

BORAH, MORRIS URGE MORATORIUM ON FINN DEBT

CONGRESS ACTION NEEDED TO PASS SOLON PROPOSAL

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (AP)—Sen. George W. Norris, Ind., and William E. Borah, R. Ida., proposed today a moratorium on Finnish debt payments to the United States. The bill is the only world war debt that has paid its debt installments. Despite the conflict with Russia, the representatives announced that the Dec. 15 installment of $23,493 will be met. Its debt to the United States, as of Nov. 15, was $2,253,177.

Norris proposed to grant a moratorium until Finland's dispute with Russia has been settled and the country has returned to normalcy. Such action would require congressional approval.

Borah agreed that Finland's financial position should be eased, but not because she was at war. To excuse payments on that issue alone, he said, would set a bad precedent. "I would be entirely agreeable," Borah said, "to seeing the debt of Finland excused under the better nations pay because I do not think it is the honorable policy to continue at repudiation by some nations and insist on payment by others."

FINN REFUGEES FLEE TO NORWAY

ese "scorched earth" policy to the fullest.

The troops were using only rifles and machine guns. Artillery could not be transported through the mountainous country. The Russians were said to be poorly equipped.

Blaming Finnish troops could be seen from the frontier. The people had fled with all they could carry and destroyed the rest. Norwegian authorities were quartering them in camps and other public buildings. They brought their own food in trucks, having cleaned out the stores in Finnish towns so the Russians would find no food.

12 Miles From Border

Advance detachments of Russians were only 12 miles from the border beyond Kirkenes, the refugees said, and the Finns, although heavily outnumbered, were fighting fiercely and inflicting heavy losses on the invaders.

Some Finnish troops were surrounded in the Petsamo district but they gave a good account of themselves and planned to break through the western side of the Russian lines to reach the Norwegian border.

DEWEY PLANS 'MODERATE' CAMPAIGN' FOR NOMINATION

PLOTS ATTACKS 'NEW DEAL'S' RADICAL POLICY

By Lyle C. Wilson
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2 (Special)—Dewey, 37-year-old New York county official with a bonafide national political following, is expected to make a "moderate" campaign for the 1940 presidential nomination and directly to challenge what he regards as "radical" Roosevelt policies.

Dewey announced his candidacy yesterday in response to endorsement by a powerful group of New York state leaders. Persons who have discussed politics with him believe Dewey has substantial sympathy with the Republican opposition to the New Deal program. But he is expected to develop an attack against New Deal measures and challenge some aspects of the administration on the grounds of un-Americanism.

Next week in Minneapolis, Dewey will discuss his "moderate" campaign. He is expected to discuss the New Deal program, but he is expected to develop an attack against New Deal measures and challenge some aspects of the administration on the grounds of un-Americanism.

He is young and never has held state or important federal office. But Dewey has political "connections" and proved it in spectacular fashion in a 1938 campaign for governor of New York. Nominated to oppose popular Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, Dewey swept the state outside of New York City but could not overcome the 600,000 vote lead piled up by Democrats there. He polled 2,226,000 votes to Lehman's 2,291,000.

With Dewey in the field, there are four active candidates: Sen. Arthur W. Vandenberg, R. Mich.; Sen. H. Styles Bridges, R. N. H., and Robert A. Taft, R. Ohio, publisher of a chain of newspapers, and Rep. Hamilton Fish, R. N. Y., who represents President Roosevelt's congressional constituency, have indicated they might make the race.

Opening his campaign yesterday in New York with a shot against "incompetent government and unstable business," Dewey said he confident the people could learn again to pull together if they were relieved of a "hostile and sniping government." He stated that he foresaw his attack on the Roosevelt administration in developing a "moderate" campaign. The New York prosecutor also has been critical of what he regards as New Deal "persecution and punishment" of individuals including such prominent businessmen who have been federally indicted.

Dewey's political career is based on a series of New York county racket prosecutions culminating in conviction of James J. Hines, a Tammany power, for connivance with numbers racketeers.

THE SPREADER WITH SEVEN DIFFERENT SPREADING RATES

4 to 28 loads per acre—that's the wide range you have with the Oliver Superior Spreader! You can change the rate of spread instantly from the driver's seat—from the lightest top dressing to the heaviest. And the measure will be finely out and distributed evenly.

A 2-horse team pulls the 75-A Spreader easily, it turns in a 14 1/2-foot circle, and it's built low. It is handy to get in and out of barns or sheds, close to manure piles, and to make sharp turns through gates.

An Oliver will do your spreading job more handily and at a smaller cost. It's long-lived too, because it is spring hung and straight steel sills keep all parts properly aligned. You'll want to know more about this roller bearing Oliver Spreader. Come in and let us show you its improvements part by part.

R. E. Shepherd, prominent Jerome pioneer citizen and businessman will speak during the occasion and Rev. W. P. Willis, minister of the Jerome Presbyterian church will deliver the invocation.

Tentative arrangements have been made for the presence of other prominent persons who will speak during the occasion. Among them are Cong. Henry Dworshak, Burley; traveling engineer of the PWA, H. P. Miller, who represents the PWA, and a speaker who will represent D. Worth Clark, U. S. senator who will be unable to be present. Following dedication, those present will visit the new edifice.

Union Thanksgiving Services at Burley

BURLEY, Dec. 2 (Special)—A large crowd attended the union Thanksgiving service Thursday at the Presbyterian church, with Rev. R. B. Rees of the Methodist church giving the sermon.

Rev. Alvin Kleinfeld, pastor of the Christian church, presided and read the Scripture. The Christian church choir sang "Give Thanks," and Miss Mary Barclay, accompanied by Mrs. E. Corrine Terhune, sang a solo. Mrs. Terhune played the prelude. A collection was taken for the children's home in Boise.

Henry V was the first British monarch to pay a state visit to Paris; this occurred in 1420.

A WARM HOUSE ALL WINTER

Isn't that your idea of a perfect home? Do you remember how it was when you were a kid? Comforts were very few in those days. You had to get up every morning in freezing weather to build a fire, stand huddled around the stove waiting for it to get warm. If you ever spent the night away from home you were always doomed to return to a cold house at night. Perhaps you still have to do the same thing. If so, you will find a single word of the message below.

Christmas Basket Project Launched

CLOVER, Dec. 2 (Special)—An attendance of 70 is reported for the Walther League business and social gathering last night. During the business meeting it was decided to appropriate $10 for the Lutheran hour broadcast at Pocatello and send Christmas boxes, containing goodies to four college students.

It was also decided to make up a number of Christmas baskets, to be distributed among the needy at Christmas time. Merlin Knap and Donald Martins were admitted into membership. Games and peanut eating contests were featured. Arrangements and refreshment committees were Lora Ahrens, Phyllis Lutz, Adele Dierker, Melvin Jagels, Arthur Pufahl and Irene Hahn.

A Character-Builder Passes

He moulded boys into the stuff from which upright men are made—and for this Twin Falls mourns with genuine sorrow the passing of R. V. Jones.

His fine work as manual arts instructor, his impressive labors as athletic coach . . . these are matters which spring immediately to mind in considering the untimely death of the Twin Falls high school faculty member and former commander of the American Legion. But above these, although more intangible, was the influence wielded by R. V. Jones on the boys with whom he worked in classroom, on basketball court, on football field and on cinder tracks.

Building of character in young men of the formative age is a task which can be successfully consummated only by him in whom character is firmly ingrained. He must achieve his end because those with whom he works revere him and respect him. He cannot do it simply by preachment.

It is enough to say, then, that R. V. Jones did succeed in instilling those qualities which weigh more than classroom knowledge or athletic skill.

No epitaph in marble can mean as much as this.

Financing 'Free' Education

Youngsters in Toledo, O., are not going to school these days. They won't be back in their classrooms until after Jan. 1. The schools are closed. The city is broke.

Some of the small fry, not conversant with the complexities of municipal finance and not completely sold on the advantages of education, probably whooped it up a good bit when the janitor locked the doors a few days ago. But their parents, who just turned down an increase in the school tax levy, are probably sighing and wondering what they're going to do with the young ones during the busy pre-Christmas season.

Toledo just didn't have enough money to get through the last six weeks of the year. The city isn't permitted to borrow money under terms of a state law. And real estate valuations in the city have fallen along with the tax rate so that there wasn't much else the board of education could do. Other cities will know exactly what the situation is. Schools most places are still open, but many cities are pretty close to the edge.

In 1930, Toledo's total assessed real estate valuation was $593,400,000 and the total tax rate was 27 mills. Last year the valuation had dropped to $451,400,000, the tax rate to 19.4 mills.

Here are comparative figures of 10 other cities, of varying sizes, selected at random:

Assessed Valuation of Real Estate

City 1930 1938

Albany, N. Y. $227,963,110 $236,013,413

Atlantic City, N. J. 318,992,959 88,830,919

Baltimore, Md. 1,159,254,936 1,068,620,699

Birmingham, Ala. 232,130,915 160,359,773

Cedar Rapids, Ia. 60,618,646 56,792,043

Denver, Colo. 447,822,580 247,606,410

Detroit, Mich. 3,681,781,130 1,858,510,120

Kansas City, Mo. 353,971,480 389,929,170

San Diego, Calif. 166,358,972 121,210,305

St. Paul, Minn. 149,264,861 305,861,027

Of the 10 cities, only three—Albany, Kansas City, and St. Paul—show an increase in valuations. The decline in Detroit, for example, amounts to nearly 200 per cent. That of Atlantic City is about 250 per cent. The greatest share of the school funds must come from taxes levied against property. When real estate loses value, there is no other way for the city to get funds unless the property owners are willing to bear higher taxes, year by year, to make up for the natural deficiency.

Public education is something Americans cherish as much as the Constitution and the "Star-Spangled Banner." We like to think of our "free education." The trouble is that it's not free. It costs a lot of money to keep the schools open.

Property owners who fight against rising taxes cannot be blamed. States whose cities are finding themselves hard pressed to meet their annual school bill will have to figure out a way of financing education other than through property taxes. Some states are contributing proportionate shares. Even this has not solved the problem. In most cases the contributions are too small.

This year it was Toledo. Next year it may be a dozen other cities. A lot of readjustments will have to be made, and someone had better begin thinking about them soon.

There are rumors in Washington that no tax increases are planned for the coming session of congress. Will you pass the smelling salts, please?

Luncheon Hostesses Favor Yuletide Decor

Forecasting the Christmas season, Mrs. R. J. Valiton and Mrs. Frances Hill cleverly employed a holiday decor when they presided at luncheon this afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. C. Victor.

Mrs. Hill, Baltimore, Md., who has been extensively entertained during her visit at the home of the brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Valiton, reversed the order of the past several days by assuming the role of co-hostess rather than guest, for this afternoon's event.

The guest list numbered 30, the women being seated at quarter tables centered with arrangements of Christmas red carnations.

Yuletide motifs were featured in the place cards and tablecloths. Mrs. Hill is returning next Friday to her home in the southland.

Co-eds Assemble For Informal Tea

"College days and campus ways" formed the theme of conversation when a group of University of Idaho, southern branch co-eds and a few other guests assembled for an informal tea yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Margaret Hamilton, also a student at the Pocetello school.

Present from Twin Falls were Miss Carol Heinrich and her house guest, Miss Alma Robertson, Nes Peret, Miss Lucille Tinker and Miss Enid Richards, all here for the Thanksgiving holidays, the guests of their parents.

Bull girls present were Miss Betty Leveke, who was graduated last year from Holy Cross hospital, Salt Lake City; Miss Burma Shott, who attended Woodbury college at Los Angeles; and Miss Betty Higbee, who was graduated last spring from the Bull high school.

Miss Hamilton was assisted by Miss Tinker in serving tea.

26 Entertained At Dunkin Home

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dunkin, south of Kimberly, entertained 26 relatives at a turkey dinner Thursday.

Dinner was served cafeteria style.

Mrs. Emily Swain, 87 years old, mother of Mrs. Dunkin, who traveled here alone from Thirwa this fall to spend the winter with her four children, was among the guests.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Dunkin and son, Mr. Roy Dunkin, Tom Roberts and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. Swain, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. John and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. George Lamford, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gray and family, Mr. Charles Hill and daughter, Mrs. Emily Swain and Mrs. Roy Flynn.

Mrs. Winans to Be RNA Oracle

Election of officers and extensive planning for Christmas benevolence occupied the attention of the Royal Neighbors of America when they met last evening at the Odd Fellows hall.

Mrs. Anna Winans was elected oracle of the lodge, succeeding Mrs. Mable Young. Installation will take place at the first meeting in January. Other officers named were:

Vice-oracle, Mrs. Mary Kline; recorder, Miss Myrtle Anderson; treasurer, Mrs. Winifred Whitehead; chaplain, Mrs. Rebecca Knappe; marshal, Mrs. Lena Kunkle; inside guardian, Mrs. Lydia Blum; outside guardian, Mrs. Nora Clifton; manager, Mrs. Lora Doss.

Instead of the customary Christmas party for children of 10 and 12 members, the equivalent money will be spent on toys and treats for the Twin Falls nursery school, and for 25 children at the Boise Children's home, it was decided.

The group voted to give $5 to the Iron Lung fund.

MRS. CORA MURPHY HEADS LADIES OF G. A. R.

Mrs. Cora Murphy was elected president of Dan McCook circle, Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic, when the group met yesterday at the American Legion Memorial hall. Mrs. Hazel Gardner is the retiring president of the organization. Installation will take place Jan. 8, 1940.

Mrs. Nellie Personette was named senior vice-president; Mrs. Mabel Johnson was named junior vice-president; and Mrs. Hazel Leighton was named treasurer. Mrs. Nora Patton was re-elected chaplain; Mrs. Bessie, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Nora, cashier; registrar; Mrs. Gardner, conductor; Mrs. Adelle Moore, guard; and Mrs. Ida Ballantyne, historian.

Members voted to contribute 25 cents each toward the Iron Lung fund, sponsored by the Jamit club of Bull, instead of holding the customary Christmas gift exchange.

The group will entertain at the annual Christmas party Friday, Dec. 15, the location to be announced later.

ORCHIDS LONDON 929—Orchids cultivated by the late Joseph Chamberlain, famous in the plant world, were included in a collection of 2,000 plants sold at auction in Birmingham.

After completing his university work he served as chemist for the Northwest dairy produce company in Spokane and took training in the United States marine corps. He recently visited his parents and relatives in the Pacific Northwest, Quantico, Va., where he was transferred from Spokane. From there he was transferred to San Diego, Calif., where he and Mrs. Nutting will make their home.

Hemingway Buys Health Seals

Idaho's Christmas seal sale for 1939 was inaugurated at Sun Valley when Ernest Hemingway, famous author, purchased the first seals from Mrs. Elizabeth Durran, a member of the well known skiing family. Proceeds of the sale will be used by the Idaho Anti-Tuberculosis association, and the allied organizations in the care and prevention of tuberculosis. All Idaho is confidently expected to contribute.

Rayl Family Present At Reunion Dinners

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rayl will be the scene of a jolly family reunion Sunday when a dinner will be served at 2 o'clock to the members of the family, including a number who are here from out-of-town for the holidays.

There was a "gathering of the Rayl clan" Thanksgiving day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Smith, Bull, Mrs. Smith is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rayl.

Thanksgiving night the entire party attended the dance at Redmond.

Participating in the reunion festivities are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Griffin, Miss Barbara Rayl and John Rayl, Boise; Miss Barbara Rayl, who attends the Albion State Normal school; Miss Dorothy Rayl, who is an instructor at Hazelton; the Olin Smith family, Bull.

Other members of the family are Mr. and Mrs. Edw. Hickman, Klamath Falls, Ore., another daughter, who was the only member of the Rayl family who was unable to attend the reunion of the Rayl family.

Mike Newman, Twin Falls, was also a guest at the holiday activities.

Lavish Costumes For M. I. A. Play

Especially elaborate are the costumes which will be worn in the M.I.A.-sponsored play, "A Man's House," which has its opening Tuesday evening at 8:10 p. m. at the L.D.S. recreation hall, it was announced today.

Mrs. Mona Gill has been wardrobe manager for the production. Particularly lavish are the robes of the rich merchant, played by Holm and Hutton, and the costumes of his young daughters, played by Miss Altha Wells and Miss Winona Yorgensen.

The costumes of the Roman soldiers have the appearance of authenticity, and all of the attire is copied from the period of Cleo. The play will be presented Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday evenings at the local L.D.S. church, and Thursday evening will be offered at the Murtaugh high school.

Colorful Motif Marks Party for Southern Guest

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Casey were hosts at a beautifully arranged dinner last evening at the Casey home in guest of Mrs. Frances Hill, Baltimore, Md., who is in the house guest of her sister, Mrs. R. J. Valiton.

Contract bridge was played later at the Casey home, 160 Eighth avenue north, honors going to Dr. F. P. McCrete and Mrs. Jack Shroud. Mrs. Hill received a great favor.

Covers were marked for 18 guests at a single table, arranged in one of the private dining rooms of the hotel. Arroyo in beauty was the centerpiece of colorful birds and greenery, grouped on a mirror plateau and flanked by lighted green tapers in silver holders.

The color motif of green, blue and silver was carried out in other dinner appointments.

Chrysanthemums decked the Casey home, where the latter evening hours were spent.

Last night's event was one of numerous affairs at which Mrs. Hill has been honored since her arrival in Twin Falls.

Murtaugh Pioneer Couple Observes 50th Anniversary

MURTAUGH, Dec. 2 (Special).—Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Tolman, prominent Idaho pioneers, observed their 50th wedding anniversary Nov. 27. Mrs. Henry Tolman and Mrs. Alice Earl being in charge of the celebration.

Open house was observed in the afternoon, when a large number of relatives and friends called. Mrs. William Barrell, Mrs. Henry Barrell and daughter, Irene and Mrs. George Garbell, were present from Pocetello.

Music for the relatives was served that evening, covers being marked for 23 guests at a single table centered with a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by gold candlesticks and candles. Nut cups were also in gold.

Interesting tidbits

Mrs. Martha Barrett Tolman, 74, was born Feb. 1, 1865, in Liverpool, England. She has one half-brother, Tom Barrett, 69, living at Montpelier and two half-sisters, Mrs. Mary Ann Burroughs, 90, Bountiful, Utah, and Mrs. Fannie Tobler, 88, Bountiful, Utah.

Mr. Tolman, who is called "Alex," is 73. He was born at Salina, Utah, when the Indian raidings were so bad that emigrants didn't light lamps at night in their camp wagons. When he was three days old, the family moved hastily to Goose Lake. He remained there until 15 years of age, when he came to Goose Creek.

John Tolman, 85, Vancouver, B. C., and J. I. Tolman, 69, Logan, Utah, now visiting in Hawaii, and one sister, Mrs. Minnie Pickett, 65, Murtaugh, are his living relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Tolman were married Nov. 27, 1889, at Marion, near Oakley. They moved to Murtaugh in 1907, where they have since resided.

Mrs. J. O. Case, Los Angeles, Mrs. Alice Earl, Henry Tolman, both of Murtaugh, are their children. There are nine grandchildren and one great-grandchild in the family.

Reminiscing concerning his numerous early-day escapades, Mr. Tolman recalled vividly the time he was heading sheep near Oakley about 40 years ago.

He came upon a female bear and two cubs. She charged at him, and he fired the bullet striking her below the eye. His sheep dogs "licked tail" and dashed back to camp, leaving him to battle with the mother bear.

The bear lacerated his head, legs and body so badly that he was bedfast for several days. He was finally rescued by a neighbor.

LOCAL TRAVELER TELLS OF AUSTRALIAN CONSCRIPTION

The United States is still the "sparkling best" land on the face of the globe, according to Mrs. Claude Brown, who has seen a large part of the land and water that covers the earth since her sailing from Los Angeles last Aug. 10 for Australia.

Mrs. Brown returned to Twin Falls Tuesday evening, accompanied by her son, Claude Brown, Jr., who has served an extended mission in all parts of Australia, and by her husband, Mr. Brown, who met them at Los Angeles upon their return.

Of the war apprehensions, Mrs. Brown commented that conscription is now underway in Australia, and that all youths who will be 21 by 1940 are being conscripted for three months' military training.

It is significant that Australia lost more soldiers than any other country in the World war, in proportion to population. There was no conscription in that country during the last great conflict, she added.

Concern as to Japan's intentions, rather than the upheaval on the continent, has prompted the military movement, which is meeting with some opposition, she said.

Mrs. Brown's literary included a visit in Honolulu, Panga-Panga, in American Samoa; a visit of the Pili Island group; points in New Zealand, and Queensland, New South Wales, Victoria and South Australia.

Calendar

Wayside club will meet Tuesday at 2 p. m. with Mrs. Earl Dougherty.

Parent-Teacher association council will meet Monday at 7:45 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Frank Gaudioso, 3410 Ninth avenue east.

All Rebekah lodge members are requested to attend the funeral of Mrs. Margaret Ann Bull Sunday at 2 p. m. at the White mortuary, lodge officials announced last evening.

Twin Falls county Democratic Women's Study club will meet Monday at 2 p. m. at the home of Mrs. W. A. Babcock. A program on conservation will be presented under the direction of Mrs. Babcock.

Townsend club No. 1 will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. at the Idaho Power company auditorium. All are requested to be present for nomination of officers. Coffee and doughnuts will be served, and all attending are asked to bring doughnuts.

INTER-STAKE AND DRAWS CROWD OF 400

Approximately 400 guests attended the inter-stake club dance sponsored by the Rupert M.I.A. of the D.D.S. church Thanksgiving night, 100 of that number being from the Twin Falls stake.

The dance was held in the Civic auditorium at Rupert, and Twin Falls residents were among the guests. Social mixers were featured, and white ribbons identified the local guests.

The stake M.I.A. affair was fully represented for the board. The next inter-stake club dance will be held in Twin Falls Thursday evening, Dec. 14. Special guests will be members of the Oakley and Rupert M. I. A.

Grid Star in Shooting Fray

Walter (Bud) Lyons, Colorado State college football star, was shot and critically wounded by his 18-year-old campus sweetheart, Lois Jeanne Vannorrel (right), because they had "reached the parting of the ways." Today Lyons was given a good chance to recover, but Miss Vannorrel was kept under police guard pending Lyons' condition.

THE PAYOFF

HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Sports Editor)

Phil Weintraub says he will feel like a kid of 19... at the winter baseball meeting in Cincinnati... waiting for a major league club to give him another tryout.

Weintraub has the permission of Mike Kelley, the ball players' friend who owns the Minneapolis club, to make a deal for himself.

Because he learned to play baseball on Chicago sandlots and to play to win, Weintraub would like to wind up in his old home town. He has never lost his boyhood ambition to perform for the Cubs or White Sox.

The latter have the accomplished Joe Kuhel, so Weintraub's best chance along the Chicago front would seem to be with the Bruins, who could use a first baseman, and then some.

Weintraub cracked a shoulder with Rochester several years ago when the Wrigleys were interested in him.

He is now 31 and has been with the Giants, Reds and Phillies.

He battled 211 for the Reds and his sale to Minneapolis for $15,000 brought mild comment.

It was admitted that the large Chicagoans has always snatched the sphere.

His dismissal was charged to shortcomings in the field.

Blames Bill Terry

Weintraub traces his bad felling to Terry of the Polo Grounds.

"Terry put me in the outfield when I joined the Giants five years ago," he explains. "I was a nervous kid. I made a couple of errors, and when baseball writers asked Terry how good a fielder I was, he answered frankly, 'Not so hot.' So they began writing about me that way, and soon I got to believing I was just mediocre in the field."

Weintraub since has been with 10 minor league outfits, and at last is convinced that he has found himself at first base. So are others, including Mike Kelley, who played with Boston Wagner and Babe Daniel, manager of the St. Paul club.

"Oswald," says Weintraub, "saw me in 22 games last season which gave him plenty of time to make a fair appraisal. At the end of the year he told me, 'Phil, what's all this talk about your lousy fielding at first base? Why, you haven't made a single mistake all season against us.'"

That was the reaction Weintraub got from other players. He fielded 300 for the Phillies and points out that they're a hard down field team since who've had worse records.

There never was any question about Weintraub's work with the willow.

Strong Recommendation

Last season he manufactured 22 home runs, belted in 122 runs and scored 130 for Minneapolis to rank as one of the big guns in the American association.

Weintraub joins those putting in plays for Gerald Priddy, the young second baseman whom the Yankees are going to keep in Kansas City for another campaign. Phil, who has seen many a ball-player come and go, considers Priddy the finest piece of merchandise landed by a big league club in his time.

Weintraub sees the American league retaining its supremacy with Priddy due to report to the Yanks in 1941 and such American association centers as Lacey, Hersh and Buland moving up to the Red Sox next spring.

And Weintraub is equally as confident that his big stick will be helping some big league club in 1940.

He never could quite understand why a batting average like his was shipped to the minors.

So Phil Weintraub is leaving his off-season occupation of selling wholesale meats in Chicago long enough to shop for another major league opportunity.

Mac Goes Grant Rice One Better And Picks His Own All-America

By HENRY McLEMORE
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 3 (UP)—Henry Grant Rice, a 17-year-old who knew more football when he was 14 than I will when I am laid away in the poet's corner of Westminster Abbey, has picked an all-time All-America football team for a magazine. I will call a popular weekly in the hope I can sell it something later on.

From his knowledge, which exceeds that of any sports writer in America, he picked the following team: Ends, Fowler, Ohio State, and Muller, California; tackle, Henry, W. and J. and Fowler, Georgia Tech; guard, Cashion, Notre Dame, and Herfflinger, Yale; center, Schula, Michigan; quarterback, Orange, Illinois; left half, Thorpe, Carolina; right half, Strong, N. Y. U.; and fullback, Nevers, Stanford.

That is a fine ball club, and one which could go to the strong side, the weak side, or down the middle with equal facility. I would never have thought of challenging it on paper, of course, because most of the men on it now have rheumatic attacks in damp weather, had I not met up with Dick Stanley, the former coach at Northwestern University.

Over a lemonade, which we would have loved to have shared with Mr. Rice, we fell to picking another all-time All-America team. We don't say our team would have beaten Oranny's, but we do say we would have looked our fraternity pins to cover his belt.

Our ends are still alive and playing football. One is Don Hutson, the Alabama boy who is almost all there is to the Green Bay Packers. I didn't see Fowler and Muller in their primes, but if they can do anything that our boys can't, it must be crocheting.

Grid Player Holds Fate of Girl Attacker

PORT COLLINS, Colo., Dec. 2 (UP)—Walter "Bud" Lyons, 21, Colorado State college footballer, apparently held the fate today of the co-ed he killed, Lois Jeanne Vannorrel, 19, who was under technical arrest for shooting him.

City hospital physicians said Lyons, shot above the heart Wednesday, was out of danger after a blood transfusion in which his fraternal brother, Robert Olsen, was the donor.

"The boy probably wouldn't want to testify," District Attorney Winston M. Ault said. "We are holding the girl, however, until he gets well because this case clearly is one of attempted murder."
