies were over—except for a thousand kids who crowded about Santa (Mayor Joe Koehler) Claus with petitions for shiny bells, electric trains and toy-checked dolls.

John E. Robertson spoke briefly to the assembled crowd just before the arrival of Santa, voicing heartfelt thanks that Twin Falls could render its streets ablaze with light as a happy contrast to the "black-out" that are occurring in other lands.

Robertson then asked the high school band for a Christmas tune, to which the musicians replied with a number which had something to do with a well-known "old gray mare."

When Santa arrived, Robertson saying that "Santa had no introduction" introduced him to the gathered townspeople.

Window shopping was indulged in before and after the ceremonies by most of the merry-makers as the Christmas season was officially opened with bright displays of gifts and toys and all of the things that go toward making up an American Christmas.

Colorful decorations Streamers of balsam garlands entwined with multi-colored lights are peaked with wreaths to make a canopy over Main avenue and Shoshone street in the downtown area. At the intersections picturesque centerpieces are added.

When Robertson first greeted last night's crowd, he remarked, "Each year the street decorations are bigger and better, and this year is no exception."

He thanked Twin Falls merchants, whose contributions, he declared, were solely responsible for making

WINTER CLOSES IN ON IDAHOANS

BOISE, Nov. 30 (AP) — Winter closed in on Idaho today as families sat down to their Thanksgiving dinners and H. G. Carter, chief of the federal weather bureau, Idaho office, predicted a widespread snowstorm by Dec. 11, at the latest.

The earliest snowfall to hit the state on a general scale was in 1913 when the flakes came down Oct. 4, 1913. In 1906 the snow fell as early as Oct. 4. The latest was Dec. 11, 1906.

The greatest average snowfall recorded in Idaho was 230 inches at Roland, north Idaho. The average was taken over the period since the weather bureau service was founded in the state.

HI 57 Below
Weather records show that December and January are generally the coldest months in the year, although the record low temperature of 51 below zero was recorded in February of 1934 at Teton, in southeastern Idaho.

The second lowest temperature recorded officially was 50 below at Obidian in central Idaho, and also was reported in 1934, a year which established a cold-weather record unequalled in any year since official winter observations were made.

Coldest Area
Carter says the coldest area in the state is that around Stanley and Obidian which has an average elevation of 5,900 to 7,000 feet. The average of year-round low temperatures up to 1930 was 17.8 degrees for this area.

Weather conditions this year have been about average, Carter said. Low temperatures over the state have been slightly below average during the past two weeks, but higher maximum temperatures during the same period raised the mean temperature to about average.

Some snowfall already has been recorded over areas of the state where altitudes are high.

JUDGMENT OUSTS SCHOOL TRUSTEE

Formal ouster of Ralph Metcalf from the Kimberly school board was decreed yesterday by District Judge J. W. Porter.

The judge signed the judgment and the court's findings of fact that officially closed the prolonged legal maneuvering which ended in victory for W. B. Savage, former board member who claimed he was re-elected in September of 1938.

Savage Admitted
Judge Porter's decree ordered that Savage be admitted to the post held by Metcalf since the election. Costs of the action were charged against Metcalf.

Trial of Savage's suit, held recently in the district court here, was highlighted by counting of the ballots in the courtroom. The result, according to Judge Porter's findings of fact, showed that Savage was elected along with W. A. Colner, trustee whose victory was not disputed. The court showed 145 for Colner, 143 for Savage, 137 for Metcalf and 133 for J. W. Carrel.

The court found that the election board was in error.

Not Re-Elected
The judgment ordered that Metcalf be and he hereby is declared and declared not to be entitled to the office of member of the board of trustees of independent school district, Class A, No. 2, in Twin Falls county, Idaho. The document added that the said defendant Ralph Metcalf be and he hereby is ousted and excluded therefrom.

The term into which Savage is thus admitted runs for three years from Sept. 6, 1938.

Dispelling the Fog

By CHARLES MICHELSON
Director of Publicity, Democratic National Committee

It may be recalled that some months ago, when congress was in session, measures such as the repeal of the embargo, the Republican publicists were stricken with awe and admiration for the majority of the national legislature.

The senators and representatives who had effected what turned out to be a new peace program were hailed as high-minded, patriotic, infinitely wise, faithful public servants who had saved the country. Now that the special session has enacted the embargo repeal and gone home, congress against becomes a pusillanimous body—almost the "rubber stamp" chamber of the early stages of the G. O. P. assault.

The political growth at this particular time appears to be that congress did not remain in session and take up again the controversy over foreign issues which were last laid aside because of the situation begotten by the European war. The simple fact that the special session was called for the specific purpose of correcting the blunder of the old neutrality act is ignored by the outfit that now accuses congress of recency because it has left the authority to deal with foreign relations with the President, whom the constitution charges with that responsibility.

They could not go very hard in their arraignment of congress, of course, when such outstanding members of the Republican party as Senator Taft and Representative Wadsworth spoke for and voted for the repeal of the measure that helped merely the dictator powers of Europe and handicapped the democracies now battling against them.

Menace of Prosperity
According to the official dispenser of Republican propaganda, the adjournment of the special session was apparently the result of New Deal strategy.

"If the (New Deal) leaders are gambling everything on the continuation of war in Europe," says my colleague on the minority party's side. He goes on to suggest that perhaps the upward progress of industry in this country may not be as rapid as it seems to be in this direction is indicated by such sentences as these: "The first result, undoubtedly, would be a severe jar to this country's economic system. Then it would be impossible to justify a huge national defense spending program."

From where the propagandist goes on to prophesy that "each country (meaning the belligerents) has huge stocks of war material. Except for airplanes, there is little that the warring countries need at this time." He further suggests that the cash-and-carry legislation may work to depress foreign trade, particularly in agricultural products, and that the embargoed nations will do their best to get their goods to the United States by other than airplanes and munitions in Canada, Australia and elsewhere.

Seek Depression
In other words, the argument appears to be that if our business advances continue, with the resulting prosperity to our producers and a diminution of our unemployment, the New Deal is going to win the 1940 elections. So it may be logically gathered that the Republican strategy bureau would welcome another depression, on the theory that we would give them a hope at least of carrying the country next November.

To put it more plainly; they would rather have a depression and a Republican President than prosperity with a Democrat as the White House. They do not even indicate, let alone specify, what kind of a Republican they would like to see in the White House—whether one of the liberal or conservative—according to which persuasion the forthcoming campaign demands or a Dewey-like candidate who apparently has no views in either direction, or even some comparatively unknown figure such as Governor London was in 1932.

Heroic Mind-Reading
Incidentally, I note that the newspaper columnists, who very generally, but of course, not unanimously, reflect the point of view of the Republican national organization, have decided that President Roosevelt does not intend to run for a third term. They may be right for all I know, or they may be wrong.

It is not so long ago that the anti-administration chorus was practically united in its assumption that the President was really out for a third term. They construed everything he said or did as pointing to this intention. Some of them even went so far as to imply that the President sought to involve us in a third world war. They called the third term ambition. They kept this up until his speeches and acts presented him as perhaps the foremost worker for peace in the whole country, and indeed in the world.

Mr. Mark Sullivan, ex-President Hoover's close friend and admirer, adduces that the President has made up his mind against a third term candidacy in such circumstances as the President appears to him more "easy debonair" than he used to be and that he has bused himself more around Hyde Park than usual, etc. He even suggests that "some of the group that Washington calls the young New Dealers" are no longer expecting the President to run but are saying that he, "after he ends this term, should enter the next President's cabinet as secretary of the navy." I confess that this latter suggestion is quite new and am sorry that Mr. Sullivan is not more definite as to the source of the story.

Same Conclusion
The philosopher columnist, Mr. Walter Lippmann, arrives at the same conclusion by a different route. According to Mr. Lippmann, "the ritual calls for placing the President in the position where to the infinite regret of all concerned he voluntarily renounces a third term, and thus takes his historical place in the line of President Washington." Continuing on this theme, he says: "If this story requires the President be given the opportunity to refuse a third term, the practical situation will at the same time compel him to refuse it."

Not being a mind-reader of the high degree of these eminent gentlemen of the press, I can venture my opinion as to the accuracy of their deductions, but my irreverent soul is inclined to think of the theories having voiced as being the examples of the sort of thing to which men who must grind out a daily column are driven in a period of campaign. It is unfortunate and politics is vague, and, in short, where they are no facts to write about.

GREAT IOWA BACK TOPS ALL-AMERICA CLUB

Nile Kinnick Leads Annual NEA Choices

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Service Sports Editor

The All-America of 1939... stalwarts who stood up under the most exacting tests of collegiate football. The 11 players composing the NEA Service All-America team, chosen with the aid and advice of coaches, scouts and sports writers throughout the land, measure up to the highest standard that can be asked in a game.

All-America men are not just names picked out of a hat. An athlete cannot have a single bad day and be an All-America. This demand is qualified, too, inasmuch as a good day cannot be measured accurately in terms of statistics and touchdowns. The All-America may be cast with an undermanned squad. His club may even lose a game or two. Victory is not the principal test of greatness. All-America honors frequently are won by gridiron gladiators who stand out under adverse circumstances.

The All-American man is always a competitor. In the line, he is the player who sticks out like a sore thumb while getting his bumps. In the backfield, he is the one who does not quit when the blockers are through.

Of such players is built the NEA All-America team of 1939.

Of such stuff is built the smashing ends, Ecco Sarkinen of Ohio State and William (Bud) Kerr of Notre Dame, the towering tackles, Nicholas Draho of Cornell and Harley McCollum of Tulane; the fighting guards, Edward Molinski of Tennessee and Harry Smith of Southern California; the perfect center, John Schlicht of Santa Clara, and the backs, Paul Christman of Missouri, Banks McPadden of Clemson, the great Nile Clarke Kinnick of Iowa and Big John Kimbrough of Texas A. & M.

The 1939 NEA All-America is headed by Nile Kinnick of Iowa, the player of the year.

If Kinnick possessed more than ordinary speed, he would be one of the all-time greats.

Standing no more than 5 feet 8 and weighing only 170 pounds, this compactly constructed 21-year-old player was rugged enough to play 250 consecutive minutes against Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Purdue, Notre Dame and Minnesota.

Natural Athlete. Kinnick is a natural athlete. He was registered from Omaha, but Bob Peiler's battery made while living at Adel, Ia. He was a superlative guard in basketball, but gave up the game to study.

With all his amazing athletic ability, Kinnick, a senior, is a Phi Beta Kappa candidate with 3.8 grade-point average (4 is perfect).

With hand and foot, Kinnick figured in 114 of the 130 points Iowa scored.

He ran and blocked well from either halfback position... called signals part of the time. He put 58 times for the place-kicking role, which included several out-of-bounds within the 10-yard line.

Protecting Iowa's 7-6 lead against Notre Dame with 10 minutes to go, he stood on his 22-yard line and punted 7 yards under pressure to the goal line.

The boy with the small, sharp face and sparkling blue eyes averaged 18 yards in returning punts and kicks.

He dropped 12 points after touchdown in 18 attempts... is believed to have led the nation in dropkicks after touchdowns.

Too Fragile. Banks McPadden, Clemson's lanky back, who was once and fragile to play football at Grant, Oreg., high school, so he carried water.

Today McPadden stands 6 feet 3 and weighs 235 pounds.

This senior with blazing speed probably was the best punter in the country. He was at his best when the game was down... when the band was blaring.

He received prominent All-America mention as a basketball forward last winter... throws discs, and broad jumps.

Paul Christman of Missouri considers football a game he just prefers baseball for a career. A brother of Mark Christman, the St. Louis Browns' third baseman, Paul is a first baseman and long distance hitter scored by several major league clubs.

Christman is 21 years old, stands 6 feet 11. He weighs varies between 180 and 190.

He is a level-headed field general, one of the finest passers of all time, a hard runner both through the line and in the open, a remarkable ball-handler, an average punter and far from a great hand on defense.

Nonchalant and coolness under fire perhaps is his foremost asset.

He was not unjustly criticized following Missouri's winning 40-0 against Oklahoma. Without him, Old Missouri would have had a tough time getting a ball-carrier to the line of scrimmage.

He was chiefly responsible for Missouri's Big Six championship.

High school, John Kimbrough, Texas A. & M. fullback, acquired the reputation of injuring teams, so hard did he smack the line.

Kimbrough, standing 6 feet 2 and weighing 205 pounds, was the work-horse of the Southwest conference... carried the ball more than any other player in the league.

He was also in scoring. He has his own peculiar style of running... head-first-ahead hitting, knee-slapping.

Utah Gridders Dominate All-Star Club

BY WARD CORWELL

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 30 (U.P.)—At the end of a season in which football teams of the two-year-old Big Seven conference exhibited distinctively group play, the United Press presents its 1939 all-conference picks.

The players chosen for first and second team berths and honorable mention were determined by vote of Big Seven coaches and United Press sports writers who covered the football games of the current season.

By virtue of widely divergent balloting, it became increasingly significant that teams of the young conference, for the first time in its existence, concentrated on producing scores by rushing the ball rather than by developing outstanding individual stars.

Only handful of players could be classed as almost unanimous selections by individuals voting. They included Leo Stachura of Colorado, Herb McCarthy of Denver, Pete Bogen and Luke Pappas of Utah, Murray Maughan of Utah State, and Rex Gray of Utah.

Others, such as Fred Powers of Denver and Clarence Gehrke of Utah, performed brilliantly in selected games, and still others opened the season in sparkling fashion only to be cut down by injuries. George Hall of Denver is a good example of a really fine player injured early in the fall.

Injured before Denver's hero late in the season in a non-conference game with Idaho University in which he kicked a tremendous 46-yard field goal from a difficult angle, Gehrke was able to run at will through Colorado State to lead Utah to a top-rated 42-7 victory. Big Herb McCarthy, a tough 185-pound fullback who worked behind the 200-pound Denver line, was awarded second team honors as the year's best player.

He played nearly 80 minutes of every game and consistently generated his team in the field.

Following closely in the voting were Rex Gray of Utah and Murray Maughan, Utah State center. Had they been grouped with John Woudenberg of Denver to form one wing of a composite line, there would have been little for their backfield men to do.

Murray Maughan of Utah State was chosen the strongest pivot man in the conference by the coaches and sports writers although his team finished in fifth place. His consistently outstanding play and dependable kicking were the best defensive men in the league. Cornforth flipped a few bad passes on punt plays which penalized his team both in yardage and scoring.

Ken Sturman, spectacularly brilliant University of Wyoming end, provided the only instance of a member of a last-place conference aggregation being awarded a first-team spot. He was chosen by every Big Seven coach except Utah and by nearly all the writers who saw Wyoming in action.

SCALZO FAVORED. NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (U.P.)—Pete Scalzo of New York, the National Football League's second-best fullback, was named the best defensive man in the league. Cornforth flipped a few bad passes on punt plays which penalized his team both in yardage and scoring.

GOMER WINS. NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (U.P.)—Charley Gomer, 133A, New York, last night outpointed Julio Gonzalez, 136, Puerto Rico, in eight rounds.

Texas Aggies, Vols, In Feature Contests

BY HENRY AUER

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (U.P.)—It's the end of the trail today for unbuttoned and untied Texas A. & M. and the next to the last game of 1939 for Tennessee's unscathed Volunteers.

Upwards of 60 football games will be played on the second of this year's Thanksgiving days, but as far as the mythical national championship is concerned the gridiron capitals for the day will be College Station, Texas, and Lexington, Ky.

Down in the little Texas town the Aggies, winners of nine straight games, face their traditional rival, Texas, while in Lexington, Tennessee goes up against a Kentucky team that lost only to Georgia Tech and was tied by Alabama.

For the Aggies, today's game is the last of a brilliant season, and victory would give them a strong claim to the national title. For Tennessee victory would mean that only Auburn would be left barring the way to a perfect season which ends Dec. 2.

In the Rocky Mountain division, Denver and Colorado play at Boulder, Colo., in a game that will settle the conference race. Colorado leads with four victories and one defeat; Utah, which has ended its season, is second with four victories, a tie and a tie; and Denver is third with three wins, a tie and a defeat.

If Colorado wins, it gets the title outright; if it loses, it drops to third and Utah and Denver tie for the championship. If the game ends in a tie, Colorado shares the title with Utah.

At Los Angeles, U. C. L. risks the chance for a title bowl assignment against Washington State in a night game.

A few other good games are scattered around the country today. They are Auburn-Florida; Arizona-Memphis; Brown-Builer; North Carolina-Virginia; Tulsa-Arkansas and Vanderbilt-Alabama.

Landis Cracks Down on Chain Groups

CHICAGO, Nov. 30 (U.P.)—Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis cracked down on all club officials in organized baseball today and threatened additional fines unless illegal manipulation of young players ceased immediately.

Landis released a series of lengthy decisions amounting to a total of $2,500 in fines and making free agents of six members of the St. Louis Cardinals' widespread organization.

More fines will follow, he warned, unless these practices stop. None of his decisions involved a player of note.

The investigation revealed three infractions of baseball law: Some major league clubs are signing boys to blank contracts in which neither salary nor the name of the club to which they will be sent is stipulated.

Some are signing players from one club to another without notifying the commissioner's office, thus leaving no evidence of big league ownership of those players.

Some are signing players to contracts which never are filled for promotion and are terminating these contracts by informing the player the contract has been dissolved.

The Dayton, O. club of the Middle Atlantic league, drew the heaviest penalty—$1,000—and Brooklyn's Dodgers, the Detroit Tigers and Columbus, O. of the American Association were fined $500 each.

MCCORMY RETURNS. OGDEN, Utah, Nov. 30 (U.P.)—President George Lowe of the Ogden Reds of the Pioneer Baseball League announced today that Bill McCormy will return to Ogden in 1940 as the Reds' player-manager.

McCormy held the same position in 1939 for the Reds, an affiliate of the Cincinnati Reds, 1939 National League pennant winners.

Beaver Population Shows Big Gain In Idaho Streams

BY WILLIAM MCENAMIN

BOISE, Nov. 30 (U.P.)—A program to use beaver for prevention of damage totaling thousands of dollars annually from floods in Idaho was pronounced successful today by Game Director Owen W. Morris.

Morris said more than 500 beaver were transplanted this year from lowlands where they were deemed a nuisance by

How to Make Big Money: Just Start a Small School and Name It Army or Navy

By HENRY McLENNON
NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP)—Want to make a lot of money? I mean a whole lot—so much you can smoke caviar instead of tobacco in your pipe, get appointed ambassador somewhere, and quit buying suits with two pairs of pants.

All right, here's how to do it: Start yourself a small university. It only has to be a little one, with maybe a dozen or so professors, no more campus than can be shaded by a couple of fire plugs, and 15 or 20 football players.

Then—and this is the thing you must do—name your university either Army or Navy. No, there's nothing to stop you from doing that. It won't be stealing from the two service academies, because they're known as West Point and Annapolis. Then you'll be set. You'll make money fast, you know what to do with it. Because your football team, under the magic name of the Army football team, will draw the biggest crowds you ever saw. No matter whom your team wins or where it plays, or how well it plays, the stadium will be packed to the top with paying customers. They'll come to get seats and pay any sort of price for them.

If you don't believe this just try to buy a ticket to the game between West Point and Annapolis at Philadelphia on Saturday. These two teams call themselves Army and Navy and have been drawing a land office business for years. A crowd of 102,000 will watch the game and the receipts will be something over half a million dollars. And the only reason that the crowd won't be 200,000 and the receipts a million or more is that there just isn't a stadium that big.

If you have any doubts as to the box office draw of the names Army and Navy, a study of the season records of the two teams will disprove that. The Army and Navy teams may not have the worst teams in the country, but they come so close to that record that it would be necessary if a vote were held. They haven't won a major game between them.

But they'll draw the biggest crowd of the year.

Why, I can't answer you. There must be something born and bred into the American football fan that makes him go slightly hysterical at the sight of a few thousand boys under the age of 21 throwing their hats into the air in unison, or marching onto a field in column, or the same old, same old, or the American football fan has an ear which likes only to hear "March, Navy! Down the line!" "Anchor, Army!" "You Sons of Bism and Gravy."

Silly, isn't it? The fact that I don't think I'll be in my seat in Philadelphia until an hour or two before the whistle blows for the start of the game.

Major, Minor Leaders Meet in Cincinnati

Weller Leads Studebaker Club to Win

It took a bowler from the City league to show the way in the Commercial loop last night as Roy Weller of Weller's performed a masterpiece and led the team to a 3-1 victory over Del's.

Weller had a series of 376 to top Charley Bruggemann by three points and had a high single of 211, which was tops for the night. City loop game and the Twin Falls Flour Mill annex four in a row from Twin Falls Lumber. Bill Bailey was the top man for both clubs with a 506 mark for his three-game series.

FLAHS! Rookies makes good. Roy Weller of the Wilson team in the City league, rolling his first tournament in the Commercial loop, led both teams for high total.

Roy put together games of 311, 184, 181. Boy's 311 first game stood up for high single for both teams. He was bowling for the Studebaker club against Del's. Ted Emerick got a 343 total. Cox had a 341. Del's coach, Clark, marks the season's final appearance for O'Brien and Hall, who are tied for the passing crown.

Both O'Brien and Hall arrived have exceeded Danny Baugh's record of 81 completions.

Godoy Commences Training for Title Battle
SUMMIT, N. J., Nov. 30 (AP)—Arturo Godoy of Chile started training today at Madame Bay's camp for the world lightweight title fight against Max Baer.

Godoy, twice champion of Twin Cities, will limit his activities to wood chopping, callisthenics and roadwork until Jan. 1, when his sparring partners will arrive.

UNITY
Farm and Home club scheduled to meet Friday at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Brader, was postponed on account of illness.

CINCINNATI, O., Nov. 30 (Special)—Baseball's annual midwinter show will be put on under one tent this year, with both the major and minor leagues holding forth here at the home of the National league champs during the first week in December. It will be the first time since 1928, when they gathered in Chicago, that the big and little circuits have combined to meet on the same grounds.

Starting Monday, Dec. 4, the minors will open their 38th annual convalescence and it will have a run of three days. Following, the majors will take up the last half of the week with the American and National league meetings and then the joint sessions.

So, it appears that this baseball-minded city of Ohio will be as much agog as it was during early October, when the Reds were taking part in the world's series.

Handles Arrangements
Frank K. Austin, general manager of the Reds, who is making arrangements for the dual meeting, expects a new attendance record to be set. This is based on the fact that there are more leagues operating than in the past, supplying more delegates, and the city is centrally located in the midst of a large population area.

The annual banquet on the night of Tuesday, Dec. 5, will be the feature of the entertainment program. It will be a "speeches" banquet, an innovation that has made a distinction with the baseball men.

The minors expect some warm arguments in their business sessions over some of the 40-odd proposed amendments to their constitution. Many of these also affect the major-league agreement, and before any change can become effective, it must be ratified by the two major leagues in their joint session the latter part of the week.

Up For Election
Two members of the minor league executive committee are the only officers up for election. The AA league will name a man to the committee for a two-year period, while the C. U. will elect a secretary representative for a three-year term. George M. Trautman and Dr. W. M. Wulfe now hold the posts and are eligible to succeed themselves.

Judge W. O. Bramham of Durham, N. C., president of the National association, will preside over the business session of the minors.

Open House Held By Grade School

KIMBERLY, Nov. 30 (Special)—An open house or "showing of the house" was held at Kimberly elementary school Tuesday afternoon with program for the afternoon planned and carried out by 11 elementary school children headed by Jessie M. Husted, elementary principal.

Program consisted of a regular afternoon of school in each room followed by a general meeting of all parents and teachers of the building. Chairs were available in each room for visiting parents. Four single grade girls met the parents upon their arrival at the building and showed them to the room where their child was in class.

At 6 p. m. pupils were dismissed as usual and parents were invited to hear a prepared program and to get better acquainted with the teachers of their children.

Program consisted of vocal duet by Miss Lola Tew and Miss Frances Chubb, and an address on teaching by Mrs. Husted. Mrs. Husted is the P-T-A's vice-president of the P-T-A's. Twin Falls. Immediately following the program visiting parents were served punch and wafers by a committee of teachers.

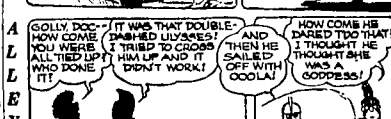

Mrs. Husted reported over 100 parents visited school during the afternoon. Teachers of the respective rooms reported that the percentage of children in the high school building will be worked out next month.
